

Lanny Posey and Kent Westbrook Marry In Candlelight Service

A candlelight service, read in the Church of Christ Friday at 6 p.m. united Lanny Nadine Posey of Rotan, and William Kent Westbrook of Hamlin.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Dave Posey and Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Westbrook of Hamlin.

The double ring rites were read by Rex Kiker of Abilene Christian College before an altar arrangement of palms, accented with candelabra holding lighted white tapers. Baskets of white mums tied with satin were linked with the candelabra. Satin bows marked family pews.

Head ushers were the bride's brothers, Ted Posey of Rotan, and Richard Posey, Texas A&M student. They also served as candlelighters.

Other ushers, who also served as groomsmen, were George Peel, Freddie White and Roark Barnes.

Pianist was Mrs. Mike York of Waxahachie. She accompanied Becky Strickland of Rotan, who sang "Walk Hand in Hand." Miss Strickland read Roy Croft's poem, "Love" as the pianist played "Melody of Love."

Maid of honor was the bride's sister, Bobbie Posey; matron of honor was her sister-in-law, Mrs. Ted Posey. Bridesmaids were Beverly Smith and Judith Morrow.

The attendants were gowned identically in waltz length frocks of crystalene.

They wore half hats of velvet that matched the rainbow colors of their gowns. They carried colonial bouquets of carnations in rainbow colors.

Flower girl, Jodie Thompson, wore an orchid crystalene gown and carried flower petals in a white basket. Her headdress was a bandeau of flowers.

Ring bearer was Mark Campbell.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was gowned in a period creation of rosepoint lace and tulle, featuring fitted bodice and overskirt of tulle, with a floor length triple skirt of tulle. The portrait neckline was accented with lace medallions, centered with irises. She wore elbow length lace mitts. Her bridal veil of French illusion fell from a cap of lace and tulle. She wore pearls as her only jewelry, and carried an orchid, nestled in satin and net, atop a white Bible.

Best man was Nibs O'Briant of Rotan.

For the wedding, the bride's mother chose a gown in brown and beige with beige accessories, and a corsage in bronze. Mrs. Westbrook was gowned in black and white, with a red corsage.

Reception was hosted in the Posey home. The bride's brothers greeted guests. Receiving with the couple were Mrs. Posey, Mr. and Mrs. Westbrook, and the bride's attendants. In the living room were grandmothers of the couple, Mrs. C. A. Seaton of Rotan, and Mrs. W. G. Blackley of Okemah, Okla.

Reception music was by Mrs. York and Alpha Hardy.

Becky Strickland and Mrs. Ronnie Leveridge of Abilene presided at the reception table. The table was laid with white net over pink and centered with the attendants' bouquets.

Others in the houseparty were Ann Tillotson, Charlotte Callen and Mmes. J. W. Porter, O. M. Sparks, E. T. Warren, Alfred White, C. U. Callan, D. T. McDonald, S. S. Campbell, Barney Bigham, Clay Coggins, Jewel Tillotson, Ruple Morrow and Gertrude Teague.

Guests attended from Rotan, Roby, Hamlin, Waxahachie, Abilene, Spur, Brownfield, Uvalde, Sweetwater, Snyder, Houston, Okla., Okemah, Okla., and Oklahoma City.

When the couple left for honeymoon in New Mexico, the bride wore away a suit of grey acetate and daron, with accessories in pink and black. She wore the orchid from her bridal bouquet.

After Sept. 1 the couple will live in Norman, Okla., where the groom is a senior petroleum engineering student in the University of Oklahoma, and where the bride will enroll as a freshman student.

Both are graduates of Rotan schools. The bride attended Abilene Christian College this summer.

The rehearsal dinner Thursday night was hosted by the Westbrooks at the Silver Spur in Roby.

Average or normal rainfall seldom occurs in most sections of the High and Rolling Plains of Texas. Fisher County is located in the Rolling Plains, according to a study of rainfall records at 31 locations in the area by R. J. Hildreth and Gerald W. Thomas of Texas A & M College. The results of the study indicate that most sections in the northwestern part of the State can expect more year of below-average rainfall than above-average rainfall.

In some years, a severe drought situation may exist even though the average annual rainfall is relatively normal. Extremely heavy rains falling during a few hours may provide little lasting benefits as a result of excessive runoff.

Because of the fluctuation in rainfall, one of the most important problems facing farmers and ranchers is the variation in crop and forage yields and resulting changes in income. Although statistical tests of weather data indicate that short time weather cycles cannot be predicted. Several important steps can be taken by farmers and ranchers to help face weather risks.

Hildreth and Thomas advance the following general management precaution pertaining to farming and ranching:

Plan ahead for several years rather than from year to year. Assuming that rainfall will be below average in 52 to 65% of the years, and be able to stand a series of unfavorable years by accumulating cash and feed reserves in favorable years. Plant drought resistant varieties of crops and forages. Use tillage practices which reduce runoff, conserve moisture, and prevent wind erosion. Maintain a flexible system in terms of cost, time of planting and enterprises. Be able to change farm plans without extreme sacrifices in profit. Use moderations in levels of living in favorable years.

With reference to ranching, balance the stocking rate with the forage produced. Graze only half of the current year's growth for maximum production of forage and for conservation of soil and moisture. All livestock severely when forage is short. Select animals for their ability to perform under range conditions and eliminate non-productive livestock. Distribute livestock over the range to obtain more uniform use of forage. Salt and salt meal mixtures often can be used to attract livestock to undergrazed portions of the pasture. Water tanks should be well located and deep enough to store water during drought years. Practice deferred-rotation, grazing to insure reseeding of the better grasses and to maintain a feed reserve.

Savings of 10% or more in fuel operators if they give attention to proper fuel can be made by most tractor operators if they give attention to proper fuel storage and fuel system adjustments to their farm tractors.

Evaporation during the hot summer months takes a toll of fuel in storage. Partially filled tanks, exposed to the sun may lose 3 to 4% of their contents within a month. Shaded tanks lose 1% or less. Over a period of 3 months, unshaded tanks may lose up to 15% with those in the shade only 6%.

In a recent study, a 290 gallon underground tank kept under 3 pounds pressure per square inch, lost only 18 gallons of gasoline over the 6 months crop season. The same size tank, above ground, lost 64 gallons. Six 55 gallon drums, above ground lost 180 gallons during the period.

the losses from evaporation which climb with long storage.

The farm tractor, which is served regularly and kept in top operation condition is also the most economical to operate from the standpoint of fuel consumption. It must be remembered that approximately 40% of operating costs of a farm tractor goes for fuel. If this bill can be cut by 10% or more the difference will help cut the cost of producing a crop and take a little slack out of the price cost squeeze.

This is another reminder to the club members here in Fisher county who are planning on entering their records in one of the 4-H contests. These records will be due in the office, not later than August 27, for they will have to be judged by a committee and then submitted to the District office by September 1.

Three club members who participated in the Sears Gilt Program last year received their checks last week from the Sears Foundation, for having won in the Spring Heavy Litter contest. Gerald Owens, Roby, won 3rd place, $20.00; Charles Bennett, Rotan, won 5th place, $15.00; and Don Ballenger, Roby, won 14th place, $4.00. These boys are to be commended on the fine job they did with their Sears Gilt while they were in the program.

Superhighway Driving Is Different Style

"How's you S. D. Q.—or, to be more explicit, your Superhighway Driving Quotient?"

If you're planning a motor trip in the near future, that question is meant for you. It was asked today by E. C. McFadden of Dallas, president of Texas Safety Association, who is an active worker in the Share the Road program sponsored by the Texas Safety Association, the Department of Public Safety and the National Safety Council. This program is being conducted in cooperation with the Slow Down and Live program of the National Conference of State Safety Coordinators.

"Share the Road driving is a must on superhighways where one faulty move, one mind-traying moment can quickly involve you in a serious accident," he said. "And if you travel any great distance, you'll undoubtedly do some superhighway driving."

McFadden pointed out that super highway driving is different from average driving, the main difference being the higher speeds permisible on superhighways. "High speed does two things," he said "It gives you less time to think and react in an emergency situation, and it increases the severity of an accident if one does occur."

"For this reason you must leave plenty of room between you and the car ahead, he said. "Following too closely can cause you to crash into the rear end of the car ahead, if the driver stops or slows down suddenly. This is one of the most common types of superhighway accidents."

He also warned against lagging behind the pace of surrounding traffic, because by doing this you invite a rear end collision with the car behind you.

He said another great danger is the lulling effect of driving for long periods of time on straight, even pavements with little or no cross traffic. He advised drivers to break the monotony of the trip by stopping frequently at the rest areas which are provided on most superhighways. Here they can take a short walk, a brief nap, or get some refreshment.

"Quick thinking is essential on superhighways," McFadden said.

"You must learn to anticipate dangerous situations so you can act in time to stay out of trouble. Look ahead for signs of trouble, look behind for signs of trouble (through your rear-view mirrors), watch the pavement for signs of trouble.

He also advised motorists to use great caution when entering and leaving superhighways, being careful to adjust their speeds to the prevailing pace as soon as possible.

"The best way to stay safe on superhighways is to stay alert at all times and to adopt a cooperative share-the-road policy," he said.

MR. & MRS. CITIZEN VOTE SATURDAY AND VOTE FOR PRINCIPLE AND A BETTER TEXAS!

The Other Candidate:
DANIEL STILL VOTING
REPUBLICAN

In one of the last important issues voted on in the Senate in July, 1956, Price Daniel was AGAINST payment of Social Security to permanently and totally disabled workers at the age of 50. This amendment to the Social Security law—sponsored by Sen. Walter George of Georgia was supported by Sen. Lyndon Johnson and 41 other Democratic Senators and was adopted 47-45. The Democratic Party favored the amendment; the Republican Party and Price Daniel heartlessly opposed it, also voted against tax cut. Daniel broke with the majority of Democrats by not supporting the $20 tax cut for each dependent in the House Tax bill. A vote for Price is a vote for a Change.

REMEMBER

That both former candidates W. Lee O'Daniel and Everett Haley fought that corruption and Shivers Old Machine and stood for Honesty and Clean Up in Austin. Ralph Yarborough now is fighting for same principle. We respectfully solicit O'Daniel and Haley friends to go along with other Democrats to get out and Vote for Yarborough and to get rid of that old Crowd and Millionaire Control of Texas.

YARBOROUGH FOR GOVERNOR!

Edwards Finds Peas Aid To His Soil

Dick Edwards in cotton following cotton.

Dick Edwards, in cotton following blackeye peas.

"I have a bigger, better and more uniform stand of cotton where I had blackeye peas last year. It came up and kept growing better all year," said Dick Edwards. "You can tell right to the row where peas were last year."

Edwards lives four miles east of Rotan. Last summer, 1955, he planted 45 acres blackeye peas on one of his places. He inoculated the seed. When the peas were still growing, nitrogen nodules were thick on the roots. Legumes have the ability to take nitrogen from the air and store it in the soil in available form for plants to utilize.

"Peas put nitrogen in the soil," Edwards said. "Then too, the peas were killed early, that saved some moisture. I harvested and sold enough blackeye peas to more than pay the expenses of producing them."

Edwards is a cooperater with the Upper Clear Fork Soil Conservation District. As a part of his conservation plan, he has constructed terraces, contour cultivation, grows soil improving legumes, and utilizes crop residues to help prevent soil blowing. Soil Conservation Service personnel of the Rotan office have assisted Edwards with his terracing and in planning his legumes.

Edwards left the pea vines on the surface. "My land did not blow near so much last winter under the dead pea vines as where cotton was stripped," Edwards said. "This land listed better.

You can still see a lot of these old partially decayed vines on the ground and the cotton is a lot better."

"If moisture is good early enough, I would like to plant some more blackeye peas in the blanks this summer," Edwards said. "I may plant Austrian winter peas in some of my blanks. I sure need something to stop soil blowing this winter and next spring," Edwards added.

According to Harold King of the Soil Conservation Service, the latter part of August or early September is the best time to plant Austrian winter peas. If winter peas are planted this early, there may be a possibility of getting two months growing before the ground gets cold and frost occurs. Frost will not kill winter peas but cold weather does slow down their growth.

"Education is a companion no misfortune can depress, no crime destroy, no friend alienate, no despotism enslave; at home a friend, abroad an introduction, in solitude a solace, in society an ornament, in old age a comfort without it, what is man?"—Author unknown.

Hay Fever Information By State Health Officer

Austin—Hay fever season is a year-around affair in Texas.

The reason behind this sad state of affairs, says the Department of health, is Texas' wide range of climatic and soil conditions which produce an assortment of offending flora—trees and shrubs and grasses.

Ragweed pollen is still the biggest enemy of the watery-eyed set, Department officials say, but mountain cedar, scrub elm, and a variety of other plants and grasses also cause their share of sneezing misery.

There are some bright spots in Texas, though. Department hygienists say pollen counts in El Paso, Amarillo and other West Texas towns have been "amazingly low."

From midwinter until early spring, susceptible people from Dallas southward will be affected by the pollen of cedar, a profusely growing tree with a bad habit of pollinating in late autumn and winter rather than in spring.

Fall hay fever sufferers probably have the scrub elm to blame for their troubles. A late summer and autumn pollinator, the elm is common over most of the state, but is particularly profuse in the bottomlands of the Gaudalupe and Trinity Rivers. The mesquite, a member of the legume family, causes "minor" allergic trouble in West Texas during May, June and July.

Grass hay fever is possible throughout spring, summer and fall over most of Texas, and in the winter in the Rio Grande Valley. Bermuda grass is the chief offender. Rhodes grass is a "potential" hay fever grass in the Lower Rio Grande Valley.

Ragweed pollen is almost as abundant at Dallas and Houston as in the north central states. It is a serious problem as far west as San Antonio, and all along the Coast to Brownsville.

In Brownsville, the ragweed season begins in June or July. The source of the pollen has never been positively determined. Along the rest of the coast ragweed pollination does not begin before September, a full month later in the north-central states. Pollination continues into November all along the Gulf.

In arid parts of Central and West Texas, Russian thistle is a leading cause of inhalant allergy. Other local cause are sugar beets and Palmer's amaranth. Sage pollen is a potential factor in West Texas, but information on distribution is not available. Sand sagebrush, a dominant native plant in the Panhandle, is suspect as a troublemaker.

How do you get relief from hay fever? A sea voyage during "your" season would do it. So would stay-that Granddaughter doesn't!

For one thing Grandmother spent 5 1/2 hours a day in the kitchen. Granddaughter doesn't—she spends about an hour and a half on the average.

Plenty of low-cost electricity is the biggest part of the reason why. There's more than enough to do your cooking, your mixing, your dishwashing, your water heating.

And the men and women at your electric service company are planning and building ahead so there will be plenty for granddaughter, too.

In fact, you can be sure of plenty of electricity always when you are served by an independent electric company like this one.

State Fire Commissioner Urges Schools Check

Austin—Fire chiefs and marshalls of all Texas towns and cities were urged this week to make a thorough inspection of all school buildings before the bells toll the opening of the fall term.

Mark Wentz, State Insurance Commissioner and State Fire Marshall, pointed out that only a few days remain before the opening of schools and every precaution should be taken now to protect lives of children and teachers and safeguard public property.

One proven way that fire hazards can be uncovered and corrected was by periodic inspections, and the best time to start such inspections is before the schools open, he said.

It is more important this year than ever before to make early inspections of school buildings, he said, because many new buildings and additions have been erected during the summer months to accommodate increased enrollment that may have created new or additional fire hazards.

Wentz said that fire chiefs and marshalls have been called upon to look for the four main causes of fires: 1. misuse of electricity, 2. inferior or faulty heating systems, 3. careless disposal of matches and cigarettes, and 4. poor housekeeping.

In the inspection of electrical systems, investigators should be particularly on the lookout for faulty or inferior wiring, sloppy installation work, use of poor material, including unapproved electrical cords and appliances, use of makeshift fuses and pennies as fuses, overloading of circuits, insufficient number of circuits and the improper care of motors.

Wentz called to the attention of school officials the fact that school fire losses in Texas had for the past five years been excessively high, amounting to nearly $5,000,000 in insured losses alone during that period.

He said he felt certain that the strict observance and practice of approved safety rules in all schools would cut those losses tremendously.

The insurance commission is also asking fire chiefs and marshalls to make inspection of churches at this time. Insured fire losses on church properties in Texas amounted to $2,500,000 during the past five years and with increased church attendance and activities, especially in the fall, this figure will climb unless all steps are taken to correct fire hazards.
