VOL. 34. NO. 36.

HASKELL, HASKELL COUNTY, TEXAS, SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 4, 1920.

WHOLE NUMBER 1749

KOURI NO. 1 LOOKS GOOD; SAND WILL BE TESTED

Haskell county has been attracting considerable interest in oil circles over the state during the past week owing to the report of the showing made in Kouri No. 1, east of town. The well is down about 3300 feet and is said to have the same formation found in the Breckenridge field southeast of here. The hole is said to be in excellent shape and the present showing will be drilled into as soon as it is possible to shut out the salt water that has been giving considerable trouble. Mr. Kouri is very optimistic over the outlook for making a producer.

Mr. Kouri began this well almost two years ago and has been handicapped a good portion of the time on account of being unable to get casing and other supplies—but his faith in this territory has caused him to keep everlastingly on the job until it seems now that his efforts will be rewarded—and Kouri No. 1 will be a real oil well. Mr. Kouri has already spent an enormous sum of money in Haskell County, and has not asked for assistance from anyone and if an oil field is discovered here Mr. Kouri will deserve all the credit as he is making an honest effort to open a field in this section—and his friends who know him best believe that he is going to do it, too.

The well on the Colbert ranch has recovered the tools from the hole and expects to begin drilling again soon, as they have their casing on the ground and everything in shape to push the work to completion. The management of this well expect to pick up the sand that was found in the old Colbert well drilled in that section several years ago, in the next hundred feet.

The other wells located in the county that have been shut down for some time will probably resume drilling again as soon as conditions get back to normal.

RAILROADS GO BACK TO PRIVATE OWNERS SEPT. 1st

The railroads were thrown back on their own resources Tuesday at midnight, Sept. 1st. It has been carefully estimated that it cost the government one hundred million dollars for the past six months. The clause of the transportation act which guaranteed earnings to the railroads of the country ceased at midnight Tuesday and the roads again will be on their own resources. Further loans from the government, however, will be available from the revolving fund created by the act.

Most railroads have certified to the Interstate Commerce commission that they have incurred deficits during the six months period and have asked for advances under the guarantee clause pending final reports as to their losses. Roads making application for advances before midnight Tuesday, otherwise they must wait for final compilation of the sums offered them by the government.

HASKELL MILLING COMPANY MAKING WHOLE WHEAT FLOUR

The Haskell Milling Company have begun operation of all their machinery. They have been running their feed mill for some time but last week they began putting out a whole wheat flour which they expect to make the pride of their mill products.

Those who have tried the flour are loud in its praise and we predict for the mill a prosperous business in the future.

DON'T FORGET YOUR EXHIBIT FOR THE COUNTY FAIR

The County Fair should be remembered by every one who can furnish an exhibit of any kind. This is a county affair and every citizen should be interested. Bring your exhibits to the fair no matter what it is and enter it on the first day. It is a tall stalk of Johnson Grass or a big sunflower head being it along your garden or field. The way to have a good county fair is for every farmer, gardener, stockman, poultryman and every other industry of the county to patronize it. Make it an annual occurrence and a boon to the county in which you live. We have the goods, and why not put them on exhibit.

School Opens Early

The city schools will open early on account of the adoption of the calendar month for the current session. It was planned to hold entrance examinations Sept. 1-3, but on account of many of the teachers not being able to return from summer school work so soon, postponement must be made to Sept. 5th. Every encouragement has been offered teachers ambitious to forge ahead through summer work, and the schools can well afford to await the arrival of these faculty members.

Free text-books will be checked up and made ready for issue by Sept. 7.

The work will then be gotten under way.

New Real Estate Firm

Wheeler, Brown, & Marrs have opened a new real estate, loan and insurance office in the south rooms of the Norton House on depot street. They are equipping the office in an up-to-date manner and expect to add the loan and insurance business as soon as arrangements can be made with reliable companies. There are many among Haskell's best citizens and we predict for them a profitable business.

W. M. D. Brown of Melissa, N. M., was here last week visiting relatives and talking of what a fine country his new home is getting to be. He is a former Haskell County citizen and is well known here.

TRUCK AND OIL LOST BY FIRE ON CITY STREETS

Wednesday afternoon when Mike Perry brought one of the Perry oil trucks onto the street loaded with thirty-two 10-gallon cans full of gasoline, a spark from the engine set the oil in the dust pan on fire and soon the flames enveloped the entire machine. To keep the oil from endangering the business section several cans were pulled from the truck and another machine was brought from the garage to tow the oil-laden truck away.

It was pulled into the open land north of town where a rather spectacular fire was witnessed by a large crowd. The truck was a total loss, in which Mr. Perry will have the sympathy of his many business friends.—Knox City Journal.

SIMMONS COLLEGE WILL OPEN SEPTEMBER 23rd

AEROPLANE HERE FROM DALLAS MONDAY EVENING

An aeroplane appeared over the city Monday afternoon about 6 o'clock, and after making several circles around the city, found a land west of the home of J. A. Webb, in the west part of the city. The machine was manned by J. G. Ingram, pilot, and Fred Walker, mechanic. The young men are from Dallas and are with a Dallas concern who are operating planes over the state. When they learned of our County Fair which is to take place the first Friday and Saturday in next month they said the fair committee could doubtless arrange with their company to furnish a plane for the fair.

COTTON ESTIMATE IS 12,783,000 BALES

Cotton production this year was forecast September 1st at 12,783,000 bales by the department of agriculture at Washington, which based its estimate on the condition of the crop on August 25, which was announced as 67.5 per cent of normal.

Production was forecast last month at 12,519,000 bales and the condition of the crop July 25 was 74.1 per cent, while the forecast made in July was 11,450,000 bales based on a condition of 70.7 per cent on June 25. Last year's production was 11,239,755 bales and the condition of the crop on August 25 a year ago was 61.4. The ten-year average on August 25 was 68.5.

The condition of the crop this year on August 25 by states was:

Virginia 81, North Carolina 79, South Carolina 71, Georgia 58, Florida 57, Alabama 58, Mississippi 60, Louisiana 55, Texas 67, Arkansas 75, Tennessee 75, Missouri 82, Oklahoma 84, California 80, Arizona 86, all other states 90.

CITY SCHOOLS SECURE INCREASED AFFILIATION

The State Department has recently granted an additional half unit affiliation in domestic economy. The work of Miss Tyson was very much praised by the Department in its recent notice of the affiliation grant.

As all previously gained affiliation has been held for another year the city schools have had eighteen and one-half units affiliation for the coming session. It is planned to gain new units in commercial arithmetic, book-keeping, Spanish, Civics and other subjects during the coming term.

STOLEN AUTO LOCATED BY THE SHERIFF'S FORCES

A new Ford car belonging to R. R. English living in the north part of the city was stolen from his garage near his residence on Sunday morning of August the 1st, or some time during the night and driven away. The auto was found by the Haskell county officers in the hands of a farmer near Seymour who had purchased the car in Wichita Falls a short time ago. An effort had been made by the thief to deface the engine number, but the numbers are still visible and easy to read despite the effort to cover up the identity.

Mr. English went up to Seymour last Monday and identified the car and procedure is now on to procure the stolen car and Mr. English will go after the car in a few days.

Paxton Family Leave Haskell

R. J. Paxton and family, who have been residents of Haskell for several years have sold their home here and will become residents of Denton. Mr. Paxton has served as Tax Assessor for Haskell county the past six years. He will embark in the grocery business in Denton. It is with much regret that Haskell gives up this family, as they have endeared themselves to everyone. Mrs. Paxton and daughters left Sunday evening. Mr. Paxton will remain here possibly two or three weeks.

Dove Season Now Open

The dove season opened last Wednesday September 1st and you are only allowed to kill 15 each day. The quail season does not open until the first of December and lasts until February 1st, and 15 per day is the limit on the quail as same as the doves. It is time the aimers were outfitting their guns and getting ready for the hunting season that has opened up this week.

Mrs. Willie Hallmark spent several days last week with her son H. E. Hallmark in Wichita Falls, and daughter, Mrs. Roy Mullins of Knox City.

WEEK OF SUNSHINE FOLLOWS RECENT HEAVY RAINS

The past week of sunshine that has been given us by the weather man has been very much appreciated by the farmers of this section. The roads that have been almost impassable in many localities have dried up sufficiently for the travel to pass over them, but in no wise under a degree of comfort because of the ruts and bog holes.

We can hope, if nothing happens, to the cotton within the next ten days to produce the banner cotton crop of Haskell county this year, even oustripping the 1914 crop, which has up to the present held a record unbroken by any preceding crop.

The early maize has been damaged by rain and is reported to be falling down in some sections of the county. But after all the feed crop is a good one and all we lack is weather to save it.

The melon crop this year is second to none in previous years and the melons brought to the city daily are of such enormous size and exceptionally fine flavor, bear out the evidence of the statement that has often been made that Haskell County is an ideal section for successful melon growing.

MOVE ON FOOT FOR MODERN COTTON MILL AT STAMFORD

A move has been started at Stamford towards the organization of a cotton mill company and the erection of a modern mill of 10,000 spindles for the purpose of manufacturing denims. It has been found that mills in other parts of the country have been paying enormous dividends for some time past which would not be possible had the farmer received his share of the price on his cotton. The country around Jones and Haskell counties is one of the greatest cotton producing sections in the state and instead of shipping this cotton across the country it is proposed to manufacture at least a part of it in West Texas. With its new waterworks Stamford will be able to support one or several mills but in order to get them started the farmers and citizens in nearby towns are planning to break the ice and put up a plant that will be an inducement for others.

A large portion of the money has been promised if local people will supply the rest. Under the plan bales of cotton will be taken for stock and it is guaranteed that at least 90 per cent of all money subscribed will be used in the erection and operation of a mill. The slogan "Subscribe a bale" will practically finance the mill if the farmers throughout this country will join in the move. It means that in time West Texas can be made as flourishing a cotton center as South Carolina.

Water is the greatest necessity in the manufacture of cotton goods as one mill will consume more water daily than a town of several thousand people.

PLANS NOW BEING DRAWN FOR PAVING THE SQUARE

The paving committee, composed of O. B. Norman, representing the interest of the city, Judge Jas. P. Kinnard, representing the interest of the county, and J. U. Fields, representing the interests of the property owners, have secured the services of City Engineer Riny of Abilene, to draw up tentative plans for the paving of the square. The plans will be submitted to the committee for approval about the first of the week—after which the real plans and specifications will be drawn and everything made ready to be advertised for bids.

Practically all the property owners around the square have signed up the agreement to pave their allotted portion in front of their property.

The committee expects to have matters in shape to begin work in probably sixty or ninety days.

A BETTER SCHOOL CAMPAIGN LAUNCHED

The State Superintendent, Miss Annie Webb Blanton of Austin has announced that a better school campaign will be launched beginning Wednesday September 1st. Every teacher in the county will be furnished sufficient literature for a progressive campaign and all are urged to push the work to a successful termination before the election in November when it will be voted on by the state.

Haskell County Pioneer Passes Away

Granpa Tanner died last Thursday at the home of W. W. Kitley south of Rule, and was laid to rest in the Tanner cemetery Friday, in the presence of many relatives and friends. He was one of the pioneers of that section and the schoolhouse and church where his remains sleep were named in honor of him many years ago. He was a noble christian gentleman and his passing has left a vacancy in the world of good accomplishments that will be sorely missed. He is the father of Mrs. W. W. Kitley, Mrs. W. R. Carothers, and George Tanner, all living near Rule and around the place of his first settlement in Haskell county.

Wreck on Wichita Valley Monday

The southbound Wichita Valley train due here about 4 a. m., was late Monday morning on account of a wreck which occurred near Goree, when a Pullman was derailed and turned over, breaking loose from the other coaches and clearing the right-of-way sufficiently for other trains to pass as soon as the track was repaired. Fortunately no one was in the coach except part of the train crew, who escaped with minor injuries. The negro porter was the most seriously hurt.

A Pearl and a Grain of Popcorn
The father of two beautiful girls, at his departure from this life placed in the hand of one a costly pearl and into the hand of the other a grain of popcorn.

How partial the bequests seemed to be: the one a shining gem of great value, the other a dull-colored and insignificant looking seed.

The daughter who fell heir to the pearl put it away in a locked drawer, where occasionally she showed it to a favorite friend. It never helped to brighten the world or make happier anybody's life. God had created it for a purpose, but the owner defeated that purpose.

The daughter with the grain of popcorn planted it in the median soil, where it brought forth fruit that multiplied year after year; the hearts of thousands of children were thus gladdened and the world was made brighter and happier by the gift.

Does this not constantly happen among human beings? Not long ago I saw a woman of culture and refinement, of intellect and wealth. Those who knew her said that she was capable of doing great things, that she had the necessary power and riches to lift all humanity about her to a higher and nobler level. But that woman drew the mantle of selfishness about her form and shut in every splendid endowment of the Almighty.

Almost within the shadow of this lady's home, however, there dwelt a little blind girl. Her father was dead and her mother had to take in washing to keep the wolf of want from the door. But you could pass the cottage at eventide and your soul would be filled and thrilled by a song from the heart and life of that girl sweeter than ever a bird warbled in the wildwoods. The angels brought her into a home where poverty ruled like a tyrant king, and, without eyes to see the beauties of the world, they left her there. Yet, with the single gift that was hers, a voice touched by the whispers of the gurgling fount among the roses and softened to the murmur of the winds stealing thru beds of violets, she created sunshine and happiness for others.—Austin Callan, in Temple Mirror.

While the west part of the county was being flooded they were only having light showers and at other times no rain at all would fall. He further stated that the rain that had fallen during the summer in his section had not been sufficient to catch stock water. But of course he said he was not in need of stock water because the spring rains had furnished an ample supply. Crops are very good in his section.

THE "OLD RELIABLE" THEDFORD'S BLACK-DRAUGHT

White Haired Alabama Lady Says She Has Seen Medicines Come and Go But The "Old Reliable" Thedford's Black-Draught Came and Stayed.

Dutton, Ala.—In recommending Thedford's Black-Draught to her friends and neighbors here, Mrs. T. F. Parks, a well-known Jackson County lady, said: "I am getting up in years; my head is pretty white. I have seen medicines and remedies come and go but the old reliable came and stayed. I am talking of Black-Draught, a liver medicine we have used for years—one that can be depended upon and one that will do the work."

"Black-Draught will relieve indigestion and constipation if taken right, and I know for I tried it. It is the best thing I have ever found for the full, uncomfortable feeling after meals. Sour stomach and sick headache can be relieved by taking Black-Draught. It aids digestion, also assists the liver in throwing off impurities. I am glad to recommend Black-Draught, and do, to my friends and neighbors."

Thedford's Black-Draught is a standard household remedy with a record of over seventy years of successful use. Every one occasionally needs something to help cleanse the system of impurities. Try Black-Draught. Insist upon Thedford's, the genuine.

COULDN'T LEAVE THE HOUSE IN FOUR MONTHS

Delaney Takes Tanlac and is Now Back at Work Again Feeling Fine

"When I began taking Tanlac I had been confined to my house for four months, but I never felt better in my life than now," said William Delaney, well-known employee of the City Street Department and who lives at 427 Fairview Ave., Seattle, Wash.

"I had stomach trouble and indigestion so bad that everything I ate disagreed with me," continued Mr. Delaney. "Gas would form after meals and cause me to have the worst sort of cramping spells. I actually suffered so much I dreaded to eat at all and I never dared touch meat or anything heavy. I also had rheumatism all over my body and it was so bad in my arms and legs I could hardly get about at all; then my nerves went back on me and I could never get a good night's sleep."

"I heard so much good about Tanlac that I decided to try it and it just seemed to be made especially for my case, for every one of my troubles left me so quickly it was really amazing, and I am enjoying better health now than I have in years. I have a ravenous appetite, eat anything I want and sleep like a log every night. I have gained a lot in weight, too, and put in a big day's work on the job every day. I feel like a different man in every way and Tanlac deserves all the credit for it."

Tanlac is sold by the leading druggists everywhere.

FALL STYLE SHOW

W. A. Nelson and wife of Waco are visiting Mrs. Nelson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. McKinney, 5 miles north of town. Mr. Nelson and Elmer McKinney made our sanctum a pleasant call one day last week while in the city.

J. M. Woodson living north of town began filling his silos Wednesday afternoon with the finest lot of forage it has ever been his pleasure to grow in Haskell county. He likes the silo fine and about the only fellow that don't like them is the fellow that has none. Ask the men who have silos how they like them.

J. Pickrell of O'Brien was in the city Tuesday and Wednesday of this week on business. Mr. Pickrell says they have had too much rain in the O'Brien country for crops.

Greedy Pig.

Ruth was the possessor of a savings bank made the shape of a little pig. The bank was full of nickels and dimes, and one day Ruth's aunt, needing some change, hurriedly shook out all the dimes, thinking she would have them replaced before Ruth had discovered her loss. Ruth was not long, however, in finding out that her bank was rather light in weight, and, holding it up to the light while she peered through the slit in the back, she exclaimed: "Oh, Aunt Mattie! the little pig ate up all my dimes."

No Rivalry.

A visitor was being shown over a big cotton mill by the proprietor, who proudly displayed some of the fabrics produced. Holding up a piece of printed calico he said, "Our latest pattern. Excellent work, isn't it?" "It's all right," said the visitor, "but you can't hold a candle to the goods we turn out in my works!" "Same line?" asked the host, somewhat offended. "No," replied the other; "ours is gunpowder!"

Mutilized Sympathy.

Many a wife dusts the billiard chalk from her husband's coat and sheds tears of sympathy because of the late hours he must spend at his desk close to a whitewashed wall.—Exchange.

Dreaming of Pennies.

If you dream of pennies it's a sign you will receive a letter from a friend at a distance which will contain money. The contents will be in proportion to the number of pennies in your dream.—Exchange.

Official Tattooing.

In some countries tattooing is adopted for several purposes. For example, in Sumon, when a woman marries, several tattoo marks are placed on her, and in Fiji and Samon the birth of each child is registered in this way on the mother's hand.

Evil Times.

Is the world growing wickeder? It must be. Nobody stole electricity, looted slot machines, purloined automobiles or robbed cash registers in grandpa's day.—Boston Transcript.

Concentration Wins.

First Prayer in Congress.

The Crucial Test.

A man isn't really henpecked until his wife can make him go upstairs and change his socks after he has put on his hat to go out.—Arkansas Thomas Cat.

A WOMAN'S WAY

By ANNA GREENLEAF.

(Copyright, 1929, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

"But, Jack, you wouldn't have me wear this gown to the convention, would you?" and his wife held up for his inspection the gown that had done duty for three seasons. "It is shabby and worn, besides being hopelessly out of date. I should think you would be ashamed of me," and she flung the gown from her with an angry gesture. "Ashamed of you? Never! Why, little girl, you always look well in my eyes."

"You understand, of course," he added apologetically, carefully arranging his new top coat and light felt. "that a man is obliged to keep his clothes up to date, otherwise it might affect his business standing; besides, my golf dues must be paid today, and next week, as you know, my college chums arrive. There are six of them and the cost of their entertainment will be considerable. But cheer up, you will not suffer by comparison with those at the convention, take your husband's word for it."

Mrs. Potter brushed away hot, angry tears as the door closed upon her husband. Since their marriage five years ago, she had patiently and cheerfully repressed her longing for pretty clothes and dainty articles of adornment that women love, but now that her husband was well established in his law practice and the comfortable house paid for, she began to realize that she was making all the sacrifices while her husband was reaping the advantage of them, and she resolved to check his selfishness even at the cost of humiliation to them both.

After a week of rain the day of the convention dawned clear and unclouded. The sun shining upon the green sward was dazzling in its brightness, while the birds sang merrily from trees whose buds, full to bursting, pre-announced the crowning glory of spring-time.

Ruth Potter had hoped the day would be stormy so as to render her shabbiness less conspicuous, but as she opened the window and lingered in the warmth of the sun, the beauties of the morning awoke an answering chord in her heart and she was glad her wish was not granted.

"There is one consolation," she reflected, as she dressed for the convention, "my things all match—shabby gown, ditto hat, ditto gloves, ditto shoes," and she laughed in spite of herself as she turned from her mirror.

At the convention the program went off without a hitch until the business session, when a difference of opinion arose regarding a point of law.

At the suggestion that the matter be settled by consulting a near-by authority, Mrs. Potter grasped the coveted opportunity and volunteered to procure the required information.

She selected a committee to accompany her with great care, choosing those who were smartly and richly dressed as a foil to her own appearance.

In her husband's office Jack and his friends were having a merry time over their cigars when Bert Morrow brought his feet to the floor with a bang.

"By Jove!" he rudely interrupted, "what a group of stunning women! And, I say, will you look at the shabby little mouse—why, if they aren't turning in here," and throwing away his cigar, he began smooching his mustache excitedly.

"The same old Bert," laughed Jack, when a third tap arrested him.

Upon opening the door, Jack stared first with surprise, then with consternation that was almost alarm, at the picture which confronted him—a bevy of stylish but tastefully-dressed women forming a background for a shrinking little figure with a smiling but determined face and a shabby gown.

Ruth Potter chuckled inwardly as her husband, visibly embarrassed, stammered through the introductions. Under the inspection of his fastidious friends, the contrast between his wife's apparel and that of her richly-dressed friends seemed to Jack nothing less than appalling. But to the wife it became ludicrous, and she was obliged to make use of her handkerchief to check her blushes as she noted down the words which her husband dictated in a strained, unnatural voice.

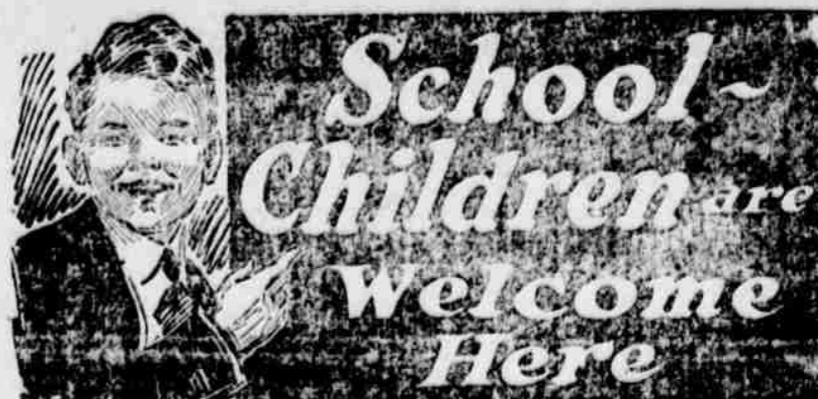

At dinner the next day Ruth gave her husband a full account of the convention.

"It was as you said, Jack, no one noticed my clothes. How foolish I was to care so much."

Later in the evening, as Jack was enjoying his cigar, he tossed a check-book into his wife's lap, remarking sheepishly, as he felt her grateful kiss upon his cheek: "Don't be afraid of overdrawing; I'm good for it."

Early English King Deposed.

The first English monarch to suffer the indignity of judicial proceedings against himself was King Edward II, who was formally deposed in 1327. He had been left the kingdom in 1307, and faced difficulties. He could not even control the royal family. His cousin, the earl of Lancaster, conspired against him; he lost his chief minister, Gaveston, and his army was crushed at the battle of Bannockburn. After a series of high-handed political intrigues, in which religion played a prominent part, parliament was finally persuaded to file charges against the monarch. He was deposed and the government turned over to his son, the prince, who was but fourteen years old.

Baptist Ladies Entertain

The Baptist Ladies entertained in the home of Mrs. Jno. Couch on Thursday afternoon, August 20th, in honor of Mrs. R. J. Paxton, who left Sunday evening for her new home in Denton.

Each guest was welcomed by the hostess, and presented to the several visiting ladies who were present. Merry conversation had been indulged in for some time, when Mrs. Reynolds, who had charge of the program, announced the first number, which was a beautiful piano selection by Miss Lucille Taylor.

Following this was a song by Miss Gladys Taylor, which was enjoyed by everyone.

Mrs. Reynolds then passed a basket containing a number of envelopes, with a blank sheet of paper in each, and the guests were requested to write a good wish for Mrs. Paxton on the paper, and a date on the envelope, suggesting when it should be opened.

A contest that called forth much merriment was one in which each guest in turn was asked to describe her husband, using all the adjectives possible. The majority of the husbands might have felt flattered to hear them, however.

Two beautiful cut glass bowls, a gift from the Aid Society, were presented to the honoree by Mrs. D. Scott who said as follows:

Mrs. Paxton, we have only known you a few short years, but in that short while we have learned to love you as a friend, neighbor and co-worker and we love you for your noble christian character. You were not only a good neighbor and friend, but you went out after the better things of life—you cared for the sick, looked after the poor and needy, and were always faithful to your church.

Your daily walk in life has been an inspiration to us all. We are better women for having known you, our society a better society for you having been its president.

While your going away grieves us very much, still we rejoice for your new found friends, for our loss is their gain.

We have here a gift for you, and as the days, months and years go by, and you drift farther away from us out on life's sea, may this little gift bring fond recollections and loving memories of your Haskell friends. So in behalf of the Haskell Baptist I present you this little token of our love and appreciation of you.

Delicious cream and cake were served to perhaps thirty-five guests. The out-of-town visitors were: Mrs. L. T. Cunningham, Houston; Mrs. Jno. Robertson, Mineral Wells; Mrs. Dr. Morris, Spur and Mrs. George Andrews, Seymour.

A Story With a Sequel

Probably you have heard the story of the wealthy Hebrew who died leaving his property three sons; subject to the condition that each put a hundred dollars in his coffin, as he did not wish to cross over without money.

After the funeral the brothers compared notes, "I put in a hundred dollars in gold," said Isaac, "I put in a hundred dollars in greenbacks," said Jacob, "Louie was silent. 'Not did you put in?'" demanded the other brothers in a chorus. "I confessed Louie, 'put in a check for three hundred dollars and took out the change.'" (This is the place to laugh if the story is new.)

But here is the sequel. When Louie got his bank book balanced the first of the month following he found that the check had been cashed. The undertaker was a Scotchman.—Exchange.

Ed Wilfong, county attorney, who has been visiting friends and relatives on the plains, returned home Wednesday after a several weeks stay. A Gift From His Lawyer

"A lawyer in our town," said Smith, "gave a present of $100 to a client the other day."

"How was that?" asked his friend. "Well," explained Smith, "it was like this. His client got hurt in a railway accident and he employed the lawyer to sue the railway company. He got $750 damages, but the lawyer's bill came to $850 and he kindly agreed to say nothing about the balance."—Ex.

W. D. Kemp Will be a Contestant in County Fair Marble Game

W. D. Kemp, a farmer living in the outskirts of the city and one of our best citizens, says that he intends to enter the County Fair marble game to win the Stetson hat. He is going to introduce to the other marble players a marble that he has kept for 40 years, trading for it when he was a small boy at school and has kept it until this good day, and expects for this marble on the day of the contest to win for him the same reputation he held as a plumper at school, and in addition, the Stetson hat. Crawford Allen will doubtless be in the contest if he holds out faithful in the opinion he gave out the other day to the writer.

L. N. Lusk living east of town returned Thursday morning from an extended trip to Terry County and other sections of the plains. He had an idea of prospecting when he left home, but on his return he said Haskell County looked good to him and he was contented with his lot. You can find no such crops anywhere as you find in Haskell County and it is only guess that a fellow from this section will be hard to please on crop prospects this year.

J. W. Wheeler of Pinkerton was in the city Thursday and reports another big rain falling at his place Wednesday morning. This section seems to have had its share of rain and then some. They are needing some hot dry weather to make the cotton mature. Crops are fine, Mr. Wheeler says, with the exception of too much rain.

End Your Gate Troubles with "Can't-Sag" Gates

No more heavy, tumble-down, sagging wooden gates. No more bent and twisted gas-pipe gates. Put up "Can't-Sags"—made of an ideal combination of iron and steel bolted securely together—no screws or nails to pull out. When closed and latched, the "Can't-Sag" gate is securely locked at both ends—stock can't break through to destroy growing crops.

Can't-Sag a Fraction of an Inch

In order to sag even a quarter of an inch, 45 bolts and 8 pieces of angle steel would have to bend. You know that is impossible. Yet, this ideal gate costs less than the old-fashioned kind. Thousands are in use on large and small farms everywhere. Drop in and see these gates when you are in town.

Honoring Miss Hackleman

A party was given Tuesday night, August 31, on Mr. and Mrs. Murphy's lawn in honor of Miss Frances Hackleman, who is leaving the latter part of this week for Granite, Okla. Light refreshments of punch was served by Mrs. Murphy.

After the lawn party Misses Ilma and Audrey Key entertained Miss Hackleman with a slumber party. The following guests, Misses Frances Hackleman, Lois Killingsworth, Ruby Hays, Mary Eliza Fox, Jean Iby, and Leone Whittier, arrived about eleven o'clock. The girls went on top of the house in the moonlight. They went to sleep about two o'clock a. m., and got up about five o'clock a. m. to go to a sunrise breakfast, also given in honor of Miss Hackleman.

After their breakfast they went back to Mrs. Key's and Mrs. Key had a luncheon prepared. After the luncheon was served the girls expressed their thanks and departed.

"Bunch."

Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Wheeler of Dennis Chapel were in the city Tuesday and reported to the writer that they have purchased a home and will soon move to Haskell in order to place their children in a good school. The home purchased is in the north part of town near the home of M. S. Edwards.

Haskell Beautiful

In thinking of a more beautiful Haskell, we naturally vision a cleaner Haskell, when all our weeds shall have disappeared, our cans have been hauled away, and the refuse burned. We may not be responsible for the vacant lot next us, but we can do our utmost to keep our own premises clean. We may have clean premises and not have beautiful premises, but we can never create beauty to any marked degree, where uncleanness exists.

A recent visitor to Haskell remarked that the court house yard was the most attractive spot in town, with special reference to the flower beds. And we who contributed a little of our spare time to the planting and cultivation of the flowers, see that they have yielded the greatest returns in beauty and cheerfulness, to the greatest number of people, of any investment we have made in a long time. And why not more of them? Perhaps it is most too late to plant flowers for fall blooming, but we can begin planning even now, for Spring, by selecting choice seeds from a neighbor's yard, or preparing the beds for the winter rains.

This is an especially good time to prepare the ground if you are planning a rose bed, and as some one has said, "There is nothing so expressive of home, of permanency, as a rose garden." All rose growers tell us that October is the very best month in which to put out cuttings, and November and December the months for setting the two year old plants. This gives the roots a chance to become established in the ground, before the tops begin to grow in the spring.

There are also a number of flowering shrubs that grow nicely if put out in the latter months of the year, and these when started, bloom early in the Spring, before the garden flowers are scarcely started. We are glad to know that a number of our residents are planning to put out young orchards in the near future, and these will not only add to the attractiveness of our city, but yield an abundance of fruit in the favorable years, as evidenced in the past.

It is a known fact that when strangers visit a town, they judge the inhabitants, to a great extent, by the outside appearances of their homes. Well kept lawns and gardens are a mark of prosperity and lend a great inducement to those who are looking out for a location.

On a recent visit through two western counties, we were impressed, not so much by good looking crops and fat cattle, though they were fine, but by the comfortable and attractive homes in the towns where we visited. Many of them were small as to dimensions, but few of them were without the lovely flower beds and massive shade trees. In one small town we were very agreeably surprised as we had been told that they scarcely ever had a rain. When we reached the place, however, we beheld well kept yards and tall poplars reaching up to the sky like sentinels. Besides these, there were the huge cottonwoods and hackberries, and all of them had been transplanted from their native soil. We are sure that all of these trees can be grown in Haskell, if they grow "where it never rains."

The chairman of the civics committee is formulating plans, whereby we hope to create a sentiment toward making Haskell a more inviting place in which to live. Let us all get the habit of planting more trees, flowers and shrubs, and in time we can refer to our town as "Haskell beautiful."

ALEXANDER'S

Announce their first showing of Fall wearing apparel. Last weeks cool days were suggestive of the pleasant fall weather that will soon be here and with the coming of a new season proud women begin to plan new dresses and costumes. No season of the year is so well suited to the wearing of pretty apparel as is the fall, and no season is so welcome after the long, hot summer days as autumn when it is so pleasant to wear a new dress or suit or coat. You find it pleasant all day, indoors or outdoors.

A NEW SUIT

Each morning's express brings new suits to our department and within the next few days we will be showing all of the season's wide range of models and materials. Today we would call your especial attention to some of the better suits that we are showing. They come in Velours, Duvetynes, Serges and many other modish materials. The suits we are showing possess originality, being different from the ordinary "just a suit," and this will strike you very forcibly when you first see them. You will know that they are authentic styles and will not hesitate in making your selection. They are priced from . . . $27.75 and up.

DESIRABLE AUTUMN DRESSES

We cannot say too much for our assortment of dresses. They come right from Fashion's Center and to see them makes you exclaim at once, "I certainly like that." They are correct styles that women will wear for the next few months. Something entirely new in this department will greet you in fabrics and colorings and in selecting these garments we have had in mind all the time to have something to offer at a reasonable price. You will find this running throughout our entire ready to wear department. These dresses are priced around $24.75 and upwards.

WOMEN and CHILDREN'S MILLINERY

We have given special attention to the buying of Fall Millinery and today we have just opened for our customers the greatest values in millinery ever shown in Haskell. We have made a special effort to have something for the little girls as well as the larger girls and women. Wonderful little velvet hats for the little tot around three dollars. Some for the larger school girls at the same price and pretty new designs for grown ups at prices beginning as low as $3.50. These prices are truly remarkable when you examine the material. Of course, we have better styles, styles as high as you wish to buy, possibly even higher, still in all our merchandising experience we have yet to find the customer who does not appreciate reasonable prices. Come look at our millinery and make your selections early.

We are planning to have the largest business this fall in our business history. We have bought accordingly. We have had in mind our customers all the time and bought merchandise such as they will appreciate. We solicit your trade this fall whether you are a regular customer or not. ### LILACS AND LYRICS

By GERTRUDE BURNHAM.

"Come down to Kew in lilac time, in lilac time,
It isn't far from London."

The lilac refrain persisted in the mind of a girl who stood irresolutely upon the London pavement one spring morning, when even that dingy city was being afforded a glimpse of blue sky. At the corner a barrel organ was grinding out its tunes to appreciative groups of dancing children.

Well, why not go down to Kew? It really wasn't "far from London," and now that the war was over she would soon leave England for America and the opportunity would be gone. With sudden decision she hailed a passing bus and started on the journey to Kew with the haunting refrain still in her mind.

Lilacs, that was the magic word. Lilacs, white and purple, how lovingly they clustered about the little New England home.

Her eyes clouded with a sudden mist. She saw again two figures standing by the bushes, a lithe, sturdy lad in khaki, and a girl in a lilac frock who raised shy, adoring eyes to meet his. The heavy odors of the white and purple glory with which he had heaped her arms filled the air during those last sacred moments before his departure for France. There were caresses and promises, but few tears, for the girl was one of a race who unflinchingly sent their best to fight for liberty under the banners of the United States, and the man would have scorned to show emotion.

After his departure she had written him again and again. At first the replies were received as regularly as could be expected, then had come silence, unbroken silence. All attempts to locate him had been in vain and the corroding agony of suspense grew upon her. No one had heard and his name appeared on no prisoner or casualty list.

Finally she had volunteered as a Red Cross nurse for foreign service, and there found partial surcease from personal sorrow. Now her work was over and she was going home. Going home, to what?

With a start she came to herself. The bus had reached Kensington, and Kew Gardens lay before her. She alighted and walked slowly along. The birds were singing and their sweet notes were all that broke the silence. The peace of it stole over her and she sank down on a bench, half-hidden among the lilac bushes, and gave herself up to bitter sweet memories.

A man wearing the silver bars of a first lieutenant in the service of the United States stood beside a London bookstall, idly turning the leaves of a book of poems. His eyes caught the following lines:

"Come down to Kew in lilac time, in lilac time,
It isn't far from London."

He read absordedly to the end of the poem, then re-read it. Turning with sudden decision he asked the bookseller how he could reach Kew. The bookseller gave him the necessary directions and advised him to go by all means to see the famed beauty of the gardens.

The young man thanked him and purchased the book of poems. The next bus that rumbled along toward Kensington found him on its top, immersed in deep thought. His mind was far away in a little New England village which he had not seen for over a year. There stood a farm house with clustering white and lavender lilac bushes, and beside them a girl in a frock to match, her laughing face bent over the lovely blooms.

He swung off the bus at Kew and strolled down the winding paths, enjoying the rustic solitude to the utmost. He turned a corner and came upon the lilacs filling the air with magic sweetness. This was familiar, this was home, and all that was needed to complete the picture was the girl, looking up at him with the love-light shining in the depths of her eyes.

Still held by the enchantment of his dream, he turned and saw a girl sitting on one of the garden benches with bowed head. As he looked she raised her head and he saw her face. As recognition came he swiftly stretched out his arms and she flew to them like a homing bird, too happy to be surprised. So swiftly had the dreams of both become reality that there was no consciousness of abrupt transition.

One hour later a squirrel skipped out from behind the bushes and cocked his head to one side. He was watching this couple who were so close together on the park bench, so quiet, save for the low murmur of voices and soft laughter.

The man had explained the long silence in a way which increased the girl's love and trust. He had been on a secret service mission of great danger, which had made it impossible for him to communicate with anyone. He had since been promoted and cited for bravery.

Then came the story of their appearance in the garden, and he unwrapped the book of poems. Two heads came close together and the listening squirrel heard words which sounded strangely like this:

"Come down to Kew in lilac time, in lilac time,
It isn't far from London."

And the man, the girl, and the squirrel all agreed with the poet that it was an excellent thing to do.

Combines Ease of Operation with Good Work

It's genuine satisfaction to drive the John Deere Corn Binder round after round, and see the standing corn transformed into well-shaped, easily-handled bundles because the hard work is all taken out.

The power carrier does away entirely with the hard work—you don't have to dump the bundle carrier and return to position hundreds of times during the day.

On the John Deere you press the foot trip lever and the power carrier does the rest—it delivers the bundles free of the path of the horses, and practically parallel to the standing corn. The horses don't have to tramp over and on the bundles. Because the carrier is always in receiving position, no bundles are scattered between the windrows.

You will also appreciate the John Deere Corn Binder because it is easy on the horses. The Quick-Turn Tongue Truck takes off all neck weight, and makes it just as easy to turn at the ends as if the horses were hitched to a wagon.

Besides, the truck takes off side draft and prevents sluing because the axle of the truck is flexibly mounted—the wheels hold to uneven ground constantly.

The John Deere works successfully in all kinds of corn fields. The wide throat, with flexible throat springs, holds the corn into the conveyor chains. The bottom conveyor chains operate close to the butts, carrying the corn back in a vertical position all of the way.

The three packers, one working below the needle and two below insure well-formed bundles. The three discharge arms discharge the bundles onto the power carrier. No chance of the discharging bundle mixing with the bundle being made.

We want you to see this binder. There are a lot of other good things about it we want to show you

NEWS OF THE WEEK FROM PLEASANT VIEW SECTION

We are having a few days of pretty sunshine after several weeks of rainy weather.
The farmers are very busy heading maize and breaking stubble, getting ready to sow grain again. There is a fine season in the ground for this time of the year.
Several from this community attended the meeting at Rowden Sunday and Sunday night. Rev. Ray from Munday is doing the preaching.
Mrs. Alice Griffin of Stamford is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Sargent.
R. L. and John Gaines of this community have purchased a new Ford car. Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Ford went to Munday Sunday to see Mrs. Leonard Watson, who is very sick.

W. P. Whitme and family arrived last week from Palacios, Texas, on the Gulf Coast train; they have been spending the summer. It was the intention of the family to have driven through the country by auto, but the excessive rains made this impossible, so Mr. Whitman loaded his auto on the car with his household effects and boarded the train at Palacios for Haskell. He says his chief aim was to get here in time to vote in the run-off primary. W. K. Whitman, his son, went down to Palacios and helped his father arrange things for his return.

Chas. Hickman of Weinert was in the city Monday on business. Chas. says he has the best crop this year ever grown on the farm where he lives since he has known the place.

R. N. Hathcock, who has been with the McNeill & Smith Hardware Co., of Breckenridge, moved his family back last week to the land of his adoption (Haskell) and will doubtless cease his wanderings. We are glad to welcome Mr. and Mrs. Hathcock back to the fold. These good people lived here many years before moving to Breckenridge. Their many friends will be glad to learn of their return. They all come back.

N. I. McCullum, formerly of Weinert but now of Breckenridge, accompanied by his son, John L., were in the city Saturday shaking hands with his many friends.

J. W. Collins of Austin was in the city this week on business. Mr. Collins is now with the State Agricultural Department of Austin and also owns a ranch near Weinert. He is a former Haskell county citizen and is an ex-sheriff of the county.

Goodyear Mileage—and Tires for Small Cars

A well built tire yields much more mileage for each dollar of cost than a tire purposely made to be offered at a sensationally low price; buy the tire, not the price.
Built to deliver exceptional mileage at exceedingly low cost, Goodyear Tires, of the 30x3-, 30x3½- and 31x4-inch sizes, save inconvenience, disappointment and money.
Their value results from the application of Goodyear experience, expertness and care to their manufacture in the world's largest tire factory devoted to these sizes.
If you own a Ford, Chevrolet, Dort, Maxwell or other car taking these sizes, go to your nearest Service Station for Goodyear Tires—for the real worth and endurance that Goodyear builds into them.

- 30x3½ Goodyear Double-Cure Fabric, All-Weather Tread..... $23.50
- 30x3½ Goodyear Single-Cure Fabric, Anti-Skid Tread..... $21.50

Honoring Paxton Family

The First Christian Church gave a farewell reception last Thursday evening at the Library, honoring Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Paxton and family, who will make their future home in Denton. Rev. and Mrs. P. W. Walthall and Mrs. H. S. Post welcomed each guest to the Library, which was beautiful in decorations of red, pink, and green. The guests enjoyed "Forty-Two" for some time, when Mrs. Walthall, who had charge of the evening program, announced that Jno. L. Robertson would express Haskell's appreciation of Mr. Paxton. In a brief way he told of his value as a citizen, being the highest type of manhood. The second number was given by Bailey Post, assistant superintendent of the Sunday School, of which Mr. Paxton has been superintendent. Mr. Post gave a sketch of our beloved leader's life, what he meant to the Sunday School, and how greatly his loss will be felt. At the close of this number little Miss G. W. Smith presented to him in behalf of the Sunday School a beautiful safety razor. The closing number of the evening was given by Rev. P. W. Walthall, who helped each one to understand what Mr. Paxton and family had meant to the churches where they worshipped. In part he said, "Brother and Sister Paxton are the highest type of Christian man and womanhood. Their lives have been an inspiration to all with whom they have associated. We shall miss them, but our loss is Denton's gain." In behalf of the church little Miss Christine Ballard then presented Mr. Paxton with a beautiful silk shirt. Mr. and Mrs. Paxton responded in a manner that touched each heart and helped those present to realize just how great is Haskell's loss. Mrs. Marvin Post furnished several beautiful piano selections. Delicious refreshments of punch and cake was served.

Garden Party

The Marys of the Methodist Missionary Society, under the leadership of Mrs. F. G. Alexander, entertained the Marthas with a Garden Party, on the beautiful lawn of Mrs. C. L. Lewis.

Mrs. Kaigler had charge of the following program:

Scripture reading by each member of the Society.

History of the Methodist Church and Missionary Society of Haskell by Mrs. Alexander. She told of how the ladies went out and solicited every home in Haskell for money to help build the church and not a single person refused them. They started the building with $91.00 in the treasury, the men hauling the lumber from Abilene. This was in 1888.

Reminiscences of Early Days, by Mrs. P. D. Sanders. She told some very funny incidents. One of a baby show held in Haskell 19 years ago. How all the young mothers dressed their babies so beautifully, and one mother carried her baby one and one-half miles, baby being very simply dressed, and he received the prize.

Miss Mary Lee Pinkerton sang some beautiful songs, accompanied by Miss Hassie Davis on her violin.

Mrs. Kaigler then asked Mrs. Alexander to choose one of the Marys, and Mrs. Lemmons, leader of the Marthas one, to run a foot race. The Mary's champion won.

Mrs. Murchison took pictures of the crowd.

Mrs. Guest gave a very appropriate toast to the Marthas, and Mrs. Kimbrough responded.

Mrs. Oslin gave an appreciation, Mrs. Kaigler asked each woman to tell of her most embarrassing moment. This was very amusing.

The hostess served refreshments, assisted by Mesdames Irbly and Sutherland. On each plate was a pretty little hand-painted favor, contributed by Joan Irbly.

Several out of town guests were present.

The Marthas thank the Marys for a most delightful party. Society will meet next Monday at the church at 4. Reporter.

FIRST BALE OF COTTON BROUGHT IN THURSDAY

Mr. F. A. Klose, a farmer living east of the city arrived in town Thursday with the first bale of cotton this season. It came so unexpected none of the gins were prepared to gin it from his wagon and as we go to press it is still on the square. Mr. Klose has two more bales open and will proceed to pick them at once. He says he has been living in the county for 16 years and this is the first time he ever picked the first bale of cotton in the county since he has been here and he has farmed all the while. Mr. Klose reports crops good in his section.

Misses June and Mamey Smith left this week for Fort Worth where they will enter the T. W. College. In order to have a good place to board, Mrs. Smith accompanied them as housekeeper and Chaparone. They will do light housekeeping during the term of school and we commend this course as both wise and economic.
