MASS MEETING.

A mass meeting was held at the opera house Saturday to receive the report of the Committee sent to Dallas to confer with the T. & P. officials in reference to a new depot. The Committee: Capt. W. C. Powell, Judge B. L. Russell and W. A. Shield. Dr. R. G. Powell went with the committee and rendered all the assistance he could. The Company agreed to build a new depot on the north side of all railroad tracks, in fact, agreed to do about all the people asked.

On motion the Railroad Commission was requested to postpone the hearing set for last Tuesday, for sixty days, pending a settlement with the Railroad Company. The Company agrees to submit plans within thirty days for a brick or concrete depot, put a tile drain across Market Street and level same, doing away with the present ditch.

It was the opinion of the committee that the matter can be adjusted without any further difficulty.

A new hotel on the site of the Seay Hotel was discussed with the Company officials who said they thought the people of Baird should rebuild the hotel. This matter was also reported to the mass meeting. Will Boydston, President of the Commercial Club, who presided over the meeting, on motion, appointed a committee to take the matter up with the people of Baird. It was stated that if 15 per cent of the amount required to build a hotel was subscribed by the people of Baird, a man (name not given) could be found to build the hotel. Brown Seay, we hear, will sell his property, including the hotel site and his residence, for five thousand dollars. The first thing to be done seems to us, is to secure the Seay property, which will probably be done. It begins to look like we are going to get a new hotel and a new depot.

A CORRECTION.

I last week's Star I led the readers to think my record of the rainfall covered the whole county, also that it ran from the first of January 1910 to the 31st of December 1910. The record I sent in was for the actual rain fall in the town of Cottonwood, and not for the whole county. We could stand on the streets of Cottonwood and see heavy rains falling within a few miles of town and no rain at all in the town.

PROPOSED NEW COUNTY.

Rising Star will make an effort to have the present legislature create a new county in the territory heretofore surveyed for that purpose, taking territory from Eastland, Brown, Comanche, Callahan and Coleman counties. The proposed new county takes one hundred and thirty-one square miles of Callahan county. It takes in Cross Plains, Dressy and Cottonwood and comes within twelve miles of Baird. What are the people of Callahan county going to do about it? THE STAR does not like to see the county cut up as it will leave the county in an awkward shape. It depends largely on the people living in the territory proposed to be cut out of Callahan county. If a majority favor it the legislature may grant it provided people in other counties to be effected, consent. Brown, Coleman and Callahan have always opposed the new county and we believe will do so again. The proposed new county might indirectly benefit Baird, because it would place Baird, possibly, within five miles of the geographical center of the county, but this of itself would not cause THE STAR to favor the scheme and we hope to see it defeated, but it is going to take hard work to do it, and we warn the people of Callahan county and the people living in the territory in this county that is to be cut off, especially, that if they do not want to be placed in the new county, they will have to sign a remonstrance against the new county. A petition against the new county coming from the people at Cottonwood, Cross Plains, Dressy and Caddo Peak will have more influence with the legislature than from other parts of the county. If the new county is created Rising Star will very likely be the county seat and some people living within 12 to 15 miles of Baird will have to go 20 to 25 miles to Rising Star, over the worst roads in West Texas, to attend court. Callahan county is under no obligation to give up a hundred or two square miles to build up some other county, though of course we have nothing but the best of feeling for the towns and people in the proposed new county.

A FATHER'S DUTY.

The father who raises a son to manhood and neglects to teach him some avocation by which he can earn an honest living, makes a serious mistake the big brawny; strapping young fellow in blue overalls with bare arms, black with coal dust and grease, who slings a heavy sledge hammer eight or ten hours a day, or heaves ton after ton of coal into a flaming furnace, may not look quite so neat, sweet and kissable as the spider-legged dude in tailor-made clothes, but when it comes to a real bread and meat proposition, the latter is lost in the shuffle. No matter particularly what trade or avocation he follows, just so it is honest and legitimate; and the man has the inclination and ability to do the task well. A first class ignorant woodchopper, who is willing to work, is well worth all the educated vagabonds that you can pack inside of a forty acre lot. Young boys should be educated but they should be taught something practicable. That, in any event, so far as making a living is concerned.—Klamity's Harpoon.

It looks like Baird is going to get a new depot after thirty years.

Jefferson says he went into the ring drugged. There is no doubt that he came out well drubbed.

Congressman Smith wants many things on the free list that the producers of his district don't.

The prospects to rebuild the hotel, some believe, to be excellent. Let's hope so, but don't forget the Mexia dam proposition.

The several Courts of Civil Appeals of Texas are a d—d farce and every one of them should be abolished, and the Supreme Court enlarged.

Rev. W. A. Jarrell in an open letter in the Houston Post to the legislature lays out enough work to keep that body in session for six months.

Texas will gain two Congressmen under the apportionment bill proposed in Congress. This district has nearly enough population for two Congressmen and five hundred or more men who consider that they can fill the place better than any one else.

The idea of the Dallas anti electing a pro to the senate only shows what chumps they are. The first act of McNealus was to try to prevent the election of Senator Hudspeth President Pro Tem solely because he was an anti, and Senator Bryan was in the same boat, too.

Will some of the free raw material advocates explain why a tax of 25 or even 50c per ton on iron ore is protection? With a tariff the government collects the money, and without it the iron makers put the money in their own pockets. That's the difference.

Baird ought to build at least four macadam roads this year leading out into the country from 5 to 20 miles each. If Baird would build such roads it would be worth more to the town than another railroad. We could build such roads at a very small cost compared with some other towns that are building them.

Did you ever know of a manufacturer that did not favor free raw material? Did you ever know a manufacturer that did not demand a protection tariff to help him against foreign competition? The answers to these two questions might help some to locate the backers of the free raw material theory in this country.

Wonder how many drastic liquor laws the present legislature will enact? The time was in Texas twenty years ago that when a legislator wanted to make a rep he would jump on the railroads; now he if he wants to play a winning stunt he jumps on the prohibition wagon and out Herods Herod in his zeal to pass laws to restrict the "other fellow."

Gov. Fredrick W. Plaisted, the first Democratic governor of Maine in thirty years was inaugurated Thursday, Jan 5th. In his address to the legislature, which is also Democratic, referring to the prohibition question Gov. Plaisted said: "Not only has the purpose of constitutional prohibition and legislative enactment failed of accomplishment, but hypocrisy, corruption and disrespect for law has been begotten." This is a severe reflection from a governor of a state that has had state wide prohibition for over sixty years. Yet some people expect Texas to adopt this dying hump in Grand Old Texas. Pay your poll tax.

E. J. Davis and his Republican legislature tried to prevent the inauguration of Gov. Coke, but failed, and it destroyed the Republican party in Texas. Do the pros want to travel the same road? If they do let them postpone the inauguration of Colquitt. There will be no postponement.

The Editor of THE STAR is indebted to Frank P. Holland, of Texas Farm and Ranch and Holland's Magazine for an invitation to attend a banquet at Hotel Southland, Dallas, last Wednesday night. The menu called for barbecued hump of Cattalo, Roast Karakule, Fat Tailed Persian Sheep and many "other things". Sorry we could not be there.

Tom Ball and his pros fell down on electing a president pro tem of the senate Tuesday. While the pros have a majority, Senators Cofers Mayfield, McNealus, Collins and Bryan tried to head off the election of Claude Hudspeth of El Paso but failed because Senators Perkins and Greer, pros, were pledged to Hudspeth. They all admitted Senator Hudspeth was worthy but he is an anti-prohibitionist and that disqualifies him with the pro leaders.

The Texas legislature is in session and we will soon find out whether we are to have legislative peace or legislative war. Law making has become a fad and in Texas, at least, they have run the thing into the ground. "Let us have peace" from legislative meddling for a while just for a change, but we very much fear it is too much to expect this. If any state in the Union needs a cessation of law making and killing a lot of obnoxious laws, Texas is that state.

The cat is out of the bag at last. That twenty-five thousand dollars appropriated for the use of the Attorney General is being used mainly to prosecute social clubs for illegal sale of liquor. The local authorities in Texas can attend to all such things and it looks like pure graft on the part of somebody to squander the state's money in such a trivial manner. Lightfoot is a pro and this explains the milk in the coconut. We suspected all the time that there was an Ethiopian in the wood pile and Colquitt has discovered his woolly head.

Here is double health to Senator Tom Perkins, of Collin, a man big enough to ignore petty politics advocated by our senator and some others in electing a president pro tem of the senate. Tom Perkins is a newspaper man, big hearted as any Irishman that ever lived and broad minded too. Tom, you want lose anything by your liberality. A man that is so narrow contracted that he will ignore friendship and everything else to promote his political faction in his party, is not big enough to be state senator much less to hold a higher position. THE STAR does not agree with Senator Perkins on the prohibition question but hopes to see him in Congress some day if he is a pro.

Reports from Austin yesterday say the pros are seriously considering the question of postponing the inauguration of Colquitt as governor in order to rush some liquor bills through the legislature and have Gov. Campbell approve them before he retires. Such a course would be revolutionary and destroy what little hope the pro leaders have of carrying the state for prohibition. If a pro legislature thus openly defies the organic law of Texas you will never see another pro majority in the Texas legislature. For this reason Colquitt will be installed governor of Texas on the day named by the constitution, next Tuesday. That is unless the pro leaders have lost their senses. They have some able and some good men that will not aid such a disgraceful, revolutionary scheme. The anti can ask nothing better than for the pros to attempt such a thing.

Dr. B. F. Brittain of Dallas, formerly of Putnam, sending a renewal subscription says "send on The Star, it keeps me in touch with the best people on earth."

REPLY TO JUDGE BLANTON.

In THE STAR of Dec 30th, we give Judge Blanton ample space to reply to the charges made in THE STAR that the anti were discriminated in appointing jury commissioners, foremen of the grand juries, and in selecting the grand and petit juries of this county. Judge Blanton starts out by saying if unchallenged these charges might create the false impression in some parts of the state that anti-prohibitionists are discriminated against in the District Court of Callahan county, and it is because he fears these criticisms will, however unwarranted, have an effect upon the state wide campaign, he undertakes to refute the charges made that the anti are discriminated against in the District Court of this county in appointments made by the District Judge, and the partisan acts of some of the jury commissioners and foremen of the grand juries.

"Might create false impression," "however unwarranted" sounds refreshing indeed, when the cold blooded facts remains that Judge Blanton has not, during the two years he has held office, appointed a single anti as foreman of the grand jury, nor a single anti on the jury commission and we are reliably informed that no anti has served on the as foreman of the grand jury in this county for eight years, and if Judge Calhoun ever appointed an anti as jury commissioner we are satisfied it was a mistake. The facts are that: During the six years term of Judge Calhoun and the two under Judge Blanton no anti has been appointed by either of them unless, as we say, Judge Calhoun may have by mistake appointed one or two anti as jury commissioners. He never made the mistake of appointing an anti as foreman of the grand jury, and Judge Blanton has never made the mistake of appointing an anti to either of these positions and yet he very elaborately explains that he never considers or inquires about a man's politics. Judge Blanton is very ingenious in the explanation of his connection with this matter. Never inquires what a man's politics maybe, but just the same he does not appoint any anti. The list he publishes proves this. We want the public to keep this in mind. Neither Judge Calhoun or Judge Blanton appointed anti.

The public, we think, understands that the District Judge does not have anything to do with drawing the juries. He appoints three jury commissioners and they draw or rather select the juries. With all due respect to Judge Blanton, let us say it would be unnecessary to interfere with the jury commissioners if the judge had any legal right to do so. All he has to do is to select three men of his own mind as near as maybe and he has no fears of any ungodly anti getting anything worth mentioning. So well did this work that Judge Blanton's jury commission appointed to draw the grand jury for the last term of court that of the sixteen men selected all were pros except two, and these two were excused by Judge Blanton, as he says, because they had legal excuses. We accept that as true, and as Judge Blanton said in connection with this that we were unfair because we did not consult the "anti named. We had no opportunity to do this and it really did not amount to much anyway, because had they remained on the grand jury they would have been out numbered by pros three to one. It may have been an accident but it looks like Judge Blanton's jury commission had so fixed things that if these two anti could not have any legal excuse and served on the grand they could not have done anything.

We want to reiterate what we said before that we have only the kindest feeling for both Judge Calhoun and Judge Blanton, and would not for any consideration do either of them an injury intentionally, and had no idea of being unfair to Judge Blanton. We are fighting a condition that partisan politics has brought about in this county. Things have come to a pretty pass when to be an anti means that they are considered as unfit or unworthy to fill important positions. Judge Blanton dis-claims all responsibility for such condition of affairs and tries to throw the responsibility on the anti by saying he consulted such men as Judge Bowyer, former county judge B. L. Russell and former sheriff T. A. Irvin, whom he understands all to be anti. Sheriff Irvin voted pro at the last local option election. Judge Bowyer, last week, denied over his own signature that Judge Blanton ever consulted him. Judge Russell says he does not remember Judge Blanton ever mentioning the matter of these appointments to him, except once last year he says Judge Blanton mentioned three men whom he understood to have already been appointed jury commissioners. Judge Blanton asked if they were not good men and Judge Russell says he told Judge Blanton they were. Judge Russell said he did not care to become mixed up in the controversy. Why don't Judge Blanton name some of the pros he consulted?

Judge Blanton, referring to the list of foremen of the grand juries and jury commissioners he has appointed asks if they are not representative citizens of the community in which they live. We answer yes, and further that we consider all of them good men, some of them are as good men as live any where and many of them are the best friends the writer has; but we never charged that Judge Blanton appointed unfit or unworthy men. We said he appointed only pros, and all we ever said about these appointments which we said to Judge Blanton in person was that while these were all good men, some of them were, we thought, too bitterly partisan to serve in these positions.

As Judge Blanton, by inference at least, seems to doubt that there were three preachers on the last grand jury, we will give their names: Revs. J. M. Harlow; R. P. Odom E. A. Tharp. The two first we have known perhaps a quarter of a century, and both have been subscribers to THE STAR all these years. They are good men and we have always been good friends and we esteem both of them highly. Mr. Tharp we do not know personally. Judge Blanton says he never knew an exempt person to fail to render an excuse. Well, here are three that did not and we could give you the name of another that served on the petit jury at the last term of court.

Law Abiding County.

Judge Blanton pays Callahan county a high compliment by saying there is not a more law abiding county in Texas than Callahan county. This is true and every District Judge that has preceded Judge Blanton has said practically the same thing. We want to keep it that way, and that is one reason why we exposed the one sided partisan appointments Judge Calhoun and Judge Blanton have made. They do not seem to know that there are any anti in Callahan county and we wanted to remind Judge Blanton that there are lots of anti in this county, and until blind partisans controlled, dictated or procured by some hocus pocus appointments of only pros, many of these anti acted in every capacity. Judge Blanton knows as well as any one that to place the administration of Justice entirely with one political faction when they are so nearly equally divided as they are in this county is bound in the end to breed ill feeling and greatly impede if not often defeat justice. We hesitated a long time before mentioning these things, hoping it was merely accidental that only pros were appointed, that in time conditions would change. We have noticed these conditions for several years, but when it come down to the point that only pros were permitted to serve on the grand jury in this county and one-fourth of them preachers, we thought it time to expose the condition of affairs. We are not concerned about who is responsible. Judge Blanton attempts to relieve himself of responsibility and we believe he intends to act fairly, but some one has loaded the dice for him or he and Judge Calhoun can accidentally hit more pros and miss more anti in making appointments than any two men we ever knew.

Judge Blanton says if we know of any anti who feel slighted because they have not been permitted to do jury service, etc, that he will appoint them "provided, etc." We do not know of any, none have ever complained to us because they did not get on the jury. The anti like the pros in this respect, seem to consider this jury service is for the pros just as the pros want prohibition for the other fellows' good. The anti are not mad because Judge Blanton ignores them, but some are mad because they are considered either unworthy or incompetent.

Judge Blanton mentions only two contempt cases at last term of court. The people of this county were not interested in the two men sent here by the Telegraph Company to go to jail to test the law, but they are interested in our fellow townsman, J. W. Percy, the local operator, whom Judge Blanton fails to mention, who was fined and thrown into jail because he refused to let the grand jury have what they demanded. It was a case of obey the District Judge and lose your job or obey orders of his employers and go to jail. We think had Judge Blanton carefully considered the matter at first he would not have resorted to the harsh measure he did in the Percy case, especially as he admits there was doubts about the law as it had never been tested. The Court of Criminal Appeals held virtually that the imprisonment of Percy as well as Gould was illegal. It is but fair to state again here that Judge Blanton remitted Mr. Percy's fine and released him from jail after five or six hours. It may seem a light thing to Judge Blanton and some extreme pros to throw a man into prison because he does not reveal business secrets of a great corporation or of an individual at the behest of over zealous judges and grand juries in enforcing prohibition laws, but fair minded men, be they pros or anti, do not agree with them. The imprisonment of Mr. Percy was a mistake, which Judge Blanton evidently realized, as he released him.

As to the last case mentioned by Judge Blanton, in view of the decision of the Court of Criminal Appeals decided Dec 21st we do not now believe the grand jury had any right to demand a copy of a telegram alleged to have been sent by J. W. Seay ordering whiskey for another party, certainly not, unless the grand jury had evidence to prove that J. W. Seay reaped a profit by the transaction or furnished his money to buy the whiskey. We refer to the case of Shy Jones vs the State from Limestone county. The Court held that it is no offense for one who, without compensation to himself purchases whiskey for another at the latter's request, with money furnished him by such party. Reversed. Opinion by Ramsey.

Personally we believe the grand jury should have all the testimony necessary in the detection of crime, consistent with the rights of the public as stated by the higher court. The evidence wanted by the grand jury was not to punish a crime, that is a crime within itself, such as murder, theft, arson and so on, but to an offense so made by zealots in the legislature that made a thing an offense that is not and never was a crime, and was wholly unnecessary in any particular to enforce the prohibition laws. The pros for years told us they were only fighting the open saloon, yet they continue to vex the people with harsh, unreasonable and outrageous laws. The end of it all will be that the people will largely lose respect for all laws. Grand juries in prohibition counties spend a good deal of time in ferreting out offenses against prohibition, most of which laws have been enacted within the past two or three years. Some people have made a god of prohibition and worship with a zeal equal to the religious zealots of the dark ages, but THE STAR is for the enforcement without unnecessary harshness, of all laws to the end that obnoxious laws maybe repealed.

In conclusion, let the readers render a just decision and we believe they will as to Judge Blanton's responsibility as we do not wish in any way to do him any injustice, will state that we believe his advisors are more responsible than he is, but just remember this cold-blooded fact; anti are not appointed as foremen of the grand juries or on the jury commission in this county, and the last grand jury had not a single anti on it. We are going to hew to the line marked out, let the chips fall where they may.
