SUPT Class 94-13 graduates today

Air Force ace to address new aviators

Twenty-one new aviators will join the ranks of Air Force pilots today as the members of Specialized Undergraduate Pilot Training Class 94-13 receive their wings.

The graduation ceremony is set for 9:30 a.m. at the Simler Theater.

Air Force Reserve Brig. Gen. Stephen Ritchie will be the guest speaker for today's graduation. General Ritchie currently serves as the mobilization assistant to the commander, U.S. Air Force Recruiting Service, Headquarters, Air Education and Training Command.

The general became the Air Force's first and only ace since the Korean War, downing five MIG-21s as a combat pilot in Southeast Asia in 1972.

Flying the F-4 Phantom, the Air Force Academy graduate began his string of MIGs on May 10, 1972. A second MIG was shot down on May 31. In a classic low-altitude dogfight, the general shot down two MIG-21s on the same day, July 8, 1972. His fifth MIG was shot down while flying Second Lt. Brady Merrill, a student in the 54th Flying Training Squadron's C-Flight, prepares for his final T-38 checkride. Lieutenant Merrill and the other members of the SUPT Class 94-13 are scheduled to graduate today.

Lockheed retains maintenance contract

Lockheed Support Systems Inc. has retained the aircraft maintenance contract for Reese, Pentagon contracting officials announced late Tuesday.

The contract is for $15.7 million for the first year with options for four additional years. Lockheed was selected over six other bidders.

"We are pleased to be able to continue our maintenance contract with Lockheed," said Col. Bill Reynolds, 64th Flying Training Wing vice commander. "This will allow our operations/maintenance team to continue with little change in the lineup."

The new contract will go into effect Oct. 1.

Lockheed has been providing maintenance for Reese's training aircraft since the wing converted from military maintenance in March, 1990. The conversion, which was mandated by Congress, reduced the maintenance workforce from more than 900 military members to the current Lockheed team of approximately 400 people.

"Obviously we are delighted to retain the aircraft maintenance contract here," said Dave Dietsch, Lockheed contract manager. "We feel as though we are more than a contractor. We are part of the Reese and Lubbock families."

Wing officials expect only minor changes in maintenance operations under the new contract.

Brian David and David Jouett, Lockheed maintenance technicians, work on a T-1A.

Energy costs hit home when you pay the bill

Capt. John Povelones
64th Services Squadron Commander

Prior to assuming command of the 64th Services Squadron in January 1994, I'd been in various positions over the past 10 years. Energy costs never related to what I was actually doing. Oh sure, I usually read all the articles and issues that were printed and being talked about, but it did not apply to me.

Upon my arrival here at Reese I kept noticing all our activity managers turning off lights in ballrooms, reception lounges, dining rooms and restrooms. They also didn't turn on half of the kitchen equipment until 8 a.m. Being the new guy I figured I'd wait and see why all this was happening.

The Air Education and Training Command staff said Reese may be a little different than any place you have ever experienced and this I have found true.

One of our club managers cleaned up the mystery. He said "sir you pay for our utilities from nonappropriated fund money received from the dues and from the money you and other members pay for food and beverages."

After I got over the shock of this statement my memory bank kicked into high gear. All of those articles I'd read about were starting to make sense. One of my first thoughts went back to my dining hall days.

The morning shift cooks would arrive about 4 a.m. and turn on the lights and every piece of equipment whether it was needed or not. Gosh! We were guilty and didn't realize it.

I asked the manager to explain a little further. The story started out that Congress took away appropriated money for utilities, water, gas and electric.

This had happened over the past few years and it was a training nightmare, as old habits are hard to break.

But it had to be done quickly. All employees were asked to treat the utility situation like they were in their homes. Several questions were passed to all.

□ Do you turn on all the lights in your home if you're not in the room?

□ Do you turn on the oven if you're not cooking?

□ Do you leave heat or air conditioning on if the room is comfortable?

□ Do you leave water running if you're not using it?

Though not a surprise, everyone answered no to all the questions. So, we asked them to treat the club the same way.

Guess what; it worked. Here are several minor things that could add up over the long run that are now done in the 64th Services Squadron:

□ Turn computers off at night.

□ Remove lights from vending machines.

□ Begin duty cycle of equipment.

□ Turn off lights when leaving the office.

In summary, I learned a good lesson to pass on to everyone: Energy costs are expensive. The Air Force spent $884 million dollars on energy costs last year alone.

Just think if we all paid attention and reduced the bill by 10 percent. We would have saved $8,840,000. That could have gone into the quality of life programs! So it is everyone's responsibility.

If you have any ideas we can use in the work areas or base housing, call 3104 or 3510.

From your perspective

"A Careline column provides one of many opportunities for a commander to find out what people are thinking, what's bothering them, what they like, etc. If you've wondered why we do something, or just want to make a comment, don't hesitate to call. You can call the Careline 24 hours a day at 3273. If you leave your name and telephone number, we'll get back to you and answer your concern by telephone. Calls of interest to the Reese community will be published, without the caller's name, in the Roundup the following week. I look forward to hearing from you."

Col. Roger Brady
64th FTW Commander

Why did snack bar close

I'm calling about the bowling center snack bar being closed on Sunday. It makes it difficult for people who work Sunday. In addition, there isn't anyplace for transient aircrews to eat.

Thank you for your call. Unfortunately, we had to close the bowling center snack bar on Sundays and holidays because of economic reasons. Our clientele was low and our snack bar sales, snack bar labor and cost of sales exceeded income. We plan to reopen after the Labor Day weekend when our leagues start up again. In the interim, transient aircrews visiting Reese are authorized to use the Caprock Cafe when the bowling center is closed. Also, civilian contractor employees may also use the facility, provided they pay the surcharge.

Extra rooms needed

Every time I call billeting I have been unable to get a room. Is there any way we can get extra rooms?

Priority for temporary lodging facilities is given to authorized personnel and their families during permanent change of station moves. All space available personnel are next in line and may utilize space available quarters on a first-come, first-served basis regardless of rank. A recent change to Air Force policy allows us to take space available reservations 72 hours in advance. This doesn't guarantee the individual a room, but it deletes the requirement to sign up on the day the room is requested. As a matter of fact, we're in the process of adding 20 rooms to our existing inventory of 63, which we hope will increase the number of space available rooms available on a day-to-day basis.

DoD helps voters get information

Callers can listen to candidate messages

by Capt. Eric Cain
Armed Forces Information Service

With so many candidates out there it is difficult to stay informed.

There are numerous national issues, and keeping up with state issues, especially when you don't live there, is difficult at best.

Now there is an easy way to stay informed. For the 1994 federal election year, the Department of Defense Voting Information Center allows you to hear messages from candidates for public office at the federal and state level.

All persons certified by their states as candidates for governor, U.S. senator, and member of the U.S. House of Representatives have been invited to leave a campaign message in the system starting approximately 60 days before an election.

To contact the center you may call DSN 223-6500, commercial (703) 693-6500.

The system is set up for use with a touch tone phone. However, if you have a rotary telephone you may access the system through speech recognition. The system is user friendly and will direct you through the necessary steps.

When you call the center, in addition to listening to recorded messages, you will be able to access details on election dates and other important state information.

Any information that is not available through the automated operation of the center can be obtained through operator assistance.

The assistance is provided at no cost by the Non Commissioned Officers Association. These operators will take the caller's name and address and mail requested information on elections or candidates that is not given in the automated system.

If you have questions regarding the voting information center, or any other voting issue please contact your unit voting representative.

Wing aircrews compete in AETC's Top Flight '94

Reese T-37, T-38 and T-1A aircrews will compete in the final phase of Air Education and Training Command's annual Top Flight competition, Thursday and Aug. 26.

All three Top Flight teams will compete in the arrival competition at Tyndall AFB, Fla. The arrival competition is the final stage of Top Flight. Each aircrew is assigned an arrival time at Tyndall with the objective being for teams to prepare and execute a flight plan that will put the aircraft on target at exactly the specified time.

The first phase of Top Flight, a short-notice evaluation of both maintenance and flight teams, was held at various AETC bases in July. Pilot training teams flew predetermined flight profiles with flight examiners accompanying the flights and grading areas such as mission briefings, instruction maneuvers and error analysis. Maintenance teams were judged on preflight, launch, recovery, refueling and forms documentation.

The wing's T-38 team competed at Sheppard AFB, Texas, July 14. The T-37 competition was held at Laughlin AFB, Texas, July 21, and Reese hosted the T-1A competition July 28.

Reese aircrews scheduled to compete Thursday are: 52nd Flying Training Squadron — Capt. Randy Barker, C-Flight commander, and Capt.

52nd FTS instructor pilot Capt. Gerald Peaslee, advises a T-1A student from one of the runway supervisory units. Captain Peaslee is one of six Reese pilots who will be competing in the AETC Top Flight arrival competition at Tyndall.

Gerald Peaslee; 54th Flying Training Squadron — Capt. David Specht, D-Flight commander, and Capt. Dave Cool; and 35th Flying Training Squadron — Capt. Ronald Bryant, A-Flight commander, and Capt. Todd Hensley.

The results of the combined Top Flight events will be announced at a ceremony at Tyndall, Aug. 26.

Every week the Roundup is distributed to Reese Air Force Base — to base housing, offices, the BX, Commissary, Dining Hall, Bowling Alley, Rec Center, the Headquarters Building, . . .

Every week the Roundup contains news of importance to Reese personnel.

News notes

Air Force cancels SERB

WASHINGTON (AFNS) — Air Force has canceled plans for selective early retirement boards for line lieutenant colonels and senior NCOs this year.

An Aug. 12 Air Staff message said Air Force Secretary Sheila E. Widnall and Chief of Staff Gen. Merrill A. McPeak canceled the boards because they were "no longer needed" to meet fiscal 1994 end-strength requirements.

Air Force met its goal through voluntary separation programs, including the voluntary separation incentive and early retirement program, and reduced accessions. However, SERBs are still planned for some non-line colonels and lieutenant colonels. "We will continue to review the need for these boards and cancel them if possible," said one Air Staff official.

While Air Force personnel officials don't foresee the need for future SERBs and reductions in force to meet end-strength requirements, it is "too early to make firm and irrevocable commitments," the official said.

Air Force has a fiscal year 1994 end-strength goal of 80,876 for officers and 340,724 for enlisted members. Those figures will drop to 76,640 and 320,460, respectively, by fiscal year 1999.

Test pilot board to convene

RANDOLPH AFB, Texas (AFNS) — The next Air Force Test Pilot School Selection Board convenes at the Air Force Military Personnel Center Jan. 24 to select pilots, navigators, and engineers for classes beginning in July 1995 and January 1996.

Those selected will fill positions in the fighter, multi-engine and helicopter categories. New applications or updated information must arrive at HQ AFMPC/DPMROY3, 550 C Street West, Suite 31, Randolph AFB, Texas, 78150-4733, by Nov. 28.

Officers who currently have applications on file must update their applications in accordance with Air Force Instruction 99-107. For more information contact SSgt. Don Porter, Reese Military Personnel Flight, at 6492.

AF NCO slain

NELLIS AFB, Nev. (AFNS) — An Air Force master sergeant assigned to Nellis Air Force Base was the victim of an off-base shooting Aug. 9.

MSgt. William J. Prewitt, 37, of Newport, Ky., was working part-time at a convenience store on Nellis Boulevard at the time of the shooting. According to Las Vegas police reports, two store clerks were stocking the coolers when they observed a man enter the store and approach another store clerk who was tending the register. Witnesses heard a series of shots.

Prewitt died at the scene from a gunshot wound to the head.

B-1Bs complete global mission

MCCONNELL AFB, Kan. (AFNS) — Two B-1B bombers here finished a 19-hour non-stop global power mission to Hawaii Aug. 4 after taking off Aug. 3.

USA team begins wing review

Assessment eyes seven functional areas

(Editor's note: A 40-member Unit Self Assessment team has been formed to conduct a thorough review of how Reese does business. The team is broken down into seven functional areas. The following is a synopsis of each area.)

Team One Leadership

Areas addressed: Assessors in the leadership category examine how the principles of quality management and customer focus are demonstrated by the senior "executives" at Reese. In addition, this section looks at Reese's interaction with the local community as a "corporate citizen."

Team leader: Navy Lt. Corl Leach

Team members: 1st Lt. James Boddy, TSgt. Walt Lilley and SSgt. Joe Hunter

Team Two Information and analysis

Areas addressed: This section looks at how the organization obtains and uses information on its Quality Air Force and mission efforts in order to improve those efforts.

Captain McCool

Also, it assesses how valid that information is (i.e. is it the right data to be focusing on, or is there more relevant information available?).

Team leader: Capt. Rick McCool

Team members: SSgt. Mike Breslin, Len Bal and Twila Beasley

Team Three Strategic quality planning

Areas addressed: This category examines the organization's planning process and how all key quality requirements are integrated into overall business planning. Also examined are the organization's short-term (one to two years) and long-term (three or more) plans and how both quality and operational performance requirements are passed on to all work units.

Team leader: MSgt. James Koranda

Sergeant Koranda

Team members: Capt. Ted Taylor, MSgt. Tony King, 2nd Lt. Mark DiCarlo and TSgt. Norm Burton

Team Four Human resource development and management

Areas addressed: In this section, the team will look at the organization's efforts to effectively manage and develop quality excellence in its people.

Captain Rodriguez

Team leader: Capt. Rogelio Rodriguez

Team members: MSgts. John Klemmer and Jean Becerril, SSgts. James Fike, Jesse Nelson and Uwe Woestendiek and A1C Mark Coles

Captain Ledford

Team Five Management of process quality

Areas addressed: Management of process quality examines the step-by-step approach the organization uses to pursue ever-higher organizational quality and performance. It looks at how each organization assesses its processes and those of its key suppliers to meet or exceed mission goals.

Team leader: Capt. Scott Ledford

Team members: MSgt. Jerry Millsaps, TSgts. Bill Swinonos, and Ken Loftis and SSgt. Bain Walling

Team Six Quality and opera- tional results

Areas addressed: Assessors for this section look at trends in quality efforts, operational performance and supplier quality. They will also compare Reese units to their "competitors" (i.e. other bases and commands).

Team leader: 2nd Lt. John Underhill

Team members: Capts. Trent Baines and Stephan Koziolk, MSgt. Sam Brown and SSgt. Mark Bausman

Team Seven Customer focus and satisfaction

Areas addressed: This category looks at the organization's relationship to the customer and how the unit determines how well it is satisfying its customers.

Captain Hubbard

Team leader: Capt. Lloyd Hubbard

Team members: MSgt. Jim Miller, TSgts. Frank Schlegel and Doug Watts, SrA. Tammy Julian and Lou Ortiz

A Guide To Lubbock Businesses

Pointers For Parents

Getting "Ready For School"

(NAPS)—Preparing pre-schoolers and school aged children for school can mean many responsibilities for parents—from registering to buying clothes and supplies. Back to school time is also an opportunity to check a child's growth, health and safety through some important steps that parents should consider.

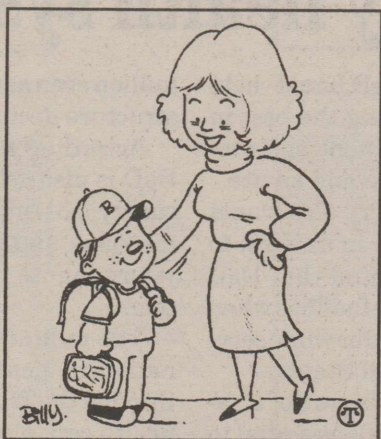

These ideas can help make school time both more rewarding and safer for children:

- In addition to making sure your child is immunized against childhood diseases, also make sure your child is growing normally. Children, on average, grow ten inches in their first year, and two to two and a half inches each year through age ten. Growth outside this range may be a normal variation, but it might also indicate a growth disorder.

- Make sure your child has nutritious meals at school—just as you provide at home. Poor nutrition can also affect a child's growth in both height and weight.

- Children feel safest in familiar surroundings. You and your child should visit school together. While there, make sure that bathrooms, playground areas, gyms, blackboards and desks are all easily accessible to your child.

- Try to meet your child's school friends. Children learn many things from playmates. Invite them to your home to observe their play habits and interactions.

- Encourage your child to participate in sports and other extracurricular activities, and provide encouragement. Suggest that your child try many different activities to help identify those that will provide the greatest satisfaction.

The Human Growth Foundation helps individuals with growth-related disorders, their families, and health care professionals through education, research, and advocacy. If you think your child might have a growth disorder, see your doctor.

Secretary Perry vows to maintain military health system

The Department of Defense and President Bill Clinton are committed to maintaining a strong military medical system and keeping it in the hands of the military, said Defense Secretary William J. Perry.

Secretary Perry spoke at the recent TRICARE's National Capital Region change of leadership ceremony at National Naval Medical Center, Bethesda, Md.

DoD is the nation's second largest deliverer of health care in the country, right after the Department of Veterans Affairs, he said. "It's a big job with two goals: top-notch health care for our people and the highest level of medical readiness."

The secretary said he is personally committed to these goals because it is the right thing to do and because good health care is crucial to readiness. People in uniform put their lives on the line for their country, he said, and in return their country owes them the highest quality of life possible.

Health care is a major concern of service members, he noted. Service members are responsible for keeping healthy and fit, but DoD must help them by providing the best in diagnosis, treatment and preventive medicine and advice.

Secretary Perry also wants men and women in uniform to have peace of mind that DoD will care for their families when they are deployed or while serving in the United States.

"Health care is part of a sacred trust. And it's essential to a military force that's prepared to deploy at a moment's notice," said Secretary Perry.

Secretary Perry promised to preserve the military's infrastructure of quality military medical facilities.

"Probably the single biggest thing I can do as secretary of defense to ensure a high level of medical readiness is set our priorities," said Secretary Perry. "And in the 1995 budget, the first one for which I am fully responsible, the health care budget increased by $200 million even as the overall force structure declined."

According to the secretary, DoD is also seizing the opportunity to improve military medicine and reduce costs by reforming its health care system.

The military is leading the nation in health care reform through the TRICARE military health care plans it is creating around the nation.

By teaming each region's military medical providers, TRICARE will give wider access to quality care to people in uniform, their family members and retirees and their family members, he said.

"Let me also report to you today that President Clinton, who as you know is working to assure improved health care for all Americans, has personally assured me of his commitment to a strong military health system," said Secretary Perry.

A Big Comeback For Little Rascals

They're back. Newly restored and unedited original versions of the hilarious scrapes of "The Little Rascals" are making a big hit with little kids today.

THEN: Beginning in 1922, Hal Roach Studios produced over 200 Little Rascals comedies, featuring a cast of charming kids whose zany antics and mayhem have captured the imagination of both movie and television audiences alike. "The Rascals"—Alfalfa, Spanky, Buckwheat, Butch, Chubby, Darla, Porky and their dog, Pete, to name a few—always got into one hilarious scrape or another, but somehow they managed to prevail through humor. The late Hal Roach was once quoted as saying, "These enterprising kids had wit, common sense and mettle as their only assets, and usually a neighborhood Grandma as their only ally, but in the Little Rascal's world, that was usually enough."

NOW: Rascal mania is about to overtake us again. Now for the first time the newly restored and unedited original versions of the complete "The Little Rascals" classic comedy film library has been brought to home video. Cabin Fever Entertainment Inc. has introduced a 12-volume "Little Rascals" collectors' video series for $14.95 per volume. Although there are other "Little Rascals" videos on the marketplace, Cabin Fever is reported to be the only company that produced the video from the original 35mm black and white masters, which have been digitally restored. Each volume can be identified by the logo on the box featuring Pete, "The Little Rascals" dog. The company has also enhanced the entertainment value of the series by retaining "Entertainment Tonight's" Leonard Maltin to introduce each program. The classic comedy series is available wherever fine videos are sold. For more information, fans can call 1-800-55-FEVER.

Community notes

AETC to publish new magazine

Air Education and Training Command will begin publishing a new safety magazine in September. The Torch will contain articles and photographs designed to heighten safety awareness on the job and in the home. The magazine will be distributed to individual base units. Anyone with an idea for an article to possibly be published in the magazine should contact the Reese Public Affairs Office at 3843.

Housing office extends hours

The Reese Housing Office is now open from 7:30 a.m. to 4:15 p.m., Monday through Friday. The office remains open throughout the lunch hour. Call 3913 for additional information.

Gerry recalls carriers

DALLAS (AFNS) — Gerry Baby Products Co. is recalling "Good Vibes" infant carriers with model numbers 037 and 038 that were sold in Army and Air Force exchanges after September 1993.

Customers should stop using these carriers immediately, AAFES officials say. Gerry reports show that some of the white plastic handles may break, resulting in possible injuries to children. These models were manufactured in the second week of September 1993. The date codes are two small circles located on the back of the handles. The left circle has a 93 with an arrow pointing to the nine. The right circle has an arrow pointing to a number two, indicating the second week of the month.

The AAFES sale price for the carriers was $35.95. For free replacement, CONUS customers should call Gerry at (800) 403-6633. Overseas customers should return the carriers to their local AAFES exchange for a full refund.

Veterinary clinic remains closed

The Reese Veterinary Clinic remains closed through today. To make an appointment for after today, call DSN 681-4098. The next vaccination clinic is scheduled for Aug. 30-31.

CHAMPUS expands coverage

AURORA, Colo. (AFNS) — CHAMPUS will now share the cost of living-related donor liver transplants for patients who suffer from serious liver disease and whose condition hasn't improved with more conservative treatment, officials announced Aug. 9.

The effective date for coverage of the transplants is Aug. 1, 1992.

CHAMPUS no longer considers living-related donor liver transplants to be investigational, but

A Red Raider fan gets his Texas Tech T-shirt autographed by weakside linebacker Eric Butler during Media Day activities in Jones Stadium. Tickets for all home games are on sale now at ITT.

Red Raider tickets go on sale at ITT

Texas Tech Red Raider football tickets are on sale at the Reese Information, Ticket and Tour Office located in Bldg. 340. Tickets are $14 per person for all home games except for the Texas game. Tickets for the Texas game, which normally sells out several weeks in advance, will be $25 per person.

Season opener against New Mexico will be Sept. 3 at 1 p.m. Kick-off for season home games are: Nebraska, Sept. 8, 7 p.m.; Southern Methodist (homecoming), Sept. 24, 2 p.m.; Baylor, Oct. 22, 1 p.m.; Texas, Oct. 29, 1 p.m.; and Southwestern Louisiana, Nov. 12, 1 p.m.

Patrons who make any purchases at the Reese Skills Development Center and Auto Skills will have the opportunity to place their name and phone number on their receipt for a chance to win two free tickets to Tech home games.

Drawing for free tickets to that week's home game will be held on Tuesday at 2 p.m.

patients must meet certain specific CHAMPUS criteria for the government to share the cost of the surgery and follow-up. In addition, officials said, the surgery must be performed at a liver transplant facility that has received certification for liver transplantation. CHAMPUS beneficiaries who need additional information concerning living-related donor liver transplants should write to: CHAMPUS, Benefit Services Branch, Aurora, Colo. 80045-6900.

Haunted house meeting set

An organizational meeting to set up a haunted house at Reese for Halloween is scheduled for Monday at 11:30 in the Reese Club Jack Davis Room. Call SSGT. Uwe Woestendiek at 3711 for details.

Firing range opens

The base firing range will be open for privately owned weapons firing Saturday from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m.. Call 3848 for reservations.

In addition, Reese people are reminded that the range is off-limits to all personnel unless on official business or participating in a security police-sponsored event such as the scheduled private weapons firing.

Self-help center to offer plants

The Reese Self-help Center will offer plants and bulbs to military housing residents in October.

Job workshop scheduled

The Fort Sam Houston Job Assistance Center will present a one-day job assistance workshop at 8 a.m. Monday at the Texas National Guard Center, 2901 4th Street, Lubbock.

For more information, call Pamela Appell at 3079 or 3310.

Preschool registration continues

The Reese Child Development Center will conduct preschool registration through Aug. 26 for 3- and 4-year-olds. Call 3541 for details.

35th FTS sprints to intramural track title

by A1C Tim Dempsey
Sports Editor

The 35th Flying Training Squadron ran over the competition in the intramural track and field meet Saturday, outscoring the nearest team by 32 points and setting a new record.

The 35th FTS's team of 1st Lt. Joseph Gagarin, 2nd Lt. Russ Gardner, 2nd Lt. Joel Winton and Navy Ensign Michael Robles set a new base record of 3:53.09 in the 1-mile relay.

In the men's 1-mile run, the squadron wrapped up the top two spots; 1st Lt. Eric Stahl finished first, 5:37, and Capt. Troy Porter finished a close second, 5:39.

In other first place finishes for the 35th FTS, Lieutenant Winton won the 440-yard dash, 52.28, and Lieutenant Russ Gardner won the 880-yard dash, 2:15.63.

Even though the men competed well in the events, 1st Lt. John West credits the team's victory to the participation of SrA. Laurie Barron and Patti Raybine in the women's competition. "If it wasn't for them we would not have won the event."

The 64th Security Police Squadron also set some base records in the competition. Sgt. L. D. Harper set a new record in the men's shotput, 45.9 ft., and took first place in the discus, 107.6 ft. A1C Tiffany Weaver set new records in the women's shotput, 30 ft., and the discus, 85.6 ft. She also took first place in the 220-yard dash, 33.26. Rob Crowder set a record in the 100-yard dash, 10.52. He also took first in the men's 220-yard dash, 24.15, and helped the squadron win the 440-yard relay, 47.69.

Amn. Latrik Smith helped the 64th Mission Support Squadron by taking first place in the women's 100-yard dash, 14.42, and the 440-yard dash, 1:25.10.

The airman also ran the final leg of the women's 440-yard relay as the team finished in first. SSgt. Christina Mjolsness finished first in the 1-mile run, 8:34, for the squadron.

In the women's 880-yard dash, SrA. Tamika Canady finished in first place, 3:51.66.

The 35th FTS finished the day in first place with 76 points. The SPS came in second with 44 points. And the 64th Mission Support Squadron finished the day in third with 34 points.
