Reese observes Native American Month West Texas, New Mexico rich in heritage, tradition

by Capt. Paula McGehee Reese Social Actions chief

All of the people in our country — except for the pure-blooded Native American — are immigrants or descendants of immigrants, including even those who came here on the Mayflower.

Some 20,000 years ago, a group of Mongolian people from Asia crossed the Bering Strait and settled in what later became Alaska.

Their descendants migrated throughout North America and are referred to as Native Americans for the simple reason that they are native to the North American continent.

The term Native American is used as an allinclusive term to describe American Indians as well as Eskimos and Aleuts from Alaska. Many years later when the Europeans arrived in North America, they thought they had in fact come ashore in India, and therefore called the Native Americans, "Indians."

There are approximately 1 million Native Americans currently residing in the United States, which is a 71 percent increase since 1970. California has the largest Native American population, followed in descending order by Oklahoma, Arizona and New Mexico. Currently 250 different Indian languages are still spoken.

Although Native Americans make up only a small portion of the U.S. armed forces, military participation of Native Americans goes as far back as the Revolutionary War. During the Civil War, many American Indians were commissioned as officers. Two examples were Brigadier General

Army 1st Lt. Ernest Childers, a Creek, receives the Congressional Medal of Honor for his actions in Italy during World War II. Lieutenant Childers was one of many Native Americans who served in the U.S. armed forces.

Stand Watie and Colonel Perter Pitchlyan, a Cherokee and a Choctaw, who commanded troops on the side of the Confederacy.

During WWII the Marines used Navajo troops in signal units to send code in their own language. Theirs was the only code never deciphered by the enemy.

Today Native Americans constitute about six-tenths of a percent of DOD military forces. Through the understanding of their cultural practices and their history we can gain insight into the complex composition of our society and our military.

Although Native Americans preceded the European immigrants who dominated America's development, their rich culture has too often been ignored and forgotten in modern America. Today, we are rediscovering the values and contributions of America's original peoples.

Since we are stationed here in Lubbock we have a unique opportunity to celebrate Native American history by visiting areas not far from here in New Mexico. The native peoples of this area are generally part of the large Uto-Aztecan family. However, the settlers of the region prior to the Europeans were the warlike tribes — the Navajos and the Apaches who arrived over 1,000 years ago.

The first European to set eyes on this region was merely 350 years ago. What is unique about visiting the Native American peoples of New Mexico is that there is a visible consistency to their history.

They live on their native soil and not lands forced on them. They live among the relics and grand ruins of those who preceded them.

While visiting Santa Fe, N.M., don't miss the Institute of American Indian Art and the El Morro National Monument Pueblo. Northwest of Santa Fe is the Bandelier National Monument Pueblo. It's open year round and rangers conduct tours of the cliff dwellings and ruins. Southeast of Santa Fe is the Pecos National Monument — a must for all to see!

From your perspective

"A Careline column provides one of many opportunities for a commander to find out what people are thinking, what's bothering them, what they like, etc. If you've wondered why we do something, or just want to make a comment, don't hesitate to call. You can call the Careline 24 hours a day at 3273. If you leave your name and telephone number, we'll get back to you and answer your concern by telephone. Calls of interest to the Reese community will be published, without the caller's name, in the Roundup the following week. I look forward to hearing from you."

Col. Roger Brady, 64th FTW Commander

Why burn lights at night?

I'm calling to ask why it is necessary for families in Reese Village to leave the back porch lights on all night. The lights keep neighbors up at night.

Although Reese Village is one of the safest housing areas to live in, some occupants feel that leaving a light on provides additional security. Also some occupants work shift hours, and leaving the light on aids them in safely entering their homes.

A conflicting consideration is the utility expense for burning lights all night. The additional expense is aceptable if it's for safety considerations -- but lights should be turned off during the day!

If the light keeps you awake at night, please discuss it with your neighbor.

If you cannot resolve it at that level, contact your first sergeant or commander so they can act as a mediator. Thanks for calling.

Can Caprock hours be changed?

On our last goal day I went to get breakfast at 9 a.m. and the Caprock Cafe was closed. Can the hours of the Caprock Cafe be changed on goal days from normal hours to the hours the dining hall uses on weekends and holidays?

The food service office has submitted a request to modify the services contract for the Caprock Cafe.

The modification requests that goal days hours be the same as on weekends and holidays.

Our food service project manager supports the request and the addendum should be approved and implemented in the near furture.

Thank you for your suggestion.

You've helped us provide more convenient service to all our customers.

CHAMPUS procedures change

Medical foundation must pre-approve civilian care

by Elva Whitehead 64th MDG health benefits advisor

CHAMPUS beneficiaries living within military hospital catchment areas in major portions of Arkansas, Louisiana, Oklahoma, and Texas must now comply with new requirements when obtaining medical treatment in a civilian facility

The Department of Defense is very concerned about the quality and cost of civilian medical care provided to CHAMPUS beneficiaries. For this reason, the Department of Defense has contracted with the Texas Medical Foundation to review the medical necessity of selected outpatient procedures and nonemergency civilian hospital admissions (except admissions for mental health services).

This review of planned medical treatment must be performed before a health benefits advisor can issue an inpatient nonavailability statement or outpatient nonavailability statement for civilian medical care.

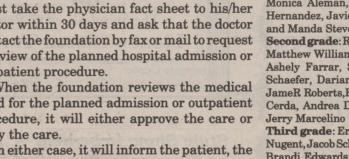

Prior to receiving scheduled medical treatment in the civilian setting, the CHAMPUS patient must get a nonavailability application from a health benefits advisor. The patient must take the physician fact sheet to his/her doctor within 30 days and ask that the doctor contact the foundation by fax or mail to request a review of the planned hospital admission or outpatient procedure.

When the foundation reviews the medical need for the planned admission or outpatient procedure, it will either approve the care or deny the care.

In either case, it will inform the patient, the doctor, the facility where the patient is to have treatment, and the health benefits advisor of its decision.

If the medical care is approved, the health benefits advisor will issue a nonavailability statement. If the medical care is denied, the letter to the patient from the foundation will tell the patient how to appeal the denial. The health benefits advisor can assist the patient with the appeal.

Without a non-availability statement from the CHAMPUS advisor, CHAMPUS will not cover the costs of civilian medical care. For more information, call 3581.

35th FTS wins IM Flag Football Championship

by A1C Tim Dempsey Sports editor

The 35th Flying Training Squadron bombarded the 64th Logistic Squadron, 34-8, with its aerial attack in the intramural flag football championship game Nov. 11.

Capt. Kevin Kilb, quarterback for the 35th FTS, was 21for-33 in pass attempts and threw for four touchdowns.

The captain opened the scorwide receiver Capt. Mike Tiltrum in the end zone to cap a 65-yard drive. Capt. Kilb was perfect on completions in the first quarter, going 7-for-7 in pass attempts.

It wasn't until the second quarter when Capt. Kilb misfired on a pass. After an incomplete pass on a fourth-andfour play, the 64th LS took over on downs. Running back SrA. Rico Dyer put the 64th LS ing of the game when he hit in scoring position on a 22yard reverse. Airman Dyer ended the drive as he leaped over a defender to come down with the ball in the end zone on a 20-yard pass from SSgt. Mike Seay. Sergeant Seay converted the two-point play on a guarterback sneak as the 64th LS took the lead, 8-6.

The touchdown only made the offense of the 35th FTS hungry. On fourth-and-short, Capt. Kilb kept the drive alive when he connected with Capt. Hugo Carvajal for a first down. On first-and-20 yards, Capt. Kilb hit Capt. Ron Bryant for the go-ahead score. Capt. Brandon Nugent ran in the option play for the two-point conversion and the team never looked back as it took the lead, 14-8.

With 2:10 remaining on the clock before the half, Capt. Kilb threw a 64-yard bomb to Capt. Bryant for his second touchdown reception, 20-8.

In the third quarter, the 35th FTS was facing a fourth-and-18 yard play when Capt. Kilb scrambled 23-yards for a first down. The drive ended on a 10vard touchdown pass from Capt. Kilb to Capt. Carvajal, 26-8.

The final score of the game came when Lt. (U.S. Navy) Stefan Xaudaro, 35th FTS, intercepted Sergeant Seay and galloped into the end zone. The celebration began when the lieutenant slammed the ball over the goal post, signaling the lid nailed shut. Capt. Kilb added insurance by completing the two-point conversion to wide receiver 2nd Lt. Todd Stearns, 34-8.

To get to the finals, the 35th FTS squeaked past the 54th FTS, 27-26, and knocked off the American League champs, the 64th Security Police Squadron, 46-26, in the semi-final round. The 64th LS defeated the 64th Operations Support Squadron, 25-20, and edged the defending champs, the 52nd FTS, 13-12, in the semi- FTS, 47-45.

Capt. Mike Tiltrum twists in the air to catch a touchdown pass, giving the 35th FTS an early 6-0 lead.
