From my perspective

by Col. Roger Brady
64th FTW Commander

When our forefathers crafted the Constitution of this great nation, one of the foundational principles was that matters of religion and matters of government should remain separate. This belief was derived from the bitter experiences of a nation of immigrants, many of whom came to this country to escape the tyranny of governments that either restricted their freedom of worship or imposed a particular religion upon them. These immigrants learned the lesson well and provided for us a governmental structure that does not interfere in our spiritual lives.

Fortunately, our memory of the possibility of governmental interference has not diminished the recognition by national leaders that, for many Americans, our religious faith is the bedrock of who we are and the motivation for our lives.

Presidents from George Washington to Bill Clinton have acknowledged their own need for guidance from a Supreme Being to face the challenges of leading this nation. In 1953, President Dwight D. Eisenhower established the tradition of a national day of prayer. We will observe this day at a breakfast Tuesday at the officers club.

As the world continues to change around us, we all need a constant, something we can count on when very little seems certain. For many of us, that is our faith. Faith in a God that directs our lives, faith in each other as we serve each other and the nation, faith in the families that sustain us. I invite you all to join Litha and me this Tuesday as we hear a message from Lt. Gen. John E. Jackson Jr., vice commander of Air Mobility Command, and offer our prayers for America, for our leaders, for Reese and the community we serve, for each other and for ourselves.

Tickets for the National Prayer Breakfast are $3 and may be obtained through the chapel or your first sergeant.

Black History Month continues

by Capt. Garland Bennett
Black History Month Project Officer

Black history is for everyone, not just for those who are of African-American descent.

It is indeed a well-known fact that America is the melting pot of freedom. Part of that American success story can be directly traced to the tireless efforts and dedication of Black-Americans.

As we enter into the second month of the new year, Americans across this great nation are taking the time to salute these successes. I invite you to take part in the celebration. During February, we at Reese will do our part to honor those who the history books have left out. In fact, we have already launched into the celebration as we kicked things off with the Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. memorial/luncheon Jan. 14. The event was an overwhelming success and is only part of a six-week schedule of events (see "Around Reese," Page 12 for details).

The first week in February featured the annual Black History Bowling Tournament at the Reese Windmill Lanes.

This past Sunday, we held a gospel jubilee at the Simler Theater, which featured some of the finest knee-slapping, soul-searching music on the South Plains, presented by local gospel church choirs.

About the cover

Choirs from around the South Plains performed during Sunday's gospel jubilee.

This weekend will showcase a tribute to the sound of Motown and its contribution to the music industry. Following that weekend, there will be a soul food tasting that will display a culinary delight of traditional "soul food".

The second half of the month brings us back to the theater, where the play "The Halls of Ivory" will run for the entire third weekend of February. Then to conclude the celebration, the annual Black History Banquet will be held at the o'club. This year's special guest speakers will be two of the original famed Tuskegee Airmen from the 99th Pursuit Squadron of World War II. The guests, Col. William A. Campbell and Lt. Col. Herbert E. Carter, will share a wealth of experience and intrigue with us throughout the evening. This event will also conclude the month-long speaker's bureau and essay contest that features their accomplishments to society and courage as Black-Americans during trying times. Selected schools in the Lubbock and Frenship district have been invited to participate.

That's it in a nutshell. I hope that each and every one of you takes advantage of the opportunities being presented. The history of Black-Americans is the same as American history.

Let us not forget that Black History Month is for everyone.

New outreach program starts

by Kay Dyer
Reese Family Advocacy Outreach Manager

All military family members are considered significant and essential to the readiness of the military member and the overall accomplishment of the military mission. As such, Reese's Outreach Program Management Team is designed to address the stress-related, life skills, and informational needs of individuals, families and the community.

The prevention strategies of the outreach program are based on the assumptions that life skills and appropriate stress responses are needed to cope with the demands of daily living and they can be learned and utilized.

Primary prevention programs seek to create awareness, provide education and advocate for family and community readiness. This is achieved through community education utilization, media development and special theme events, community organization and family impact programs.

Secondary prevention targets intervention toward families, groups and segments of the community that have been identified as being "at risk." Outreach program methods for implementing secondary prevention include risk reduction services, support group services and information referral services.

Local programs need to be developed that focus on the issues that impact Reese. Reese's outreach team is a group of highly professional, dedicated individuals who really care about military families. This group will make a difference to this community.

Plans are already in motion for a unique needs assessment using the focus group discussion format. A random sampling of various focus groups will be asked to attend a discussion group to talk about family issues and concerns here at Reese. This needs assessment is vital to the success of the OPMT establishing programs for our families.

Also, the team is planning a promotional day, April 9, to highlight Child Abuse Prevention Month and the Month of the Military Child. Mark your calendars for a fun day of booths, skits, balloons, puppets, and special people.

Your outreach team wants your suggestions for improving the quality of family life at Reese. Besides myself, they are: Chaplain (Maj.) Donald Hagler; Capt. Phillip Pettersborg, health promotions; Capt. Paula McGehee, social actions; MSgt. Dino Carroll, 64th Medical Group, first sergeant; SSgt. Roger Bass, security police; Dulleyn Alewine, family support; Jim Hernandez, 64th Services Squadron; Barb Armstrong, officers wives club; Gladys Tharrington, enlisted wives club; Betty Donaldson, Frenship Intermediate School District; Melissa Taylor, Reese Elementary; and Hortensia Estrada, Child Protective Services.

I can't think of a more gratifying feeling than that which comes when you're told you made a difference for the better.

The Valentine cards you see here are just a sample of the many received by Reese people from the students they are mentoring at Frenship Intermediate School. The message is clear and unmistakable. You are making an important difference in the lives of these young people.

If you haven't been a part of this program but would like to be, it's not too late. More mentors are needed and you can become involved by contacting Cheryl Ortiz at the Reese Family Support Center, 3305.

I invite you to get involved. Happy Valentine's Day!

America's Leaders

American Inventor Funds Next Generation

(NAPS)—In an effort to encourage the young inventors and scientists who will fuel the nation's economy with new technology and generate jobs in the year ahead, one of America's most prolific inventors is investing millions of dollars in a research and education foundation.

The inventor is Jerome Lemelson. Since the 1950's he's patented nearly 500 inventions that have helped drive the high-tech industrial revolution. "America's greatest natural resource remains American ingenuity," he says. "The greatest riches in the world are the riches that come from inventing, promoting and manufacturing goods with new technology."

To tap into American ingenuity, he created the Lemelson Medical, Research and Education Foundation which reinvests his patent royalties in the American economy through philanthropic ventures with academic institutions. The Lemelson National Program in Invention, Innovation and Creativity at Hampshire College in Massachusetts, the first of these ventures, provides undergraduate students with unique opportunities to get to work on real-world problems. The college will organize a series of faculty-supported student-staffed "E-Teams" ("E" for entrepreneur).

A prolific American inventor, Jerome Lemelson, has now devised a way to fund and encourage young people to become inventors.

Each team will take on a specific problem and attempt to invent and develop new approaches and technologies that both address the problem and hold out promise for successful business applications. Students will learn about business management, marketing and other practical matters.

Lemelson believes his program will help motivate young people by positioning inventors and scientists as role models.

Educating a new generation of inventors and innovators will provide the United States with the human capital and the technology required to launch new businesses and generate new jobs. Lemelson says studies show small- and mid-sized companies created 5.8 million new jobs in the U.S. from 1987 to 1992. Data indicates these small companies produce 2.4 times as many innovations as do large corporations.

For more than four decades Lemelson has examined industrial, commercial, medical and social problems and his inventive solutions have literally changed the way millions of people worldwide live and conduct business: the cars we drive are now manufactured using Lemelson's "Universal Robot" and "Flexible Manufacturing System." The now ubiquitous facsimile machine derived from Lemelson's patents. So did the tape drive for audio cassette players, the videocassette recorder, camcorders, cordless telephones, electronic computers and games and other products.

"I ask myself," says Lemelson, "How can this item, this system or this process be improved upon?"

Through the Lemelson Foundation a new army of inventors will ask—and answer—these questions for decades to come.

Buying Skiwear: What To Look For

(NAPS)—Whether you're a wobbly-kneed beginner or a downhill racer, a good ski outfit can help you feel and perform your best.

When buying a new outfit, remember that fit is the most important factor. Try on clothing for at least ten minutes, try a full range of movements and wear the same layers underneath that you would when skiing. Although one piece suits are the warmest, they limit you to one outfit. Two piece outfits are more versatile—you can mix and match, remove or add layers depending on the weather, and you can also wear your ski jacket off the slopes.

Sweaters made of acrylic have shown to be a favorite among winter sports enthusiasts. Affordable acrylic sweaters are less bulky than their wool counterparts but provide the same amount of warmth. They fit. Two piece versatile—you remove or add in the weather, wear your ski of acrylic have ite among wists. Affordable less bulky than orts but provide warmth. They can be machine washed—no expensive dry cleaning—yet retain their shape and color.

Acrylic is also the fabric of choice for socks, neck gaiters and hat and glove linings as it doesn't feel itchy, wicks moisture away and won't irritate skin. Look for socks specifically designed for skiing that are thin at the bottom for good feel but thicker above the ankle for warmth and to cushion your shin.

To keep the elements out look for a water-repellent outer fabric, a waterproof/breathable layer or lining, taped seams to prevent leakage, wrist/ankle cuff closures, ankle cuffs designed to stay down over the boot so snow can't get in, a built-in hood designed so moisture doesn't run into the garment and wind flaps over every zipper.

Finally, check for a good number of pockets including large ones to hold goggles, large zipper pulls that can be worked with gloves on, soft acrylic material in jacket collars to keep your face warm, without a scratchy feeling, when the collar is up, zippered vents for warm days, reinforced shoulders so skis being carried won't cut into the fabric, reinforced inner ankle areas to prevent ski edge damage and an outer D-ring to attach your lift ticket to.

See you on the slopes!

Ski garments made with acrylic provide warmth without weight and wick moisture away from the skin.

West Texas weather can turn severe literally without warning, pounding the area with high winds, rain, hail and deadly

TORNADOS

From the 64th CES Readiness Flight

Understanding the various severe weather classifications and being prepared to take appropriate action could be the best insurance Reese people can obtain for their families' safety.

For Reese and Lubbock residents, the severe weather conditions to be most concerned with are thunderstorm watches, thunderstorm warnings, tornado watches, and tornado warnings. Each of these conditions represents a different level and threat of severe weather. As conditions change, so do the precautions people should take.

Warning signs

First Lt. David Dubay, chief of the base readiness flight, says people must be aware of warning signs and prepare to take the proper actions if severe weather is approaching or is present. People can stay abreast of the local weather conditions by tuning into local television and radio stations.

All of the local broadcast stations provide extensive severe weather coverage, frequently breaking into scheduled programming to provide up-to-the-minute reports on area weather. In addition to these updates, each television station displays a thunderstorm or tornado symbol on the screen to indicate a specific weather watch or warning within a viewing area. A watch means that conditions are favorable for a specific severe weather activity. A warning is issued when that activity is actually taking place or considered imminent.

An outlined thundercloud signals a thunderstorm watch. A filled thundercloud means the condition has been upgraded to a warning. As with thunderstorms, an outlined tornado indicates a watch and a filled tornado is a warning. Most stations will supplement the watch and warning symbols with the names of affected counties.

Lieutenant Dubay suggests Reese people may want to invest in a weather radio. The radios are available in most Lubbock stores and at the base exchange. The cost is about $20.

On base, the weather flight continuously provides severe weather and Reese Village residents should take immediate cover if they hear the tornado warning siren. Reese personnel should take cover in their facilities' designated tornado shelter. Do not go outside to look at the tornado. If you do, it may be too late to take cover.

Once the siren stops, the command post will issue additional guidance on the EBS system. The EBS system will be supplemented as necessary by base law enforcement and disaster response officials. A five-to 10-second test of the warning siren is conducted at noon the last Friday of the month during the winter. During the summer, it is tested at noon every Friday unless there is inclement weather in the area.

The command post and security police ask that people refrain from calling agencies such as themselves, weather service or 911 to get weather information. People should stay tuned to their televisions and radios. Only bona fide emergency calls should be made to these agencies. In all cases, everyone should use common sense.

When the severe weather season is approaching, the disaster preparedness office suggests each family prepare a home "storm kit." These kits should contain such items as candles, flashlight (with batteries), water and a radio. Have this kit available for immediate use and frequently check the contents for serviceability.

West Texas is part of "tornado alley" and Reese people living on base and in the local communities should be aware that weather conditions can become severe, literally without warning. If there are questions concerning tornados or appropriate response actions, please call the disaster preparedness office at 3703.

Briefings planned

Mandatory tornado briefings will be held at 10 a.m. and 2 p.m. Tuesday and Wednesday in the Simler Theater.

The briefings will be conducted by the base disaster preparedness office and feature Larry Vannozzi, a meteorologist from the National Weather Service. Wing members must attend one of the four scheduled briefings.

Call disaster preparedness at 3703 for details.

updates to the command staff and command post. When there is a significant threat of severe weather affecting the base, the command post will issue Emergency Broadcast System audio updates simultaneously on all Mission Cable channels. A test of the EBS is conducted on the last Friday of the month between 6:00 and 7:00 p.m. If you do not hear the test, contact Mission Cable with the information. Reese residents who are not connected to Mission Cable will not receive these EBS updates.

When to take shelter

When the threat of a tornado striking Reese is imminent, the command post will activate the base siren. Once activated, the siren will sound a steady tone until the threat of a tornado has ended. Lieutenant Dubay stressed that base personnel

Planning is key to safety

Planning for a tornado can greatly enhance the chances of surviving one. Make sure everyone in your work area or home knows where to go if a tornado strikes. Maintain an emergency kit. It should include: flashlights, portable radio with extra batteries, drinking water, first aid kit and other emergency items. Monitor local broadcast television and radio stations for severe weather information. KFYO AM-790, is the designated emergency information station in the Lubbock area.

What to do during a ...

Tornado watch

A tornado watch indicates that weather conditions are favorable for the formation of tornados. Tornado activity is possible.

- Secure loose items outside your home or workplace.
- Restrict the movements of children to the immediate vicinity.
- Have your storm kit ready.
- Monitor weather broadcasts on local television and radio stations.

Tornado warning

A tornado warning means that a tornado has actually been sighted or identified on radar. If Reese is in the expected path, the command post will sound the base siren, directing base people and Reese Village residents to seek immediate shelter.

- Take shelter immediately and stay there until the siren stops (on base) or notified via the Emergency Broadcast System that it is clear to leave (off base).
- Don't wait for the siren if you see or hear a tornado approaching. Seek shelter immediately.
- Do not needlessly tie up emergency phone lines. Monitor radio and television broadcasts for updates.

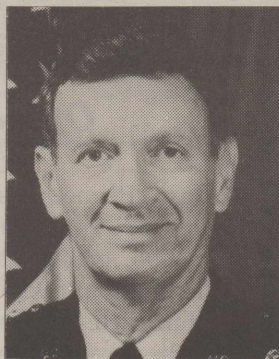

Where to go

- If driving in open country, move away from funnel at a right angle.
- Greatest safety is in the center of the basement.
- Lacking a basement, go to small central rooms such as closets, storerooms or bathrooms.
- Take cover under heavy furniture.
- Stay away from windows.
- Do not stay above ground floor of any building.
- Do not stay in a mobile home. Even a drainage ditch is more protection.

Notes

Prayer breakfast Tuesday

The 1994 National Prayer Breakfast will be observed here at 8 a.m. Tuesday in the officers club. The guest speaker will be Lt. Gen. John E. Jackson Jr., vice commander of Air Mobility Command.

General Jackson

Chaplain (Capt.) David Ivey of the base chapel said wing members are encouraged to attend this year's prayer breakfast. Tickets are available for $3 from the chapel and unit first sergeants.

For more information on the breakfast, call the chapel at 3237.

Youth dance is tonight

The youth center will hold a Valentine's dance from 7 to 11 p.m. tonight for youngsters age 5 to 12. The cost is $2 for members and $3 for non-members.

SPs ID children

The 64th Security Police Squadron will be fingerprinting and photographing children from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday and Sunday in the base exchange. The service is free and is being done for identification purposes.

For more information, call SSgt. Roger Bass at 6261.

Sweetheart ball upcoming

The Reese Enlisted Wives Club's Annual Sweetheart Ball will be at 6:15 p.m. Saturday in the enlisted club. Tickets are $7.95 and are available through first sergeants.

Money raised by this event supports the EWC scholarship fund.

The menu includes chicken breast, broccoli with cheese, corn, salad, cobbler and more. For more information on the ball, call Linda Jackson at 3541 or Gladys Tharrington at 6463.

Volunteers needed

A Special Olympics "Ragin' Cajun" dinner is set for Saturday in the Depot Warehouse downtown, and the Reese Top 3 Association and Professional Military Education Graduates Association are seeking volunteers to help with clean-up. Interested wing members can call MSgt. Steven Hastings at 3172 or SrA. Lee Smith at 3701.

For tickets and price information on the day-long event, call 747-2808 or 747-4798.

Phone outage planned

Non-residential phones and hotlines on base will be out of service from midnight to 3 p.m. Monday. All land-mobile radios will be operative during this time, but the hospital and base paging systems will be down.

Phones in dormitory rooms will be operative during this outage, and dormitory residents will be able to call 911 in an emergency. Non-dormitory residents who need a base agency in an emergency can call one of the following cellular numbers: security police, 789-8391; fire department, 789-2993, hospital, 790-1002; communications, 777-0108.

For more information on the outage, call SSgt. Philipp Turcotte at 3117.

Carnations sold

Orders for carnations are now being taken at the youth center; a carnation arrangement costs $2 and Monday delivery is available on base and in housing. Call 3820 to place an order.

The center will also sell carnations beginning at 9 a.m. Monday in the Mathis Community Center.

Top 3 meet

Reese's Top 3 Association will meet at 3 p.m. Tuesday in the enlisted club. All master sergeant selectees and above are encouraged to attend.

TAP workshop set

A civilian career options workshop for military members within 180 days of retirement or separation, or who have retired or separated since Oct. 1, 1990, is scheduled for 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Tuesday through Feb. 18 in the family support center.

Résumés, veteran benefits and more will be covered. The Thursday afternoon and Friday morning portions of the workshop are mandatory for out-processing members. Call 3305 by close of business today for a reservation.

CGOC meet

The Reese Company Grade Officers Council will meet at 11 a.m. Thursday in the Jack Davis room at the officers club. Lee Harrold, United Services Planning Association Inc. and Independent Research Agency Inc., will speak about financial issues.

Chapel plans seminar

The Reese Women of the Chapel will hold a seminar on money management at 7 p.m. Feb. 22 entitled "Gaining Control of Your Finances." Dr. Jerry Mason of Texas Tech University will discuss ways of budgeting and cutting costs at the seminar.

All wing members are welcome.

Magic show upcoming

A magic show is set for 7 p.m. Feb. 23 in the Simler Theater. Admission will be free.

Dental fair scheduled

The Reese Dental Clinic will sponsor a dental health fair at the Mathis Community Center from 6 to 8 p.m. Feb. 23.

Free snacks and drinks will be donated by the Reese Officers Wives Club, and the Reese Elementary School coloring contest winners will be announced. Numerous door prizes, costumes and more will also be part of the fair.

Free presentations will be given on important topics that affect your family's dental health. Topics scheduled for the fair include the expanded Delta Dental Plan. Everyone on base is welcome. For more information, call 3711.

Smooth move workshop set

A "smooth move" workshop, designed to assist people making permanent-change-of-station moves, will be held from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. Feb. 24 in the family support center. Reservations are required by Feb. 21. Call George Ferguson at 3305 for details.

ALS graduates

Reese Airman Leadership School Class 94-A will graduate during a luncheon ceremony at 11:30 a.m. March 4 in the enlisted club. Everyone on base is welcome; the luncheon costs $5.

R.S.V.P. is due by March 1; call 3147.

Scholarships available

Children and spouses of active-duty military members who are high school seniors or who have graduated in the last four years are eligible for the Anheuser-Busch Inc. scholarship program administered by the United Services Organization.

Twenty-five $1,000 scholarships will be awarded to students based on scholastic records, test scores and extracurricular activities. Application forms are available at the base education center and must be returned to USO by March 1. Call 3634 for more information.

Civilian nominees sought

Civilian nominees for Squadron Officers School are being sought by civilian personnel officials. Nominees must be in grades GS-9 through -12, have three years or more federal service and meet the physical requirements in Air Force Regulation 35-11.

Nominations are due to higher headquarters by May 27. Call Nina Dailey at 3803 for more information.

Honor guard names quarter's best

A1C James Eberly (right), 64th Civil Engineering Squadron, accepts the award as Reese Honor Guard member of the quarter from Col. Roger Brady, 64th FTW commander. Airman Eberly has been in the honor guard for the past year. He performed 10 details during the past quarter.

You & Your MONEY

Is There A Bond In Your Future?

(NAPS)—With tax rates rising again, many people can benefit from investing in investment grade, tax-free municipal bonds. But many of us, accustomed to Certificates of Deposit (CDs) and stock mutual funds, don't understand bonds.

1. Aren't bonds only for the wealthy? Not true. High quality tax-free bonds should be part of every investor's diversified portfolio. And, regardless of your tax bracket, nearly every investor can benefit from tax-free income.

2. If I buy a ten-year bond, don't I have to wait ten years to get my money back? Not true. Bonds are extremely liquid: you can always sell your bond prior to maturity. The dollar value of bonds traded daily is more than twice the value of stocks traded. The price you get will fluctuate according to market conditions (just like stocks): you might get the same, more or less than you paid for the bonds.

3. If interest rates rise, couldn't I lose money on my bonds? Not necessarily. While bond prices do fluctuate, if you hold your bond to maturity you will get back the full face value of the bond—just like a CD—regardless of what interest rates do.

4. What types of bonds are right for me? Every investor can benefit by including bonds in their portfolio. As example, a young couple with small children, may choose tax free zero coupon bonds, maturing in 12-15 years, to pay for their children's college education. On the other hand, a retired couple living on savings and social security should choose a variety of investment-grade municipal bonds in order to have a guaranteed monthly income, while preserving their capital as a nest egg to leave to their children or grandchildren.

Once you know more, you'll realize that you should have some bonds in your portfolio. CHAMPS!

MSSQ cagers take intramural title

by A1C Timothy E. Dempsey
64th FTW Public Affairs

In his last game here, SSgt. Mike Barnett scored 13 points to lead the 64th Mission Support Squadron to a 59-55 victory over the 52nd Flying Training Squadron in the intramural basketball championship at the base fitness center Feb. 2.

With a strong performance by center SSgt. Glenn Stanton, who scored eight points, MSSQ finished the season 14-0.

"From the start of the season we had an objective," said Sergeant Barnett. "In the last sports council meeting, they told us that no team on this base has ever gone undefeated through the season and won the championship.

"We told ourselves we could do it! We sucked up and went for it."

Sergeant Barnett credited the team's success to the additions of Sergeant Stanton, point guard John Dutkowsky and Mike Thierry who Sergeant Barnett said,

"can do practically anything he wants to with the basketball."

However, the high scorer in the game was Capt. Pat Heflin, who lead the 52nd FTS with 23 points.

"Captain Heflin is a great player; you can't take anything from him," according to Sergeant Barnett. "He's probably one of the strongest guards on this base. He can penetrate to the basket."

Captain Heflin lead his team from a 17-point deficit to a 57-52 margin with 40 seconds left in the game.

"We're just out here playing for fun and playing hard," Captain Heflin said. "We think we can win a game no matter how much we are behind."

"They just played more intensely than we did," Captain Heflin added. "We played a real tough game against supply (64th Logistics Squadron "A") in the semifinals. I think that took a lot out of us."

Capt. Joseph Brugnolotti assisted the 52nd FTS in their attempt for a comeback, scoring 10 points.

This was the second time this season that these two teams played each other. In the regular season, MSSQ handed the 52nd FTS their only loss.

"We knew they didn't match up in size, but we didn't go in the game with big heads," said Sergeant Stanton. "We came in and did what we had to do. We played relaxed and stayed loose."

Last year, MSSQ made it to the playoffs but were eliminated by LS, who won the championship.

"We made it to the playoffs and finished 8-8," said Sergeant Barnett about last year's team. "This victory is gratifying, but it would have been more gratifying if we would have beat the defending champs in the championship game. But we're happy."

"This is a good going away present," added Sergeant Barnett as he leaves today for Howard AFB, Panama.

Everyone on MSSQ played in the game. "I wanted to give everyone a chance to play," Sergeant Barnett explained. "I wanted everyone to feel that they were a part of this team."

In the consolation game, LS "A" defeated the 35th FTS 76-60. LS "A" finished the season 10-4 as the 35th FTS finished with a 6-8 record.

For Home Delivery Call 1-800-433-7300.

American Airlines is the one to call on when you need a lift home. Or anywhere else, for that matter. Because we offer competitive low fares and convenient flights to towns all across America. In fact, along with American Eagle, we fly to over 320 cities throughout the United States and around the world.

What's more, you can save some extra money by planning your trip in advance. And American even offers special services like prereserved seating and advance boarding passes on every flight.

So when it comes to heading home, American delivers. For more information, call your SATO, your Travel Agent or American Airlines at 1-800-433-7300.
