WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 3, 1994

NEW BANNER PURCHASED BY PLAINS CHAMBER OF COMMERCE - Placed at the east entrance of town, the banner advertises the Old Settlers' Reunion and Rodeo, which is to begin activities this week.

NORTH ALL STAR STONEY GARLAND (#53 white on the left) of Plains High School, waits for the action to begin in Tuesday night's McDonald's All Star Football Game at the Astrodome in Houston, Texas. The North squad was topped by the South squad 32-31 before a crowd of 12,342. Garland, who had four tackles on the evening, will attend Navarro Junior College in the fall.

Special assistance offered Aug. 5-6 for taxpayers

Taxpayers who have put off filing tax returns for past years can get special assistance from the Internal Revenue Service Aug. 5 and 6.

Bobby Scott, District Director, says, "Internal Revenue Service is offering special assistance during Operation Fresh Start. It will give delinquent filers a chance to get right with the government. Those who voluntarily come forward will find the IRS available to help them complete their returns and make arrangements to pay any tax due."

But for those who don't heed this advice, the IRS has another remedy. IRS agents in Lubbock will increase their efforts to contact delinquent filers in the South Plains area. Individuals who do not voluntarily come forward and who willfully failed to file, could be subject to criminal investigation. "It is only fair that we seek out those who didn't file returns," said Mr. Scott. "By doing this, we're making the tax system work for everyone."

The IRS will help people file delinquent returns on Friday, Aug. 5 from 8 a.m. until 3 p.m. at the IRS office located in Room 307 of the Federal Building at 1205 Texas Avenue in Lubbock. On Saturday, Aug. 6, the IRS will be at the same location from 9 a.m. until noon to assist with past due returns. Those seeking help should bring along any relevant information they may have.

Rodeo & Reunion festivities underway

The 41st annual Old Settlers' Rodeo and Reunion is now underway.

TCRA approved, the rodeo performances are scheduled nightly during the pioneer reunion, Thursday, Aug. 4; Friday, Aug. 5 and grand finale on Saturday, Aug. 6. The Rodeo Queen will be announced Saturday night, as will the name of the winner holding the lucky ticket for the saddle give away.

Cowboy dances will be held each night following the rodeo performances.

The Old Settlers' Reunion parade will wind down Main Street (Brownfield Road) beginning at 10 a.m. Saturday morning, with the barbecue to follow at Stanford Park. Meal tickets are $5 for adults and $4 for children under 12. The ticket will also include the admission fee for Saturday night's rodeo.

In conjunction with the Old Settlers Reunion, the Yoakum County Art Association has its doors open to the public Friday from 2 to 6 p.m. and again Saturday, from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. for its 1994 Art Show and Sale. The event is held at the Art Association Building at 1104 Ave G

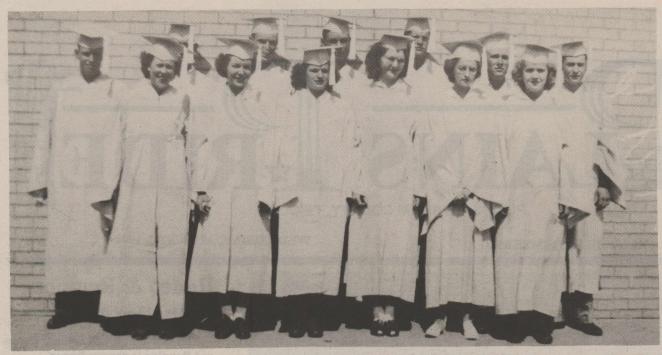

ELEGANT JEWELRY ARMOIRE, on display at Plains State Bank will be given away to the lucky ticket holder, drawn during Saturday's rodeo performance. The fundraiser is sponsored by Tsa Mo Ga Club. Tickets are $1.00.

Jewelry Armoire to be given away

Tsa Mo Ga Study Club will give away a jewelry armoire Saturday night, Aug. 6 during the Plains Reunion Rodeo

A club fund raiser, those interested in buying a ticket may contact any member of Tsa Mo Ga Club. One dollar donations are being taken for a chance at being the lucky ticket holder.

The armoire is on display at Plains State Bank.

Class of 1944 to be honored

Members of the graduating class of 1944 of Plains High School will gather for a reception Saturday, Aug. 6 in fellowship hall of First United Methodist Church. Gathering time has been set for 1:30 p.m. following the Old Settlers Barbecue.

'Forces of Change' discusses education

When high school social studies teachers and guidance councilors return to their classrooms and offices to start another academic year, they'll find a packet labeled "Important Information from the Comptroller."

Responding to numerous requests to make Forces of Change part of the curriculum in high schools throughout Texas, Sharp announced that he has made copies of his landmark study available to teachers and counselors who want to help their students learn about what the future may hold for them.

Forces of Change, published earlier this year, is an in-depth study of the major issues likely to shape Texas between now and the year 2025.

"Of everyone we hope to reach with this study, young Texans are the most important," Sharp said. "They are the people with the most to win - or lose - in the years ahead."

"That's why we encourage every interested educator to make Forces an integral part of the classroom curricula - as some have already indicated they plan to do."

The Comptroller's information packet is included in a mailing by the University Interscholastic League to reach more than 2,400 social studies teachers and counselors across Texas. Each packet contains suggestions of how teachers can use Forces of Change in their classrooms, a copy of the Comptroller's January 1994 Fiscal Notes summarizing Forces, a special publication entitled "What the Future Holds For Today's Texas Students" and an order form to receive the entire 1,400 page report free of charge.

Friends are invited to stop by at 3 p.m.

Classes of the forties are hosting the event. A patriotic theme will be carried out in keeping with the war years and fiftieth anniversary of "D-Day".

PLEE DI ATMIC DOTTAC ATTICITOTO TONA TIA

At least one former teacher, Mrs. Roberta Elliott Ford, is expected to attend. A number of ex-students from out of town are also expected.

"A Night on Santa Fe Drive" to help American Cancer Society

Volunteers from Plains and Denver City recently gathered to plan a fundraiser benefitting the American Cancer Society. Scheduled for August 18, "A Night on Santa Fe Drive" will invite community members to contribute to the education, patient services and research efforts of the American Cancer Society.

To date in 1994, patient services with an estimated value of $1,475 have been provided to six cancer patients in Yoakum County. Last year three local patients were served with a value of $915. The services which are provided at no cost to the patients include hospital beds and similar equipment, transportation to and from treatments, support groups and visitor programs for patients and their families and gift items such as wigs.

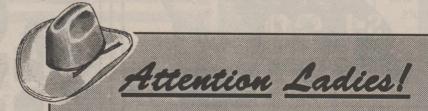

Education programs funded by public contributions assist in prevention and early detection efforts. Last year in Yoakum County, over 1,700 adults and 4,500 youth were reached. Approximately 30% of every dollar contributed is used to fund research programs. Currently over 100 Texas research projects are being funded by the American Cancer Society.

Yoakum County citizens wishing to contribute to the fight against cancer may send their checks to: American Cancer Society, c/o Yoakum County Unit, Box 718, Plains, TX 79355. Checks should be made payable to "American Cancer Society".

A book is on the shelf at the Yoakum County Library, published by National Cancer Institute, for the benefit of cancer patients. It is entitled, "Eating Hints". Recipes and tips for better nutrition during cancer treatment. It helps with problems during treatment, such as loss of apetite, sore mouth or throat, changed sense of taste, dry mouth, diarrhea, constipation, weight gain, tooth decay and lactose intolerance.

LOCAL VOLUNTEERS discuss details for an upcoming fundraiser to benefit the American Cancer Society. Pictured counterclockwise are Virginia Sanders, Mary Jo St. Romain, JoAnn Barron, Louise Swansen, Mary Ann Avara, Linda Fuller, Barbara Brewer and Sue Ann Harrison.

Please bring cobblers to the Old Settlers Reunion and Barbecue on Saturday, Aug. 6th. Donations will be accepted to help defray the cost of potato salad and beef for the barbecue.

Mail donations to:
Plains Chamber of Commerce
P.O. Box 364

Law says tots need shots

A new law took effect Sept. 1, 1993, requiring all Texas children to be immunized unless the vaccinations are medically contraindicated or in conflict with the parents' religious beliefs. The legislation required doctors and hospitals to be sure the children they see are up-to-date on their shots and to give them immunizations if they are not.

"Texas law already required children to be immunized to attend public schools, but school age isn't soon enough," said Robert Crider Jr., director of the Immunization Division at the Texas Department of Health. "In the last five years, more than 4,000 Texas pre-schoolers caught the measles and 14 of them died. That's why kids need to be fully immunized by the time they

Studies show that every dollar spent on immunizations saves $40 on the cost of treatment of the full-fledged disease. The chart below is the immunization schedule recommended by the Texas Department of Health.

Memorial services held for Hugh L. Bennett

Memorial services were held at 11 a.m., July 19, 1994, at Swan-Law in Colorado Springs, Colo. for Hugh L. Bennett, brother of Gene Bennett of Denver City.

A Falcon, Colo. rancher since 1938, Bennett died July 15, 1994.

He was born to Lucius Paine Bennett and Ruth Smith Bennett in Knox City, Texas on Sept. 19, 1905. He married Josie M. McEuen Christmas Eve in 1930. She was the daughter of Arizona ranchers. Together 55 years, she died in 1985.

Noted as a legend in his own time, Bennett's autobiography "Horseman: Brand of a Legend", was published by The Type-Smith of Colorado Inc. of Denver. The book traces the events and accomplishments which earned him respect and fame as a cowboy, a rancher and a horseman. Mr. Bennett had a leading role in starting the Cowboy Turtles Association in 1936, the organization which was the forerunner of the Professional Rodeo Cowboys Association (PRCA). He served as the association's first secretary-treasurer and was recognized for his efforts in organizing rodeo as a professional

Mr. Bennett was honored many times for his direction and contribution to ranching and rodeo. In 1986, he was named PRCA Man of the Year during PRCA's 50th anniversary celebration. Being the World Champion Steer Wrestler in 1932 and the World Champion Steer Roper in 1938, Bennett was also declared All-Around Cowboy in Boston, New York City, Pendleton. Cheyenne, Colorado Springs and numerous other places during his rodeo career. He rodeoed all over the United States and even competed in a London, England rodeo in

During his lifetime, Bennett was inducted into the National Cowboy Hall of Fame in Oklahoma City, the Pro Rodeo Hall of Champions in Colorado Springs and the American Quarter Horse Hall of Heritage in Amarillo. He helped to establish the American Quarter Horse Association (AQHA) and served as its 14th president. He was also a respected judge who was involved with some of AQHA's first promotional films.

Mr. Bennett served as vice president of the Pikes Peak Cattlemen's Association, which was formed under the cottonwood trees at his ranch near Colorado Springs, Colo. He was also a member of the American National Cattlemen's Association, the Rocky Mountain Quarter Horse Association, the American Quarter Horse Association, the Rodeo Historical Society, the El Paso Club in Colorado Springs, and many livestock organizations.

He was a member of the No. 16 Masonic Lodge and Order of the Eastern Star Chapter Nine in Safford, Ariz. and to the Southern Colorado Consistory.

He is preceded in death by his wife, his parents, two brothers and three sisters.

Survivors include a daughter, Flora Lee Marshall of Colorado Springs, Colo.; nephew, Rex Bennett of Colorado Springs, Colo.; brother, Gene Bennett of Denver City, Texas; sister, Katherine Kirby of Plainview, Texas; seven grandchildren, 16 greatgrandchildren and a host of other relatives and a special friend, Mrs. Millie Dennis who cared for Mr. Bennett the past eight and one-half years.

Family members suggest memorial contributions to the Pro Rodeo Hall of Champions in Colorado Springs.

Tri-City 13-year-olds win in Ft. Stockton Tourney

The 13-year-olds Tri-City All-Stars, (a team comprised of players from several area communities) defeated Plainview in a very tight match-up in Fort Stockton at the State Tournament.

In the first inning, Tri-City went up 2-0 when Erik Clark scored on a Dusty Hill single and then Hill scored on a Steven Bunch (Plains) single. Tri-City held Plainview to no runs.

During the top of the second, Tri-City went three-up three-down, as did Plainview.

Hill started the third inning off with a base hit and scored on an Anthony Rivas sacrifice fly. Again Plainview was held scoreless in the third inning.

Chris Browning got a base hit to start off the fourth inning. He scored on a hit by John Albarado who later scored on a single by Ricky Martinez, making the score 5-0 in favor of Tri-City.

Tri-City went in order in the fifth inning while Plainview's Davila scored one run to make the score 5-1.

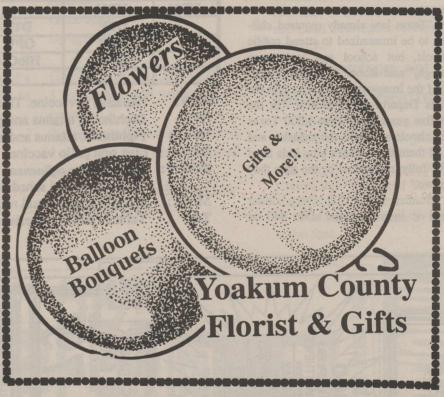

In the sixth, Tri-City got some good hitting but couldn't score. Plainview didn't mark in the sixth either.

Brad Legan started off the seventh inning with a triple. Hill walked and stole second. With men in scoring position, Tri-City could only score one on a wild pitch by the Plainview pitcher. Plainview didn't give up when McAdams got on by error then scored off a Casino single. Casino stole second then scored on a sacrifice from Sammy Villa. Jason Brown also scored in the inning. The game ended with Tri-City pitcher Chris Browning striking out Brandon Bell. Browning pitched the complete game for the win.

Coach Casey Shaw said, "The boys played a good game. The competition will only get tougher from here." Their next game scheduled was North Randall.

Bob Knight, Jamey Garland attend Texas Water Camp

Shrimp in West Texas? Yes, that is correct. Just ask Jamey Garland and Bob Knight who recently attended the fourth annual Texas Water Camp held at the George and Opal Bentley 4-H Center in Monahans. Texas Water Camp is a week-long educational camp that is structured for high school students. The main objective of the camp is to inform the youth about water conservation and methods for improving it's quality and quantity, because the youth of today are the future resource managers of tomorrow.

During the course of a week, the campers receive hands-on experience in municipal, industrial, recreational, agricultural, and home water use. They spend one-third of their time at the Bentley Center campus, and the remainder of the time is spent on field trips to local areas. The field trips include visits to sites where water plays a key role, such as the production of electrical energy and in the recovery of petroleum products. Campers visit

Position Available

The Yoakum County Community Supervision and Corrections Department, an Equal Opportunity Employer, announces a job opening for a full time probation officer to work in Plains. Position requires a Bachelor's Degree. Basic function is to provide full range of probation services. Good communication skills and criminal justice experience desired. A criminal history background investigation will be conducted and references verified. Salary in the $20,000 to $21,000 range with excellent benefits. Oualified applicant may contact the Texas Employment Commission, Box 392, Brownfield, Texas 79316 or call (806) 456-2955 for instructions. ~ 17/2tc farms where advanced water conservation technologies are being applied, such as drip irrigation and tail water recovery. A visit to one of the shrimp farms near Imperial proved to be both informative and very interesting. "I couldn't believe how much water it takes to raise shrimp," said Garland. The campers were able to observe and learn about water management, as well as getting the opportunity to see a West Texas shrimp farm.

Each camper is assigned to a project group with the purpose of setting up an experiment. Daily group activities include monitoring and recording results, making presentations to the other groups, and maintaining a notebook of the week's activities. Project groups include Range Water Use, Ground Water Protection, Simulated Rainfall Analysis, Lawn Sprinkler Evaluation, and Non-point Source Pollution Monitoring. At the conclusion of camp, campers make a formal presentation of their group's activities at the awards luncheon.

Time is also spent in "Wetter Water Lab" testing water samples that are brought from home. Each camper sends a sample of water from their home to the lab where it is analyzed. During the week, the camper will conduct their own analysis of the sample and try to obtain the same results as the lab.

Texas Water Camp was recognized as one of the top finalists for the Governor's Clean Texas 2000 Award in 1993 and 1994.

Texas Water Camp is a non-profit organization that is funded by donations, grants, and tuition fees. Texas Water Camp is supported financially and/or technically by the Upper Pecos SWCD, the Ward County 4-H Volunteer Leaders Association, Soil Conservation Service, Texas Agricultural Extension Service, oil and utility companies, school systems, Chambers of Commerce, and the Ward County Commissioner's Court.
