Little Sammy, age four, had surgery and was forced to take his meals intravenously for a while.

The nurse explained the situation to him, and started to administer glucose.

"We always pray before meals," said Sammy. "Aren't you going to say grace?"

Everyone should express gratitude gladly and generously. By so doing you'll increase your blessings and benefits, and you'll bring glory to God.

The Living Bible says, "Always be joyful. Always keep on praying. No matter what happens, always be thankful, for this is God's will for you who belong to Christ Jesus."

School students collect for local food pantry drive

Knox City-O'Brien school students collected for the Knox County Food Pantry, a ministry of First Baptist Church Women in Action, during the month of December.

Winners on the three respective campuses were:
Elementary - Mrs. Nordquist's fourth grade class;
Mid-School - Fifth grade class; and High School - Senior class.

Total number of cans collected were elementary with 745, mid-school with 328 and high school with 1040, for a whopping total of 2113 cans.

Mrs. Nordquist's fourth grade and the O'Brien fifth grade each had parties at the food pantry on Thursday, December 13.

High school seniors were rewarded with three days 'loco'.

A study in the Archives of Internal Medicine maintains that living wills can save about $60,000 per patient in medical costs. Researchers studied 474 patients who died in a hospital during 1990-92. Bills for those without living wills were three times as high.

Currently only one medical school in the entire country, out of 126, has a full-fledged department of geriatrics: Mt. Sinai School of Medicine in New York.

Intro to commodity futures and options workshop set

By Trish Jones, CEA / Ag

An introduction to commodity futures and options workshop will be held on Tuesday, January 8, 2002, from 8:30-11:30 a.m. at the Knox City Community Center.

This is a "beginners" workshop designed for all agricultural producers or agribusiness persons interested in learning about futures and options.

Purpose of this workshop is to familiarize farmers and ranchers with the terminology associated with hedging and learn how to perform basic calculations.

Examples used in the workshop will focus on cotton, cattle and wheat. Topics to be covered include The mechanics of Hedging, Basis, Margins, Advantages and Disadvantages of Futures vs Options and How to Select a Broker. The instructor for the course will be Rob Borchardt who is an agricultural economist with Texas Cooperative Extension.

A $10.00 registration fee will be charged and all interested persons should call 454-2651 by Friday, January 7. There will also be a discussion of the possibility of forming a marketing club.

The past years of depressed commodity prices have ushered in a new era for producers. It set the stage for a new environment for economic decision-making by the producer.

Helping to improve the risk management skills of producers is a high priority of Texas Cooperative Extension and requires intensive educational programming. The formation of marketing clubs is one way to improve the marketing skills of producers.

A marketing club is usually made up of 10 to 25 producers who meet once or twice a month with the common goal of increasing their knowledge of marketing and other risk management concepts.

The marketing club is usually made up of 10 to 25 producers who meet once or twice a month with the common goal of increasing their knowledge of marketing and other risk management concepts. The marketing club meetings are designed to pick up where the workshop left off and conclude include topics such as Developing a Marketing Plan, Determining Cost of Production by Commodity, Using USDA Reports, Fundamental Analysis, Technical Analysis, Price Seasonality, and Working with a Broker among others. Typically, members watch the markets and learn to evaluate various alternatives at any point in time.

State can allow speed limit increases in rural Texas areas

AUSTIN - Rural areas of Texas could soon see higher speed limits on portions of the state highway system. New rules allowing for a maximum speed limit of 75 mph in rural, less populated areas were approved earlier this month by the Texas Transportation Commission during its monthly meeting.

The rules implement House Bill 299, which allows speed limit increases in counties with populations of less than 10 persons per square mile. The bill was passed at the 77th Legislative session.

Before an increase in the speed limit can be considered, traffic and engineering studies must be conducted by the Texas Department of Transportation (TxDOT) to ensure that a higher speed limit is safe and reasonable for a particular roadway.

Eighty-six of Texas' 254 counties, predominantly in West Texas, are eligible to request a 75-mph limit.

Knox County is one of the 86 counties eligible for a request.
