Fund Shortage May Limit Farm Relief

Nine-hundred ninety five million in disaster aid will be divided among farmers who lost crops to bad weather last year. According to some farmers they face a new disaster in 1992, wrangling with the Agriculture Department over their share.

"Many farmers believe that USDA wants the process to be as complicated as possible so many will throw up their hands and walk away," said Leland Swenson, president of the National Farmers Union.

And when the check does arrive in the mail, farmers will receive "a lot less than they expect," warned Keith D. Bjerke, administrator of USDA's Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service.

Congress set aside nearly $1 billion late last year to help farmers who lost crops to bad weather in 1990 or 1991. But all sides agree that there isn't enough money to go around. Some estimate that $3 billion to $7 billion actually is needed.

That means that, once all the applications are in next month, payments will be pro-rated among eligible farmers.

The National Farmers Union worries that farmers could end up with as little as 30 cents for every dollar they're qualified to receive. But farmers in the field say they're being told by ASCS employees that it could drop to a dime on the dollar, said National Farmers Union lobbyist Howard Lynn.

"It's like having four flat tires and the guy brings you one used spare--you're better off, but you sure ain't going to make the car move," Layman said.

Swenson said the agency is demanding more paperwork than farmers can handle. And Lyman said the requirements for determining eligibility are confusing.

Rep. Kika de la Garza, chairman of the House Agriculture Committee, said he is concerned that the ASCS is trying to discourage farmers from applying.

"It's not their business to discourage or to say, 'You're not going to get the (money) if you apply,'" said de la Garza, D-Texas. The committee has scheduled a hearing on the subject for March 3.

Bjerke, however, said the agency must account for the money it spends.

"We're trying our level best to find that middle ground between accountability and friendliness. It's not an easy task," Bjerke said. "There is no way to do it right."

An area farmer and his wife are encouraging anyone in agri-related business to write their Congressmen and Legislatures

ASCS will just have to take the heat for it. We're doing our level best to take everyone fairly."

One problem, officials say, is that a farm can only receive disaster assistance for either 1991 or 1990. But, in some cases, the land was farmed by different operators in each year. Swenson contends that both farmers should be allowed to apply for assistance. USDA disagrees.

Farmers and farm-state lawmakers also complain that the Agriculture Department is not taking losses in crop quality into account when it calculates benefits.

According to Sen Lloyd Bentsen, D-Texas, freezing weather and heavy rains have damaged the quality of the state's cotton, peanut and sugar beet crops.

"Many farmers, as well as the businesses and communities that depend on their success, will face hard times if some type of assistance is not provided to those that have suffered quality losses."

Kiwanis News

By R.A. Bradley

It seems that only nine Kiwanians did not go on Ski Break, Rattlesnake hunting, or had bed fever or just lazy. Nine Kiwanians met at the Dairy Queen for breakfast. No Honorary Kiwanians, no Sweetheart, no visitors, just nine good Kiwanians were present. Since all of the others were absent, we hope they had a good Ski Break, Rattlesnake Hunt or sack time. Each of you who were not present this (Friday) morning, be there next Friday, March 6th.

Vice president Randy Lewis (Who's lost a bet for a breakfast with Glen Morris) called the meeting to order. Herb Langfitt led the club in the pledge to our flag. Brian Morris gave the invocation. Randy Lewis who had been trying for two weeks to find a friend, decided that Jerry Hutton needed a friend. Jerry, you can take that friendship coin and 50 cents and buy coffee nearly anywhere!!

Emergency Use Of Chemicals To Combat Black Root Rot

A crisis exemption permitting use of the fungicide Baytan 30 on cottonseed to control black root rot has been granted by the Texas Department of Agriculture. The exemption applies to 36 West Texas counties.

The exemption, under Section 18 of the Federal Insecticide, Fungicide and Rodenticide Act (FIFRA), had been actively pursued by Plains Cotton Growers, with support of the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, Texas Agricultural Extension Service and others. It was effective Feb. 25 and is good for 15 days, but will be extended while an application for emergency registration is being reviewed by the Environmental Protection Agency.

Seed treated during this period can be planted this spring, said Dr. James Supak, cotton agronomist with the Extension Service.

Black root rot is caused by the fungus Thielaviopsis basicola in the soil, explained Dr. Harold Kaufman, Extension Service plant pathologist. The disease has been verified in several counties of the Texas South Plains and Trans Pecos, and additional counties in these regions are expected to be added to the list this season. Dollar losses from the disease can be substantial, Kaufman said.

Baytan 30 is labelled as a seed treatment on wheat and has been shown effective in controlling black root rot on cotton.

Commercial cotton seed treaters must follow all directions, restrictions and precautions on the EPA-registered label of the chemical, TDA said. Commercial seed treaters who don't have instructions on the use of Baytan 30 can obtain them by calling

Sandhill Cranes Roosting Nightly At Refuge

Although nearly 12,000 sandhill cranes are nightly roosting on the Muleshoe National Wildlife Refuge lakes, many have already left the refuge and the South Plains on their annual northward spring migration.

Many will stop over along the North Platte River Valley in Nebraska before continuing towards nesting sites in northern Canada, Alaska, and Siberia. Sunset is the best time to observe the cranes at the refuge as they are returning to the lakes to roost. Most will be gone after the first week in March.

ENMU Presents Singers And Chamber Choral

The Eastern New Mexico School of Music will present the University Singers and the Chamber Choral in an evening of choral music Tuesday, March 3 at 8 pm. in Buchanan Hall.

The concert, under the direction of Dr. David Gerig, is open to the public and free of charge. The program will feature sacred and secular works in a variety of styles, from the 17th to the 20th centuries.

"I often program works from a wide spectrum because it calls attention to the fact that we who live in the 20th century have a rich and meaningful heritage of choral music," Gerig said. "It's important for us to attempt to understand and keep this rich tradition alive. So we're going to sing 17th and 18th century motets, a 19th century setting of a portion of the Latin mass, 20th century anthems and spirituals, and choral music from the American musical theatre."

Gerig said the most difficult work to perform will be J.S. Bach's motet "Praise the Lord, all ye Nations," which will be sung in the original German. The piece will be accompanied by Tammie Duncan on harpsichord, and Dr. Stephen F. Duncan on bassoon.

"Bach writes instrumental lines for voices which require continuous singing and which forces the singers to pace themselves," Gerig said. "This kind of singing is difficult, but immensely rewarding once it's mastered."

Gerig has chosen two different settings of the same text from the Song of Solomon for the program, he said. The first, "Rise Up, My Love, My Fair One," is written for voices, accompanied by piano and flute and will be sung by the University Singers on the first half of the program. The second setting, with the same title, will be sung by the Chamber Choral and will be heard after intermission.

"Both settings are quite nice but very different," Gerig said. "I think it will be interesting for the audience to compare two composers' interpretations in these two pieces."

SCHOOL BOARD PROGRESS--is the topic of a talk given recently by Max King of the MISD board. King brought several points to the attention of the Rotary Club group as they considered new programs and policies in our school system. He stands here with Terry Hutto, another Rotary member and song leader for the group. (Journal Photo)

Max King Discusses School Board Progress At Rotary

Max King, member of Muleshoe I.S.D. school board spoke recently at the Rotary Club to help clarify for members some of the changes that have occurred in school programming.

King mentioned first that Mrs. Maldonado is working in a program in which students work half a day and go to school half a day.

Students get hands on experience and it is hoped that they will get more interested in teaching this way.

Peer assistance and leadership program called PAL is directed toward a peer helping program where trained students are used with young students. A variety of helping mechanisms are used and the course itself is dual purpose. Students are trained in high school and field experience.

The trained students then begin to work with other students on campuses to address problems in learning and discipline.

Fifty students were nominated for the program. Thirty-two have shown interest in participating. The program is designed to have a positive influence on other students. It is a great learning experience that will help them in future jobs or college life.

The area of vocational education is being reviewed. In some systems, vocational is the second choice. "That is not the way we want it," says King. Muleshoe I.S.D. is attempting to make the vocational track relevant and is trying to get more information to parents.

"We are trying to get kids to think about it earlier. We must develop meaningful courses. This year we have added two new courses: Skill Development in Agriculture and Consumer and Family Economics. Also, some ag science courses will be honors courses. Another course Literary Genres is being offered and taught by Pat Watson. This is a step above the honors course that Pat Watson now teaches. Literary Genres is a writing course.

"We are attempting to offer courses that students need to do well in life," King said. "In order to make the courses more meaningful, we are asking for input from the community, students and administration."

Volunteers in the Public Schools, or VIPS, is a program in which volunteers from the community assist teachers with non-teaching duties. For example, volunteers sit and listen to a child read, use flash cards, or make copies. This enables teachers to spend more time teaching.

"If you have time, VIPS is a program you should consider contributing time to," says King.

Retired teachers are interested in this program. Many retirees want to stay within the school atmosphere, but don't want to work full-time.

A new program being considered in the Junior High is the middle school concept. A part of this program is team teaching and emphasis on the core subjects. Teachers meet each day to discuss material being covered, student performance and planning. The purpose of this concept is to help the Junior High student make a better transition from grade school to high school.

King discussed a new maintenance study that is being done by an engineering company. The purpose of the study is to evaluate the condition of the current physical facility for the school and develop plans for short term and long term maintenance and growth.

King emphasized that pride in our school is an attitude. "When we sit down and talk about school with our children, it is important to be positive about the system. If they hear positive things, they will develop a positive attitude and take pride in their school."

Sally Quinn, columnist: "Is it possible that feminism (as we have known it in recent years) is dead? I think so."

Progress Club Update

Mrs. Byron Gwyn of the Progress Circle notes a bit of history of the group to explain some of the projects that the women who participate have been involved in.

"The first project we had was to support some projects of the Navajo Mission in Farmington and we gave to the support of a little girl who had lived there all her life.

The school is still there. The Progress Circle helped to support her every month for 15 years. "We got pictures and letters from the young lady explaining her activities. After her graduation we still heard from her," Mrs. Gwyn notes.

"As a new project this year, we sold a quilt that we made and donated the proceeds to the prescription fund at the Muleshoe Area Medical Center."

The quilts are made by members of the circle at special meetings that are held outside the study meeting schedule that the organization maintains.

Senior Citizens News

The Muleshoe Senior Citizens met at the Depot February 24 for their regular Pot Luck Lunch. Odessa called the house to order. Marion Sanders asked the blessing. Everyone enjoyed the delicious lunch.

After lunch the Earth Quartet entertained us with twelve beautiful gospel songs. We always enjoy having the quartet. We had six visitors today. Mr. J.R. Copley and his wife Ella Copley. Also, Marion Sanders, Oleta Sanders, Charles Miranda, Anne Miranda.

Cards sent to Ollie Cox and Eva Ashford. They were not able to attend. We had 21 present.

Odessa asked for a committee to make a banner for Senior Jubilee in Lubbock. Katie Roubinek, Opal Robinson and Bertie Thompson volunteered for the job. The meeting was dismissed by Mr. Grimsley.

The next meeting will be March 20.

Rebekah Lodge

Refreshments were served to 13 members by Sisters Joyline and Ina. Lodge was opened by our Noble Grand Mary Ann. June read the records of the last meeting. We received a thank you note from our District Deputy President Sister Wilma Wise from Friona Lodge.

I need to make a correction. Last week I said June reported on the Secretary Scribe meeting. She reported on the Pre South Plains Association meeting that was held on Saturday night. The South Plains Association of Oddfellows and Rebekahs meeting will be held in Levelland April 11.

It was reported Brother E.E. "Gene" Bishop of Hereford died Monday, February 24 and the services on Thursday, February 28. We missed you that were not present. You that are ill we wish you a speedy recovery.

Our March Happy Birthday wishes go to Sisters Patsy, Terie and Joyline. Evening prayer was given and Lodge was closed by our N.G. By Ina Wilemon

Circle is the effort it makes for the benefit of McCurdy School in New Mexico. "We got interested in helping out at McCurdy through letters that we read. We are planning to donate more next month and hope to keep our donations up to that level," Mrs. Gwyn said. The soup coupons that have been collected are being used to make headway in altruistic directions. In fact, a van was bought at McCurdy for the transportation needs they have.

Several of church groups in the conference area participated in the purchase of the van. It is used for many purposes by the school--athletic events, music programs and other uses for it are common.

Retired Teachers Association News

Green asked Richard Murphy, hospital administrator, recently if there was any reason the parking lot surrounding the ambulance service couldn't be worked over. Green found a source of caliche and volunteered to cover the lot. Although rain slowed him down and it took some effort to get rid of a tree stump, the project is now underway. CITY DEVELOPMENTS--discussed at February 26 Lions Club meeting were brought to the attention of the members by Darrell Turner, Muleshoe's mayor. Here Turner, at right, stands with Lion president Richard Edwards following his talk. (Journal Photo)

Mayor Tells Lions Of City Developments

The Muleshoe chapter of Lions met at 12 noon Wednesday, February 26 in the Bailey County Civic Center with about 40 attending. Bary Moynihan led the singing, Buck Johnson led the pledge of allegiance and Bill Moore led the invocation.

President Richard Edwards announced the District Convention April 9, 10 and 11 in Littlefield. The convention will also include a golf tournament.

Darrell Turner, mayor of Muleshoe and member of Lions, gave a talk to the group that included many points about current developments in the Muleshoe community. "This talk will enlarge upon the 'State of the City' message that I brought three years ago," Turner says.

"The city budget is at 1 1/2 million--the same as three years ago." The tax rate is at 61.86 cents. This is up a little. Evaluations can change. The tax rate is higher than in some surrounding cities and lower than in others, according to Turner.

Turner noted that the annual budget for operating the library is $80,000. He commented on how proud Muleshoe is of its library services.

Other items that the city funds are six police cars, five patrolmen and five dispatchers. Also, the fire and ambulance services are funded through the city.

The fire department is provided by city services with its $62,000 budget. Seventeen thousand of this is capital improvement and $47 thousand is operating expenses for volunteers.

Speaking of landfill changes, Turner mentioned that the current landfill for the city has 10 years of life left to it. A new landfill will cost the city over $1 million. When a city has less than 20" of rainfall and adds less than 20 tons per day, certain regulations do not apply to landfill use. It is according to federal regulations that this is mandated. The state will issue its guidelines in the near future.

The rural use of dumpsters will cease someday, according to Turner. Sixty percent of our garbage is yard trash. Recycling efforts could have other effects on this.

"The Texas Department of Health is overseeing us," Turner says. The Texas Water Commission's regulations will take over in the near future.

Muleshoe processes 1/2 million gallons of sewage per day. A pipeline from the treatment plant to the golf course has been set up. Twenty thousand was spent recently by the city for a liner for the gathering pool of the treatment plant.

Also, four new police cars have just been purchased on a lease purchase basis. "This was a heavy expense for us," Turner says. One of them per year will be paid off for the next four years.

"We continually try to acquire water rights. We are in the process of negotiating for an additional 29,000 acres. Wells on this land are those that have not been pumped as hard. Some are not as aware of these decisions on water rights because they are not publicized."

Turner referred to a recent article in The Lubbock Avalanche-Journal in the context of what is happening in Kress. He said it was interesting to note that this is happening in our part of the country. Turner emphasized that citizens be aware of the importance of water to our life in this area.

Regarding the 1/2 cent sales tax increase, Turner noted that Muleshoe may have to consider this in the future for industrial development.

Also, a new law is stiffening the requirements for city buildings to meet disabilities' stipulations. "Access ramps will have to be placed at every corner and other measures will have to be taken to comply."

Finally, Turner says it will cost $30,000 to resurface a city tennis court that is in need and almost $90,000 to build a new one, according to Turner.

"It takes money to run a town and you and I pay," says Turner. "But, Muleshoe is the best place any of us has ever lived."

NUTRITION--and cancer prevention is the topic Kandy McWhorter, Bailey County Extension Agent for Home Economics presents at the February 27 Dialogue meeting. The group is made up of cancer victims and their family members and anyone else who may want to give support. (Journal Photo)

Dialogue Speaker Talks On Cancer Preventing Foods

Thursday, February 27 was the day for the Dialogue meeting at the Muleshoe Area Medical Center Yellow Dining Room.

About 15 cancer victims and members of their families attended the support group meeting. Topic for the meeting was nutrition and cancer.

County Extension Agent for Home Economics Kandy McWhorter, who has served as agent here in Bailey County for the last five years, brought information to the group on how nutrition affects prevention of cancer.

"Especially food that are members of the cabbage family help in this," says McWhorter. Broccoli, cauliflower and high fiber foods prevent colorectal cancer.

Food high in vitamin A and vitamin C help lower the risk of larynx cancer and cancer of the esophagus.

McWhorter gave the group a quiz to help them see if they are eating properly. Low fat foods help prevent breast, colon and prostate cancer. Less salt-cured, nitrate cured and smoked foods will help the individual reduce the chances of esophagus and stomach cancer, notes McWhorter.

Several of the people attending agree that surviving cancer is highly probably in a number of cases and that most of what is important in these cases is that the person's outlook remains good and that his eating habits are cared for.

McWhorter has material in the extension office that is a cancer risk assessment. She is willing to share this with anyone who is interested.

From the quiz here are a couple of sample questions: How many times a week do you eat luncheon meats, hot dogs, bacon, ham and other smoked or pickled meats and fish? Another question: How many times a week do you eat broccoli, cabbage, brussels sprouts and cauliflower.

In order to prevent cancer, or help prevent it, it is necessary to lessen the number of times that cured and smoked meat and fish are eaten and increase the number of times per week that vegetables like broccoli, cabbage, brussels sprouts and cauliflower are eaten.

Ms. McWhorter has been an extension agent in Texas for the past 13 years. She has a Bachelor's degree in Food and Nutrition from Texas Tech and a Master's Degree in Home Economics Education, also from Texas Tech.

What you don't expect doesn't disappoint you.

Don't wait to open your IRA...

The younger you are when you open your IRA, the more money you will have when you retire. That's pretty obvious, but when you see how much difference a year can make in an IRA, it's almost shocking.

If you are 24 years old and you wait until you are 25 to open an IRA, you'll have $100,000* less when you retire. How can that be? Well, there is a geometric progression that occurs with the principal and interest. One year can make all the difference in the world. Open an IRA today. Don't wait. Substantial penalty for early withdrawal.

At this time we are living in a world full of tension. Fears of nuclear war are with us every day. In times past, men have made one of two choices... to rely on their own abilities... or to do what they can and place their lives in the hands of the Lord. The Bible tells us how men fared with the choices that they made. The strength of God is sufficient for all our needs, and men who humbled themselves and trusted in God always fared better. Let us judge our future by the past and rely on God for our needs.

ATTEND CHURCH

EVERYONE IN THE CHURCH THE CHURCH IN EVERYONE

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

Nutrition Can Help Blacks Reduce

Diabetes Risk

Practicing sound eating habits is important for all Americans, but research suggests good nutrition is especially vital to blacks when it comes to diabetes.

Black Americans have one of the highest rates of non-insulin dependent diabetes-- 60 percent higher than Anglo Americans, according to the American Diabetes Association.

"While celebrating Black History Month this February, black Americans may want to make it a point to get a checkup to determine if they're diabetic," said Dr. Mary Kinney Bielamowicz, nutritionist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

"Diet has always been important in diabetes management, but new research has shown that specific foods can significantly influence long-term diabetes care," she said. "Fiber-rich foods like whole grains, legumes and vegetables are good choices because they tend to reduce blood sugar and blood-fat levels."

These foods also are believed to be effective against heart disease and kidney disease that can result from diabetes if left untreated. Blindness, limb amputations and even death also can occur from diabetes complications.

Studies show that one in four black males between the ages of 65 and 74 has diabetes, and one out of every four black women over 55 is stricken with the disease.

Researchers believe that the high incidence of this disease in certain populations, which includes Hispanics and American Indians, may be rooted in genetics as well as ethnic dietary habits and environment.

According to Bielamowicz, national studies found that diabetes is prevalent among blacks because of these reasons:

*Obesity, one of the risk factors for diabetes, is more prevalent among blacks. Being overweight can trigger the disease.

*Hypertension, another risk factor for diabetes, also has a high incidence among blacks.

*High cholesterol and low-fiber diets are more common among blacks than white.

*Medical care is not sought by blacks as often as it is by whites. Also, blacks are less likely to ask to be tested for diabetes when they do visit a physician.

Diabetes symptoms are blurred vision, excessive tiredness, weight gain or loss and wounds or scratches that don't heal, Bielamowicz said. Even if symptoms do not exist, physicians recommend that high-risk individuals get a blood glucose test at least once a year and follow up with appropriate medical care.

"In most cases, symptoms can be controlled by weight loss, good diet and exercise," she said. "Carrying around extra weight can lead to a host of difficulties--it's a drain on energy and can cause heart and lung problems."

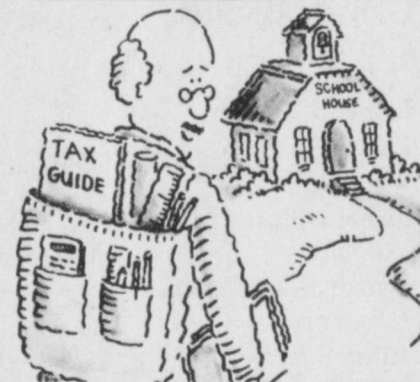

About 90 percent of the people with diabetes develop the non-insulin dependent type in adulthood

(after age 23) where the body is unable to properly use some of the insulin produced by the pancreas, which causes glucose to build up in the blood. In insulin-dependent diabetics, the pancreas either stops or does not produce enough insulin to meet the body's needs.

Since the body produces glucose from the foods consumed, eating right is the first step in controlling diabetes, Bielamowicz said. Cutting down on fat, salt and sugar is important.

Because the majority of people with non-insulin diabetes are overweight, most are advised to lose extra pounds, Bielamowicz said. Even slight weight losses have dramatically improved blood-glucose levels by helping the body use its own insulin more efficiently.

"Whether you have insulin-dependent or non-insulin-dependent diabetes," Bielamowicz said, "contact your doctor for a referral to a dietician who can help design a meal plan that will match your eating habits to your diabetes management goals."

Farm Bureau

Texas Farm Bureau Friends of Agriculture Fund (AgFund) has supported the re-election of incumbent State Sens. Bill Sims and Eddie Lucio, and State Supreme Court Jack Hightower, and the candidacy of Appellate Judge Craig Enoch, who is seeking a seat on the High Court for the first time.

The Board of Directors of AgFund, the political action arm of the state's largest farm organization, voted to support the re-election of Democrats Sims of San Angelo and Lucio of Brownsville.

Hightower, a former U.S. congressman from Vernon is seeking his second term on the state's Supreme Court. Craig Enoch is seeking to move up from the State Court of Appeals to the High Court.

In announcing the support of AgFund for Sims and Lucio, Texas Farm Bureau President S.M. True of Plainview, noted: "The 100 percent voting records (on issues tracked by AgFund) of Sens. Bill Sims and Eddie Lucio clearly show that the two lawmakers are vitally concerned about the future of agriculture."

Sims, a long-time state senator and Concho Valley sheep and goat raiser, is according to True, "the most agriculturally-oriented member of the Texas Senate."

The 60-year-old Sims was initially elected to the state Senate in 1983. He is currently chairman of the Senate's Natural Resources Committee and a member of the Senate Criminal Justice Committee.

Due to redistricting, Sims will represent a 30-county West Texas district (District 25) that includes San Angelo, Abilene, Brownwood, Gatesville and Kerrville.

Lucio's District 27 seat covers the major areas of the Lower Rio Grande Valley--Cameron, Hidalgo and Willacy counties.

Sims has been associated with agriculture's battle to protect private property rights as his current media campaign points out the need to preserve water use for agricultural producers.

Sims is a graduate of Texas Tech University and formerly worked as a county Extension agent. He and his wife, Sue, have two children, Billy, and Sue Ann.

Lucio, 46, is a graduate of Pan American University. He has been a teacher and coach and has been very active in civic affairs in the Valley.

Lucio was elected to the House of Representatives in 1986 and was re-elected in 1988 to a second term. In 1990, Lucio successfully ran for the Texas Senate.

Lucio's House experience has included the Urban Affairs Committee, the Administration Committee and the subcommittee on Budget and Oversight.

In the Senate, Lucio has served on the State Affairs Committee and the Natural Resources Committee's subcommittee on agriculture.

On behalf of the two Supreme Court candidates, True said: "Both (Hightower and Enoch) are respected jurists and have the experience and qualifications necessary for the Supreme Court. Jack Hightower's congressional experience and tenure on the High Court make him the best candidate for that position."

"Judge Enoch served the state well on the Appellate Court and will do well likewise on the Supreme Court. Both Judge Enoch and Judge Hightower have a strong sense of duty to interpret the laws of the State of Texas, no to write them."

Hightower served in the U.S. House of Representatives, 1974-1985. The Memphis, Tex. native also served in the Texas House of Representatives and Texas Senate.

He served as assistant attorney general, 1985-87, before resigning to run successfully for the Texas Supreme Court.

Hightower and his wife, Colleen, have three daughters, Ann, Amy and Alison.

Judge Enoch currently serves as Chief Justice of the 5th District Court of Appeals in Dallas. He was appointed in 1987 to that post when Clarence Guittard retired. Enoch ran successfully for that position in 1988.

Enoch holds a law degree from SMU. He has been a trial lawyer and is currently seeking a M.S.

Chamber Comments

By Carolyn Johnson

March 6th is fast approaching! The final committee meeting has been held. The enthusiasm for "the Biggest Little Banquet in Texas" continues to grow. It is our goal to make this an enjoyable, memorable evening. We appreciate all of you who have chosen to be a part of it.

With so much attention focused on the banquet, one sometimes forgets that the day to day functions of the Chamber of Commerce and Agriculture still must go on.

One of these functions is, of course recruitment of new members to the organization. In the past few weeks, the Chamber has secured a total of 12 new members. They are: Agri-Credit Management, Inc., The Dinner Bell, Caribbean Ice, Clark's Central Texaco, Coyote Lake Feed Yard, Cottonwood Cafe, Heritage House Inn, H&R Block, Mulshoe Area Medical Center, Superior Med-Equip, Trophies 'N More, and Winkler Meat Company.

We are excited about the increase in our membership. A total of 25 new members have joined our Chamber in the past three months. If you are not a member and would like more information, please call our office at 806-272-4248.

The Mulshoe Chamber of Commerce & Agriculture enables people to accomplish collectively what no one of them could do individually. Its strength lies in attracting the greatest number of individuals and firms into membership, thereby creating a pool of resources from which can be drawn ideas, energy, and finances.

To support your Chamber of Commerce an Agriculture by being an active member means a better and more prosperous community--a dividend which offsets the investment many fold!

Tax Savings for Seniors/Disabled

If you are an older or disabled American, a tax credit may reduce the taxes you owe.

The "credit for the elderly or the disabled" is based on your income, filing status, and age. Generally, the credit is not available if your income level requires you to report any part of your social security or tier 1 railroad retirement benefits as taxable income.

You may qualify to take the credit for 1991 if you are a U.S. citizen or resident, and:

- You are 65 or older at the end of the tax year, or
- You are under 65 by the end of the tax year, and
 - a) you retired on permanent and total disability,
 - b) you did not reach mandatory retirement age before 1991, and
 - c) you received taxable disability benefits in 1991.

IRS Publication 524, Credit for the Elderly or the Disabled, Schedule R (Form 1040) and Schedule 3 (Form 1040A) all explain the credit, qualifications, and how to figure your credit. Order them by calling 1-800-829-3676.

Biodegradation Is "Nature's Incinerator"

Dr. Terrence L. Donaldson will present the lecture "Bioremediation of Hazardous Waste Sites" beginning at 6:30 p.m. Wednesday, March 4 in Room 220 of Old Main on the West Texas State University campus.

The presentation will focus on biodegradation, a process often called "nature's incinerator." It is this natural phenomenon that serves as the basis for bioremediation, the engineered use of microorganisms to biodegrade contaminants at hazardous waste sites. According to Donaldson, bioremediation is cost effective, relatively easy to implement and is usually viewed favorably by the public because it utilizes "natural" elements of destruction.

Donaldson is a group leader of remediation technology in the Chemical Technology Division of Oak Ridge National Laboratory in Oak Ridge, Tenn. He and his team have been responsible for the technical management, development and demonstration of new remediation technologies that have not only proven successful in the laboratory but in the field as well. Three of his project successes, which he will discuss during the presentation, are the cometabolic biodegradation of trichloroethylene in contaminated groundwater at the Department of Energy K-25 Site in Oak Ridge; bioremediation of soils contaminated with diesel fuel on Kwajalein Island in the Pacific; and bioremediation of PCB-contaminated soils.

Donaldson, who earned his Ph.D. in chemical engineering from the University of Pennsylvania in 1974, has authored or coauthored more than 60 published papers and reports and has made in excess of 80 public lecture and seminar appearances.

The lecture on the WTSU campus is sponsored by the Texas Engineering Experiment Station (TEES) Regional Division and the U.S. Department of Energy's Traveling Lecture Program.

ALL REGION BAND---Five members of the Lazbuddie Longhorn Band were honored to play in the Class 1A-2A All-Region Band Concert held recently at Monterrey High School in Lubbock. Those making the band from Lazbuddie included: Sammy Everett, son of Noe and Fidela Everett, Josh Warren, son of Phil and Gwen Warren and Travis Barber, son of Jerry and LaReta Barber, Erin Jones, daughter of John and Becky Jones made the High School All Region Band with JoAnna Gallman, daughter of Robert and Ellen Gallman making first alternate.

PUEDEN REDUCIR LOS IMPUESTOS QUE PAGA POR SU CASA

Una exencion de residenci

le ayuda a reducir los impuestos sobre la propiedad que tiene que pagar por su residencia reduciendo el valor que se utiliza como base para calcular sus impuestos. Por ejemplo, si su casa esta valorada de $50,000 y usted recibe una exencion de residencia de $5,000, usted va a pagar impuestos de residencia como si su valor fuese de $45,000.

Usted puede recibir una exencion de residencia si usted era el dueño de su casa el primero de enero y la usaba como su residencia principal en la misma fecha. No importa si su residencia es una casa, un condominio o una casa remolque.

Hay exenciones

Que cualquier persona que es dueño(a) de su residencia puede usar para rebajar sus impuestos escolares. Exenciones adicionales se ofrecen a duenos de residencia que estan incapacitados o tienen 65 años o mas. Otras exenciones puede ofre-erse a propietarios por distritos escolares, condados, ciudades y distritos escolares.

Solicite todas

las exenciones que usted puede recibir en la oficina local del distrito de valoracion en la direccion que se cita abajo.

Si usted recibio una exencion para su residencia actual en 1991, usted no necesita solicitarla par a 1992 a menos que el jefe de valoracion pida que haga una nueva solicitud.

Sin embargo, si uste cumplio 65 años o quedo incapacitado antes del primero de enero haga una nueva solicitud para recibirexenciones adicionales.

Si usted no ha recibido una exencion para su residencia actual o si se cambio de su casa, haga una nueva solicitud para 1991.

Usted tiene que hacer su solicitud antes del 1 de mayo de 1992. Comuniquese con su distrito de valoracion antes de esa fecha si necesita mas tiempo para hacerla.

Para tener mas informacion usted puede recibir una copia gratis del folleto los Derechos, Remedios y Responsabilidades del Contribuyente de Impuestos en la oficina del Consejo Estatal de Impuestos sobre la Propiedad (State Property Tax Board) en Austin.
