

Reagan will 'push to the finish line'

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan, in a State of the Union address brimming with optimism, proclaimed an American economic and military reawakening and vowed to push "to the finish line" for U.S. support of rebel movements in Nicaragua, Afghanistan and elsewhere.

Democratic and Republican leaders to the White House today to discuss their legislative agendas. The president called during the nationally broadcast speech Monday for new assistance to Contra rebels battling the Sandinista regime in Nicaragua and for U.S. support of democracies elsewhere. He talked of an "economic and social revolution of hope" in the United States and "global democratic revolution" around the world. But Democrats immediately dismissed much of the speech as irrelevant. "We've come to the end of an era," said Senate Majority Leader Robert C. Byrd, D-W.Va. "The 'feel-good' slogans have gone flat with time."

Reagan promised to go ahead with plans to submit to Congress on Wednesday a request for new assistance for the Nicaraguan Contra rebels, saying "the struggle has extra meaning because that nation is so near our own borders." He asked for quick Senate confirmation of Supreme Court nominee Anthony M. Kennedy, sought prompt ratification of the U.S.-Soviet medium-range missile treaty and offered a mocking critique of the congressional budget-making process that even brought laughs. Holding aloft several last-minute money bills that he said represented "43 pounds of paper and ink," Reagan said: "Congress shouldn't send another one of these, and if you do, I will not sign it."

In Brief

Contra aid

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan will ask Congress for $32 million in non-lethal assistance to Nicaraguan rebels and $3.6 million for replenishment of ammunition and anti-aircraft missiles. House Republican leader Bob Michel said today. Michel also said that the $3.6 million in military aid would be held in escrow until March 31 pending a determination by the president that a cease fire is in place between the rebels and Nicaragua's Marxist-Sandinista government. If there is no cease fire, Michel said he assumed the military portion, including shoulder-fired Redeye missiles, would be released to keep pressure on the Sandinistas for a settlement.

Note autopsy

BOGOTA, Colombia (AP) — Attorney General Carlos Mauro Hoyos was killed hours after his abduction by a fusillade that shattered his skull; an autopsy showed today. Drug traffickers claimed responsibility. President Virgilio Barco, in a nationwide television and radio address Monday night, said the government would not "cave in to vile blackmail and infamous threats" from Colombia's cocaine barons.

Man arrested

DENTON, Texas (AP) — A Denton man has died at a Dallas hospital after being struck on the head by a bullet fired by an angry man he didn't even know, authorities say. Jack Eric Blanchard, 21, died at Methodist Hospital Monday. Police said Blanchard was shot in the head with a .25-caliber pistol while he and a friend were riding a motorcycle north on I-35 near here early Monday. Jeffrey Allen Hill, 26, an oilfield worker from Yukon, Okla., was arrested at the Cooke County line. He was held in the Denton County Jail in lieu of $100,000 bond following an arraignment on a charge of attempted murder. The charge will be upgraded to murder today, a Denton police official said.

Roofing project finalized

WTC will spend over $304,000

Western Texas College trustees faced with a massive re-roofing project for campus buildings which could have cost almost $550,000—opted Monday for a roofing plan which will see the five worst roofs replaced and all others at least repaired.

The option approved by the board will cost some $304,000, an amount the board indicated it could fund for the first year with the option of additional roof replacements to be considered in the years ahead.

The cheapest alternative offered the board Monday was a bid of just over $140,000 to "repair" the roofs on 15 different specified areas on campus.

Trustees indicated, however, they feared just repairing the leaky roof problems would likely be only a temporary and still costly solution. The oldest roofs at WTC are 17-years-old, it was noted.

The roofing bid was awarded to Lydick-Hooks of Abilene, the firm which submitted the lowest of six estimates. Also bidding were Barr Roofing of Abilene, F.W. Walton of Texas City, Hamilton Roofing of Lubbock, Texas Roofing of Odessa and Roof Maintenance of Amarillo.

A consultant contracted for the repairs, Rodney Reubsahm of Dallas, and Leon Pettitt, head of campus maintenance, had prioritized the roofs with the greatest potential for damage.

It was the first five of these which the board approved new roofs for Monday. These buildings, in order of priority, were the science lecture hall and science building; the fine arts building; the campus physical plant; the administration building; and WTC's physical education facility.

Ten other roof areas will have roof repair work completed under the bid. If the board had opted for repairs only, the cost estimated by Lydick-Hooks was $140,385. To replace all 15 roof areas would have cost $548,441.

In all, it was estimated the roofing project will involve some 200,000 sq. ft.

Trustees attending the meeting included R.C. Patton, who presided, Bob Hargrove, John Gayle, Bill Wilson, Edwin Parks and Roy Baze. Howard Sterling was absent.

271 acres acquired... WTC buys land for 'college farm'

After more than three months of searching and negotiations, the Western Texas College board approved Monday the purchase of a new 271-acre college farm.

The purchase will replace the previous arrangement whereby the college leased acreage to allow college ag students "hands on" experience in areas of production.

The land bought Monday was purchased for $350 per acre at a total cost of $94,850. It was noted these funds will come from the college's reserve monies, part of which is derived from interest income.

The land is located some 6½ miles southwest of the city and was purchased from the heirs of the Carl Voss Jr. estate.

The college began its search for a college farm purchase after its lease agreement was terminated for the previously used land.

In that instance, the ownership of the land changed and the new owners indicated they would like to terminate the lease.

In addition to the purchase, the college board indicated it will now oversee the development of a "master plan" for the farm's use. Work on that is expected to begin immediately.

Other specifications of the land sale include that the sellers will provide an abstract for the land and will retain all mineral rights.

The college as the purchaser also agreed to pay for fencing off

Residents in Dallas rally behind police

DALLAS (AP) — Hundreds marched on City Hall and motorists turned on headlights to show support for police as authorities prepared for a memorial service for an officer gunned down by a man officials say was egged on by onlookers.

Thousands of people were expected at today's memorial services for 25-year-old Officer John Chase, who was shot to death with his own gun Saturday after a struggle with a deranged vagrant who was later fatally shot by other officers.

Dallas billionaire H. Ross Perot and oilman Ray Hunt have offered planes to transport officers to Chase's funeral Thursday in Des Moines, Iowa. Fort Worth-based American Airlines offered a jet to fly officers and family members to Des Moines.

"What's occurred today is unprecedented in terms of the calls, the expressions of support and sympathy for officers," police spokesman Ed Spencer said late Monday.

Investigators today also planned to re-interview some of the 45 bystanders to try to identify the two to 10 onlookers who according to witnesses yelled "Shoot him, shoot him," during the confrontation, said Spencer.

The feller on Deep Creek says, "If you don't want your children to hear what you're saying, pretend you're talking to 'em."

Even though the Cowboys didn't make it to the playoffs, the Super Bowl has a special attraction to the avid grid fan.

For those we pass along some comments from a book entitled, "You Can't Make Waffles On A Gridiron." It is a collection of recipes from each of the 28 cities that has a professional football team.

In addition to the recipes, the authors take a poke at the football fetish that engulfs the nation this time of year. It also offers a guide for the football "widow" to use to determine if the spouse has actually contracted the dreaded disease of "TV football fever."

The simple test is to announce in a loud, clear voice, "My mother is on the phone and wants to know if she can stay with us a few months."

Another test is pretend to look out the window and casually say, "Gee, dear, I didn't know the Chumley's were nudists."

One also might wave a handful of bills and proclaim, "I finally did it—I sold the children to Gypsies."

If the hubby responds to any of the above by simply nodding or reaching for another fistfull of cheese curls—he's hooked.

Also included in the book was football trivia. Blanche Martin, Kay McFarland, Dolly King, June Jones, Tillie Manton, Bev Wallace, Gail Cogdil, Julie Ryknovich, Margene Adkins, Faye Wilson, Blenda Gay and Fair Hooker are all men who have played in the NFL.

Reagan and Congress trade places as final year looms

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan and congressional Democrats have changed tenses: He is acting conciliatory, trying to make a mark in history, and they are talking tough, saying his presidency is over and irrelevant to setting the national agenda.

In his final State of the Union address Monday night, Reagan asked Congress to forget the political calendar and keep marching to his drumbeat, ignoring that he is a wounded leader playing out his last months in power.

"My thinking on the next year is quite simple," Reagan told lawmakers. "Let's make this the best of eight. And that means it's all out, right to the finish line. I don't buy the idea that this is the last year of anything."

Not surprisingly, the Democrats have a different idea.

"We've come to the end of an era," Senate Majority Leader Robert Byrd, D-W.Va., said. "The feel-good slogans have gone flat with time. We've learned that bravado is not leadership, that ideology is no substitute for common sense."

Rep. Tony Coelho, D-Calif., the House majority whip, said: "The agenda-setting will be done by members of his party and our party in the Congress. We are looking ahead. Ronald Reagan is not a part of the future. He's part of the past."

Not so long ago, Reagan was clearly the lead player in Washington, whipping Congress into following his script on tax changes, aid to Contra rebels in Nicaragua and curtailing federal spending. He said if he couldn't make Congress see the light, then he'd make them feel the heat.

Democrats were reluctant to challenge so popular a president, pulling their punches even when they opposed and criticized him.

But the Democratic takeover of Congress in 1986 and the punishment Reagan took all last year on the Iran-Contra affair have combined with the reality of the presidential election year to make Reagan vulnerable.

A senior White House official predicted that "it's going to be a tumultuous and energetic session of Congress" and that "this is not going to be a lame-duck eighth year."

Offering a rosy scenario for the retiring president, the official said, "I think he is going to, in fact, realize ... (his belief) that there is a prospect that his eighth year could be his best year."

That could happen — if he becomes the conciliator, willing to compromise with a Congress increasingly willing to draw a line in the sand.

Calls flood CBS affiliates after Bush-Rather interview

NEW YORK (AP) — CBS affiliates around the country were swamped with calls in support of Vice President George Bush after he and anchor Dan Rather engaged in an argumentative exchange during the "CBS Evening News."

"The lines lit up like a Christmas tree," said Wes Mills, a reporter for an affiliate in Arkansas.

Bush complained that he was told Monday night's live interview would be part of a profile story, not a "rehash" of his involvement in the Iran-Contra affair.

But Rather pressed Bush on the subject. During much of the interview, both talked at once, making it difficult to hear what either was saying.

"I don't want to be argumentative," Rather said at one point. Bush chuckled and said, "You do, Dan."

"Mr. Vice President, you set the rules for this talk. I didn't mean to step on your line there, but you insisted that this be live and you know I have a limited time here," Rather said at another point.

"That's why I want to get my share in on something other than what you want to talk about," Bush responded.

Kristin Taylor, a spokeswoman for the Bush presidential campaign, said CBS News senior political producer Richard Cohen "assured us that while Iran-Contra very likely would come up ... (the interview) wouldn't focus entirely on Iran-Contra. We had an understanding that it would focus on the vice president's national agenda."

CBS, however, said the Bush campaign insisted the interview be live instead of taped and that the network had prominently promoted the segment by promising Bush would be asked about the Iran-Contra affair.

"We were pretty flabbergasted when the vice president opened with, 'You misled me on what this is going to be' and the confrontational tone," said "CBS Evening News" executive producer Tom Bettag.

After the broadcast, CBS affiliates around the country reported they were flooded with calls, the vast majority complaining that Rather had been disrespectful.

"It's kind of, either way you're going to offend people," said CBS News' Bettag. "I think I'd rather offend people by being tough than by being a pansy."

He said it was he who insisted Rather cut the interview off abruptly because it was running too long.

Late in the interview, Bush told Rather, "It's not fair to judge my whole career by a rehash on Iran. How would you like it if I judged your career by those seven minutes when you walked off the set in New York? Would you like that?"

Students Learn Lessons of Life When They Are Free to Choose

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1988 by Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: I am the president of the Associated Students of the University of California at Berkeley. Your column regarding behavior in college dorms was forwarded to me by a campus administrator. I can speak only for the students here, but I think your readers' letters were somewhat hysterical on several counts.

First, even if college authorities wanted to provide a morally sanitized atmosphere for their students, they could not. Students, like other Americans, are entitled to constitutional privacy rights, which prevent university officials from peering over their shoulders at all hours of the night and day. Most university dorms, including Berkeley's, forbid use of drugs or alcohol in public areas — but universities cannot and should not control what students do in the privacy of their own rooms. If your readers have a problem with the Constitution, they should write to their congressmen.

Second, the existence of co-ed bathrooms hardly converts dormitories into "brothels." We trust young adults to vote for our presidents and die for our country. I hope we can also trust them to use adjoining bathroom stalls without being overcome by their hormones. In fact, living in the close quarters of a residence hall is not particularly conducive to romance: The existence of roommates usually presents more of an inconvenience to sexual adventurism than an incentive. Furthermore, based on my observation of both co-ed and sexually segregated dorms at Berkeley, co-ed dorms actually foster sincere respect and dialogue between young men and women. It is when men and women are forcibly separated on all but social occasions that they view each other as nothing but sexual objects.

It is the business of colleges and universities to educate students. It is also their business to provide an atmosphere where students wishing to refrain from sexual behavior, drinking or drug use can do so without harassment or embarrassment. But universities are not monasteries; they are not equipped to be moral policemen. Therefore, some college students do drink and have sex, just as they did when your readers went to college. Behavior hasn't changed all that much; students today are simply more honest about it.

MATTHEW DENN

DEAR PRESIDENT DENN: Thank you. I agree, and I'm sure you speak for many.

DEAR ABBY: Maybe you can help me on this. A wife inherits money from a wealthy relative. Is it hers to spend as she wishes? Or does her husband have a say in the matter? We live in a community property state.

Man caught in killing of girl 37 years ago

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A Nebraska man was heading here today to face murder charges after incriminating himself in the strangling of an 8-year-old girl whose body was found at a Pennsylvania carnival 37 years ago, authorities said.

William Henry Redmond, 66, spent most of Monday and this morning traveling by train from Nebraska with a Pennsylvania state trooper who said he located Redmond shortly after the investigation was reopened in 1985.

Redmond, who operated a Ferris wheel at the carnival, "has made a statement to police incriminating himself" in the April 1951 slaying of Jane Marie Althoff, Delaware County District Attorney William Ryan said Monday.

An arrest warrant in the case was issued for Redmond in January 1952 but apparently was never served because he left the carnival and could not be located, police said.

Redmond, who has been arrested twice on child molestation charges, was arrested Friday in Grand Island, Neb.

Redmond was a Ferris wheel operator with the Penn-Premier Show carnival that had stopped in the nearby town of Trainer in late April 1951. Jane Marie was found dead on the front seat of a truck at the carnival grounds on April 26, 1951, Ryan said. She had been strangled the previous night, he said.

The truck cab was covered with fingerprints matching those of Redmond, police said.

Redmond, bent by age and slowed by emphysema, sat quietly during a Monday evening stopover in Chicago. The state trooper, Malcolm Murphy, would not let Redmond speak to a reporter.

Murphy said he had been working on the case since October 1985 after police in Trainer told him about the girl's death.

Murphy said after reading the file he came to believe that Redmond was responsible for the girl's slaying.

"Because I knew his name and his date of birth I was able to run his name through the computer, and his name turned up in the Nebraska motor vehicle files," he said.

Murphy said he talked to Redmond on Friday and arrested him on the basis of that conversation. He would not characterize Redmond's statement as a confession.

Redmond will be charged with criminal homicide, murder, involuntary manslaughter, kidnapping, simple assault, unlawful restraint and endangering the welfare of children, Murphy said.

Redmond, an unemployed truck driver, had lived in Grand Island since 1963, said Lt. Gregg Ahlers of the Hall County (Neb.) Sheriff's Department.

"So far as we know he has been leading a quiet life," Murphy said. "We are continuing our investigation because there are too many blank spaces in his life that we don't know about...."

"He was pretty resigned at the time of his arrest," Murphy said.

When red northern lights appeared over London in 1938, some people feared the city was on fire.

Pre-emptive bids are annoying, particularly when you have a strong hand. The approved method of showing a powerful two-suiter over a pre-empt is to cue-bid the opposing suit. This explains South's four-spade bid. North had been strapped over three spades, but his partner's strong bid galvanized him into what might have been unwise overbidding. He bid five spades to force his partner to pick a slam and then carried on to seven diamonds.

The play for the grand slam was good and was a shoo-in if the clubs split 3-2. Because Careful Charlie was the declarer, the odds got even better as he played it out. Charlie won dummy's ace of spades and trumped a spade. He played a diamond to the dummy and trumped another spade. He cashed the ace of hearts, played another trump to dummy and trumped dummy's last spade with his ace of diamonds. When he then played the last trump to dummy, East had to come down to five cards. If East threw a heart, his queen would fall under the king, making dummy's jack good. East had to hope that his partner had a club honor, so he threw a club. That made declarer's last little club a winner, and the grand slam was made.

Try playing the hand without trumping a spade at trick two. You'll be in the wrong hand when you play the last trump, and East will be able to safely jettison the queen of hearts.

After dropping big lead...

Westerners edge Dogs, 99-95

CLARENDON -- Western Texas College's Westerners pulled out a victory in overtime here Monday. Well, maybe "pulled out" isn't quite right.

"The real story is we had a 21 point lead with about nine minutes to go and couldn't hold it," said WTC coach Tony Mauldin, whose Westerners edged Clarendon College 99-95 in overtime.

Clarendon began to find a comeback route via the 3-point line. The Bulldogs bagged 10 of them for the game. Those 30 points, plus Western's inaccuracy at the free throw line, helped to make the contest a close one.

"They started shooting 3-point shots and got hot. And we kind of panicked there a little bit," said

Mauldin. "We were taking the ball inside when we should have been pulling it out, and pulling it out when we wanted to take it in. And, they kept fouling us and we kept missing it."

Western was only 26 of 46 from the free throw line. Fortunately, Clarendon hit only 22 of 34 shots.

The Westerners still clung to a three-point, 86-83 lead as the clock ticked away, but Russell Winters bagged a 3-pointer to tie things up and force an overtime.

"We took control in the overtime, made some key buckets and rebounds and things and did a little better with our free throws," said Mauldin.

Melvin Thompson went to the bench with his fifth foul in regulation and Darrell Nelson and Bob-

Spear joined him in overtime. "We had some good play out of their replacements," noted the coach. "The kids really played well except for when we panicked there."

Derrick Greene, a 6-3 freshman from Austin, scored six of WTC's 13 overtime points. He was four-for-four from the line in the extra period.

Nelson, Thompson and Spear all landed in the 20's - Nelson and Thompson with 24 points and Spear with 21. Chris Jackson added 11 and Greene marked for 8.

Clarendon got 28 points from 6-5 sophomore Tommy French, who was 14-of-16 from the charity stripe. Gonzalo Otero popped for 19 points, Alvin Degraftenreed for 14 and Winters for 11.

The win puts Western at 6-16 overall and 3-4 in the WJCAC as the Westerners prepare for a Thursday game in Levelland against South Plains. Clarendon falls to 7-12 and 1-7. The Bulldogs take on Midland this Thursday for their next outing.

Fouls play big role as...

Dusters tumble to Clarendon

CLARENDON -- It was bound to happen sooner or later.

Western Texas College's Lady Dusters appeared to have the situation in hand on their way to a fourth conference victory here Monday night. That was before Tabitha Walton was whistled to the bench with her fifth foul.

"It was a very poorly called ballgame," said Coach Kelly Chadwick, whose Dusters were upended 59-55 by Clarendon's Lady Bulldogs. "I felt like Tabitha got at least two calls that were really bad calls. At the time we lost her we had a seven or eight point lead. But with her out of the game, we just couldn't hold on. The kids played real well. They played hard. I'm proud of them."

Walton went out with about 14 minutes to play and Western leading by seven points. She was replaced by Jana Gartman, who joined the team only a couple of weeks ago.

"Jana played as well as she possibly could. She just doesn't understand what we are doing yet," said Chadwick. "Tabitha is familiar with what we're doing, she's played in a bunch of ballgames. I think we lost a lot of rebound strength with Tabitha out of there."

The game was close still, however. Western trailed by only two points with about 10 seconds left, but couldn't get the ball.

Western Texas was led by Nickey Allen's 18 points. Stephanie McKnight scored 13, Nancy Bals 11, Julie Roewe 8 and Walton 5.

Clarendon's Lady Bulldogs broke a two-game conference losing skid with the win and are now 13-7 overall and 3-3 in the WJCAC. The Lady Dogs got 13 points from Pam Jackson, 12 from Tiffany Thomas and 11 from Pat Jackson.

"I thought they (Clarendon) played us very intelligently. They played everybody they had, in and out, in and out, and just wore us down," said Chadwick, whose Dusters are now 15-7 for the season and 3-2 in conference play. "We're just not in good enough condition to go 40 minutes like that."

"All in all, I thought we played well. It's a shame because if we win this game our chances for going to the regional tournament are really good. I think we were well on our way to winning when Tabitha fouled out," noted the coach. "But, the important thing is the effort all six of these girls gave. It makes me admire and respect these kids. Maybe we're teaching them something they aren't getting in the classroom."

"Life doesn't get easier for the Dusters, who bus to Levelland on Thursday to play South Plains College.

Tigers challenge Mustangs in key 2-4A tilts tonight

Coach Housden's Lady Tigers take on Sweetwater in an important District 2-4A basketball game here tonight.

Tipoff is 7:30 p.m. at Snyder High School Gym. A junior varsity contest begins at 6 p.m.

Game times are the same for the boys, who are in Sweetwater tonight to take on the Mustangs.

In other 2-4A girls' action this evening, Pecos (12-6, 8-3) is at Big Spring (23-1, 10-0), Andrews (12-9, 6-5) is at Fort Stockton (12-9, 5-5), and Lamesa (3-20, 2-9) is at San Angelo to play Lake View (1-13, 4-7).

Housden's Lady Tigers are 15-7 overall and 8-3 in district play. They need a victory tonight to keep pace with the Pecos Eagles, who share second place with them. Pecos will not be favored in tonight's ballgame with highly-touted Big Spring, but Snyder can't afford to breathe easily. The Tigers play in Pecos on Friday, and host Big Spring on Feb. 2.

Sweetwater's girls come in with a deceiving record of 10-11 overall and 5-5 in district play. The Lady Mustangs are expected to give the Tigers a strong challenge tonight.

Meanwhile, Coach Larry Scott's boys take records of 17-6 and 8-1 to Sweetwater. The Tigers are in second place in the district but with seven games left on the schedule can ill-afford a loss.

Sweetwater, which got off to a late start on the court after a fine football season, is 0-9 for the cage campaign.

In other boy's games tonight, Big Spring (16-8, 6-2) travels to Pecos (7-14, 1-8), Fort Stockton (13-9, 4-5) visits Andrews (17-7, 6-3) and San Angelo Lake View (8-15, 2-7) is at Lamesa (20-5, 9-0) to meet the fourth-ranked Golden Tornados.

Denver Broncos...

Last season's losers plan to win in 1988

SAN DIEGO (AP) - The Washington Redskins and Denver Broncos are heading for the same objective from different directions. Losing a Super Bowl can do that.

Last year's Super Bowl loss dominates the Broncos' thoughts, words and approach. Just hours after they arrived here, they were vowing this NFL championship game would have a more successful ending.

"The feeling of last year's loss stuck in all our craws," quarterback John Elway said. "That's the 'last thing we want to feel again. Nobody has to bring it up. We all remember what it was like in that locker room."

So the Broncos have developed a tunnel vision toward this year's Super Bowl.

"We're all business this time," defensive end Rulon Jones said. "We need a good focus on the way we play football and what we have to do on the field Sunday. Nothing else."

The Redskins, who lost in their last Super Bowl appearance in 1984, aren't so single-minded.

"We're pretty relaxed and loose and excited to be here," said offensive tackle Joe Jacoby, one of 18 Redskins to make it this far before. "We're keeping it all in perspective, but we're trying to enjoy it, soak it all in. You just got to enjoy it but get the job done."

"It's another game to win and

by The Associated Press

It's trivia time.

Who broke Bob McAdoo's scoring record at Vincennes, Ind., Junior College?

Who was runner-up to UCLA's Marques Johnson in The Associated Press Player of the Year voting?

Who holds the career assist record for the Utah Jazz, more than double that of Pete Maravich?

Who scored the 5-millionth point in NBA history?

If you answered Rickey Green to any of the above, you were right on all of them.

Green hit a 3-point shot at the buzzer to end the third quarter Monday night, giving the Jazz a 92-67, lead and the NBA its 5,000,001st point since the league began play in 1946. Utah went on to defeat the Cleveland Cavaliers 119-96.

"I'm happy that a veteran player got it and that it was a good shot. It's another record the Jazz have that can't be broken," Utah Coach Frank Layden said.

It was only the third 3-pointer for Green, playing in his 10th NBA season, this year and his only field goal of the night. He finished with six points, the other three coming on free throws.

"I'm very happy for Rickey," teammate Marc Iavaroni said. "Yesterday I thought, wouldn't it be neat to score the five-millionth point. Now we're all on the team that scored it, something to look back on and tell all my grandkids."

Elsewhere, it was Washington 118, Philadelphia 117 in overtime, and Milwaukee 108, Golden State 105.

The landmark field goal ended the countdown monitored by the NBA through radio hookups to the Cavs-Jazz game in Salt Lake City and the Milwaukee Bucks contest at the Golden State Warriors, which were being played simultaneously. Green's basket came as the Bucks and Warriors were in a late first-quarter timeout.

Jazz 119, Cavaliers 96

Karl Malone paced the Jazz with 36 points, while John Stockton, who took over Green's starting role this season, had 20 points and 13 assists.

Bucks 108, Warriors 105

Milwaukee scored the final seven points of the game to come from behind and defeat Golden State. Paul Pressey gave the Bucks the lead with 26 seconds remaining on a driving layup.

Texans want to revise budget procedure

WASHINGTON (AP) — Several Texas lawmakers from both parties say that revision of the nation's budget process requires the active support of President Reagan throughout the year.

The president, in his seventh and final State of the Union address to Congress, stressed the need for an end to a budget process that relies on a massive omnibus spending bill that he said took 300 bureaucrats just to read in the closing days of last year. "He's on track in talking about vetoing continuing resolutions (catch-all spending bills)," Rep. Larry Combest, R-Lubbock, said. "We just have to be sure the White House doesn't waffle when it wants to get one or two things in a bill," he said. "If we're going to truly deal with budget reform we've got to stand firm." Combest was optimistic about the chances for budget reform in the coming year because members of both parties are tired of the inefficient methods now in use. Some Texans had a few words of concern for what Reagan failed to say. "I wished that he had mentioned our country's space program," Rep. Mike Andrews, D-Houston, who represents a district that is highly sensitive to what happens at the Houston space center, says.

"The numbers for Texas and the space station program are very high in his budget, $1 billion. And this will be very hard to get without his full support," said Andrews.

Airline will fly officers, family to funeral

DALLAS (AP) — Dallas billionaire H. Ross Perot and oilman Ray Hunt are among several people offering assistance to the family of slain police officer John Chase and his colleagues.

Perot and Hunt offered planes to officers wanting to attend Chase's funeral Wednesday in Des Moines, Iowa, while American Airlines also offered a jet to fly officers and family members to the service, officials said at a news conference Monday. A memorial service for Chase, 25, is scheduled today in Dallas, and a candlelight vigil is planned tonight in front of City Hall. A rally is planned at City Hall for Sunday.

The Greater Dallas Crime Commission gave Chase's family a check for $10,000. Dallas Police spokesman Ed Spencer said the department and substations in the city were inundated Tuesday with calls from citizens expressing support and sympathy.

A limousine company offered its services to the officer's family while in Dallas, and a grocery store chain paid for bumper stickers with a thumb up that says "Support our Police."

Motorists throughout the metropolitan Dallas area drove with their lights on Monday in a show of support for the police department, and supporters asked them to continue through today.

"There's been a tremendous groundswell of public support, of grassroots support," Police Chief Billy Prince said.

Chase was killed Saturday morning when a homeless man wrestled his gun away and shot him in the face as he pleaded for his life. The suspect was shot and killed by off-duty police responding to the scene in a downtown parking lot.

Slaying's suspect had just been released from jail

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — A man who had been released from prison two days before an accountant was slain has been charged with capital murder in the rape-strangulation slaying.

Ricky Joseph Martin, 21, of suburban Haltom City, was charged with capital murder Monday in connection with the Jan. 16 slaying of Deborah Leugemors, 34, whose body was found Jan. 17 in an office complex where she had been working late.

Martin was ordered held in the Tarrant County Jail without bond following an arraignment.

Fort Worth homicide Lt. Tommy Swan said Martin gave investigators a statement Sunday, but Swan declined to discuss the statement.

Leugemors was reported missing Jan. 17, when she failed to return home from working overtime at her office the night before.

Her car, which had been set afire, was discovered about 9:30 p.m. the night of the slaying by police in Haltom City, but Fort Worth police investigators did not learn of the car's discovery until the following Monday.

Martin was arrested at his parents' home, only four blocks from the parking lot where the burning car was found.

Records at the Texas Department of Corrections show Martin was released from prison Jan. 14 after serving six months on a three-year burglary conviction. A TDC spokesman said an additional 14 months he served in the Tarrant County Jail waiting for his case to come to trial were applied to his sentence.

Police said Martin might have been planning to burglarize the office building when he was surprised by Leugemors.

"We believe the murder was a crime of opportunity, that he took his chance when he found the victim alone there," Swan said.

Leugemors was sexually assaulted and strangled with a thin cord or belt, according to an autopsy report.

The victim's husband said his wife was working late on the night of Jan. 16 when he last talked to her. He said that as they finished the conversation, he heard her say "hey" or "hello" as if she had seen someone in her office.

CRMWD said 'strong' during previous year

BIG SPRING—With income that almost hit budget estimates on the nose and expenses nearly 20 percent under projections, the Colorado Municipal Water District experienced a strong 1987.

As has been the story all year, savings on electric energy was the big reason for the savings. Operational power was $3,063,369 or 29.48 percent under budget. Part of this was due to a $117,016 fuel rebate on electric power, but it was due to pumping 2 1/4 billion gallons less than projected.

Moreover, a wet year enabled the district to pump from the most economical sources.

Income totalled $12,575,912, or $3,085 more than estimated. Bulk of this was from sale of water, or $12,292,979 only $45,000 less than anticipated. Other income was 98.8 percent over estimates because of $170,807 earnings on investments.

For the year, expenses totalled $5,556,814, or 19.86 percent under projections. Net income of $7,019,097 was 27.3 percent over budget and was transferred to retire bonds ($2,490,061) and contingency and improvement ($4,550,000), part of which went for the district's share of funding the Stacy project during construction.

Water sales amounted to 15,539,321,420 gallons during 1987, of which 14,015,095,130 gallons went to cities and 1,524,226,290 gallons to oil companies. During the year production included 14,231,391,230 gallons of potable water from wells and lakes, and 1,307,929,190 gallons of diverted unpotable water for oil companies. Nine out of 10 gallons were potable, and 9.23 percent came from wells, 82.35 percent from lakes, while 8.42 percent was diverted.

Randy Travis garners music awards

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The night belonged to ex-dishwasher Randy Travis, who got four American Music Award trophies, but winners ranging from silky blues artists to heavy metal bands also scored with the public.

The 15th anniversary edition of the presentations shown Monday night on ABC-TV also recognized the talent of Anita Baker, Whitney Houston and Paul Simon, the only other multiple winners with two apiece.

Luther Vandross, Reba McEntire, Janet Jackson, Michael Jackson, the country band Alabama and hard rockers Bon Jovi were also winners, reflecting the contrast in musical tastes of 20,000 people polled nationwide.

"It's just country music. I try to sing 'em with as much emotion as I can," the painfully shy Travis said backstage.

Travis was voted top male country singer, his album "Always and Forever" was picked best country LP, and his single and video "Forever and Ever, Amen" were judged the favorites in those categories.

Travis, a leader in the return to simpler, traditional country music roots, has been called a cross between Merle Haggard and George Jones.

Bill Boyd, executive director of the Academy of Country Music, said: "Randy's strictly a traditionalist. He's what we needed."

Miss Baker won favorite female soul-rhythm and blues singer and favorite album in that category for her nearly 2-year-old "Rapture" LP.

Miss Houston did win favorite pop-rock female vocalist and her "I Wanna Dance With Somebody (Who Loves Me)" won favorite single in the same category. Borrowing from the oft-stated phrase by multiple-winner Lionel Richie, she shouted, "This is outrageous," when she won her second trophy. Last year, Miss Houston won seven American Music Awards.

Miss McEntire won the favorite female vocalist in the country category and accepted via a satellite hook-up from a Nashville recording studio. Simon, who didn't attend, won favorite pop male vocalist. His Grammy-winning "Graceland" won favorite pop-rock album.

No-show Michael Jackson, winner of 11 previous American Music Awards, won in the soul rhythm and blues single category for "Bad."

Other winners included Bon Jovi for favorite pop-rock group. Cameo for favorite soul-rhythm and blues group, and Alabama as favorite country group.

For Alabama, it was the group's sixth American Music Award in that category and 11th overall.

Janet Jackson, who like brother Michael also skipped the show, won the combined pop-rock, soul-rhythm and blues favorite video category for "When I Think Of You."

Vandross won for favorite male soul-rhythm and blues male vocalist.

After the competitive awards were handed out, the remaining

18 minutes of the three-hour Shrine Auditorium show was dedicated to the presentation of the Award of Merit, given to the quintessential surf-rock group the Beach Boys. Award ballots were sent to 20,000 members of the public selected by Herbert Altman Communications Research Inc. on the basis of age, sex, geographic location and ethnic origin. Results of the voting were tabulated by Peat, Warwick, Mitchell and Co. accounting firm.

United Kingdom next likely market for U.S. producers

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United Kingdom could become a steady billion-dollar annual market for American farmers, joining such superbuyers as Japan, Canada, West Germany, South Korea and Taiwan, an Agriculture Department report says.

The opportunities "look good in the future, even though U.S. exporters have barely scratched the surface of this huge $16 billion market," the department's Foreign Agricultural Service said.

Total U.S. agricultural exports to Great Britain and Northern Ireland in 1986 amounted to just $678 million, barely a 4 percent market share.

"Since then, the lower valued U.S. dollar has enhanced significantly the opportunities for expanding U.S. exports of high-value products," the report said. "The infusion of promotional funds through the Targeted Export Assistance (TEA) program has made the picture even brighter."

Under TEA, the agency works with private commodity groups to help fund selected promotional activities in foreign countries.

"Market opportunities are developing for almost every commodity, especially for products such as oilseeds and various specialty items like condiments and snack foods, which have non-variable (import) levies and enter the United Kingdom with few restrictions," the report said.

Although U.S. soybean oil has only a fourth of the U.K. vegetable oil market, department analysts said opportunities exist for expansion. The American Soybean Association, aided by the TEA program, has developed television and print advertising campaigns on behalf of bottled soybean cooking oil and promoting its use in the manufacture of margarine.

Since the trip does not involve students in intercollegiate competition, the college will not pay for lodging and meals for the students.

manufacturing and foods, the report said. Breakfast cereals, especially, have shown considerable growth and the trend is expected to continue.

For other grains, the United Kingdom and its 57 million people remain an important U.S. market, including demand for high-protein U.S. wheat for blending purposes.

"Good potential exists for increased imports of U.S. fruits and vegetables," the report said. "Importers and retailers normally purchase their supplies according to price and seasonality, and tend to buy from traditional European, African and Israeli sources."

Dried fruits for snacking and in baked goods are also showing good possibilities, along with peanuts, almonds, pecans and other nuts.

Rescue efforts continue... 33 reported dead in mine explosion, fire in Mexico

LAS ESPERANZAS, Mexico (AP) — Workers pulled more bodies today from the charred depths of a coal mine after an explosion and fire, and the miner leading the rescue effort said 33 men died and at least 10 more were believed trapped.

"We don't believe there's a possibility that anyone remains alive," said Felipe Perez Ortiz, the miner heading the rescue team at the northern Mexico mine. He said the work was going on about 100 yards below ground.

Asked how much longer they would work, he replied: "It will take awhile because of the difficulty of working there. There's a lot of debris. ... These places don't have any air and there's a lot of gas."

Perez Ortiz cautioned that he is not an authorized spokesman for the mining company or the government.

Federal authorities said earlier that at least 20 miners died, 18 were missing and 50 were injured in Monday's fire and explosion. An investigator said 138 men were in the mine at the time of the fire.

Friends and relatives of the buried miners huddled around campfires overnight outside the mine's entrances, about 80 yards from the mine shaft where workers were bringing victims to the surface.

As bodies were slowly recovered, guards at the gates called for family members to come inside and identify them.

Jorge Antonio Bonita said he was asked to identify a body believed to be that of his brother.

"We couldn't tell who it was," Bonita said. "He didn't have a crown (on his tooth), so maybe it wasn't him."

Disaster struck in "Mine 4 1/2," operated by Compania Hullera Mexicana, at 8:30 a.m. Monday, about 1 1/2 hours after the first of the day's three shifts of workers entered it.

Gerardo Acosta Garcia, an investigator with the federal Public Ministry, said 138 men were inside when an electric transformer at one of the mine's substations short-circuited and caused the explosion and fire.

Twenty bodies were recovered, and 18 miners were unaccounted for, Acosta said early today. Authorities said then it was possible some of the 18 men had walked away.

Acosta said 50 men were injured, five of them seriously, and about 50 others "walked out of the mine by themselves."

"We don't know how many more (bodies) we'll recover," he said in an interview at the gates outside the mine. "It's very difficult to say exactly how many are down there."

The mine is about 70 miles southwest of the Texas border community of Eagle Pass and a couple of miles outside this mining town in northern Coahuila state.

Acosta said the bodies, many burned beyond recognition, were being identified by family members or by the identification numbers of the lamps they carried with them underground.

Rebecca Alfaro, mother of one of the missing workers, said she learned of the explosion on the radio.

Mrs. Alfaro said her 18-year-old son, Juan Hilario Redondo, started working at the mine just two months ago.

Weapons charge prompts arrest

A 19-year-old man was arrested Monday night for reckless conduct and carrying a prohibited weapon after allegedly threatening a 17-year-old male here with a pistol two hours earlier at a Towle Park location.

The suspect was taken into custody at 9:15 p.m. in the 3800 Block of College Ave.

Officers did not find a pistol in the suspect's van but arrested him on the weapons charge after finding a knife with a blade longer than six inches, a pair of num-chucks, a throwing star and a double-edged boot knife, they said.

Other Monday arrests included one of a 57-year-old man for DWI at 2:47 p.m. at the traffic circle.

A 15-year-old male was arrested for Class C theft at 5:20 p.m. at a College Ave. store, and a 53-year-old man was taken into custody at 12:58 a.m. Tuesday in the 2600 Block of Ave. F for DWI, disregarding a stop sign and not having a driver's license or liability insurance.

2 grass fires doused locally

Firemen extinguished two grass fires Monday, one that was ignited by a welder in the 2300 Block of Ave. G and the other 11 miles west of the city off the Lamesa Highway.

They were called at 4:38 p.m. to a residence owned by Ralph Neal at 2311 G, where a welding job had set off a small fire in the yard.

The 2:05 p.m. call west of town was also a minor emergency that took only a brief time to deal with, a department spokesman said.

How to choose an artificial knee

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I have to have a knee replaced. The doctor wants to put in an aluminum knee, which he says will last three to five years. Are there stainless-steel or plastic knees that might last longer?

DEAR DR. GOTT: This is a technical question best asked of your orthopedic surgeon. Although prostheses are made of other substances, aluminum may be the best in your case, because it is light and strong.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I am a man, 70, with a history of atherosclerosis and emphysema. I have taken or am now taking Lopressor, Calan, Dyazide, Theodor, Proventil inhaler and Aldoril. I've also received a one-week treatment of Deltason. I have a steadily worsening condition of gynecomastia enlarged and painful breasts. I have nothing against bosoms per se; I just don't want one for myself.

DEAR DR. GOTT: Of the medicines you are taking, Calan and Aldoril are the most likely to cause breast swelling (gynecomastia). Ordinarily, the slight tenderness and enlargement are not a problem, but if your breasts really bother you, ask your doctor to consider changing your medicines. Adequate substitutes for Calan and Aldoril are available.

DEAR DR. GOTT: What are ulcers of the bladder and what's the cure?

DEAR DR. GOTT: Ulcers are sores. They result when the covering of a tissue is abraded, irritated or infected.

For example, a decubitus ulcer is a skin sore that forms on debilitated patients who are bedridden. Peptic ulcer is a sore in the lining of the upper intestinal tract. Various cancers can ulcerate when they outgrow their blood supply.

I am not sure what you mean by ulcers of the bladder. Since the bladder is lined by skin-like cells, irritation of one kind or another could produce areas that become denuded and ulcerate. Infection, mechanical pressure (such as produced by catheters) and growths could cause ulcers of the bladder. Treatment would have to be directed to the cause, rather than to the ulcer itself.

Underdeveloped area may revert to state

BRAZOS ISLAND, Texas (AP) — A 216-acre piece of beach that generated controversy when the Texas land commissioner tried to lease it to a developer may be returned to the state's parks system.

Negotiations begin this week to return Brazos Island to the state parks system, but Playa del Rio Inc. apparently will retain a road easement granted by the General Land Office, said Andrew Sansom, coordinator of land acquisition and management for the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department.

The piece of beach near the mouth of the Rio Grande became the subject of controversy in 1986 when Texas Land Commissioner Garry Mauro attempted to lease it to Playa del Rio, which plans to build a 12,500-acre, $8 billion resort development to include areas north and south of Brazos Island.

"We would very much like to take it (Brazos Island) back and manage it on some basis as a park or a preserve," Sansom said.

Sansom described Brazos Island, known locally as part of Boca Chica Beach and actually a peninsula, as "one of the nicest sets of intact sand dunes anywhere."

Environmentalists have fought development of the area, maintaining it is a sensitive wetland and part of a shrinking wildlife habitat in the lower Rio Grande Valley. Others, however, see the ambitious development by the Brownsville-based company as a source of jobs and economic stimulus.

The state Legislature in 1957 proclaimed the area as a state park, and it has been known since then as the Brazos Island State Recreation Area.

But in 1986, the General Land Office, whose purpose is to earn money from state lands, took the land back. The 1957 transfer to the parks system had been deemed invalid because the parks department never paid the land office for the property, as required by the state.

Then in May 1986, after the land office's plans to lease the Brazos Island area to Playa del Rio brought sharp protests from environmental groups, the company revised its plans, and Mauro offered to return the land to the parks department.

In the process, however, Playa del Rio was granted a 200-foot easement through Brazos Island for a road to connect parts of the planned development, Sansom said.

"We think the easement is potentially damaging to the resources there, but the easement exists," Sansom said.

A Parks and Wildlife staff report said the road would "threaten the integrity of the narrow barrier island system itself."

Parks officials are hoping to lease Brazos Island from the land office and work with Playa del Rio on alternatives to building a road through the park, he said.

"We will take the land subject to the easement, because it's a done deal," Sansom said, adding the department has not decided whether to develop the park or leave it in its natural state.

Disparities are cited in report

DALLAS (AP) — Mayor Annette Strauss says officials will pay close attention to a landmark new report on racial separation that showed wide gaps in education, housing and employment opportunities for minorities.

"It spells out specifically what the needs are. It was done by responsible people and will not simply be put on a shelf to gather dust," Ms. Strauss said. "It will be used as a guideline."

The $500,000 report called "The State of the Community: Implications for Intergroup Relations" was commissioned by the Dallas Alliance, a 12-year-old civic organization. The report was prepared by the Center for Applied Research at the University of Texas at Dallas.

The Dallas Times Herald obtained a confidential analysis of the nearly 900-page document, prepared over three years by the UTD center. The document is due to be released next month.

The newspaper said the report concludes poverty, crime, unemployment, a lack of decent and affordable housing and student dropout rates are keeping many blacks and Hispanics from moving into the economic mainstream.

Researchers meant to provide the Alliance and other groups with a common set of facts to help them identify and tackle some of Dallas' most pressing problems.

The key findings included: — The percentage of black families living below poverty level is almost five times that of whites, and the percentage of Hispanics below poverty level is almost 3.5 times that of Anglos.

— Blacks and Hispanics are significantly more likely to live in deficient housing" than whites.

— Minority children, who make up the majority of Dallas school students, suffer from a "devastatingly high" dropout rate.

"We haven't decided yet exactly what approach to take," said Lee Simpson, chairman of the Alliance task force that reviewed the report.

Radiation closes chemical plants

DALLAS (AP) — Radioactive particles that apparently leaked from air guns used to eliminate static at a chemical company's facilities were probably not ingested by employees, a spokesman said.

Workers for Ashland Chemical Co. in Texas and Pennsylvania who may have been exposed to radiation at electronic chemicals plants were being tested, officials said.

The Ashland facilities were exposed to low-level radiation in a leak discovered Saturday night, company officials said.

"While ingestion of these particles is possible, even if they are ingested, the particles should pass through the body without any harmful side effects," Ashland spokesman Peter Loscocco said Monday.

Officials of 3M Corp. on Monday halted sales of the air guns at the order of the Nuclear Regulatory Commission until they found the cause of the apparent leak.

Testing was still ongoing but results should be available soon, Loscocco said.

"As far as the health hazards, we had some thorough discussions with the NRC and 3M technical experts," he said. "Based on those discussions, we believe those health hazards associated with the radiation leak from the units are minimal."

However, Loscocco said he did not want to downplay any impact of the malfunctioning units. "Our employees' welfare is our primary concern here," he said.

The Texas Bureau of Radiation Control in Austin was conducting tests to reveal whether workers had ingested or inhaled any of the radioactive particles that leaked from the cleaning devices.

"We are taking blood and urine samples from all employees who were in the room in which the static elimination devices malfunctioned," said David Lacker, agency director.

He said it appears the radiation leakage was confined to one room at the Dallas plant.

Loscocco said the two plants, which bottle acids used in the manufacture of semiconductors, will remain closed during testing and cleanup. All 37 employees in Dallas and 90 employees in Easton, Pa., were being tested.

The NRC staff on Monday ordered 3M to suspend distribution of the models of guns used at the two plants, models in the company's 900 series, until the cause of the leaks is found and corrective action is approved by the commission.

"I would like to see it help set the agenda for action in this community as a whole in the next number of years," Simpson said. "I think there are some very powerful implications of this information."

The Dallas Alliance will probably take a narrow approach, said Jack Lowe Jr., the organization's president.

"My guess would be that the Alliance will sort of bite off a project or two with that background," he said. "Our hope is it will be a resource for a lot of people around town for lots of projects."

Another member of the task force, Dr. Catalina "Hope" Garcia, said she hopes the report will be embraced by a variety of Dallas' power brokers.

"There's no way those problems are going to be solved without business and civic organizations buying into it," said Garcia.

Vagrant diagnosed paranoid

DALLAS (AP) — A homeless man who fatally shot a Dallas police officer was a paranoid schizophrenic whose family twice sought to have him committed for mental help.

Carl D. Williams, 34, saw visions, heard inner voices and believed he was being persecuted by his family and prevented from succeeding, court records show.

On Saturday, Williams shot and killed Officer John Chase, 25, with the officer's revolver, police said.

Williams once lived in his family's stately North Dallas home, but spent his last night in the Union Gospel Mission.

His father, Carl L. Williams, is a middle school principal. His mother, Marie Williams, is a Blue Cross-Blue Shield employee. The elder Williams declined to discuss his son.

As a child, Williams struggled with schoolwork, but was an avid athlete who seemed eager to succeed, friends and records say. He was picked as a promising athlete and student leader and as most handsome boy in North Dallas High School.

Williams' family remembers finding him at the foot of his grandmother's bed with a hand saw, laughing and talking to himself. They recall Williams threatening to shoot his father with a .22-caliber rifle.

But friends remember a different man.

"He was very easy to get along with — very motivated, very inclined to do well," said classmate Charles Longoria, 36. Longoria played with Williams on the football squad.

Two years after graduating from high school, Williams was arrested on attempted kidnapping charges.

Williams dropped out of at least one community college, enlisted with the U.S. Navy and served in Vietnam. He was honorably discharged after 15 months because of unnamed problems.

"After he came home from the service, he was never the same person — he was like a tramp," said Jetty Faye Turner, 71, who knew Williams since he was a child.
