

Showdown in New Hampshire next

CONCORD, N.H. (AP) — Republicans Bob Dole and George Bush were locked in what looked to be a dead-even race and Democratic leader Michael Dukakis ignored sniping from his rivals as the presidential candidates began a last day of work today before New Hampshire's critical primary.

A frenetic final search for votes marked the eve of the nation's first primary, one that could well be the last stop of the 1988 campaign for some of the hopefuls.

Fresh polls showed Dole and Bush in a virtual tie, the vice president's once substantial lead vanished into New Hampshire's frigid air and the trend moving in the Kansas senator's direction. On the Democratic side, Dukakis remained far and away the leader, with Richard Gephardt and Paul Simon still dueling for second.

Simon began television commercials attacking Dukakis, the governor of next-door Massachusetts, as a bureaucrat. Gephardt's new ads lashed at Dukakis too, calling him "one of the biggest tax-raisers in Massachusetts history."

Dukakis ignored the criticism, devoting much of Sunday to stating his views on foreign policy issues including Central America and nuclear arms control. He emphasized his opposition to funding for the Nicaraguan Contras, but said he would use military force, if necessary, to thwart a military attack on a Central American ally.

Bush cast himself as President Reagan's strong loyalist in a debate with his five rivals Sunday night, while Pat Robertson offered the startling assertion that the Soviet Union secretly has placed nuclear missiles in Cuba — "nukes pointing at the United States," he said.

A White House official promptly disputed Robertson's claim, and a Robertson aide said after the debate that the candidate had meant missile-delivery systems, not necessarily warheads.

Dole displayed the confidence of a candidate who has seen all the breaks go his way for the past week since trouncing the vice president in the Iowa caucuses.

"Some of us would like to see it end Tuesday here with someone winning," Dole said. He gently boasted later, "I have come a long way in the last 30 days."

Mindful that a second loss after his Iowa debacle would be devastating, Bush acknowledged his own shortcomings as a campaigner and made clear he didn't intend to give up, no matter the outcome Tuesday.

He insisted he has no "lack of passion" and declared, "My work isn't done yet."

Democratic darkhorse Bruce Babbitt, arriving as scheduled, ridiculed Robertson.

Ask Us

Q. — What is the matter with Senator Bob Dole's right arm?

A. — Dole received a shrapnel injury during World War II and, for a brief time, was completely paralyzed. The paralysis is limited to his right arm now.

In Brief

Resume talks

GENEVA (AP) — The second round of U.S.-Soviet negotiations on nuclear testing began today with Moscow calling for agreement by June on anti-cheating provisions.

That would permit ratification of two superpower treaties limiting the yield of test blasts.

The talks are due to last six to eight weeks.

Chief Soviet delegate Igor Palyenkh said upon arrival Saturday that the session is expected to set the dates and details of joint nuclear test explosions, one in each country, to be held by June.

Citrus woes

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — State and federal officials are fighting efforts by Texas and California to keep out Florida citrus fruit after the lifting of a federal ban imposed to keep a plant disease from spreading to other states.

The issue is canker, a bacterial disease with the potential to seriously cripple an entire industry.

Florida has been battling a mild form of nursery canker for three years. Industry leaders and scientists recently succeeded in convincing the U.S. Department of Agriculture it was not a threat to fruit or trees in commercial groves.

Boys home

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — The Rev. W.N. Otwell has reopened a boys home in mobile homes in preparation for another fight with the state over licensing of his church-run school.

"I've never been licensed, and I won't license," Otwell told the Dallas Morning News Sunday. "I just don't feel like the state has a right to regulate a church ministry."

The minister says he is using mobile homes for his home so he can move if he has to.

Broader sales tax ups total

December return 11 percent higher

A broadened sales tax base appears to be boosting the monthly return which generates income for the City of Snyder, according to the latest figures from the state comptroller's office.

The February report, which actually reflects sales made during the Christmas holidays in December, indicates the monthly total improved by more than 11 percent locally.

This helped bring the year-to-date figure to a plus 8.1 percent when compared to the same period last year.

The widened tax base, authorized by the state legislature, went into effect Sept. 31.

During its first month in October, the monthly sales tax return jumped some 24 percent. The following month, reflecting sales here in November, the monthly return dropped slightly, however.

December saw it increase in the monthly comparison by 11.4 percent and in the cumulative amount—now reflecting a two-month total—by 8.1 percent.

In actual dollars, the monthly return was $99,501 this year compared to $88,075 last year. The cumulative total now stands at $145,033 compared to $134,090.

Across Texas, the state comptroller's office sent checks totaling $129 million to 1,037 cities which levy the 1 percent sales tax.

For the state, the return increased by 3.4 percent over last February's checks. This equaled a growth of $4.3 million statewide.

State Comptroller Bob Bullock saw this increase as "good news" for the state economy. "The growth in December's holiday sales is yet another indication that the state's recession has finally ended," he was quoted as saying.

The largest monthly returns went to Houston and Dallas respectively, Houston receiving $22.1 million and Dallas, $14.7 million.

A sampling of area sales tax returns in almost every case reflect improved totals as well. These include:

—Lubbock: indicating a plus 10.2 percent with the February check. The city's cumulative total is now $2.7 million compared to $2.5 million last year.

—Abilene: indicating a plus 5 percent with the February check. The city's cumulative total is now $1.5 million compared to $1.4 million last year.

—San Angelo: indicating a minus 0.8 percent with the February check. The city's cumulative total is now $1,137,128 compared to $1,146,507 last year.

—Big Spring: indicating a plus 1.4 percent with the February check. The city's cumulative total is now $293,136 compared to $289,007 last year.

—Snyder: indicating a plus 8.1 percent with the February check. The city's cumulative total is now $145,033 compared to $134,090 last year.

Weekend has 7 fires...

Grass fire chars over 2,500 acres

The relatively dry conditions being experienced in Scurry County contributed to a rash of fire calls during the weekend including a Saturday grass fire that burned more than 2,500 acres on two ranches about 13 miles northwest of Snyder.

In all, local firemen answered seven calls during the weekend.

The large grass fire Saturday was reported at 1:59 p.m. It involved three trucks and 20 firemen battling fires at the Hayes and Shannon ranches.

Fluvanna firemen also arrived in two trucks and workers in Commissioners Pct. 2 provided three roadgraders. A private bulldozer was employed also until the fire was brought under control about 8 p.m.

Fire Chief Terry Don McDowell said he is considering possible causes including a thrown cigarette or a spark from an electric line.

He said the fire burned more acreage than one last month near Fluvanna off U.S. 84 that was estimated to have charred about 2,500 acres.

The weekend string of calls began at 11:43 a.m. Saturday at property owned by Ted Floyd 11 miles south of town off Highway 350. It was a grass fire started in the Floyd's backyard by fireplace ashes, McDowell said.

Building contractor Shelburne dead at 95

Services for T.E. Shelburne, 95, whose name was long associated with a Snyder building contracting firm, will be at 4 p.m. Monday at Bell-Cypert-Seale Chapel.

The Rev. Ken Branam, pastor of First Baptist Church, will officiate. Burial will follow at Hillside Memorial Gardens.

He died at 1:35 p.m. Saturday at Cogdell Memorial Hospital. He was born on Dec. 7, 1892 in Ballinger. He was a longtime Scurry County resident.

He married Ittlean Caudle Dec. 15, 1912 in Ballinger. She died on Nov. 1, 1984.

He was a building contractor and member of the Central Baptist Church in Hermleigh.

He was the eldest son of the late Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Shelburne. The family moved to Glasscock County in 1905 to clear land to farm. They returned to Runnels County a few years later.

Shelburne was an active member of the Hermleigh community serving as Justice of the Peace, Precinct 4, for 14 years.

He was active also with the Central Baptist Church, serving as its treasurer for 17 years before retiring five years ago. He had also been a Sunday School teacher and superintendent. He was ordained as a deacon in 1916 in Bethel County Church in Runnels County.

In 1918, he went into the construction business with his son, Delma, forming T.E. Shelburne and Son. In 1968 he received the 50 year award as Master Builder from West Texas Association of General Contractors.

Shelburne was an active member of the Lions Club for

Shredder bidding completed

Scurry County commissioners Monday morning accepted a $9,384 bid from Key Brothers Implement Co. for a new batwing shredder to be used in Pct. 4.

Pct. 4 Commissioner Ted Billingsley recommended the acceptance of the bid for the Rhino Flex 15-foot heavy duty implement for use in the southeastern quadrant of the county.

It was the only bid received and the only business conducted in the regular weekly meeting other than routine matters. The court convened at 10 a.m. to pay the county's bills. The bid-opening was at 11 a.m.

County Judge Bobby Goodwin was absent to attend a state-sponsored county judges' school in Lubbock.

Noted composer dies at 86

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — Composer Frederick Loewe, who 50 years ago teamed with lyricist Alan Jay Lerner to enchant audiences with classics like "Gigi," "Camelot," "My Fair Lady" and "Brigadoon," has died at age 86.

The surviving member of one of the most successful collaborations in American musical history died on Valentine's Day of heart failure, said his guardian and friend, John Morris.

Lerner and Loewe produced such favorite songs as "Almost Like Being in Love," "I Could Have Danced All Night," "On the Street Where You Live," "I've Grown Accustomed to Her Face" and "If Ever I Would Leave You."

Loewe, known as Fritz to his friends, died Sunday at 1:51 p.m. at Desert Hospital, said a nursing supervisor who asked that her name not be used. The composer was hospitalized last Wednesday with chest pains.

When Lerner died in 1986, Loewe said, "It won't be long before we'll be writing together again. I just hope they have a decent piano up there."

"Fritz was a great friend and a great man," Morris said.

A public funeral was likely, he said, adding that Loewe's close friend, comedian Red Skelton, had written "a most beautiful eulogy."

Lerner and Loewe's 18-year partnership began with a one-night flop in Detroit in 1942. They parted bitterly after "Camelot," their last Broadway hit, in 1960.

After a 1973 reunion for the Broadway production of "Gigi," they remained friends.

At a gala in their honor in 1979, Lerner said of his partner: "A collaboration as intense as ours inescapably had to be complex. But I loved him more than I understood and misunderstood him, and I know he loved me more than he understood or misunderstood me."

Loewe was born June 10, 1901, to a distinguished musical family in Vienna, Austria.

The boy began piano lessons at age 5 and composition at age 7. At 13 he became the youngest pianist to appear as soloist with the Berlin Symphony. Loewe was 15 when he published "Katrina," a song that sold 2 million copies of sheet music in Europe.

Loewe came to the United States in 1924 with hopes for a career as a piano soloist. After his debut recital at Town Hall in New York was ignored, he played piano in clubs and movie houses and even worked as a busboy.

In 1931, Loewe married Ernestine Zerline, whom he later divorced after 26 years together with no children.

After some more songwriting attempts, he accepted an offer from a stock company in Detroit to adapt a farce, "The Patsy," and invited Lerner to do the lyrics.

That first collaboration, retitled "Life of the Party," ran one performance, and the stock company then collapsed.

Lerner's fascination with the Scottish writer Sir James Barrie led to the team's first hit show, "Brigadoon," and their first hit song, "Almost Like Being in Love," in 1947.

Dear Abby

Perplexed Young Mother Wonders What's in a Name

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1988 by Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: I am eight months pregnant with my first child. I'm 22 years old and confused about what name to give it. Here's my problem: I found out I was pregnant the day after my boyfriend (the baby's father) was killed in a motorcycle accident. "Boyd" was an only child. My own father says if I have a boy he wants me to give my child our last name to carry on the family name. I have a brother who is married (no children) and in case he doesn't have a son, my father wants to make sure our family name is perpetuated.

I am stumped. I want to please my boyfriend (rest his soul), but I want also to please my father. He has promised to give my child everything it (boy or girl) needs for that child's future.

Help me decide, please.
WHICH NAME

DEAR NAME: You don't mention Boyd's family. Do they know about the baby? If not, it's only fair to tell them. That child will be their son's, too — and now that he's gone, his child may mean even more to them. You and your family should confer with Boyd's family, then do whatever you think is best for your baby. Good luck, and may God bless you both.

DEAR ABBY: As a cadet at the U.S. Air Force Academy, I am expected to live honorably by "duty, honor and country."

Now I have a question about ethics. I have a choice between $129 and honor. My dilemma is due to the fact that the Air Force Academy compensated me twice for the same private medical bill in the amount of $129.

It's such a small amount compared to the national debt. Why not keep it?
CADET, COLORADO SPRINGS

DEAR CADET: You can't be serious. If you are saying, "The national debt is so horrendous, another $129 won't make much difference," it's true, but that's not the issue. To compromise your "honor" for any amount of money should be contrary to your principles and, therefore, out of the question.

DEAR ABBY: In August 1969, I enrolled my daughter, Sandy, in the University of Maryland at College Park. (It happens to be my alma mater.) Although Sandy had been accepted to several other fine colleges, Maryland was her first choice.

When we arrived, I was dumbfounded to learn that my daughter had been assigned living quarters with three other girls in half of a trailer — the other half was going to be occupied by four young men!

Well, I charged up to the office of the dean in charge of housing and asked why my daughter was not assigned to one of the dorms. He told me they were all filled — then a lecture on the "advantages" of trailer life on campus followed. He stated that his own daughter was going to live in one, whereupon I said, "Mister, you can aid in the corruption of your daughter if you want to, but I'll be damned if you're going to corrupt mine!" Then I demanded that he refund my money for room and board. He did.

That afternoon we found a lovely apartment in the home of a very nice woman who offered Sandy the run of her home. (She was the only student in the house.)

Abby, when more people stand up and tell these liberal idiots that they are not going to tolerate this kind of thing in our institutions of higher learning, the moral climate will change.

If you use my letter, please use my full name. I do not write anonymous letters.

Widespread election fraud is charged

ASUNCION, Paraguay (AP) — Gen. Alfredo Stroessner's landslide victory in the presidential election was achieved through widespread fraud, according to opposition leaders and foreign observers.

The 75-year-old president and his governing Colorado Party on Sunday won an eighth straight term, receiving 89 percent of the vote, Interior Minister Sabino Montanaro announced. Montanaro is also party president.

Stroessner, elected to a five-year term, has governed the nation of 3.8 million people since taking power in an army coup in 1954.

Opposition groups and foreign representatives invited to observe the voting said they witnessed irregularities that included: the absence of opposition ballots at polling stations, a lack of closed booths to ensure secret balloting, voting by underage voters and ballot box stuffing.

Stroessner is the Western Hemisphere's longest governing head of state.

The unofficial vote tally, announced by Montanaro, gave the Colorado Party and Stroessner 982,316 votes. A total of 1,446,665 voters were registered.

The Radical Liberal Party, whose presidential candidate was Sen. Luis Maria Vega, 65, was a distant second with 78,141 votes, or 7 percent. The Liberal Party, led by Rep. Carlos Ferreira Ybarra, 54, was third with 52,403 votes, or 3 percent. Final returns were expected to be released today.

The victory, which Montanaro called proof "the Colorado Party with Stroessner holds an absolute majority in the countryside and the cities," also gave the party two-thirds of the 72 House of Deputies and 36 Senate seats.

The remaining one-third will be split among the two other parties according to the proportion of votes the two losers received.

The opposition candidates who participated Sunday represented two of the country's three officially recognized opposition groups.

The third party, the Febrerista Revolutionary Party, has not participated in elections or government since 1973.

Three unrecognized parties, the Authentic Radical Liberal Party, the Christian Democrats and the Colorado Popular Movement, had urged voters to boycott the elections.

Domingo Laino, president of the Authentic Radical Liberal Party, was detained most of Sunday at a government office in Col. Oviedo, 80 miles east of Asuncion, and released when the polls had closed.

"The fraud of Feb. 14 will not be like others," Laino said. "It will be Stroessner's burial ground."

Jo Marie Greisgaber, a U.S. consultant to the Washington-based National Democratic Institute for International Affairs, a Democratic Party entity, said she witnessed underage voters casting ballots in Col. Oviedo.

A U.S. observer with the same initials, Martin Andersen, said a car in which he and opposition politicians were riding was stopped in Ypacarai, 15 miles east of Asuncion, by a group of men in plainclothes and police uniforms.

"We were mistreated without provocation and treated in a beastly fashion," said Andersen. Uruguayan lawmaker Daniel Lamas said he saw voters barred from casting ballots in secret as well as individuals casting "up to 10 ballots."

M&F Plastic Pipe has variety of sizes

M & F Plastic Pipe is your locally owned dealer for polyethylene pipe, sales and rental, with a wide range of sizes and pressure ratings.

Polyethylene pipe is now replacing steel pipe and PVC pipe in many areas. It is much more versatile than PVC and more economical than steel. It's flexibility makes it easier to handle, therefore saving you time and labor. The durability of this pipe has been proven under all kinds of weather conditions and it can be re-spooled and re-laid several times without damage to the pipe.

They have spooling trailers, reel trailers and a spooling truck to handle pipe up to three inches. Pipe that is four inches or larger comes in joints and must be laid by hand. It is "welded" together by using an electric iron that melts each end of the pipe and then it fuses when put together. This eliminates the worry about leaks from bad threads or not being tight enough such as in steel pipe or the hassle of cleaning and gluing as in PVC.

Poly pipe can be used for water lines in homes, stock tanks, water wells, water supply for drilling, transfer lines, gas lines or production flow lines.

They will lay new or used pipe, provide you with valves, fittings, ditching, etc. to suit your needs and will also repair your lines, relocate it or replace it if needed.

M & F Plastic Pipe is owned and operated by Ricky and Teresa Trammell. Please feel free to call them or Darby K. Scott, manager, for prices or information at 573-8612.

Dr. Gott

Peter Gott, M.D.

Pipe smoking isn't 'safer'

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT: My husband smokes a pipe. Are the health risks as severe as with cigarette smoke?

DEAR READER: I was waiting for this one!

As a pipe smoker, I have to confine my tobacco consumption to one room of the house. My wife and young son are so bothered by the fumes that they have exiled me. However, their concerns are real. Tobacco smoke in any form is hazardous to health, although the few studies done on the subject appear to indict cigarettes as being more harmful than pipes.

To my knowledge, no one has extensively studied the effects of passive pipe-smoke on bystanders. Yet, extrapolating from present data, I have concluded that the potential effects are probably as great as those from cigars and cigarettes.

I am not hypocritical enough to urge your husband to discontinue his pipe, while I sit here happily puffing away. Nevertheless, he should be aware that his habit (depending on the number of pipefuls and whether he inhales) is associated with cancer of the mouth, lips and tongue (at least), with cancer of the lung and pancreas (maybe) and with heart attack (perhaps). Equally important, he should be considerate of those around him who may be bothered (or actually put at risk) by his pipe smoke.

Having said that, I will now extinguish my pipe, open the window, turn on the fan, clear the room of haze and go to bed.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I left my home country 20 years ago, and, as a consequence, my marriage was delayed. I'm going home soon to be married, but am worried because my knowledge of sex is very limited. I have masturbated since leaving home, and suspect I have a definite problem with premature ejaculation. What can you suggest?

DEAR READER: See your family doctor or a urologist. Sexual information would definitely help you in preparation for your marriage. You also might find that one of the many reputable sex manuals available in bookstores and libraries would be handy.

Many men, especially adolescents, mistakenly believe that good sexual technique is natural. This is not so. Like any skill, sex requires practice and, as you mention, solid information. Because you are inexperienced, I think that you should start your new sex life by becoming fully informed about the anatomy and physiology of the sex act. This, in addition to a warm and considerate partner, should relieve much of your anxiety. A knowledgeable doctor would provide a good resource and be able to answer your questions about sexual timing and appropriate sexual behavior.

Addison duo wins kissing contest
ADDISON, Texas (AP) — Peter and Maryellen Polichetti scared off the competition and quickly won this year's Valentine's Day kiss-a-thon in less than five hours.
 The couple from nearby Lewisville, also won last year's contest, but it took 58½ hours.
 Their most serious challengers for this year's title had to leave early to relieve a babysitter.
 Nine of the 14 couples who registered for the Great Dallas Kiss-Off, a Valentine's Day celebration that was to raise funds for the American Heart Association, decided not to compete after learning that the reigning champs had taken a week's vacation to compete.
 The contest began at 9 p.m. Saturday at the Harvey Hotel in this Dallas suburb and ended at 1:30 a.m. Sunday.
 "I couldn't believe that it would end so quickly," Peter Polichetti,

CALGARY, Alberta (AP) — Now more than ever, speed skater Dan Jansen is looking for a bright bit of gold to relieve the darkness.

Wedding knot tied in pool

LONGVIEW, Texas (AP) — Joe Smith decided to take the plunge literally, marrying Kathy Williams in an underwater ceremony on Valentine's Day.

Smith, 28, wore a tuxedo and his bride wore a wedding dress as they dived through a layer of balloons floating on the indoor heated swimming pool at The Aquatic Center.

"I know they think we're crazy, but this is special," Ms. Williams, 27, explained after the ceremony conducted by the Rev. Wayne Gooden.

The couple swam into a 3½-by-7-foot plastic bubble weighted down with 3 tons of railroad track. Smith's mask came off, but he said, "Everything turned out fine."

On Sunday morning, Jane Jansen Beres died after a year-long battle with leukemia. Eight hours later, her youngest brother went onto the ice determined to hang an Olympic medal on her memory. Instead, there was a false start, and then a fall.

But Thursday is another day, another race, another chance to skate for Jane, to win for Jane.

"It's very important," Jansen said of the upcoming 1,000-meter event. "Once again, my family wants me to just go on now, and I know Jane would have wanted that."

The world champion in the 500-meter sprint started Sunday's race too fast, jumping the gun, and ended it far too soon, losing an edge swinging into the first turn. He slipped onto his left side, fought to get up, slipped again and slid across the ice, clipping the other skater and slamming into the mats along the wall.

"Maybe it just wasn't meant to be," Jansen said.

Bouncing up, he threw his arms into the air in disbelief, slapped his thighs in disgust and doubled over, his head in his hands.

"As soon as he fell, my heart sank," said Erik Henriksen, the U.S. team captain. "I'm not used to seeing so many bad things happen in a short period of time—at a time that's supposed to be as wonderful as the Olympics."

At a meeting Sunday morning, the team dedicated its Winter Games effort to Dan and Jane, and Coach Mike Crowe said that seemed to lift Jansen's spirits.

Funeral services were scheduled for Saturday, two days after his last race. There never was any question he would compete.

"I'd always planned on staying and skating because that's what Jane would have wanted," Dan said.

"It was up to Dan," said Jansen's father, Harry, who went home Saturday to West Allis, Wis., near Milwaukee, when Jane's condition worsened. "He was told he wasn't doing it for us. If he was skating, he was doing it for Jane and for himself."

Although Jane was unable to make the trip to Calgary, she had planned to watch the race on television, and ABC had arranged to broadcast her reaction. At the last Winter Games at Sarajevo, Yugoslavia, Jansen finished fourth in the 500-meter, just .16 seconds from the bronze medal.

"He's always said he was dedicating his season to her," their father said. "He felt sometimes he should have been here with her but she said, 'No way.' She was very proud of him. She wanted him to go for it."

The nine Jansen children were always close, especially Jane, the youngest of the five sisters at 27, and Dan, at 22 the baby of the family.

Man said jailed after issuing threat

ARLINGTON, Texas (AP) — A man who held police at a standoff for hours by threatening to blow himself up in a lounge was charged with possession of a hoax bomb and making terroristic threats, authorities said.

John James Allgood, 33, of Arlington, was in custody in the Tarrant County Jail Sunday in lieu of $3,000 bond, officials said.

Investigators said the man surrendered four hours after he walked into the Plaza Lounge Saturday, threatening to blow himself up with six sticks of dynamite he said were strapped to his body.

A fake explosive device was found later, authorities said.

"He's been a customer here for about five months. He always called me 'Mom,'" said lounge owner Iris Massey.

Bartender Ina Silloway said a man ordered a 12-pack of beer to go at about 8 p.m. and then gave her a Valentine's greeting card with a message written on it.

The bidding guides the play

West's takeout double helped North, whose hand was difficult to describe after his initial pass. By redoubling first, then raising hearts, he showed slightly more than 10 support points. South stretched when he invited game, but the final contract was good. Unfortunately declarer did not take full advantage of the information he had from the bidding.

After winning dummy's ace of clubs, declarer played a low diamond. West took the ace and continued clubs. South won the king, ruffed a club and then played a spade. West won the king and played another spade, won by dummy's queen. Declarer now played the nine of hearts. East played low and South went right up with the jack. When West showed out, it now became impossible for South to avoid the loss of two trump tricks.

Declarer should assume that West does not have more than four spades. (With five cards in the suit, he would have overcalled one spade.) If the assumption is correct, South is safe for his contract if he simply leads the heart queen from dummy instead of leading the nine of hearts and putting up his jack. Although East can win the heart ace and exit with a diamond, declarer can ruff, ruff his low spade with the trump nine and play a low heart from dummy to finesse against the 10-spot in the East hand.

Westerners battle in Odessa

ODESSA -- Western Texas College's Westerners head for Odessa tonight where they take on the highly-touted Wranglers at 8 p.m.

Odessa, 25-3, leads the Western Junior College Athletic Conference with a 12-1 record. The Wranglers suffered their first WJCAC loss last week to South Plains.

Western takes records of 7-19 overall and 4-7 into the contest. The Westerners need a victory to remain in contention for the Region V Tournament, which accepts the conference's top four teams. Western is currently tied for fifth in terms of losses, but is three games out of fourth place.

To defeat 'OC, Western will have to stop Larry Johnson, a 6-6 freshman who is projected as a future NBA player. Johnson is fourth in scoring in the conference with a 22 point average, leads in rebounds with a 17.8

figure, leads in steals with 94, is third in blocks with 52, and seventh in assists with a 4.2 per-game average. He is also among the top five shooters in the WJCAC, hitting 626 from the field and 808 from the free throw line.

Riley Smith (16.3 points, 10.2 rebounds) and Rodney Samuel (12.2 points) and Troy Bell (8.3 rebounds) are other top players for the Wranglers.

Western boasts WJCAC scoring leader Darrell Nelson, a 6-4 sophomore who averages 29.6 points a game. He also pulls down 8.6 boards, dishes out 3.2 assists, and has over 80 steals for the season.

Also highlighting the Westerner game are Bobby Spear (15.3 points, 7.8 rebounds), Melvin Thompson (14.1 points) and Chris Jackson (6.7 points).

In other WJCAC men's action this evening, Howard (11-16, 6-7) is at Midland (18-6, 7-4), South Plains (19-6, 8-3) is at Clarendon (9-13, 3-8) and Frank Phillips (11-13, 2-10) takes on New Mexico Military Institute (9-18, 1-11) in Roswell, N.M.

Tonight's women's game pits South Plains (16-8, 6-3) at Clarendon (16-7, 5-3).

SMU stuns Razorbacks, 73-63 to lock SWC standings again

by The Associated Press
Despite Southern Methodist's road victory against Arkansas, tying the schools at first place in the Southwest Conference, SMU Coach Dave Bliss is not getting overconfident.

"We're not a first-place team yet," said Bliss. "We still play ugly at times. However, we're just thrilled to beat Arkansas in Fayetteville. That's something our players can always remember."

Bliss realizes what evil can befall league leaders. The 1988 Southwest Conference basketball season will be known as the championship nobody wanted.

First, Texas A&M took the lead, then faded.

Southern Methodist then charged to the front and yielded to Arkansas in a blowout to Baylor in Waco.

Coughing on the rarified atmosphere of first place, the Razorbacks lost their first game in Fayetteville this year. SMU pulled off a 73-63 victory to gain a first-place tie with the Razorbacks, the preseason favorites.

SMU had blown a 22-point lead to lose to Arkansas in Dallas in January.

"We're set up for a wild finish to the race now," said Bliss. SMU and Arkansas each own 8-3 league ledgers.

It was only SMU's second victory in 12 games at Barnhill

Arena. Arkansas had won 11 consecutive games there this season.

"I still think 12-4 will win it or share the title," Arkansas Coach Nolan Richardson said.

In another crucial game on Saturday, Texas Christian beat Rice 73-58 in a game that tied the Frogs for eighth place, with the Owls at 3-8. The ninth-place team does not get to play in the SWC Post-season Classic.

In other games, Houston stopped Texas' five-game winning streak at 62-51 and Baylor got some revenge with a 74-73 double overtime victory in College Station against Texas A&M.

SMU hosts Rice on Wednesday night while Arkansas tries to regain its composure against Texas A&M, which beat the Hogs earlier this year in College Station.

In other games, TCU is at Houston, Texas Tech is at Texas, and Baylor entertains Angelo State in a non-conference game at Waco.

Following 8-3 SMU and Arkansas are 6-4 Houston, 6-5 Texas, 5-5 A&M, 3-7 Texas Tech and 3-8 TCU and Rice.

Baylor's Darryl Middleton's 3-point play with six seconds left gave the Bears their 1-point victory.

A&M's high-scoring guard Darryl Middleton fouled out in regulation play.

"It was a good payback for them beating us in Waco," Middleton said.

Center Rolando Ferreira had 14 points, 10 rebounds and four blocked shots.

"That was his best game of the season," said Houston Coach Pat Foster. "He was as aggressive as we've ever see him."

TCU's Rod Jacques had a game-high 25 points in the Frogs' important victory.

"I was worried about the game," said TCU Coach Moe Iba. "We beat Baylor and I was scared we would come out satisfied with what we've done."

Ira's ladies accept role of 'underdog'

Coach Steve Howard knows his Lady Bulldogs will be underdogs when they play Roby in a bi-district basketball playoff game here Tuesday, but he isn't giving up yet.

"We've played them three times and scrimmaged them once. They have a fine, tough team. I hope we can make it an upset. We've improved a lot. We won some ballgames and we've been playing better since we found out we could win," said the first-year Ira coach, whose team takes on Roby at 5 p.m. Tuesday in Scurry County Coliseum.

Tickets for the night's fare - which also includes Class A games at 6:30 p.m. and 8 p.m. - are $2 for adults and $1 for students.

The Lady Bulldogs started slowly this season but won six straight games to sweep the District 17-A championship. They are 7-15 for the season after dropping a 52-39 decision to Trent in a practice game last weekend.

Probable starters for Ira include 5-8 senior Dana Pennington, who leads the team with an 18-point average; juniors Michelle Holmes and Dana Gunset, sophomore Cinimin Carney and freshman Elisha Garner.

Holmes averages 8 points and 5 assists, Gunset 17 points, Carney 5 points and Garner 15 points.

18	Georgetown	16-6	194	18
19	Wyoming	18-5	170	18
20	Loyola, Calif.	20-3	117	18

Top players off the bench are expected to be freshman Amy Shoultz and sophomores Sherry Goswick and Stephanie Weber.

Roby comes into the contest with a 19-10 record.

At 6:30 p.m. on Tuesday, Jayton and Aspermont boys clash in a District 18A matchup at the coliseum to determine playoff rights.

At 8 p.m., the Jayton's Lady Jays clash with the Loraine Lady Bulldogs in a girl's bi-district game. Jayton is the District 18A winner; Loraine was runnerup in 17A.

Tragedy overwhelms hopeful American at Winter Games

CALGARY, Alberta (AP) - It was a day of elegance on the ice, poetry on the slopes and deep, painful sadness for an American who tried too hard.

Frigid, 98 mph winds knocked out the prestigious downhill on the first full day of competition at the Winter Olympics on Sunday, but fans were treated to several shimmering performances before disaster struck in the evening.

They saw the clean, sweet style of the top-seeded Swedish hockey team and the soaring grace of "Flying Finn" Matti Nykanen in the ski jump. They saw a young Soviet student, Vida Ventsene, win the first gold medal of the Games in the women's 10-kilometer cross-country ski race and ruin the comeback of Finland's 1984 triple gold medalist, Marja-Liisa Kirvesniemi.

Then they gathered at the new speed skating arena, hoping to see a world record fall, and got what they wanted, a 36.45-second sprint by East German Jens-Uwe Mey.

What they also saw, however, was a tragedy played out on an Olympian stage, death mingled with defeat for a young man who had been favored to win.

Lewis gives good report after Tiger's scrimmage

MIDLAND -- Coach Albert Lewis took his Snyder Tiger baseball team to scrimmage Midland Lee here last Saturday and left with positive feelings.

"Overall, I was impressed with our hitting and our defense," said Coach Lewis, whose Tigers led 10-7 before giving up four runs in the bottom of the seventh inning.

Snyder came up with 10 hits, led by David Martinez's three-hit, five-RBI effort which included two doubles. Tommy Lane rapped a triple, Bert Otto a double and Tracy Odom was two-for-five.

Lee Fletcher pitched three innings of solid ball before Midland Lee began to connect. He went for four innings and allowed three runs on two hits. Martinez followed and allowed four runs on five hits. Lane started the seventh to allow three runs on a hit and two walks. Otto finished, allowing the final run on one hit and an error.

Lewis also praised the efforts of catcher Odom in his first effort of the season, but criticized Snyder's baserunning.

"We made a lot of mistakes on the basepaths that cost us. But, those are mental errors we can correct," he said.

The Tigers scrimmage in Plainview at 4:30 p.m. Thursday.

Ira boys top Westbrook

HIGHLAND -- Ira's boys clipped Westbrook 63-58 here Friday to earn District 17A's first-place representation rights into the schoolboy basketball playoffs.

Ira and Westbrook had tied with 6-1 district records and used Friday's game to sort out the issue.

The Bulldogs will play either Jayton or Aspermont in bi-district action next week. Jayton and Aspermont are playing Tuesday in Snyder.

Jason Withers scored 17 points to lead Ira over Westbrook. James Sturdivant pitched in 15 and Chuck Barbee added 12 as the Dogs improved to 14-10 for the season.

Tigers play Lake View

SAN ANGELO -- Coach Larry Scott's Snyder Tigers, in the hunt for a District 2-4A basketball playoff spot, play the Chiefs of San Angelo Lake View here Tuesday.

Tipoff is set for 7:30 p.m. in Lake View Gym. A junior varsity contest is scheduled for 6 p.m.

Snyder is 20-8 for the season and 11-3 in district play. Lake View is 9-19 and 3-11.

Borden boys in playoffs

GAIL -- Borden County's Coyotes nipped Klondike in overtime last weekend, 70-69, to earn a bi-district basketball playoff berth.

Will Phinizy scored 14 points while Eddie Rios notched 13, Brian Bond 12 and Kerry Fryar 10 for the Coyotes.

Borden is 14-11 for the season. An upcoming playoff game for the Coyotes is tentative.

Soccer signup continues

Spring soccer registration continues today and Tuesday at Snyder Athletic Center.

Registration is being held from 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. both days. Fee for the first child in a family is $18. Additional children are $16. Any child from age 4 to 14 is welcome to play.

For more information, contact Bobbie Stearmer at (915) 573-0327.

Coyotes play Sanderson

GREENWOOD -- Bill May's Borden County Lady Coyotes will play District 14-A runnerup Sanderson in a bi-district basketball game at 6:30 p.m. today at Midland Greenwood High School Gym. The Coyotes are champions of District 13-A.

Tigers fare well in golf tourney

ODESSA -- Snyder's boys switched sites and trimmed 21 strokes off of their first effort to finish 11th at the Odessa Golf Tournament here Saturday.

The Tigers, who had shot a 361 at Mission Country Club on Friday, put together a 340 Saturday at Odessa Country Club.

"That (Mission) is a hard course," said Coach Mackey Greene. "Overall, for our first effort, this wasn't bad. There were 17 5A teams so the competition was pretty stiff."

Odessa Permian won with a 630, followed by El Paso Hanks with a 634 and Abilene High with a 647. Borger, one of only four 4A teams, took fourth with a 652.

Individually for the Tigers, Wade Hatter shot 79-78 to tie for fourth on the medalist board. Marc McQueen shot 91-84, Mike Trull 93, Ken Meckley 98-96 and Jay Parker 100-94 as all five players improved from Friday to Saturday.

Next action for the team will be this Friday in Big Spring. The boys tee off from the Comanche Trails course at 11 a.m. Second round action will be held Saturday at Big Spring Country Club.

Wadkins wins Hawaiian

HONOLULU, Hawaii (AP) - Lanny Wadkins was where he wanted to be, in the thick of it.

"Sure we play golf for a living. Making money is important.

"But we all want to win golf tournaments. That's what it's all about, getting in the heat," Wadkins said.

Wadkins, given some breathing room by Tom Watson's 4-putt collapse, turned back Richard Zokol's back-nine challenge and scored a one-stroke victory Sunday in the Hawaiian Open.

"That's my 17th (victory in an 18-season career) and I'm proud of it," said Wadkins, a former PGA champion who collected $108,000 from the total purse of $600,000 for his 271 winning total, 17 shots under par.

Wadkins, 38, won it with a second consecutive 6-under-par 66 in wind and occasional showers on the Waiialae Country Club course.

Zokol, the Canadian who led through three rounds, finished one shot back at 271 when his chip for an eagle - that would have tied it - stopped one foot short of the cup on the 18th.

"It was right on line, just a little short," said Zokol, who had a 70 and won $64,800 for the best finish of his 7-year career on the American Tour.

Rookie John Huston came on with a 66 and was third at 274. He was followed by Gene Sauers, 69-275, and South African Fulton Allem, 70-276.

Watson, with a final-round 72, finished at 277, six strokes back and tied with Loren Roberts and Bob Eastwood. Roberts had a 73 and Eastwood shot a 66.

Obituaries

Murtis Thomas

Services for Murtis Thomas, 88, of Snyder Oaks, longtime Hermleigh resident, are set for 2 p.m. Tuesday at Bell-Cypert-Seale Chapel with the Rev. Rex Reynolds, pastor of First Baptist Church in Hermleigh, officiating. Burial will follow at Pyron Cemetery.

She died at 1:35 a.m. Monday at Snyder Oaks. She was born on Jan. 15, 1900 in Indian Territory.

She was married to T. W. Thomas on Jan. 17, 1943 in Alba. He died on July 3, 1971. She was a nurse and a charter member of the LVN licensing program.

She is survived by three daughters, Billie Ruppe of Midland, Odeatha Anderson of Hermleigh and Chokeetah Tulley of Dallas; six grandchildren; and eight great-grandchildren; and one great-great-grandchild; and one sister, Georgia Wood of Hermleigh.

Jewel Burrus

COLORADO CITY--Services were held at 3:30 p.m. Sunday at the Kiker-Seal Funeral Home Chapel for Jewel H. Burrus, 83, who died Friday in a Colorado City hospital. Burial followed in the Colorado City Cemetery.

She was the sister of Ruby McClain of Snyder and Cecil Hall of Hermleigh. Other survivors include a son, Don Burrus of Colorado City; five nephews; and seven nieces.

Born in Whitehouse, she moved to Colorado City in 1917. She and her late husband, Thomas E.

Burrus, owned and operated a grocery store in Colorado City. She was also a member of the First Baptist Church.

Out-of-stater faces charges

A 24-year-old man was arrested on a variety of charges, including two warrants from Minnesota, after being stopped by an officer at 4:36 p.m. Saturday at 30th St. and College Ave.

He was taken into custody for displaying a fictitious license plate, driving an unregistered vehicle, disregarding a traffic control device and driving with his license suspended.

A subsequent check revealed that he was wanted in Cambridge, Minn., for DWI and not having liability insurance, police said.

A 29-year-old man was arrested for public intoxication at 7:28 p.m. Saturday at Smokey's Disco in the 3400 Block of Ave. M.

Births

Mary Estrada is the mother of a baby girl weighing six pounds nine and one-half ounces born at 1 p.m. Friday in Cogdell Memorial Hospital.

Pope Clement VII excommunicated England's King Henry VIII in 1533 from the Roman Catholic Church.

Leaders may be made more accountable

MOSCOW (AP) — To make government more accountable, top party officials should be elected by all Communist Party members, more than one candidate should run and the balloting should be secret, a Pravda article proposed.

Activists in the Ukraine made the suggestions, which appeared in a front-page article in Sunday's editions of the party's main newspaper, indicating the Communist leadership is seriously considering them.

The article said the issues will be formally taken up at the 19th All-Union Party Conference, a rare gathering of the nation's Communists to be held June 28 in Moscow. Mikhail S. Gorbachev has raised the same issues the article suggested and has said electoral reform will be a key topic at the conference.

Weekend has three accidents

A 1983 Chevrolet Cavalier driven by Stacey Michelle Richardson of 2312 20th St. was in collision with a 1985 Buick Regal driven by Darren Keith McCowen of 4116 Kerrville Ave. at 5:40 p.m. Sunday in the 3500 Block of College Ave.

A 1988 Chevrolet pickup driven by Walter William Nichues of Norton was in collision with a 1986 Plymouth four-door driven by Ruby Schreiner Hart of Box 54, Snyder, at 10:30 a.m. Saturday in the 1700 Block of 25th St.

An unknown vehicle and driver hit a parked 1979 Pontiac owned by Sacarias Garza of 905 27th St. in an incident discovered at 8:30 p.m. Saturday in the 2400 Block of 28th St.

At a plenary meeting of the party's Central Committee in January 1986, the Soviet leader brought up the idea of secret ballots and discussed the possibility of giving party members a choice in voting for top party officials.

Gorbachev also criticized the current system for allowing bureaucrats to remain in party posts for life — regardless of their productivity — and discussed broadening the nomination procedure for government elections.

Some of the suggestions have been adopted experimentally.

In what the government called democratization, "multiple-candidate elections" for local party posts were held in several areas in June. All of the candidates had to be approved by the Communist Party, the only party permitted to field candidates.

In the June experiments, party members in one of every 25 voting districts chose among more than one candidate for local governing councils. Runoff elections had to be held in 59 of the Soviet Union's 52,000 districts.

Fire damages large section

A dumpster fire that was also probably started by fireplace ashes was reported at 1:09 p.m. Saturday in the 2700 Block of 38th St., and firemen also quickly dispensed with a 1:46 p.m. grass fire at Ave. P and 11th St. that was set off by burning trash.

The last call Saturday was at 6:19 p.m. to eight miles north of Snyder off Highway 208, where an abandoned 1952 GMC truck's front seat was found burning, possibly having been set off by a cutting torch, McDowell said.

The action started again at 9:47 a.m. Sunday at Ave. N and Dorsey Ave., where a grass fire in right-of-way that was ignited from a trash barrel took about 30 minutes to put out.

A 3:11 p.m. call to 18 miles southwest of Snyder at Bull Creek occupied fire fighters for two hours after an electric power line pulled loose from a pole and touched off a blaze that burned to the creek on property owned by Red Trevey, the fire chief said.

The last call of the series, at 4:10 p.m. Sunday, sent fire units 18 miles south of Snyder on county right-of-way at Shepperd's Crossing southeast of Ira. This fire was the only one of a suspicious nature, McDowell said.

"There wasn't any apparent source of heat around it, and when it's like that, you assume somebody set it," he said.

The fire took about an hour to bring under control.

Chancellor says he may quit unless current debate ends

VIENNA, Austria (AP) — Chancellor Franz Vranitzky said the controversy over President Kurt Waldheim's wartime conduct is taking up too much of his time as a government leader and he may resign unless the furor subsides soon.

Vranitzky did not ask Waldheim to resign, but the Socialist chancellor said Waldheim's resignation would be "an important signal."

Vranitzky's comments came in a televised interview Sunday and constituted his strongest attack so far on Waldheim in a deepening political crisis dividing this nation of 7.5 million people.

He warned that if the Waldheim affair continues to take up so much of his time "then I would not be able to perform my other tasks and then the question arises if I can ... carry on this (government post)." Asked if he will resign if the controversy does not subside, he told reporters: "That's correct."

Reacting to the comments, Waldheim was quoted in today's editions of the tabloid Kurier as saying he continues to be interested in a "constructive relationship" with the chancellor.

The chancellor runs the government in Austria, while the presidency is a largely ceremonial post. The Socialists are the senior partner in the coalition government with the conservative Austrian People's Party, which backed Waldheim when he won his six-year term as president in 1986.

On Sunday afternoon, 5,000 people demanding Waldheim step down rallied peacefully outside the landmark St. Stephen's Cathedral. About half of them marched to the president's office in the Hofburg Palace.

Prominent intellectuals, artists and actors took part in the protest.

Waldheim served during World War II as a lieutenant in a German army unit that was implicated in Nazi atrocities against Jews and other civilians in the Balkans. Last week, an international panel of six military historians convened by Vranitzky's government issued a condemning 202-page report that says Waldheim knew of the atrocities and did nothing to stop them.

It said it found no evidence that the former U.N. secretary-general had committed war crimes, but it seriously questioned his moral integrity.

Waldheim said the report cleared him of misconduct because knowledge of atrocities did not constitute criminal wrongdoing.

In the hourlong interview, Vranitzky on Sunday attacked Waldheim, saying he "did not deal exactly with the truth." He did not elaborate.

"How does a head of state cope with such a situation, how can he ... regain credibility, since if the Austrians are ... identified with him, then their credibility is also at stake," Vranitzky added.

On Sunday, Kurier published an interview with Waldheim in which the president said he has no plans to resign. "After all the surveys, I am rather convinced that the great majority, which is very often the silent one, wants me to stay on," Waldheim was quoted as saying.

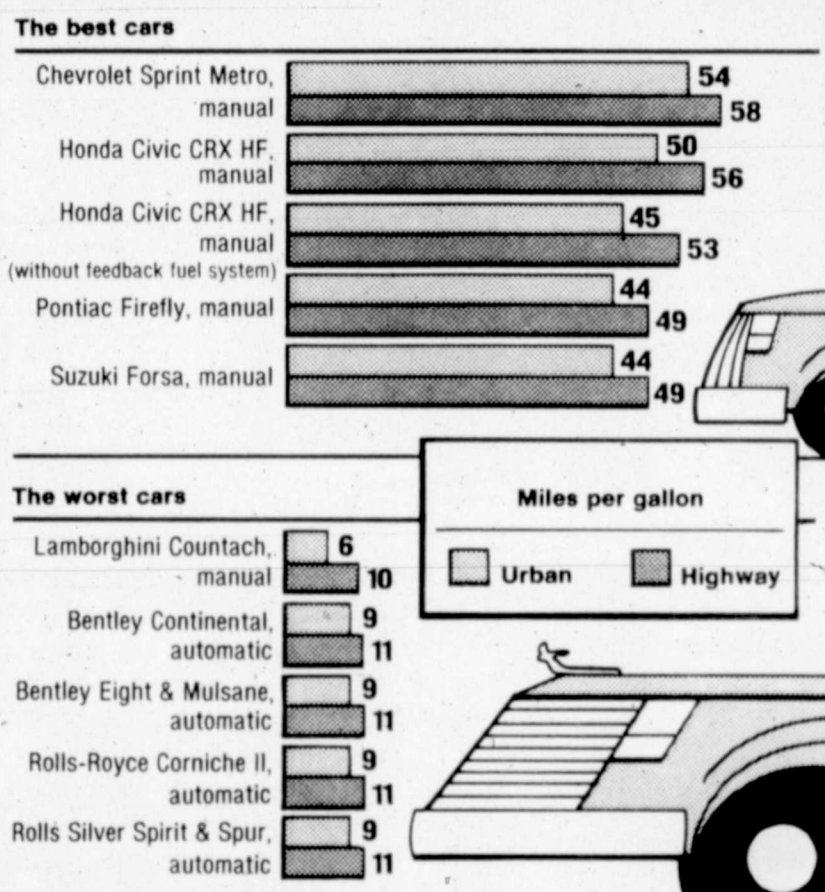

On Saturday, Heinrich Keller, a chief Socialist secretary, said a majority of party members now want Waldheim to resign.

There was no reaction on Sunday from Foreign Minister Alois Mock, who chairs the People's Party, or from any other conservative member of the government.

UIL RESULTS—Hermleigh students placed recently in the UIL meet held in Stamford. Twenty class A, AA and AAA schools participated. Standing is the high school science team which placed third. They are from left, Daniel Ramey, Joe Mireles, Rodney Foster and Ben Smith. Ramey also placed first in 11th grade science and Mireles placed fifth. Rebecca Ramey, seated, finished second in junior high spelling. (SDN Staff Photo)

GAS SAVERS AND GUZZLERS

Source: Environmental Protection Agency, 1987

The 1988 model Chevrolet Sprint and Honda Civic were the most fuel efficient cars tested last fall by the Environmental Protection Agency. The Lamborghini Countach, an Italian import, got 6 miles to the gallon in city driving, the lowest figure ever recorded in the EPA tests.

Man accused of shooting his teenage wife is dead

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — A man accused of shooting his teen-age wife while she was walking home from school carrying Valentine's Day gifts has died from a self-inflicted gunshot wound, officials said today.

Johnny Gallardo, 27, who shot himself once in the temple after shooting his wife twice in the head Friday, died at 4:15 p.m. Sunday at Wilford Hall Air Force Medical Center, said hospital spokesman Tech Sgt. Lowell Cook.

Gallardo's estranged wife, Janie Gallardo, 15, died shortly after 4 p.m. Friday after being shot twice in the head, police said.

The couple had been married since August 1986, but separated since December.

Mrs. Gallardo was carrying a box of Valentine's candy, two carnations and a small stuffed teddy bear when she was killed. Authorities have speculated Gallardo may have thought someone had given it to her at Lowell Middle School. "It appears this is what enraged him. It appears it was jealousy," police homicide detective John Campa said Saturday.

Mrs. Gallardo did not run when her husband approached her, said Lulu Gamboa, 17, who was walking with Mrs. Gallardo.

"Johnny said, 'Janie, where did you get those roses?' but Janie didn't say anything. She just kept walking with her head down," Miss Gamboa said Saturday. "Then he pulled out a gun. I thought he was just playing because he was smiling, but he shot her and we ran."

Gallardo then hesitated before shooting himself, Campa said.

Miss Gamboa said the flowers and candy were given to numerous girls by other male classmates at a party at Lowell Middle School Friday.

Mrs. Gallardo's brother, Santos Arocha, said his sister was allowed to be married at age 13 because she kept running away with Gallardo.

Arocha said she returned to her parents' home in a housing project in late December after repeated abuse and because she wanted to return to school.

Campa said many teen-age girls in housing projects often marry early to get out of their situations.

"The scenario is you have a little girl, half attractive and the parents have a bunch of kids and they're trying to get those kids out and as soon as someone shows some interest in her, they go with them," Campa said.

"At that age it doesn't work out. Very often, those little girls get hooked up with some guy in his 20s and they're very jealous and don't want them looking at other guys," he said.

"But these girls still want to go to school and are still interested in seeing boys and the problem arises there," he said.

Police reports indicate Gallardo assaulted his wife at school in late January and friends said she was attacked later near the same spot she was killed.

Arocha said the family had been unable to get a restraining order against Gallardo after Mrs. Gallardo said she wanted a divorce.

Miss Gamboa said Mrs. Gallardo was lonely.

"She needed a lot of attention and love and she thought she would get it from him, but she didn't," Miss Gamboa said.

Order closing day-care place devastates woman in Austin

AUSTIN (AP) — Toys and books sit idle on playroom shelves at Lou's Day Care, while owner Mary Lou Gardner awaits a trial in six weeks on whether she can re-open the center.

Mrs. Gardner, ordered by a judge to close the facility until the trial, once had a waiting list of parents who wanted her to babysit their children. Now the only children in the house are her own youngsters.

The absence of children she once helped raise has been difficult to face, Mrs. Gardner said.

"It's hard. It just hurts," she said in a Sunday interview with the Austin American-Statesman. "They (the children) each have their own little sounds and personalities."

"I don't see how I will ever recover. Everything I worked for, for eight years, is gone."

A state judge closed the group day home last week after a hearing on allegations by the Texas Department of Human Services that children at the facility had been abused.

presence of the person suspected of causing the emergencies.

One doctor and a clinical psychologist testified they did not believe Mrs. Gardner had abused the children. Other medical personnel said they thought she caused or exaggerated children's symptoms.

Mrs. Gardner and her husband, Paul, said they have never abused their children or any child cared for at the facility.

"What this has done to our family has been to totally devastate us. We have been slandered, abused and harassed," Gardner said.

"Our children have suffered and I've suffered. Never in my wildest dreams could I have sat back and come up with a situation like this (that could happen) to a totally innocent person," he said.

Parents of children cared for at Lou's Day Care staunchly supported Mrs. Gardner throughout the court hearing. They said they would again place their children in Mrs. Gardner's home if a judge would allow her to re-open the facility.

Some parents said they did not believe Mrs. Gardner caused their children's medical emergencies, because some of the same symptoms of breath holding, seizures and choking that she reported also had occurred in their homes.

ner's home in 1982. The boy's parents say Mrs. Gardner had nothing to do with their son's death.

Mention of the death brought tears to Mrs. Gardner's eyes. She said she keeps a framed photograph of the boy in her home and visits his grave.

A state attorney said the state also is investigating whether Mrs. Gardner has abused her own children, but that probe is separate from the attempt to close her day-care facility. State child protective service workers have interviewed her children at school.

The Gardners said they think their children are being harassed because of the fight to keep the facility open.

"It would kill me to have one of my children taken away from me," Mrs. Gardner said tearfully, hugging her 5-year-old daughter, who was sitting on her lap. "That is why they (her children) go to bed every night crying, because they don't know what is going to happen."

Mrs. Gardner said she and her husband are financially strapped by legal costs, and she plans to find a job to help pay the bills. The woman, who operated a center for 12 children under a care for three children because the state has no jurisdiction over such small operations.

But she said she has no plans to do that because she is "a ball of nerves."

XV WINTER OLYMPICS

Calgary '88

XVth Winter Olympics will be longest

By Murray Olderman

CALGARY, Alberta (NEA) — The XVth Winter Olympiad will be the most visible frolic ever on snow and ice.

For 16 days, from the opening ceremonies in McMahon Stadium on Saturday, Feb. 13, through the closing ceremonies in the Olympic Saddledome on Sunday, Feb. 28, television cameras will be trained on the games in Calgary.

The world's best skaters, skiers and jumpers will compete for medals in eight different winter sports — biathlon, bobsled, figure skating, ice hockey, luge, Alpine skiing, Nordic skiing and speedskating. There will also be demonstration sports such as curling, ice dancing and free-style skiing.

Images of the action will be beamed live into millions of TV sets across America for a total of 97.5 hours, 53 of them in prime time. In addition, the telecasts will also reach from North America to the other four continents embraced in the interlocking five-ring symbol of the Olympics.

These Winter Games are three days longer than any previously held since the Olympic movement was enlarged to include cold-weather competition at Chamonix, France, in 1924. And they include three weekends.

For this, the American Broadcasting Co. was willing to ante up $309 million and become the primary financial supporter of the Games for the host city of Calgary, which rises starkly out of the Canadian prairie 60 miles east of the Rocky Mountains.

There is a Wild West flavor to these Winter Olympics. Calgary was a frontier outpost little more than a century ago when the Mounties established a police unit at the confluence of the Bow and Elbow rivers. It bustled briskly from the Gay '90s through the Roaring '20s before settling down as the premier petroleum center in Canada. Now Calgary is an energetic city of 600,000 people, with such trappings of culture as its own symphony.

But there's still a spirit of raw adventure, captured each summer by the famous Calgary Stampede, a glorified rodeo that attracts a million people. And progress can be seen in the clusters of oil-stimulated, glass-enclosed skyscrapers that have transformed its skyline into a northern version of Dallas. Calgary has been called Canada's "Prairie Manhattan."

But it is also an agricultural center (grain and beef) for the vast farmland of the western provinces. And it is the tourist gateway to the nearby Canadian Rockies.

The University of Calgary serves as a hub for the Olympics. Its dormitories have been expanded to become the main village for the international athletes. McMahon Stadium, where the flame will be lit, is adjacent to the campus. It is the home of the Calgary Stampeders of the Canadian Football League.

DOWNTOWN CALGARY is the site of the Olympic Saddledome, where figure skating and hockey competition will be held at the XV Winter Olympics. The "saddle" roof offers clear views and cuts heating and lighting costs.

Right on campus is the new, enclosed speedskating oval the length of two football fields, signaling the first time speedskating events have been held indoors. Elsewhere, the Olympic Saddledome will accommodate the extensive hockey competition, figure skating and the closing ceremonies. The Saddledome, which seats 19,000, is the home of the Calgary Flames of the National Hockey League.

Another venue, the Olympic Park was built on a bluff on the western edge of town, within sight of the Trans-Canada Highway. The park encompasses two ski jumping hills and joint runs for the bobsled and luge races.

Fifty-five miles (90 kilometers) to the southwest, tucked into the spectacular wilderness of the Kananaskis Valley, is Nakiska. There a new ski area was carved (starting in 1982) from the slopes of Mount Allan to hold the Alpine skiing events, which probably have the broadest appeal of all Winter Olympic competition.

Farther west, alongside the Trans-Canada Highway at the gateway to Banff National Park is the Nordic Center at Canmore, where the cross-country events will be staged.

The symbol of the XVth Winter Olympiad is a snowflake designed from five sets of double C's — a little c for Calgary, a big C for Canada. The official mascots for the Games are a couple of doll bears, Howdy and Hidy, the latter the first female mascot ever designated.

This will be the fourth Winter Olympics held in the North America. The first three were at Lake Placid, N.Y., in 1932, Squaw Valley, Calif., in 1960 and Lake Placid again in 1980.

The Winter Games often have created instant U.S. heroes — starting with Irving Jaffee, the speedskating champion who came off the streets of New York in 1932, and coming down to Eric Heiden, the thick-thighed skating sprinter from Wisconsin who electrified Lake Placid in 1980.

The first American to win a gold medal was Charles Jewtraw, winner of the 500-meter speedskating in 1924. Alpine skiing was added to the Olympic program after World War II. The first national U.S. telecast of the Games in 1960 by CBS from Squaw Valley, Calif., touched off the great skiing boom in this country.

"The most thrilling moment for America in winter sports was the U.S. hockey team's triumph for the gold medal over the heavily favored Russians eight years ago."

"Do you believe in miracles?" screamed Al Michaels into the ABC microphone at the conclusion of that game.

There should be more of them at Calgary.

Garlic festival sniffs at critics

COVINGTON, Ky. (AP) — They whetted their appetites with garlic soup, munched on whole-baked garlic bulbs, savored the fresh garlic sausage, and topped it off with ice cream flecked with minced garlic.

As far as revelers at a weekend Garlic Fest were concerned, the menu was tastefully done. "You all have such a nice aroma to you," restaurateur Mick Noll told the crowd that gathered at his Covington Haus for closing ceremonies Saturday night, highlighted by a fourth-annual Miss Garlic competition.

No one disagreed. "I don't think I'd be able to live without garlic. I have it for breakfast, lunch and dinner," said Eileen Knarr, 73, of Latonia, who won the Miss Garlic crown.

Presidential hopefuls to debate in Texas

DALLAS (AP) — Presidential candidates making their southern swing will address issues important to Texans in debates this week, organizers say.

The Texas Debates will be held Thursday and Friday at Southern Methodist University, weeks away from the March 8 Super Tuesday southern regional primary.

The debates, coming on the heels of Tuesday's New Hampshire primary, will draw national attention to the regional primary of 14 Southern and border states in which a third of both parties' delegates will be picked.

"The Texas Debates offer a chance to focus more closely on the remaining candidates and on the issues, especially the economic ones that are critical today in the Southwest," said Burl Osborne, president and editor of The Dallas Morning News.

Sponsors include The News, KERA-TV, and Texas Monthly magazine.

The candidates also will be addressing a national audience.

Public Broadcasting Service will offer the forums nationally, and most of the PBS stations in the country's top 20 markets have agreed to air the debates.

The debates may be pivotal in the presidential race in the South, based on candidates' views on energy, immigration, education, banking and other regional issues, said Richard J. Meyer, president and general manager of KERA.

Democratic presidential hopefuls will debate at 8 p.m. Thursday and the Republicans at 8 p.m. Friday.

The Democratic candidates are former Arizona Gov. Bruce Babbitt, Massachusetts Gov. Mike Dukakis, Missouri Rep. Dick Gephardt, Tennessee Sen. Albert Gore Jr., former Colorado

Sen. Gary Hart, the Rev. Jesse Jackson and Illinois Sen. Paul Simon.

The Republicans are Vice President George Bush, Kansas Sen. Bob Dole, former Delaware Gov. Pete du Pont, New York Rep. Jack Kemp, and Pat Robertson, a former religious broadcaster.

Mike Quinn, promotion manager for Texas Monthly, said the regional primary is an important part of the nominating process. "The issues that are important in Iowa may not have been addressed properly or thoroughly in other forums," he said.

Insurance exploitation growing problem

DALLAS (AP) — Insurance agents who sold an 84-year-old woman more than $10,000 worth in policies in a 13-month period are an example of a growing problem, industry officials said.

"They just preyed on her," said Betty Andrews, the daughter of Rubye Davis. "She is senile. She didn't know what she was doing."

In the case, which is under investigation by the State Board of Insurance, Mrs. Davis was sold 15 insurance policies, four Medicare supplement policies, three hospitalization, three nursing care, two life insurance, two cancer and one surgery policy, at a cost of $10,489.

A 1987 congressional report shows that 25 percent of the $12 billion spent by the elderly for health insurance is wasted on unnecessary or fraudulent policies. And authorities say the Rubye Davis case is not extraordinary.

Texas Insurance Commissioner Doyce Lee said the exploitation of the elderly has always been a problem, but it has grown worse in recent years.

Mrs. Andrews said that she felt so helpless in trying to protect her mother that she went to court last year and had her declared mentally incompetent. Any checks now have to be cosigned by Mrs. Andrews.

"There wasn't any other way," she told the Dallas Morning News. "They would have turned her into a bag lady."

Lee acknowledges that his agency is part of the problem.

The insurance board has a backlog of about 2,000 cases against agents accused of fraud or other serious violations of state insurance law. Hundreds of cases involve the elderly, and some of the cases are years old. While the insurance board tries to catch up with its work, the accused agents are free to continue their business.

"Because of our lack of staff, we haven't taken as swift action against agents as we should," Lee said. "I won't apologize. We've done the best we can."

Lawyers and support staff are being hired to help tackle cases, Lee says, but it will be at least a year before the backlog reaches a reasonable level.

James Quiggle, spokesman for the National Association of Professional Insurance Agents, said agents who prey on the elderly are a clear minority of the field. But, "let's face it, there are problems out there," said Quiggle.

A common practice of these agents is called "twisting." The agent persuades a senior citizen to drop a satisfactory health insurance policy and sign on with another company. The agent's commission on a new policy generally runs at 60 percent or more, while the commission on a renewal may be only 5 percent.

Another tactic is "clean-sheeting." The agent fills out a senior citizen's application for a health insurance policy, but omits on the application the fact that the customer has diabetes, for instance.

By giving the customer a false but clean health record, the agent increases the chances that the application will be accepted by the insurance company — and that the agent will get a commission. But if the policyholder is hospitalized because of diabetes, the insurance company can refuse to pay because the application was incorrect.

Vice President Aaron Burr mortally wounded former Treasury Secretary Alexander Hamilton in a pistol duel in 1804 near Weehawken, N.J.

Hillside serves area for many years

Hillside Memorial Gardens, located on the Colorado City Highway, has been serving Snyder and the Scurry County area for many years.

Hillside Memorial Gardens is a perpetual care cemetery governed by the State Banking Department. The one price you pay for perpetual care is the only one you ever have to pay. There are no yearly dues necessary for the upkeep of the property.

The staff at Hillside Memorial Gardens is committed to serving your best interests. W.C. and Greg Graves will be glad to help you with any of your pre-need planning. Everyone plans for the future in one way or another whether with savings or insurance to take care of something that might happen. Why not prepare for the inevitable? Making the decision to purchase a Family Memorial Estate plan now insures that the decision is made together and one is not left to make it alone. Statistics show that these decisions are made 67 percent of the time by widows and children and 33 percent of the time by husbands. The purchase of a Family Memorial Estate plan can also be a savings plan because the deed is the equivalent of a paid up insurance policy.

Lots at Hillside Memorial Gardens are reasonably priced and they offer a Pre-Need Financial Plan of only 20 percent down and small monthly payments without interest or carrying charges. If the only time you have is on the weekends, Greg can be contacted at 573-5864 and he will be glad to help you anytime.

Underground economics said growing

WASHINGTON (AP) — Bolivian cocaine processors, Soviet vodka distillers and thousands of New York cabdrivers are all part of a growing underground world economy that a new study says is fouling up statistics as well as producing huge profits.

"Under the table and off the books, millions of persons worldwide are engaged in jobs that evade the relevant tax and labor laws — frequently with an official scowl, but a tacit wink, from their governments," says the report released today by Johns Hopkins University.

Titled "The Informal Economy: Studies in Advanced and Less Developed Countries," it includes essays by 19 authors from Italy, Spain, Uruguay and Bolivia as well as the United States.

The editors question whether completely unregulated business of this kind helps poor countries.

"Negative consequences of the process are endured not only by workers — who must cope with low wages, insecure jobs and lack of occupational safeguards — but also by entire industries," they say.

They maintain that the "true engine" of economic growth is still the big company, and that what they call backward labor arrangements cut the incentive to develop new technology.
