General strike is called in Panama

Ousted president Delvalle remains in hiding

PANAMA CITY, Panama (AP) — A general strike started today to demand the resignation of Gen. Manuel Antonio Noriega but government intimidation, censorship and the fact that today is payday apparently hurt its effectiveness.

The opposition asked the nation's businesses and industries to close today and remain shut indefinitely.

Deposed President Eric Arturo Delvalle remained in hiding, defying Noriega, who ousted Delvalle and ordered him out of the country.

Buses, by far the main mode of public transportation, circulated this morning like any other morning. Most were full, taking people to work.

About two-thirds of the stores were open at a commercial center of more than 100 enterprises on Central Avenue in Panama City.

Many Panamanian banks were closed by the strike, but international banks were open.

Several people consulted by The Associated Press as they stepped from buses on their way to work mentioned intimidation as a reason for not observing the strike.

"There's fear," said a middle-aged man, a bank employee. "We lack unity to confront these people who have all the arms and are disposed to use them."

"The people don't have means to resist," said a woman, a domestic employee, walking with him. "One has to live as they (the armed forces) say."

The two also noted that today, being the last day of the month, is payday for many Panamanians.

Police Chief Col. Leonidas Macias told journalists it would be understandable if hungry people looted a closed supermarket, and his forces would not try to prevent them.

The strike call was supported by the industrial workers' union of Panama, and its effectiveness appeared to be greater in industry than in commerce. Most factories in Panama City's industrial zone were closed.

Roberto Brenes, a leader of the National Civic Crusade, predicted Sunday that the strike would do well in manufacturing and construction, but would be less effective in the service industries.

Opposition figures also said they expected the strike to pick up in several days. They said government censorship had slowed word of the strike.

Indeed, La Prensa, the leading opposition paper, has been closed by troops and the newspaper building surrounded by city police.

Delvalle's relatives would not disclose his whereabouts but they said he was in a "safe and secure place" in Panama, in "good spirits" and determined to regain his job.

Depositions slated in prison lawsuits effective mid-week

KERRVILLE — District Judge Joe Evins of Edinburg, named to hear five lawsuits filed in Snyder's 132nd District Court opposing the construction of a Texas Department of Corrections prison in Scurry County, directed attorneys involved in the suits to schedule depositions related to the case beginning Wednesday.

In addition, Evins indicated he is leaning toward consolidating all of the legal filings into a single lawsuit.

The depositions, legally recorded testimony which may be used as evidence in court, will be taken in Snyder.

Evins ordered the pre-trial activity during an informal docket control conference here. Kerrville was selected as an approximate midway point between Edinburg, the judge's home court, and Snyder.

Monday's hearing, conducted in the Kerr County commissioner's courtroom, lasted less than two hours and was concluded around 11:30 a.m.

Evins ordered the depositions should continue into Saturday "if necessary."

Wednesday will be used for depositions from the plaintiffs and, beginning Thursday, statements will be recorded from defendants.

Those scheduled to offer testimony among the defendants include Bill Moss, chamber manager; John Gayle, city manager; Tom Hochwalt, hospital administrator; Bobby Goodwin, county judge; and "perhaps others."

The judge instructed attorneys to call him by Friday to update him on the progress of the depositions. He indicated he would like to schedule a pre-trial date in Snyder as soon as possible.

Also Monday, Evins commented that unless plaintiff's attorneys could "show him something novel," he was "seriously considering" con-

Tickets go on sale for 'The Dresser'

"The Dresser" will open a three-night run at Western Texas College Friday with additional performances on Saturday and Monday. Curtain time will be 8 o'clock nightly.

Tickets are $5 for adults and $3 for students. These may be reserved by calling the box office at 573-8511, ext. 234.

"The Dresser" is set in London during World War II. "Sir," the last of a passing breed of English actor-managers, is spurred by his dedicated dresser to once again perform the demanding role of King Lear.

Sir leaves the hospital where he has been recovering from exhaustion to give the performance. As the curtain goes down, the old trooper dies, leaving the company, and in particular, his dresser, to cope with their own loneliness.

Jeff Milburn of Brownfield will appear as the dresser. In the role of Sir is Dave Harveson of Fort Worth.

Others in the cast include Jari Todd of Sonora, Jamie Cofer of Snyder, Shauna Gibson of Vernon, David Armendariz of Rotan, Jim Miller and Mike Carmichael of Lubbock, Bret Dillon of Leedey, Okla., and Tony Lopez of Eldorado.

The play is under the direction of Jim Rambo.

TO OPEN FRIDAY — "The Dresser," the Western Texas College drama department production opening Friday, is the story of "Sir," an English actor-manager who is spurred by his dedicated dresser to once again perform the demanding role of King Lear. In the role of "Sir" is Dave Harveson of Fort Worth and, as his dresser, Jeff Milburn of Brownfield. (SDN Staff Photo)

SOS signup Tuesday starts 9-week classes

Students at Western Texas College will be able to earn three hours credit in approximately a nine-week period during WTC's Spring Opportunity Session (SOS), with both registration and the first day of classes scheduled Tuesday.

Registration will continue through Friday. Those registering should first go to the student services office in the administration building.

The class period will run from Tuesday through May 13.

Courses on the SOS schedule are Freehand Drawing (Art 132), Ceramics (Art 234 and Art 239), Texas History (History 233), Women's Singing Ensemble (Music 132) and Keyboarding (Business 113).

Dr. Franklin Pruitt, who will be teaching the Texas History course, notes its emphasis will be on early Texas history with special concentration on the Anglo-American settlement of Texas, the Texas Revolution and the period of the Republic.

All three art classes will be taught by Mike Thornton. Jane Womack will instruct the music course and Tammy Wesson will teach the business class.

Art 132 will meet from 6 until 10 p.m. on Thursday; Art 234 and 239 from 6-10 p.m. on Tuesdays; Texas History from 6-10 p.m. on Tuesdays; and keyboarding from 6:30-9:30 p.m. on Mondays. The singing group will meet from 6:30-9:30 p.m. on Mondays.

Additional information about the SOS can be obtained by contacting Dan Dever, registrar; Dr. Duane Hood, dean of student services; or Bettie McQueen, dean of instruction.

Grass fires are frequent

As dry conditions continue in Scurry County, Snyder firemen were again busy during the weekend with a rash of grass fire and grass fire-related calls.

A 4:56 p.m. Saturday grass fire nine miles north of the city off Polar Rd. began under some electric lines, although fire officials said they were uncertain if the lines were related.

Assisted by volunteers from Fluvanna and a commissioner Pct. 2 roadgrader, the firemen were at the scene for 2½ hours, during which time about 50 acres were burned on property owned by W.F. West.

An unauthorized burn along a fence line near the 2300 Block of Merrill Ave. was put out in 30 minutes beginning at 1:10 p.m. following a citizen's complaint.

Noting that a city permit is required. See FIRES, page 11

Soloists, ensembles earn first divisions

Eight Snyder High School band students and a seven-piece brass ensemble earned first division ratings in UIL competition conducted during the weekend.

In addition, 24 junior high band students won solo division honors as well as five ensemble groups.

The students were competing as part of solo and ensemble competition held on the campus of Abilene Christian University.

SHS band members winning first division ratings for solo performances included Amy Armstrong, flute; Jeff Adams, trumpet; Stacie Cline, cornet; James Beauchamp, trombone; Tom Galyean, trombone; Thad Myers, trombone; Michael Smith, euphonium; and Sam Shifflett, timpani.

In addition, a first division was won by the seven-member brass ensemble. Its players were comprised of Jeff Adams, Jay Burns, Ricky Clark, Tom Galyean, Dennis Gulseth, Michael Smith and David Trevey.

Snyder Junior High band members winning in solo divisions included Sherrie Buchanan, alto saxophone; Brian Fowler, tenor saxophone; Chris Palacios, alto saxophone; Stephanie Arnold, flute; Shara Carlton, flute; Tonya Lelek, flute; Mindy Robertson, flute; Julie Zeck, flute; Bobby Clinkinbeard, cornet; Benjamin Felan, cornet; Scott Sears, cornet; Jennifer Hill, clarinet; Robert Patterson, clarinet; Lisa Sandoval, clarinet; Lee Ann Owens, bass clarinet; Angel Scarber, clarinet; Stephanie Morgan, clarinet; David Cozart, french horn; Melanie Carpenter, trombone; Amy Hodges, trombone;

In Brief

Delta lawsuit

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — A trial to determine who is legally responsible in the crash of Delta Flight 191 that claimed 137 lives begins this week.

The airline has filed a lawsuit against the Federal Aviation Administration and the National Weather Service, claiming that air traffic controllers and weather forecasters had evidence of a low-altitude thunderstorm in the landing path of the flight but failed to warn the jetliner's crew.

The judge also will determine Delta's liability in the crash at Dallas-Fort Worth International Airport that killed 137 and injured 25.

Rail system referendum damaged

DALLAS (AP) — Revelations of secret negotiations between officials of the city, Southland Corp. and Dallas Area Rapid Transit could jeopardize ongoing plans to build a rail line in the city, the Dallas Morning News reported today.

In a copyright story, the newspaper said the three groups discussed swapping millions of Southland's dollars for a rail station on Southland property and City Council approval of a controversial zoning request made by the parent company of 7-11 convenience stores.

"This is absolutely disgraceful," said Mayor Annette Strauss. "I can't believe it. The kind of publicity that will be generated from this kind of thing will kill that (DART) rail referendum. I just hope they have answers for the good of us all."

The deal fell apart after neighborhood activists learned of the negotiations and threatened to torpedo DART's upcoming referendum for rail-construction funds.

Cityplace, DART and city officials acknowledge their negotiations, but say a final deal never would have been approved without public hearings.

Southland is seeking rezoning of its Cityplace development which would boost profits when the land is resold to developers.

Southland previously submitted a zoning request that linked the zoning, rail station and the money, but city officials say they rejected it as illegal "contract zoning" — a swap of money for building rights.

Hugh G. Robinson, president of Cityplace Development Corp. which is a Southland subsidiary, said all sides stood to gain from the discussions.

"This was a win-win-win situation for all of us when we started," he said. "The only people who judged themselves to be losers are the Oak Lawn folks and they are winners too. They just don't know it."

Southland's in-town Cityplace development, billed as a city within a city, is in the Oak Lawn neighborhood in Dallas. Rezoning and a DART rail station are crucial to Southland's plans for dense, high-rise construction of Cityplace.

But the second phase of Cityplace construction has angered local residents who fear commercialization of the area and who argue that building a rail station in the middle of Southland's project would almost exclusively benefit a private developer, while failing to serve low income residents.

Records indicate DART would have received at least $24 million for the $34 million Cityplace subway station through the plan devised in the negotiations. The city hoped to win $21 million in right-of-way donations, $46 million in road improvements and $48 million in annual property tax receipts on the whole project.

City Manager Richard Knight said he will investigate his planning staff.

Michael S. Levinson, DART's assistant executive director of real estate and development, said he never intended to recommend that DART approve the agreement. But he did send a copy of the proposal to city hall.

If all the checkers sold in 1987 alone by just one manufacturer could be stacked atop one another, they would make a tower 56 miles high, or more than 10 times taller than Mount Everest.

Dear Abby

Support for Honeybees Takes Sting Out of Mistaken Identity

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1988 by Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: When "Wendy" told of having been stung by a bee that had gotten into her soft drink can while she was golfing, you thanked her for the warning about this hazard.

Abby, are you sure the insect was a bee? I am very doubtful. At innumerable picnics, I have been harassed by yellow jackets. They were in my soft drink bottle, on my hamburger, buzzing around my head and stinging my ankles. Occasionally other wasps have entered the game, but never have I seen a honeybee behave this way. Honeybees will sting in defense of their hives, or to protect themselves if you grab them. But they do not invade soft drink cans or attack picnickers.

The nasty-tempered yellow jacket, which is about the same size as a honeybee, is very often mistaken for the bee! It attacks without provocation and nests around golf courses, and gravitates toward food and beverages. It's given the useful honeybee a bad reputation. Many a hive of honeybees has been destroyed; many a beekeeper has been forced to quit because neighbors feared "bees," when the real culprits were wasps! We need the honeybee for pollination of many of our most valuable crops.

"Wendy" is correct — insect stings can be quite serious to those who are highly allergic to them — but there is a vast difference in the potency of insect stings. A white-faced hornet sting will make my whole hand swell, a yellow jacket sting will cause my finger to swell for a day, and a honeybee sting will make part of my finger swell for perhaps half an hour. If you print this, sign me ...

DELAWARE BEEKEEPER

DEAR BEEKEEPER: Thanks for a honey of a letter. I got stung on this one. No entomologist am I, but I wonder how many others can't tell a yellow jacket wasp from a honeybee? Now for a short course in nature. Read on:

DEAR ABBY: I'll bet "Wendy" was not stung by a bee — it was a hornet, or a yellow jacket. The bee flies only among flowers, gathering honey for the hive and pollinating flowers.

Hornets, on the other hand, frequent trash cans, dumpsters and other areas where they can find open soft drink cans and other sweets. Unfortunately, these nasty little insects closely resemble the harmless and industrious honeybee! The flight of the bee is direct — flower to flower. The flight of the yellow jacket is aimless, jerky and erratic. I hope this helps. I'll bet you get a lot of mail on this.

LARRY OF LAKEWOOD, OHIO

DEAR LARRY: I did. The longer I write this column, the more I realize how little I know. What an education you readers have given me!

M&F Plastic Pipe has variety of sizes

M & F Plastic Pipe is your locally owned dealer for polyethylene pipe, sales and rental, with a wide range of sizes and pressure ratings.

Polyethylene pipe is now replacing steel pipe and PVC pipe in many areas. It is much more versatile than PVC and more economical than steel. Its flexibility makes it easier to handle, therefore saving you time and labor. The durability of this pipe has been proven under all kinds of weather conditions and it can be re-spooled and re-laid several times without damage to the pipe.

They have spooling trailers, reel trailers and a spooling truck to handle pipe up to three inches. Pipe that is four inches or larger comes in joints and must be laid by hand. It is "welded" together by using an electric iron that melts each end of the pipe and then it fuses when put together. This eliminates the worry about leaks from bad threads or not being tight enough such as in steel pipe or the hassle of cleaning and gluing as in PVC.

Poly pipe can be used for water lines in homes, stock tanks, water wells, water supply for drilling, transfer lines, gas lines or production flow lines.

They will lay new or used pipe, provide you with valves, fittings, ditching, etc. to suit your needs and will also repair your lines, relocate it or replace it if needed.

M & F Plastic Pipe is owned and operated by Ricky and Teresa Trammell. Please feel free to call them or Darby K. Scott, manager, for prices or information at 573-8612.

Study compares U.S.-Soviet diets

WASHINGTON (AP) — The CIA and the Agriculture Department have teamed up to report that the cabbage is king in the Soviet Union, while Americans bow to the tomato.

The study of food supplies in the United States and the Soviet Union says that radish and carrot tops are common fare among Soviet consumers but are rarely found on American grocery lists. But then, the United States has the sweet potato while the Soviet Union doesn't.

On the other hand, the overall nutrient levels in the two nations are not too far apart. On the average, the Soviet Union supplies about 3,200 calories per day to each citizen, compared with 3,500 for the average American.

Protein availability, at an average of 100 grams per day, is a tossup. But Americans have more fat and cholesterol in their food supply, while Soviet people get more carbohydrates.

The study was conducted jointly by the CIA and the Agriculture Department's Human Nutrition Information Service. The report by CIA and HNIS analysts was published in the latest National Food Review, a quarterly magazine of the department's Economic Research Service.

According to Euripides, the Greek tragedian, "Cleverness is not wisdom."

Strict enforcement of law unlikely

DALLAS (AP) — When the City Council passed an ordinance requiring companies to accommodate smokers and non-smokers, it didn't provide money for enforcement of the rule that goes into effect Tuesday.
 "The council intended it to be voluntary," said Jim Wood, assistant director of the city's Health and Human Services Department. "They believe — and I believe — that we'll get virtually 100 percent compliance on the ordinance."
 The council passed the ordinance last August, but several employers hurrying to meet the March 1 deadline have called City Hall with questions.
 Don Postell, an assistant city attorney who helped draft the ordinance, said the most frequent query is, "What does that thing say, really?"
 Wood said the city will check compliance only when a complaint is raised.
 "The smoke police will not be rolling," Postell said.

 The core of the ordinance requires employees to implement a policy that reasonably accommodates smokers and non-smokers and minimizes the non-smokers' exposure to secondhand smoke.
 Violation of the ordinance is punishable by a maximum $500 fine, and workers who smoke illegally could be fined as much as $200. Businesses are not responsible for fines against employees.
 The measure requires a company to have at least one non-smoking section for employees, using existing walls and ventilation to contain smoke. Employers also must devise a grievance procedure for complaints.
 The ordinance applies only to businesses with five or more employees.
 While some companies may be scrambling to meet the deadline, others put non-smoking policies into effect long ago.

Parole violators facilities sought

THE WOODLANDS, Texas (AP) — A panel has recommended that parole violators be returned to new facilities run by the state parole board instead of the inmate-clogged Texas Department of Corrections.
 The recommendation came from a panel of top local and state leaders assembled by Gov. Bill Clements.
 The proposal for immediate construction of facilities to house 2,000 parole violators to ease crowding at state prisons and county jails was among a dozen announced Sunday by about 40 mayors, judges, prosecutors, sheriffs and legislators participating in the three-day Texas Criminal Justice Summit.
 The group called for 4,000 beds for parole violators, with half of those built now and the others to be approved by the Legislature next year along with 8,000 more prison beds and another 2,000 for a "boot camp" shock probation program. The parole violators program would be run by the Board of Pardons and Paroles and not the Texas Department of Corrections.

 "The idea is to do a job for the state and not which agency has the beds," Charles Terrell, chairman of the Board of Corrections, said. "The idea is to have a plan for the state of Texas to fight crime."
 Besides, he said, under this plan the state probably could get 14,000 beds for the same money the Corrections Department would have required for 10,000 beds.
 Other recommendations from the summit included:
 —Drug testing throughout the criminal justice system.
 —Mandatory drug testing and drug rehabilitation as a condition of parole.
 —Continuing education programs as a condition of parole for illiterates with new project centers built in Houston, Dallas, San Antonio and Fort Worth.
 —Prioritization of sentencing to make the most effective use of the limited prison capacity.
 "Most people didn't come in here thinking continuing education," Terrell said. "I don't think it was anyone's wildest dreams that we would come out of here saying 4,000 beds for Pardons and Paroles."
 Statistics show 35 percent, or nearly 12,000 admissions into the prison system last year, were parole violators. And once they were returned to the prison system, they remained for about 90 days.

Alert defense holds it to 10

By James Jacoby

It's not high drama when a careful defensive play does nothing more than prevent an overtrick, but it's still good bridge. If you want the deal to be more interesting, pretend the contract is five hearts doubled and redoubled.
 West's one-spade overcall was somewhat daring, but it has become acceptable to overcall with a good four-card suit at the one-level with a hand of opening strength but without the correct shape for a takeout double. Influenced by his partner's spade raise, West led the spade ace.
 It was now the responsibility of East to suggest a shift. It was obvious to West not to play a second spade, so the card contributed by East to the opening lead would show strength in one of the minor suits — a high spade would indicate good diamonds; a low card would show high-card values in clubs, the lower of the remaining suits. Although East did not have much in either minor suit, his clubs were better than his diamonds, so he played the spade two. West dutifully switched to a low club, but there was still more to be done to prevent declarer from stealing an overtrick.
 Declarer won the club ace, played A-K of diamonds and a low diamond. But West was ready — he ruffed in with the ace of hearts and cashed the king of clubs to hold South to his contract. Or, for those of you who chose to dramatize the situation, the contract of five hearts doubled and redoubled was down one.

Find source of sinus woes

DEAR DR. GOTT: Several doctors have told my son that he has hay fever and sinus trouble. He has problems breathing all the time. Last year he worked with grain. Before that he was in shipping in a metal fabrication plant.
 DEAR READER: Grain workers are exposed to a variety of dusts and molds that can cause allergy problems. Furthermore, many people develop extreme sensitivity to other sources of air pollution, such as dust mites in the home, tobacco smoke and vapors. I believe that by identifying the substance (or substances) to which your son is reacting, he can then consider avoiding these compounds or undergoing desensitization shots to reduce his symptoms. He should ask his doctor to refer him to an allergist for testing.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I've had faulty equilibrium trouble for many years. I fell backward 13 years ago and hit my head on frozen ground, but I also had some problems with balance before that. I fall a lot. What could cause this problem?
 DEAR READER: Faulty equilibrium can result from damage to either of two nerve systems: vestibular or proprioception.
 The vestibular system begins in the tiny gyroscopes, one in each inner ear, that tell us about head motion and position. These bony, fluid-filled canals are extremely sensitive sensors of head movement. When stimulated, they transmit nerve impulses to the brain and give us information about head position. When these vestibular organs are inappropriately stimulated, such as during a bumpy airplane flight or on a rough sea, we may experience spatial confusion leading to motion sickness. Likewise, the vestibular canals can be inappropriately stimulated by infections, circulatory insufficiency or — in rare cases — tumors, which can disrupt normal function to produce vertigo (a sense of violent spinning or turning) that is quite disabling. Vestibular malfunction is usually diagnosed and treated by otolaryngologists (ear specialists).

Proprioception, the ability to recognize the positions of various body parts, is dependent on a detailed and sophisticated pathway of nerves that begin in tendons and muscles, enter the spinal cord and travel to the brain. Proprioception allows us to know the positions of our bodies without looking. It enables us to walk in the dark and to carry out myriad tasks without using our eyes. It is balance. In its pure form, it permits blind persons to function normally. Proprioception can be altered by nerve injury or infection, particularly if the nerves in the spinal cord are involved. The diagnosis of proprioceptive loss requires the attention of a neurologist.

Because you do not mention vertigo as an outstanding symptom, I suspect that your equilibrium problem may be caused by a neurological disorder. Ask your doctor to refer you to an appropriate specialist. To help you in your search, I am sending you a copy of my Health Report, MEDICAL SPECIALISTS. Other readers who would like a copy should send $1 and their name and address to P.O. Box 91369, Cleveland, OH 44101-3369. Be sure to mention the title.

Kidnapped girl was beaten up

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — The mother of a teen-age girl who was abducted and severely beaten with stones and tree limbs says she thought she would never see her daughter again.
 "I'm ecstatic," said the mother. "I really do think it's a miracle. ... I thought she was dead."
 The 13-year-old girl was discovered about 7 p.m. Saturday in a culvert in Fort Worth. She had been kidnapped from a pizza parlor parking lot Friday night and was missing for nearly 24 hours.

The teen-ager was in stable condition at Fort Worth Children's Hospital Sunday. The girl suffered multiple cuts, including scalp wounds, and exposure. A 16-year-old boy was being held Sunday at a juvenile detention center in connection with the abduction.
 Fort Worth police Sgt. Mark Krey said tests to determine whether the girl had been sexually assaulted were not complete Sunday.
 The girl and two boys, ages 12 and 13, were with several other students in the parking lot of a Fort Worth pizza parlor about 10 p.m. Friday.
 The two boys told police a man pulled up and accused the three of damaging his car. He then pushed them into his car and told them he was a plainclothes police officer and was taking them to the juvenile detention center, the boys told police.

Town mourns deaths of teenagers

HARPER, Texas (AP) — Almost half of this town's 400 residents packed a school gymnasium over the weekend to mourn the deaths of five teenagers who died in a head-on collision that also injured two adults.
 Cars lined the streets next to the high school Sunday while inside the school's gymnasium parents, teachers, friends and family stood in close groups crying softly or standing in stunned silence.
 The teens died Saturday morning while on a trip to the Kerrville shopping mall. Their Volkswagen Beetle strayed into the oncoming lane of FM783 — a narrow, twisting road connecting Harper and Kerrville, 20 miles southeast — and collided head-on with a pickup truck.

 Four teens — Genora Gayle Gamel, 18; Estella Franco, 14; Melanie Ann Keese, 14 and Kemberley Parker, 16 — were pronounced dead at the scene.

Ships' anchors damage reefs

GALVESTON, Texas (AP) — Ships' anchors are damaging a group of fragile coral reefs, and at least one scientist says irreparable harm may be done to the reefs before the area is designated a national marine sanctuary.

The Flower Gardens, located about 115 miles southeast of Galveston, were once rejected for sanctuary status. A new effort, however, is under way to gain protection for the reefs.

But the recommendation to include the reefs in the sanctuary program won't go to Congress until at least March 1989, and anchoring damage is expected to continue while the government wheels grind.

"If the anchoring continues and you get repeated insults to the reef, it will eventually reach a point, I think, at which it will be suffering more damage than it can repair," said Dr. Thomas Bright, an oceanographer and chief of the Texas A&M University Sea Grant College Program.

"We don't think we're at that stage yet, but we really don't know," he said.

Bright was one of the organizers of a Houston seminar Saturday at which scientists, environmentalists, government officials and energy industry officials gathered to review plans for designation of the Flower Gardens as a national marine sanctuary.

The Flower Gardens are rainbow-hued coral reefs that sit on two salt dome banks perched on the outer edge of the continental shelf.

The East Flower Garden Bank is about three miles in diameter, and the coral garden that crowns it covers about 400 acres, according to Sea Grant figures. The West Flower Garden Bank is about seven miles by five miles long, topped by a coral garden of about 100 acres.

Tremendous damage can result from a single ship dropping its anchor among the coral heads, each of which has taken hundreds of years to grow.

In October of 1983, Bright said, a 90-foot tug boat anchored over the east bank when he and other A&M researchers were working there.

"In that case, I counted over 200 coral heads that were either overturned, cracked open, broken, shattered or seriously abraded," he said.

If the reef can completely repair the damage done by that one anchor, Bright said, it will take hundreds of years. And it can take decades for the coral heads to rebound even from serious abrasions.

School takeover now a faded memory

TUSCALOOSA, Ala. (AP) — Third-graders in Mary Alice Blanton's class look at each other knowingly these days whenever she takes an unruly child out into the hall.

"They say Mrs. Blanton is going to give the kid the same thing she gave that gunman who came into our school three weeks ago," said West End Christian School Headmaster Dan Carden. "It's become a sort of standing joke."

Carden was referring to the morning of Feb. 2, when Mrs. Blanton, 57, whacked one of two intruders with a book of Bible stories. The man she struck, James L. Harvey, fended off the blow and went on to hold Mrs. Blanton and her pupils hostage for the next 12 hours.

Harvey, a 43-year-old Tuscaloosa native, was wrestled to the ground after he was lured out by a phony pardon from Gov. Guy Hunt and a false promise that he would be able to air his complaints about poverty and homelessness at a news conference. He has undergone psychiatric evaluation, authorities said. A preliminary hearing on the kidnapping charges against him is set for Wednesday.

Carden, whose two sons were in school during the takeover, said his children and the other pupils seem to have survived the episode in remarkable fashion.

"Everything is going very smoothly here," he said last week. "I can honestly say I don't know of any serious repercussions among our staff, students or their parents."

Allan Goodwin, a psychologist who helped out during and after the hostage taking, which involved 80 of the Baptist school's 280 students, said he is amazed by the lack of psychological fallout.

"It's hard to believe but it's true that everything has returned to normal at the school," said Goodwin, director of the Indian Rivers Community Health Center here. "I don't detect any malice — even the parents have been able to forgive and forget. I think this may have something to do with the fatalism that goes along with their fundamentalist faith, a feeling that such events are out of our hands."

John Rhodes Jr., who accompanied Harvey during the school invasion, apparently was duped by Harvey. All charges against Rhodes, an unemployed laborer who first met Harvey only minutes before they went to the school, were dropped.

As for Harvey, Goodwin said, the children apparently viewed him as a harmless blowhard.

"I think they see Harvey as someone who was strange, but not as a menacing figure," Goodwin said. "I don't think the children inside the room with him ever picked up the degree of tension that existed among the law enforcement officers and parents outside the school."

Mrs. Blanton, who spent 12 hours as a hostage, said much the same thing.

"After the first few minutes I don't think the children really felt threatened," she said last week. "Frankly, the biggest adjustment problem we've had has been adjusting to the flu. It has really been going around."

However, she said she did have the class write about the episode.

"A couple of the kids who were released early in return for pizzas seemed a little indignant," she said. "They thought they were worth more than a pizza."

As for her own role, and her brief attempt to disarm Harvey with her book, she said, "I never thought about being a hero, I was just acting on instinct. In retrospect, it was probably a pretty dangerous thing to do."

Carden is still confused by one aspect of the case.

"I still don't know why Harvey picked our school," he said. "I'll be interested to hear what he has to say about that at his trial."

Demos debate nat'l issues then turn attention to TV

HOUSTON (AP) — After outlining their views on Central America, poverty and the economy, four Democratic presidential candidates offered their views on television debates.

"We really are kind of trapped in these 90-second sound bites, trying to say a thing that makes a difference," said Jesse Jackson, in a sentiment quickly echoed by the other candidates Sunday.

The 90-minute, four-way debate between Jackson, Illinois Sen. Paul Simon, former Colorado Sen. Gary Hart, and Tennessee Sen. Albert Gore Jr., was held on the final day of a convention of the National Association of Television Program Executives.

"The debates we have had too often have lent themselves to sloganeering rather than substance," said Simon. "I'm not sure you determine who is thoughtful and who is not thoughtful (in that format)."

Hart agreed. "All of us on this platform are compassionate, we all care, we all want to put the White House on the side of working men and women," he said, chiding a familiar slogan used by Tennessee Sen. Gore.

Gore, for his part, said television and radio had changed politics.

"People used to run for president by sitting on their front porch, and talking only to those people who made the pilgrimage," Gore said. "The next president must frequently address millions of Americans by radio and TV."

Missouri Rep. Richard Gephardt and Massachusetts Gov. Michael Dukakis were invited but did not attend, citing scheduling conflicts. The debate was moderated by television journalist Linda Ellerbee.

Former CBS anchorman Walter Cronkite hosted the debate, but did not question the candidates. The debate was offered to an ad hoc network of local television stations.

As the candidates outlined now-familiar views on poverty, Central America, the economy and other issues, they strove to distinguish themselves from the pack.

"You now hear Gephardt saying we must challenge the multinational corporations, that's Jesse Jackson. When you now hear Congress saying stop the drug flow, that's Jesse Jackson," Jackson said. "When you hear other candidates talking about South Africa for the first time, that's Jesse Jackson."

Hart set himself apart from the other candidates on the issue of putting out a budget.

"Paul talks about his programs, Jesse talks about his program, and Al talks about his programs," Hart said. "I'm the only one who has put out a budget although I see each of these people gradually creeping towards that inevitability."

"I'm the only one who has put out a budget to tell Americans the truth," Hart said.

Olympics end with tribute to sports and world peace

CALGARY, Alberta (AP) - The wildest Winter Olympics, etched by the skates of Boitano and Witt and stamped by the skis of the Flying Finn, Tomba la Bomba and Eddie the Eagle, ended in a joyous tribute to sports and world peace.

These were Games of grand performances and heart-tugging drama and they closed Sunday night with flashy skating, raucous dancing, a million "yah-hoos" and many a tear rolling down cheeks.

America roared for Bonnie Blair, wept for Dan Jansen and suffered with Debi Thomas. Canada basked in the glory of Brian Orser, Liz Manley and Karen Percy and did itself proud by hosting all nations with style and charm.

Tiny Soviet skater Ekaterina Gordeeva lit up the Games with a brilliant smile and jubilant ballet and became a symbol of her country's grace in victory.

The Soviets made many new friends with their personal touch of glasnost and won renewed respect by dominating the competition with a record 11 golds, nine silvers and nine bronzes in 46 events.

East Germany didn't quite catch the Soviets, finishing with nine golds and 25 medals overall, but it gave the Games some of their greatest performers.

Katarina Witt wowed the figure skating judges and crowd as she tap-danced in blue feathers to "Hello, Dolly," then seduced them as the temptress "Carmen" to win the gold. The 22-year-old East German beauty with the flair of a Hollywood actress left her fans a final memory with a double ender show in the exhibition Sunday night.

Brian Boitano, a Nureyev on skates from Sunnyvale, Calif., leaped higher than anyone in his gold medal routines, and thrilled the crowd with his swashbuckling closing show.

No skater, though, pumped up the fans as much as Canada's kids, Brian Orser and the silver belle, Liz Manley. Each received thunderous standing ovations Sunday and gave the crowds glittering farewells.

Debi Thomas, too, made an emotional departure after letting the gold literally slip away Saturday night in one of her worst performances ever and settling for bronze.

World records were set in nearly all the speed skating events, but personalities made these Games special.

Flying Finn Matti Nykanen, once a barroom brawler who harnessed his aggressiveness to the skies, won three golds with his soaring, poetic flights in ski jumping.

Alberto Tomba, the cocky 21-year-old La Bomba, set off a wild Italian celebration by powering to gold medals in the slalom and giant slalom.

No Olympian won more attention, had more fun and gave more joy to fans than Eddie "The Eagle" Edwards, the overweight, undertrained, ski jumping Briton with the bottle-thick glasses and indefatigable grin.

Some said he invented a new sport - ski dropping - but he reminded everyone that these Games are more about trying than winning.

Tiger golfers 4th at Fort Stockton

FORT STOCKTON -- Mackey Greene's Tigers slipped from first place to fourth in the final round of the Fort Stockton Invitational here, but the Snyder coach wasn't about to get discouraged.

"We had a real good effort. It wasn't that we didn't play well, the other teams just played outstanding," said the coach. "I was pleased with our effort."

Snyder shot a two-day 631 to finish 11 strokes out of first place. The Tigers had shot a 313 on Friday and backed it with a 318 Saturday, but it wasn't enough.

Andrews, which trailed by three strokes after the first 18 holes, fired a red-hot 304 on Saturday to win the tournament with a 620. Fort Stockton also blazed a 304 on Saturday and finished second with a 621. Big Spring took third with a 626, followed by Snyder, and Monahans with a 635.

Fourteen teams were entered in the competition. Wade Hatter paced the Tigers' effort with rounds of 77 and 75 for a 152. Marc McQueen shot a 77-82 for a 159 while Mike Trull came in at 155 with a 76-79. Ken Meckley put together rounds of 82 and 82 for a 165, while Ron Baker shot 86 and 89 for a 175.

Anderson-Lay win Groundhog event

Larry Anderson and Tommy Lay put together scores of 66 and 59 to win the 1988 Groundhog Open at Snyder Country Club.

The twosome teamed for a 125 to win the two-day tournament by a single stroke over Steve Talbott and Randy Weaver.

Third place in the Championship Flight went to Dave Sharrock and John Medicott with a 128.

Bates took top honors in the President's Flight with a 135. Taking second were John Reed and John Greene with a 137, followed by Dutch Stehley and Don Sealy with a 138.

First Flight winners were Ricky Williams and Ewell Mackey. Their 139 took first by three strokes over Terry Rainbolt and Rooster Rainbolt, who shot a 142. Don Head and Keith Pistocco turned in a 143 for third place.

Pat Gilstrap and Dean Berry locked up in a three-way tie for first place in the Second Flight with Benton Cowen and Bobby Franks, and L.A. Berry and Ray Berry. All shot 155s. The deadlock was broken by a scorecard playoff.

Day money went to B.W. Harris and Alton Patterson in the Championship Flight, to John Boren and Mickey Nunley in the President's Flight, to Bob Jones and Cary Coffee in the First Flight and L.E. Scott and Bud Pinkerton in the Second Flight.

Western 8th at Roswell

ROSSELL, N.M. -- Western Texas College shot an 897 here to place eighth in the Fourth Annual Bronco Invitational over the weekend.

New Mexico Junior College Red won the 54-hole tournament with a 23-under par 841. New Mexico State University Maroon team was second with a 20-under 844.

"New Mexico Junior College had an outstanding tournament, which shows why they are ranked in the top four in the nation," said WTC coach Dave Foster. "I thought Jeff Beal and Mark Burgen played well for us."

Beal shot a 217 for the two-days, placing 19th in the medalist race. Burgen turned in a 225. Both are freshmen from Andrews.

Other WTC scores were a 229 from Lance Jones, a 230 from Jack Poe and a 231 from Todd Neal.

Medalist was Per Nyman of NMJC Red team with a 202 and Jay Barrus of New Mexico State University Silver team with a 202. Barrus' effort included a 65.

Police arrest Tutu, other church leaders

CAPE TOWN, South Africa (AP) - Police today arrested Anglican Archbishop Desmond Tutu and other church leaders as they marched toward Parliament with a petition protesting the government's crackdown on anti-apartheid organizations.

After Tutu and the other clergymen were placed in police vehicles and arrested on charges of staging an illegal gathering, police fired water cannons at about 70 other protesters who were sitting on the sidewalk.

The protesters and members of the press were taken to a police station, then released with a warning that charges would be brought against them if they staged a similar demonstration.

The clergymen carried a petition, addressed to President P.W. Botha and Parliament, saying: "We leaders of a number of South African churches have come to Parliament today to witness and pray in a time of crisis outside the buildings in which you make important decisions affecting the lives of millions of South Africans who belong to our churches."

The protesters, marching five abreast, walked a few yards toward Parliament from St.

George's Cathedral, the main Anglican church in downtown Cape Town.

In a meeting at St. George's before the march, Tutu and other ministers had declared the churches would lead protests against the government's anti-apartheid policies because 18 major black opposition groups had been banned last week from all political activity.

Tutu, winner of the 1984 Nobel Peace Prize, marched in front of the procession, along with the Rev. Allan Boesak, president of the World Alliance of Reformed Churches; the Rev. Frank Chikane, general-secretary of the South African Council of Churches; the Rev. Khoza Mgojo, past president of the Methodist Church, and the Roman Catholic Bishop of Cape Town, Stephen Naidoo.

Tutu warned those at the service that they might be tear-gassed, sprayed with water cannons or arrested, although the church leaders said they had informed the government beforehand about the proposed march.

The march proceeded with clergymen at the end of each row and lay people in the middle. As they reached Government Avenue, near the Parliament buildings, they were met by about 50 policemen who linked arms to form a human barrier across the road.

In final game of season...

SPC defeats Western, 98-82

South Plains jumped out to a quick start, then held off a second-half rally to defeat Western Texas College in WJCAC hoops action here Saturday, 98-82.

The game was the season finale for Coach Tony Mauldin's Westerners, who finish with records of 8-23 overall and 5-11 in conference. The local bunch also played again without leading scorer Darrell Nelson, who reportedly was still suffering from a stomach related illness.

South Plains, 23-7 and 12-4, will enter the upcoming Region V Tournament in Midland.

SPC enjoyed a 10-2 lead on baskets from Donnell Hayden, Ron Shields and Earl McKinney. Bobby Spear retaliated with four straight points for Western, and the hosts stayed close for the first 10 minutes of the half. After that, the Texans began to stretch out the lead. Western's chances were hampered by a cold night at the free throw line. WTC hit seven of its first eight charity shots, but made only four of nine until late in the half, and missed the front end of three bonus situations. It was 27-21 when Spear notched his 10th point of the game, but South Plains answered with 10 consecutive. Spear cashed in on a three-point play at 6:35 to slow the Texans temporarily, but SPC went on to post a 56-36 lead at intermission.

A determined Western team came out in the second half and scored eight straight points to cut the margin to 12, 56-44. Chris Jackson, Gerald Wells and Melvin Thompson all aided in the effort offensively.

But Western was unable to hold the Texans down. Steve Johnson scored a quick bucket and Ron Shields added a three-point play with 16:42 left.

Western struggled through a mediocre shooting night as the Westerner's 35-of-52 effort from the line would indicate.

Spear got 26 points for WTC. Thompson scored 14, Malcolm Waters 13, Wells 12 and Jackson 8.

For South Plains, Dennis

Green scored 19, Shields 17, Hayden 14, Newsome and McKinney 13 each and Johnson 10.

Hirschi 'Lamesa with size; Tigers try Huskies Tuesday

A Lamesa with size is how Snyder's regional semifinal opponent, Wichita Falls Hirschi, has been described.

Coach Larry Scott's Tigers take on the Huskies at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday at McMurry College in Abilene. Tickets are $4 for adults and $2 for students.

Snyder will be the home team and its fans will sit on the west side. Hirschi looks to be tough, which could be expected of a semifinal opponent.

"I'm slowly but surely finding out," said Scott. "I think they are like playing Lamesa with our size. They have good athletes and they run the press real well."

Hirschi brings a record of 22-8 into the contest. Snyder comes in at 24-8.

In a related game Friday, Lamesa plays Everman at 7 p.m. at Hardin-Simmons University. Winners of the two games will play in the regional finals with the victor headed for the state tournament in Austin.

Tigers battle Central, 5:30 p.m. here today

Coach Albert Lewis' Tigers return home from a successful road trip to play San Angelo Central here today.

The Tigers, who take a 3-1 record into the 5:30 p.m. contest at Moffett Field, won consolation at the Eberle-Boecke Memorial Tournament last Saturday by defeating Fredericksburg 5-3.

"I'm still impressed with our pitching this early," said Coach Lewis, who noted that Bert Otto went the distance to pick up Snyder's win over Fredericksburg. "We've got to cut out the errors and we're still not hitting the ball like we need to, but hopefully those things will come around."

Snyder collected six hits against Fredericksburg, including a triple from Scott Lanier and singles by Brad Gartman and Wayne Ware in the first inning. Those hits, combined with walks from Randy Morris and Tracy Odom, staked Snyder to three early runs.

The Tigers got another run in the third when Morris reached on an error, and another in the fifth when he did the same. The Tiger second baseman reached safely all three times at bat, and scored all three times. His fifth-inning run came on a double from David Martinez. Other Tiger hits were singles from Ware and Gartman. Otto, who also pitched the final inning of Friday's 7-2 win over Corpus Christi King, limited Fredericksburg to just four hits. He walked only two batters, but paid both times as Fredericksburg managed to follow both with doubles.

Both teams made two errors in the game.

Today's contest will be the second home game for Snyder, which defeated Lubbock Estacado in the season opener here. The Tigers will take a break until March 8 after today's action.

SMU falls to Texas

By The Associated Press

One of the more bizarre championship basketball races in modern Southwest Conference history will come to wild-and-crazy conclusion this week.

But it may be the very last game on March 6 before the champion is crowned when Arkansas plays at Texas Tech in a regionally televised Sunday afternoon game.

Southern Methodist still has the best chance of winning the title although the Mustangs keep shying away from the finish line.

The Ponies could have clinched a tie for the crown Saturday night but were slow getting out of the gate and fell 76-69 to Texas in Austin. They had defeated the Longhorns 75-70 three weeks ago.

SMU dropped to an 11-4 ledger while Arkansas, a 112-87 conqueror of Rice, edged up to 10-4.

Baylor, which blasted Houston 88-73, improved to 9-5 and a tie with Texas for third place.

Texas A&M (7-7) downed Texas Tech (4-10) 68-66 in the other league game.

Rice (3-12) and idle Texas Christian (3-11) are battling to avoid the cellar because the ninth place team doesn't go to the SWC Post-Season Classic.

SMU has only one league game left, against TCU Wednesday night in Dallas at Moody Coliseum.

The Razorbacks have two rough road games, at Houston on Thursday night then on to Texas Tech. The Thursday night game will be on national television (the USA Network) at 8 p.m.

SMU could clinch a title tie against TCU then sit back and hope Arkansas loses one of its two games for an outright league title, first for the Mustangs in 21 years. It's been 16 years since SMU shared a title.

Baylor hosts Texas Tech on Wednesday night while Texas A&M is at Texas.

On Saturday, Texas visits Baylor for the final game in Heart O' Texas Coliseum. The Bears move to a brand new facility next season.

Snyder boys run hard in opening tournament

FORT STOCKTON — Craig Watkins ran a personal best in the 300 meter intermediate hurdles to help Snyder's young track team to a sixth place finish at the Panther Relays here Saturday.

Coach Kevin Wiseman takes the group to Andrews this Saturday for their second meet of the season.

"We had good weather. I was pleased. We have a ways to go but we knew we'd be young and it showed," said Coach Wiseman. "We should be getting better in the next few weeks."

Watkins ran a 40.55 to place third in the intermediates. The Tiger athlete also placed third in the 110 high hurdles with a time of 16.1.

Also pointing Saturday was Snyder's 400 meter relay team of Play two teams in Lubbock..

Netters get good experience

LUBBOCK — Coach Charlie Chrane said his Tigers had two good matches with Lubbock High and Anton over the weekend here.

"It was definitely what we needed," said the coach. "Our boys doubles didn't play as well as I thought they should have, losing all three of their matches to Lubbock High and one to Anton. Overall, it was good experience. The girls did particularly well."

Snyder defeated Lubbock High 13-5 and Anton 18-4. The girls posted an 18-1 mark through the day while the boys were 13-8.

Lori McFarland and Deone Farmer were among those who won all of their matches. McFarland topped Angie Matthews of Anton 6-3, 7-5 and Nancy Sines of Lubbock, 6-0, 6-1. Farmer played only one singles match, beating Johnnie Borangra of Lubbock, 6-1, 6-0. McFarland and Farmer also teamed to win two doubles matches.

Next action for Snyder varsity will be Friday and Saturday in the Sweetwater Tournament. The 'Cat junior varsity plays Rotan at 4:30 p.m. Tuesday in Snyder.

Lady Tigers run well

WOLFFORTH — Snyder's Lady Tigers set a strong starting pace at their first meet of the season here Saturday.

The Tigers placed fourth out of eight teams at the ABC Tiger Relays with 91 points.

"I was really pleased. We had some girls who ran their personal bests. We placed someone in everything except three events and that's a good accomplishment because we had some pretty tough competition," said Coach Patty Grimmert.

Highlighting the effort were first place finishes by Melody Pickering in the 400 meters, Melissa Williams in the high jump, and the team of Pickering, Williams, Nichole Overman and Dana Fenton in the 1600 meter relay.

But just as important was the improvement shown by most of the entire team.

"Our times have really improved, even over what we did at the district meet last year," said Grimmert. "For example, Anne Osborn ran a 14:42 in the 3200 meters last year and she ran a 14:16.38 this time. And Nichole (Williams) ran the hurdles in 17.2 last season and Saturday she ran a 16.6. We had a number of girls beat their best times last year with what they did in this meet."

Levelland won the single-day meet with 121 points, followed by Lubbock Estacado with 111 and Frenship with 93.

FILMETER

What's new in movies and video
Robert DiMatteo

By Robert DiMatteo

In Movie Theaters

SCHOOL DAZE (R) Writer-director Spike Lee's first feature, "She's Got a Move It," was a low-budget triumph — funky, funny and lyrical. Immediately, Lee was seen as the great black hope of film makers. His new picture thus comes to us bearing the traditional burden placed on all highly praised young directors whose second films never seem to live up to people's inflated expectations. There's also the special burden of "what a black artist should be doing."

Budgeted at $6.5 million (60 times what "She's Got a Move It" cost), "School Daze" is set at a fictitious black college (reminiscent of Morehouse, Lee's alma mater) during Homecoming Weekend. The movie is a collage of raunchy "Animal House"-type frat humor, splashy musical numbers and didactic racial dialogues.

It's a messy, somewhat unwieldy film — one that makes no apparent concessions to white viewers and dares to analyze the divisions within black America today. It's also an explosively alive film, full of rude comic energy, late-twent horniness and prickly polemicizing.

Lee's polarized interests are symbolized by two protagonists — the earnest black-nationalist militant (Larry Fishburne) who wants the white-endowed college to divest itself of South African holdings; and the hair-straightened fraternity pledge-master (Giancarlo Esposito), who aspires to fit into the white American mainstream. Standing between them is the impish Lee himself, playing a would-be fraternity pledge who can't live down the rumor that he's still a virgin.

The movie exists on several levels. There's the funny "Straight and Nappy" musical number at Madame Re-Re's Beauty Salon, with the lighter-skinned, colored-contact-lens-wearing co-eds (Wannabees) taking on the darker-skinned, proud-to-be-black girls (Jigaboos). There's the disturbing encounter between the middle-class black collegians and their going-nowhere black "townie" counterparts — the latter wearing shower caps and surly attitudes.

Even the characters' sexual behavior offers contrasts: the militant and his nappy-haired girlfriend make soulful love in between bursts of ideological talk, while the yuppie frat leader and his slick lady seem to be doing a decadent spread for "Players" magazine.

Some of Lee's contrasts are too schematic, and the spectre of sexism hovers over a few of the bedroom scenes. But this is certainly a spirited and audacious film. GRADE: ★★★

A TIGER'S TALE (R) In this cutesy offbeat romance, C. Thomas Howell plays a high-school senior in Texas who forsakes his girlfriend to bed her mother (Ann-Margret). Written and directed by Peter Douglas (son of Kirk), it's a determinedly whimsical flick. Howell's pet is a tiger, when he and Ann-Margret fall in love, there are moist shots of the couple frolicking together in the countryside with his wild cat.

Playing an unconventional woman who doesn't fit into small-town life, Ann-Margret exudes an appealingly ripe eroticism. But what is she doing with callow, uninteresting C. Thomas Howell? One doesn't believe a minute of this movie. GRADE: ★½

LIVING ON TOKYO TIME (not rated) Charter, $79.98. Steven Okazaki's 1987 feature is a low-key tale of an arranged marriage between a dullard Japanese-American rock 'n' roller and a young Japanese woman who wants U.S. citizenship.

The marriage doesn't work, and neither at first does the movie — as it relies upon flat acting and incredibly deadpan humor. But the film has a quirky, minimalist charm that sneaks up on you. There's an amusingly observed matchmaker character, who says things like: "It takes time for mixed marriages. Look at John and Yoko." GRADE: ★★½

BEVERLY HILLS COP II (R) Paramount, $89.95. This sequel was a hit for one reason: It stars Eddie Murphy, master of cocky, cooler-than-thou comic one-upmanship. It's a glitzy, violent film with only the skimpiest of story lines. GRADE: ★★
(Film grading: ★★★★★ — excellent, ★★★ — good, ★★ — fair, ★ — poor)

Helen Keller, an author and deaf lecturer who was blind and deaf from the age of two, was born in 1880. Keller graduated from Radcliffe in 1904 and became internationally known for her work with the handicapped. The story of Keller and Annie Sullivan Macy, the teacher and companion who first realized the intelligence trapped inside Keller when she was an unmanageable child has been popularized on stage and screen as "The Miracle Worker."

Three men said arrested in slaying of off-duty officer

DALLAS (AP) — Three men were arrested on capital murder warrants in the shooting death of an off-duty police officer, but authorities declined to discuss specifics, saying it could harm the investigation.

Vincent Edward Cooks, 23, was arrested at a Houston apartment building at noon Sunday, while 23-year-old Tony Ray Harvey and Tracy Dewayne Stallworth, 27, were arrested Saturday, Capt. John Holt said at a news conference Sunday.

Holt and Lt. Ron Waldrop told reporters in the news conference that other details of the arrests were not yet available because the investigation into the shooting death of officer Gary D. McCarthy was ongoing.

"We'd rather not get into specifics about what we're going to allege that any of the participants did because obviously this case is coming back to Dallas for trial and we want to protect as much of the investigation as we can," Waldrop said.

Harvey was being held on $500,000 bond at Lew Sterrett Justice Center Sunday while bond was set at $300,000 for Stallworth. Cooks was to be returned to Dallas from Houston sometime today, said an officer who refused to give his name.

McCarthy, 33, a former church missionary who joined the Dallas police force 14 months ago, was gunned down Friday during an attempted robbery at a grocery where he was working off-duty.

Cooks was on parole from the Texas Department of Corrections for attempted capital murder of a police officer and Harvey had been paroled Jan. 18 after serving 18 months of a six-year sentence for aggravated robbery and unauthorized use of a motor vehicle, Holt said.

Houston Police Sgt. V.W. West said Cooks pleaded no contest in September 1985 to the aggravated robbery charge. Records indicate he began serving his five-year sentence in December 1986 and was paroled to Harris County on Aug. 4, 1987.

"This is rather indicative of how the criminal justice system is working," Holt said.

Holt and Waldrop asked reporters at the conference not to publish or broadcast any photographs of the three men arrested.

Holt said police have almost 20 witnesses in the case and want to ensure that they are not influenced by photographs.

A 31-year-old man who was charged with capital murder Saturday was released later that day and Holt said the man was no longer believed to be involved in the officer's death.

McCarthy died at Parkland Memorial Hospital around 9 p.m. Friday, four hours after the shooting at Brancato's Warehouse market in West Dallas.

After being shot three times, once in the heart, McCarthy returned fire at the attacker and two others in a car before they sped away.

The suspects' car was found by police Friday night, Holt said.

The death of McCarthy was the seventh in six shootings involving police this year. In addition to the three dead police officers, four civilians have been killed by police this year. Three men, two of them black and one white, were killed in the past two weeks. Two of them had allegedly threatened officers, and the third challenged an off-duty police officer to shoot him during an attempted robbery of a Denny's restaurant, police said.

Two officers — John Glenn Chase and James A. Joe — were killed last month.

Chase, a white officer, was killed Jan. 23 by a mentally ill, homeless black man who had wrestled the officer's gun away on a downtown street as a bus-stop crowd watched. Police said some witnesses egged on the assailant. Off-duty police then killed the deranged man in a shootout. Prince later blamed a critical City Council for fostering an anti-police atmosphere in Dallas that led to the shooting.

McCarthy, who was clad in street clothes, was escorting the store's manager, Mark DeCardenas, from a bank visit when a man jumped out of a car to rob the manager, police said.

During his short tenure with the Dallas police, McCarthy received two commendations — one for kindness and courtesy, the other for a job well done.

Ira Junior High names winners

Ira Junior High named two winners in its spelling bees held last week. Amanda Sorrells, 8th grader, took first place honors in the junior high bee held Wednesday morning. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Sorrells. Chris Haynes, also a 8th grader, came in second. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Haynes.

B-S club has '60s beginning

BIG SPRING—The Big Spring Prospectors Club was established as a club affiliated with the South Central and National Federation of Mineral Societies in 1967. Before that in 1964 a group of five men formed a treasure hunting club calling themselves "The Prospectors." Since that beginning the club has grown and changed a great deal.

At the present time it has members from many walks of life including a retired college professor of psychology, a doctor of dermatology, school teachers (active and retired), two ministers, electricians, homemakers, junior members and other occupations too numerous to mention. It is a family oriented organization.

The club is non-profit, non-sectarian, and non-political. It is both educational and social. Regular classes related to the hobby are held at the club house. A complete lapidary shop is maintained for the use of club members. A monthly bulletin is published for the members and for exchanges with other clubs over a many state area.

During summer months field trips are taken for rock collecting and ecology study and preservation.

Memberships are open to anyone of good moral character and an interest in earth sciences and who is willing to abide by the by-laws of the organization. Meetings are held at 606 E Third Club house on the second Thursday of each month at 7:30 p.m. An annual show is held the first weekend of March.

Persons interested in membership should contact one of the officers or write to P. O. Box 1182, Big Spring, Tex. 79720 or call 267-6233 or 263-3340 or 267-7256 or visit one of the club meetings.

Jack Nicklaus will be 50 in January of 1990, which will make him eligible for the Senior PGA Tour, if he chooses.

Pro golfer Greg Norman, born in Australia, is nicknamed "The Great White Shark." His off-season hobby is fishing.

A German partition of Czechoslovakia took effect in 1938.

Drivers hurt slightly after 2-truck collision

Both drivers were slightly injured in a collision between two trucks at 3:59 p.m. Thursday four miles west of Hermleigh on County Road 466.

The Department of Public Safety reported Monday that a 1981 International driven by Eddins-Walcher employee Don Wayne Johnson of Rt. 3, Box 299, was in collision with a 1980 International owned by Scurry County commissioners Pct. 3 and driven by Douglas King Horsley of 2611 Ave. K.

A trooper said Johnson was westbound and passing Horsley, who was coming off the shoulder in the same direction, when the two collided, causing Johnson's truck to overturn.

Neither driver was hospitalized, the DPS said.

A 9:10 p.m. Thursday collision 3 of a mile north of the Snyder city limits on N. Ave. Q involved a 1985 Chevrolet Silverado pickup driven by Michael Joe Lindsey of 1108 24th St. and a 1986 Ford pickup driven by Wayne Walter Woodard of 4207 Lubbock Ave.

Lindsey was northbound on Q

Officers report weekend arrests

A 38-year-old woman who reportedly had threatened her husband and two sons with a knife was arrested for disorderly conduct at 2:42 p.m. Sunday at a home in the 400 Block of 35th St.

Police said the man told them the woman had "pulled a knife on him" before threatening her sons.

Officers responding to a fight call at a north Snyder nightclub at 10:32 p.m. Saturday arrested two women, 20 and 25 years of age, for public intoxication. A 33-year-old man was taken into custody on the same charge also.

A 38-year-old man was arrested for DWI and his 20-year-old female companion for public intoxication at 2:45 a.m. Sunday in the 1800 Block of 37th St.

A city patrolman, state highway patrolman and county deputy responded to a 12:10 a.m. Sunday report of a man who "was drunk and had a pistol" crashing through a fence in his car near FM 1611 and Highway 264.

They arrested the 21-year-old suspect for DWI and reckless conduct.

and pulling a trailer and Woodard was coming west off Dorsey Ave. when the collision took place, a trooper said.

A 1985 Chevrolet Astro driven by James Reuben Galbreath of Colorado City was southbound on Highway 208 .5 of a mile south of the Snyder city limits at 6 p.m. Wednesday when a horse ran onto the road from the east and was hit and knocked into a fence.

Neither Galbreath nor some passengers in the car were injured, the DPS said.

Parking lot wreck noted

A 1978 Ford Thunderbird driven by Paulette Prichard of 2210 44th St. was in collision with a 1987 Chevrolet Corsica driven by Teri Leigh Billington of Hermleigh at 7:37 p.m. Sunday in the parking lot of a College Ave. supermarket.

The first battle between ironclad ships was fought in 1862 during the Civil War when the Monitor and the Merrimac clashed off the coast of Virginia.

quired for controlled burns inside the city limits, Fire Chief Terry Don McDowell said. "We're not issuing any burn permits till we get some rain."

Local units ran out of water fighting a hay fire five miles northwest of Snyder Sunday and returned with a fresh supply to finish extinguishing it.

A pickup truck exhaust had set off the fire, which eventually involved 70 large rolls of hay, at 12:15 p.m. Sunday on property owned by S.D. Hays, McDowell said.

The fire fighters were at the scene until 2 p.m. and then returned at 2:30 p.m. to finish the task.

Then at 5:04 p.m., a Caterpillar owned by Hays caught on fire around its fuel lines and was heavily damaged before firemen could put it out.

A grass fire started by a barbecue pit was put out in 10 minutes, beginning at 2:39 p.m. Sunday, at U.S. 84 and Ennis Creek Rd.

A grass fire set off by burning trash at 2:14 p.m. Saturday on Gary Brewer Rd. near W. 30th St. also took 20 minutes to control.

In other weekend fire calls, a 1980 Buick Riviera owned by Guy Allen of Snyder was heavily damaged in the engine compartment after a fuel leak ignited it at 1:32 p.m. Saturday outside an East Highway convenience store, requiring about 20 minutes' work by firemen.

No cause was known in a 1:10 p.m. Sunday dumpster fire in the 1000 Block of 24th St. that took about 30 minutes to extinguish.

solidation of the lawsuits.

This possibility was objected to by plaintiffs attorney Kathy Parsley, an associate in the law firm of George Thompson of Lubbock, who represented plaintiffs in a writ of mandamus hearing here Dec. 29.

She was the only attorney representing those opposed to the prison. The defendants in the case were represented by Ernie Armstrong, on behalf of the city; Brian Quinn and Gary Terrell of McWhorter, Cobb and Johnson of Lubbock, representing Joe Fowler, named as an individual in the lawsuits; Mike Davis, associate general counsel for the Texas Department of Corrections; Mike Hodge of the attorney general's office, representing the State of Texas; Brad Crawford of Lubbock, representing the county; County Attorney Mike Line; and Pete Greene, representing the Board of County Development.
