

College, school gain candidates

Monday produced two new signups for separate Snyder-based boards with both Snyder ISD and Western Texas College gaining candidates.

Filing for the school board is Terry Martin, 43, a unit corrosion and chemical technologist with Chevron's SACROC unit, and for the college board, Dennis Ball, 41, parts manager for Mal Donelson Chevrolet.

In running for the school board, Martin has signed for place 3 now held by Charlene Light, who has indicated to her fellow board members she will not again be a candidate.

This single member district represents an area comprising two large residential areas in the city, one in the city's eastern section and the other in the western half.

Martin resides at 2502 33rd St. and has been a resident of the school district for 16 years.

Two expiring seats on the school board now have one candidate

One of six awards...

Chamber honors Baze

Some 500 persons attending the annual Chamber of Commerce Banquet Saturday night offered a standing ovation following the presentation of the special "exemplary service" award to prison project coordinator Roy Baze.

Chamber manager Bill Moss announced the honor and presented Baze with a mounted bronze of a white buffalo.

Also Saturday, Steve Smith presented the Educational Excellence Award—new this year—to long-time Snyder teacher Ollie Peek. The award is to recognize an educator's career commitment to Snyder Public Schools.

Peek's career has spanned both the elementary and secondary schools in Snyder. He has a bachelors degree from McMurry College in Abilene and a masters degree from Hardin-Simmons University.

In other award presentations, Mayor Troy Williamson presented the Vestal Award, which recognizes service to the City of Snyder, to the Rev. Miller Robinson, pastor of Colonial Hill Baptist Church.

Robinson has lived in Snyder for over 23 years and has served on numerous boards including the Scurry County Library Board and the Industrial Economic Development Committee.

Charlie Henderson presented the Winston Award to area farmer Harold "Pete" Hester. This honor is for achievement in the field of either farming or ranching.

Hester has served on the Ira School Board for 15 years and was a member of the Steering Committee to secure a college for Scurry County. He currently farms 2,000 acres where in 1973 he laid over three miles of drain pipe in fields to lower the water table, and in 1974 started narrow row top of the bed planting.

Jimmy Thompson presented the McLaughlin Award to M. Derald Lambert. This award recognizes contributions to the Scurry County oilpatch.

Lambert went to work for Lion Oil and moved to Snyder as a drilling foreman. He was transferred to Midland in 1963 as production foreman and he moved back to Snyder in 1969 when he became superintendent of production at Diamond "M."

Jack Smartt presented the Sizemore Award to Bill Davies in recognition for his past year's work with the Chamber Gold Coats.

Davies has served on several boards including the chamber of commerce, the senior citizens center and the Scurry County Industrial Foundation. He has served on the Executive Council of Boy Scouts. He and his wife, Evelyn, operate the Diamond M Ranch.

Also at the banquet, Elizabeth Potts, outgoing president, thanked everyone for their hard work during the previous year and introduced the retiring directors of the chamber of commerce. They include Mike Banta, Fred Castillo, John Daniel, Jack Denman and Margaret Drum.

David Kattes, incoming president.

House blaze has extensive damage

Firemen worked two hours early Monday to save part of a house that went up in flames in the 1200 Block of 28th St.

Fire Chief Terry Don McDowell said he was not sure what ignited the blaze at the 1201 28th St. residence owned by Weldon Wyatt. Extensive damage was reported to the front porch, living room and front bedroom.

McDowell said the Wyatts had been remodeling the house and living in another home they own on the other side of the block at 2707 Ave. L.

He said Wyatt was sleeping in the 28th St. home in a sleeping bag while his wife and daughters were staying in the Ave. L. home when he was awakened shortly after midnight by flying sparks.

No one was injured in the blaze, which was reported at 12:27 a.m.

Firefighters answered three other weekend fire calls, including one at 5:29 p.m. Saturday west of the city that turned out to be a deliberate house-burning.

McDowell said they thought they were responding to an emergency when they found that Charles Milongorie was deliberately burning a vacant house that belonged to him four miles west of Snyder off U.S. 180.

Kent Horsley was cooking in his backyard at 3000 38th St. when a grass fire started at 3:20 p.m. Sunday, and the firemen took 30 minutes to bring the blaze under control.

McDowell was unsure of the cause of a 6 p.m. Sunday roadside grass fire four miles south of the city off the Colorado City highway that took an hour to extinguish, burning about 50 feet into an adjacent pasture.

College board session moved up for Monday

The regular March meeting of Western Texas College board members—moved up one week to avoid a conflict with spring break—is Monday. It will begin at 5:45 p.m. in the administration building.

Under old business, trustees will discuss the need for securing a title policy for the recently purchased college farm, and a time schedule for developing the master plan for this farm.

"New business" items listed for consideration include approving a tuition charge for adult vocational education (AVE) courses, part of new requirements mandated by the state. College officials say in the past the charge for AVE courses was determined based on the individual course. The recommended rate is $1.25 per contact hour, which will be approximately the same cost to students as before.

The recommended rate falls about midway between rates charged by other community colleges across the state, it was noted.

Examples offered include a 90 cent rate charged for AVE courses at Midland College and a $2 rate charged by Tarrant County.

MIDNIGHT EMERGENCY — Firemen are shown at 1201 28th St. shortly after midnight Monday, where they managed to save a significant portion of the structure. Extensive damage was noted to the front part of the house, however. The owner of the home, which was under renovation, said he was awakened by sparks. He managed to flee uninjured. The cause of the fire was not known as of Monday morning. (SDN Staff Photo)

Water pact due scrutiny

The Snyder city council will consider amendments to the Rotan Municipal Water Contract at a 6:30 p.m. meeting Monday.

The changes are in relation to the city's proposal to provide water services to the Texas Department of Correction's prison. One option for this would see the city use existing water lines currently serving the City of Rotan.

In addition Monday, the council has an executive session slated to discuss appointments to city boards and commissions.

Council members will also consider bids received for a 1972 LaFrance fire truck and attached equipment.

In addition to bids for the sale of the fire truck, bids have been received for the purchase of a micro-computer for the accounting department, water meters and water plant chemicals.

A resolution to support funding for additional penitentiary inmate capacity in Texas will be considered, as will a request from Lynn Smith to drill an oil well on a townsite lot inside the city limits.

as measured by per capita gross domestic product in 1986 than they did in 1980, according to the Inter-American Development Bank. Thirteen countries in Latin America had a loss of at least 10 percent and three of these — Bolivia, Guyana and Trinidad-Tobago — went down by as much as 27 percent.

Veto would upset balance

WASHINGTON (AP) — The line-item veto power sought unsuccessfully by chief executives from Ulysses S. Grant to Ronald Reagan could upset the delicate balance between the legislative and executive branches in favor of the president, a new study suggests.

Granting such power would also increase political confrontations and send lawmakers searching for ways to neutralize it, just as has happened in states, said the National Academy of Public Administration.

The organization, a nonpartisan research group, studied line-item veto provisions contained in 43 state constitutions and gave them mixed reviews.

"The item veto is not a simple, politically neutral device for bringing about economy and efficiency in government. It is first and foremost a political instrument and should be understood in this context," the report said.

It said lessons learned from state experience with the veto were "many and varied" and that "the transferability of this experience to the federal sector is limited" because of vast differences between state and federal budget processes.

President Reagan has long pressed for a constitutional amendment to give him the power to veto individual items — or lines — in spending bills.

He has included the call in every State of the Union address since 1984, calling it "a powerful tool against wasteful or extravagant spending," one which he said he was able to utilize as governor of California. But the study said that as California governor, Reagan actually accomplished more by merely hinting at this power, "accumulating political capital" in one-on-one meetings with individual legislators in which he promised not to veto pet projects.

"They often left the meeting feeling that they owed him one," said the report, written by Ronald C. Moe, a Library of Congress specialist in American government.

The study was an outgrowth of a report prepared for the House Rules Committee, Moe said.

The National Academy of Public Administration is a congressionally chartered organization whose membership includes elected and appointed officials of both parties. It regularly does research projects for units of state and federal government.

If adopted at the national level, the line-item veto could dramatically increase the number of vetoes. At the same time, the power "tends to spawn procedures designed to neutralize its impact," the report said.

This has happened in states, many of which have passed secondary procedures to bypass or soften the impact of the line-item veto process.

The study noted that 33 states had adopted a "bill recall" procedure whereby a bill can be recalled from a governor's desk, so modifications can be made and a veto confrontation avoided.

"The availability of the item veto will profoundly alter the relationship of the Congress to the president, to the advantage of the latter," the report said.

One of original motivations behind the line-item veto was "the reputation of state legislatures for corruption and the need to provide a check on hasty and ill-conceived legislation," the study said.

A key problem with the authority is what constitutes an "item," the study suggested.

May a governor reduce an item as well as veto it? And can he or she use the veto to alter the intent of legislation?

Different courts have come to different conclusions.

One ruff is not enough

By James Jacoby

This week we will look at some of the deals from the North American Collegiate Bridge Championship of 1987. This competition is a par contest, which means that results are based upon the participants' ability to bid and play correctly. Making or defeating a contract solely because of an opponent's error is not rewarded. Instead, what matters is that a competing pair find the correct line of play or defense.

South's opening bid was thin, but the quick trick in the K-Q of diamonds plus the seven-card holding in spades was enough. Note that in third position a pre-emptive three-bid would be proper, but not for an opening bid in first seat.

Against four spades, West led the two of clubs. East won the ace as declarer put on the queen. East did not even give a flicker of consideration to the chance that West might have led from J-8-2 of clubs, since that would have been anyone's last choice. So he returned the nine of clubs, signaling willingness for a heart return.

That placed West at the crossroads. You can see that a heart return would allow declarer to play three rounds of diamonds and shed his third club before attacking the trump suit. A second club ruff would be lost, since declarer's trumps have no losers other than the ace. Instead, West should lead a trump, since the only chance of setting the contract is for East to hold the spade ace. That will put East on lead before South can play diamonds, and one more club ruff will set the hand.

James Jacoby's books "Jacoby on Bridge" and "Jacoby on Card Games" (written with his father, the late Oswald Jacoby) are now available at bookstores. Both are published by Pharos Books.

Billions spent on defense projects

DALLAS (AP) — Billions of dollars worth of defense contracts in the Dallas-Fort Worth area have disappeared from public view because they are part of what the Pentagon calls its "black" budget.

Some area contractors work on projects so sensitive that they are above even "top secret" classification, the Dallas Morning News reported Sunday.

Those projects include a bomber that will use radar-evading "stealth" technology, new military attack planes with advanced electronics and an array of electronic devices used in spying.

The projects called "black" or "special access" because the Pentagon restricts the number of people with access to them and blacks out their costs in the defense budget.

Most black programs remain largely hidden from the scrutiny of taxpayers and members of Congress.

The Defense Department won't reveal the exact number and dollar value of black programs, citing national security reasons. But military analysts and budget watchers estimate that between $24 billion and $35 billion of the $299.5 billion requested by the Defense Department for fiscal 1989 is hidden.

The blackest programs never make it into the budget and the Pentagon doesn't confirm their existence.

Defense Department officials say they don't know exactly how much black work is performed in the Dallas-Fort Worth area. Michael D. Davis, a defense analyst at Lovett, Mitchell, Webb & Garrison Inc. in Houston, says that "every defense contractor has at least some classified work. The question is how much."

Texas took in $8.65 billion in total defense contracts in fiscal 1987, fourth in the Defense Department's contract rankings by state — behind New York, California and Massachusetts. Most analysts agreed that the state's ranking in black programs would probably correspond to its standing in total contracts.

Defense contractors refuse to talk about black programs, saying they must keep a low profile. The programs are so secret that people who work on them can't talk about their jobs at all outside their offices — even to their families.

"We don't discuss that we have special access programs," said Paul E. Hyatt, group security manager for Texas Instruments Inc.'s Defense Systems and Electronics Group.

E-Systems spokesman John Kumpf also said his company, which is considered a leader in electronic warfare systems, can't even confirm that it works on black programs.

"It calls too much attention to it," he said.

But area defense contractors and the Dallas-Fort Worth economy do have a huge stake in such projects.

ELECT PETE GREENE 132nd DISTRICT JUDGE for Scurry and Borden Counties of Texas

his experience as 132nd District Attorney, his experience as a Trial Lawyer and
"his common sense"
make him the Most Qualified Candidate

TO THE VOTERS OF SCURRY AND BORDEN COUNTIES OF TEXAS:

The undersigned citizens of this community are concerned about the election on Super Tuesday, March 8, 1988. Now, more than ever, we need conservative, competent and conscientious officials in our local governmental positions.

National and state-wide campaigns primarily rely upon publicity in identifying the more qualified candidates.

Rarely do these candidates come to your home and solicit your vote; however, often you vote for the politician who came to your home or business and asked for your vote without regard to the qualifications and experience of the candidate.

Many of you never know who the most qualified candidate is to vote for in state-wide judicial races; you merely guess or mark your ballot because of name recognition or place on the ballot. Often you are embarrassed after an unqualified candidate is elected who takes office; and, you generally must suffer for four years before correcting your mistake.

Please join with us in supporting Pete Greene, along with his wife, Donna, and five-year-old daughter, Erin, in his campaign for 132nd District Judge. Pete is a life-long resident of Scurry County, Texas, a practicing attorney, a stock/farmer and businessman.

He attended Texas Tech University and is a 1968 graduate of Baylor Law School and served in the United States Army.

He was appointed as 132nd District Attorney in February, 1971, at the age of 25, a position he served you in for almost 14 years.

His opponent, Tommie J. Mills, was appointed as 132nd District Attorney for less than one year and never tried a jury case and resigned leaving an extremely large backlog of cases on the docket when Mr. Greene took office. Mr. Mills applied and was appointed in 1986 as City Judge. His primary duties are to hear traffic cases, punishable by a maximum fine of $200.00. East European countries aiding anti-terrorism drive

WASHINGTON (AP) — East European governments are quietly cooperating with U.S. efforts to close business operations affiliated with the Abu Nidal terrorist group, say U.S. and Soviet bloc sources.

After he was forced to leave Iraq in 1983, Abu Nidal kept an apartment in Warsaw and his associates ran a trade operation from an office tower there, according to a Central Intelligence Agency report.

U.S. diplomats began pressuring the Polish government behind the scenes last May. In August, the Poles promised to close the operation, S.A.S.-International Commerce and Investments, and order its staff to leave the country. A similar operation was closed in East Germany.

"The front offices have been shut down in Poland and East Germany. They have told us and we believe that they have been shut down," said a State Department source.

"This doesn't necessarily mean that these governments have ended all their contacts with Abu Nidal's associates for good. We'd like to think so. It is something that remains to be seen," said the source, who like others interviewed over the past week spoke on condition of anonymity.

Abu Nidal, the nom de guerre of Palestinian-born Sabri al-Banna, is now believed to live in Tunisia, according to Soviet-bloc and administration sources.

Abu Nidal's group is blamed for numerous terrorist incidents including attacks in the Rome and Vienna airports on Dec. 27, 1985, in which 18 people were killed.

The head of S.A.S., Samir Hasan Najmeddin, was forced to leave Poland on Jan. 14, several days after the departure of his top deputy, according to Polish officials.

The Poles delayed the expulsions for nearly a month past a promised December deadline, upsetting some U.S. counterterrorism officials who pushed for release of an unclassified version of the CIA report.

U.S. diplomats dealing with Europe, meanwhile, sought to keep the affair under wraps, said administration sources.

Some details of the report were published in the New York Times, however, angering Polish leader Wojciech Jaruzelski, who complained about the leak during a January meeting in Warsaw with Deputy Secretary of State John C. Whitehead, the No. 1 official in the department, sources said.

The CIA report, which was discussed by administration officials but not shown to The AP, said that Najmeddin settled in Warsaw in 1973 and founded S.A.S. 10 years later to sell arms and other goods abroad, mainly in the Middle East. S.A.S. maintained offices on the 25th floor of the Intraco Building in Warsaw.

Poland earned badly needed foreign currency from the enterprise, and Abu Nidal's group kept most of the profit as well as weapons.

S.A.S. was the most important link in a chain of legitimate business enterprises affiliated with Abu Nidal in Europe, the U.S. report said.

Dermatologist may be helpful
DEAR DR. GOTT: About 10 years ago, I had a series of smallpox vaccinations for a continuing problem that I had with cold sores on my lips. A recent trip to Florida set them off again, and I now have three sores. Everyone I've talked to says you can get smallpox vaccinations any more, and Zovirax doesn't help.
DEAR READER: When smallpox vaccine was available several years ago, many patients with cold sores were helped by repeated vaccinations. Now that smallpox has been eradicated from the world, the vaccine is no longer manufactured. In its place, Zovirax — an anti-herpes virus medicine — is usually effective.
If Zovirax doesn't work for you, I suggest that you see a dermatologist for advice. Other treatment might be appropriate in your case. For example, sunscreen preparations often prevent fever blisters in patients who seem sensitive to ultraviolet light.
DEAR DR. GOTT: A few years ago, I became afraid of eating fat and cut it completely out of my diet. My hair and nails would not grow, my skin got coarse and my knees and elbows became like sandpaper. When I resumed eating some fat, everything went back to normal. Could you explain why this happened?
DEAR READER: Fat is an essential ingredient in a balanced diet. Our bodies need a supply of fat in order to function efficiently. Therefore, I suggest that you increase your intake of polyunsaturated cholesterol-free fat. Remember that most Americans tend to eat a diet that is too high in saturated animal fat. Experts recommend that about 30 per cent of daily caloric intake be made up of fat, primarily unsaturated oils. Meet with your doctor to discuss a particular diet that will be suitable for your needs.
To give you more information, I'm sending you a free copy of my Health Report, UNDERSTANDING CHOLESTEROL. Other readers who would like a copy should send $1 and their name and address to P.O. Box 91369, Cleveland, OH 44101-3369. Be sure to mention the title.
DEAR DR. GOTT: What causes bloodshot eyes and what can be done about them?
DEAR READER: Reddening of the whites of the eyes is usually due to irritation or infection. Most of us are familiar with the red, teary eyes that result from smog or air pollution. Pink eye (conjunctivitis) also is a common and mild infection. Finally, people who wear contact lenses may develop red eyes because of sensitivity to the solution used to clean the lenses. In most cases, red eyes are more a bother and a nuisance than a real disease. However, if the redness persists or recurs, I advise consultation with an ophthalmologist because, under certain circumstances, this symptom can reflect a serious eye disorder, such as glaucoma.

The Lady Tigers' other first-place effort came from Melissa Williams, who cleared 5-0 in the high jump.

Also making a strong bid for the Tigers was the 1600 relay team of Williams, Nichole Overman, Dana Fenton and Melody Pickering. They ran a 4:28.93 to place second behind San Angelo Lake View. The Maidens ran a 4:24.17.

The 800 relay team was made up of Teena Braziel, Shannon Warren, Michelle Pilgrim and team from our district ahead of us," noted Coach Paity Grimmer, who also had praise for the Tiger junior varsity squad.

"Although they didn't score any points, our junior varsity had somebody in every event and they all improved their times, some of them by as much as a minute in the distance events. It was tough on them because they were competing against varsity teams. I was very proud of them."

Arkansas Coach Nolan Richardson says a 75-65 win over Texas Tech made a third-place Southwest Conference finish easier to take.

"I was scared of how we would play since the last two days our players have been moping," he said after the win Sunday. "When they didn't get that championship ring because of the (82-77) loss at Houston, they really took it hard."

Richardson said he hoped his team's 20-win season will be enough to grab a berth in the NCAA tournament.

The win gave the Razorbacks a third-place finish in the Southwest Conference, 11-5 and 20-7 overall. Tech finished seventh at 4-12 and 9-18.

Arkansas lost an opportunity to tie for the SWC title when it lost to Houston, 82-77, Thursday night. In SWC action Saturday, Houston edged Rice 81-65, Texas A&M defeated Texas Christian 66-60 and Southern Methodist beat Chicago State 83-66.

Rolando Ferreira scored 18 points and blocked five shots to lead Houston.

Horace Chaney hit five 3-pointers for the Cougars and finished with 17 points.

The loss eliminated the Owls from the post-season basketball tournament. All but the last-place team qualify.

MIDLAND - Conference most valuable player Larry Johnson ruled the hoop for 34 points and 12 rebounds, leading Odessa to a sweep of Region V Tournament action here Saturday.

The Wranglers' 78-73 victory over tournament host Midland gave Odessa its second trip to the NJCAA National Tournament in less than a week. Odessa's Lady Wranglers clinched a berth to the women's national tournament on Thursday.

Crenshaw wins Doral Open

MIAMI (AP) - Ben Crenshaw rolled in an 18-foot putt to edge Mark McCumber and Chip Beck and win the Doral Open.

"I wanted to yell. You bet I did," Crenshaw said of the stroke that proved to be the difference in his one-shot victory Sunday.

Beck and McCumber each came to the 18th needing a birdie to tie Crenshaw and force a playoff. Each had a putt in the 30-foot range to do it. Each left it short.

"I couldn't look," said Crenshaw. "I kept thinking about the L.A. Open last year," where T.C.

Chen dropped a long birdie putt on the final hole to tie Crenshaw, then beat him in a playoff.

Crenshaw shot a 274 total, 14 under par. McCumber and Beck tied for second at 275.

Ray Floyd was fourth alone at 276.

Aided by the collapse of Bobby Wadkins, Crenshaw came from four shots back with a bogey-free final round of 66, which included birdies on two of the last four holes.

The victory was worth $180,000 from the total purse of $1 million and pushed Crenshaw's earnings for the second to $233,248.

JV baseball team rips Brownfield

Snyder's young Tigers came up with nine fifth-inning runs and went on to blitz Brownfield in a junior varsity baseball game here Saturday.

The game was the first of the season for the Tigers, who had an earlier game cancelled.

Snyder trailed 2-0 after the first inning, but got three runs in the second to take the lead and never relinquished it again. Three more runs in the third made it a 6-2 ballgame and the score was 7-3 heading into the fifth when Snyder managed nine more scores.

Gilbert Hernandez took the win. He gave up three runs on five hits in five innings of work. Jamie Morton finished up without allowing the Cubs another hit.

Snyder cracked 13 hits in the game, including six doubles. The effort was led by Willie Garcia, Jason West and Lee Hamilton, who contributed three runs-batted-in apiece. Tracy Braziel, Toby Goodwin, Carl McClurg and Simon Gutierrez brought home two base runners each. Morton had one RBI.

Others getting hits for Snyder were Shane McCarter and Steve Ybarra.

Gutierrez reached base five times and scored all five. McClurg got aboard four times and scored four, and McCarter reached safely four times and scored three runs.

Next action for the junior varsity will be today at 5 p.m. when they entertain Abilene Cooper at Moffett Field.

The set fee for AVE courses is now required as part of guidelines from the Texas Higher Education Coordinating Board.

Other "new business" agenda items include:

- Approval of the small class report for the spring semester. This lists classes which have enrollments of less than 10 students.
- Consider renewing the policy agreement with the Scurry County Museum, first signed in 1977. The document outlines responsibilities of both parties. Among these items, WTC provides a building and janitorial services and the museum provides insurance for its collection.

Boards gain new candidates each, Martin in place 3 and incumbent Mike Jordan for place 2.

On the college board, Ball has signed up for place 5, the seat now held by Edwin Parks, who has indicated he will not be a candidate for re-election.

College board members do not represent a specific area of the district, but do run for specific seats on the board.

Related to the college board, Ball's announcement makes it one candidate each for three expiring posts on the board. Two other incumbents, R.C. Patton for place 6, and John Gayle for place 7, are unopposed.

Ball, who lives at 208 36th St., has been in Scurry County for 35 years.

The filing deadline for the school, college and Snyder city council posts is March 23.

Bush picks up newspaper endorsements

DALLAS (AP) — Texas newspapers have rallied solidly behind George Bush with endorsements of his Republican bid for president, but are split when it comes to backing a candidate for the Democratic nomination.

The newspapers cite a long and impressive resume in endorsing the vice president, who calls Texas his adopted home state.

Among the Democratic contenders in Tuesday's primaries, Tennessee Sen. Albert Gore, Massachusetts Gov. Michael Dukakis and Missouri Rep. Richard Gephardt have picked up Lone Star state newspaper endorsements.

The Wichita Falls Times Record News called Gephardt a leader and consensus builder in Congress who is not afraid to tackle tough issues: "He's shrewd and he has a grasp of the economic problems facing our nation."

The Fort Worth Star-Telegram, meanwhile, cited Dukakis' "demonstrated success in the governor's chair" of once-economically troubled Massachusetts in its endorsement.

"Now in his third term as governor of that state, Dukakis has left no doubt that he can make the hard choices. He repeatedly has balanced the state's budget, and the federal government obviously could use a good dose of that," the Star-Telegram wrote.

"Dukakis is a problem-solving presidential aspirant with workable ideas, demonstrated skills and more government executive experience than the other Democratic contenders. He merits his party's support in Texas," it added.

In its endorsement of Gore, The Dallas Morning News said he offers the greatest potential for realigning the Democratic Party.

dent, presented a plaque of appreciation to Potts. During his remarks Kattes asked the audience to think about "what the chamber has done for you." He also said that if complaints are directed either to himself or a member of the chamber board of director or the chamber manager then they will be acted upon. He also said compliments are welcome also.

The Rev. Jerry Kunkel closed out the program with his inspirational address based on the acronym RELOAD. He said that people in the Texas are "living on the edge" and the only way to cope is to RELOAD which stands for the following points:

- Rebel against normality.
- Evacuate your interests.
- Learn to laugh.
- Other oriented.
- Accept limitations.
- Defeat defeat.

Kunkel told the audience that there is a difference between being right and being correct. He also said fear enslaves us. He said people must learn to do for other people. He said we must use our God-given talents, but accept our limitations. To defeat defeat Kunkel said "we must hold Jesus' hand."

Report says canal is mismanaged

NEW YORK (AP) — Political appointees installed by the Panamanian government are mismanaging operations of the Panama Canal that have been turned over by the United States, a newspaper reported today.

"Any user of those facilities will tell you there are difficulties now that simply did not exist 10 years ago," an unidentified Panamanian economist told The New York Times.

Among the facilities suffering from mismanagement are ports, marine bunkering installations, a railroad, a bridge and air traffic control, according to the Times, which interviewed canal employees and shipping experts.

"This government has put a political aspect to an equation that has no room-for-politics," said a Panamanian engineer who has worked at the canal for more than a decade. "As soon as you start to mix Panamanian politics with the running of the canal, that is the end of things."

The country's political situation has been particularly troubled in recent weeks.

Conservative votes sought

DALLAS (AP) — At rallies and at churches, Republican presidential candidate Pat Robertson appealed to conservatives to help him in the Super Tuesday primary and restore traditional values to the country.

"Now's the time for the conservatives of Texas and all others in the South to coalesce behind me because we're going to pull some wonderful things, some surprises," Robertson said Sunday at a rally at the Westin Hotel.

Robertson planned stops in Abilene and Wichita Falls today, before leaving for Shreveport, La., Monday afternoon.

Capping off a day of campaigning that included speaking at six Dallas-area churches, Robertson declined to predict how he would fare in Tuesday's primary elections, beyond saying that his results would be a surprise.

He said fundamentalist Christians must get involved in government and change the course of events.

And he said the change can start Tuesday with the churches he visited, which are in the state's 24th Congressional District.

"If everyone in those churches votes and brings one more person with them, I will win this district," Robertson said.

Texas is the biggest prize in the southern regional primary. The state will send 111 delegates to the GOP national convention.

Robertson told about 300 precinct workers that the United States should take a stronger military role.

"In New England they thought it was a gaffe when I said there were missiles in Cuba, but those Cubans (in Florida) don't believe it's a gaffe. They believe there's Russian missiles in Cuba," he said.

At the rally, Robertson picked up the endorsement of Texas GOP Vice Chairwoman Diana Denman.

Earlier, he addressed six area congregations, saying he would return Christian values to the White House.

"We're not ready to go into the 21st century, we've got to go back and re-lay the foundation of America with moral strength," he said at a sermon Sunday evening at the non-denominational Church on the Rock in Rockwall.

Robertson, in a 1½-day swing through several North Texas cities before the Super Tuesday primary, said that the United States needs to return to its Christian roots to overcome its problems.

"What we need is a powerful spiritual revival in our country and that is only something the Lord will send in answer to our prayers," the Republican told members of Templo de Albanza Church in Dallas.

A Sincere Thanks

I am deeply appreciative of the honor and gift given to me at the Chamber of Commerce Banquet last Saturday evening. Those events came as a surprise to me. The evening was made even more memorable by the surprise appearance, thoughtfully arranged by others, of our sons and granddaughter - Ben from Montana and Bob and Elizabeth from Houston. Illness on the part of our grandson prevented him and his mother from being present also.

The gift, an imposing White Buffalo sculpture with its handsome stand, enables a lasting playback of a unique day in my life. The sculpture now occupies a special place in my study.

An account of the Chamber banquet is carried elsewhere in the paper. It was a delightful evening. Betterment of our community, expressed in different ways, was the key theme threaded throughout the program. This is a common goal.

It has been my pleasure to work with many people in different endeavors and to share accomplishments with many in the community. Frequently, those accomplishments have been realized largely because of broad based, dedicated cooperation within the community. I am indebted to many with whom I have worked. In my hometown I have been given an honor - one far more meaningful than any I received in the corporate world. It was, I think, more than I deserve. For this I am deeply appreciative. My family joins me in saying to the President and the Executive Committee of the Chamber, and to all others associated with the selection process, with humility we thank you.
