

Two on court returned, Greene nominated

Two incumbent county commissioners—C.D. Gray and Duaine Davis—were assured new terms Tuesday in the Democratic primary and the party's nominee for district judge—in voting that entailed both Scurry and Borden Counties—was finalized with former district attorney Pete Greene selected.

In Scurry County, the combined ballot for both primaries saw 46 percent of the registered voters turn out. There are currently 8,440 voters registered and 3,966 went to the polls Tuesday.

The majority of these voted in the Democratic Primary, the only ballot with locally contested races. Some 3,437 Democrats went to the polls here Tuesday and 529 Republicans.

The closest race involved the Pct. 3 commissioner's seat between Gray and challenger Lawton Taylor. Five voting precincts vote in the Pct. 3 race, and the outcome Tuesday was not known until around 9 p.m. when the last box came in.

That box was from Ira, and Gray carried it 117 to 52, a sufficent number to place him in front of Taylor who had been leading up to that point.

The final tally was 653 votes for Gray compared to 614 for Taylor. In the other commissioner's race, incumbent Davis won by a margin of 87 votes over Cross. With four voting precincts casting ballots in that race, Davis polled 350 to 263 for Cross.

For the Democratic nomination for district judge, which will see the winner face incumbent Gene Dulaney in November, the Scurry County total was 2,236 for Greene and 984 for Tommie J. Mills.

In Borden County, Greene polled 183 votes and Mills received 155, making the total ballot 2,419 for Greene and 1,139 for Mills.

Other locally contested races on the Democratic ballot included for the post of county constable, with incumbent Bill Love winning over challenger Jim Sneed polled 1,887 of his party's vote compared to 1,194 for Bowlin.

Both ballots also included unopposed local candidates which, with the exception of District Judge Gene Dulaney, will be without opponents in the November General Election.

In the Republican Primary Tuesday, Dulaney received 410 votes. Other Republican candidates unopposed for local offices were County Attorney Mike Line, receiving 386 votes; and County Chairman Donald Burk, receiving 390.

Scurry County also had a local candidate seeking the Republican nomination for state representative of the 78th District, Rod Waller, who will face incumbent Democrat Steve Carrier in November. Locally, Waller received 396 votes Tuesday. His opponent Carrier received 2,452 in his unopposed bid for the Democratic nomination.

Scurry balloting likes Gore, Bush

Albert Gore and Michael Dukakis led Democratic presidential contenders in Scurry County Tuesday while Republican Pat Robertson made a strong showing behind George Bush.

Gore, the Tennessee senator who had gained the lion's share of endorsements from leading Texas politicians, led other would-be presidential Democrats here with 1,075 votes to Dukakis' 760, Dick Gephardt's 618, Jesse Jackson's 217, Gary Hart's 154, Paul Simon's 93, Lyndon LaRouche's 25, David Duke's 17 and Bruce Babbitt's 16.

In the much lighter Republican turnout, Bush had 294 votes to 135 for Robertson, 55 for Bob Doie, 15 for Jack Kemp, two for Pete du Pont and one for Alexander Haig.

U.S. Rep. Beau Boulter of Amarillo narrowly led Gatesville businessman Wes Gilbreath for the Republican U.S. Senate nomination, 126 to 113, as Ned Sneed and Milton Fox trailed with totals of 98 and 62.

The contested GOP primary for railroad commissioner saw P.S. (Sam) Ervin finish with 144 votes to 116 for Dale Steffes and 103 for Ed Emmett, while on the Democratic side, incumbent Jim Nugent had 1,744 votes to Jerry Langdon's 682 and John Thomas Henderson's 453.

In the race for the Democratic nomination to the 11th Court of Appeals in Eastland, incumbent William (Bud) Arnot won over Lamesa District Judge George Hansard, 1,855 to 811 in Scurry County voting.

Demos favor Dukakis...

Texans boost Bush

AUSTIN (AP) — Texans turned out in record numbers to Bushwhack the vice president's GOP rivals in Super Tuesday balloting and give the Rev. Jesse Jackson one of the biggest boosts of his presidential campaign.

An estimated 2.7 million voters crowded the state's polling places Tuesday to cast votes in dozens of races, eclipsing the 2.3 million record set in 1972. Secretary of State Jack Rains said today.

Besides bestowing the crown jewel of the state's 111 GOP delegates on Vice President George Bush, voters awarded Massachusetts Gov. Michael Dukakis first place in the Democratic chase for the primary's largest prize — Texas.

But Jackson held tight on runner-up, with 24 percent of the vote to Dukakis' 33, and secured 42 Democratic delegates to Dukakis' 43 in the richest harvest yet of his outspoken campaign.

"I feel very good about it," Jackson said in Houston before leaving for Chicago today. "I think the No. 1 showings are obviously impressive. Here in Texas that's a tremendous statement. We certainly ran a more cost-efficient campaign."

Bush, meanwhile, got a welcome home so strong it took him by surprise after fellow Texans gave him 65 percent of their votes.

"This is a unique political happening... it has exceeded my fondest expectations," he told several hundred supporters crowding a ballroom at the Houston hotel soon after polls closed Tuesday night.

Tom Loeffler, the former congressman who is co-chairman of Bush's Texas campaign, gave the vice president a T-shirt emblazoned with "Bush in '88 — Texas Victory — Super Tuesday," while the crowd cheered and waved U.S. flags. "It's a wonderful evening, I'll tell you," Bush said.

Dukakis, in a televised interview from Chicago, was equally effusive about his showing in the Lone Star state: "I feel very good about the South. I feel good about tonight (Tuesday), obviously."

With nearly all the Texas Democratic presidential primary vote counted, Tennessee Sen. Albert Gore was in third place with about 20 percent and Missouri Rep. Richard Gephardt was running fourth at 14 percent.

Former Colorado Sen. Gary Hart had 5 percent. With barely 1 percent each were Illinois Sen. Paul Simon, who didn't contest the Super Tuesday states, and former Arizona Gov. Bruce Babbitt, who withdrew from the race but remained on the ballot.

TDC judge sets 'docket' meeting in Snyder Friday

A second "docket control conference" has been set for 4 p.m. Friday in 132nd District Court by Judge Joe Evins, the judge appointed to preside in five civil suits filed to block construction of a prison in Scurry County.

Judge Evins ordered the "on-the-record" hearing during a telephone conference with attorneys Wednesday morning.

Judge Evins was appointed to hear the five cases in January after 132nd District Judge Gene Dulaney stepped down.

A hearing was held Monday afternoon on a motion by plaintiffs asking that Judge Evins be disqualified because of bias plaintiffs claimed were expressed in remarks made to the media and in statements the judge made in the first informal docket control conference held in Kerrville on Feb. 29.

Retired District Judge Curt Steib of San Angelo presided over the Monday hearing and denied the motion that Evins be replaced as presiding judge.

Following the hearing Monday, attorneys held a telephone conference with Judge Evins who instructed them to call again on Wednesday morning so that a schedule for pre-trial and further discovery could be set.

It was during the Wednesday morning telephone conference that Judge Evins said he would be in Snyder Friday for the 4 p.m. hearing.

On Nov. 9, Snyder was selected as the site for a 1,000-bed prison to be built by the Texas Department of Corrections. Snyder was chosen after a two-year effort on the part of civic leaders to obtain a unit here to boost the sagging economy. The prison will employ 250 persons with an annual payroll of $6.7 million.

Construction is due to begin next month and total cost of the facility is expected to exceed $15 million.

Now that Texas voters have had a shot at Super Tuesday, we're ready to move the primary elections back to late spring.

Changing the traditional time of selecting party nominees to accommodate the presidential herd just doesn't make sense. In the past, there have been instances of local candidates riding the political coattails of a national candidate.

But if you look at the slate of presidential hopefuls, it seems that it may be the locals' coattails which were ridden this year.

Political observers say it's impossible to run a successful campaign without a consultant. It's been our observation that a consultant is often either a defeated office holder or one who got tired of a regular job.

But now we know why consultants get to charge those juicy fees—their work generally doesn't last very long. According to a national survey, only one out of three consultants remain in the job after five years. The same study reveals that only one in 10 will stick it out for 10 years.

Politics have taken a strange turn. In the old days, a person was advised that when we "make our own beds, we have to lie in it." Now days, when politicians have anything to do with a bed, they lie their way out of it.

Social columnists in Washington are secretly hoping that Gary Hart still has a chance to win the nomination and to ultimately become president.

Nobody is really interested in his governmental philosophy or his politics. However, most assume that he's have one heck of an inaugural party.

Proposal to make English official language favored

DALLAS (AP) — Opponents argued that making English the state's official language was a divisive measure, but Republicans spoke with almost one voice on the issue.

In one of the most lopsided decisions in the Texas Super Tuesday elections, more than nine in 10 GOP primary voters endorsed a non-binding referendum to make English the official language of Texas and the United States.

"We were hoping for approval way, that some school districts in South Texas used 20 years ago when they would require children to wear a yellow star if they lapsed into Spanish in the classroom or on the playground," Slagle said.

Zaeske said the June poll showed 70 percent of the Democrats surveyed said they favor the idea of establishing English as the official language of the state, and 75.4 percent of independents approved of the proposal.

The higher numbers among Republican voters Tuesday suggest to Zaeske that approval among other groups has also grown.

"I think the reason for that is that as the issue becomes better known and people reassess what it means, more and more voters are realizing that we're not trying to keep people from learning and speaking foreign languages," said Zaeske, whose group helped place the proposal on the GOP ballot.

"We just think we should have a common language — like we have a common currency."

But Texas Democratic Party Chairman Bob Slagle criticized the measure, saying it would be more "politically courageous" to do what is right than to capitalize on what all polls show to be a popular notion.

"I think it is terribly divisive, and I think it causes Mexican Americans who already know they must speak English in order to advance in this society to feel they are being picked on," Slagle said.

"It's the same principle, in a

About 93 percent of those voting in the Texas Republican primary favored the statement, "English should be established as the official language of the state of Texas and the United States of America."

Ruben Bonilla, a Corpus Christi lawyer who worked against the proposal, lashed out against Republican voters Tuesday, saying they are "not as enlightened or intelligent a voter as we have pretended them to be in the past."

An attempt to amend the Texas Constitution with an English language proposal died during the last session of the Legislature.

Protection for Abused Kids Can Protect Family as Well

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1988 by Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: This concerns your reply to "Worried Grandma," whose teen-aged unwed daughter had left her baby alone. You were right to suggest that the child should be removed from the young mother's care. It would be a kindness for all concerned.

Abby, please tell your readers that there is help for parents who are having difficulty caring for their children. Child protective service agencies exist in every state, but, unfortunately, many who could use our help do not call us out of fear that their children will be taken away. Neighbors and relatives, as well, often allow a child to continue to suffer or to remain at risk for the same reason.

In most cases, children are neglected or abused because of a problem in the home that is correctable, such as a young, inexperienced parent who shows poor judgment, or a family under financial stress with no friends or relatives nearby to help. Punishing people does not make them better parents. We look for the source of the problem and provide a wide variety of services to correct it, including counseling, parenting education, respite day care and many others. Only in drastic cases do we immediately seek custody of children, and even then we try to reunite the family as soon as the child's safety can be assured.

Early intervention on our part can keep many homes intact, but we depend on the community to contact us.

DEAR ABBY: I live in Phoenix, and when I travel out of state, I get questions like "How do you get from place to place?" "Do you go on horseback on dirt roads?" And, "Do you live in an adobe?"

I find such ignorant questions annoying. Phoenix is a very modern city — and one of the fastest growing cities in the United States! I travel by automobile on paved streets and highways and I live in a house!

Why do so many people have the wrong idea about Phoenix?
FED-UP PHOENICIAN

DEAR FED UP: Perhaps Phoenix needs a public relations phace-lift?

DEAR ABBY: Recently you published a letter from a woman who said that while she was contemporary in her thinking and happily married, she was concerned about the fact that sex therapists recommend fantasizing to add spice to a long marriage suffering from creeping boredom — and yet, "some-where in the Bible it says that thinking lustful thoughts is as great a sin as actually committing the sin." She signed herself, "Afraid to Fantasize."

Abby, the point that some religions try to make about sexuality in marriage is not that it is fulfilled by perfect people who are lustless. Rather, the point is that two fallible people with enough mutual forgiveness and humor can discover enough grace from God to be lovingly sexual with each other for a lifetime. Certainly, fantasy as well as lust will be present, and, hopefully, be handled creatively for the oneness of the couple. Instead of demanding an instant answer from Matthew 5, I would encourage the lady to talk with her ordained minister about the spirit and the letter of Scriptures' moral injunction, and talk with her sex therapist as well as a marriage counselor. And she might even talk to her husband.

Workshop held here recently

A pre course workshop on advance cardiac life support was held at Cogdell Memorial Hospital Friday and Saturday with 15 persons attending the two day affair.

Hosted by Cogdell Hospital, the course was taught by two staff members of Midland Memorial Hospital, Janet Courtrou and Andrea Prokopeak, BSN, RN, CCRN, and it was sponsored by West Texas Rural Health.

The pre course workshop was to give students of the American Heart Association advance cardiac life support program a head start on the course and certification test that will be held in August.

The class taught advanced cardiac emergency procedures that are accepted by the American Heart Association.

This is the second time that the course has been taught outside of Midland. The actual course and test will be held in Midland in August.

BROWNSVILLE, Texas (AP) — Tom Keller used to pride himself on his skills as a handyman but that changed after he took on the job of overseeing removal of asbestos from district schools.

Keller, deputy superintendent of instructional services with the Brownsville Independent School District, said he realized that the tiles he pried off his floor and the textured paints he used in the past may have contained significant amounts of asbestos.

"We've all been so exposed," Keller said. "It's dangerous, yes. I have this sick feeling that I've already blown it."

He predicted Bisd's asbestos abatement program will cost the district approximately $1.6 million in the next year.

Asbestos fibers can escape into the air and lodge themselves deep in the lungs and remain there undetected for years before causing any problems. Physicians are unclear on how much asbestos is too much, but they know that exposure can cause asbestosis and mesothelioma.

East will win the queen and now you will have only one entry to dummy to finesse spades — and that's not enough.
Best is to play jack of hearts from your hand and let it ride. If it wins the trick, you can give up a spade and make the slam. If the jack of hearts loses to the queen, you can reach dummy twice in the heart suit to take the spade finesse twice. Thus the slam will make when the queen of hearts is with West or when the king of spades is with East.

In search of trick 12

By James Jacoby
Since the South hand appears less than once in a blue moon, bridge books won't tell you how it should be bid. The diagrammed approach is reasonable. Open two clubs, then, after responder makes the expected negative two-diamond response, jump to four no-trump to show more high-card points than you have ever seen. When you bid this way, your fondest hope is that partner will now bid a slam. If he passes with a sigh, his hand may be so bad that four no-trump will not make, and then you're sorry you bid so much. Today, all's well since North raises you to six no-trump, but you still have to make the contract.
There are various ways to try for 12 tricks. One approach is to win the opening lead and immediately give up a trick to the king of spades. Then you can cash out all of your high-card tricks, hoping to determine who is most likely to hold the queen of hearts. Another approach is to play a low heart to the 10; if that wins, you can try a spade finesse. Unfortunately

Popular vote for Dukakis

by The Associated Press

Small grass-roots fires broke out across the Texas political landscape at party precinct meetings and caucuses after the Super Tuesday primary.

For the most part, it will be Friday before the smoke clears and an indication of who won the backstage party fights emerges.

Vice President George Bush bagged the limit of 111 Republican delegates in Tuesday's primaries, but the GOP goodwill he enjoyed at the polls was in sharp contrast to the battles at the precinct level.

"I couldn't believe it. It was a clobbering," said Doug Olney after presiding over a raucous precinct meeting in north Irving where supporters of Republican presidential hopeful Pat Robertson swept the delegates.

Those delegates will not have a hand in selecting a party presidential nominee, but they will write the party rules and platforms heading toward the GOP national convention in New Orleans this summer.

Olney says the make-up of those rules-writing delegates will determine the direction of the party.

On the Democratic side, a more complex and high-stakes game was waged.

Of the 197 state Democratic delegates to the national convention, 119 were awarded based on the vote in 31 senatorial districts. To get any of those delegates, a candidate had to have at least 15 percent of the vote in a district. Then the delegates are allocated on a proportional basis.

Fourteen delegate slots are reserved for party officials. The remaining 64 are up for grabs.

Of the 119 delegates, Massachusetts Gov. Mike Dukakis, with 33 percent of the vote statewide, won 43 delegates to the national convention, the News Election Service reported.

The Rev. Jesse Jackson, with 24 percent of the vote, collected 42 delegates, while Tennessee Sen. Albert Gore Jr., with 20 percent, won 25 delegates. U.S. Rep. Richard Gephardt of Missouri collected nine delegates.

But after the polls closed, supporters fought over the 64 delegates that will be chosen at the party's state convention June 16-17.

The Dallas Morning News reported that a sample of 202 key precincts of the 6,933 statewide showed that Dukakis and Jackson would each pick up as many as 23 of the 64 delegates.

Dukakis officials worried that his showing among voters would not be reflected in his total delegate count.

"We might have fared better in the popular vote during the day than what we fared at night," said Dallas County Commissioner Chris Semos, the co-chairman of Dukakis' effort in Dallas County.

First City is facing deadline for action

HOUSTON (AP) — The successful tender of 90 percent of First City Bancorporation of Texas Inc.'s outstanding public debt is the latest hurdle that must be overcome before the bank can complete its proposed $1.5 billion restructuring.

On Tuesday, First City extended the deadline for holders of $225.9 million in three classes of outstanding First City notes to tender them.

The deadline had been scheduled to expire Tuesday evening, but was extended to March 15 after First City announced that only 41.4 percent, or $93.6 million, of the eligible debt securities had been tendered.

The successful debt tender was one of three conditions still to be met before Texas' fourth-largest bank could be restructured under an investor group headed by former Chicago banker A. Robert Abboud.

The Federal Deposit Insurance Corp. has pledged to assist the transaction with a $970 million note, which would make it the second largest bank bailout since Continental Illinois Bank & Trust Co. of Chicago in 1984.

Three conditions already have been satisfied. Last Friday, more than two-thirds of First City's common and preferred shareholders voted to sell most of the bank's $11 billion in assets to a new holding company formed by Abboud.

Two other conditions — the transfer of certain tax benefits and the commitment for a line of bank credit to "new" First City — also have been met.

All that remains, aside from the debt tender, is an agreement from First City's landlords to reduce some leases and the successful offering of a new issue of First City stock.

Analysts say that if the debt tender succeeds, the lease reductions also are likely to follow.

Your Birthday

March 10, 1988

In the year ahead, circumstances will unfold in a manner that will cause you to raise your sights where your goals are concerned. This will be a fortuitous development.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) For the next few days your behavior will be closely scrutinized by both business associates and friends. Don't worry, however, because they'll like what they see. Major changes are ahead for Pisces in the coming year. Send for your Astro-Graph predictions today. Mail $1 to Astro-Graph, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101-3428. Be sure to state your zodiac sign.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Usually you're the one who comes up with the bright ideas, but today, a friend may have some thoughts that have greater luster.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Being helpful to another today might not yield immediate compensation, but at a later date, the accounts will be balanced.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) It will help revitalize your outlook if you do something fun and social today. Pick a perky partner who is also searching for zest in his/her life.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Over the next few days you'll do your best work if you're involved in creative projects. Try to find things to do that stimulate your imagination.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) This can be a pleasant day for you if you relax and let go, and don't worry about mundane things. Later you can catch up on any small tasks you temporarily shelve.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Conditions that affect your security are in a more favorable trend. However, what is now transpiring might not be totally visible.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Don't neglect any matters at this time that require personal communication. If you keep channels open, you're going to get some good news in return.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) It looks like the ways and means to acquire something you've been wanting are going to be available. Don't lose faith and settle for second best.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Some restraints have been alleviated, you should now be able to operate more independently to get important things accomplished that are of concern to you personally.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) You'll fare better in your involvements today if you keep a low profile. Stay in touch with events, but don't try to get out front and lead them.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) If you're reclusive today, it will make you feel very uneasy. You need to be where the action is, doing things with friends whose companionship you enjoy.

School is also shelter

NEW YORK (AP) — By day, St. Agnes Boys Catholic High School is where nearly 300 teenagers are educated. Hours later, it's a nocturnal haven for hundreds of homeless in an unusual time-share concept.

Many of the boys at St. Agnes, run by the Marist Brothers, come from some of the city's tougher areas — Harlem, Hell's Kitchen, the Lower East Side.

They gulp down their lunches in the school cafeteria, taking advantage of the time allotted afterward to play a quick game of basketball in the gym.

Worn knapsacks stuffed with books and paper are thrown on the floor, the mandatory ties are tucked inside the dress shirts, and the boys are shooting free-throws and tramping the lines painted on the floor the day before.

A half-day later, noon has turned to midnight and the gym is still occupied. The boys are gone; replaced by 350 of the city's estimated 60,000 homeless.

St. Agnes is transformed into the Grand Central Drop-In Center.

Folding chairs that had been neatly stacked against the wall in the day are spread out across the floor. Homeless men are sleeping, stretching over two or three chairs. The only noise comes from snoring. A guard is posted outside the door.

In contrast to the neatly dressed boys here earlier, many of the men are unkempt, unshaven and unwashed. A few appear to be in poor health, either physically or mentally.

Downstairs, in the cafeteria, men and a few women are sitting at tables talking.

They will all be out by 5:30 a.m. Two hours and a cleaning crew later, school will start.

Longtime senator defeated in primary

AUSTIN (AP) — The man who unseated longtime state Sen. Grant Jones says the incumbent lost his renomination bid because he had forgotten about the folks back home.

"The senator had lost touch with his district. He simply neglected it," said Temple Dickson, the Sweetwater lawyer who Tuesday won the Democratic nomination for the Central and West Texas Senate seat Jones had held since 1974.

There is no Republican candidate in the district that stretches from Temple to Abilene. Jones, 65, lived in Abilene for many years but moved to Temple in 1985.

With nearly all the precincts reporting early today, Dickson had 56.2 percent to 43.8 percent for Jones.

"They wanted somebody that would stay in touch and be interested in what was happening to the families that live in the district," Dickson said.

In his 23-year Legislative career, which began in the House where Dickson was a deskmate in the 1960s, Jones became one of the state's most powerful lawmakers.

He has been a top ally of Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby and chaired the powerful Senate Finance Committee since 1979.

"He has absolutely irreplaceable knowledge about the budgetary process," said Hobby, who went into the district and campaigned for Jones.

For Jones, the battle against Dickson marked his first true ballot-box test since defeating incumbent Tom Moore of Waco for the Senate seat in 1972.

"I'm amazed how campaign techniques have changed," he said during the campaign.

When it was over late Tuesday night, he said, "Our polls indicated that the outcome would have been different."

Jones said Dickson television ads made the difference. One ad featured an elderly woman complaining that a bill Jones supported could take homes from old people. The measure allows the Department of Human Services to seek liens on the homes of some relatives of deceased Texans who had received Medicaid benefits.

The ads were misleading and factually incorrect, Jones said.

But Dickson said it was Jones' record, including support for recent tax increases — not the TV ads — that defeated the incumbent. Jones chaired the Senate's finance panel in 1987, when lawmakers approved the largest tax hike in state history, totaling $5.7 billion.

Jones appeared to be the only Texas Legislature incumbent to lose Tuesday. Sen. Richard Anderson, D-Marshall, coasted to an easy win over Mickey Smith of Kilgore, taking 56 percent of the vote. State Rep. Bill Haley, D-Center, beat Henderson lawyer David Hill to win the nomination for the Senate seat being vacated by Roy Blake, D-Nacogdoches. Haley had 60 percent of the vote with most precincts reporting from the East Texas district.

Teel Bivins, an Amarillo lawyer-cattlemaster, won the GOP nomination for the Senate seat being vacated by Bill Sarpalius, D-Amarillo, who ran for Congress. Democrats Mel Phillips, an Amarillo businessman, and H. Bryan Poff Jr., a Canyon lawyer, advanced to a runoff for the nomination. Phillips drew 40.5 percent of the vote and Poff had 31.8 percent.

U.S. sanctions deemed possible this week

WASHINGTON (AP) — Panama's military regime could find itself subject to "a whole panoply" of economic sanctions by the end of this week, including the withholding of $6.5 million this month for use of the Panama Canal, U.S. officials say. Final decisions on the sanctions are expected at an inter-agency meeting scheduled Thursday, said the officials, who insisted on anonymity. A formal announcement is likely either Thursday or Friday, they added. The economic punishment is intended to aggravate an already acute cash shortage in that country and pressure military strongman Manuel Antonio Noriega out of office.

The officials spoke late Tuesday, the same day that the House Foreign Affairs Committee urged president Reagan to consider economic sanctions against Panama's military regime. White House spokesman Marlin Fitzwater said in response to the House committee vote that the administration would not take such action lightly.

and for a return to civilian rule under President Eric Arturo Delvalle.

Another sanction being considered is the withdrawal of Panamanian participation in a system of trade preferences accorded to most Third World countries, the officials said. This would make Panamanian products more expensive in U.S. markets.

Another possibility, they said, is Panama's exclusion from the Caribbean Basin Initiative.

television evangelist Pat Robertson had 15 percent, Kansas Sen. Robert Dole 14 percent and New York Rep. Jack Kemp 5 percent. Former Delaware Gov. Pete du Pont and Alexander Haig, who both withdrew from the race, had less than 1 percent.

In other races, Democratic U.S. Sen. Lloyd Bentsen easily won renomination in his bid for a fourth term. Top Republican challengers Beau Boulter, who gave up his congressional seat for the Senate race, and Wes Gilbreath, a Houston investor making his first race for a political office, will meet in a runoff.

The winner squares off against Bentsen in November.

Meanwhile, veteran state Sen. Grant Jones, chairman of the Senate Finance Committee and one of Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby's lieutenants, lost his bid Tuesday for renomination to Sweetwater lawyer Temple Dickson.

On the Supreme Court level, Lloyd Doggett, a Democrat who lost a 1986 race for U.S. Senate, made a political comeback by winning his party's nomination for a seat on the state's highest civil court. Justice Raul Gonzalez also won the Democratic Party nomination for the court, and Justice William Kilgarlin appeared headed for victory as well.

And Republican voters who made it to the end of a lengthy primary ballot supported enforcement of English as the state's official language, while Democratic voters endorsed the continued election of judges. Both issues were on non-binding referendums.

In West Texas, state Sen. Bill Sarpalius defeated two Democratic primary opponents in District 13 after campaigning with his jaw wired shut, thrusting himself into Texas' only congressional race in November that has no incumbent.

Democrat Mickey Leland, the only incumbent in Texas congressional races to face a primary challenger, easily dispatched challenger Elizabeth Spates.

"It's very clear Super Tuesday has been super for Texas," Rains said. "There is absolutely no doubt that Super Tuesday has focused attention on the primary process. Since 1972, we've had nothing that's approached this."

million. Shortly after Snyder was selected in a bidding process that involved 35 other communities, the suits were filed by persons who had voiced opposition to the location of a correctional facility here.

Two of the plaintiffs, Jonisue Stiff and Jeanne Bullard, last week gave depositions in the suits.

Ballot tally revealed here

On the Democratic ticket, one candidate who is not an incumbent, Frances Billingsley for the county clerk's post, was unopposed. She polled 2,939 votes Tuesday.

Other incumbents now guaranteed new terms in office include District Attorney Ernie B. Armstrong, receiving 2,572 votes here; Sheriff Keith Collier, receiving 2,842 votes; and County Tax Assessor-Collector Rona Sikes, receiving 2,837 votes.

The Democratic ballot also included one special issue asking voters if they wished to retain the current method statewide of electing appeals judges or to change to an appointment method.

Scurry County Democrats voted to retain the election method by a margin of 2,427 to 261.

In addition, the Republican ballot contains one special referendum issue with voters asked to decide if English should be established as the Official Language of the State of Texas and the United States of America.

That issue here had 399 Republicans voting for it and 31 against.

Area baseball action...

SA Central swats Tigers, 8-4

SAN ANGELO - San Angelo Central shelled Snyder for five first-inning runs here Tuesday and went on to defeat the Tigers 8-4 in a non-district baseball game. The loss was the second straight to the Bobcats, and left Snyder at .500 on the season with a 3-3 record. The Tigers will try to regroup Saturday, March 12, when they bus to Brownfield for a 1 p.m. contest. Robin Harris' bases-loaded triple staked the Bobcats to a solid lead as pitcher Lee Fletcher struggled early Tuesday, walking three of the first four batters he faced. Another walk was followed by a single from John Montgomery, and left Central up 5-0.

Central added one more run in the second inning and two in the third to complete its scoring. Reliever Bert Otto allowed only three baserunners of the final three innings, and no runs. All of Snyder's runs came in the third inning. Tracy Brazier and Wayne Ware drew one-out walks to start the rally and Brad Gartman followed with an RBI single. One out later, Van Echois ripped a two-run triple, and David Martinez followed with a double.

Snyder threatened again in the fifth and seventh innings but was unable to push any runs across. Martinez and Randy Morris put together back-to-back singles in the fifth, but the Tigers already had two outs, and Central was able to get the third quickly. In the seventh, Scott Lanier walked and Echois followed with a one-out single. After another out, Snyder loaded the bases on a walk by Morris, but again was unable to score.

Fletcher, 2-2, took the loss while Manuel Grimaldo took the win in relief of Hernandez.

The Tigers collected six hits but struck out 13 times. Both Echois and Martinez went two-for-four from the plate.

Central, now 4-3 on the season, managed nine hits.

WTP wins city tournament

West Texas Petroleum rolled a 3154 to win the team competition at the Men's Annual City Tournament, sponsored by the Snyder Bowling Association recently. WTP outgained the competition by 104 pins to win first place. The Duffers took second with a 3050 and J.T. Electric grabbed third with a 3040.

West Texas Petroleum featured some bowlers which placed strong in other events as well, including Ewell Mackey, who was second in all-events and fifth in singles. Mackey was also the tournament's all-events high scratch bowler with a 1785.

Also making waves throughout the tournament was WTP bowler Greg Hodge, who tied for second in singles with Rick Beard, took fourth in all-events, and had a high scratch game of 256.

There were 63 games of 200 or better bowled in the tournament, and almost a dozen series of 600.

Others bowling on West Texas Petroleum were Charlie Collins, Monte West and Lynn Smith.

Boyd Baack and Randy Billingsley won the doubles competition with a 1275. Second were Mike Doolittle and Jay Roemisch - two other big names in the tournament. Doolittle also teamed with David Lyle for third place in doubles while Roemisch won first place in all-events, handicap.

Glenn Coy bowled a 705 to grab first place in singles. Beard and Hodge tied for second with 652s. Special awards included High Scratch Series, won by Ricky Williams with a 636; High Handicap Series, a 705 by Coy; and High Handicap Game, a 271 by Billingsley.

Williams and Coy bowled on the second-place Duffers team along with Randy Bates, Tommy Early and James Wolf.

Bowling for J.T. Electric were Bill Stevens, Richard Beck, Tommy Pherigo, Strick Posey and Barney Tate.

WTC effort lacks consistency; will try again in San Antonio

ABILENE - Coach Dave Foster says consistency will have to be the key if the Western Texas College Westerners plan on winning any tournaments this season. Western Texas backed Monday's 315 with a 295 at Abilene Country Club here Tuesday but managed to finish only seventh in the 12 team race.

"We just haven't been putting two good rounds together," said the Westerner coach. "Anytime you shoot 315 that's just about going to put you out of a 36-hole race. And it came on a very easy golf course. The good thing was we came back and improved over Thursday's score. But we'll have to put together some consistency."

Western will go for that consistency next Monday and Tuesday, March 14-15, at the UTSA Dominion Classic in San Antonio.

Jeff Beal paced Western in the latest effort, the Abilene Invitational, with rounds of 78 and 73 for a 151. Mark Burgen shot 78-75 for a 153, Todd Neal 79-74 for a 153, and Gary Schoen 81-73 for a 154. Lance Jones shot an 80-03 for a 163.

Playing individually for WTC were Kevin Glaspie with an 82-78-160, Mike Thelen with an 81-84-164, and Jack Poe with an 82-84-166.

Beal, Burgen, Neal and Schoen gave Western a 610 team total.

Abilene Christian won with a 582, followed by Midland College with a 586 and Dallas Baptist and Eastern New Mexico with 602s.

Team Scores: 1. Abilene Christian 295-287-582; 2. Midland 299-287-586; 3. Dallas Baptist 308-294-602; 4. Eastern New Mexico 301-301-602; 5. Hardin-Simmons A 303-299-602; 6. Special Chapter 12 for farmers confusing

WASHINGTON (AP) — The number of farmers seeking relief under federal bankruptcy law leveled off in the second half of 1987, but an Agriculture Department official says another upward surge could occur this winter.

As of Dec. 31, 6,664 bankruptcy filings under Chapter 12 of the U.S. Bankruptcy Code had been reported by the U.S. federal court system, said Steven R. Koenig of the department's Economic Research Service.

The new Chapter 12 provisions, which allow farmers to restructure debts under specially designed rules, went into effect on Nov. 26, 1986.

Koenig said court records showed about 600 filings in the first five weeks of the new Chapter 12 law. Those climbed to more than 2,300 in the first three months of 1987 and then eased back to around 1,900 in the second quarter, 929 in the third quarter and to 923 in the fourth quarter.

"I would suspect that the filings would be up again this winter, because that's when a lot of farmers' loans come up for renewal — during the winter months," Koenig said. "I would think that it would spike up a bit, but probably not like we saw last winter. But, who knows?"

Koenig's comments were in an interview in the March issue of Agricultural Outlook magazine published by the USDA agency.

"The largest number of financially strapped farmers appear to benefit from Chapter 12 through the increased negotiation power they now have with their lenders, rather than through actually filing a case," he said. "With Chapter 12 looming, many lenders agree to debt writedowns and restructuring in out-of-court settlements."

Koenig said filings of debt reorganization plans have varied greatly across the country, with some courts confirming large number of the plans while other have not.

"Differing legal interpretations by the courts explain much of this variation," he said. "Legal confusion over Chapter 12 rules and procedures abounds."

Koenig added: "For farmers, the income tax consequences of discharging their debt, selling their assets, and several other facets of bankruptcy remain largely unsettled. Internal Revenue Service rulings and court decisions are still pending on many tax issues, making a reorganization plan more uncertain."

Besides the unsettled tax questions, Koenig said "the acid test" of Chapter 12 benefits will be when payments under the court-confirmed debt restructuring plans come due. Payments in the earliest confirmed cases are just now coming due.

As of Dec. 31, since the law went into effect on Nov. 26, 1986, Chapter 12 filings, by region, included:

Northeast, 108; Lake States, 515; Corn Belt, 1,395; Northern Plains, 1,701; Appalachia, 562; Southeast, 382; Delta States, 591; Southern Plains, 435; Mountain States, 588; Pacific States, 387.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Winter wheat planted last fall for harvest this summer is in "mostly good-to-fair" condition in some of the nation's major production areas, a government report says.

The Joint Agricultural Weather Facility said Tuesday that wheat during the week of Feb. 29 through March 6 was not quite in such good shape in the northern Great Plains, Delta and Rocky Mountain states, however.

"Snow cover was virtually nonexistent in the central and northern Great Plain and Rocky Mountain states, but mild temperatures kept damage at a minimum," the report said. "Snow, preceding freezing temperatures, prevented severe winter damage to small grain (including wheat) in eastern Kansas, northern Oklahoma, Illinois, Missouri, Indiana and Ohio."

Crop development by early March ranged from greening in Colorado to jointing of plants in Mississippi and Oklahoma, and heading in Arizona, the report said.

The facility is operated by the departments of Commerce and Agriculture. Reports do not forecast actual production of crops, only the condition of fields and plants.

In Kansas, the leading wheat state, fields had started to turn green but had not reached the jointing stage of development, the report said. Light cases of wheat streak mosaic were reported in the eastern third of the state, and Russian wheat aphids were "concentrated mostly in western areas of Kansas but posed no serious threat thus far."

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department has some advice for those who may be planning Easter dinners around hams.

There are three types of hams most commonly found in supermarkets, according to USDA home economists. Those are labeled "ham" or "ham-with natural juices" or "ham-water added."

"From the nutrition standpoint, the product labeled 'ham' is the highest protein, while 'ham-with natural juices' is the next highest, and 'ham-water added' has the least," they said Tuesday in a report.

Those hams don't include another type, the country ham or dry-cured ham that has been dried and cured with salt, smoked and aged, the report said

Driver in accident succumbs Tuesday

Services will be held Saturday in Mexico for a 43-year-old Snyder man who was fatally injured in a Tuesday morning traffic accident just south of the city.

Raul Villazana of 2901 Ave. J suffered head and other injuries in the 11:20 a.m. car-pickup truck accident and was pronounced dead in the Cogdell Memorial Hospital emergency room at 12:25 p.m.

A passenger in the 1974 Chevrolet Camaro that Villazana was driving, 34-year-old Sebastian Jaimes of 3111 Ave. I, was treated and released at the hospital.

The driver of the other vehicle, Bobbie Joe Stroud, 59, of Rt. 3, Box 438, was not seriously injured, the Department of Public Safety said.

A DPS trooper said both vehicles were southbound on Highway 208 with Villazana leading and Stroud, a Lone Star Gas Co. service technician, following in a 1983 Ford company pickup.

The trooper said Villazana signaled a right turn as he approached the 208-FM 2763 intersection and moved to the right. Stroud was passing the car on the left when it suddenly turned left and was hit broadside, the investigator said.

Services for Villazana were pending with Bell-Seale-Cypert Funeral Home.

Enron Corp. announces consolidation

HOUSTON (AP) — Enron Corp. plans to consolidate its gas pipeline group by relocating some workers to Houston and laying off others.

Under the consolidation, announced Tuesday, an estimated 140 people will be moved from Omaha to Houston, while about 90 other positions will be eliminated, company officials said.

About 70 of the 90 positions to be eliminated will be in Omaha, and will include several officers and those working in the rate, finance, administration, legal, marketing and supply functions of the interstate pipelines, the company said.

"We took a hard look at our strategy for the next few years and determined that a tighter, leaner management group focused on closer control and coordination among our systems is the only way to meet the competitive challenges in the pipeline industry," said James E. Rogers Jr., Enron Gas Pipeline Group executive vice president.

About 40 of the relocations are to be completed by June 30, while the others within Northern Natural Gas Co.'s Gas Accounting and Supply Production units are not expected to be completed for at least a year.

"We are confident these actions will enable us to maximize efficiencies and opportunities and continue as one of the most competitive and lowest-cost suppliers and transporters of natural gas," Rogers said. "Essentially, we will operate our pipelines with a single management team."

Some of the officer positions eliminated include the presidencies of Florida Gas Transmission, Northern Natural Gas and Transwestern Pipeline.

Houston-based Enron Corp. is an integrated natural gas company with nearly $8 billion in assets. It operates a natural gas transmission system, markets natural gas and gas liquids nationally and worldwide, and owns an independent oil and gas exploration and production company.

It is also involved in cogeneration of electricity and process steam.

Bentsen wins; Boulter and Gilbreath runoff imminent

AUSTIN (AP) — A staple of campaign rhetoric for one of Texas' U.S. Senate seats is even truer today: Lloyd Bentsen is the man to beat.

But the stalwart three-term Democrat, who crushed a token opponent Tuesday to win renomination, says he doesn't care who wins the runoff necessary to untangle the GOP candidate field.

"I'll campaign all-out anyway, regardless — always do," said the 66-year-old Bentsen, who is chairman of the powerful Senate Finance Committee and is favored to beat any Republican nominee.

With nearly all the precincts reporting from Tuesday's Democratic primary, Bentsen won 84.9 percent of the vote to San Antonio college professor Joe Sullivan's 15.1 percent. Sullivan got 21.8 percent when he trifled with Bentsen in 1982.

Meanwhile in the Republican primary, with most of the precincts reporting, Houston businessman Wes Gilbreath advanced to an April 12 runoff against U.S. Rep. Beau Boulter by securing 36.6 percent to Boulter's 30 percent of the vote.

Third was former state Rep. Milton Fox, 61, at 18.6 percent. Georgetown industrialist Edwin "Ned" Snead, 58, was fourth at 14.8 percent.

Because no GOP candidate got more than 50 percent of the primary vote, the top two will square off in the April 12 runoff.

Although officials in both parties said it would take a scandal or Republican presidential landslide to shake Bentsen's grip on his office, Gilbreath and Boulter said they consider him susceptible to attack.

"If I thought he was unbeatable, I wouldn't be running. I think he's very beatable," said Boulter, 44, who was persuaded to enter the race by national GOP officials in a move that upset some Texas Republicans who fear they could lose his congressional seat.

Gilbreath, 59, agreed: "I didn't enter this race to get beat by Mr. Bentsen. I entered this race to beat Mr. Bentsen."

Boulter has the political advantage of running two previous congressional races, but Gilbreath, in his first bid for elected office, has the advantage of money.

Gilbreath used billboard ads and had the only television advertising in the primary. He said he favors a limit on campaign spending, although he spent about $500,000, mostly his personal funds, on the primary.

"I don't think it was exorbitant for a statewide race. We were prepared to spend more money," he said.

Boulter took a dig at Gilbreath's massive advertising campaign: "I'm challenging him to come out from behind the billboards and saying let's go around and talk to the voters of Texas."

Tom Bruno, Gilbreath's campaign consultant, said Gilbreath expects to spend $6 million to $8 million on the general election if he wins the runoff. Boulter, who estimated that he raised about $130,000 for the primary, said a general election race would cost about $5 million.

Bentsen said he did not know how much he spent on the primary and couldn't estimate how much he would spend on the general election race.

Be honest about condoms

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I'm 23, female and sexually active. With all the information about AIDS, herpes and other sexually transmitted diseases, I'd like my sex partner to use a condom. Can you suggest a tactful way to ask a man to use a condom, without sounding like I'm accusing him (or me) of being diseased?

DEAR READER: Your question is a common one that many women would like to ask. Each situation must be individualized. For my part, I believe that honesty is the best approach. Although you might want to alter the phrasing to suit your personal needs, I'd address the issue simply and directly, for example: "Look, I care for you a lot and would like to have sex with you. At this point in our relationship, I would feel more comfortable being sure about protection, so I would like you to use a condom. My preference does not reflect on you as a person; it's just that I also care deeply about my health and I want to make sure that I can avoid potential problems." I believe that most sensitive partners would respond positively to this statement.

To give you more information, I'm sending you a free copy of my Health Report, CONTRACEPTION: AN UPDATE. Other readers who would like a copy should send $1 and their name and address to P.O. Box 91369, Cleveland, OH 44101-3369. Be sure to mention the title.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I'm a 60-year-old woman and am experiencing bleeding from the nipple. Should I go to the doctor?

DEAR READER: By all means. At any age, bleeding from the nipple can be the first sign of serious disorder, such as breast cancer. You need a thorough breast examination and, in my opinion, a mammogram.

DEAR DR. GOTT: Our dog has hookworm. Is there any reason for us to be concerned about our own health?

DEAR READER: Yes. Hookworm larvae — immature forms of the parasite — survive in soil and can penetrate unbroken skin to cause infection in humans. You should avoid walking outdoors in bare feet, have your dog wormed and consult your veterinarian about ways to avoid contracting hookworm.

DEAR DR. GOTT: That was an interesting column you had on the idea of electrodes being secretly placed in people's brains. Things made sense at last: A person could be made unconscious, urinate, defecate, throw up, cry. Why, it sounds just like my 11-month-old. And here I thought he was just being a baby! Thanks for the good laugh.

DEAR READER: You're welcome. Thank you for writing.
