PANAMA CITY, Panama (AP) — Troops firing shotguns, tear gas and water cannon routed thousands of anti-government marchers, then stormed a hotel to arrest opposition activists and journalists. Several people were injured and dozens were arrested, witnesses said.

Monday's march through the city shut down by a general strike was one of the largest protests in months against Gen. Manuel Antonio Noriega. About 10,000 people turned the city center into a sea of waving white handkerchiefs, the trademark of those demanding the strongman's ouster.

A few hours after the march was broken up, plainclothes agents, army troops and police burst into the lobby of the Marriott Hotel in the southeast part of the city. Firing shots in the air, they came in the front and the back, smashing one of the glass doors.

Leaders of the opposition National Civic Crusade, which sponsored the march and has been using the hotel as a headquarters, scattered down hallways and up stairwells. But the troopers caught many of them and hustled them out.

The hotel is also the headquarters for most of the international press corps. The security agents forced their way at gunpoint into the offices there of NBC, CBS, ABC and CNN. Tapes, including footage of the day's march, were confiscated and several journalists were detained.

An officer on the scene said about 40 people were taken from the hotel. Most appeared to have been crusade members or journalists.

Richard Cole, an AP reporter, was one of eight foreign journalists detained and taken to a downtown military intelligence center. He spent three hours being searched, questioned and then lectured by Maj. Felipe Camargo.

City board views Wal-Mart design; city council next

A preliminary plat for the construction of the Snyder Wal-Mart Discount Store was passed along for city council consideration Monday by the city's planning and zoning committee.

The committee recommended two stipulations for council approval, that store owners grant a 20-ft. easement for an alleyway and a 15 ft. easement for the laying of utility lines.

Neither are expected to create problems with ultimate approval, city officials say.

At the council's regular April meeting next Monday, the first reading for approval of the plat is scheduled. Two readings are required before the building plan is officially approved.

At that point, a building permit for actual construction may be issued. Following this schedule, the construction of the Wal-Mart store here could begin by late April or May.

This closely follows the schedule first announced by the nationwide chain last October. The store will be built adjacent to Towle Park at the former site of the Tiger Drive-In Theatre.

City, cable buyers negotiate details for franchise pact

Negotiators agreed on several major points in the city's proposed new cable television franchise contract in a seven-hour session Monday night and early Tuesday and appeared ready to finalize the document for the city council's consideration next Monday night.

Sewage plant project due engineer plan

City councilmen Monday night authorized an engineering study of possible renovations of the municipal sewage treatment plant south of the city off Ave. M.

Engineer Terry Bilderback of Parkhill, Smith & Cooper in Lubbock appeared in the 7:30 p.m. meeting to discuss the present condition of the plant, a possible loan application to the State Revolving Fund for its renovation and other issues.

The council took no action on a loan application, however.

Costs have been projected at around $2 million for the project, but the engineering study is expected to be more precise and to outline project options.

The SRA offers 4 percent loans for projects by governmental entities.

the final language during the rest of this week, and the matter is tentatively scheduled for a second reading in ordinance form next week. The first reading was passed Feb. 1.

James, Sutton Capital president William Ingram and vice president and director of operations Jim Gimmel and others appeared for the 5 p.m. work session with Hopper and city council members, left for dinner about 7:30 p.m., when a regular council meeting was convened, and returned at 8:15 p.m. to work until 1 a.m. Tuesday on the contract.

The two sides went over the 38-page contract page by page, discussing various points at length but always finding some basis for agreement.

They finally agreed in principle to a 12-year franchise with the city to receive a fee of 3 percent of the gross revenues of Snyder Cablevision, a partnership of Ingram, Gimmel and Landmark Cablevision manager Dale Mathis of Colorado City, which is buying the franchise from SCAT TV Cable here.

They agreed also that the cable TV service would offer a potential 35 channels and would pay its 3 percent fee to the city in quarterly payments based on gross receipts.

Ingram remarked early in the evening that he was "not going to agree to a document that I don't think I can live up to or that I

TEACHER AND STUDENT — Acting honors went to both these Snyder High School players Monday at the District 2-AAAA competition. Kirsten Miller (right) was named best actress and Brandon Neeley was chosen for the all-star cast. She portrays the Welsh school teacher who ultimately inspires her student to win a scholarship and a chance to escape a life in the coal mines. The play, "The Corn is Green," was chosen to advance from district along with Andrews' production of "Tom Jones." (SDN Staff Photo)

One-act advances at district

Snyder High School's "The Corn is Green" advanced from district to area competition Monday, and local audiences will again have an opportunity to see it April 8—a Friday—as the area event is held here.

Also advancing from the District 2-AAAA event in Big Spring was Andrews' production of "Tom Jones." Other schools competing were Lamesa and Monahans.

Both Snyder and Andrews also shared best actor and actress winners as Snyder's Kirsten Miller was named best actress and Andrews' Matt Killam was chosen best actor.

For the local actress, it marked her second selection as best actress in the role of Miss Moffat, the school teacher who inspires her students to a life other than the Welsh coal mines. She won also at zone competition held

Kidnapping charge has 25-year sentence

With a double enhancement of his aggravated kidnapping offense because of two prior felony convictions, 25-year-old Grady Davis received a sentence to match his age late Monday night.

An eight-woman, four-man jury heard a full day of testimony and arguments in the punishment phase of Davis' trial and went into deliberations at 6:15 p.m.

The panel returned its recommendation for a 25-year sentence at 10:45 p.m. A second defendant in the cast, Larry Dan Beard, received a 25-year sentence for his involvement in the case also in a jury trial here in January.

The eight-woman, four-man jury had been seated since last Monday. They had reached a guilty verdict in the case late last Friday afternoon.

A 25-year sentence was the minimum that Davis could have been given for his involvement in the gunpoint abduction and brief confinement of a Snyder man last Oct. 27.

District Attorney Ernie Armstrong introduced evidence that Davis had convictions for burglary in Atascosa County in 1984 and for forgery in Nolan County in 1986.

The jury also heard testimony that the defendant had a 1986 forgery conviction in Mon-

The SDN Column

By Roy McQueen

The feller on Deep Creek says, "You really can't blame nudists—they were born that way."

As we approach the final two months of school, there will be all kinds of awards and honors. Success has a lot to do with perception.

Folks associate success with a variety of things. In one poll, students said a hard-to-read signature is one indication of success.

That may be true, but we remember the elementary school teacher who scolded us for penmanship—and not once did she suggest that we had promises of being "most likely to succeed."

We were reminded of this by an incident at Stanfield Elementary. The young boy came home beaming and told his mother, "I was the smartest one in the whole class today."

"Really?" inquired the interested mother. "What happened?"

"We wrote on the blackboard," he said proudly, "and I was the only kid in class who could read my writing."

Things change in the educational process. We can remember teachers complaining because students wouldn't open a book.

You may find this hard to believe, but studying has been banned by one university.

But before high school seniors stampede to enroll there, you might want to know there are limits to the ban on open books.

At the University of Illinois, studying is prohibited only at cafeteria tables in the student union during the crowded lunch hours of 11 a.m. to 1 p.m.

Some things do remain constant, however. Young folks want to change the world, and older folks want to change the young.

Q. — If a tornado warning is sounded here, could it be mistaken for a fire alarm?

A. — The siren is no longer sounded here for fires, a change implemented since firemen now have individual beepers. Civil defense officials warn that if severe weather is present, however, individuals should monitor the storm via local radio and should not wait for a warning siren.

In Brief

Two resign

WASHINGTON (AP) — The No. 2 official in the Justice Department and the head of the department's criminal division abruptly handed in their resignations today amid continuing legal problems for their boss, Attorney General Edwin Meese III.

Deputy Attorney General Arnold Burns and Assistant Attorney General William Weld announced in letters to President Reagan that they were stepping down. Both have been serving in their positions since Oct. 17, 1986.

Man surrenders after shooting

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — A 74-year-old man was charged with two counts of attempted murder in connection with the shootings of a teen-age girl and her aunt as they arrived at church.

Ollie Thomas surrendered to Fort Worth police Monday and was being held in lieu of bonds totaling $30,000.

"His attorney was with him and he (Thomas) didn't say anything. He just surrendered," said Doug Clark, spokesman for the Fort Worth Police Department. "Obviously, the detectives are going to try and talk to him, but whether or not they can, we intend to continue our investigation and present the evidence to prosecutors."

Thomas is accused of opening fire on the small group of worshippers unloading from a church van about 9 a.m. Sunday outside the Samaritan Church of God in Christ, after demanding the return of his 16-year-old adoptive daughter.

Bridgett Shirley, 14, suffered a gunshot wound to the lower back, while her aunt, Earnestine Shirley, was shot in the elbow. The gunman fired at close range several times at Bridgett's mother, Laura Shirley, but did not wound her.

Bridgett, who underwent 3½ hours of surgery, remained in serious condition Monday in the surgical intensive care unit at John Peter Smith Hospital, a relative said. Earnestine Shirley was treated and released from the hospital, while Laura Shirley was treated for scrapes on her knees she suffered after a fall when running from the gunman.

Van passengers told police a man with a gun stopped the vehicle during its pick-up route Sunday and told them he was looking for his adopted daughter, Carmel Shirley, who had left home a few weeks ago. When the van arrived at the church, the same gunman was there.

"He was just hollering 'I want my baby,'" said Earnestine Shirley, Carmel's natural mother. "He was talking about killing up the whole family."

Earnestine Shirley said that as she stepped off the van and headed into the church, she heard a bullet whiz past her head. The crowd of about 15 to 20 scattered, witnesses said.

Inside view of First Family said not always flattering

WASHINGTON (AP) — Larry Speakes says presidential daughter Maureen Reagan is a "punch-you-in-the-nose" type. He says first lady Nancy Reagan is "more likely to stab you in the back." In fact, he says, even President Reagan has "flaws and weaknesses."

Now he tells us. For six years, as the principal spokesman for the White House, Speakes presented a glowing portrait of Reagan's official and personal family, turning aside reports of bickering and dissension.

But in his book, "Speaking Out," co-authored with Robert Pack and scheduled for May 1 publication by Charles Scribner's Sons, the now-vice president for communications at Merrill Lynch paints a different picture.

Of the president's elder daughter, now co-chairman of the Republican National Committee, he writes: "You didn't want to stir her up. Maureen is ... a straightforward, punch-you-in-the-nose type. Her husband, Dennis Revell, seems to live in mortal fear of her. I've seen her cut him down one side and up the other, and he just stands there and takes it."

Of the first lady: "Mrs. Reagan is more circumspect, more likely to stab you in the back."

Elaine Crispin, the first lady's press secretary, said Mrs. Reagan had not read the book and would have no comment. Susanne Rich, an aide to the president's daughter, did not respond to a request for Ms. Reagan's reaction.

Although he speaks slightly of some Reagan aides, Speakes remains an admirer of the president, qualifying his admiration only by saying he is "not blind to the man's flaws and weaknesses."

During the first year or two of the administration, Speakes says, Reagan was ill-served by aides who did not keep him abreast of what was going on in the news.

Man appears on TV game show too often

GARLAND, Texas (AP) — D.J. Smith feels he's been placed in double jeopardy because officials of the "Jeopardy" game show won't give him the $5,000 he won on the show and have banned him from the show forever.

Smith said Monday that "Jeopardy" producers didn't know he had appeared on "Wheel of Fortune" last Thanksgiving Day when they invited him in January to take part in their show.

Game show rules prohibit contestants from appearing on game shows more than once a year.

Smith won $1,200 for his "Wheel of Fortune" effort but was disqualified from $5,000 in "Jeopardy" winnings.

Smith also was banned from the show forever.

"I feel like I'm in double jeopardy," said Smith, 55, a business analyst. "They won't give me my money, and they won't let me be on the show again."

A representative for "Jeopardy," which is produced by Merv Griffin Enterprises and airs on ABC affiliates, invited Smith to Los Angeles in January to play in a special seniors "Jeopardy" tournament.

Smith said he told her: "That's great! I was just on the 'Wheel of Fortune' a little while ago."

But no one apparently caught the remark.

The networks established the one-year waiting period for game shows in the aftermath of a 1958 scandal in which answers to "The $64,000 Question" were given to contestants before the show.

Smith said he again mentioned his earlier game show appearance when he filled out a registration form for "Jeopardy." Game show officials said nothing, he said.

Smith said he compiled 7,900 points, enough for a berth in the semifinals, and an automatic prize of $5,000.

Unlike the regular daily shows, in which the winning contestant's point totals are converted to dollars, prizes in the seniors tournament were awarded according to how many rounds each contestant survived.

Smith's misfortune started the next day when game-show representatives approached him and said his appearance on "Wheel" disqualified him for the next round.

"We didn't enjoy having to do that," said George Vosburgh, producer of "Jeopardy." "Even though the network stressed (the rules), it got by him and it got by us."

Game show officials withheld the $5,000 prize, awarding him the $1,000 quarterfinal prize instead.

Contestants were paid for appearing, and because Smith did not appear for the semifinals, he could not claim a semifinalist's prize, Vosburgh said.

"Jeopardy" also refused to let Smith on the program again, even after a year has expired.

"If you've been taped once on 'Jeopardy,' there's a lifetime ban," Smith said.

Long Night in Jail Scares Woman Back Into Panties

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1988 by Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: This is in response to the question of whether panties should be worn with pantyhose. You get a definite yes from me for a very good reason. Let me explain.

A few years ago, I was arrested for kidnapping my own daughter. I had legal custody of her at the time, but that's another story. After I was arrested, I was taken to the county jail, where I was booked and locked up. I was told there was some kind of regulation that prohibits women from having nylon stockings in jail, so they took my pantyhose away and I had no panties whatsoever! They issued me a county-assigned dress and locked me up with this dress on — and no panties.

Not that I ever expect to be arrested again, but now I always wear panties with my pantyhose.

I love your column in the Tuscaloosa News. Everybody in jail reads it.

ALABAMA MOTHER

DEAR ABBY: I read your column about pantyhose and thought you might enjoy this poem I composed. You have my permission to use it in your column.

DOROTHY MURPHY, CARROLLTON, TEXAS

PANTYHOSE

We wrestle into pantyhose That stretch across posteriors And test the fit, when we pull them up. By looking in our mirrors.

We checked the size before we bought. But always seem to both.

Size medium C on the purple chart. Sags far below the crotch!

So let's go back to stockings.

For after you have got 'em, They only have to fit your legs.

And never mind your bottom!

DEAR DOROTHY: You must be a new reader. About 12 years ago a woman with a "big bottom" wrote to say that she couldn't find any pantyhose to fit her. I published her letter. Then the H. Glaser & Son company, a manufacturer of pantyhose, sent me a sample of its Fat Fannie pantyhose. They were wonderful! The company is still in business at P.O. Box 702, Holliston, Mass. 01746-0005.

CONFIDENTIAL TO J.R. IN LEXINGTON, KY.: I agree, pornography is despicable. But censorship is worse.

"Dear Abby's Cookbooklet" is a collection of favorite recipes — all tested, tried and terrific! Postage and handling are included.

DEAR MOTHER: Thank you for responding to my inquiry about pantyhose. About half of the respondents said they wear panties with their pantyhose, but your reason for doing so is one of a kind. Read on for another one-of-a-kind letter on the subject:

DEAR ABBY: May I be included in your questionnaire about pantyhose? I always wear panties over my pantyhose — and the prettier the panties the better. Panties are an important part of my wardrobe because I am a professional female impersonator. (All female impersonators wear panties over their pantyhose.) Catch my act if you're ever in New Orleans.

Navy to award homeport construction contracts

CORPUS CHRISTI, Texas (AP) — A contract will be awarded this week for the first phase of construction of Naval Station Ingleside, U.S. Rep. Solomon Ortiz and a General Accounting Office official said.

The General Accounting Office in Washington, D.C., Monday ruled that two contractors' protests filed in late January were without merit, Michael Golden, a senior attorney with the GAO's procurement division, said.

The ruling clears the way for the Navy to award the contract, Golden said, adding that Navy officials told him the contract would be awarded this week.

"From what I've heard," said Ortiz, D-Corpus Christi, "within the next two or three days, the contract will be awarded."

The awarding of a contract was held up for more than a month after two contractors protested the Navy's bidding procedure for the project.

At the end of last December, the Navy rejected six original Homeport bids opened earlier that month, saying they were all well above Navy estimates.

Two of the four remaining bidders, Metric Constructors of Charlotte, N.C., and H.B. Zachry Company of San Antonio, filed the protests at the end of January.

A spokesman for the low bidder, Metric, had said the Navy's rejection of all six bids would allow competing contractors to take a shot at Metric's bid.

Zachry filed a complaint with the GAO concerning the Navy's decision to enter private negotiations with bidding companies after throwing out Metric's initial low bid of $51.3 million. Navy engineers determined that the Metric bid was out of line by several million dollars with Navy estimates for initial Homeport construction costs.

Zachry's bid for the project, $63.9 million, was the highest.

The GAO rejected the two protests because the low bid was considered unreasonably high and because there were insufficient funds for the government to cover Metric's bid, Golden said.

Writers meet

The Sherman Antitrust Act was passed in 1890.

Scurry County Penwomen met in the home of Garnet Quiett for its March meeting. Chaplain Christine Killgo gave the invocation.

Dorothy Cox presented the program entitled, "Living Inside Your Characters." She commented, "You are writing a story, but who is telling it? Your characters do — through their thoughts, actions and dialogue."

"Get to know your characters before writing about them. Get inside your character — create him in your mind, learn him by name. Make him seem real, making the reader care what happens to him. Live with him awhile."

Cox read excerpts from her own novel to demonstrate examples of dialogue.

During the business session, members decided to change their meeting date to the third Wednesday afternoon of each month at 1:30 p.m.

Sherry Bryant reported that she received the American Poetry Association's anthology which had published her poem, "Mornings Bring Tomorrows."

During the reading session, Killgo read her Easter devotional, "He Is Risen," and Frank Grimes' poem, "The Old Mesquites Ain't Out." Janelle Burk read her poem, "Food for the Hungry," and Quiett read "Joe at the Dumpster."

The next meeting will be April 20 in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Bryant. Writers and visitors are welcome.

Stargazers tie scarves, set new meeting time

Stargazers Extension Homemakers Club met in the home of Mildred Rogers for its March meeting with Pauline Withers, secretary treasurer, presiding.

Members answered roll by discussing their biggest time waster. They unanimously agreed that watching television robbed them of the most time.

Their thought for the day was, "You can never do a kindness too soon, for you never know when it will be too late."

The homemaker's hint for the session was to store cottage cheese upside down as it will keep longer.

Members voted to contribute to Pennies for Friendship. Money from the fund supports the 4-H center in Brownwood and Girlstown at Whiteface.

The program featured bandana shirts, belts, scarves and accessories with each club member presenting ideas. Joy Early displayed her bandana shirt and petticoat.

Delegates chosen to represent local extension clubs at the district meeting in Levelland are Withers, Stargazers; Patsy Burlison, Honey Do's; Joyce McCoy, TEHA chairman, Patchwork Squares; Nancy Higgins, first alternate, Plainview Club; Erika Blankenship, second alternate, Knapp Club.

Hostess for the session was Mildred Rogers with Withers receiving the hostess gift.

Due to conflicting interests, members agreed to meet on the third Monday of each month with the next session planned for April 18 at 3717 Ave. T. Quilting will be the featured topic and visitors are welcome to attend.

Sorority chooses officers

Members of Xi Alpha Alpha Theta of Beta Sigma Phi met at the Snyder Country Club March 22 with Carolyn House, president, presiding over 17 members.

Carolyn Limmer, program chairman, announced the Ritual of Jewels ceremony would be conducted April 5 for new members.

Sue Sewell, service chairman, stated that members would be helping with the cancer drive in April. Other reports were given by Mona Bryan and Bette League.

Officers for 1988-89 were amassed 34,000 masterpoints, well ahead of all of us. There is, however, a strong Jacoby tradition in the annual masterpoint race, since the late Oswald Jacoby in the early '60s was the leading masterpoint holder, the first player to win more than 1,000 points in one year, and the winner of the McKenney trophy for four of the five years that he was competing for it.

Today's deal cost my team second position at the El Paso Regional in January. My comment is "What a difference a lead makes!" Our South opponent played five clubs doubled. After the king of hearts lead, the contract was made via a combination of ruffs in dummy plus a spade finesse followed by a ruffing finesse. But look what happens if the opening lead is the club 10: East wins the ace and returns a club. If he then is allowed in with the queen of hearts to play a third club, it's down three for +800, as opposed to -750 when the doubled contract makes.

James Jacoby's books "Jacoby on Bridge" and "Jacoby on Card Games" (written with his father, the late Oswald Jacoby) are now available at bookstores. Both are published by Pharos Books.

Some of my readers know that this year I am attempting to win more masterpoints than anyone else in tournament play. The McKenney trophy is awarded each year to the player who heads the top-500 list compiled from tournament competitions in the American Contract Bridge League. Since early 1985 that top 500 has been called the Crane 500, in honor of Barry Crane, who up to his death in 1984 had

DENNIS THE MENACE

'Kitchen' reports with full pantry

IRVING, Texas (AP) - 'The Kitchen' is back, bigger than ever, and Dallas Cowboys officials are not amused.

Guard Nate Newton, nicknamed 'The Kitchen' because of his size, checked in to the team's veterans minicamp Monday at 345 pounds.

Meanwhile, disgruntled free safety Mike Downs stayed away, claiming his backup will be making more money than he will in the 1988 season.

The camp is voluntary and Downs is not subject to a fine.

Newton, who reported to minicamp last March weighing 347 pounds, tried to shake off his nickname last season, slimming down to 298 pounds at one point.

His teammates laughed Monday and called him "Body Wonderful." But neither offensive line coach Jim Erkenbeck nor coach Tom Landry found his figure humorous.

"I went home to Florida after the season because everybody told me to relax," Newton said. "Maybe I went a little overboard. I went back to Florida to see my people. But everywhere I went somebody was fixing me a big meal."

"Coach Erkenbeck is talking to me, but just barely," Newton said.

Erkenbeck criticized Newton, as he attempted the agility drills. Trainers tried to measure Newton's body fat, but the machine wouldn't calibrate his bulk.

"He did OK in the drills," Erkenbeck said. "But if we had to play in a Super Bowl tomorrow, he would have a hard time finishing. Still, it's not unusual for a player to come to minicamp with a little extra weight."

Bigger wasn't better for Landry.

"His future hinges on weight, and if you don't have pride then you might not have a career in the NFL," Landry said. "It's pretty hard unless you just stay on their back, especially in the off-season. They get hungry and they gain weight."

Downs, who led the team in tackles with 86 last year, has not been able to reach an agreement with Cowboys Vice President Joe Bailey after several meetings.

Downs made $250,000 last year and said he has been offered far less than the $325,000 backup Victor Scott will make in 1988. Scott, a former second round draft pick in 1984, is on the final season of a five-year contract.

The Cowboys will work through Wednesday in a series of meetings, timed runs and weightlifting tests at Valley Ranch. The theme for the off-season is "Blueprint for Victory."

Tigers challenge Monahans tonight

MONAHANS - Coach Albert Lewis' Snyder Tigers, victims of youth and a tough early schedule, face another strong test here tonight as they battle the Monahans Lobos.

The District 2-4A confrontation has a 7 p.m. start.

Snyder opened the 2-4A season with a hard-fought, 2-1 loss to Pecos. Tenth-ranked Andrews handed the Tigers a 10-0 shutout last weekend. Now, the Tigers face Monahans, a team which has gotten off to a 2-0 start with wins over Lamesa and Fort Stockton. The Lobos are 7-5 for the season while Snyder is looking for .500 at 6-7-1.

"I expect they'll start (Tony) Jimenez," said Coach Lewis. "He's a good one. He has a good curve ball and a good slider. He pitched against us twice last year. We won up there and he won here."

Snyder will counter with Lee Fletcher, who has been the loser in both of the Tigers' district losses, but whose ERA is a low 2.10. Fletcher is 3-4 overall, with one save.

Snyder's lineup for tonight has Wayne Ware leading off and hitting for Fletcher, followed by right fielder Randy Morris, second baseman Van Echols and third baseman Bert Otto. Todd Perry will start at first base and bat fifth. The rest of the order is short stop Brad Gartman, left fielder Kevin Dollins, center fielder Bert Merritt and catcher Tracy Odom.

Elsewhere around the district today, Big Spring (9-8, 2-0) is at San Angelo Lake View (2-8, 0-2), Pecos (8-5, 2-0) entertains Lamesa (3-6, 0-2), and Andrews (10-3, 2-0) hosts Fort Stockton (5-7, 0-2).

Final Four tickets rival World Series

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) - Final Four tickets in this city brimming with well-heeled Kansas fans could sell for as much $2,000, some speculators say.

Police thought it a good time to remind residents that ticket scalping in Kansas City is against the law.

"From everything we've heard today, I do believe that this will be the toughest ticket in the history of sports," Richard Konzem, a harried Kansas athletic official, said. "We could sell out the Superdome."

The Final Four long ago reached parity with the World Series on the scalpers' list of profitable events. But when the Kansas Jayhawks beat Kansas State 71-58 Sunday in the finals of the NCAA Tournament's Midwest Regional at Pontiac, Mich., they did more than join Oklahoma, Arizona and Duke in the 50th anniversary of college basketball's party. They stirred up a ticket frenzy that 36 hours later was gathering strength and fury like the tornado that whisked Dorothy and Toto away to Oz.

"I was told that I could probably get $2,000 per ticket on game day," said a Kansas City advertising executive with close ties to Kansas.

"If I had a bunch, I would take them to the bank and put them in the safety deposit box with the gold coins," added the man, who asked that his name not be used.

In the first semifinal game Saturday, Kansas meets Duke, the school that vanquished the Jayhawks in the 1986 Final Four. Oklahoma, another Big Eight school, meets Arizona in the other semifinal.

And thousands upon thousands of Kansans suddenly want to be there. The Jayhawk basketball tradition, in fact, was firmly established before John Wooden ever won a game at UCLA. When Kansans talk about their past, names like James Naismith, Wilt Chamberlain, Dean Smith and Phog Allen spill from the tongue.

Allen Fieldhouse, located on the Kansas campus just 35 miles or so from Kemper Arena, has been sold out for years. Students in need of pocket money can always get $40-$50 for a $10 ticket.

The populous Kansas alumni in the greater Kansas City area are mostly an affluent, upscale group of professionals and business leaders. They've suffered an embarrassing football program that won only one game last year and ranked near the bottom of almost every statistic the NCAA keeps.

But they love their basketball. They have money, and cozy little Kemper seats only about 17,000.

"We have been allotted 1,625 tickets for the Kemper Arena Final Four," said Konzem, KU's assistant athletic director. "It's just unbelievable how far that is from filling our needs."

To Konzem falls the terrible job of saying no to thousands of loyal supporters who helped funnel almost $2.5 million in donations into the athletic department last year.

"Supply is very, very limited. Demand is very, very large," Konzem said. "The fact that one of the teams is KU is not the only factor in this. You have Duke, an ACC school with a great basketball tradition already and a lot of loyal fans. Then you have Arizona, which is making its first trip to the Final Four and has all that excitement surrounding it and creating interest among the fans."

"And then you have Oklahoma. Not only is Oklahoma a second Big Eight school with Kansas, but it's a bordering state with Kansas and Missouri."

UT search continues

AUSTIN (AP) - The University of Texas' search for a new head basketball coach has drawn 25 applications and another dozen recommendations.

Athletic Director DeLoss Dodds made the names available to the Austin American-Statesman after the newspaper requested the information under the state Open Records Law and rulings by the attorney general.

UT is looking for a replacement for Bob Weltlich, fired earlier this month.

The applicants included 10 college head coaches, eight college assistants, two junior college coaches, a high school coach, one high school assistant, two from Puerto Rico's summer professional league and one former coach now in private business.

A few of the better-known applicants for the job from which Coach Bob Weltlich was fired earlier this month included Arkansas-Little Rock Coach Mike Newell, former Tulane coach Ned Fowler and San Jose State's Bill Perry.

Prominent assistant coaches applying included Kentucky's James Dickey, Maryland's Ron Bradley and Houston's Bob Derryberry, a former head coach at Southwest Texas State.

Bruce Stewart of Middle Tennessee State and Rick Huckabay of Marshall also applied.

South Carolina assistant Eddie Payne penned a six-page, handwritten letter to Dodds, while Abilene Christian head coach Mike Martin said he could "lead Texas to the promised land."

Coaches who have been recommended but hadn't applied included Southwestern's Paul Peak, New Mexico's Gary Colson, Purdue's Gene Keady, Duke's Mike Krzyzewski, Kansas' Larry Brown, Auburn's Sonny Smith, Xavier's Pete Gillen.

Habitual criminal faces 25 years

DALLAS (AP) — Nelson Jacobs says he didn't commit a crime of any kind until 1979, when he was 66.

But in the past nine years, he has been convicted of crimes 11 times and now faces the prospect of spending his last years in prison.

Jacobs, 75, told District Judge Joe Kendall he turned to crime because his Social Security payments could not cover the medical expenses for treatment of a bad heart.

"I couldn't make it on that little money I had," said Jacobs, who faces at least 25 years in prison if he is convicted this week on a charge of burglary of a vehicle.

The wheelchair-bound defendant was scheduled to go on trial today.

Jacobs had arranged to plead guilty to the charge, but changed his mind after telling the judge he was only at the scene of the crime and did not participate.

Dallas County District Attorney John Vance's policy regarding plea agreements for habitual offenders requires that they accept a sentence of not less than 25 years. A habitual offender is a person with two prior prison terms.

The sentencing policy is too rigid and unfair to defendants like Jacobs, says defense lawyer Bill Bret.

"Here's a guy who led a totally honest life until he was 66 years old," Bret said. "He could not make it on Social Security with heart disease, so he basically turned to a life of non-violent crime."

The 11 convictions are for such charges as forgery, theft, burglary and drug possession, according to court records. He has served three prison terms and has two probation violations on his record.

Vance said he is not familiar with Jacobs' case, but said the man's record makes him subject to the plea arrangement policy.

"If he's still at an age he's committing a crime, he's subject to being tried," Vance told the Dallas Morning News.

Dissident protest reportedly broken up by police

MOSCOW (AP) — A dissident source today said police broke up a demonstration in the Armenian capital by about 50 people who demanded freedom for an arrested nationalist leader and proclaimed, "We don't believe in perestroika."

Also today, an official newspaper said the plan put forth by government and Communist Party leaders to improve social and economic conditions in the disputed Nagorno-Karabakh region will cost up to $640 million.

"These millions, which are so necessary now for restructuring, the country is giving to Karabakh," said the newspaper Sovetskaya Kultura. Its front-page article traced unrest in Nagorno-Karabakh to poor social and economic conditions. The paper was referring to Soviet leader Mikhail S. Gorbachev's proposed economic reforms, known as perestroika, or restructuring.

Dissident Tamara Grigoryants said she received her information about the Monday evening protest in a telephone conversation with members of a committee promoting Armenian self-determination.

NOTICE OF INTENT TO SECURE A CERTIFICATE OF CONVENIENCE AND NECESSITY

Notice is hereby given that MIDWEST ELECTRIC COOPERATIVE, INC. (the "Utility") intends to secure a certificate of convenience and necessity to construct and operate an electrical transmission line and substation in Scurry County, Texas. The proposed transmission line is from a point just east of Snyder, Texas, near the intersection of Highway 1673 and County Road 137; thence east approximately 5 miles along the south side of Highway 1673 and County Road 134 to a point near the intersection of County Road 134 and County Road 173; thence crossing near the intersection of the site where a new substation will be constructed at the northeast corner of County Road 134 and County Road 173. The estimated cost of the proposed facilities is $475,000. The utility has filed an application for a certificate of convenience and necessity for the proposed line and substation with the Public Utility Commission of Texas.

Persons who wish to intervene in the proceeding or comment upon action sought, should contact the Public Utility Commission of Texas, at 7800 Shoal Creek Boulevard, Suite 400N, Austin, Texas 78757, or call the Public Utility Commission Affairs Division at (512) 459-0223, or (512) 458-0227, or (512) 458-0221 for teletypewriter for the deaf within 15 days of this notice.

Paratroopers return home

FORT BRAGG, N.C. (AP) — More than 700 members of the Army's famed 82nd Airborne Division staged a dramatic finale to their mission in Honduras by parachuting into their home base as wives, children and officers cheered.

The paratroopers piled out of seven C-141 transport planes, filling the sky with olive-drab parachutes Monday as family members and officers applauded from grandstands.

"We went down there to do a job, and it turned out they really didn't need us to do it," said Spec. 4 Randy Beebe, 24. "When they decided they didn't, it became business as usual, a training exercise."

Meanwhile, about 100 members of the 7th Infantry Division, dispatched to Honduras with the 82nd after Nicaraguan forces chased Contra rebels into that country, returned to California as a band welcomed them home with "The Stars and Stripes Forever."

The soldiers, clad in full combat gear, marched out of a C-141 at Travis Air Force Base before an honor guard dressed in fatigues. The infantrymen were headed for their home base at Fort Ord about 100 miles south of San Francisco.

The 3,200 soldiers from both divisions had been sent to back up the Honduran army on March 17, but never got close to the Nicaraguan-Honduran border as they participated in training exercises with Honduran soldiers.

A 60-day cease-fire was signed last week between the Nicaraguan government and the Contra rebels.

"We were watched by everyone in the world, and everyone was impressed. I want you to know I'm very proud of you," Lt. Gen. John Foss, commander of the 18th Airborne Corps, told paratroopers lined up in formation after the drop.

"Twelve days ago, Nicaraguan forces had entered Honduras," Foss said. "Now ... there are no Nicaraguan forces in that country and a cease-fire exists."

Honduras, which requested the U.S. troops, had accused Nicaragua of crossing its borders in pursuit of the Contras. Nicaragua denied the charge.

At Fort Bragg, soldiers celebrated their return in joyful reunions with their families.

"It's great, it's great. Oh, God, it's great," Staff Sgt. Raymond Gates, 29, said after hugging his wife, Sharon.

His sons, Jarrod, 7, and Christopher, 2, leaped into his arms while a friend held his rifle.

Spec. 4 Beebe said he got a little nervous early in the stay, "but this is what you're trained to do. We were ready to go."

He said the first thing he wanted to do was call his parents in Missouri, and "let them know I'm OK. My mom's the worrying type."

Play advances to area contest

here March 28.

At district Monday, two Snyder players were named to the all-star cast and two received honorable mention for all-star cast.

All-star cast members included Brandon Neely as Miss Moffat's top student Morgan Evans, who wins a scholarship to take him out of the mines; and Judson Morrison, the town squire.

Receiving honorable mention were Amber Adams, as the girl Bessie, who attempts to keep Morgan Evans from leaving; and Ashley Miller as Miss Ronberry, assistant to Miss Moffat.

Others chosen for all-star cast honors Monday were Mark Barrington and Amy Russell of Andrews; Ingrid Weiner and Chris Montgomery of Monahans; and Mark Burrows and Angie Culp of Lamesa.

At the area competition April 8, Snyder and Andrews will be joined by the winners from the District 1-AAAA contest. Advancing from it were Borger High School's "Picnic" and Levelland High School's "The Rimers of Eldritch."

The judge for the area contest will be Lou Lindsey from Bee County College in Beeville. The one-act competition was the final event in the District 2-AAAA Literary Meet and the win by Andrews assured it sufficient points to win the district title this year.

Snyder will finish second in the literary competition.

At that contest held Saturday in Big Spring, SHS had two students win first place honors; six winning second place ribbons; six finishing in third place; and two qualifying as alternates.

Snyder started the contest with some 53 entrants.

2-year-old hurt in Monday wreck

A 2-year-old girl was injured in a two-car collision at 11:43 a.m. Monday in the 1800 Block of 28th St.

Laura Arellano was taken by Snyder EMS Ambulance Service to Cogdell Memorial Hospital, where she was treated before being taken to a Lubbock physician by private vehicle, a hospital spokesman said.

Police said a 1986 Ford Escort driven by Crystal Dawn Laman of 2410 30th St. was westbound on 28th St. and a 1986 Oldsmobile Calais driven by Diana Carisalez Arellano of 506 29th St. southbound on Ave. R when the collision took place.

The Arellano vehicle was towed from the scene.

Two fire calls received here

Firemen answered two calls Monday, but only one fire run was ultimately needed.

A 3:20 p.m. grass fire call to 26th St. and Ave. C was a controlled "burn," but a 3:27 p.m. call to three miles north of Snyder off U.S. 84 was a large hay roll on fire that kept them at the scene until 4:30 p.m.

A department spokesman said a cause was not immediately reported for the second fire, which was on property owned by M.L. Duke.

Renegade Contras continue attacks

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (AP) — Some Contra fighters oppose the cease-fire accord signed by their leaders and the government, and reports reaching the capital say renegade rebels are staging attacks in violation of a fragile truce.

Cable agreement mulled by city don't understand." With Gimmel leading most of the discussion, Ingram's side objected specifically to what they said was the sometimes overly demanding, duplicative or confusing language that Hopper had used to preparing a first draft of the contract.

For example, the city councilmen, led by Mayor Troy Williamson, City Attorney Ernie Armstrong and others, agreed to require only a performance bond, rather than a performance bond and a letter of credit, for the conversion and modernization work that Snyder Cablevision has planned for the take-over.

The city also decided to forego a section that would have required the company to indemnify the city for any necessary work, such as tree-trimming, that the city might approve but which the company might perform incorrectly, thus creating a possible liability on the part of the city.

That section was deleted because other utility companies here deal with property owners themselves and are not placed under a municipal indemnification requirement.

FRED SAVAGE (left) and Judge Reinhold play a father and son who inadvertently exchange bodies in the new comedy "Vice Versa."

In 1986, Latin America increased its borrowings over the previous year by $11 billion. Such borrowing accounted for 72 percent of external financing inflows. At the end of 1986, the debt of the region stood at $388 billion, according to the Inter-American Development Bank.

What's new in movies and video

By Robert DiMatteo

In Movie Theaters

VICE VERSA (PG) Here's the second movie in less than a year that pivots on the same silly plot gimmick: a father and son who exchange bodies. The earlier movie, the synthetic "Like Father, Like Son," starred Dudley Moore and Kirk Cameron. This one stars Judge Reinhold ("Beverly Hills Cop") as an uptight, divorced workaholic executive and Fred Savage (star of the fine new TV series "The Wonder Years") as his frog-toting, rock 'n' roll-loving 11-year-old. The father-son body exchange is effected by a mystical skull Reinhold has inadvertently brought back with him from a business trip in Bangkok.

The movie purports to illustrate what it's like to live in someone else's shoes. There's certainly comic potential when the dad-in-the-body-of-the-son says of his ex-wife (Jane Kaczmarek): "This is the woman I couldn't live with as a husband. And now I'm going to be her son. It's a Freudian nightmare." But "Vice Versa" has little of the pop cleverness of that other recent Oedipal adventure, "Back to the Future."

You know this film is in trouble when it can't even think of anything to do with the wonderful Swooise Kurtz, who is wasted in the small role of an international smuggler trying to get back the magical skull. The eye-popping Reinhold and the gifted young Savage work hard, and they both contribute a few moments of inventive physical comedy, but the material is insipid. GRADE: ★★

THE MANCHURIAN CANDIDATE (not rated) What's the best thriller of 1988? This re-release of a 1962 movie adapted from a Richard Condon novel. Director John Frankenheimer found the perfect black-comedy tone for this study of a brainwashed Korean vet (Laurence Harvey) whose politically ruthless right-wing mother (Angela Lansbury) turns out to be the "American mom" at her most nightmarishly overweening.

Frank Sinatra co-stars as Harvey's war buddy, and Janet Leigh plays a cool, sensual beauty whom Sinatra meets on the train. With its all too present interests in paranoia, conspiracy and political assassination, this wild American thriller has the viewer giggling one minute, gasping the next. GRADE: ★★★★★

X-rays don't cause 'tingling'

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT: Like a previous reader, I also can feel warmth and tingling in the area being X-rayed, so maybe some of us are more sensitive than others.

DEAR READER: Some people are certainly more sensitive than others. However, I do not believe this fact explains why an occasional patient feels warmth and tingling during routine X-ray examinations. These X-rays do not produce enough energy to stimulate skin receptors.

Here is an alternative explanation, one that I think is more plausible: When heat is applied to the skin, tiny capillaries (blood vessels) dilate in order to radiate more body temperature back into the environment, thereby keeping our body heat more or less constant. In addition to the heat itself, this dilation will stimulate the perception of warmth. As you know, heat is not the only stimulus that causes capillary dilation; internally produced chemicals, notably epinephrine (adrenaline), also open the skin's blood vessels, causing sensations of warmth and tingling — even when no external heat is present. This is the reason we flush during exercise and blush when we are stressed or embarrassed.

People are often somewhat apprehensive during X-ray examinations. You are asked to remove some or all of your clothing, and stand or lie in an awkward position while a total stranger operating a strange machine attempts to discover something wrong inside you. Then this person says, "Don't breathe"; you wait, hear a short buzzing sound (which you know is the X-ray machine) and feel tingling. The sensation is not caused by the X-rays. It comes from your internal chemistry that is telling you, "Get out of here!" Under these circumstances, I'm surprised that more patients do not feel weird sensations. However, most of us don't. I think that X-ray-associated tingling and warmth is more likely due to a stress reaction than to the radiation itself.

If my conclusions are incorrect, I hope that some radiologist-reader will patiently offer an alternative explanation.

It's important that you find a doctor who suits your needs — and Dr. Gott tells how in his new Health Report, CHOOSING A PHYSICIAN: MAKE A DECISION FOR GOOD HEALTH. For your copy, send $1 and your name and address to P.O. Box 91369, Cleveland, OH 44101-3369. Be sure to mention the title.

Doctor wins temporary injunction against picketers

CORPUS CHRISTI, Texas (AP) — A gynecologist has won a temporary injunction against a local anti-abortion group which had been picketing his home.

District Judge Jack Hunter Monday ruled that members of South Texans for Life cannot march and demonstrate with signs outside the home of Corpus Christi Dr. Eduardo Aquino.

Aquino said he works as a gynecologist and obstetrician, performing pre-natal care and deliveries. Less than 4 percent of his work involves terminating pregnancies, he testified.

He said he filed the motion after eight to 12 demonstrators picketed his home five times in March.

"My wife always gets very upset," Aquino testified. "I am intimidated by these people all the time." Aquino said he was afraid to let his four children go outside.

"It is reported nationwide that (anti-abortion groups) have bombed clinics. They have killed doctors," Aquino said. "I don't believe they are going to pray for me. They hate me."

Charles Bolton, one of the people named in Aquino's suit, testified that South Texans for Life meet once a month and organize peaceful demonstrations to be held outside clinics where abortions are performed and at the offices of doctors who perform the procedure.

Aquino, who has worked in Corpus Christi for 11 years, said he has not voiced any objection to picketing at his office, which has happened occasionally during the past four or five years.

Injured athlete back in school

ARLINGTON, Texas (AP) — At least one student was anxious to return to class this week.

Former Arlington high school football player Mike Guynes went back to school Monday after spending a year at home recovering from a playing injury that left him in a coma for 10 months.

"I'm excited," Guynes said through his mother, Kay. "It's getting back to a normal life."

Guynes, 17, still is unable to speak and has difficulty writing, but he worked diligently to be able to walk into a classroom for the orthopedically handicapped at Lamar High School.

A former defensive back at Martin High School, Guynes was injured in May 1986 during a "machine gun alley" football drill, in which a player must block a string of other players running at him one after another.

The accident has prompted Mrs. Guynes to become active in the Texas Head Injury Foundation. She plans to speak before a U.S. Senate subcommittee April 12 on traumatic brain injuries.

"What happened to Mike is not a freak accident. It happens all over the country every season," she said.

Guynes said he doesn't regret playing football, but wishes he had quit practice that May day when his head began to ache. Instead, he took an aspirin and went back on the field.

Guynes slipped into a coma when a blood vessel ruptured in his brain. But even after surviving the coma, Guynes' recovery has been slow and often painful.

"Mentally, cognitively, he's coming back much, much faster than physically," Mrs. Guynes said. "But he keeps on pushing and working and striving because he can't afford to stop or rest."

Guynes, who had been an honor student at Martin, now communicates through hand and head movements. He is able to walk with assistance and no longer is fed through intravenous tubes.

"I really didn't think he'd be going back to school," said Mrs. Guynes. "We never gave up hope, but we reached a point where we were ready to accept whatever."

Guynes said he always knew he would be back at school one day.

Report by United Way looks at future in state of Texas

AUSTIN (AP) — Demands for health and human services will continue to grow in Texas, and the inability to cope with these demands could lead to a statewide crisis, says the president of United Way of Texas.

"The demand for these services can only continue to grow in the coming years," Bob Tinstman said. "If we don't attempt to narrow the gap between what we need and what we can pay for, Texans may well find themselves in the next century with a crisis that could destroy the well-being of our state."

Among major social service programs, Texas ranks between 45th and 49th in the nation, according to a report released Monday by United Way.

Prevention programs, such as child care and job training programs, are expensive, the report said, "but for every $1 spent today to prevent failure, we can save $4.75 in the cost of remedial education, welfare, and crime further down the road."

Tinstman said Texas has been hit with a "double whammy" as a sluggish economy has created additional health and human service needs while limiting Texans' ability to pay for them.

United Way of Texas, the state association for 183 local United Way groups, held a news conference to release a report on economic, social, political and philanthropic trends that could affect Texas.

One trend identified by the report is the slow erosion of the middle class. By 1984, middle-income households — or those with an annual income between $20,000 and $50,000 — had dropped 3.7 percent from 1979 to represent 32.7 percent of the Texas economy.

Also, in 1985 the median family income was $19,900, or $282 higher than in 1980. But inflation had diminished the buying power of the family's income by 22 percent over that period.

The report said United Way, as well as Texas, should assume that as profits decrease and dollars are scarce, corporations will move increasingly toward donating employee time and products to charities, rather than money.

The report said other major assumptions, for planning purposes, include:

- Religious groups will continue to be the largest recipients of philanthropy.
- The proliferation of small businesses and "associated economic pressures" will lower charitable contributions of all kinds.
- As decreasing funds are

Store manager praised

DALLAS (AP) — In the middle-class, predominantly black area south of downtown, K mart manager Jon Karl Elbel has developed a reputation as a goodwill ambassador in a store where employees are encouraged to reach out to the community around them.

He joins the applause of a staff meeting after hearing that a security supervisor bought shoes for some small children whose mother tried to shoplift them. After a discussion on merchandising and sales, he listens to workers discuss flowers for an employee who lost a relative.

Elbel has fashioned a management style that allows him to be part retailer, teacher and — some say — goodwill ambassador.

"He's always more eager than most (managers) to participate in local programs," said Dennis Calabresa, K mart's regional director of marketing and merchandising. "A lot of managers look at it as extra work. He's never responded that way."

Elbel says he can't explain his reputation, but values the rewards it brings: opportunities to influence young people and to help the southeast Oak Cliff community around his store.

And the neighborhood has also recognized the contributions of Elbel, a 40-year-old former Los Angeles English teacher who moved into merchandising when he became disillusioned with the educational system there.

When Elbel and an assistant store manager found that many of the store's 127 employees were taking expensive taxi rides to work because they did not have cars, they began a campaign that resulted in a new bus route.

In 1985, Elbel helped employees organize an eight-mile March of Dimes walk in the neighborhood — the first such ever held there. The walk raised $5,500.

Since he became store manager in 1984 after holding a similar position in Garland, Elbel has participated in, helped coordinate or supported more than a dozen community outreach programs ranging from teen-age pregnancy, school dropouts and drug abuse, supporting youth athletics and helping the needy during holidays.

no matter what you call it, don't call it harmless.

Smoking marijuana can damage your lungs. It can also impair brain functions like thinking, learning or remembering. It can even pose potential harm to your reproductive system.

Not to mention making you feel apathetic, alienated, insecure or paranoid.

Marijuana is available today to almost any kid who wants it. It's in his school. It's smoked by his peers. Maybe even his parents.

If you still think that smoking pot is relatively harmless, then think about what it can lead to. Cocaine. Crack. Heroin.

Then try telling that to a teenager. Like yours.
