'Gifted' class changes ok'd

A "satellite school" for Snyder fifth and sixth graders identified as gifted and talented students will be established next school year at West Elementary.

The change in the district G&T program will end the current method of busing these students from their individual campus one day each week for "enhanced" instruction.

In addition, the switch will see the number of students involved in the program shrink from its current number of some 85 to 50—a change which administrators say will bring the specialized instruction program more in line with national guidelines and averages. The change will see 25 students identified for both the fifth and sixth grade.

The changes were approved Thursday by the Snyder school board during its regular April meeting. The plan was authorized by a unanimous vote, but not before trustees questioned administrators about several aspects of its implementation.

The proposal was first profiled for the board at a March 31 meeting.

Thursday, questions raised included the reaction of some parents when their child is no longer included in the gifted and talented program, aimed at children who show special skills in learning.

Administrators admitted this would likely occur, but noted that nationwide averages estimate that from 3 to 5 percent of U.S. students can be truly classified as "gifted and talented."

The local program as it now exists, which includes a quota system per campus, reflects some 15 percent of the elementary population here.

Assistant Superintendent Tom Scannicchio noted also that all Snyder elementary students will be receiving more instruction in Youth found stabbed

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — Four members of a family were found stabbed to death early today in a mobile home, and the bodies were so brutally mutilated that police did not recognize at first that one victim was a male.

"It resembles the Charles Manson thing. It's the worst I've seen in 28 years on the department," Sgt. George Wilson told the San Antonio Express-News.

"It's unbelievable. All of them were savagely stabbed. There are knives broken off in their necks," said Wilson.

A former neighbor identified the victims as Jennifer Mann, 19; Shannon Mann, 17; Martha Mann, 14, and Ernest Mann, 13.

The former neighbor, Janice Pope, identified the victims' parents as Ernest and Becky Mann, who are separated. Mann is an independent contractor.

Officers were searching for a man who was seen leaving the mobile home in a car belonging to

USO blast

NAPLES, Italy (AP) — Police said today that a member of Japan's Red Army terrorist group was the prime suspect in a car bomb explosion outside a U.S. military club that killed an American servicewoman and four Italians.

Investigators said they were searching for Junzo Okudaira, 39, who is also suspected in rocket and bomb attacks on the U.S. and British embassies in Rome last June.

Speakers scheduled...

Wild Flower Day slate set Saturday

Margaret Mason, who was instrumental in creating the Nature Trail at Buffalo Springs Lake near Lubbock, will be one of three speakers at the fourth annual Wild Flower symposium at Western Texas College Saturday.

The Wild Flower program will actually get underway at 7 p.m. Friday with a reception in the Scurry County Museum. Awards for winners in the wild flower photography contest will be presented along with awards for public school teachers who had 100 percent participation from their students in the art and creative writing project.

On Saturday, the museum will open at 10 a.m. and a guided tour of the wild flower trail and the WTC greenhouse will begin about 10:15. Visitors can also see an exhibit on the Llano Estacado on loan from the museum at Texas Tech.

The Texas Wild Flower Day symposium Saturday will begin at 1 p.m. in the Fine Arts Theatre. The public is invited at no charge.

Mason and her late husband, Robert Mason, worked with the Llano Estacado Audubon Society in creating the Buffalo Lake Nature Trail in 1982. The Mason Interpretive Center at the beginning of the trail houses maps for it and displays of native wildlife.

The trail consists of two loops, each about 1.7 miles, where visitors can see terrain which ranges from a canyon, a swamp, a meadow and a spring.

The Mason's daughter, Janet Halbert, is a member of the WTC faculty and of the Wild Flower Day Committee here.

In addition to Mason, also on the program are Artis Gaither of Sweetwater and Doris McClellan of Colorado City.

Gaither will discuss the growing interest in planting native plants. McClellan was chosen as a participant at the Texas Tech University Wild

"A lot of us swear by the life in small towns. We love it and yet we have a hard time explaining to big city cousins the appeal, the pull, and the emotions associated with living in a small community.

"Last month, Paul Greenberg, editorial page editor of the Pine Bluff (Ark.) Commercial, stepped forward to receive the William Allen White Foundation Citation for Journalistic Merit. In a beautiful acceptance speech, he described small towns in America in an unforgetting way.

"In a town like Emporia or Pine Bluff, in a place that is still of a human scale, things are closer to the surface. There is not as much distance between the outward and the inward.

"A newcomer can no more understand a small town at a glance than he can a great city...There is an advantage in choosing a small community to understand. There are fewer distractions, less insulation.

"Life is short everywhere, but it is harder to forget that in a small town, where, contrary to the unexamined assumption, there is less room for parochial judgments. There aren't enough people in a small community for each of us to go through life associating only with our own class or persuasion or kind.

"We have to know one another, with all our obvious warts and our unexpected virtues, personal crochets and curious graces. The poor can't be shuffled out of sight. It isn't as easy to hide from responsibility, which may explain the abundance of volunteers in small-town America."

"...in a small community, one cannot hide his deficiencies by remoteness. There is nothing as shrewdly and knowingly and justly critical in its judgment as a small community.

"A phony cannot pass for the real thing. One's fellows know him for what he is. Don't choose a small town if you want to hide...the country town is one of the great American institutions—perhaps the greatest since it does the most to shape public sentiment and gives character to the American culture."

Dear Abby

Girl's Grip on Her Gifts Is Stronger Than Grip on Guy

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1988 by Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: My son, "Steve," was to be married in June. He broke off the engagement last December when he realized that "Angie" was not the girl he wanted to spend the rest of his life with. Angie's parents refused to pay for anything having to do with the wedding, so I bought Angie's wedding gown. My mother made a beautiful bedspread for Steve and Angie, and gave it to Angie when they became engaged.

After the engagement was broken, I called Angie and asked if I could please pick up the wedding gown and bedspread. I explained that I wanted to save the wedding gown for my own daughter, and the bedspread would be considered a family heirloom since it had been handmade by my mother. She said she had no intentions of giving anything back. I was shocked and hurt, but I suppose I should be glad Angie's true colors came out before it was too late.

Was I wrong to ask for those things back? What else can I do? She reads your column faithfully, so maybe if she sees this she will realize how wrong she is.

HURT AND DISAPPOINTED

DEAR HURT: The wedding gown and bedspread were given to Angie in anticipation of a wedding that was canceled, so you were justified in asking her to return them. You could sue her, but it might be costly (and messy) and not worth it in the long run. If I were you, I'd settle for learning Angie's true colors before it was too late.

DEAR ABBY: Whenever I send a card to someone who's in a hospital or nursing home, instead of putting my own name and address in the upper left-hand corner of the envelope, I write the home address of the person I'm sending the card to. That way, if he has been discharged, the card will reach him at home instead of being returned to me.

CLAIRE BROWN, CICERO, ILL.

DEAR CLAIRE: Good thinking. Wedding bells? Wedding bills? Who pays for what and everything else you need to know if you're planning a wedding can be found in Abby's booklet, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding." Send your name and address, clearly printed, plus check or money order for $2.89 ($3.39 in Canada) to: Dear Abby, Wedding Booklet, P.O. Box 447, Mount Morris, Ill. 61054 (postage and handling included).

DEAR ABBY: I am a student in a small Colorado high school. Recently, a girl in our school was killed instantly in a car accident, and the Monday after her death, we came to school to see the American flag flying at half-mast.

Abby, according to the rules of flag etiquette, the American flag can be flown at half-mast only with the consent of the president of the United States. I was appalled to find that the principal of our school did not know proper flag etiquette. Am I overreacting, or are my feelings justified?

APPALLED

DEAR APPALLED: According to the World Book Encyclopedia: "By tradition, the national flag flies at half-mast only when the entire country is in mourning. If local flags are flown at half-mast, the national flag must be flown at full mast with them."

But I do think you're overreacting. Even though your principal did not follow "flag etiquette" to the letter, he or she deserves high marks for showing compassion and respect for a student whose life ended so suddenly and tragically.

Billionaire and wife indicted on charges of tax evasion

NEW YORK (AP) — Billionaire real estate baron Harry Helmsley and his "hotel queen" wife Leona underwent fingerprinting and mug shots, then quietly sat with other alleged wrongdoers before pleading innocent to tax evasion.

The Helmsleys, one of the world's wealthiest couples, were released on their own recognizance Thursday after their arraignments on state charges that they hid about $4 million in renovations to their Greenwich, Conn., mansion as business expenses.

"Not guilty!" both replied in strong voices while appearing in State Supreme Court in Manhattan before Justice Carol Berkman, who rejected a prosecution request for $1 million bail.

The Helmsleys, whose holdings include the Empire State Building and the Helmsley Palace Hotel, are estimated to be worth at least $1.4 billion. Both waited in the front row of the courtroom as alleged drug dealers and thieves were arraigned before them.

Helmsley, 79, wore a brown suit and a cashmere coat. Mrs. Helmsley, 67, in a long red coat-dress with a blue collar, appeared depressed. At one point her eyes welled with tears, smudging her mascara.

"The fact is they did not pay millions of dollars in income tax," said U.S. Attorney Rudolph Giuliani in announcing a 47-count federal tax evasion indictment against the Helmsleys on similar charges, just 45 minutes after they pleaded innocent to the state's 188-count indictment.

Helmsley attorney Stephen Kaufman, in a two-page statement, said the couple had never evaded taxes and actually pay more than nearly anyone in the nation.

Also pleading innocent to the state charges were Frank Turco, 45, of Lutz, Fla., Mrs. Helmsley's former top aide, and Joseph Licari, 51, of Oyster Bay Cove, the couple's former financial manager.

Peace prospects dim...

Soviets sign pullout pact

GENEVA (AP) — Soviet troops begin pulling out of Afghanistan in 30 days under an international pact signed here to end their 8-year-old intervention in that war-ravaged country. Prospects for Afghan peace remained dim, however.

The Soviet Union, United States, Pakistan and Afghanistan signed the international accord during a brief ceremony Thursday in Geneva's United Nations building, where U.N.-mediated peace talks began six years ago.

"History has been made today," U.S. Secretary of State George P. Shultz said at a news conference following the signing of the accords, which go into effect May 15.

In addition to providing for the Soviet troop pullout, the accord also pledges non-interference by Pakistan and Afghanistan in each other's affairs. The United States and Soviet Union both reserved the right to continue providing military assistance to the warring sides.

Shultz said the withdrawal of Soviet forces from Afghanistan, where they have been supporting the Marxist government of President Najib against Moslem rebels since December 1979, would remove the cause of the "brutal war."

Soviet Foreign Minister Eduard Shevardnadze told a separate news conference that the agreements "put an end to outside interference in Afghanistan's affairs and make it possible for the Afghan people to establish peace and harmony in their land."

Others disagreed. In Islamabad, Pakistan President Zia ul-Haq said: "I see trouble and turmoil in Afghanistan through the insurgency, through the Mujahedeen (guerrillas) trying to achieve their objective to overthrow this regime and establish their own authority." He said "that will mean more loss of life."

The guerrillas' seven-party alliance rejected the Geneva accords and vowed to keep fighting to topple the Kabul government. No resistance members attended Thursday's ceremony. Pakistan, where the rebels are based, represented them at negotiations.

Shultz expressed some annoyance at a suggestion during his news conference that the accords were flawed because they didn't stop the fighting.

The agreements, he said, "are not perfect, everybody can find something wrong with them, but we're practical people trying to achieve important ends."

He also brushed aside comments by Shevardnadze in his news conference that continued U.S. aid to the resistance forces would violate international law.

Flower gathering on tap Saturday

Flower symposium last fall and will show her collection of color slides of wild flowers taken at her Mitchell County ranch.

A scarcity of spring rain has held back this year's crop at the WTC wild flower area. The wild flower trail now has some 18 specimen marked. The trail begins and ends near the flagpoles located on the south end of the campus.

Four maps which list each of the varieties identified may be picked up at the Scurry County Museum.

The wild flower area on campus was officially designated last year. To encourage the growth of the natural habitat, it is now mowed only approximately twice yearly to allow the plants to increase naturally.

Prior to the Friday night reception, winners from the photography contest were announced.

In the non-student, general category Katherine Elkins won the $25 grand prize donated by Keaton Kolor. She also claimed second place and Sonny Greenfield took third. Honorable mention went to Leigh Ann Erwin, Aline Parks, S.D. Woolever and Les Thomas.

In the landscaping, non-student category first place went to Sandra Browning. She won $10. Opal Brown took second and Donna Browning finished in third place.

In the WTC student, general category Howard Bigam won first, second and third place. First prize was $10.

Harley Bynum was the judge. He also donated one of the $10 prizes.

Officers report three accidents

Police and Department of Public Safety officers have reported three traffic accidents, none involving injuries but one in which an unattended car was hit by a train inside the Snyder city limits west of Ave. B.

Police said a Santa Fe Railway train hit a 1973 Toyota owned by Mike O'Connor of Rt. 2, Box 18-A, at 1 a.m. Friday, after which the car was towed from the scene.

Both cars were towed from the scene of a 4:02 p.m. Thursday collision in the 5000 Block of College Ave.

A 1982 Oldsmobile two-door driven by Cathey Lucille Crowder of Ira was in collision with a 1985 Chevrolet four-door driven by Debra Ann Halfmann of Ira.

The DPS said a 1987 Buick LeSabre driven by Alvah Jackson Jones of Arah Rt., Box 33-A, was in collision with a 1980 Oldsmobile four-door driven by Weldon Marvin Key of 3400 Ave. Z at 6:24 p.m. Wednesday at the intersection of county roads 253 and 254, two miles north of Union.

A trooper said Jones was going east on 254 and Key north on 253.

Illness can cause sleepiness

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT: My husband is very sleepy. He gets plenty of sleep, but gets drowsy the minute he sits down. Is this due to the prednisone he takes, or something else?

DEAR READER: Prednisone is a form of cortisone, does not usually cause drowsiness. I'd be more concerned that your husband's sleepiness is due to the underlying disease for which he is taking prednisone. For example, prednisone is sometimes used to treat asthma. If the asthma is not brought under control with the medicine, it — rather than the drug — can make a patient sleepy because of an inadequate supply of oxygen to the lungs.

I suggest that you share your concerns with your husband's doctor and ask the physician to address the problem.

DEAR DR. GOTT: Being diabetic is no fun — especially when the food manufacturers don't even write in plain English what the ingredients are in their products. Is there a book available that would help me translate what's what?

DEAR READER: Packaged food contains more information about ingredients than was the case years ago. I know of no book that specifically "translates" these ingredients into meaningful language. However, I am sure that you do have at least two resources to help you in your community: your doctor and the hospital dietitian. Your doctor should be able to take the time to answer your questions about diet. If not, the dietitian can review your diet and clear up the confusion you are experiencing.

Because of your interest in diabetes, I'm sending you a free copy of my Health Report, Diabetes Mellitus. Other readers who want a copy of the Health Report should send $1 and their name and address to P.O. Box 91369, Cleveland, OH 44101-3369. Be sure to ask for the Health Report on Diabetes.

DEAR DR. GOTT: What can you tell me about oligohydramnios? I lost a baby at 27 weeks because of a lack of amniotic fluid. My doctor admits she's not that familiar with the condition.

DEAR READER: Oligo (sparse) hydramnios means a lack of amniotic fluid, the liquid in which the baby grows before birth. This fluid protects the unborn child and usually totals about 1500 cc at birth. Oligohydramnios is defined as less than 300 cc of amniotic fluid. This condition is associated with stillbirth or difficult delivery.

DEAR DR. GOTT: Is there anything to make chloasma go away?

DEAR READER: Chloasma are brown patches on the face, seen primarily during pregnancy and in women taking birth-control pills. These harmless blemishes are accentuated by exposure to sunlight. They tend to fade after pregnancy or when birth-control drugs are discontinued. Treatment can be difficult and prolonged. 2 percent hydroquinone in an alcohol glycol base applied twice a day (with a No. 15 sunscreen, when needed) for several weeks or months.

Desperate mom calls about baby

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — A desperate mother called a hospital three times and police once to make sure that someone would promptly find the newborn baby girl she abandoned on a bus-stop bench outside Methodist Hospital, authorities say.

"Whoever it was made darn sure that baby would be found,"

Methodist Hospital spokeswoman Barbara Williams said Thursday.

The 5-pound, 12-ounce baby was listed in good condition in the hospital's newborn nursery Thursday.

Births

George and Henrietta Aguilar are the parents of a baby boy weighing eight pounds seven and one-eighth ounces born at 2:08 p.m. Thursday in Cogdell Memorial Hospital.

Some unique tackling rules were in effect in college football games in 1888. One of them permitted tackling below the waist but not below the knee.

WTC's Moody cops early lead in steer wrestling event here

Western Texas College cowboy Bobby Moody got the job done in four and nine-tenths seconds to take an early lead in the bulldogging at the NIRA collegiate rodeo, which opened with Thursday night's show here.

With the effort, the freshman from Roswell, can expect to book a date in Sunday's finals. The top 10 individuals in each event qualify for Sunday's finals or short-go, which is scheduled for a 2 p.m. start.

Evening shows continue tonight and Saturday at 8 p.m. All of the action is taking place at Scurry County Coliseum.

Thursday's crowd was light, by standards. More fans are expected tonight, when many of WTC's top performers compete. Scheduled out for Western this evening are team members Adam Brewster, Michael Gaffney, Wesley Henderson, Clyde Himes and Ray Brown. Women's team member Sandy Scott also competes tonight. Local cowboys Barry Byrd and Thad Springer are also entered this evening.

Only two Western Texas men's team members competed Thursday. They were Himes and Henderson, who no-timed in the team roping. Himes teamed with Kenny Taton, Henderson with Shawn Odom.

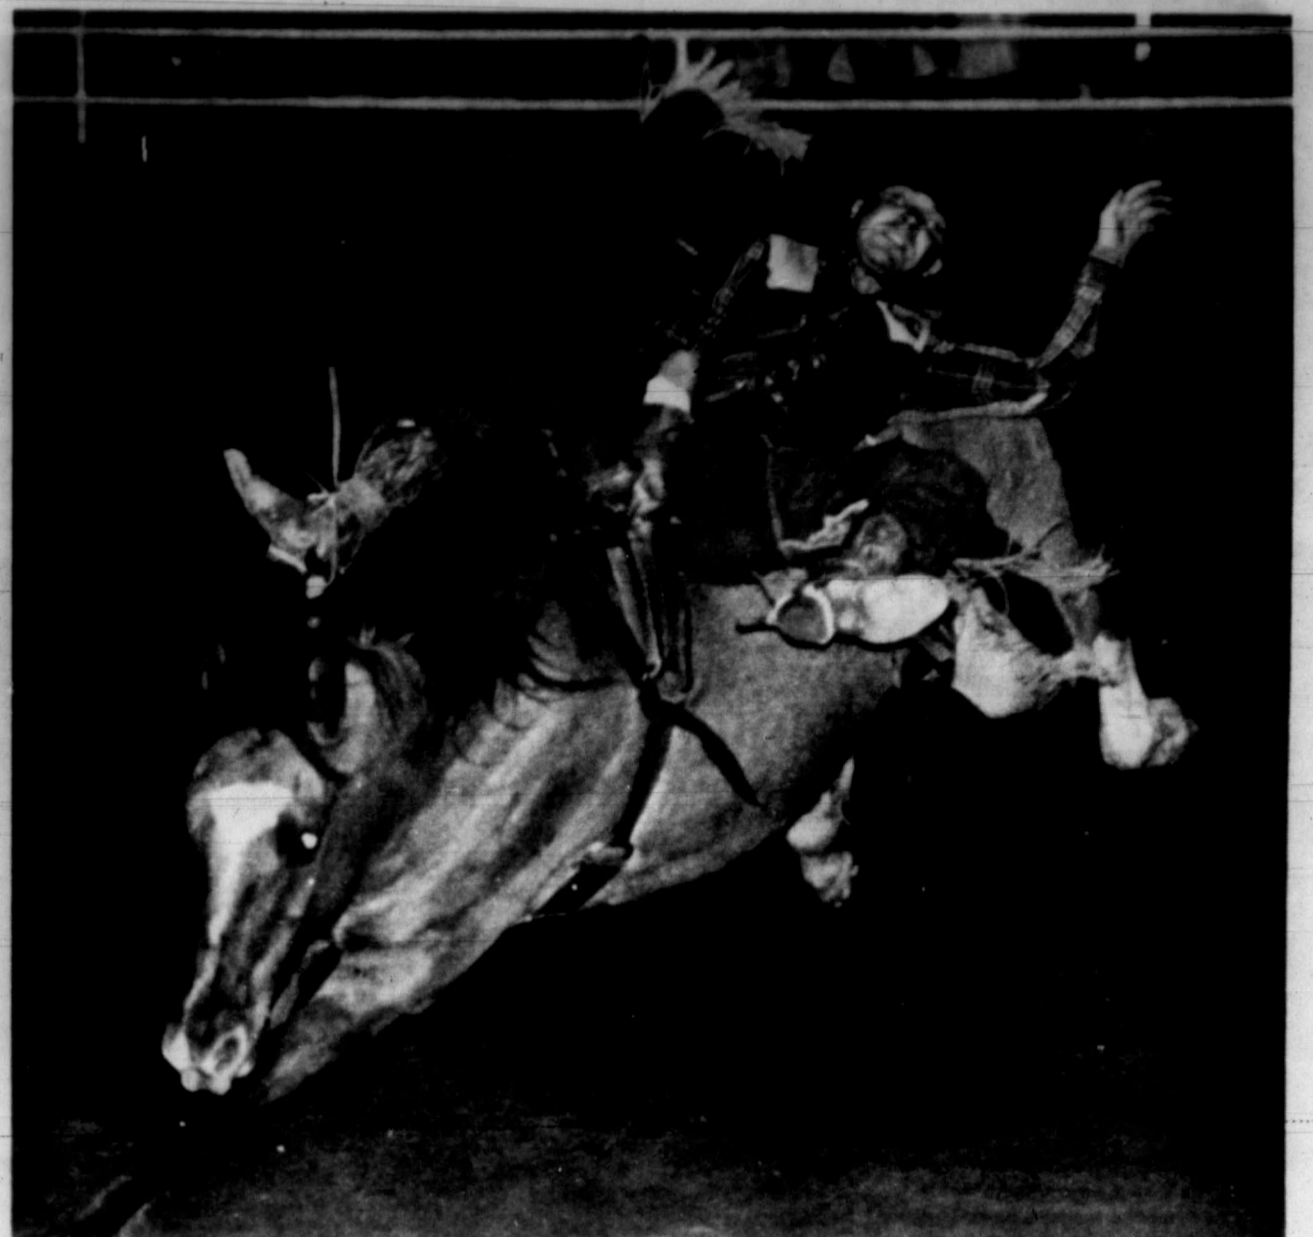

Melanie Graf, WTC women's team member, clocked a 13.80 in the barrels and is sitting in fourth place.

Thursday's show opened with the crowning of WTC Rodeo Queen Shondra Robinson, a freshman from Snyder. Bareback riding got underway next, with Howard College's Casey Strange posting a 70 for the first-day lead. Western Texas ex Mike Carrillo, now with Sul Ross State, scored a 68 for second place.

Shawn Felton of Tarleton leads the calf roping with an 8.9 while Lisa Berry of Eastern New Mexico flashed a 2.4 to earn bragging rights in the breakaway roping.

Vernon's Doug Harrigal stayed aboard his saddle bronc mount, Bay Lady, for the full count and leads that event with a 79 score.

In other events, Karen Cochran timed an 8.3 to take the lead in the goat tying and Shannon Nolen of ACU clocked a 13.17 to lead the barrel race.

School approves program changes for 'gifted-talented' students

the years ahead formerly associated with the G&T programs.

This will follow state mandates that such instruction be included in textbooks adopted statewide.

Trustee Ken Branam also questioned if by moving the program to West, the district would be "adding to the elitest idea based on which side of town you go to school."

He was referring to the geographic locations of some Snyder elementaries, with Central Elementary in east Snyder, having a predominantly minority student population, while the students at West and Stanfield, in the city's western half, having lower minority numbers.

In answer to this, administrators again noted that West was chosen for the satellite campus since this is where the G&T students are now taken for their weekly classes. As a result, all material and the available classroom space is now located at West.

Scannicchio also said he believes the intermingling of students from all campuses—which does not occur currently since each campus' G&T students receive their instruction as a group—will be a positive rather than a negative factor.

West Elementary Principal Gerri Parker commented regarding the "elitest" concept related to campuses, "It's there, but I don't think (the G&T program change) will heighten it."

The possibility that individual campuses might see a significant reduction in state test scores was discussed also. Scannicchio downplayed this as a factor, noting that only 25 students per grade spread over six campuses should not have that great an effect.

School board members instructed administrators to "track" the test scores of individual G&T students next year, however, to determine what effects the change might create.

Also Thursday, the board approved a boundary line change which will send some 57 elementary-aged bus students now attending Northeast Elementary to North Elementary next year.

The change is designed to offset a declining enrollment at North Elementary and the need for additional classroom space at Northeast to conform to 22-1 student-teacher ratios mandated by the state.

Administrators said they had received no objections to the proposed change from parents. Since the new boundary lines were first proposed at a Feb. 29 meeting, attempts have been made to contact all affected parents. Administrators said of the 57 families, all but five had been reached.

Thursday's meeting also saw the board extend its thanks to Snyder High School basketball coach Larry Scott, whose team advanced to the regional semifinals this season.

Scott had earlier been named the Class AAAA "Basketball Coach of the Year" for the South Plains region by the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal.

All trustees attended Thursday's meeting to include

Mike Jordan, who presided, Billy Bob McMullan, Luann Burleson, Charlene Light, Ygnacio Benitez and Ken Branam.

In other action items Thursday, the board: —Approved a request for use of the high school practice gym for a summer basketball camp.

—Approved a tax assessment adjustment involving a local residential property. The action will see $565 returned to Bob Watlington because of an error in appraisal of his property.

—Accepted the resignations of six school staffers, Richard Gorman, Pam Gorman, Sara Richter, June Brock, Rebecca Cottrell and Rod Cottrell. In addition, the board approved the hiring of Jack Dorsett as a social studies-coach at the high school.

—Approved two bids for an asbestos compliance package, an item tabled from the board's March 31 meeting. The total cost will be some $27,000. The bids were divided into two parts with Clean Environments of San Antonio awarded the bid for the inspection phase and Texas School Services Foundation of Austin awarded the bid for a followup management plan and training.

Stabbing said 'savage' crime

one of the victims. Police first reported that four girls had been killed, but the mother of the victims later confirmed that one was a boy.

The mother collapsed after identifying her children, police said.

The killer used an entire set of kitchen steak knives, police said. Broken knife blades were scattered around the mobile home and some knives had been broken off and left in the bodies.

"It's a mess down there. A real mess," said San Antonio Detective Richard Roberts.

Police Lt. Weldon Stinson said three of the victims were nude. Sgt. George Wilson said the sisters were aged 14, 17 and 19, and the boy was 13.

Officers were unable to determine whether they had been sexually assaulted.

An ambulance attendant who was inside the mobile home park told reporters the interior of the home looked like "a slaughterhouse."

Officers were called to the mobile home in the Villa Grande Mobile Home Park at 3:27 a.m. by a person who said a girl was fighting with her boyfriend, Stinson said. When police arrived at 3:55 a.m., Stinson said, officers found the bodies.

Officers said there were signs that at least some of the victims had struggled with their assailants. Others may have been killed in their sleep, officers said.

Authorities said the telephone jacks had been ripped from the wall of the mobile home.

Reporters were being kept about one-quarter mile away from the well-kept mobile home park on the south side of San Antonio.

At one point, the father of the victims struck a television cameraman and had to be restrained from striking a second one, authorities said. Four officers restrained him.

"Get those cameras out of here. This is not a carnival! This is not a damn circus!" the father said.

Ms. Pope, the former neighbor of the slain teen-agers, said the four liked to give parties. "They just wanted to have fun. They wanted attention. They didn't get it from their mother; she had a lot on her mind. They needed someone to talk to about their problems. They just needed friends," Ms. Pope said.

Burning grass still a problem

Firemen answered two grass fire calls Thursday as dry conditions continued to make tinder out of grass and foliage.

A tire blowout set off a grass fire and prompted a 2 p.m. call to a mile north of Snyder on U.S. 84 in the highway right-of-way, taking only 15 minutes to dispense with, a department spokesman said.

He said the blowout caused enough of a spark to ignite a blaze.

A 3:30 p.m. call to property owned by Rebeau Casing and Rathole Service off the 4200 Block of College Ave. kept firefighters occupied until 4:45 p.m. after the fire was started by a cutting torch.

A car fire at 32nd St. and Ave. E was reported at 6:45 p.m. and kept firemen at the scene until 7:15 p.m.

The spokesman said the fire in the engine compartment of an AMC Gremlin owned by Virginia Morales was apparently started by a backfire, and he said damage was relatively minor.

Sabine Co. jail inspected; certified by state officials

HEMPHILL, Texas (AP) — A rural jail where a black inmate allegedly received a fatal beating was found adequate during an inspection by an official of the Texas Commission on Jail Standards.

Inspector Robert Dearing certified the Sabine County Jail Thursday after an inspection watched closely by state Rep. Ron Wilson of Houston.

Wilson requested the inspection of the jail where 34-year-old Loyal Garner was held after being arrested last December on a traffic charge. Garner later died in a Tyler hospital of injuries he suffered.

Three law enforcement officers are awaiting trial in connection with the death. During Thursday's tour, Wilson was accompanied by Harold Henderson with the state attorney general's office, and two members of the Texas Legislative Council.

Photographers and television cameramen were allowed to take pictures in a meeting room near the cells but were not allowed to see the cells or the room where the beating allegedly occurred.

Sheriff Blain Greer, who recently won re-election, said reporters were not allowed in the areas because of security and "litigation" resulting from the incident.

Passengers stick with airlines

HOUSTON (AP) — Despite a widely-heralded federal probe of Texas Air Corp., there was little immediate movement among the flying public to abandon flights aboard Eastern or Continental airlines, travel agents said.

"We haven't had anybody cancel," said a travel agent for Barry White Travel Agency Inc. in Miami on Thursday. "Eastern is very strong in Miami. The majority of people take Eastern."

No changes were made through Dulaney Travel Agency in Dallas either, agent Crystal Lennon said.

The Department of Transportation announced Wednesday it would investigate whether Texas Air and its management were "fit, willing and able" to carry commercial air traffic.

The government has investigated small airlines and has revoked the operating licenses of some minor carriers, but analysts say the DOT's new inquiry is the first involving major U.S. airlines.

Industry giant Texas Air has a commanding 20 percent of all U.S. air traffic. Continental is the country's fourth largest airline, while Eastern is the sixth largest.

The federal inquiry, added to the company's financial and labor headaches, could drive more passengers away as Texas Air's tarnished image deteriorates further, analysts say.

"That announcement alone is a potential problem to an airline or airline system that can ill afford the publicity, given its already well publicized problems — from labor issues, to safety, to Continental's service record," said Anthony Hatch of Argus Research Corp.

Continental has a revenue problem originating from operations because its costs are the lowest in the business, he said.

"They're not getting enough people on the planes because they have such a bad reputation, whether it's deserved or not. Add this issue and it's hard to quantify the effect on people's decisions. God knows what will happen if the government does indeed find they are unfit," he said.

Houston-based Texas Air had record losses of $466 million last year and has an overall debt of around $5.4 billion.

Recent disputes between Texas Air Chairman Frank Lorenzo and the unions have contributed to a loss of confidence in Eastern, and the investigation will do further damage, said Louis Marckesano of Janney Montgomery Scott Inc. in Philadelphia.

In a separate action on Wednesday, the Federal Aviation Administration announced a civil penalty of $823,000 against Miami-based Eastern because of "recurring trends" in connection with violations of safety regulations.

The fine was imposed just over a year after Eastern agreed to pay a $9.5 million penalty in connection with other safety violations.

The latest fine is based on findings from an investigation in September and October, but Eastern now has an opportunity to challenge it. If the airline can produce evidence the FAA considers valid, the fine could be reduced.

The Barry White spokeswoman said despite the fines imposed on Eastern in the past, none of her customers have had any major complaints about the carrier.
