

Investigator's report surfaces as issue

By DONNY BROWN
SDN Managing Editor
In letters received by Scurry County teachers Wednesday, Pete Greene, Democratic candidate for district judge, has accused incumbent Republican Gene Dulaney of employing a private investigator to "conduct an investigation into my background."

In the letter dated Nov. 1, Greene writes "he (Dulaney) claims that I am conducting a 'dirty or mud-slinging' campaign..."

"However, he and his wife had begun an investigation of me as early as March 29, 1988."

Greene, contacted by phone Thursday, said his statements stand as is.

In response, Dulaney said Thursday his wife Mary initiated the investigation of Greene following a candidate's rally held here Feb. 22.

In addition, the couple said when Mary Dulaney first proposed the idea, it was rejected by her husband. Her decision to continue with the plan, they said, was done without Dulaney's knowledge or consent.

"Gene told me not to do it," Mary Dulaney said, "and I made a big mistake, but I wanted to protect Gene."

She described the reason behind soliciting the report as "insurance," noting, "I'm a woman and I wanted to protect my husband."

The couple said Mrs. Dulaney first proposed it to her husband following what they took to be an attack by Greene on the incumbent judge at the candidate rally. "He's going to run a dirty campaign," she said she told her husband.

How the investigator's report fell into Greene's hands is described in the letter mailed this week. Greene writes:

"About Aug. 10, 1988, I received a copy of a private investigator's report addressed to Mary Dulaney addressed to 2515 College Ave., the street address of my law office. I initially thought that one of my friends had played a practical joke on me.

"After reading the report, it was obvious that it was not. I put the report back into the envelope and, accompanied by my wife, took it across the street to the courthouse and handed it to Judge Dulaney."

In his letter, Greene says the report cost $2,449, adding "which was not reported in a sworn statement of his campaign expenditures and contributions."

Thursday, the Dulaney's, who had received a copy of the letter from friends, said that this amount was billed in the report but that in reality, Mary Dulaney made a $550 downpayment only to the investigator, based out of Lubbock.

After learning of the mishandled delivery of the report, Mary Dulaney said she demanded and received her money back.

The rumors of an investigation of Greene by Dulaney have been widespread in Snyder for several weeks as the race for the district judge's post has progressed in a series of charges and counter-charges between the two candidates.

As to the contents of the report, Mary Dulaney commented, "He (the detective) didn't find anything out really, just a bunch of gossip."

'Sweet' deal

DALLAS (AP) — Drug Enforcement Administration officers were poised to make the biggest cocaine bust ever in Dallas, but it turned out that the white powder they confiscated was for baking and not for snorting.

And the elderly man who attempted to pull off the sting wound up in custody and in the hospital instead of being in the money.

It turned out that the 100 kilograms of cocaine he was attempting to sell to agents posing as drug dealers was 220 pounds of flour and sugar.

Baby taken

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — Fighting back tears, a mother pleaded publicly to an unknown kidnapper to return her premature infant, as authorities warned that the baby's life may be in danger and offered a $13,000 reward for his return.

About two dozen detectives were working against time today to find the woman who posed as a nurse as she kidnapped Christopher Michael Jones from his mother's room at Doctors Hospital. Doctors said Wednesday a lack of proper medical care would endanger the 6-day-old boy's life.

Escapee search

AUSTIN (AP) — A statewide search was under way today for an accused rapist recently returned to the Travis County Jail from a maximum security hospital for mentally ill prisoners and accidentally released because of a paper work mistake.

Authorities said Jonathan Ziegner, 29, who was to be tried this month on a charge of burglary of a habitation with intent to commit sexual assault, was released from the Travis County Jail on Oct. 25.

State District Judge Jon Wisser said Tuesday he had refused to lower Ziegner's $100,000 bail because he thought the defendant posed too great a risk to be set free.

Bush defends his civil rights record

by The Associated Press

Michael Dukakis, contending he's catching up in major states, said today he's ready for a dash to the finish line as voters take "a very strong second look at me."

Front-runner George Bush defended his campaign against suggestions of racism.

Five days from the election, the Democratic governor of Massachusetts and the Republican vice president took advantage of invitations to appear on morning network television programs to press their cases.

On NBC's "Today," Bush was asked about Democratic suggestions that his campaign had a racist tinge in that his speeches and commercials have emphasized the case of a black Massachusetts convict who escaped while on furlough and attacked a Maryland couple.

"There is no bigotry," Bush said. "I oppose that furlough program... but to go out as my opponent did... and try to assign me something that is not in my heart, this charge of racism, is grossly unfair and untrue."

"I don't have one ounce of bigotry in my body, nor does my running mate," he said. "Even though a lot of civil rights leaders automatically endorse whoever the Democratic candidate is, I think most of them know in their hearts that I am a decent honorable person who cares about race relations and will leave the tired baggage of bigotry behind."

Dukakis, in an interview on "CBS This Morning," shrugged off national polls showing him well behind, saying that "we are either tied or moving ahead" in major states he needs to score an upset victory.

He said 20 percent to 30 percent of voters have not finally decided for whom to vote, and he contended that as decision time nears they "are taking a very strong second look at me."

Dukakis, celebrating his 55th birthday today, said, "This one is going to go down to the wire. ... We're sprinting for the finish line and we hope and expect that we're going to win."

With the race for the White House down to less than a week, the candidates were focusing predictably on the major industrial states of Pennsylvania, Ohio, Illinois and New Jersey.

Already 1,200-plus...

Absentee outcome sure to be record as final day nears

Friday is the last day to vote absentee for next Tuesday's presidential election, and whatever the final vote count, Scurry County is assured of a record turnout.

County Clerk Jenna Vee Miller said as of Wednesday afternoon the total had reached 1,216 including more than 1,000 persons who had voted in person at the courthouse. The previous record for absentee voting was in the range of 800 ballots, she said.

Absentee voting, which no longer requires that persons state a reason for voting before the official election day began here and across the state Oct. 19.

A heavy vote is also expected on Tuesday, when voters will decide between Republican George Bush and Democrat Michael Dukakis as well as a host of state, district and local offices and issues.

In Scurry County, likely the most talked about race involves the re-election effort of District Judge Gene Dulaney, challenged by former district attorney Pete Greene.

At the national level, one of Texas' two U.S. senate seats will be decided also. Lloyd Bentsen, running mate on the Democratic presidential ticket, is challenged by Beau Boulter, a Republican from Amarillo.

Also to be decided is the state senate race between newly elected Sen. Steve Carriker (D-Roby) and Bobby Albert (R-Wichita Falls), and this area's 78th District state representative's seat with ex-Snyder Mayor Rod Waller, a Republican, facing Democrat David Counts of Knox City.

The district judge's post is the only locally contested race. Several incumbents and one new prospective office holder—Frances Billingsley for county clerk—are unopposed.

Other contested races on the ballot involve this area's seat on the state school board, seats on the Railroad Commission, the Texas Supreme Court, Court of Criminal Appeals and 11th Court of Appeals.

In addition, three proposed amendments to the state constitution will be decided in November.

Building permits start slow

Building permits in Snyder got off to a slow start during October with new construction estimates at $91,564 for the start of the fiscal year.

By comparison, the city's fiscal year began last October with a $480,000 month-a total added greatly by a permit for the Olney Savings office facility here.

Eight mobile home move-ins comprised the majority of the total, accounting for $82,500 of the month's permits.

Mobile home permits included three issued to Damona Simmons for trailers located at 1005 14th St., 3010 Ave. F and 1112 21st St.

Other mobile home permits went to Eddie Parks, 2712 23rd St.; Katrina Burney, 510 Ave. O; Estell Rendon, 1906 Ave. O; Ramon Tavarez, 1806 Ave. T, and Robert Hicks, 2210 Gilmore.

Other permits issued for the month were for a residential addition at 2405 Ave. F, issued to Mary Ann Juarez; three carpenter-related permits issued to Georgene Redman, 512 32nd St.; Elmo Crowder, 709 26th St.; and Jim Wadleigh, 3307 40th Place; and a permit for a garage issued to Roger Block, 105 Milburn.

Indictments are returned

A Scurry County grand jury this week returned four indictments, one for theft and the others for felony DWI.

Boyd Keith Baack, who had not been arrested, was true billed for theft over $750 but under $20,000 in connection with dealings at Mid-Continent Supply Co., where he was an employee, and a company he was starting, according to a spokesman for the district attorney's office.

The actual amount involved is some $8,600, local police say.

Three true-bills for subsequent DWI offenses were returned also. These involve Rudolph Ornelas Martinez, 24, of 50 Ave. R, who was arrested Monday; David Guerra Jr., 22, of 307 N. Ave. Y, who was arrested Oct. 15; and Rosalio Gutierrez, 44, of Abilene, who was arrested Saturday.

Those who have served in the military—even in the National Guard—remember that mess hall food would hardly win any culinary medals.

The mess halls would look tempting only after a few days or weeks on maneuver where the staple diet was C-ration. At one time, we remember the Army experimenting with dehydrated foods.

Our favorite, if you can call it that, was spaghetti and meat sauce. One just tore open the package and added steaming hot water.

One had to be careful to allow the entire content to expand or a drink of water late in the afternoon would result in a tummy expansion and other complications.

The new form of C-ration also had a candy bar and two cigarettes, and it was always easy to trade the cigarettes for the stale candy bar.

In civilian life, bakeries brag about getting fresh bread to consumers. Americans just have a dislike for day-old anything.

But cooks in the Army are bragging about bread that has a three year shelf life. The Army Research Center has spent years developing the bread which includes such mouth-watering ingredients as sucrose ester and glycerin to help prevent the bread from becoming stale. For the health nuts, the long-life bread contains no sugar or eggs.

The new bread is supposed to be made available to GIs by 1990. One food service officer describes the bread as "almost homemade tasting."

Most young troopers will have a hard time getting their taste buds adjusted to anything "homemade."

At a local elementary school, a parent's conversation with the principal was overheard.

"My child does not have headlice. Even if she does, I'm sure they're little bitty ones."

SHS yearbook date is Friday

Friday is the last day that orders will be taken for the 1989 Tiger's Lair yearbook at Snyder High School.

Yearbook advisor Diane Arnold said Thursday that orders will be taken from 7:20 a.m. to 8:20 a.m. and from 3:30 p.m. to 4 p.m. near the door of the northeast or main entranceway of the school.

The annuals are $20 for the "plain" edition, $22 with a plastic jacket, $23 with the student's name stamped on the cover and $25 with the jacket and name.

Arnold said 600 are ordered and about 550 usually claimed. Only about 100 had been ordered Thursday morning.

A deposit of $10 is required for the plain annuals and $15 for the See ANNUAL, page 9

Rains predicts record turnout

AUSTIN (AP) — More Texans than ever before will cast ballots in the upcoming general election, due in part to the state's liberalized absentee voting laws, election officials say.

Secretary of State Jack Rains on Wednesday predicted that 5.988 million people, 73 percent of the state's 8.2 million registered voters, would cast ballots.

"I think we'll set three records on Election Day. More people will vote than ever before. A larger percentage of registered voters will vote than ever before. And more eligible voters (about 49 percent) will go to polls than ever before," Rains said.

The presence of Texans on each presidential ticket is a big reason for the prediction, said Randy Erben, assistant secretary of state.

Republican presidential nominee George Bush and the Democratic vice presidential candidate, Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, both are from Texas. Bentsen also is running for re-election to the Senate.

"He (Rains) thinks Bush and Bentsen, the (state) Supreme Court races, absentee voting liberalization and other factors, such as some hot local races and a record number of registered voters, means a huge turnout," Erben said.

In the 1984 presidential election, a total of 5.38 million votes were cast. The 1980 presidential total was 4.5 million.

A big factor in this year's high voting prediction is the new absentee voting law, which allows people to cast absentee ballots without giving a reason.

"It just makes sense. You don't have to stand in line on Election Day, you don't have to take time off from work, you've been able to vote on Saturdays and Sundays," he said.

Dear Abby

Dad's Reappearance Starts New Battle in 30 Years War

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1988 by Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: I am a 40-year-old, happily married woman with three children. I've been married for 20 years. My parents divorced when I was 10 years old because my father ran around and left my mother many times for other women. Mom finally divorced him and he moved out of state.

Now, after 30 years, Dad has come back into my life. He has told me how sorry he is for his past actions, and I believe he is sincere. He says he wants to know his grandchildren before he dies. We've been keeping in touch lately. He still lives out of state and has never remarried. He's almost 70 now and is not in the best of health.

My mother found out, and she blew up. She wants me to promise that I will never speak to him again. I've tried to explain that Dad is sorry, and I do care about him.

Mom says she feels betrayed and hurt. I don't want to hurt her, but why can't I be friends with both of them? Or shouldn't I be friends with my father because of the way he treated Mom and me?

Please help me with this heavy problem.

CAUGHT IN BETWEEN

DEAR CAUGHT: Your mother is understandably hurt, but she's unfair to demand that you never speak to your father again. You have the right to be friends with your parents, and I commend you for forgiving your father and allowing him to know his grandchildren.

If your mother chooses not to be friendly with you, it will then be her decision, but she should not force you to choose between your father and her.

How much happier your mother would be if she, too, would put aside her bitterness. People do change, and should not be punished a lifetime for mistakes they may have made during their younger and more thoughtless, selfish years.

DEAR ABBY: My father drowns himself in cologne after he shaves. He insists that cologne and after-shave lotion are the same thing, and he applies cologne by the handful!

My brothers, sisters, our mother and I have spoken about this, and believe me, we didn't mince any words. Dad is a high-level retail manager, and I'm sure his supervisors are too polite to tell him he stinks and his subordinates are afraid to.

Perhaps if you print this, Dad will see it and cut back on the cologne.

HOLDING MY BREATH IN TENNESSEE

DEAR HOLDING: Here's your letter. I hope it clears the air.

DEAR ABBY: Regarding the subject of inheritance and all the problems it can cause, I have informed my mother to spend it! Why should parents sacrifice vacations or certain material things they have wanted in order to leave money to their children?

I say, if you don't do what you want in this lifetime, when are you going to do it?

If my mother wants to leave me something, I'll take her nicked-up, well-used family dining table, or my grandmother's handmade quilt she gave my mother. No amount of money can replace these items that hold so many childhood memories.

Heroin overdose killed drug users

HOUSTON (AP) — Four people who died over a two-day period last month each died of a heroin overdose, not from tainted cocaine as first believed, officials said.

Authorities originally thought the four victims died as a result of cocaine laced with boric acid, a substance often used in roach poison, but autopsies performed by the Harris County medical examiner's office show the four died from large doses of heroin in their body, medical examiner Dr. Joseph Jachimczyk said Wednesday.

Earlier this week, police said the drugs taken by the victims was pure therefore causing their deaths.

"The heroin was enough to kill them whether it was pure or not pure," Jachimczyk said during an afternoon news conference. Lt. Joe Gamino with the Houston Police homicide division said the investigation into someone possibly tampering with the drugs was all but closed.

"We have no evidence to support that this was intentional," Gamino said.

"We did not find any evidence at all of boric acid in the (hospital) admission samples," Jachimczyk said. "Nor did we find any evidence of boric acid in four post-mortem samples."

Police have said the four close friends died after "speedballing" heroin and cocaine the weekend before their deaths.

Jachimczyk said the victims died of heroin, but that traces of cocaine also were found in the victims. Whether the two drugs were taken together is unknown.

The cocaine residue found in the bodies was not lethal by itself, "but mix it with heroin and it's like dynamite," the medical examiner said.

Gonzalez calls Howell complaint 'frivolous'

AUSTIN (AP) — Supreme Court Justice Raul Gonzalez says a complaint filed against him by his Republican election opponent is both typical and frivolous.

"I'm not surprised that he filed this complaint. He's done this in every election against all his opponents. This is just the way he operates," said Gonzalez, a Democrat.

"He's trying to divert attention from the fact that he's the one who's been reprimanded by the State Commission on Judicial Conduct, he's the one that the jury found filed a frivolous lawsuit," Gonzalez said.

Howell filed his complaint with the Judicial Conduct Commission on Wednesday, claiming the panel's public rebuke of him had been politically motivated.

"I don't know when they've ever issued any kind of a reprimand or any other type of sanction against any judge within a week of the election," Howell said.

Earlier this week, the commission that disciplines judges issued a public reprimand — the strongest action it can take short of seeking a judge's removal — against Howell for filing a lawsuit "in bad faith" in a personal land dispute.

The commission ruled that Howell violated provisions in the Code of Judicial Conduct and "acted in a manner that brought discredit to the judiciary" by filing a lawsuit that a jury in 1985 concluded never should have been filed.

Howell said the commission started investigating in June 1988 and held a hearing in November 1987.

"Why does this Democrat-dominated commission suddenly issue a reprimand concerning a case that is still on appeal? And, why do they do it just one week before the election? The situation reeks of politics," he said.

Robert Flowers, executive director of the commission, was out of his office Wednesday and not immediately available for comment, his secretary said. The commission's investigations are confidential.

Howell also filed a five-part complaint against Gonzalez, who called it "just as frivolous as the lawsuit" over which Howell was reprimanded.

Howell asked for a ruling on his complaint by Monday, the day before the election.

Among other things, Howell's complaint accused Gonzalez of accepting campaign contributions from parties with cases pending before the court and of making inaccurate allegations in campaign advertising about Howell.

Howell said he objected to a Gonzalez television commercial that told of Howell spending time in jail for contempt of court, an incident Howell said dated to 1972 and occurred before he became a judge.

"Since then, I've been elected as a district judge, re-elected as a district judge, elected to the (5th) Court of Appeals. Each time with a larger voter margin than before and each time with my opponents waving these ridiculous charges in the air," Howell said.

Gonzalez defended his campaign.

"He's the one that showed up in court in pajamas. He's the one that has a history that is bizarre, to say the least, and is unbecoming of any judge regardless of what court he serves on. We should expect more from individuals who aspire to be on the Texas Supreme Court," Gonzalez said.

Notice to Texas customers of Southwestern Bell Telephone Company.

Southwestern Bell Telephone Company filed tariff revisions October 3, 1988, with the Federal Communications Commission (FCC) that would increase the FCC Approved Customer Line Charge 60 cents per month for residence and single line business customers.

In addition, Centrex customers with lines installed or ordered before July 28, 1983, will incur a $1.00 increase bringing their monthly charge to $5.00. New rates would be effective December 1, 1988.

This charge is part of a plan authorized by the FCC in 1984 and designed so that business and residence customers would more directly contribute toward the cost of providing local telephone service.

In the past, these increases have resulted in a decrease in interstate long distance charges. Some additional proposed decreases in interstate long distance charges also have been announced.

If you have any questions, contact your local business office at the number listed in the front of your White Pages directory.

Phonics curriculum is teachers' society topic

Delta Kappa Gamma members of the Zeta Lambda Chapter met Oct. 17 to hear a presentation by Mary Inez Brownlee, local Snyder Independent School District diagnostician who uses the Scottish Rite Reading Disabilities program.

Brownlee became interested in the child retraining and teaching methods developed by the Scottish Rite Hospital of Texas located in Dallas and participated in training sessions conducted at the Scottish Rite Learning Center of West Texas at Lubbock. She is certified as an Alphabetic Phonics Therapist.

Brownlee, a member of Delta Kappa Gamma, has been associated with Snyder schools the past 10 years, and works with students and teachers at East, West, and Northeast Elementary Schools.

Aided by Gerri Parker, president of the society, Brownlee demonstrated some techniques used in the Alphabetic Phonics Curriculum.

Hostesses for the meeting held at Martha Ann Woman's Club were Monette O'Day, June McGlaun, Maribeth Vestal, and Carole Haynes. Special music was provided by Mary Williams and Dorothy Kayser.

spade 10. East won the jack and, by counting points, knew that his partner could not possibly have any entry card for his spades. So East naturally switched to a low club.

Already Willy was regretting his play at trick one. But he won the ace of clubs and went to dummy's king of diamonds. Then he played a low heart from dummy. If East carelessly played second hand low, declarer would win the king of hearts and switch back to diamonds to guarantee his contract. But East was up to all that. He rose with the ace and cleared the club suit. He now had to regain the lead with a diamond to set the contract with his good clubs.

Willy would have won the day just by taking the first spade trick in dummy. He could now play a heart as before, but the defenders would not have time to set up their club suit. All he would have to do would be to hold up on the second spade to break up their communication.

A regrettable holdup

It's hard not to have some sympathy for Willy Nilly's play in today's deal. When the four of spades was led, Willy thought he needed to provide for the possibility that West might hold the Q-J of spades, the ace of hearts and even the Q-J of diamonds. So he put in the

In 1984 I ran an ad asking you to vote for my father, Gene L. Dulaney, for District Judge.

Now it is 1988. I still live in Fort Worth and can't vote in your district, but I still care about Snyder and West Texas where I grew up.

I would like the 132nd Judicial District to be represented by a judge who is fair to everyone, knowledgeable, conservative and family oriented.

No one knows better than I how committed my father is to fairness, justice and integrity.

Please return him to a second term as your District Judge.

Williams shines for Cowboys

IRVING, Texas (AP) - Dallas Cowboys Coach Tom Landry found out something important Sunday, something about one of his defensive backs. "When you go up against a Roy Green you find out pretty quick whether you can play," Landry said of the Phoenix Cardinals star receiver. Robert Williams, Landry said, can play. The second-year free agent has become the starter at right cornerback and his play against the Cardinals on Sunday drew high praise from Landry. "I guess he should be green at the position but he just keeps making good plays," Landry said. "I'm just so pleased with Williams," Landry said. "He is one of our bright spots. He has great speed and is able to finish a play. We've got something special for the future in Robert Williams."

Williams limited Green to only one catch in the 16-10 loss. Green had averaged at least one touchdown pass a game against Dallas in previous meetings. On two occasions, Williams made spectacular leaps to bat away long passes intended for Green. Williams' performance and an injury to Mike Downs have encouraged Landry to temporarily move Ron Francis to safety.

Tigers hope to control ball against quick-hitting Steers

It's a tall order but Coach David Baugh is hoping his squad can control the football in Big Spring this Friday. If not, it could be another unhappy outing for the Fightin' Tigers. "Hopefully we can move the football on them. It can be a key if we can control the football and keep it away from them," said the coach of Friday's 8 p.m. ballgame between Snyder and the Steers. Snyder goes into the contest with a 1-7 season mark, 1-4 in District 4-4A. Big Spring is 2-5 overall and 2-3 in league action. Keeping the ball seems to be the best way of stopping the Steers' high-octane offense, which is averaging 300 yards and 17 points a ballgame. "They are explosive," said Baugh. "They'll go for a quarter without doing anything and then bam - they'll score two or three touchdowns in a row. They didn't do anything against Monahans until the last two minutes of the game and then they scored 18 points (in a 28-18 loss). Pecos had them down 17-0 and they came right back to win (31-24). They're explosive." And well-balanced. The Steers average 150.3 yards rushing and 150.4 yards passing.

"They throw a lot and they don't give up on their throwing game if they have several incompletions," said Baugh. "Their quarterback throws well on the run. They have good receivers running good routes." Rance Thompson quarterbacks the Steers. The 5-11, 160-junior has thrown for a district-leading 1,053 yards and nine touchdowns in just seven games. Flanker Tony Lewis, one of seven seniors on the starting offense, has 376 of those yards on 18 carries. Big Spring boasts six players who have caught four or more passes and whose yards per-catch average is 11 or better. The Steer running game is led by tailback Dennis Hartfield, who has 94 rushes for 537 yards. He also has 5 catches for 65 yards. Despite a quick-hitting offense, the Steers have struggled defensively this season. After last week's 49-0 loss to Andrews, Big Spring paces the district in defense allowed, averaging 309 yards a game. The Steers have also given up a league-high 29.8 points an outing. To hold on to the football, Snyder will have to have a good outing from its offensive line, where center Tim Beauchamp is suffering a thumb injury. Greg Kiker has been snapping the ball for Beauchamp in practice and could start Friday. If so, Beauchamp might move to guard, where he started the season. Tommy Lane is questionable with a knee injury, but the rest of the Tiger backfield is ready to go. Also out for Friday's game is lineman Benny Miller, who is still suffering from shoulder problems.

Ira invites Blackwell to final regular game

IRA -- Coach Don Jones' Ira Bulldogs finish out the regular season by hosting Blackwell at 7:30 p.m. Friday. Ira goes into District 7-1A six-man ballgame at 5-4 for the season and 2-2 in loop play. Blackwell is 2-5-1 overall and 1-2-1 in 7-1A. Elsewhere, Hermleigh winds up at Loraine, and on Saturday, Highland entertains third-ranked Trent. Hermleigh goes into its final ballgame hoping to break into the win column. The Cardinals are 0-8. Loraine is 7-2 for its first six-man season and 3-1 in district play. The Bulldogs will secure the district's runner-up spot if they can defeat Hermleigh Friday night. Saturday's contest pits the front-running Trent Gorillas, 8-0, against an up-and-down Highland team. The Hornets are 4-4-1 overall and 1-2-1 in district competition. Trent has already locked up the 7-1A championship.

Ditka condition serious but stable

LAKE FOREST, Ill. (AP) - Doctors say the next several days will tell how soon Mike Ditka will be allowed to resume his coaching duties after suffering a mild heart attack at the Chicago Bears' training facility. Nursing supervisor Joan Miteff said early today that Ditka's condition remained unchanged from Wednesday - serious but stable. But Ditka's wife Diana told reporters, "he's doing fantastic," after she left Lake Forest Hospital Wednesday afternoon. "He's too ornery," she said. "Barring anything unforeseen, we expect him to recover nicely," Dr. Jay Alexander, a cardiologist, said Wednesday. "The next several days will tell us how quickly we'll let him get back on the field." Ditka, 49, complained of chest pains early Wednesday after his daily workout, assistant coaches said. They brought Ditka to the hospital, and he was alert and conscious when he got there shortly after 8:30 a.m., Alexander said.

Weiss is AL Rookie of Year

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) - Walt Weiss hated his label as a rookie all season. Now, the slick-fielding shortstop has something to show for it. Weiss followed in the sizable footsteps of Jose Canseco and Mark McGwire on Wednesday in becoming the Oakland Athletics' third straight winner of the American League Rookie of the Year award. It's an honor the 24-year-old Weiss never gave a thought to in spring training. After all, he reasoned, Canseco had hit 33 home runs and McGwire 49 in their first seasons. "I really didn't think about being rookie of the year early in the season," said Weiss, standing next to life-size cutouts of the two A's sluggers at the Oakland Coliseum. "I was saying 'If they are the standards for rookie of the year, I ain't got a prayer.'" As it turned out, he was the answer to the prayers of A's executives. They had gambled last December that he was good enough to justify trading away Alfredo Griffin in the deal that landed pitcher Bob Welch from the Los Angeles Dodgers. He anchored the best fielding team in Oakland history - the A's fielding percentage of .983 was third best in the majors - and had a streak of 58 straight errorless games in the second half of the season. He also hit .281 over the final two months to finish at .250 with three homers and 39 runs batted in, and had some spectacular plays and a game-winning hit in the playoff sweep of Boston. Weiss was a runaway winner in the voting by members of the Baseball Writers Association of America.

San Antonio killer executed

HUNTSVILLE, Texas (AP) — Convicted killer Donald Gene Franklin, once described by his own attorney as the most hated man in San Antonio, was put to death early today for the abduction and slaying of a San Antonio nurse in 1975.

Franklin, 37, on the Texas death row for 12½ years, had no final statement, stared at the death chamber ceiling continuously and coughed several times after the lethal injection began to take effect.

He was pronounced dead at 12:30 a.m., six minutes after the drugs began flowing through needles inserted into his arms.

Franklin's hopes for a reprieve were blocked late Wednesday when the U.S. Supreme Court voted 7-2 to refuse him a stay.

The same court earlier this year voted 6-3 against Franklin in his challenge to the constitutionality of the Texas death penalty statute.

That case virtually had halted all executions in the state for nearly a year.

Franklin, who had three trials and at least five execution dates, was sentenced to death for the July 1975 death of Mary Margaret "Peggy" Moran.

The 27-year-old woman's disappearance from a San Antonio hospital prompted a highly publicized city-wide search. She was found in a vacant lot five days after her abduction, nude and bleeding from multiple stab wounds and barely alive. She died later in a hospital.

"I'm very thankful it's over," her mother, Patricia Crawford, said today. "I feel really relieved. I feel I can be at peace and Peggy can be at peace."

At the time of the execution, she said she was looking at a picture of her slain daughter.

"It's been a long hard day. It's been a very very long 13 years," she said.

Franklin spent his final day in a small cell adjacent to the Texas death chamber. After sleeping for more than two hours during the afternoon and visiting with his parents, he had a final meal of two hamburger patties.

Franklin was on parole for a rape conviction when he was arrested about four hours after the Moran abduction but consistently denied any involvement in the woman's disappearance.

"He just told me he was framed for something he didn't do," a fellow death row inmate, Johnny Penry, said Wednesday.

"He was very quiet and good natured," another inmate, Lester Bower, said. "He was about as mellow as anybody out there," added James Beathard, a death row resident.

Eyewitnesses provided the license plate number of a car speeding away from the hospital. The car was Franklin's.

Police also found the nurse's belongings in his garbage can and blood found on his clothing matched Ms. Moran's blood.

"This is a case I use as the classic circumstantial evidence case," said Bill Harris, a Bexar County district attorney who handled Franklin's case. "We had overwhelming evidence. It's an appropriate case for the death penalty and he's an appropriate subject."

"The worst part, in my mind, is that Franklin is the most hated man in San Antonio, at least in recent history," said Allen Cazier, who defended Franklin at his third trial.

"People here take it very personally for some reason," said George Scharmen, a Franklin appellate attorney.

Franklin became the second Texas inmate to be executed this year and the 27th Texas inmate — more than any other state — since the Supreme Court cleared the way for capital punishment to resume in 1976. Nationwide, 102 inmates now have been put to death.

Mother looks for peace after execution

By The Associated Press

Patricia Crawford is looking for peace — for herself, her deceased husband and especially for her slain daughter.

"This has been going on for 13 years," Mrs. Crawford says. "We've just been living a nightmare over and over again. It's just drained me emotionally and physically."

Her ordeal began early July 26, 1975, when her daughter, Mary Margaret Moran, known to her friends and family as "Peggy," was abducted while leaving work after the night shift at the Audie Murphy Veteran's Administration Hospital in San Antonio.

After an intense and highly publicized search, Peggy was found 112 hours later — nude and barely alive in a field not far from the hospital. She had been stabbed at least 10 times, her body scorched by the brutal Texas sun. A few hours later, she died of irreversible shock and loss of blood.

Donald Eugene Franklin, a Texas prison parolee who had been picked up just four hours after her disappearance, was executed early Thursday for Peggy's death.

"Hopefully, if it does go through, we will be able to put it behind us and we can go through with our lives," Mrs. Crawford said before the execution.

Clothing is shown to jurors

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Blood-stained items taken from four siblings who were killed in their trailer home were shown to jurors as spectators crowded into a small courtroom in the capital murder trial of Leopoldo Narvaiz Jr.

The 20-year-old man is charged in the slayings of his former girlfriend, Shannon Mann, 17; Jennifer Mann, 19; Martha Mann, 15; and Ernest Mann Jr., 13.

Their bodies were found in a blood-spattered mobile home early April 15 after one of the girls called the emergency 911 number to tell authorities that her family was being slaughtered.

Narvaiz was arrested later that morning and spent time in a hospital for treatment of stab wounds to his arm and leg.

Testimony in the case began Monday with several knives believed used in the attack admitted into evidence. On Wednesday, about 100 spectators crowded into a courtroom that was guarded by seven bailiffs, who checked spectators for weapons because of death threats against Narvaiz.

Police investigators who were at the scene testified Wednesday, identifying photographs of the scene and the blood-stained clothing taken from the victims.

Narvaiz, who is in the Bexar County Jail in lieu of $4 million bond, showed no emotion when the photographs of his former girlfriend were shown to his attorneys.

The females were found nude with some of their clothing either pulled over their breasts or below their waists.

Election '88

Mudslinging is an American habit

By Tom Tiede

WASHINGTON (NEA) — My, oh my, did you hear what George Bush called Michael Dukakis? He said the Massachusetts governor is a card-carrying member of the American Civil Liberties Union. And did you hear what Dukakis called Bush? He suggested the vice president is little more than a reincarnation of the demagogic Joseph McCarthy.

It's been that kind of presidential contest. Nasty and almost entirely negative. The Democrats have accused the Republican of being a wimp, and the Republicans have countered that the Democrat is a shrimp. Political observers believe that the campaign for the White House has been the meanest in at least a decade.

But in actuality that is not saying a lot. The decade is only a moment in America's 200 years of presidential electioneering. Scholars suggest that the campaigns have always tended to be down and dirty, and therefore the 1988 race is merely another routine chapter in the somewhat sordid chronical of these things.

One scholar is Professor William Michaelson. He is a presidential historian at New York's Pace University, and author of the book "Creating the American Presidency, 1775-1789." He says presidential candidates have been calling each other names from the beginning, and never mind whether they have been accurate or not.

George Washington's opponents said he was the secret sire of Alexander Hamilton. John Adams was accused of being a British royalist at heart, and thus a traitor. Thomas Jefferson was also said to have fathered illegitimate children, mulattoes no less, and he was furthermore said to be an atheist who would close the churches.

Michaelson points out that the dirt was not dispensed on a personal level in the early days. Presidential candidates did not stump for the office themselves until the 19th century; instead, they left the name calling to surrogates, called campaign advisers now, who would shoot at anything that moved.

Dolley Madison was accused of siding with the British, when she was not in bed with Tom Jefferson. James Monroe, president during the "Era of Good Feelings," was said to have helped bring about the death of George Washington. John Quincy Adams' people whispered that Andrew Jackson's wife was a bigamist.

And how about Andrew Johnson? His detractors giggled that he was "Andy the Sot." Historians say that he was only a moderate drinker, at worst. But he took a large brandy before one public appearance, he slurred some words during a speech, and he was never able to shake his reputation as a falling-down lush.

Michaelson says the charges go on and on. The militaristic William Henry Harrison ("Tippecanoe") was branded as a "sham hero." Herbert Hoover was charged with personally bringing about the wholesale suffering of the Great Depression. And opponents sometimes threw eggs to disrupt the campaign proceedings for Wendell Willkie.

Then there was the 1884 contest between Grover Cleveland and James Blaine. Michaelson says it may have been the dirtiest campaign of all. The Republicans found out that the Democrat, Cleveland, had once had a dalliance with a woman named Maria Halpin, and she said he was the father of her child.

Cleveland didn't deny the affair. It was not certain if the child was his responsibility, but he didn't deny that either. And so the GOP played the story for all it was worth. Blaine's forces chanted the most popular ditty of the day, which was: "Ma, Ma, where's my Pa? Gone to the White House, ha, ha, ha!"

Michaelson says the ditty was publicized in newspapers back then. He thinks it would be even more devastating on today's television news programs. Michaelson says the modern media is more aggressive than that which has gone before, and, as a result, it has become a catalyst for underhanded campaigning. The mocking of Dan Quayle is an example. Michaelson says the media started the attacks against the Republican vice presidential candidate, primarily to relieve the tedium of the GOP nominating convention. He says the truth is that the media has a vested interest in promoting such shame and scandal.

Of course, the Democrats must share the blame. And the Republicans, for their part. Michaelson says the parties do not normally bother with dirt when the contests are one-sided, but that hasn't been the case this year. Bush and Dukakis have been neck and neck, and it has promoted desperation on both sides.

Not that the parties will help either one. Michaelson says mudslinging is just as likely to create backlash as momentum. He notes that Cleveland beat Blaine in 1884, for example, and the Democrats had the last ditty: "Hooray for Maria, hooray for the kid, I voted for Grover, and I'm glad I did."

And yet the professor adds that it doesn't matter if the dirt helps or hurts. He says it's human nature, he says it's politics as usual, and, besides, it may be what the constituents really want: "People say they don't like the candidates stooping to such levels, but, well, they sure like to read all about it."

Supreme Court race heats up

AUSTIN (AP) — The face-off between Democratic and Republican candidates for the Texas Supreme Court continues without letup in political advertisements and comments.

On Wednesday, campaigners for GOP Chief Justice Tom Phillips displayed TV ads showing former prominent Democrats John Hill and John Connally, now a Republican, speaking out for Phillips.

Meanwhile, Phillips' Democratic opponent, Justice Ted Robertson, claimed that Phillips' limit on campaign contributions "is nothing more than a sham."

A 30-second Phillips ad shows former Gov. Connally saying, "Tom Phillips has everything it takes to be a great chief justice — intelligence, judgment and above all, integrity."

Former Attorney General Hill delivers — basically the same message.

Karl Rove, campaign consultant for Phillips, told reporters the Connally ad is running in the more Republican areas of West Texas, the Panhandle and North Central Texas, and the Hill ad is running in South Texas and East Texas.

Another Phillips ad, shown in all but the Laredo market, says

Tobacco heiress puts up bail

NEW YORK (AP) — Tobacco heiress Doris Duke says she put up Imelda Marcos' $5 million bail because she is "distilled, embarrassed and ashamed" with the way the U.S. government has treated the former Philippine first lady and her husband.

"I have always believed that an accused person is innocent until proved guilty. I wish the rest of America agreed with me," Miss Duke, 75, said in written response to questions submitted by the Daily News.

Miss Duke, once called "the richest girl in the world," said she would gladly testify as a character witness for the Marcoses, whom she said she considers her "dear friends." The couple is charged with looting the Philippine treasury of more than $100 million.

"I am disgusted, embarrassed and ashamed of my country's mistreatment of Imelda and her ailing husband, Ferdinand," Miss Duke wrote. "Why should America spend millions and millions of dollars prosecuting two people who for a generation have been our closest allies, including our Pacific outpost against communism?"

A lawyer for Miss Duke, Donald Robinson, said Wednesday the wealthy recluse posted the bond "because she knows that Mrs. Marcos didn't commit any crimes."

Miss Duke, who has a 2,700-acre estate in New Jersey, pledged more than $5 million in municipal bonds on behalf of Mrs. Marcos. A lawyer for Mrs. Marcos said she planned to visit with Miss Duke through the weekend even though she would be free to return to Hawaii as soon as the bail paperwork was completed.

every major Texas newspaper and all bar polls endorse Phillips.

Robertson said it has been "common knowledge for months that the $5,000 cap offered by the 'reform' campaign of Judge Tom Phillips is nothing more than a grandstanding trick to fool the voters."

"The fact of the matter is that the Phillips campaign has been using the phony cap to raise more money than has ever been raised by any Supreme Court candidate in Texas history — all behind the mask of 'clean' politics," Robertson said in a statement.

"To rid this election of the spectre of corruption, Chief Justice Phillips should return the monies raised in flagrant defiance of the spirit, and not just the letter of his own self-imposed contribution cap," he said.

Yet another statewide TV ad, for Democratic Justice William Kilgarlin, calls Kilgarlin the "leader of the (court) reform movement," according to his campaign consultant, Richard Jensen.

Jensen said the ad identifies Republican opponent Nathan Hecht as the "handpicked" candidate of Gov. Bill Clements, says Hecht has received 82 percent of his campaign contributions from special interests, and has been endorsed by corporate law firms and insurance interests.

Hecht, a Dallas appeals judge, said, "As far as I know, he (Kilgarlin) has not used the word 'reform' all year long, and now he says he's the leader of the reform movement."

"The campaign advertising has been absolutely astonishing to me," Hecht said. Negative campaigning is one thing. False is something else."

Campaign consultant Rove

said, "I think the vast majority of people, a significant plurality of the people, are still looking for cues. They know something is wrong. I get a sense there's going to be a lot more individual picking and choosing."

FBI agents claim retaliation

EL PASO, Texas (AP) — The FBI has retaliated against at least five Hispanic agents who testified in or commented about a successful racial discrimination suit against the bureau, a lawyer says.

An FBI spokesman in Washington did not comment directly on the allegations Wednesday, but said any retaliation would be investigated by the FBI.

A 50-page affidavit, scheduled to be submitted today to U.S. District Judge Lucius Bunton, details retaliation against five agents in four cities, said Orlando Quintana, an Albuquerque lawyer affiliated with the legal team that represented the 311 Hispanic agents who sued the FBI.

In a 95-page verdict, Bunton ruled Sept. 30 that the FBI had discriminated against Hispanic agents by promoting them too slowly, assigning them less-desirable jobs and affording them less recognition for their successes. Damages will be decided later.

Quintana said about 25 agents nationwide have complained about being harassed or retaliated against for testifying or supporting the lawsuit.

FBI spokesman Gregory Jones, speaking from bureau headquarters in Washington, said: "Our response to that is basically any intimidation or retaliation would be illegal and intolerable, and would result in an FBI inquiry."

Jones would not confirm whether the FBI is investigating the allegations. He said any such inquiry would be conducted by the bureau's office of professional responsibility.

The suit was filed by Bernardo "Matt" Perez, the No. 2 man in the El Paso FBI office, in January 1987. In the affidavit, Perez complains of being put under administrative inquiry for speaking with reporters after Bunton's verdict was announced, Quintana said.

Fernando Mata, an agent in the Miami field office, testifies in the affidavit that he has been put under administrative inquiry ostensibly for breaching national security during his testimony, Quintana said.

Amnesty official said charged

LAREDO, Texas (AP) — An amnesty official faces up to 15 years in prison if convicted on charges of accepting a bribe from undercover agents posing as Mexican citizens seeking legalization.

Daniel Meza, who has been an amnesty adjudicator with the legalization program since its inception May 5, 1987, was arrested by Immigration and Naturalization Service agents Monday night at a Laredo motel after agents handed him four $100 bills.

Gary Renick, chief investigator for the INS office in San Antonio, said Meza is the first amnesty worker in the San Antonio district — which includes Laredo, Austin and Corpus Christi — to be arrested and charged with bribery.

Meza was charged Tuesday with soliciting a bribe and was later released on a $25,000 personal recognizance bond.

"It went down fairly fast," Renick said. "It tells everyone if we have somebody dirty, we're going to clean it up."

But Renick said in the San Antonio district about 15 individuals have been indicted and convicted for selling documents that would make aliens eligible for legalization. He added that his office has about eight to 10 other investigations ongoing.

"The fraud is massive," Renick said. "We're concentrating very hard on it."

Wounded constable agent left me alone

EL PASO, Texas (AP) — The wife of a Hudspeth County constable wounded by a rampaging trucker says a U.S. Border Patrol agent left the constable alone after the trucker rambled his police car.

Members of the family of Constable Sonny Hillin told the El Paso Times Wednesday that Hillin was shot moments after his car was rammed and he wants to know where the agent went.

Hillin, in stable condition at Vista Hills Medical Center in El Paso where he is being treated for a gunshot wound to the jaw, could not talk with reporters Wednesday, a nursing supervisor said.

Hillin's comments about being left alone were relayed to the news media by his wife, Jackie, and Helen Hillin, the wife of his nephew.

Helen Hillin said the family doesn't understand why the Border Patrol agent left the scene after helping stop the truck, or why he apparently didn't hear the wounded constable's radio call for help.

Sharon Agutter, a counselor at Ysleta High School, died after truck driver Denver Jerome Burrell allegedly ran her car off the road during the rampage along 70 miles of Interstate 10.

The El Paso Times said they would not publish the name of the agent because he could not be reached for comment Wednesday.

The two women said Hillin told them the agent was close behind Hillin's car when the truck-trailer rig was stopped.

The trucker then backed into the county car, pinning it between the truck and the Border Patrol vehicle on the westbound shoulder of Interstate 10.

Hillin said he yelled out the window for the Border Patrolman to back up. The agent did.

The Border Patrol agent's wife was in the agent's vehicle at the time, Hillin said.

The constable drove around the truck, stopped in front of it and was shot after getting out of the car.

Hillin's wife said she drove an Esperanza volunteer ambulance to the scene after hearing her husband's distress call.

She said she saw the agent in his car parked on I-10 a few miles west of the shooting scene and the agent told her where to find her husband.

Mrs. Hillin said she saw someone in the car with the agent but didn't notice if it was a man or woman.

Doug Mosier, spokesman for the Border Patrol's El Paso Sector, said he had not heard about the family's account of the incident.

"If that is a formal allegation that is being made, then we will certainly make an internal investigation," Mosier said. "This is the first I've heard of any questions about the actions of the Border Patrol agent involved."

Burrell, 30, of Anderson, S.C., has been charged with murder, attempted capital murder and involuntary manslaughter, the El Paso County District Attorney's office said. He was being held in the Hudspeth County Jail under at least $200,000 bond.

Juveniles linked to vandalism case

Three boys have been identified as suspects in a Sunday house vandalism case.

A city detective said the three, 8, 10 and 12 years of age, were involved in damaging an air-conditioning duct at a house that Larry Birkelback of 5414 Houston Ave. has under construction at 2604 47th St.

He said the case will be adjudicated by juvenile authorities.

HUNTSVILLE DR. GOTT

Convicted Franklin, own Asst H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT: Do the two little ridges that run from the upper lip to the nose have any purpose?

DEAR READER: Not to my knowledge. These ridges, like the line you can feel with your tongue along your hard palate, are produced by the normal closing of the fetal head long before birth. During early fetal development, each side of the baby grows independently during pregnancy, the two sides fuse. When the midline fails to fuse, harelip and cleft palate result.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I have migraines. My daughter, now 20, has been having headaches since age 4. She also has blackouts. My son has epilepsy. One doctor said my daughter had seizures, one doctor said no. Two other doctors disagree over the results of her glucose tolerance test, but a strict diet that we initiated has certainly helped her. What can we do to sort out this confusion?

DEAR READER: You raise three possible diagnoses for your daughter: Migraine headaches or migraine equivalents, seizure disorder and hypoglycemia. Ordinarily, these conditions are easily separated by medical tests.

Migraine equivalents (visual symptoms and irritability without headache) are diagnosed by the exclusion of other diseases; they often respond to the administration of ergot derivatives, drugs that constrict arteries.

PETER GOTT, M.D.

Seizure disorders, such as epilepsy, can usually be diagnosed by an electroencephalogram (brain wave test or EEG).

Hypoglycemia is diagnosed when the symptoms are present during periods of low blood sugar (less than 45 milligrams of glucose per deciliter of blood).

I'm not sure why your daughter's doctors are in disagreement. To resolve the issue, I suggest that you request a referral to a neurological or diagnostic clinic of a teaching hospital. In such an environment, the specialists should be able to put everything together and solve the problem.

You should realize that a hypoglycemic diet (no alcohol or sweets; frequent high protein meals) will help many medical conditions. Therefore, a favorable response to these restrictions is not proof that hypoglycemia caused the symptoms.

For more information, I am sending you copies of my Health Reports "Hypoglycemia," "Epilepsy: The Falling Sickness" and "Headaches." Other readers who would like a copy of any of these should send $1 for each one and their name and address to P.O. Box 91369, Cleveland, OH 44101-3369. Be sure to mention which title you want.

DEAR DR. GOTT: My husband had a cerebral AVM in the right temporal lobe. A severe disorder developed after it "leaked." Would proton beam therapy be appropriate? My doctor doesn't know much about it.

DEAR READER: Nobody knows much about it. Proton beam (charged particle radiation) therapy, an experimental technique, involves the precise focusing of high-energy particles on a part of the brain. It is useful in "cauterizing" bleeding blood vessels in inaccessible locations.

Arteriovenous malformations (AVMs) are relatively common. Basically, high-pressure arterial blood flows too forcefully into a vein. With time, the weak venous wall will leak or rupture because of the pressure. If the malformation can be destroyed, sparing the surrounding normal tissue, the bleeding will stop.

Therefore, in theory, proton beam therapy could help your husband.

At present, proton beam therapy is available in only two of the nation's medical centers: the University of California (San Francisco) and Harvard University (Boston).

Gray County to stop voting restrictions

AUSTIN (AP) — Gray County residents who sign a pauper's oath no longer will be required to say they are surrendering their right to vote, the attorney general's office said.

That provision had been included in the oath because it is in the Texas Constitution, said Elna Christopher, spokeswoman for Attorney General Jim Mattox, Wednesday. She said the document also contains other outdated provisions regarding the right to vote that are not followed but have not been repealed.

"Everybody has just ignored it, except out in Gray County, to our knowledge," Ms. Christopher said. She said officials instead follow Texas Election Code provisions.

Ms. Christopher added, "I don't think it was a malicious attempt by anyone in the county to disenfranchise people. I just think they didn't understand the law."

"As soon as we explained it to them, they were chagrined it had happened," she said. "We just told them to stop using it, and they immediately agreed when law was explained to them."

Officials told the attorney general's office that the oath was being used in connection with indigent burials. Ms. Christopher said. Perhaps 40 relatives were required to sign the oath over several years in order for the county to pay for burials, she said.

According to Ms. Christopher, Gray County officials said there has only been one person who has come forward to register to vote after signing the oath, and that person was allowed to vote after the county checked with the secretary of state's office.

"The problem I see is people who signed this oath may have just assumed they could not vote and never pressed the point," said Ms. Christopher. "I don't know how one goes about getting the word to them, or if they're still there."

Episodes set in Florida

JUPITER, Fla. (AP) — Actor Burt Reynolds plans to do a good deed for Palm Beach County, where he grew up, by setting episodes of a new series here in a move that could boost the local economy.

Reynolds, who lives in this Palm Beach County resort town, plans to return to prime-time television in "B.L. Stryker," a series of six two-hour episodes.

Reynolds plays a Vietnam veteran and retired New Orleans vice cop who returns to his home in West Palm Beach. He and Tom Selleck, of the old "Magnum, P.I." series, are the executive producers.

With each of the episodes budgeted at $4 million, the county economy could get a hefty infusion during the next six months.
