

LINDA FRANKLIN
...auditor nominee

For county auditor...

Judge reveals appointment

132nd District Court Judge Gene Dulaney Tuesday announced the appointment of long-time Snyder resident Linda Franklin to succeed Bernhard Bartels as county auditor.

Bartels said earlier this week that he would resign rather than replace an office employee whose behavior during the fall election was described by Dulaney as disruptive and contrary to courthouse policy. Dulaney revealed his reasons for wanting changes in the auditor's office during the regular session of the commissioners' court on Monday.

Franklin, 42 and a native of Seminole, said Tuesday that she had not had time to talk with the other employee in the auditor's office, Joy Howell, "to see if she wants to stay."

Deputy auditor Ann Walton will apparently be required to leave with the change of auditors, Franklin noted.

Franklin, wife of farmer E.L. Franklin, studied business and accounting at Angelo State University for a year after graduating from Seminole High School and attended Texas Tech University for 2 1/2 years.

She has been a part-time bookkeeper and accountant at Blankenship Packer Service for the past 2 1/2 years, prior to which she ran the local Texas Department of Highways and Public Transportation office for six years.

The Franklins have two children, Snyder High School senior Jeff and Texas Tech University senior Lisa Beck. They are members of the First Baptist Church.

Christmas concert on tap Thursday

Snyder's annual Christmas gift from the Snyder chamber of commerce is set for Thursday when the cultural affairs committee sponsors a concert by the Midland-Odessa Symphony.

The concert begins at 8 p.m. in the Worsham Auditorium at Snyder High School.

Two Snyder women will be soloists and will be accompanied by the symphony.

Singing five selections will be Marcie Dennis and Melanie Smith. Dennis will sing "Ave Maria" and "Panis Angelicus" and Smith will sing "Jesu Bambino," "Rejoice Greatly" and "O Holy Night."

Also featured on the program will be an appearance by Santa Claus, who is to lead the symphony in its version of "Sleigh Ride."

An 80-member community choir will accompany the symphony also in a program promised to last more than one hour.

Rehearsals for the choir are being handled by SHS choir director Bill Lyon.

Conducting the symphony Thursday will be Tom Hostadt of Midland.

Tickets are now on sale through the chamber office. These may be reserved by calling 573-3558.

Tickets are priced at $8 for general admission and $4 for students and senior citizens. There will also be reserved seating for $12 and a "patron" ticket for $16.

Sweetwater PCA to get payment

AUSTIN (AP) — A Sweetwater lending institution was declared the winner among creditors trying to recover on defaulted farm loans through collection of the federal payments-in-kind program, the Texas Supreme Court ruled Wednesday.

Sweetwater Production Credit Association and James Franklin O'Briant both claimed more than $153,000 in payments-in-kind made to Triple R Farms, which had failed to pay off its loans.

Payments-in-kind are federal reimbursements to farmers who agree not to plant a certain crop.

At the center of the dispute was whether Sweetwater Production Credit Association or O'Briant had filed financial statements in the proper office to recover funds on lost loans.

The decision reversed a ruling by the Eastland Court of Appeals and upheld a Fisher County state district court decision.

Appeals court reverses school tax decision

AUSTIN (AP) — A state appeals court today overturned the controversial ruling by a district judge that had declared the state's system of public school finance unconstitutional.

The Austin-based 3rd Court of Appeals reversed the 1987 decision of State District Judge Harley Clark, who had ruled that the school finance system violated the state constitution by failing to give all school districts equal access to funding.

Bob Shannon, chief justice of the appeals court, authored the 2-1 opinion.

"The opinion and judgment of this court should not be viewed as an affirmation that the present school financing system is desirable or that it should continue without change, rather, our conclusion is solely that the system is not in violation of the constitution of Texas," the opinion said. Justice Marilyn Aboussie concurred.

The lawsuit was filed in 1984 by school districts with low property values. Public schools are funded largely through a combination of local property taxes and state aid. The federal government also contributes.

Clark's ruling last year said the school finance system violated the Texas Constitution because it didn't guarantee that each school district had the same ability to obtain money to educate students.

Clark's ruling was to take effect Sept. 1, 1989. The state, joined by other districts, appealed to the 3rd Court of Appeals.

Attorneys argued their case before the 3rd Court of Appeals on April 6. Both sides earlier indicated that an appeal to the Texas Supreme Court would be likely.

Craig Foster, executive director of the Equity Center, today said poor districts would appeal to the Supreme Court. The Equity Center is a group of low-wealth school districts and 60 of the 67 districts which brought the lawsuit belong to it.

Gov. Bill Clements' office hailed the ruling.

"It is very good news. It's a victory for the people of Texas. The opinion protects the integrity of the local, independent school districts," said Reggie Bashur, the governor's press secretary.

"The governor feels very strongly that the issue of education needs to be addressed in the Legislature, not the courts. He has proposals he will be presenting to the Legislature next session," Bashur added.

A spokesman for the Texas Education Agency, Joey Lozano, said the appeals court opinion was being reviewed.

A spokesman for Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby, Glenn Smith, said, "We believe that Texas has, year after year, tried to give all students in Texas equal access to an excellent education, and we're certain that Texas will continue in that direction."

The battle over school funding had been viewed by lawmakers as one of the major problems facing the 1989 Legislature, with solutions that would satisfy Clark's ruling estimated to cost between $600 million and $2 billion.

In today's decision, the 3rd Court of Appeals specifically said that the current finance system isn't perfect but that citizens and members of the Legislature — not judges — should be the ones to fix it.

"A rather 'patched-up and overly cobbled' system of administration and finance for public education has evolved in this state over the past 400 years. The system does not provide an ideal education for all students nor a completely fair distribution of tax benefits and burdens among all of the school patrons," Justice Shannon wrote.

"Nevertheless, under our system of government, efforts to achieve those ideals come from the people through constitutional amendments and legislative enactments and not through judgments of courts," he said.

Jaycees remind of toy donor deadline

Locals are reminded that this Sunday is the deadline to donate toys for the Jaycee-sponsored Toys for Tots project.

Last year, the Christmas-time effort insured that 330 needy youngsters received a toy at Christmas.

Donations of new and used toys may be delivered to the main fire station at 1911 27th St.; at the VFW, 1701 Ave. T; at the National Guard Armory in Towle Park; or at the American Legion, 1800 Ave. R.

Work on used toys will be completed at the West Fire Station on El Paso.

To submit the names of needy youngsters, referrals should be made at the Snyder Chamber of Commerce, 573-3558. In addition, persons who would like to have toys picked up should contact the chamber.

All referrals will be screened by local child welfare officials. The Snyder public schools and local Goodfellows have been contacted also for names of children.

Individuals submitting names should include the name, gender, age, phone, address and their own name.

The toys will be delivered on Wednesday, Dec. 21.

The feller on Deep Creek says, "To get as far away from civilization as possible, one might join the crowds in a shopping mall."

While a transition team is busy looking at names to be a part of the new administration in January, both political parties have a similar task.

Both parties are still trying to tally up just how many millions were spent in trying to get elected. Winners have little problem paying campaign debts, but losers often spend lifetimes trying to retire debts.

At the presidential level, taxpayers pick up a major portion of the cost. In the primaries almost any candidate can easily qualify for matching funds.

One of our favorite politicians comes from a rural district in Western Kentucky. He was once told by the late House Speaker Sam Rayburn that his failure to take campaign contributions would eventually get him defeated.

That was 30 years ago, and no one has done it yet. He still runs the same kind of campaign — polls, no TV advertising, no campaign staff, no press entourage, no special-interest money, and certainly no donations from anyone.

Admirers of Rep. William Natcher call him a vanishing breed — a politician who runs solely on his record and his personal reputation. At age 79, he still campaigns a handshake at a time and pays all expenses from his own pockets.

In 1986, the average congressman spent $350,000 to get re-elected. Incumbent congressmen have little money worries, with most coming from political action committees and special interest groups.

Rep. Natcher spent $5,714 to get re-elected — mostly for gasoline and a few ads in the many small newspapers in his district.

His first political race was for county attorney, and he did accept a $100 contribution from a close friend. Not wanting to offend the friend by returning the donation, he used the $100 to buy a gift certificate at a men's clothing store. It cost him $2.50 to return the hundred.

They don't make 'em like that anymore.

Q — Is Snyder Cablevision giving HBO subscribers back their monthly payment for December since other customers are getting it free?

A — No. Former HBO customers are going to be given credit on their accounts for deposits they had given for the old HBO converter boxes. This credit will appear on their bill some time within the next three months. A Snyder Cablevision spokesman said the two services being provided "free" to all customers during December are The Disney Channel and Cinemax.

Various methods can help psoriasis

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I am one of those seniors plagued with psoriasis. It's mainly in my scalp and seems to build up overnight. Can you suggest any relief?

DEAR READER: Psoriasis is a chronic skin disease of unknown cause, characterized by scaling patches of various sizes.

Lubricants, cortisone cream and shampoo have been used for years to treat psoriasis, with inconsistent results.

Recently, three new treatments show promise.

Methotrexate, a drug that interferes with the rapid proliferation of skin cells, aids some patients. It is taken orally. The medicine is dangerous and can cause liver damage.

Psoralens and ultraviolet A light, or PUVA, therapy is generally successful. A psoralen drug called methoxsalen is given orally; this is followed by exposure of the affected skin to ultraviolet light. The doses of the drug and the light must be carefully adjusted to the individual. Remissions may last several months. However, a very serious drawback is that some people are apt to develop skin cancer from the UV light exposure.

Isotretinoin (Accutane) given orally is often highly effective in treating psoriasis. However, the substance is extremely toxic to unborn children; pregnant women must not use it.

Because treatment methods vary, all patients with psoriasis should be under the care of dermatologists. You can obtain appropriate care from such a skin specialist.

For more information, I am sending you a copy of my Health Report "Eczema and Psoriasis." Other readers who would like a copy should send $1 with their name and address to P.O. Box 91369, Cleveland, OH 44101-3369. Be sure to mention the title.

DEAR DR. GOTT: Some time ago I read that an examination of the oil secretions produced on the base of the nose supplied considerable information about the individual under study. Could you explain?

DEAR READER: Scientists have long been fascinated by the idea that body functions and diseases can be studied and monitored by examining the secretions in perspiration. Although the analysis of skin oils could, in theory, provide information about a person, I am not aware of any practical application of this technique. Therefore, I am not able to explain the material you read.

DEAR DR. GOTT: Our young daughter has been having problems at home and school: bizarre behavior and inappropriate remarks. Could she have Tourette's syndrome?

DEAR READER: Tourette's syndrome is a poorly understood genetic disease that begins in childhood. It is marked by random tics (muscular movements), compulsive utterances (often of foul words) and behavioral abnormalities. Your daughter could have this disease. She might also have other conditions.

For example, many forms of emotional ailments are characterized by bizarre behavior and inappropriate remarks.

Also, certain seizure disorders can produce these symptoms.

I urge you to have your daughter examined by a physician. Once a diagnosis has been established, she can begin treatment.

For more information, I am sending you a copy of my Health Report "Tourette's Syndrome." Other readers who would like a copy should send $1 with their name and address to P.O. Box 91369, Cleveland, OH 44101-3369. Be sure to mention the title.

Scientists studying marine population in Canada have found plenty. Their findings include: seals, fish and polar bears in the Arctic are contaminated by chemicals carried north on ocean currents and blown in the air. White beluga whales are riddled with cancers, lesions and ulcers. Acid rain is wiping out salmon in Nova Scotia, where salmon already have vanished from 13 rivers.

Congressional pay argument very old

WASHINGTON (AP) — When the first Congress convened in 1789, members were paid $6 a day — while in session. Lawmakers created a furor 27 years later when they decided to boost their pay to $1,500 a year, a raise that was quickly repealed.

Two centuries after the first session the debate continues, with many in Congress complaining that their $89,500 salary is too small and President Reagan considering whether to offer them a sizeable raise.

Consumer advocates such as Ralph Nader were quick to criticize when a presidential commission on Tuesday suggested a 50 percent pay hike for members of Congress and other top federal officials, but former Rep. Elford A. Cederberg, R-Mich., was more sympathetic.

Cederberg, who is president of the Association of Former Congressmen, said Nader, and more importantly the folks back home, often don't realize the high cost of maintaining households both at home and in Washington, where he estimated that lawmakers' houses cost an average of $250,000.

"The average person back home just doesn't understand that if a man brings his family with him down here, unless he has some personal wealth, it's difficult for him to take on that kind of a mortgage," Cederberg said. "Especially in politics, which is a rather unstable business."

When Cederberg came to Washington, he was paid $12,500. The annual salary had climbed to $57,500 when he was voted out of office in 1978 after serving 13 terms. He said he makes more money now as a consultant.

Winning influence also takes a toll on congressional wallets, Cederberg said.

"Republicans belong to the Capitol Hill Club and Democrats belong to the Democratic Club," he said. "And there are other people and things you have to be seen around if you're going to be influential and they cost money."

The new recommendations, from a commission that weighs in with its views on congressional pay after every presidential election, would raise the salaries to $135,000 — more than nine times the nation's average personal income in 1987.

Such comparisons are dismissed by proponents of pay hikes, who point to Washington's high cost of living. And, just like the folks back home, many members of Congress have to worry about babysitters and tuition for their children, they say.

"I think some people think that congressmen and their wives go around in limousines and live in big houses and go to the White House," said Gretchen Poston of Washington Inc., a consulting firm for social events and conventions. "That's just not the day-to-day life."

Dear Abby

Aunt Learns Her Lesson When College-Bound Niece Moves In

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1988 by Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: My brother died several years ago. He had a daughter I'll call Michele. Michele's mother remarried and moved to another state.

My husband and I have raised three children who are now married and living on their own, so we have two extra bedrooms.

Michele graduated from high school last year, and her mother called and asked if Michele could move in with my husband and me while she attends a college near us.

We felt this would be OK, as Michele is 18 and considered an adult. Michele's parents agreed to pay us $125 a month rent, and said that all her other expenses would be taken care of by them.

So far, we have been paid only one month's rent, and Michele has been here for seven months. We paid a $300 repair bill for her car; our phone bills are outrageous from the calls she makes home and to her friends. She is always borrowing extra money, which she says her mother will repay, but we haven't seen one dime of it.

Michele's room is always a terrible mess, and our phone rings at all hours of the night for her. Abby, my husband and I fight constantly, and he wants her out. So do I, but I am afraid it will cause a family feud if I ask her to leave.

I've tried talking to her, but it doesn't do any good, and I can't handle any more of this. What would you do, Abby?

AUNT BETSY

DEAR AUNT BETSY: I would call Michele's mother immediately and tell her that since she failed to uphold her end of the agreement, and Michele is causing problems in your household, Michele must go. Tell her firmly that Michele has one week to vacate the premises. Advise Michele of your decision — help her pack her clothes and stick to your guns. If this causes a family feud, so be it. It's your husband's house, too.

DEAR ABBY: My parents, who live in another state, have a small dog named Jenny. Jenny is a lovable pet, but she frequently has "accidents" on my new carpets. Also, my two cats are declawed and cannot defend themselves against Jenny, who deliberately antagonizes them.

Although we have discussed these problems on more than one occasion, my parents have consistently ignored my wishes and they continue to bring Jenny along when they visit me.

We have tried putting Jenny outside on a leash and leaving her in the garage, but she barks and whines until we bring her in. I've begged my parents to leave Jenny in a kennel or in the care of a friend, but they refuse.

The issue is becoming a sore spot between my parents and me. Any suggestions?

THERESA

DEAR THERESA: Put a doggy diaper on Jenny, or find a nearby motel that accepts pets, and send Mom and Dad and Jenny there. And keep your cats in a room with the door closed to protect them from Jenny.

DEAR ABBY: I have read many articles about how much it would cost to hire professionals to do all the jobs a wife does — a cook, housekeeper, chauffeur, tutor, etc., but I've never read anything about how much it would cost to replace a good husband.

We've never had to hire a carpenter, mechanic, plumber, painter, electrician or gardener. At today's prices, do you realize how many thousands of dollars this saves us every year?

My husband also works full time. Besides doing all those things, he's a wonderful lover and my best friend.

LUCKY IN OREGON

DEAR LUCKY: You are indeed lucky. But when you mention the last two virtues — you hit the jackpot in my book.

Is your social life in a slump? Get Abby's booklet, "How to be Popular" — for people of all ages. To order, send your name and address, plus check or money order for $2.89 ($3.39 in Canada) to: Dear Abby, Popularity Booklet, P.O. Box 447, Mount Morris, Ill. 61054.

Vote said close to name school after George Bush

MIDLAND, Texas (AP) — The vote was closer than the one that made him the nation's 40th president, but George Bush came up a winner in a decision over what to name this West Texas city's next elementary school.

The Midland Independent School District board voted 4-3 on Tuesday night to name an elementary school to be built on the northwest side of town the Charles Herbert Walker Bush Elementary School, said school district spokesman Ted Miller.

Miller said board members voted to ignore a longstanding district policy of letting children recommend names for new schools and another that said schools must be named after deceased historical figures or state landmarks. The approval also came over a board member's objection that Bush must be given time to establish himself as an education president.

Local Republican Party official Charles Seltzer had recommended at a school board meeting two weeks ago that the proposed elementary school be named after Bush, a former Midland resident.

"When George Bush was in the oil business here in Midland, he started the YMCA and several other things here," Miller said.

The school, which will cost an estimated $1.8 million, was part of a $12.8 million bond package approved recently.

In 1941, "The Great Gildersleeve," a spin-off of "Fibber McGee and Molly," made its debut on NBC radio with Harold Peary in the title role.

we cannot entirely disregard useful bids. Here's one that is easy to remember.

North's jump to three diamonds (East's opening-bid suit) told his partner that he had four-card support for hearts, 8-11 high-card points and a singleton. It wasn't hard for South to figure out that the singleton was probably in clubs, so he had an easy bid of four hearts.

South won the ace of clubs and played the ace of hearts. When the queen appeared, declarer saw that he could not afford to draw trumps. He would then need East to hold the ace of spades. So he played the jack of diamonds. East took the ace and played back the queen of spades, covered by South's king and West's ace. West played a second spade, won by East's jack. On the third spade, declarer ruffed with the 10 of hearts and drew trumps to make the contract.

East could have done better by playing a low spade after taking the diamond ace. South would still go up with the king. Now, after winning the second spade, East would have the Q-8 over the dummy's 10-6-5 and should play back the king of clubs. That would stop declarer from taking 10 tricks. I leave it to you readers to figure out how declarer can always do better by first playing to the king of hearts in dummy.

Response is due 15 days from now

MIDLAND, Texas (AP) — A federal judge has given lawyers for a former Odessa Savings Association director 15 days to respond to a Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corp. order that the director pay $7.2 million on a loan from his former thrift.
U.S. District Judge Lucius Bunton said he received the FSLIC request last week and would take the issue under consideration.
Before sentencing Louis Rochester on a four-count banking fraud conviction, Bunton issued the 15-day deadline for a response to the FSLIC request.
Bunton sentenced Rochester to four, five-year suspended prison terms. All sentences are to run concurrently.

A federal jury earlier found Rochester guilty of mail fraud, misapplication of funds, making false entries and participating in money, profits, property and benefits through loan transactions. The jury cleared Rochester on another 21 indictments.

Jones to join UT cagers

AUSTIN (AP) - New Texas basketball coach Tom Penders says Longhorn football split end Tony Jones has asked to join the basketball team after final exams this month.

Penders said he would be glad to give Jones a chance. The 5-foot-7-inch Jones, a junior, played one season of basketball at Angelina Junior College in Lufkin before transferring to Texas, where he had been recruited as a football player.

He also played basketball in high school at Grapeland and holds the University of Texas school record in the 200 meters - 20.28 seconds.

Bell 34th Gehrig-winner

OXFORD, Ohio (AP) - Third baseman Buddy Bell, who finished his 17th season in the major leagues with the Houston Astros, has been named the 34th winner of the Lou Gehrig Memorial Award, which is presented by Phi Delta Theta national collegiate fraternity.

The award is given annually to a major-league player who best exemplifies the image and character of Gehrig, a Hall of Fame first baseman with the New York Yankees who was a member of the fraternity while attending Columbia University.

Bell is the son of former major-league outfielder Gus Bell. With a combined total of 407 home runs, the Bells are tied with Yogi and Dale Berra for the most homers by a father-son team in the majors.

Gustafson receives raise

AUSTIN (AP) - The University of Texas athletic council voted Tuesday to give Longhorn baseball coach Cliff Gustafson a pay raise that will make him the highest paid college baseball coach in the nation.

Gustafson, 57, will receive a $20,000 a year increase to boost his yearly base salary to $83,600.

Texas Athletic Director DeLoss Dodds said it was his intention to make Gustafson the best paid coach in his profession.

The former Longhorn baseball player has won 1,088 games in 21 years as the Texas head man, while losing only 223. His winning percentage of 83 percent is unsurpassed in college baseball.

Only two other college coaches have surpassed the 1,000 win mark - the legendary Ron DeGueux of Southern California and Ron Fraser of Miami, who until Tuesday was the top paid coach in the country.

Gustafson's teams have won 19 Southwest Conference championships, 10 of those in a row.

More honors for Sanders

PHILADELPHIA (AP) - Heisman Trophy winner Barry Sanders says he's going to do his running next year at Oklahoma State, not in the NFL.

The 195-pound Sanders made his position clear Tuesday after being named by the Maxwell Club as the nation's outstanding college football player.

Sanders emphatically denied any intention of trying to enter the NFL draft next season and foresake his senior year with the Cowboys.

"I'll be at Oklahoma State next year," said Sanders who earlier this month won the Heisman.

The 5-foot-8 Sanders broke the stranglehold quarterbacks have had on the Maxwell the previous four years with a season in which he ran 2,628 yards and scored 39 touchdowns, both new collegiate records. That adds up to an average of 232 yards and 3.5 TDs a game.

The last four Maxwell winners were Doug Flutie, Chuck Long, Vinny Testaverde and Don McPherson. Sanders is the first running back honored since Nebraska's Mike Rozier won the Maxwell in 1983.

Schoolboy talent backs off after Sherrill's resignation

by The Associated Press

Texas A&M suffered the latest setback in its bid to attract the state's top schoolboy football players when Jackie Sherrill's resignation as football coach and athletic director.

When the Aggie program was placed on two years' probation for NCAA rules violations in September, some high school stars said they removed A&M from their list.

The reaction was much the same Tuesday as word spread of Sherrill's announcement amid allegations that he offered "hush money" for a former player's silence during an NCAA investigation.

"Well, scratch them from the list," Craig Johnston, an all-state offensive lineman at Crosby High School, told The Houston Post. "And put down USC instead."

The Aggies have dominated recruiting in Texas for the past four seasons. A&M, which won three consecutive Southwest Conference championships before finishing second last season, were clear winners in recruiting among SWC schools from 1985-87, and experts ranked them a close second behind Texas in 1988.

Named to replace Sherrill is R.C. Slocum, A&M's defensive coordinator and assistant head coach. But even the players who remain interested in A&M said the Aggies' recruiting effort had come to a virtual standstill for the last month after the latest reports of alleged violations.

"I knew this was going to happen," Aldine's John Karkoska, another all-state lineman in 1987, said. "I spoke to them on the phone two weeks ago, but that was the last time I heard from them. They were calling me every third day the whole season, but that stopped when all the media stuff started.

"I can understand. If I was a recruiter for A&M, I wouldn't want to have to call the best players in the state and explain all that stuff," he said.

Considered by some to be the top quarterback prospect in the state, L.D. Bell's Tommy Maddox said the most recent allegations confirmed his thinking that he should look elsewhere.

"This latest accusation was kind of tough to overlook," Maddox told the Fort Worth Star-Telegram. "I had thought about visiting there, but after this latest episode, I haven't even considered them. It is just too risky a chance for me to take."

Slocum has been at A&M 16 years over two periods. He was responsible for Dallas-Fort Worth area recruiting as an assistant, and Dallas Carter High School is among the schools at which A&M has recruited well in the recent past.

Darren Lewis, A&M running back, was named last week to Tigers stuff Seminole, 79-64

SEMINOLE - Coach Larry Scott's Tigers recovered from early foul trouble to slap Seminole 79-64 in non-district basketball action here Tuesday evening.

Barring an unforeseen change in schedule, the game was the final outing for the Tigers before opening 4-4A competition next Tuesday in Andrews. Coach Scott had been looking for a game this weekend, but has as yet been unable to find one.

Here Tuesday, Seminole opened a 19-18 first-quarter lead on the Tigers.

"We were standing around too much on defense and we got in foul trouble," noted Coach Scott. "We were just kind of slow-footed."

The Tigers also had some trouble early with the Indians' press, and by halftime had made only four free throws to 11 by the hosts.

"Early we had some turnovers against their press and we got that corrected in the second quarter," said Scott. "We came out in the third quarter and finally woke up or something. We had good (foot) movement. Basic-ly, we just came out and played good defense."

Snyder had gone in front 40-33 by halftime, then out-gunned the hosts 19-7 in the third period.

It was a team effort for the Tigers, who improved to 6-4 on the season. All nine Tiger players scored, including Tyrone Durst, who led with 17 points. Dewayne Clinkinbeard scored 16 and Jeff Franklin and Tracy Brazier added 10 each. Durst had 14 rebounds and Brazier 11 as the Tigers outbounded Seminole 51 to 19.

Derek Ray led Seminole, now 8-4, with 10 points, including eight from the free throw line. Todd Shain scored nine points.

Earlier, Seminole edged Snyder in junior varsity action, 40-33. Toby Goodwin led Snyder JV with nine points.

Stull expected to exit UTEP and take position at Missouri

EL PASO, Texas (AP) - Texas-El Paso football coach Bob Stull appears to be just a signature away from becoming the coach at the University of Missouri.

"We're still talking about it," Stull said Tuesday night at El Paso International Airport on his way to Missouri. "I have been offered the job, yeah."

Stull insisted that nothing was official, saying at one point: "We still have things to work out."

Missouri officials had been expected to announce Stull's appointment at a 10 a.m. news conference today in Columbia, but said this morning no news conference had been definitely scheduled. Stull was expected to succeed Woody Widenhofer, who resigned under pressure last month after compiling a 12-31-1 record over four seasons.

Stull is credited with turning UTEP around in three years from a 10-game loser to a 10-game winner. The Miners, 10-2, are headed to the Independence Bowl this year against Southern Mississippi in the first out-of-town bowl game in the school's history.

Stull earned about $58,000 base salary and about $52,000 in broadcast income for a total package of about $110,000 this year at UTEP. Missouri reportedly offered a package of between $200,000 and $250,000 a year.

But Stull has always insisted that money would not be the determining factor in any decision whether to leave El Paso. He reiterated that Tuesday night.

UTEP President Diana Natalicio and Athletic Director Brad Hovious both were in Denver Tuesday night at the Western Athletic Conference winter meetings and were unavailable for comment. Sports information director Eddie Mullens said school officials would comment after today's announcement.

In an effort to keep Stull, some El Paso business leaders founded an annuity that would pay the coach about $600,000 at the end of five years - if he were still at UTEP.

45 persons treated for rabies exposure

EDINBURG, Texas (AP) — Coyotes are suspected of creating an outbreak of rabies in two South Texas counties, where in the past two months 45 people have received treatment for exposure to the fatal disease.

Six dogs confirmed as rabid in Hidalgo County during the past month represent the first instances of the disease in domestic animals in the border county since 1957, said Charles A. Wilson, county health director.

Six additional cases of rabies have been confirmed in neighboring Starr County during the past two months, including four coyotes and two dogs, said Oscar Tamez, a zoonosis control specialist with the regional state Department of Health office in Harlingen. Zoonosis is an animal disease transmittable to humans.

Most cases in the current outbreak occurred in substandard rural subdivisions known as colonias, after people took stray dogs in as pets, Wilson said.

"They (the infected dogs) didn't just come charging out of the brush and grab some kid," Wilson said. "They've been around some time."

Officials said they believe coyotes roaming the South Texas brush country spread the disease to dogs during fights.

"Now that it's in the dog population, it's spreading dog-to-dog," Wilson said.

The Hidalgo County Commissioners Court on Monday responded to the outbreak by passing a resolution to impose a $200 fine on pet owners failing to vaccinate their animals for rabies.

The virus commonly is transmitted through infected saliva entering open wounds, such as when two animals fight or when an animal bites or licks a human.

Wilson and Tamez said they consider the outbreak an epizootic, the animal equivalent of an epidemic in humans.

"They say for every confirmed case, there's 10 that go unreported," Tamez said.

Rabies among wild animals has not been reported since 1982 in Hidalgo and since 1975 in Starr County, officials said. Both of those cases involved bats.

Liz Guerra, in charge of immunizations at the state Health Department office in Harlingen, said 28 people have required anti-rabies serum during the past month in Hidalgo County; another 17 people in Starr County have required the shots during the past two months, she said, including a 7-year-old child about whom she received a call Tuesday morning.

An additional South Texas case was reported Oct. 7 in Brooks County, after a rabid cat bit a woman, Tamez said.

Secret diplomacy ends in surprising disappointment

WASHINGTON (AP) — Even while denying Yasser Arafat a U.S. visa, the State Department tried through public and private diplomacy to induce the Palestine Liberation Organization to renounce terrorism in all forms and explicitly recognize Israel's right to exist.

The prize held out to Arafat was a "substantive dialogue" with the United States, a major step toward U.S. acceptance of the Palestinian leader who only two weeks ago had been condemned by Secretary of State George P. Shultz as an "accessory" to acts of terrorism.

With Arafat already accepted by a number of West European governments, an end to U.S. diplomatic isolation would have strengthened his hand in the Palestinian conflict with Israel and assured him a voice in any Mideast negotiations.

But U.S. officials declared that the speech Arafat delivered to the U.N. General Assembly in Geneva on Tuesday failed to meet the three U.S. conditions for U.S. acceptance.

Diplomatic sources said the State Department was so sure that Arafat would satisfy the demands, Shultz had notified Moshe Arad, the Israeli ambassador, on Monday night that if the PLO leader followed through, the United States was prepared to hold the dialogue Arafat had long sought.

Sweden had acted as an intermediary over the past few weeks, relaying the U.S. conditions and receiving in return what was taken as advance word on what Arafat would say.

In the end, though, Charles E. Redman, the State Department spokesman, credited Arafat only with "some interesting and positive developments" and said the PLO leader had failed to meet the U.S. requirements.

These include explicit acceptance of Israel's right to exist and renunciation of terrorism in all forms. The third requirement is approval of U.N. Security Council resolutions affirming that all Middle Eastern states are entitled to live within secure borders.

On the third point, the State Department found some significant movement by Arafat. Last month, the Palestine National Council, the would-be parliament of the PLO, merely said a peace conference could be held under the 1967 and 1973 resolutions.

Still, Redman said, "These issues must be addressed clearly, squarely and without ambiguity. That did not happen."

President-elect Bush said, meanwhile, that his administration will not meet with the PLO based on what Arafat said in Geneva. "We've got to get a much clearer statement of everything," he said.

U.S. policy prohibits negotiations with the PLO, which is committed by covenant to dismantling Israel as a Jewish state. As a result, diplomatic sources said, "pieces of paper" were exchanged through Sweden, a neutralist country which has taken a sympathetic stance toward the PLO and hosted a meeting of a handful of American Jews with Arafat after Shultz barred him from speaking to the General Assembly in New York.

AP analysis

Asked if the State Department had suggested language for Arafat to use in his speech, Redman replied: "What we have done is to respond to requests from third parties, people who said, 'Would you provide us, tell us in specific terms, exactly what your position is, what your conditions are?' And that, of course, we are happy to do."

Referring to the way Arafat dealt with the U.S. conditions in the speech, Redman said there were "problems with all three."

James Zogby, executive director of the Arab American Institute, said Arafat had met the three U.S. conditions. He called U.S. rejection of Arafat's speech "gratuitous," and said it was based more on Shultz's "stubborn pro-Israel reflex than on sound diplomacy."

Geoffrey Kemp, a senior associate at the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace, said Arafat is "inching along."

But Kemp, who served on the National Security Council in the first Reagan administration, said, "The problem is he is not declaring Israel has a right to exist."

City officials kill prairie dogs

ODESSA, Texas (AP) — Most inhabitants of a prairie dog town have been killed by city officials who were concerned about the possibility of diseases from the furry rodents.

Only about 100 of the creatures remained in the Prairie Pete colony at Sherwood Park, city parks officials said Monday.

Some Humane Society members opposed the eradication operation, which was conducted without any public announcement, said city Parks Director Carithers.

He said about 90 percent of the estimated 1,500-dog population at Sherwood were dead after the poisoning was complete.

U.S., Israel cool to Arafat's PLO recent appeal

GENEVA (AP) — PLO chief Yasser Arafat is pressing on with presenting the United Nations with a peace plan that fell short of Washington's demands and drew yet another frigid response from Israel.

Arafat, in an address Tuesday to a specially convened U.N. General Assembly in Geneva, called for a three-stage peace initiative based on the right of all nations in the Middle East "to exist in peace and security."

Further reactions to the speech were expected today on the second of three days of U.N. debate on Palestine, with Israel, the Soviet Union and the United States scheduled to speak.

Israeli leaders dismissed the speech as ambiguous. The U.S. State Department said Arafat failed to recognize explicitly Israel's right to exist, a Washington precondition for recognizing the PLO.

Prime Minister Yitzhak Shamir of Israel was uncompromising in his rejection of the Palestine Liberation Organization and Arafat's peace initiative.

"We shall not negotiate with the PLO under any conditions nor recognize it," he told a Jerusalem news conference. "From our point of view, the PLO is no partner for any peace process."

Foreign Minister Shimon Peres, a moderate and Shamir's political rival in the coalition government, remained silent in apparent agreement with

The State Department had public and private diplomacy to induce the PLO to renounce terrorism in all forms and expand on its declaration of independence last month by explicitly recognize Israel's right to exist.

In what appeared to be his most direct appeal ever to Israel's leaders, Arafat, asked them in Tuesday's 80-minute speech "to come here, under the sponsorship of the United Nations, so that together we can forge that peace."

Addressing the Israeli people, he added: "Come, let us make peace. Cast away fear and intimidations. Leave behind the specter of the wars that have raged continuously in the furnace of all this conflict for the past 40 years."

But Arafat upset some when he paid tribute to the yearlong Palestinian uprising in the Israeli-occupied West Bank and Gaza Strip. At least 323 Palestinians and 13 Israelis have died in the revolt.

Arafat's peace initiative called for starting with "a serious effort" under U.N. guidance to set up an international Middle East peace conference.

He proposed that "occupied Palestinian land" be placed under U.N. supervision, with an international force deployed to protect the Palestinians and oversee withdrawal of Israeli troops. He did not specify whether he was referring only to the West Bank and Gaza, occupied by Israel in 1967.

Third, he said, the PLO seeks "a comprehensive settlement among the parties concerned in the Arab-Israeli conflict, including the State of Palestine, Israel and other neighbors within the framework of the international conference."

He said the conference should be held on the basis of U.N. Resolutions 242 and 338 — which guarantee the rights of all nations in the Middle East to exist within secure borders — "so as to guarantee equality and the balance of interests ... and respect the right to exist in peace and security for all."

On the issue of terrorism, Arafat said: "I, as chairman of the Palestine Liberation Organization, hereby once more declare that I condemn terrorism in all its forms."

Officer, suspect killed in front of store

DALLAS (AP) — An undercover drug officer was slain in a deal gone awry, adding to the police death toll in the bloodiest year in department history, and authorities said a suspect also was killed in the late-night parking lot shootout.

Two suspects were wounded in the drug-deal-turned-gunfight at an East Dallas convenience store parking lot and police later arrested two other suspects at an area apartment.

The officer, identified as Lawrence R. Cadena, was pronounced dead at Baylor University Medical Center in Dallas about 10:30 p.m. Tuesday, some 30 minutes after the gunfight, Sgt. Jeff Chandler said.

Dallas police Lt. Al McAllister said today that charges were pending against the two wounded men in connection with the officer's death.

Cadena, 43, was the fifth Dallas police officer to be fatally shot this year. Police spokesman Ed Spencer said Cadena was killed while attempting to purchase drugs from several suspects and then make a drug-buy arrest with his partner.

Cadena was shot in the abdomen, chest and both arms, said

Chandler. Ambulances transported three wounded suspects to Parkland Memorial Hospital.

Hector Jacomino, 34, of Dallas died of gunshot wounds to the chest and back at 11:05 p.m., said emergency room supervisor Randy Blanchard.

He said Javier Suarez, 17, was in critical condition today with wounds to the chest and abdomen, while Fernando Fernandez, 19, was in serious condition with wounds to both legs. Both, who are believed to be Dallas residents, underwent surgery earlier today.

McAllister said police have been questioning five other people about the shooting. "Right now we don't know the whole story on who was involved or what," McAllister said.

Gunfire erupted at the Stop'n Go convenience store after the suspects who allegedly were to sell Cadena some cocaine attempted to rob the plainclothes officer, Spencer said.

"It was an apparent robbery attempt by the suspect who shot the officer," said Spencer, adding he did not know which of the suspects began the shooting.

"It is my understanding that it was a buy-bust situation — a drug buy — and we had more than one officer at the scene," said Police Chief Mack Vines, who was outside Baylor hospital. "Instead of the drug deal reaching fruition, they were hijacked, as they say, shots were exchanged and our officer was fatally wounded."

No other police officers were wounded, officials said.

Suarez, Fernandez and Jacomino were shot by two backup plainclothes officers, Sgt. David McCoy and Officer W.D. Stout, who were watching the supposed cocaine deal from across the street, McAllister said.

Jacomino, the deceased suspect, was in a Chevrolet parked across the street from the convenience store when he was killed, McAllister said. McCoy and Stout said they heard a shot fired from there and then shot the man, according to the lieutenant.

"During the incident a shot was fired that struck him," McAllister said. "Whether he was armed or not, we don't know."

Police have determined that Cadena was killed with some type of assault rifle that possibly was an automatic weapon, McAllister said.

Blood was spattered in the area surrounding the shooting scene near downtown. Police sealed off the area immediately surrounding the shooting scene.
