DEEP PAY OIL TEST

TREASURE HUNT BIG SUCCESS

Hundreds of Treasure Hunters thronged the streets of Olton last Saturday in Olton's first Treasure Hunt.

Treasure Hunt Chairman Major James said the promotion will be staged again immediately. Merchants began handing out tickets for the September affair Saturday afternoon.

"I know there were more people in town than there had been before on Saturday afternoon in 10 years," declared Mrs. J. T. Grant who is employed at Boulter's 5 & 10 cent store.

Olton merchants gave away some $500 in valuable merchandise Saturday. Some gifts were not claimed. These again will be offered during the September promotion.

Mr. James called a meeting of participating merchants for Wednesday night to discuss the Treasure Hunt to be staged here next month.

SWPC Stages Commercial Cook School

Approximately 18 persons attended a commercial cooking school staged here by Southwestern Public Service Company.

Orville Overstreet, company manager said the school was attended by cafe people and personnel from the school lunch room.

Demonstration was by Walter Bateman of Amarillo, company specialist on commercial cooking.

RIDING HIGH. Olton's first bale of cotton was ginned Thursday of last week at Smith Gin Company by Harry Thomas. Shown here with the bale are Leo Smith, Harry Max Thomas, young son of Mr. Thomas, Mr. Thomas and L. D. Smith. The gin paid 50c a pound for the bale.

Mercury Drop Helps Vines Hold Fruit

An expert imported by Western Cottonoil has reported that farmers need not worry because soybeans in this area have not yet set any fruit.

Many farmers had feared that the soybean crop was a failure this year and some had even discussed cutting the vines because the soybeans had not been setting fruit.

The expert said this is not an omen of failure but said that it was quite natural for the vines not to hold fruit until cooler weather sets in.

Olton's First Bale Of Cotton Ginned Thursday Afternoon By H. Thomas

Harry Thomas brought in Olton's first bale of cotton for 1956 Thursday afternoon of last week to set a new all-time community record for a first bale.

The cotton was ginned at Smith Gin Company. "It's the earliest bale of cotton ever to have been ginned in Olton as far as I know," said L. D. Smith.

The bale was ginned from 1670 pounds of seed cotton and turned out 470 pounds of lint.

Mr. Thomas said a dozen hands pulled over 20 acres to get the bale. He said the hands started pulling last Thursday morning and had finished the bale by 4:30 o'clock Thursday afternoon.

Ginning of the bale was completed at 7:20 o'clock.

Mr. Thomas said the cotton was Dunn-7 variety and was planted April 23.

Leo Smith said the bale was middling cotton and pulled about an inch.

Harry has been farming in the Olton community since 1946.

Smith Gin Company paid 50 cents a pound for the cotton and Olton merchants contributed $222.00 in cash and $234.00 in merchandise as a premium for the first bale.

Presentation of the premium was made Tuesday at Olton Lions Club by club president, Basil Sherman.

Monsato Chemical Begins 1 1/2-Mile Hole In Sandhill Ranch Country

Black gold for Olton became a distinct possibility this week as the CHAR No. 1 on the Charlie Jones Ranch in the sandhills was spudded in late Wednesday afternoon. The well is being drilled for Monsato Chemical Company by Cactus Drilling Company.

"Don't Feel Sorry For Me: I Like To Teach" Mrs. Macon Declares

BY MRS. CARL MACON

A few weeks ago I was energetically waxing floors, cleaning closets, sewing on buttons and getting my household in order for the beginning of a new school term, when a friend dropped in for a visit.

We sat down with a coke near the air-conditioner to chat. Maybe it was my bedraggled appearance which prompted her to say, "I've always felt sorry for school teachers!" A great many people I know have had the same idea.

Now if that is your attitude, let me say right now, don't waste your time feeling sorry for me! I teach because I like it; because I love children; and because I am PROUD to be a member of the greatest profession of mankind.

Jesse Stuart, a teacher in a small mountain village expressed my sentiment about the teaching profession exactly. He said, "I believe that if every teacher in every school in America—rural village, city, township, church, public or private—could inspire his pupils with the power he has, he could teach them as they have never been taught before to live, work, play and share.

"If he could put ambition into their brains and hearts, that would be a great way to make a generation of the greatest citizenry America ever had. All this has to begin with the little unit (the individual teacher). Each teacher has to do his share. Each teacher is responsible for the destiny of America, because the pupils come under his influence. The teacher holds the destiny of a great country in his hands as no member of any other profession can hold it."

This is one reason I'm glad I'm a teacher. Certainly my task is a great responsibility but it is also a challenge and a pleasure.

Have you ever experienced the thrill of three dozen tiny faces, eyes bright with anticipation, turned toward you drinking in and hungrily soaking up every drop of information that you are able to impart.

Then it is I who feel sorry for you!

Surely there are fingers to bandage, teeth to pull, a ripped dress to fasten together, and various other tasks that you might consider menial. But the teacher is more than repaid by a wet kiss from a tear strained face; a little note decorated with crayolas and the words, "I love you, you are a good teacher," written carefully across it; a cluster of crumpled violets hidden in a sweaty little hand as the little boy slips them carelessly. The greatest compensation is to see our pupils growing day by day in knowledge and development—the most important part, fully to the teacher making sure that no other boy sees him because he doesn't want to be called a "sissy."

Such expressions as these the

teacher treasures in her heart! They are part of our pay, though ting into happy well-rounded personalities. And as the years go by, we watch with love and gratification as they develop into worthy American citizens.

Yes, teachers are paid little enough in money but our pay is high in other ways. Does it take a lot of money to be happy? Maybe for some people but not for me! Oh, perhaps I do cast a longing glance at the shop windows sometimes. And some folks, no doubt, have noticed a wistful look on my face as I have looked at the beautiful new homes that have been built in Olton recently. But there is something better than material wealth.

I look back over the past thirteen years and in my mind I see the upturned faces of more than a thousand boys and girls which it has been my privilege to guide towards a higher and better life.

No, thank you, feel sorry for me if you want to, but I wouldn't change places with you!

Brown County Delegation Tours Olton Irrigation Farms Tuesday

A group of 21 farmers and businessmen from Bangs and Brownwood in Brown County toured the Olton irrigation area and lunched with the Olton Lions Club Tuesday.

One of the leaders of the group was Forrest Kyle, editor of the newspaper at Bangs. Mr. Kyle assisted his father, L. L.

Kyle, in establishing The Olton Enterprise in 1926. Mr. Kyle also is a brother of Mrs. Mary Smith.

The group was studying the irrigation area with an eye to developing a 10,000-acre irrigation district at Bangs with the water to be taken from Lake Brownwood.

They wanted to determine whether they would be able to make a profit after paying $15 per year for water rights.

From Bangs the party included Raymond Morgan, vice-president of the First State Bank; Moody Sikes, automobile dealer; and J. C. Cates, irrigation farmer; Mark Guthrie.

From Brownwood came Levi Olds, attorney and farmer as well as a member of the water board; A. T. Bratten, agriculture department of Howard Payne; and George Jordan, manager of the Brownwood Chamber of Commerce.

J. C. Lane, J. C. Scruggs, Bill Bearden and Don Spain took the party on a tour of the area.

Among the farms visited were those of Gene Mitchell, D. A. Barnett, Henry Aigaki, Don Spain and Bill Bearden.

No Injuries In Hart Camp Accident

Occupants of a car at Hart Camp escaped injury Monday when the front end of their car was sheared away by an Olton Butane truck.

Investigating Highway Patrolmen and sheriff's deputies said the truck was operated by Weldon Owens and the car was driven by Ysa Zapata, 16 years old.

Officers said the car was making a U turn at the time of the mishap. . . the truck was going south on the Hart Camp highway. The accident took place in front of Hart Camp grocery.

Hay Growers Will Meet

Alfalfa growers will meet on Tuesday night at 7:30 to discuss organizing an Alfalfa Growers Association.

Meeting place will be the Hart Legion Hall and speakers from Texas A & M will be present.

Purpose of the organizing of such an organization is for marketing and processing hay.

The well is a deep pay test and will be drilled to 8,700 feet or until pay is reached.

Unofficial sources pinpointed the test well at 1,980 feet from the north and east lines of Section 15 in Lamb County, a mile west of the Hale County line, Block B, R. M. Thompson Survey.

The well is located approximately eight miles south and two miles east of Olton.

The drilling company had to build its own road to the drilling location.

Tool pusher and boss of the job for Cactus Drilling Company is O. V. Brooks. Mr. Brooks is making his home at the Olton Courts here while drilling is in progress.

"We will go to 8,700 feet and test everything, Mr. Brooks declared.

He said the drilling company will employ about a dozen men on the rig.

The huge rig was moved in Tuesday afternoon. Mr. Brooks said the well was to be spudded in Wednesday afternoon.

He said about 60 days of drilling time will be required to drill the well.

Sources not connected with the drilling crew or chemical company estimated the cost of drilling such a test at about a quarter of a million dollars.

CHAR Number 1 is about 15 miles due north of the Anton-Irish field which is being pumped at the present time.

Reports here said a 3,000-foot test well was sunk somewhere in the vicinity of CHAR Number 1's location in the 1920s. The source said that was a dry hole.

DEPUTY WARNS MOTORISTS

The traffic light at the school intersection will be worked, Deputy Sheriff V. L. Smith declared Wednesday.

"That sign does not mean slow down," he declared. "It means stop!"

"Thanks Olton" Says Judge Yarborough

"Troy, I want you to express to the people of Olton my heartfelt gratitude for the fine vote they gave me in this runoff election!"

This expression came early this week from Judge Ralph Yarborough in a telephone conversation with Olton Enterprise Publisher Troy Martin.

Price Daniel polled 340 votes in the Olton box in the first primary as compared to 243 by Judge Yarborough.

Olton voters gave Judge Yarborough a smashing 504 votes to Price Daniel's 318 in balloting last Saturday.

"I will always have a warm feeling for the people of Olton," Judge Yarborough declared.

First Load Of Grain Brought To Local Elevator By Gerald Elkins

First load of the 1956 grain crop was brought to Ben F. Smith Grain Company here last Friday by Gerald Elkins.

Louie Mack Hardy, manager of the elevator, said the load of grain arrived at the elevator at 8 o'clock in the evening. It weighed 9,120 pounds.

The Martin maize tested 12.40 percent moisture and brought $1.90 per hundred. The maize was planted in April.

Ben F. Smith Grain Company presented Mr. Elkins a $25.00 gift certificate for purchase of merchandise at Kelley's Men's Shop.

"It looks like an excellent grain crop this year," Mr. Hardy declared.

He said the bulk of the grain will not be ready for harvest for another three or four weeks yet.

LET THE PEOPLE RULE—

Personally, we are against floating any bond issue to buy water rights in the sandhills.

This has been our thinking upon this matter: 1. We have been told by scientists that our irrigation water all over the South Plains comes from the same water sand strata. If this be the case, Lubbock already has ample water rights in Bailey County from which to pump the vast pool dry, if that be possible and she so chooses.

2. The water district purportedly does not intend to pump the water from its sandhill acres. We believe that this will put the water district in the same situation as the small boy who is hoaxed into buying an interest in a milk shake without being given a straw. The little lad has to stand helpless while his buddies slurp down his share and theirs too.

However, farmers inside the proposed district are much more qualified to speak on the subject than this writer, so we concur with Andy Jackson in saying LET THE PEOPLE RULE.

Olton School Starts Next Monday Morning

Registration of school students got underway today. The term's first faculty meeting was held Wednesday morning.

School Superintendent Carl Macon said there is a full faculty.

Classes begin Monday. An opening assembly will be held at 8:45 o'clock next Monday morning in the school auditorium. The public is invited to attend.

Judge Yarborough carried the Olton box 504 to Price Daniel's 318. Daniel had carried the box in July 340 as compared to 243 for Judge Yarborough.

Lamb County went for Yarborough 2124 to 1202. It was a complete about face from the first primary.

The governor's race on a statewide basis came into the home stretch as one of the closest in the history of the state.

Still unofficial, the vote stood Tuesday at 698,125 for Daniel and 694,578 for Judge Yarborough. Daniel has issued a victory statement and Judge Yarborough declares that an official count will elect him the governor of Texas.

Some political observers credited W. Lee O'Daniel votes with sole responsibility for boosting the Yarborough total. This was not true at least in the Olton box.

Yarborough and all other candidates, excepting Daniel, polled only 502 votes in the first primary—two votes less than polled by Yarborough alone in the second primary.

Judge Yarborough told Enterprise Publisher Troy Martin by telephone that he concedes nothing. He indicated that he might contest the election in whatever counties he might deem advisable.

Do believe Gary Dickenson is one of the most adult little four-year-olds I've ever seen. He presided over his birthday party Saturday like the president of the board.

Philip Bley is pretty grown-up, too. He informed his mother she was not to "stay" at the party with him. He could take care of himself without help. And he did.

Lindy Ray (about eight years old) is ready for a room of her own. She says her little four-year-old sister, Vicki, certainly is "in her way" in their twin bedroom.

Everyone—just everyone—had the most fun in the Treasure Hunt Saturday. More enthusiasm around than I've ever seen in Olton, except at a football game.

They're already talking about and looking forward to the next Hunt. And I understand there'll be even more prizes to be sought since some of the "treasures" were not found last Saturday. Even looked around a bit myself, though my tickets weren't any good since my husband was involved.

"Why, I saw some people in town that I thought had moved away from Olton," one "hunter" was heard to remark.

It seems that Olton's treasure hunt was literally—to use a

Pointers On Soy Bean Harvesting

Hundreds of farmers on the Plains will harvest their first crop of soybeans this season. If they are to avoid excessive harvest losses, they must do a good job of combining. It will pay big dividends if growers study their combine instruction book and ready their machines, so that they will harvest the beans without cracking the seed coats or have excessive field losses.

Experienced growers say that trite phrase—a huge success!

You who read this column and Saunter With Sue, have probably accused us of conspiracy, favoritism, prejudice, upon occasions when the same names have appeared in both columns in the same week.

But let me assure you, it is more of a surprise to Sue and me than it is to you.

In the first place, we try very hard to avoid mentioning the same people too often. Secondly, if it were possible to "get together," we'd certainly avoid using the same names at the same time.

But thirdly, it is utterly impossible for us to conspire. For you see, Saunter With Sue is usually off the press by the time ironings things out reaches the Enterprise Intertype.

I see no part of the paper before you do. And Sue doesn't see my manuscript until after hers is in print. So how could we "frame up?"

Believe me, it is pure coincidence when the same people are referred to in both articles. This, just to explain.

WHO AM I?
Making hats is my hobby, and right now I'm taking a correspondence course in dressmaking. I also love to grow flowers and have a large orchard.

My family, including 12 children, their parents, and their grandmother, lived for many years in two rooms. During this time we had a seige of mumps, which confined us for weeks, but my husband eluded them successfully and still has not had the mumps.

We have lived in the Olton vicinity for 30 years, and for several years, near Circle. Two of my twelve children live in this area.

What kind of tree is the amfalula tree? And is there really a dinkey bird?

Here's another word commonly mispronounced: COMPARABLE.

The accent is on the first syllable, c-o-m; not on the second as it is in the root word, compare. So it's COMparable.

Practice saying it correctly.

it is not good business to do all the work of raising a good crop of soybeans and, then—through a poor job of combining—lose 10 to 20 percent of the crop. Yet, this frequently happens. If you have a 30 bushel yield and lose 15%, that amounts to $10 to $12 per acre. An average of four soybeans per square foot scattered over the ground after the combine has finished, indicates a loss of a bushel per acre. But, there are other losses besides these beans scattered on the field. These may be in the form of cracked seed coats, splits, broken beans, unthreshed pods, etc.

Combining should start just as soon as the beans are dry enough to bin, or around 14% moisture. Agricultural engineers say that the best advise is for the combine operator to get out that instruction book and study it. After properly adjusting the combine, check the various operations and adjustments in the field. Keep the cutterbar as low as possible. Tests show that cutterbar losses increase at the rate of 1.4 bushels per acre for each inch above the ground. The proper height and speed for the reel will prevent knocking the beans from the pods and losing them on the ground.

There is always a ready market for beans that are dry, clean and free of cracks. But, beans with more than 14% moisture, cracked, containing weed seed or other trash will be docked heavily.

Barbara Huff Tells About Glorieta Camp

BY BARBARA HUFF
HART CAMP—The Hart Camp girls, including myself, returned from our trip to Glorieta Baptist Assembly at Glorieta, NM, last week.

We thought this was the most impressive and wonderful camp we had ever attended. Those attending were Barbara Worley, Frances Presley, myself, Mrs. Blanton Martin and Mrs. C. E. Timmons.

Our group left for camp early on August 16 and from the minute we arrived until the day we left, they had a full schedule of classes and recreation. Some of the daily classes were "Accenting Your Interest," "Bible Hour," "YWA Fulfilling His Purpose," "Understanding His World-wide Purpose," and evening services.

Also while we were there, we toured points of interest in and around Santa Fe. We went horseback riding at the Glorieta Pass Ranch and went on a guided tour to Santa Clara and Los Alamos.

There were 23 states present at the camp. Eleven countries were represented—Japan, Israel, Jordan, Australia, Greece, Taiwan, Africa, Brazil, Nigeria, Paraguay and China.

About 625 girls registered for the encampment, plus many missionaries, teachers and staff members.

The theme for the particular assembly was "His Purpose To Fulfill" and the hymn was "A Charge To Keep I Have."

Yes, we girls felt this was a wonderful experience and we

People Cause Fires Declares Marshal's Aide

Fires don't happen. When a match or cigarette starts a fire, it is because of something the smoker did or failed to do. This isn't a case of making the smoker the goat. No, it's a simple truth based on fire facts that human beings cause by far a majority of the fires that occur. (Approximately 25% of the annual insured fire loss in Texas is caused by human beings who are careless with matches and smoking.) Make it a personal matter to avoid fires. Take the time to think about the dangers of your life and property. Your future depends on your safety attitude.

It is plain stupid as well as unsafe fire safety practice to place a penny behind a blown fuse in the fuse box. When a fuse "blows" that is your warning there is trouble in your electric circuit, such as (1) Overloaded circuit, (2) Electric short in wiring system or apparatus. To be brief, fuses have two chief functions: (1) Protection against fire if a short circuit occurs anywhere in wiring system, and (2) Protection against fire in the case of an overload on the electric system. Electric service with safety calls for following safe practice:

1. Install safe approved electric wiring.
a. Have installation of electric wiring done by experienced licensed electrician.
b. Use only approved electric appliances and equipment. (Look for approved stamp.) NOTE: Among the electrical equipments responsible for fires, wires and cords are charged with a greater loss than any other class of electrical products.

c. Danger of flexible cords. Unfortunately for the public, a class of flexible cords built far below recognized safety standards have been placed on the market and sold in large quantities. The wires in the case cords are insulated with a thin layer of very low-grade rubber which is usually not vulcanized and which has relatively little mechanical strength. No protective braid, is used over each with cords of standard constructions. The public is assured that bracelet-labeled (approved) cords are built to a high standard of safety, where there is no assurance of quality cords not labeled. Buy labeled approved cords only to insure safety from fire.

d. Flexible cords receive such severe treatment, it is essential to keep them in good working order. Cords that are worn and broken are dangerous to life and property, and should be replaced at once.
e. Use only rubber-sheathed cords on washing machines and other equipment likely to be used out-of-doors or in damp locations.

f. Avoid handling electrical equipment with wet hands, and thus prevent severe shock, burns or death.

g. Do not let flexible cords touch radiators, or run cords under doors, rugs, or locate them where subject to injury.

h. Do not pull the cord when removing attachment plugs from outlets, but grasp the plug itself and pull out from outlets.

i. Receptacles for blade-type attachment plugs should be used instead of open sockets in baseboard as a safety measure to small children in particular.

2. Do not tamper with appliances or other electrical equipment.

a. Proper use of electrical wires and equipment is just as important as proper materials and proper installation.

b. Allowing electric equipment to fall into a bad state of repair is responsible for most of the fires charged against electric service.

c. It is a sign of trouble when sockets hiss or lamps of any kind flutter, when plugs are losses in wall outlets, when wall switches fail to function, when the insulation on wires is injured, when it is possible to get a shock from an appliance, or when an appliance fails to operate or causes a blown fuse. Safety against the danger of fire requires immediate correction of any of these conditions.

d. Employ always an experienced licensed electrician to do all repairs on electric equipment, appliances, and electric system. It is most dangerous to life and property to fail to heed this suggestion.

3. Let SAFETY against the danger of serious injury, death or fire be your motto when buying a TV set, and installing an aerial. Be sure that installation of a TV set and aerial is done by an experienced licensed electrician.

ATTEND CAMP AT GLORITA

SERIOUSLY ILL

Thurston Tollett's mother is very ill in Portales, NM. The Tolletts visited her Sunday.

4. There is always safety to life and economic safety when you have an experienced licensed electrician to do all electrical installation work and repairs. There is one thing money will not replace and that is your life and the lives of members of the family. Safety against the dangers of fire is good insurance to happiness.

5. You can reduce fire losses and insurance cost by doing your part to reduce the number of fires attributable to electricity. A community with a modern and approved Electric Code efficiently enforced and complied with by the people of the community will suffer few electrical fires. Urge your friends to join you in requesting your city officials to adopt and enforce an electrical code.

REMEMBER ALWAYS: "PEOPLE AND NOT THINGS CAUSE FIRES."

Mark Wentz, Commissioner Fire Insurance Division Eugene Sanders, Director of Fire Prevention and Assistant State Fire Marshal

NUPTIALS ARE SOLEMNIZED IN SUNDAY AFTERNOON CEREMONIES FOR JAN PRESTRIDGE AND ROY FLOURNOY

MRS. ROY THOMAS FLOURNOY

Nuptial vows were exchanged Sunday afternoon in the First Baptist Church Sanctuary by Darla Jan Prestridge, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Barton Prestridge, and Roy Thomas Flournoy, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Flournoy of Breckenridge.

Rev. J. Henry Cox of Jal, NM, former pastor, read the impressive double-ring service before an altar flanked with baskets of yellow gladioli and a pyramid of yellow candelabra backed by greenery. Large white wedding bells hung from the baptistry and white satin rope with smaller bells were attached to the choir rails.

Nuptial preludes, processional and recessional, were furnished on the organ by Mrs. J. A. Williams. Randall Purvis of Brownwood sang, "The Wedding Prayer" and "I Love Thee," and Miss Rosemary Quinn of Brownwood and Mr. Purvis sang a duet, "Indian Love Call." They were accompanied by Mrs. Williams.

Attending the bridegroom as best man was J. C. Flournoy, Jr., of Breckenridge, brother of the bridegroom. Ushers were Randall Purvis of Brownwood, Pat McShan of Menard, Kenneth Prestridge, brother of the bride, and Mr. Purvis sang a duet, "Indian Love Call." They were accompanied by Mrs. Williams.

Attendants Wear Crystallite Bridesmaids Misses Alice Denton of Seminole, Vivian Chandler of Dallas and Janelle Miller wore street-length gowns in fall shades of green and gold crystallite over taffeta. The skirts were gathered full to long-torso bodices with square necklines and tiny sleeves completed by gauntlets. They wore pill-box hats made of matching material trimmed with a veil and pearl teardrops and carried matching fans with bouquets of yellow chrysanthemums attached. Their only jewelry was a pearl necklace and ear screws given them by the bride.

Mrs. Carol J. May, honor attendant, was attired in a frock of mauve crystallite, styled identically to those of the bridesmaids. She also carried a bouquet of yellow chrysanthemums attached to a matching fan.

Bary Prestridge, brother of the bride, and Bennett Worley lighted the candles. Ringbearers were Carolyn Flournoy, niece of the bridegroom, and Albert Flournoy, nephew of the bridegroom, both of Breckenridge.

Miss Mary Alice White of Lawton, Okla., cousin of the bride, who was flower girl, wore a white organdy dress fashioned with a yellow velvet sash. She wore white gloves and yellow flowers in her pony-tail hair-do and carried a white lace and nylon tulle trimmed basket filled with rose petals.

Father Gives Bride

Entering the sanctuary on the arm of her father, who presented her in marriage, the bride was a picture in a white floor-length gown of nylon tulle and chantilly-type lace, designed and made by her mother. The luminous skirt featured a back interest of pleated nylon tulle ruffles edged with silver metallic thread, the ruffles cascading from the waist into a graceful cathedral train. Tiny covered buttons complimented the back of the lace bodice which was designed with a portrait neckline of scalloped lace outlined with iridescent sequins and cap sleeves completed by lace gauntlets tapering to points, a tiny lace flower, over the hands.

Tulle was gathered at the bottom of the lace skirt front to form deep scallops over a wide pleated tulle ruffle. The bride wore a waist-length veil of illusion edged with silver metallic thread attached to a diadem of seed pearls and rhinestones, fashioned by the bride's mother. Her bouquet was a white orchid surrounded by yellow rosebuds and stephanotis and she carried a white Bible given her by the First Baptist Church as a high school graduation present. She wore a watch, a wedding present from the bridegroom.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Prestridge chose a navy dress with navy and white accessories. Mrs. Flournoy, the bridegroom's mother, selected a tan suit with brown accessories. Both wore white gardenia corsages.

Following the ceremony, the wedding party was honored with a reception in the Fellowship Hall of the church with Mrs. J. F. Miller as hostess. Miss Gwen Phillips and Miss Rosemary Quinn of Brownwood presided over the serving table, which was laid with a white lace cloth and centered with the bridesmaids' bouquets.

Soft background music was furnished by Misses Janice Ford, Linda Franks and Sandra Hamby. Misses Mary Phillips, Ann Ford, Leabelle Sluder, Elizabeth Miller, all of Olton, and Miss Janette Chandler of Dallas assisted in the house party.

For a wedding trip to points in New Mexico and Colorado, Mrs. Flournoy wore a brown and bronze imported cotton suit with beige and brown accessories. Her corsage was a white orchid.

Beauty At Howard Payne
Mrs. Flournoy is a 1954 graduate of Olton High School where she was football cheer attendant. She majored in music at Howard Payne College, Brownwood, where she is a junior and was sweetheart of the college band last year and was chosen as one of the top four beauties on the campus her freshman and sophomore years.

Mr. Flournoy, a 1953 graduate of Breckenridge High School, is a senior music education major at Howard Payne where he was president of the band last year. He is director of the May High School band while attending college.

Following the wedding trip, the couple will make their home in Brownwood where the bridegroom will continue his college education.

WATER DIST. BALLOTING SATURDAY

Voters in several Lamb County communities Saturday will go to the polls to decide on the fate of a proposed Lamb County Water Control and Improvement District.

Qualified voters are those property tax and poll tax paying citizens living within the boundaries of the district. The Saturday vote does not involve a bond issue.

Olton is not included in the limits of the proposed district. The boundaries of the district run from north to south across Lamb County about eight miles west of the Hale County line.

The district also excludes dry land acreage in the southwest corner of the county.

If the district is approved, an act of the legislature will be required before a multi-thousand dollar bond issue can be floated.

Proponents of the district propose to purchase outright the water rights to some 24,000 acres of sandhill land. This primarily is an effort to thwart any attempt by Lubbock or other large municipalities to buy up Lamb County water rights.

One of the district's proponents, V. T. Tanner of Springlake, said price of the water rights if they are purchased already has been fixed at $31 per acre.

Voting places are at the court house in Littlefield, American Legion Hall in Amherst, community building at Sudan, community building at Pleasant Valley and community building, Earth.

Polls open at 8 o'clock in the morning and close at 7 o'clock in the evening.

First In The Nation . . . First In Lamb County Cotton Grown From Northern Star Seed

Northern Star No. 11 produced the first bale of cotton in the USA for 1956. This is evidence of the early maturing quality of this cotton. There is more of Northern Star No. 11 growing on the Plains of Texas, this year than at any other time in the history of this cotton. With an increase in demand for a better quality cotton, Northern Star No. 11 with its early maturity and quality staple, will raise the revenue for the Plains Farmers from their cotton acres.

FIRST BALE of cotton in the US, raised by G. A. Bingham and Bill Burke near Mission, Texas. The cotton was grown from Northern Star No. 11. It was planted February 8—ginned June 8.

It will pay the farmers of the Plains to watch the cotton this year and compare returns in dollars and cents with other varieties, then plant the cotton that will bring them the most money.

This new improved Northern Star No. 11 Cotton has excellent germination, grows off quickly which is an asset in cultivating. The staple is 15-16 to 1 1-32 inch. It has strong fibers that are essential for good spinning and weaving value, a fiber that will micrenaire above average according to the US Laboratory test.

The South Plains of Texas remains one of the finest cotton producing areas in the world and with reduced acres for cotton it is wise to plant a cotton that will increase the revenue from your farm.

"Saunter With Sue"

By Sue May

The handwriting on the wall usually means there's a child in the family.

S-W-S
Barbara Ann Gray knows how to get at her family! Barbara is always saying on Saturday nights when it gets about time for her steady beau, Arno Hall, to show up that she bets he won't come—but he always does. So Saturday a week ago, Barbara said, "I'll bet Arno doesn't come tonight," and her whole family bet her malts and cokes, etc., that he would come. But he didn't show up.

Later, the family found out that Arno had come up to see Barbara that evening and told her he couldn't come that night!

S-W-S
For me, Linda (Mrs. Rex) McFadden has class with a capital "K". I really dig Alisse Smith because she's a friendly chick who always demonstrates her friendliness when she meets you.

There are some folks who have a knack of having publicity just happen to them even while they are looking for it. A man has only himself to blame for the plainness of his wife; a woman who knows she is loved cannot help but be beautiful.

S-W-S
The Sunday School teacher was describing how Lot's wife looked back and turned into a pillar of salt, when little Barry Thompson interrupted.

"My mother looked back once while she was driving," he announced triumphantly, "and she turned into a telephone pole!"

S-W-S
Better known to me as "Miss P", Gwen Phillips has grown her some regular inch-long claws. Fight, anybody? . . . I've never seen anyone with the patience and understanding that Ann (Mrs. J. A.) Williams has.

S-W-S
Mrs. Ray Thornton looks so perfectly at ease when I see her. . . A very interesting person to talk to is Jo-Jo (Mrs. Joe) Chester. . . Is Odessa (Mrs. Jake) Mitchell always having fun?

S-W-S
The movie was "Gone With The Wind," and the scene was the one in which, late at night, Scarlett waits angrily for Rhett to return home. When he finally arrives, he is very high and forestalls her rebukes by sweeping her into his arms. During the long and passionate kiss that ensues, the audience was completely silent. Then, from the row behind us, a whisper broke the stillness: "There, George, that's what I mean!"

S-W-S
I give you my word there are moments when Mary (Mrs. Robert) Dennis just lets herself go and relaxes. . . Aida, who works at Smith and Struve's with Mrs. Lefty Hollingsworth, is so attractive and nice. . . Virgil Gray had rather pull a good joke on an unsuspecting person than eat. I can see why, though, He catches the person so completely "off guard" that it's priceless!

S-W-S
"What are you doing here?" a policeman asked Andy Powell pacing the sidewalk at two o'clock in the morning.

"I forgot my key, officer," yawned Mr. Powell, "and I'm waiting for my son, Donald, to come home and let me in."

S-W-S
"For goodness' sake!" a surprised wife, Mrs. Carroll Cox, exclaimed to her husband. "Why are you taking a suitcase this morning? Are you going away?"

"No," Mr. Cox replied. "But I heard you talking about the church giving a rummage sale, so I'm taking my clothes down to the office until it's over."

S-W-S
Glen Godsey wrote the following about his little sis, Sharon, who is planning on getting married soon and who went to school in OHS last year. Here are his own words:

"Miss Sharon Godsey is now living with her sister, Mrs. Raymond Stout in Bristol, Tenn. She has decided to stay there permanently and is going to work."

"Possibly, the main cause is a young man by the name of Tommy Harklerod, whom she has seen a lot lately.

"It all began when she went on vacation in June with her brother, Glen and family, to Tennessee where she had planned to stay until school starts. "Cupid has been known to change many plans. She is not going back to school."
