Judge Tired Of Waiting, Square Worse For Wear

20 Boys Questioned In Vandalism Spree

Twenty teenage Olton boys are serving "disciplinary time" for entering the old hospital building on the square during recent weeks.

The word came from County Judge Pat Boone Jr. Wednesday as authorities continued an investigation into a vandalism spree on the property.

Judge Boone said he interviewed each of the 20 boys, but was unable to "get to the bottom" of a 10-day vandalism spell which ended earlier this month.

"All of the boys admitted they had been in the building, and a couple of them did a little tearing up. But I'm inclined to believe that we still don't have the ones who did the serious damage," the judge said.

The "serious damage" spoken of by Judge Boone included hammering of an x-ray machine left in the building since it was vacated by Dr. Ben Souders, James and Lynn Fite.

While all the boys admitted going into the building, all claimed the door was open when they entered, indicating someone may have broken into the old hospital prior to the boys' entries.

The building was kept locked prior to discovery of recent damages to it.

Seventeen of the youngsters were given orders to stay at home at night except for one night a week for a 30-day period.

One was set up on this schedule for a four-month period.

and two others for a six-month term.

These disciplinary measures were worked out with the parents of the boys, according to Judge Boone.

At least four of the boys already have broken the rules, Police Chief Emmett Burrow said this week. The four are scheduled for another appearance before the judge, he added.

"I'm not satisfied that any of the 20 boys did the serious damage," said Judge Boone. "Each was questioned individually and there were no inconsistencies in their stories."

All 20 said the building was in its present damaged condition when they went into it. The judge said he thought most of the youngsters just ran th-

WINNING CALENDAR GIRL --- Nancy Critchfield, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Critchfield, was selected "Miss Calendar Girl" of Olton High School at the FHA Calendar Girl Revue Tuesday night. Strangely enough, she represented the month of April.

Miss Critchfield Is Calendar Girl

Nancy Critchfield, 17-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Critchfield, was named Miss Calendar Girl Tuesday night at the Calendar Girl contest and Talent Show held in the high school auditorium here.

The show was sponsored by the junior and senior chapters of the FHA.

Miss Critchfield represented the month of April in the contest witnessed by approximately 250 persons.

Runners-up were Diane Smith representing January and Barbara Kirkpatrick portraying February.

Winners in the talent show were: Elementary division - first, Cheryl Latimer, Bunny DeLong, and Lisa Collins in a tap number; second, Phillip Bley at the piano; third, Debbie Thomas in a pantomime.

Junior high division - first, Jerry Winn, ventriloquist; second, Jeannie Turner, Junie Matthews in modern jazz; third, Donna Smith and Charla Smith presenting a song.

Only entry in the high school division was the Olton High School Sextet.

Cash prizes of $3, $2 and $1.50 were presented to the first, second and third acts respectively.

Other girls in the Miss Calendar Contest were Cheryl Poote, March; Barbara Fancher, May; Tommy Witten, June; Carolyn Carson, July; Jeanavon Harper, August; Marilyn Jones, September; Linda Thompson, October; Darleen Langford, November; Pat Bowen, December. Judges were Richard Bentz and Harold Dean Carson.

Three Ag Teams To Compete In Contest At Tech

Three teams from Olton High School will compete in the 33rd annual Vocational Agriculture contest sponsored by Texas Tech April 29.

The three teams from Olton are:

Land-Keith Berry, Paul Hernandez and Lendrell Howard, Dairy cattle- Jimmy Bennett, Allan Doggett and Jerry Myers, Livestock- Jerry Simmons, Larry King, Robert Duncan and Kenneth Blades, alternate.

More than 1,500 high school boys from throughout West Texas are expected to compete in the contest.

Judge Bills Raps Lack Of Interest

"I'm not going to wait much longer. The thing's been on my docket too long now."

The man doing the talking was District Judge E.A. Bills. The "thing" he referred to is the case of the Olton square.

The judge said he had been unable to get all the lawyers connected with the case, styled Dr. B.J. Souders vs. Drs. James and Lynn Fite, together last week. He hoped Wednesday that all attorneys involved can meet with him next week.

"No one seems to be taking much interest in the case," the judge said. "Lawyers on both sides think the bidding is too low."

It was at that point that the judge made his comment about not waiting "much longer."

Unless something is worked out soon, the judge said, "I'm just going to let it go to the highest bidder."

Presumably, the judge meant he would go ahead with sale of the property whether the attorneys liked the price or not.

"The property is depreciating and it's not bringing in any money," the judge said. "It's time we got it off the docket."

The square property has been in receivership since September, 1958, as a result of the suit filed by Dr. Souders. Souders and the Fite brothers once were partners in operation of an osteopathic hospital on the property.

Olton Bank Deposits Up By $138,000

Deposits in the Olton State Bank totaled $4,468,416.26 at the close of business April 21, the date of the first quarter bank call made by state banking authorities.

The 1961 deposits were over the total registered at the end of the first quarter in 1960 by $138,959.79.

The Olton bank "was one of two in the county to show increases."

The first quarter call in 1960 was on March 15, a month earlier than this year. Payments of income taxes and farm loans come in April and usually tend to lower deposit totals every April.

Only other bank in the county to show an increase was The First National Bank of Littlefield.

Deposits in the Citizens State Bank (Earth), First National Bank (Amherst), First National Bank (Sudan) and Security State Bank (Littlefield) dipped below last year's first quarter figures.

Three more bank calls are required by law for the year and customarily come with the season on varying dates with the exception of the final call of the year which comes on Dec. 31.

Notices On Feed Grain Will Be In Mail Friday

Payment rate notices will be put in the mail Friday to Lamb County feed grain producers, it was announced Wednesday by L.D. Aten, county ASC office manager.

Most farmers in the Olton area, Community B, can expect to receive rates slightly higher than those set for the county as a whole Aten said.

The average rate in this ASC community will be 126 per cent of the county average, which on grain sorghums is 2,430 pounds per acre and on corn is 62.2 bushels per acre. "Actually," said Aten, "the average rate in B community is 130 per cent on irrigated land and 35 per cent on dry land."

Because there is only a smattering of dry land in this area, the average rate for the community is pulled down only four percentage points by the lower dry land rate, he explained.

An average Olton farmer, who raises crops on irrigated land, can expect to receive a yield rate of about 3,100 pounds per acre on grain sorghum--130 per cent of the average. On corn, the average rate in this area will be about 80 bushels.

At the same time Aten told the averages for this particular area, he warned that not all farmers will receive the 130 per cent rate.

"Some rates will be as low as 80 per cent and some as high as 160 per cent," he said. "The 130 per cent is just an average."

Farmers in A Community, the Earth-Springlake area, will have about the same average as those in B Community. Producers in the C Community, the Hart Camp area, will have a slightly lower average, because there is more dry land in that area, Aten said.

After receiving their notices, farmers will have until May 31 to decide whether they want to participate in the Emergency Feed Grain Program, as it is titled.

The 50 per cent rate for farmers who enter the program and divert 20 per cent of their feed grain acreage will be $23 per acre on grain sorghum and $39.50 per acre on corn.

Farmers who divert 40 per cent of their feed grain acreage will get $27.60 per acre on grain sorghum and $47.40 per acre on corn.

These rates apply to the 100 per cent index. If a farmer's rate is 30 per cent higher than the average, then he can calculate his layout rates 30 per cent higher than the average.

Farmers who decide to lay out part of their feed grain acreage for conservation and enter the program will be eligible for price supports on their per-acre average yields. Any amount produced over the average must be sold on the open market.

One was set up on this schedule for a four-month period.

Mrs. Hall, Mrs. Turner 'Way Out'

Oltonites Go Space Happy In Annual PTA Production

BY AMY TURNER

"Check your jets and blast off!"

And they did . . . in a riotous three-act comedy farce, "Father's Been To Mars," presented by the Olton PTA Friday night.

Approximately 250 people were on hand to watch Mrs. W.T. Hall, Jr. and Mrs. Joe Turner walk away with the show in their hilarious portrayals of Eartha, the maid, and a sewing lady.

Mrs. Hall's telephone conversations, mostly with her friend "Laverne, you old witch" and always beginning with "Check your jets and blast off!" kept the audience howling with laughter.

Mrs. Joe Turner, as a sewing lady, was a scene-stealer in the second act. Although Mrs. Turner was in only one scene hand had few lines, her facial expressions and her highly indignant exit left the audience roaring.

At one point in the scene, the maid, Mrs. Hall, started to tell Mrs. Turner about a story in a "ladies" magazine, "Spicy Romance," about a girl from a real good family who went to Pittsburgh and . . . Mrs. Turner's studied preoccupation with this story was fascinating. Long after the conservation was over, she brought the house down with one remark.

"I wonder what happened to that girl when she GOT to Pittsburgh?"

The story of the play concerned the problems of a TV space star in adapting to the role of husband and father each evening.

"Captain Galaxy," the TV star, was convincingly portrayed by George Caddell. Both he and his wife, played by Mrs. J.L. Snider, are to be commended on their performances, particularly in view of the quantity and length of their lines.

Things were considerably complicated by the appearance of "Countess Vilma," the sultry space villainess played by Mrs. Major James, Mrs. James, speaking in an accent as she was supposed to be from Budapest, was successfully "mean." As she was supposed to be the star of a children's show, her most successful line, in a heavy brogue dripping with contempt, was "I . . . Hate . . . Children!"

Mrs. Owen Norfleet was very convincing in her portrayal of the 18-year-old daughter as was Mrs. Roy Thurman, as the 12-year-old daughter.

Walter Bryan was the rosy-cheeked student Mrs. Rex Chitwood and Mrs. Garland Long, other sewing ladies; E.J. McKnight, president of the TV network.

Outstanding costumes were the Captain Galaxy suit, Countess Vilma outfit and the "way out" costumes of Mrs. J.L. Snider and Mrs. Owen Norfleet in the scene attempting to give father some of his own medicine.

Director was E.J. McKnight.

THIS & THAT

BY MYRT LOMAN

"A small town is where everybody knows what everybody else is doing and they buy the weekly paper to see how much the editor DARES to print."

This paragraph is a copy from a magazine, which led me to these thoughts. Why do we buy our local paper? Is it to read the news and then find none of interest to us when perhaps we could have given the correspondent or reporter some really worth while news--news that would have been of interest not only to YOU but to OTHERS?

Just this past week I read interesting news of Hart folk in other papers that should have been in the HART BEAT FIRST.. this is YOUR paper! It is impossible for a reporter to net news when no one will give him a lead--such as 4-H work and the naming of the Sanders Ball Field. The school always has news but it is so hard to get. The churches have important news, too, and sometimes that is hard to get.

Our youth of today are leaders of our nation TOMORROW if there is a TOMORROW. Why not NEWS of their activities?

The Hart Beat depends on NEWS of interest to HART! (HART news FIRST and always!)

Some of the organizations we could always depend on for news. But how much better our paper will be if all turn in just a little. Sure, we have made mistakes in our articles published--names were wrong or misspelled or names of officers in clubs were printed wrong--but you know where the people are who make no mistakes!

Let us all work together now for a better paper and turn in our bit of news. We always want the Hart Beat to be good and complete.

If you have not yet subscribed for the paper, please contact the seniors or Mr. Tucker and they will be happy to see you.

Products Good, Prices Stable For Spring Shoppers In 1961

Spring shoppers can look forward to tempting displays of products and reasonably stable prices, according to the editors of Changing Times, the Kiplinger Magazine. As a result, the editors advise that purchasing plans should be premised on the knowledge that there is neither much to save nor much to lose by putting off shopping for a few months.

In the current issue of the magazine, "The Months Ahead," a regular feature, takes a look at price trends, products changes and innovations in style and fashion.

The editors find that shifts in price up or down will be minor, with the exception of a few items.

Specifically, they note that furniture retailers will offer more sales and promotions to jog lagging business. Stylewise, there is a revival of pure American, to get away from recent influence of Italian and French Provincial. Contemporary designs will be less severe. Appliances, the editors con-time, will reflect some basic changes in design and appeal. Already available are bigger washers to accommodate big-family needs; high ranges and ranges with a double-level cooking surface to make cooking chores less of a strain; compact "second" refrigerators to be placed in the recreation room, study, porch or bedrooms.

Power mowers may be a little more costly than a year ago, but more of them will offer "self-starters," and a novel development will be a power mower with six speeds.

In the clothing line, the magazine sees a choice for men the "All-American" or "British Accent" styles. The former is described as an extension of Ivy-League fashions -- two- or three-button jackets, notched lapels and, maybe, patch pockets. The British Accent will play up belted backs, shorter jackets and knickers for the boys. "You'll see checkered rain capes a la Sherlock Holmes and suits in 'Britannia blue,'" according to Changing Times. "Tab collars with fasteners will be seen. Prices: suits up slightly."

The "Jackie look" is the thing for women, the article continues. "Big emphasis on collarless necklines and swirling coats. Hemlines will be higher. Favorite colors will be pastels and brilliant tones. Prices: generally parallel to those of a year ago."

The price picture for a stable cost of living will hold across-the-board, from garden supplies and air conditioners to boats, furniture and clothing.

Farm Planning Service Offered To Lamb County

"Farm Planning" is a service provided cooperators by the Lamb County Soil Conservation District and the Soil Conservation Service.

Many farmers have requested special technical help in planning and applying adequate soil and water conservation practices on their farms.

However, many other farmers do not realize this service is available or that conservation of soil and water is a science which should have as a base careful planning before application begins.

Some conservation practices must be applied in accordance with the best known scientific and technical standards if they are to do the job which they were intended. Some people still think of soil conservation in terms of using certain individual practices without proper consideration of other supporting measures that may be required to make the conservation program economical and practical.

It takes skill to conserve the soil and water on most farms in the District. For an individual practice the only skill that may be needed is that which would be used in carrying out an ordinarily good farm business, but the proper use of many conservation practices with a combination of several soil types requires technical skill and training in engineering, agronomy, biology, hydrology, soil science and other scientific fields.

The over-all job of conservation involves such complex problems as wind and water erosion control, water conservation both natures water and irrigation water, improvement of soil fertility and physical condition, range and pasture improvement and conservation of wildlife. It also demands the skill and knowledge of experienced technicians who have had special training in the art and science of soil and water conservation.

When a farm plan is worked out with the farmer he knows what his conservation problems are, how to treat them, the approximate cost of treating them, the makeup and structure of his soil and their capabilities.

This information is recorded along with aerial photographs of the farm showing fields, land use and soil capabilities, combined and assembled into a folder which is a handy reference for both the farmer and technicians of the Soil Conservation Service who will assist him to install the practices he has planned.

Anyone interested in this type of service should contact the Soil Conservation Service office in Littlefield.

Cotton Planter Box Survey Underway Here This Week

A cotton planter box survey got underway this week in Lamb County, one of the five cotton producing counties in the state of Texas and the only county in High Plains area in which the survey will be conducted in 1961.

Sponsored by the Texas Certified Seed Producers, Inc., Texas A&M College, and the cotton ginners of Lamb County, this survey is believed to be the first in Texas and possibly the first in the nation. Actual survey work will be done by local Extension Service personnel and the local cotton ginners, with many other firms and agencies cooperating, under the direction of County Agent, Bill Kimbrough.

Luis Hair, Farmers Gin, Olton, is one of the workers in the survey. Other area men are Billy C. Gunter, extension area agronomist, Lubbock; Lamar D. Aten, ASC, Littlefield; C.W. Garrett, Spade Co-op Gin, Spade; Rip Elms, manager Western Cottonoil, Littlefield; Doyle Watkins, Watkins Gin, Sudan.

Approximately 250 Lamb County farmers will be contacted while they are actually engaged in planting cotton. Survey workers will take a one-pound bag of cottonseed from each farmer's planter box and will fill out a short questionnaire after talking with the producer.

A germination and purity test will be performed on approximately 250 samples of cottonseed to be gathered during the survey, officials reported.

Results of these tests, along with the questionnaire information, will be transferred to IBM cards and processed at the Data Processing Center at Texas A&M.

"All this information will be kept strictly confidential and only on the total county findings will be released later," said Bill Gunter, extension area agronomist, Lubbock.

Gunter, who has been closely associated with the development of plans for the survey here, said the overall goal of the project is to aid farmers and the cotton industry.

"Information obtained in the survey," he said, "will be used in an educational program to help further the cotton industry in Texas and to see that better quality planting seeds are in the hands of farmers."

Information to be obtained from the survey, Gunter said, will include:

1. Percentages of cotton acreage planted to adapted and nonadapted varieties.

2. Percentages of the planting seed that are certified and noncertified.

3. If the seed are noncertified, the average number of generations the seed are from certified stocks.

4. The principal sources of certified and non-certified seed and the acres planted to seed from each source.

5. Percentages of certified and non-certified seed that were treated, along with the percentage treated with the recommended treatment and the percentage of each source of seed that was chemically treated.

6. The number of acres planted to seed of unknown germination, average germination of both certified and non-certified seed, and the average germination of seed from each principal source.

7. The percentage of seed which were delinted or processed in some other manner prior to planting.

8. The source of seed of the highest and lowest germination.

9. The high and low germinations of certified and non-certified seed.

Corn Varieties Planted By Research Foundation

"Twenty varieties of corn were planted April 16 at the High Plains Research Foundation for the 1961 research program," announced Dr. Earl H. Collister, Chief Agronomist, today.

The varieties were planted in four-row plots, 50 feet long, with four plots for each variety. The soil temperature at planting time was 57 degrees. Fertilizer applied was at the rate of 30 pounds actual nitrogen and 50 pounds actual phosphorus to the acre. The application was made at planting time, 4 inches to the side and 4 inches below the seed.

One new variety in the Foundation's planting was Asgrow 300, 400, 500, and 105 W; PAG 436, 485, and 10185; Steckley Genetic Giants 15-B and 30-B; Texas 26, 28, 30, and 17-W; Texas Experimental 5803, 5925, and 6006; and Funk's G-711AA.

PAG 485 and Funk's G-711AA were the high yielding varieties in 1960, with 172 and 171 bushels per acre, respectively.

80 Turn Out For Bowling Clinic

Registration In Special Classes Is Still Open

Six children were registered Monday morning for a special education class being considered here for next year.

The class would include mentally retarded and orthopedics. Eight students is the minimum requirement for such a class.

Parents may still register their children for the class any time during the next two weeks. Those interested are asked to contact Joe Harper, superintendent.

Median Local Family Has Average Worth Of $4,350

NEW YORK - How wealthy is the average family in Lamb County? What assets has it accumulated in the way of savings, insurance, real estate, automobiles and equipment over the years? Few families have more than a vague idea of how much they are worth. They are more concerned about their weekly incomes and the amount that has to come out for food and for general overhead. As to their total assets, they never took the time to add them up. Some help in this direction, as it applies to the median family, is contained in studies made by the National Industrial Conference Board, by the Federal Reserve Board and by others. Their findings have been adjusted to reflect 1960 conditions. They show that there is a direct relationship between income and net worth. Families with bigger earnings, year after year, have been able to set aside more. On the average, net worth is about 78 percent of annual income. Considering the level income in Lamb County, as reported, the median local family is presumed to have a net worth of approximately $4,350. This represents the market value of all its physical possessions—its house, its car, its furniture, its appliances and tools, the cash value of its life insurance, stocks and bonds and all the rest. The figure is a net one, after subtracting mortgages, consumer debt and other obligations. As to farm families, they have assets in addition to the usual ones in the form of land, buildings, livestock and farm equipment. The net worth of $4,350 per family in Lamb County compares favorably with the average in the West South Central States as a whole, $4,230 per family. The answer is to be found, chiefly, in the fact that local residents have been enjoying incomes running 2.8 percent above the sectional scale. According to estimates contained in the Conference Board's Economic Almanac, updated to 1960, the national wealth of the American people is over $1,800 billion, not far from the fantastic sum of two trillion dollars. It includes government-owned property.

The climate couldn't be better for buying a new JET-SMOOTH CHEVROLET

(and that's the car more people are buying!) There's nothing like one of these Jet-smooth Chevrolets to fit into your summer travel plans. They're built to take long trips in stride—from the special brand of "git" they've got under the hood (choose from 26 engine-transmission hookups designed to please the most persnickety driving foot) to the cave-sized totin' area in the rear (the tailgate opening on that wagon measures nearly 5 feet across). And every gentle riding Jet-smooth model brings you Body by Fisher features you won't find in any other car in Chevrolet's field—wide stroke parallel action windshield wipers, convenient crank-operated ventipanes, one key that fits all locks. No wonder more people are buying Chevrolets than any other make! And right now—with things brightening up all over the land—you couldn't pick a better time to drop in and check the beautiful buys that are blossoming out at your dealer's.

Announce Soybean Price Support

The U.S. department of Agriculture today announced dates and other general provisions for price-support operations. Support prices for soybeans was announced March 22 at national average of $2.30 per bushel. The soybean support price was increased 45 cents from the level in 1960 to gear production of this important oil crop into the 1961 feed grain program and to meet anticipated needs. Soybeans must grade No. 4 or better and contain not more than 14 percent moisture to be eligible for support. They must also be in adequate storage. In addition, soybeans to be eligible for 1961 support must be grown on farms where 1959-60 average acreage of conserving and idle land has been maintained. This requirement is designed to insure that increases in soybean production will come from acreage that has been used for crops that are in abundant supply such as wheat, cotton, corn, grain sorghums and other feed crops.

★ PRINCESS COTTON

We Help Ourselves-- When We Promote More Uses For Cotton!

When we are told of the hot, dry, synthetics, why not remember how cool and comfortable cotton is — whether it be a clean cotton dress, shirt, blouse or cotton under garments. After all cotton is what we produce. It is an indispensable raw product. Let us support it with our purchasing power; for that is one way of keeping the price at a higher level.

May Day Is Time For Small Flower Baskets To Appear

BY MRS. BLANTON MARTIN
When you arise Monday morning, will you open your front door to see if some little friend has left a "May basket"?

Probably not. The custom of leaving hand-made paper baskets holding sprigs of spring flowers seems to be a thing of the past, at least in this area.

May Day is celebrated in many countries to mark the return of spring. In only one country, Russia, is it a national holiday. Its observance in Russia has nothing to do with welcoming Spring, rather, it is a time of communistic parades and activities.

Ancient Romans gathered flowers to honor the goddess of spring, Flora. In Medieval times, May Day was the favorite holiday of many English villages. Flowers were gathered to decorate homes and churches, and carols were sung. A King and Queen of May were chosen. Villagers danced around the Maypole, holding ends of ribbons which streamed from the top of the pole.

In some European countries, May Day was an occasion for a boy to serenade his sweetheart or to secretly plant a tree by her window. In France, however, the day had religious significance, and processions honoring the Virgin Mary marched through the streets.

Our Puritan forefathers frowned on May Day, partly because of their Protestant belief concerning the Virgin Mary and partly because they frowned on most things involving light-heartedness and gaiety. So May Day has never been celebrated in America to the extent that it has been in other lands. However the custom of leaving a May basket at the door of a friend seems to be purely American. It's a nice custom, and, no doubt, many hearts would be gladdened by its observance
