

THE LIBRARY'S IN BUSINESS---Accepting donations of books to the community's new library from Norma Jean Walden, second from right, and Francine Struve, right, are Jean Caddel, left, and LaVerna Thompson. The books were the first donated to the library, which is located at the Chamber of Commerce and Agriculture office.

At Chamber Office

Olton's Library Is Open

Olton's long-awaited library officially opened this afternoon in the office of the Olton Chamber of Commerce and Agriculture.

The library, under the direction of Mrs. Fred Thompson, will be open each day from 2 to 5 p.m. Monday through Saturday.

Approximately 230 books are on the shelves at this time. This number is expected to increase through donations and through the purchase of new books.

All donations made to the library will remain in Olton. Cards will be issued to those wishing to check books out of the library. Children's cards will have to be signed by parents and children may not take the books to school.

Borrowers may check out books and renew one time. This will allow a four week period to read a book.

Among donations to the library are three books given by the County Library in memory of Olton children recently killed.

Anyone interested in working on the project is asked to contact Mrs. Fred Thompson or Mrs. George Caddel. Several workers are still needed.

Working on Monday afternoons will be Mrs. Basil Sherman, Mrs. Bob Burgess, Mrs. Marshall Stone and Mrs. E.C. Jones with Mrs. George Caddel as an extra.

Tuesday workers include Mrs. Carrol Brown, Mrs. A.J.

Spain, Mrs. Delmer Givens and Mrs. Jack Allcorn with Mrs. H.B. Carson as an extra.

Working on Wednesdays will be Mrs. H.H. Crowder, Mrs. Glen Singletary, Mrs. Joe Turner and Mrs. Bill Yates.

Thursday workers include Mrs. I.B. Holt, Mrs. Fred

Thompson, Mrs. Ed Thompson, and Mrs. Neil Wells.

Working on Fridays will be Mrs. Truitt Sides, Mrs. Frank Struve, Mrs. Don Spain and Mrs. Dub Granberry.

Saturday workers include Mrs. Ray Slatten, Mrs. Ralford Daniel and Mrs. E.R. Spain.

Incomes Rising In Lamb County

Rising incomes in Lamb County in the last few years have resulted in significant shifts in family income brackets.

Many local families, formerly in the $4,000 to $7,000 category, are now to be found in the $7,000 to $10,000 group. Others, who had net earnings previously of $2,500 to $4,000, have moved up a notch and entered the $4,000 to $7,000 bracket.

The upward shift has been taking place at all points along the income scale. As a result, there are now more families than ever in the middle-or-better brackets and fewer at the lower end.

This progress augurs well for business. It means that more people are finding it possible to upgrade their standard of living.

The income breakdowns are set forth in a copyrighted study, produced by Sales Management.

It shows just how earnings were divided in each area of the United States in the past year.

It also reveals whether the so-called "average income" of a community really consists of a small number of high-income families compensating for a much larger number in the low brackets, or whether the distribution is more even.

The figures for Lamb County show that 39.6 percent of all local households can point to cash incomes of $4,000 or more, after payment of taxes.

Since the study was based on cash income, it reveals a wide disparity between farm dwellers and urban residents. If allowance is made, however, for lower living costs on the farm and for food grown and consumed by farm families, the difference becomes much smaller.

The 39.6 percent in the $4,000-and-over brackets accounted for 73.1 percent of the income.

County Pension Payments At $994,000 Yearly Rate

How good a "buy" is Social Security for the average Lamb County resident? How much is he likely to get back, after retirement, for every dollar he has been paying into the pension fund?

A study made by the Tax Foundation shows that, for those who have been enrolled under Social Security for a long time and are retired or are soon to be, it is a real bargain. Most of them will get back more than $2 for every $1 they put in. Future generations of workers will not fare nearly as well.

Pension payments locally have already reached huge proportions. The Government's last report, released a few months ago, shows benefits to Olton residents and to others in Lamb County being paid at the rate of $994,000 a year.

Only a fraction of that amount, however, had been contributed to the pension fund in any one year by the retired and disabled workers who are sharing in it.

In analyzing the cost of Social Security, the Tax Foundation

Mustang Win Streak At Stake In Lockney

Experienced Lockney 11 Is Unbeaten

"If they didn't have the experience on us, we could probably play them a pretty good ball game."

That's the way the Olton-Lockney ball game shapes up in the eyes of Mustang Coach Walter Bryan. The teams play at Lockney Friday night at 8.

"They're big, real big, and they've got so many returning regulars," says Bryan, who remembers the 20-14 licking Olton took at Lockney last year.

The boy who did the Mustangs in last year, Ronnie Belt, a 190-pound fullback, is one of the Lockney returnees. Belt ran about 60 yards for the winning touchdown in the waning moments of the game last fall.

Lockney is unbeaten this year, having whipped Hale Center 16-7, Dimmitt 7-6 and Ralls 27-14.

The fact sheet on Lockney pretty well bears Coach Bryan out. The Longhorns have eight offensive starters and nine defensive regulars back.

Their power is driven by Belt and all-regional guard Donnie Hanst, a 180-pounder. One of Lockney's pet plays is to send Belt up the middle behind the power blocking of Hanst.

"They're a passing team, too," says Bryan. "They threw 15 times against Ralls, when they didn't even need to."

Longhorn thrower is Tommy Moore, who also calls signals. The halfbacks are Clem Zavala and Terry Moseley, both of whom ran well against the Ponies last year.

Belt scored three times against Ralls last week, twice on long runs. Zavala got the Longhorns' TD against Dimmitt, with Moore kicking the winning extra point.

Olton will enter the game with a 2-2 record, the two wins coming the past two weeks.

Two weeks ago, it was the running and passing of Olton's George Jones who led the Mustangs to a 14-7 victory over Springlake. Last week, it was Joe Priest's passing and Ronnie Parsons' running which sparked in the Ponies' 31-8 victory over Hale Center.

"We'll need our best effort of the year if we stay in the ball game," Coach Bryan says.

Fullback Johnny Moses will be called on to supply Olton's power running. Moses got one TD himself last week.

The Mustang line will have Charlie Burrus and George Phillips at ends, Daniel Rey and Jimmy Bennett at tackles, Dennis Givens and Billy Carson at guards, and Leon Kendall at center. Robert Struve and Joe Costello move into the line-up on defense, as well as playing quite a bit offensively.

Statistical Data

ASC Urges Correct Report On Crops

Local farmers are being strongly urged to correctly fill out and return crop statistical reports which some of them are now receiving through the mail.

The reports are sent out by the agricultural marketing service to a percentage of farmers in each county.

In the past, some farmers in this area have discarded the reports.

Lamar Aten, county ASC office manager, this week stressed the importance of promptly returning the forms.

"These are used to determine the acreages and yields for our county," he said.

He noted that the reports that are returned will be used and once these acreages and yields are established, they cannot be changed.

If they are incorrectly filled out or if the number returned is not representative, a true picture of the county may not be presented.

"This is one reason why we didn't have a good picture on our grain yield," Aten said.

He added that the reports are confidential and have nothing to do with income tax. He said he felt that this was one of the reasons some farmers had hesitated in returning the forms.

CCA Votes 3 Year Terms For Directors

Olton Chamber of Commerce and Agriculture directors voted to make terms of board members three years instead of two at a regular meeting Tuesday morning.

The new plan will go into effect with the election of new directors this fall. As a result, four members will go off the 12-member board this year, rather than six.

In other activity, the board heard reports on the SOS Polio Project, planned membership drive and set a date for a general membership meeting.

More than 3,100 persons received the first dose of the polio vaccine here. C-CA Manager Melvin McReynolds reported.

The board set Nov. 29 as a tentative date for the general membership meeting, at which members will plan the Chamber's program of work for 1963. A membership drive is planned following the general meeting. McReynolds announced two new members of the Chamber at the board meeting, Riley TV and W.T. (Dub) Hall Jr.

The board also discussed progress on plans for a new post office building here. The board was told that a post office department representative was here last week taking options on proposed sites.

Olton Men View Watershed

Twelve Lamb County residents, including five from Olton, were among those who went to Brady last week to observe the Brady Creek Watershed Project.

Making the trip from Olton were M.T. James, Bob Duncan, Melvin McReynolds, Alvin Hysinger and Aubry Oursbourne. Approximately 100 persons from this area, along the Runningwater Draw Watershed, made the trip.

The group viewed a multipurpose structure which will impound 35,000 acres feet for permanent storage and another 50,000 acre feet for flood storage.

This represents an output of $2 million for construction and purchase of land for which the city of Brady expended 35 percent and the federal government paid 65 percent.

The city will control the large structure which was substituted for seven small structures. The lake will be used for city water and industrial use. Local leaders are making plans for a large recreational area, lake home sites and fishing camps.

sites to be constructed around the lake area.

The group then viewed the 41 completed detention structures, which are more comparable to the type planned on the Runningwater Draw Watershed.

This gave local people an opportunity to see what the project can do and how it can be accomplished here.

Coin Flip Decides Grid Contest Winner

For the first time in the history of The Enterprise football contest, there was a tie for first in the guessing last week.

Even the tie-breaker didn't work.

Charles Polk and Eusevio Guevara Jr. wound up with 12 correct guesses and three wrong ones. Both were 10 points off on the tie-breaker.

As a result, the two flipped a coin and Polk came out the winner.

He will receive a check for $10, with Guevara picking up second money of $6.

Third prize went to Loyd Blackwell, who also missed only three ball games. He was 13 points off on the tie-breaker. He will receive $4.

A fourth contestant just missed the money, Ira Foster missed only three games and was 22 points off on the tie-breaker.

Bill Cox might have made the money, as he missed only three games, but he forgot to fill in the tie-breaker.

There's still time to enter the contest for this week. All you do is pick up a copy of the Sept. 27 issue of The Enterprise, fill in your picks and turn in your entry to one of the merchants sponsoring the contest.

Entry deadline is 4 p.m. Friday.

Nazarene Revival Set

The Rev. L. Dean Hess, Abilene, will be the special speaker during a revival scheduled here at the Church of the Nazarene Oct. 8 through Oct. 14.

Services will be held each evening at 7:30. Special music will be presented by local talent. The public is invited.

Rev. Hess is a graduate of Bethany Nazarene College, Bethany, Okla. He has served pastorates in Kansas and Texas.

Presently he is serving as pastor of the Baker Heights Church of the Nazarene, Abilene.

Since going to Abilene, he has built a new first unit brick structure to house this new congregation. After the construction of the building, an organization was effected and he was appointed to become the first pastor of this new work.

In the field of evangelism, Hess held both week and weekend meetings while attending college. As a pastor he has held one or two meetings a year.

Rumor Denied On Elevators

Rumors to the effect that three area grain elevators had lost their licenses were squashed here Wednesday.

The three--Smith Grain of Olton, Bainer Elevator and Hart Camp Grain Co.--are operating and may issue warehouse receipts, according to Leo Smith, one of the owners.

The rumors apparently began when Farmers Elevator at Anton closed temporarily last Friday when weight of grain pushed out the west wall of a warehouse. Farmers Elevator is owned by Hart Camp Grain Co.

Commodity Credit temporarily suspended operations at the Anton elevator until the damage is repaired, Smith said. Other elevators in which he has an interest are not affected.

Repairs to the Anton elevator should be completed in the very near future, he added.

PTA Meet

Board members of the Olton Independent School District will participate in a panel discussion at the Parent-Teacher Association meeting tonight at 8 p.m. in the school cafeteria.

REAL CONCENTRATION---All eyes are on the spinning coin as Charles Polk and Eusevio Guevara Jr. flip to see who wins first in the Enterprise football contest. Polk and Guevara each picked 12 of the 15 games and they were tied on the tiebreaker. Polk won the flip.

How Simple

Remember how simple life used to be? If you do, you're an oldtimer. Here's a letter we ran across which shows the times pretty well.

Having received your bill, I wish to inform you that the recent condition of my bank account makes it impossible. My shattered financial condition is due to federal laws, state laws, county laws, city laws, liquor laws, sister-in-laws, brother-in-laws, other in-laws and outlaws.

Through these laws I am compelled to pay business tax, water tax, amusement tax, head tax, school tax, gas tax, light tax, sales tax, income tax, furniture tax, and excise tax. I am also required to get a business license, car license, and operator's license, truck license, and not to mention a marriage license, dog license, hunting license, fishing license, trailer license and boat license.

I am required to contribute to every society and organization which the genius of man is capable of bringing to life—to women's relief, the unemployment relief, and the gold diggers; also to every hospital and charitable institution in the country, the Community Chest, Red Cross, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, and many, many others.

For my own safety I am required to carry life insurance, health insurance, fire insurance, property insurance, liability insurance, burglar insurance, accident insurance, business insurance, tornado insurance, unemployment compensation insurance, and old-age insurance.

My business is so governed that it is no easy matter to find out who owns it. I am suspected, expected, disrespected, rejected, examined, commanded, summoned, informed, required, fined, compelled, and re-examined until I provide an inexhaustible supply of money for every need, desire or hope of the human race.

Simple because I refuse to donate to something, I am boycotted, talked about, lied about, held up, held down, and robbed until I am almost ruined.

I can tell you honestly that except for a miracle that has happened I could not enclose this check. The wolf that comes to so many doors nowadays has just had pups in my kitchen. I sold them and here is the money.

Navy Sets NROTC Exam

VAdm. W.R. Smedberg, III, Chief of Naval Personnel, announced today that the 17th annual national competitive examination for the Regular Naval Reserve Officers Training Corps will be given to eligible high school seniors and graduates Dec. 8. Application forms are now available and must be mailed by Nov. 16.

Application forms are available at high schools, Navy Recruiting Stations or from the Chief of Naval Personnel, Department of the Navy, Washington 25, D.C.

Your local Navy Recruiter, Myles Carroll, is usually in Olton first and third Thursdays of the month. For information he can be contacted at the City Hall from 12 noon to 3 p.m.

Designed to supplement the officer output of the Naval Academy, the NROTC program makes it possible for a young man to earn a regular commission while studying at the civilian college of his choice which has an NROTC Unit.

High school seniors and graduates who have reached their 17th birthday and have not reached their 21st birthday on June 30, 1963 may apply for NROTC aptitude test. Those who make a qualifying score will be given a medical exam in 1963. From the number of qualified young men remaining in competition, more than 2,000 will be selected to begin their naval careers in college next September.

Tech Music Department Sets Recital

LUBBOCK- The Texas Tech music department will present Dr. Judson Maynard in a faculty organ recital Monday Oct. 8 in the sanctuary of the First Methodist Church of Lubbock.

The recital, open to the public, will begin at 8:15 p.m. His program includes four numbers by Bach -- "Komm, heiliger Geist, Herre Gott"; Fugue in E flat, "St. Anne's"; "Liebster Jesu, wir sind heilig"; and Fugue in G, "Gigue."

Other numbers on the program are Mozart's Fantasia in F Minor, K. 594; Franck's "Chorale in A Minor"; Messiaen's "Le Banquet Celeste"; Ives' "Adeste Fidelis" in an Organ Prelude (1897); and Ives' "Variations on America" (1891).

Maynard, assistant professor of music at Tech, received the B.M. and M.M.E. degrees from Montana State University and the Ph.D. from Indiana University. He teaches organ at Tech and is music director at the Second Baptist Church of Lubbock.

District PTA Citizenship Parley Set

Mrs. J.M. Farmer, president of District XIV of the Texas Congress of Parents and Teachers, has announced the Citizenship Parley for all local unit officers and committee chairmen, council officers, and district board members to be Tuesday Oct. 16 9:30 a.m. at the Crosby County Pioneer Memorial Auditorium, Crosbyton. Other interested persons are invited to attend, also. The theme for this year is "Homes Create Community Strength Through Good Citizenship."

Bill Mann, superintendent of Springlake Schools, chairman of District XIV Citizenship Committee, will be in charge of the program.

Among the special guests on the program will be the Hon. Jack Strong, mayor of Lubbock; Virgil Trout, Lubbock, chairman of District XIV Character and Spiritual Committee; and Dr. Homers Webb, Texas Technological College.

There will be several workshops in the afternoon from 1 p.m. until 2:30 with a discussion panel in each workshop.

...And I Demand Free Space For Rebuttal!

The Facts Are:

The true test of cotton's readiness for defoliant is when 60 to 80 per cent of the bolls are mature and cannot be sliced with a knife.

Occasionally, you may read reports which apply to areas around Texas A&M, where time is not a major consideration.

But if we wait until 80 per cent of our bolls are open, this will be after the first freeze -- and then there's no need to defoliate.

If there is a question in your mind as to the readiness of your cotton, or the readiness of our spray rigs, call 285-2255 and let us help you.

Conservation Program Underway

Now that the grain sorghum crop is being harvested in most areas of the Southern High Plains and the cotton crop soon will be ready for harvest, the staff of the High Plains Under-ground Water Conservation District said this week that it hopes each irrigation farmer who has been plagued with "tailwater" problems this summer will commence to do some "real hard thinking" about what he can do to better control his water next year.

A Water District spokesman says, "If the farmer waits until it's time to bed up his land next spring, we fear he won't have sufficient time in which to genuinely consider the various methods that others are using successfully to retain irrigation "tailwater" on their farms."

He continued, "Many methods work well in the mixed to sandyland areas -- borders at the row ends to retain irrigation water to give it an opportunity to soak into the soil, shortening the length of irrigation runs, and reducing the size of syphon tubes used all seem to work successfully."

"In the hardland areas, however, the problem is not quite so simple. The tighter soils must have water on them for a longer period of time to obtain the penetration necessary for supplying adequate crop moisture. If the land is not extremely level, then the result usually is a large amount of "tailwater" at the bottom of the field."

The Water District staffer stated, "We have seen some who farm under these conditions reduce the amount of 'tailwater' by simply changing the direction of their rows so that they do not run directly down the slope. We don't necessarily suggest that they be put on a perfect contour, but merely reduce the grade so less 'tailwater' will result."

He continued, "By adding such things as cotton burrs and grain sorghum stubble to the soil, the water intake rate on the heavy soils may be increased. These things all help."

"We have also seen many in the hardland areas use recirculation systems to carry excess irrigation water from the bottom of the field after it's run over the cropland back up the slope through a pipeline to a point where it can be beneficially used."

The District spokesman said, "Yes, there are many things that can be done to minimize 'tailwater' losses, but to do any one, or all of these things mentioned takes planning, and if an individual does not start thinking and making plans now, we're afraid he won't have the necessary time in which to instigate new methods before it's time to make another crop.

Farm Bureau

District Meet Set At Lubbock

LUBBOCK--(Spl.)-- A district wide meeting of county Farm Bureau leaders will be here here tonight to kick off the fall membership campaign in this area, according to H.L. (Hub) King of Brownfield, TFB director for District 2.
 Principal speaker for the meeting, which will begin at 7:30 p.m. at the Holiday Inn East, formerly Park Way Manor, will be T.C. (Pete) Peterson of Chicago, director of the program development division of the American Farm Bureau Federation. King described Peterson as "a speaker of outstanding prominence who is much in demand because he brings up-to-date information on agricultural issues and problems and delivers his message in a most entertaining fashion."
 All Farm Bureau presidents, secretaries, membership chairmen and county agricultural agents in the 17 counties of the district have been invited to the meeting. In addition, the state director said local civic leaders would be welcome.

County Farm Bureaus are aiming to a total of 10,662 members for the district, which would be a gain of nearly 300 more than were enrolled last year. The date set for reaching the goal is Oct. 31, the end of the organization's fiscal year.
 Individual county quotas are: Lamb, 920; Castro, 300; Cochran, 200; Crosby, 330; Dickens, 351; Floyd, 650; Hale, 1,301; Lynn, 737; Motley, 156; Briscoe, 125; Hockley, 975; Lubbock, 1,315; Parmer, 540; Terry, 1,166; Swisher, 665; Yoakum, 81; and Bailey, 635.

Fall Lawn Care Hints Outlined

Beautiful lawns just don't happen, but are the result of carefully made and carried out plans. A fall application of a complete fertilizer made 30 days before the first expected frost is suggested by E.M. Trew, extension pasture specialist, as a part of the lawn care program.
 Such an application, he says, will keep the grass green longer in the fall and give it an earlier starting next spring.

Too, when lawn grasses go into the winter in a healthy, vigorous condition, winter and spring weeds have less chance to grow and are less of a problem.

But don't wait too long to make the application, advises Trew, for summer grasses pushed into lush growth by late fertilization may be damaged by a hard freeze. Applying the fertilizer too late prevents the grass from making full use of it before going dormant.

The specialist suggests using a fertilizer with a 2-1-1 or 1-1-1 ratio at a rate to supply two pounds of actual nitrogen for each 1,000 square feet of lawn. Twenty pounds of 10-5-5 or 10-10-10 or 25 pounds of 8-8-8 will provide this amount of nitrogen, he says. Though some soils do not need potash, Trew says its use is good insurance and the cost is small. The results may be very good.

He suggests dividing the fertilizer into two equal parts -- apply half -- then spread the remainder at right angles to the first application. This will help insure even distribution, he adds.

After the fertilizer has been applied, the lawn should be irrigated. If the soil is dry, apply enough water to soak it to a depth of six inches or better until the moisture meets. If the soil is wet, just wash the plant food from the grass, explains Trew. Moisture is necessary for dissolving the fertilizer and making it available for use by the grass.

Cotton Moisture Good Indicator Of Quality

At present the only reliable method of checking the quality of cotton on the farm or at the ginning point is grade and staple length. But according to Beverly G. Reeves, cotton ginning and merchandizing specialist, Texas A&M College, the cotton moisture meter can be used as a good indicator of quality.

This device make it possible to determine the proper time for harvesting and the way to conduct the ginning operation to preserve cotton quality, the specialist adds. The moisture content of the cotton fiber when harvested and when in storage prior to ginning and during ginning is definitely correlated with spinning quality. The fiber strength, the length uniformity of the fibers, and the amount of tangled fibers or nepps in the cotton affect its spinning quality, and the fiber moisture level in turn affects these. Research has shown that moisture levels above eight percent make more drying necessary in the ginning operation and cotton with excess moisture tends to deteriorate in storage prior to ginning, says Reeves.

Cotton moisture level is also affected by the amount of trash in the harvested fiber. When trashy cotton is stored for long periods moisture moves from the trash into the cotton, explains the specialist. Therefore, dry, careful harvesting is needed to produce quality cotton and a moisture meter can help achieve this, he adds. Reeves recommends the purchase of a moisture meter if the operation justifies it or a check of the moisture content at the gin.

Wayland Plans Parents Day

PLAINVIEW -- A Stay-All-Day Party with parents of students as guest will be held at Wayland Baptist College, Plainview, Monday Oct. 8.

Among those serving as hosts and hostesses for the annual 'Parents' Day gathering will be Robert Banner, Joe Price and Mrs. Bobbie Hutson, all of Olton; Joe Miller of Springlake; and Mary Lou Ausmus Serratt, Spade.

Going to classes may be more like a party to parents than to students, but the Waylanders are arranging for their guests to visit classes as well as to attend the chapel program which they have planned. Participating on the program will be Gary Parker, president of the Student Government Association, Albuquerque, N.M., who will bring the welcome along with Pres. A. Hope Owen; Mike Myrick, Lubbock, piano solo; Billy Fred Webb, Plainview, organ solo; and Duane Harris, Joplin, Mo., song leader. Reading the Scripture will be Miss Jane Aylesworth, Plainview, and leading in prayer will be Ronnie Turner, Roscoe, president of the Baptist Student Union. The Treble Tones, women's choral group, and the International Choir will also sing.

Also on the agenda is lunch in Slaughter Memorial Center, according to Douglas Clark, assistant professor of sociology, who is chairman of the Parents' Day Committee. Reservations are already being returned in response to the special letter of invitation to parents sent by President Owen.

"Party" plans following chapel at 11 a.m. call for a panel discussion where parents will have opportunity to become acquainted with administration and faculty members and to ask specific questions about student life and academic objectives at Wayland, which is observing its 15th year as a fully accredited senior college.

Capping off the day's events will be dedication services for Wayland's new Home Life Building at 2 p.m. Students and their parents will have a chance to attend a reception and to tour the two-story cream brick building following the dedication. Some $91,000 of the $190,000 cost of construction of this first unit was raised by members of the District Nine Woman's Missionary Union.

The ushers of the First Baptist Church met Thursday night after revival service to organize an ushers' association. Rev. M.B. Baldwin brought some of the duties of the ushers. Newly elected officers are chairman, Bud Matlock; president, John Bridges; secretary, Robert Huckabee; and social chairman, Wayne Davis. Fellowship hour followed. Coffee, cake, cookies and cokes were served to Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Davis, Del and Tammy, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Huckabee, Mr. and Mrs. Almon Whitford, Mr. and Mrs. Bud Matlock, Debbie and Sammie, Mr. and Mrs. John Bridges, Bruce and Brad, Rev. and Mrs. M.B. Baldwin, and one guest, Mrs. Bud Jones.

Mrs. Thelma McClanahan, Mrs. Alice Huckabee and Mrs. Moena Miller attended the annual WMU Associational Meeting at Dimmitt Thursday.

A 75th WMU Anniversary coffee was given in the home of Mrs. Ernest Baker Monday at 9 a.m. Mrs. Bud Matlock, president, called the meeting to order and Mrs. Edna McClure, social chairman gave the welcome. The watchword was repeated by members present and the president gave a devotional on the meaning of the watchword. Mrs. Moena Miller read the calendar of prayer and Mrs. Thelma McClanahan, community missions chairman, read a poem, "Give Them the Flowers Now" and added a personal touch to it by giving each member a red rose and telling them what they meant to her life. Coffee, cokes, nuts and cookies were served to Mrs. Moena Miller, Betty Parish, Frances Watson, Edna McClure, Velma Baker, Betty Matlock, Myrtle Clayton, Alice Huckabee, and Thelma McClanahan. Highlight of the morning was the modeling of Myrtle Clayton's and Thelma McClanahan's 1888 dresses that they will be using all through the years. Other members are urged to get theirs made. A picture was also taken of the group to begin a scrapbook of the WMU.

Oran Parish made the first delivery of Springlake's first bale of cotton Sept. 19 at the Springlake Gin, Inc. The bale weighed 2240 lbs. and ginned out 450 lbs. Parish reported the first open bolls for the area and delivered the first load of milo in the Springlake area.

Ramblers To Be On Display Friday At Keeling Buick

The 1963 Ramblers announced today by American Motors Corporation re-emphasize the compact leader's size and balance concept while utilizing new body building techniques to take on a fresh new appearance.

The Ramblers will be shown Friday and Saturday at Ray Keeling Buick in Littlefield. The new Rambler Classic Six and Ambassador V-8, which will go on sale Friday, are lower in silhouette, look much bigger but are actually more than an inch shorter in over-all length than previous models. Coming on the heels of the best sales year in the company's history, Rambler's first major appearance change in several years is based on an advanced unit construction method that results in a stronger, safer body and greater precision and quality in manufacturing.

Other highlights of the '63 Rambler include a seven-fold increase in use of galvanized steel for greater rust-resistance, step-down design with lower over-all height, curved side glass, new grille design, large wrap-around bumpers, new Twin-Stick floor shift transmission with overdrive, permanently lubricated transmissions, alternators, and many other improvements to further reduce maintenance costs and service requirements. Continued features include Rambler's double-safety brake system and ceramicarmored muffler and tailpipe. Thomas A. Coupe, sales vice-president, said the NEW Ramblers "reconfirm our confidence in the compact concept as the dominant single force in the automobile industry."

"Despite advance predictions that there would be some new size race in 1963, with Rambler in it, we continue to be committed to the commonsense approach to car design," Coupe said. "We believe in an optimum balance between convenient over-all exterior size and full family roominess inside, and balanced gasoline economy and modern performance."

"We continue to be committed also to styling stability and continuity, and to the avoidance of change merely for the sake of change. Our new look does not result simply from surface changes but from new bone and muscle underneath. Even the curved side glass which contributes importantly to Rambler's new luxury look has practical value in increased visibility and interior room and reduced wind noise."

Coupe said that "one of the by-products of our new unit body construction is increased wheelbase without increased over-all length." "While wheelbase is not the design-controlling factor it once was in the automobile industry, the design that permitted us to move up from 108 inches to 112 offers definite advantages in roominess," he said.

Cotton Producers Launch New Research Campaign

Reports on the launching of a new, hard-hitting cotton research and promotion campaign were cherring news for growers at an annual meeting of the Cotton Producers Institute at Lubbock recently.

At the same time, growers heard sobering words that U.S. cotton is in the worst competitive position it has ever experienced.

The meeting opened on an optimistic note by Roy Forkner, a Plains trustee for the Institute. He reported collections to date on the 1961 crop now total $1,341,411 -- well above the first-year minimum requirement of $1 million.

"This represents a new era for cotton growers," Forkner said. "They have demonstrated their belief in the soundness of the Institute and are willing to pay the cost of stepped-up research and promotion for cotton."

The plan is getting a greater response in all areas this year. Ginners and other groups are "going all out" to cooperate with growers in making it even stronger, explained Forkner, who also is a member of the trustee executive committee.

LeRoy Durham, trustee from Plainview, reported the ten-man group organized itself at an August meeting, and requested the National Cotton Council staff to prepare recommendations for specific research and promotion projects.

"These were considered at our September meeting. It was a tough job because so much more needs to be done than available funds would permit," Mr. Durham said.

"A total of $350,000 has been budgeted for 11 research projects. Our money will be roughly matched by outside funds, so in effect the Institute has initiated new research projects totaling some $600,000," he stated.

A television advertising campaign is budgeted at $1 million. It will concentrate on the late winter and spring season when textile sales are at their peak. Secondary efforts are scheduled.

West Texas Delegations Seek Sugar Beet Acreage

Holly Sugar Corporation has asked the Secretary of Agriculture to set aside 33,129 acres of a national sugar beet acreage reserve for a West Texas-eastern New Mexico area which would be served by a new beet sugar factory Holly proposes to construct in the Hereford-Dimmitt area by Sept. 1, 1964. The High Plains Sugar Beet Growers, Inc., Plainview, has also asked that its area to be given a sugar beet acreage reserve. Holly seeks 1964 allotment, along with four others. Plainview seeks 1965 allotment, along with about a dozen other areas. The High Plains group does not have a commitment for a processing factory in the area, but is working with Great Western Sugar Co., Plainview, in the request were the Texas Beet Growers Association with H. L. Benefield, Hereford, grower, as spokesman, and the Curry County (New Mexico) Beet Growers Association, represented by Howard B. Martin of Clovis.

Shoup testified that Holly has started engineering and design work under a contract with a major construction firm, and that it intends to initiate construction of the proposed West Texas factory as soon as a go-ahead is received from the Agriculture Secretary.

In his testimony today Shoup said that more than 900 farmers in the 4-county area to be served by the proposed new Holly factory has signed statements of intent to grow sugar beets for the new mill on more than 90,000 acres of irrigated land.

"Construction will proceed as soon as we have a green light from the Department of Agriculture assuring sufficient acreage to support an economic unit in West Texas," Shoup said, adding, "favorable action by the Secretary is all that is needed now."

Congressman W.R. Poage of Texas, vice-chairman of the House Committee on Agriculture and a recognized expert on national sugar legislation, made a stirring appeal at the hearing for Agriculture Department action which would open the way for construction of a beet sugar factory in Texas. Congressman Poage pointed out that the intent of Congress when the new sugar law was enacted was to encourage expansion of the beet sugar industry; and he marshaled telling arguments in favor of establishment of the industry in Texas, where there currently is no domestic sugar production aside from the refining of raw sugar brought in from out of state.

Benefield testified concerning the suitability of the West Texas area for the production of sugar beets and the great need for a cash crop to beef up the area's agricultural economy. Similar testimony in behalf of Curry County, N.M., was presented by Martin.

Department officials conducting the hearings said that about two dozen requests for acreage reserves set aside from this year through 1965 were expected to be received before the hearing closed, but it was indicated that a number of these was not associated with definite plans for construction of a processing plant.

There had been no definite word yet from Department officials about when determination of the acreage reserve commitments would be announced, but several of those who testified urged that an early decision be rendered so that planned projects could be carried out in the immediate future.

Texas Safety Assn. Warns Of Falls, Suffocation

The Texas Safety Association this week issued a special bulletin alerting Texans to the possibilities of accidental death from falls and suffocation.

J.O. Musick, general manager of TSA, said there has been a marked increase in these two types of accidents since 1960.

"Last year, 795 persons in Texas died from accidental falls and mechanical suffocation - an increase of 54 fatalities over the previous year," Musick said.

During the first five months of 1962, there were 306 fatalities from falls and suffocation reported to the Texas Department of Health's vital statistics division.

Musick said other preliminary reports indicate the 1962 fatalities will go over the 800 mark, "if, in the next three months, Texans do not become more safety-conscious, especially in the home."

The safety director, who pointed out that excluding motor vehicle fatalities, falls are the leading cause of accidental death in Texas, said there were 662 fatalities from falls in 1961 - an increase of 36 fatalities over the previous year.

"Of the 662 fatalities, 378 occurred in the home," he added.

Fatalities from suffocation increased from 115 in 1960 to 133 in 1961. Eighteen deaths from mechanical suffocation were reported in the period from January 1 through May 31 of this year.

Last year there was a significant increase in accidental suffocation in bed and cradle - from 65 in 1960 to 80 in 1961. Seventy-five of the 80 fatalities occurred in the home.

Musick said parents should be alert for the possibilities of small babies suffocating.

"Suffocation is the leading cause of accidental death in the under age one group," he cited.

In addition to the increase of fatalities from falls and mechanical suffocation, Musick said there also was a large increase in the number of deaths caused by inhalation and ingestion of food and other objects causing obstruction or suffocation.

"Fatalities from inhalation and ingestion of food increased by 33. There were 88 fatalities in 1960 and 121 in 1961. Forty-seven of the 1961 deaths occurred in the home," he reported.

Musick labeled this increase "alarming" and explained that food obstruction is second only to mechanical suffocation in the causes of accidental death for children under age one.

Inhalation and ingestion of objects other than food brought death to 35 persons in 1961, an increase of eight fatalities over 1960. Of the 35 deaths, nine were in the home.

"While suffocation and obstruction are the leading causes of accidental death for children under age one in Texas, falls are the leading cause of fatalities among our senior citizens," Musick said.

Falls cause more deaths among persons over age 75 than any other accident, and are second only to motor vehicle deaths among the age group from ages 65 to 74.

Musick, who has been working in the safety field for over 25 years, appealed to parents to take special precautions with babies, seeing that they do not become entangled in bed covers or strangled on their feedings.

He urged all Texas to be alert for falls such as those which caused 662 fatalities in Texas last year.

"Loose objects, highly-waxed floors, slippery bath tubs, faulty stairs, broken walks and uncovered holes--these things are causing unnecessary fatalities, especially among our senior citizens," he concluded.

Drivers Warned Of Drug Use

Drugs which relieve nasal congestion and combat allergies can contribute to traffic accidents, the Texas Safety Association warned today.

"It all depends on how these drugs affect the driver," TSA General Manager J.O. Musick said.

He explained that while relieving physical discomfort, such drugs may cause side effects such as inattention, confusion and drowsiness.

Musick emphasized that all persons do not experience side effects, but that those who do "certainly should not be driving a motor vehicle."

"A motorist driving under the influence of such drugs can be as genuine a threat in traffic as a person driving under the influence of alcohol," he explained.

Musick labeled the combination of drugs and alcohol in traffic "double-suicide."

The safety director noted that as the pollen count increases during the fall and people seek relief from the "sniffles," there will be more danger of accidents from the side effects of drugs.

He urged motorists under the care of a physician to heed his advice about driving while taking drugs and advised those persons making across-the-counter purchases of drugs to take note of warnings on labels concerning side effects.

"If a drug produces side effects, do not drive a motor vehicle -- the life you save may be your own," he concluded.

The talk and demonstrations which followed were part of the observance of Safety Week. Posters calling attention to the week have been displayed the past several days throughout the high school building.

School Paper YWA Elects Is Planned New Officers

Paul Hernandez, vice-president, presided over a meeting of the Olton Student Council Friday.

The group made arrangements for flowers to be sent to David Howton who is ill.

The Student Council voted to publish a school paper. Committees appointed in the interest of the paper consisted of Gladys Thomas, George Phillips, Tanya Bryant, and Elaine Lewis on one committee; and Ronnie Parsons, Neil Burrow, Elaine Lewis and Lindy Ray on another committee.

In another meeting of the Student Council held Tuesday, Charlie T. Burrus, president, presided.

Upon the recommendation of one of the committees appointed Friday, the school paper will be published every three weeks.

George Jones, Leon Kendall and Suzanne Martin were appointed to investigate the different Student Council pins on the market and to recommend one to be purchased by the Student Council members.

In other action taken Tuesday, it was decided to have only one float representing the entire high school in the Homecoming Parade. A committee consisting of Tanya Bryant, Darwin Cox, Don Sopher and Charlie Burrus will make further arrangements concerning floats for the parade.

MUSTANG LINEBACKER LEON KENDALL put the stopper on Hale Center's Danny Oliver in this action during the third quarter. Other Mustangs are Robert Struve (60), Johnny Moses (38) and Billy Carson (64).

Ponies Score Early, Roll To 31-8 Victory Over Hale Center Owls

Olton's Mustangs struck early for a pair of touchdowns, then relied on the passing of frosh quarterback Joe Priest and the running of halfback Ronnie Parsons to run up a 31-8 victory over the Hale Center Owls here Friday night.

About 1,500 fans saw the Mustangs grab two quick TD's, then tack on one each in the last three periods. Hale Center moved to its only touchdown late in the fourth quarter.

Parsons led the touchdown parade with two scores, one on a fancy 39-yard run and the other on a 14-yard aerial from Priest.

Priest got one score himself on an end sweep that saw him go 25 yards to paydirt. George Jones and Johnny Moses picked up the other Olton scores on short blasts.

Young Priest had his top night of the year, running for 90 yards on 13 carries and passing for 79 on four completions in five tries.

Parsons had 45 yards in five trips for the night, most of it on his fine touchdown run.

The first quarter was action filled for the Ponies, as they turned a bad snap from center and a fumble into touchdowns.

Four plays after the kick-off, the snap sailed over Owl Punter Freddie Weil's head. A gang of tacklers, led by Joe Costello, nabbed him at the Owl 17.

Moses got the Mustangs a first down at the seven, then carried in from the two three plays later, Jones' run for the extra points was stopped and the Ponies led, 6-0, with 8:28 left in the first period.

Just 34 seconds later the Mustangs had another touchdown.

The Owls' Dennis Jones fumbled the kick-off and Moses recovered at the 25.

After the first down play gained nothing, Priest came wide to the right, turned the corner behind fine blocking and sailed for Olton's second score. Jones' kick for the point was good, but a penalty rubbed it out, and a passing try failed.

Behind 12-0, Hale Center captured a Moses fumble later in the first period and took over at the Olton 35.

Quarterback Gary Douglas put on a fine exhibition, running 11 yards to the Olton 24, then passing 16 yards to Dennis Jones at the Mustang 8. Douglas then ripped to the four, where he was nailed by Pony End Robert Struve.

Danny Oliver then gave it the fourth down try, but Olton's Dennis Givens and Charlie Burrus stopped him at the one.

After Olton took over, Jones quick-kicked 49 yards to mid-field.

Hale Center came roaring back, with Weil picking up a first down at the Olton 39 and Oliver getting another at the 25. Two plays later, Olton's Jones intercepted a Douglas pass and the Mustangs again had defended the Owls.

From there, the Olton 14, the Mustangs drove all the way to a score. The drive took 13 plays and about seven minutes of playing time in the second period.

Priest got it started with a 24-yard run to the Olton 39, and then Jones tackled on five more. There Olton ran into a holding penalty, moving the ball back to the 30.

Priest passed to End Clyde Galloway on a play that covered 26 yards and the Mustangs were in business with a first down at the Owl 44.

Once again a holding penalty held up the drive, so Priest passed to End Darrel Glover on a play that covered 19 yards to the Hale Center 40.

Then the frosh signal-caller ran for 16, and three plays later passed to Galloway with a 20-yarder to the Owl three. Jones carried it in for a TD, then stepped back and kicked the extra point to put Olton ahead, 19-0, with 4:28 left in the half.

The teams traded punts until the half, and then started out doing the same thing in the third period, until about midway in the quarter.

The Mustangs' versatile Jones returned a punt 19 yards to the Hale Center 46 and Olton rolled from there.

Priest picked up 14 and seven on two key runs, but the Mustangs bogged down at the Owl 14. Facing a fourth and seven situation, Priest passed to Parsons for the touchdown and Olton led, 25-0, with 1:30 left in the third quarter.

Two minutes later, after the Ponies forced a Hale Center punt, Olton went to work at the Owl 43. Joe Costello ran for four, and then Parsons ran off tackle, slipping away from a linebacker, and streaked 39 yards for a score.

Jones' kick was no good and it was Olton by 31-0 with 11 minutes left in the game.

Hale Center took the kick-off and came out to the Owl 39. From there, the Owls drove the 61 yards to score.

An Olton personal four gave the Owls a first down at the Olton 40, and two plays later Hale Center's Mark Laney passed to Dennis Jones on a play that carried to the Olton 20.

Oliver came through with a key 13-yard run to the Olton three and a moment later, Laney crossed over from the one. Douglas ran the extra points and the score was 31-8, Olton, with about seven minutes left.

The rest of the game was a battle between the 30-yard lines, with neither team threatening seriously.

Defensive standouts for Olton were Struve, Leon Kendall, Costello, Burrus, Billy Carson, Jimmy Bennett, Givens, Moses and Jones.

OLTON TOUCHDOWN---Fullback Johnny Moses drives in low for Olton's first touchdown against the Hale Center

Owls here Friday night. The Mustangs rolled on to a 31-8 victory, bringing their season record to 2-2.

JUNIOR HALFBACK Ronnie Parsons stepped lively on this play but he couldn't evade the onrushing Hale Center tacklers and the play went for no gain. Parsons had a good night overall however.

OLTON'S JOE PRIEST, after running the option play with George Jones (11), kept and gained 24 yards on this play in the second quarter of Olton's 31-8 victory over Hale Center. Priest gained 90 yards on 13 carries to lead the Olton attack.

Punt, Pass, Kick Contest Announced By Hall-Sides

The second annual Punt, Pass and Kick competition for locally grade school football enthusiasts has been announced by Hall-Sides Motors.

"PP&K" pits the punting, passing and place-kicking skills of boys seven through 11 against all other participants of the same age. The program attracted 205,000 youngsters in the nation last year, when it was launched, and was cited by President John F. Kennedy for its contribution to "the physical fitness of our youth."

Registrations for this year's PP&K competition are being taken here at Hall-Sides all of this month.

Top prize for the 10 national finalists -- one in each age group from both the Eastern and Western Division team areas--will be an all expense paid Tour of Champions for the youths and their parents Dec.

26-30. It will begin with a two-day visit to Washington, D.C., which will be highlighted by a special tour of the White House. From Washington, the group will be flown for a two-day visit to the city in which this year's National Football League championship game will be played Dec. 30. The Eastern Division titlists will be this year's NFL championship game hosts.

At the halftime of the title game, before the overflow crowd that traditionally attends NFL championship games, the two finalists in each age group from the Eastern and Western Divisions will square off for national honors. In a ceremony immediately following this competition, NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle will present the five national winners footballs autographed by the two teams competing for the title and trophies symbolic of their national championships.

First phase of the Punt, Pass and Kick program is competition in local contests, sponsored by Ford dealers with the cooperation of the NFL. With some 5,000 such contests likely to be held, 75,000 prizes will be awarded to winners of local competitions. First prize will be a warm-up jacket, while football helmets and autographed footballs will be the second and third prizes.

Total scores, based on distance and accuracy of their punts, passes and place kicks, will determine the winners.

From among those competing in local contests, five boys -- one each in the seven through 11 age group -- will be named regional winners in each of the 14 NFL team television coverage areas. These 70 youths will display their PP&K prowess at the halftime of designated November or December NFL games of their home teams, and from them will emerge the 10 who qualify for the Tour of Champions and the show-down competition for national honors at the NFL championship game.

The 70 regional winners will receive junior NFL uniforms.

After the local competitions, special trophies will be awarded in each state to the boys who compiled the highest point total in their age bracket statewide.

At the White House during the 1961 Tour of Champions, the five national champions received autographed photographs of President Kennedy and letters in which the President commended them on their PP&K achievements.

In a letter to Pete Rozelle and the Ford dealers of America, the President commended the co-sponsors of PP&K, stating: "Programs of this type will enable our youth to build the energy and strength that are their American heritage."

Bankruptcy Laws Permit Honest Debtor New Start

In bygone days when a man got himself hopelessly into debt, the courts would jail him until he paid. Or, as in our colonial days a man became an "indentured" servant, and would come to America to work off his debt.

Neither jail or servitude proved practical. A man in jail could not earn anything to pay his debts. It was drastic -- something like the Siberian salt mines -- to send a man to serve for years across the seas.

Through hard luck, illness, easy credit, impulse buying, or shifts in world affairs, man and woman may find themselves hopelessly in debt.

Our bankruptcy laws aim to permit an honest but unlucky or weak debtor to turn over a new leaf. They allow him to file a voluntary petition in bankruptcy. He accounts for all of his property and turns it over for his creditors' benefit. The court sets up machinery to get as much of their money back as possible.

The court then adjudges the man a bankrupt. This means, with some exceptions, that the court will discharge him of his debts. Any income he gets after that time cannot be reached in court to pay his old debts.

Debtors may try to gain in ways not intended by the bankruptcy laws. If so, creditors may object. Besides, the courts may deal drastically with such debtors under our criminal laws.

Under the bankruptcy laws, a man is not required to surrender to his creditors certain items. In this State they usually include the family stove, refrigerator, radio, wearing apparel, working tools of one's trade and certain other items which vary with each individual case.

Even though items may be exempt from the creditors in bankruptcy, however, if they were purchased under a conditional sales contract, the unpaid seller may nevertheless repossess such goods despite a bankruptcy; so, too, the holder of a chattel mortgage on such goods may require them to be turned over to him.

Organ Concert Is Scheduled

An organ concert by Cecil Bolton, concert organist and teacher of organ and piano of Lubbock is scheduled Monday Oct. 8 at 8 p.m. in the auditorium of Wayland College, Plainview.

There is no admission fee, but a free will offering will be taken by the Organ Society, Plainview chapter of the National Hammond Organ Society, who is sponsoring the concert.

Bolton's selections will include Bach-Fugue in D Major, Bonnet-Song Without Words, Dubois-Tocatta in G, and special arrangements of Bells of St. Mary's and Smoke Gets In your Eyes.

Bolton has a master's degree in organ and in piano from the American Conservatory of Music, Chicago, and is now studying there for Doctor of Musical Arts Degree in organ.

He is director of Lubbock College of Music and, in the past, was head of the piano department at Southwestern Baptist Seminary in Fort Worth.

He is a pupil of Dr. Leo Sowerby and Marcel Dupre of Paris, France.

Floyd Crawford Appointed To FHA Committee

Floyd Crawford of Springlake has been appointed as a member of the three-man Lamb County Farmers Home Administration Committee, the agency's County Supervisor Truman J. Jones has announced. The appointment is for three years, which began July 1.

Crawford succeeds Carl C. Keeling, whose term expired this year. The other two members serving with Crawford are Troy O. Moss and Albert Lockwood, both of Littlefield.

Careful Handling Means Better Seed And Plants

The manner in which seed is handled during harvesting, processing, and storage can have a marked effect on the condition of the seed and the resulting performance of the variety when planted, according to Lee C. Coffey, department of soil and crop sciences, Texas A&M College.

Harvesting of the seed when they are too wet or too dry or with a combine operating too fast or with one that is incorrectly adjusted can literally beat the life out of the seed, he adds.

Seed are less easily damaged during harvesting, cleaning, and grading if these operations are done when the moisture content is higher than desirable for safe storage. However, artificial drying is necessary if high moisture seed are harvested, says Coffey.

Fumigation is another process that may lower the seed's performance. If seed are too wet or the temperature is too high the germination of the seed will probably be harmed. Also the vigor of the plants and the germination of the seed will be affected if they are fumigated too long in fumigant of too high a concentration, according to Coffey. Hydrogen cyanide or carbontetrachloride are less detrimental to germination than others but methyl bromide usually decreases germination, he adds.

The speed of the combine cylinder should not be any faster than needed to thresh or shell the seed, Coffey says. Conveyors should be run at speeds lower than normally used for the processing of feed grain and devices should be installed to reduce the impact of the seed falling into bins and hoppers, he adds.

Seed keep best in a cool, dry atmosphere and Coffey recommends treating the dry seed with a fungicide before storing. This will prevent the entrance of disease through cracks in the seed coat, he explains.

But an unbroken seed coat is still the best protection for seed and careful harvesting will mean fewer damaged seed, Coffey concludes.

WILL BECOME LAKE -- The entire area shown from the dam to the bottom of this picture will be completely covered with water when the Brady watershed is completed and sufficient rains fall on the surrounding area. This large multi-purpose dam will provide a sufficient and economical source of water for the city of Brady and recreational facilities for the area. Note the black structure in the upper center of the photo (arrow) and the inset picture, a closeup of the concrete drain and inlet for the supply for the city. (Littlefield Press Photo)

Providing for the Present ... Planning for the Future!

OVERALL PROJECT EXPLAINED -- Above is a huge sign on the court house square in Brady which explains the entire watershed project. The project was explained to the residents of the five counties in the Running Water Draw area who were present Wednesday for the air tour to the Brady project. Those from the county attending were Major James, Bob Duncan, H.A. Hysinger, Aubrey Osborn and Melvin McReynolds, all of Olton; Guy Daugherty of Earth; Billy Clayton and James Washington of Springlake, and J.B. Davis, L.D. Aten, Paul Larson and David Penn of Littlefield.

Possibility Of Large Lake In Lamb County

The possibilities of having a large recreational and water reservoir in Lamb County are "better than average." The reason being the soil conservation program for construction of a small watershed project on the Running Water Draw creek. Although the stream is intermittent -- filled only when rains fall on its watershed -- it has at times caused considerable flooding along its course. When the flooding has occurred there has been considerable loss of top soil from crop land and additional loss to personal property in the Plainview area. Because of this flooding and the losses -- almost $2 million in Plainview in 1960 -- the Soil Conservation Service proposed that a watershed project be considered for the stream. The project as it now stands will be financed by the Federal Government under Public Law 566.

As created, the watershed project will consist of several earthen dams designed to hold a 250 acre foot reservoir with a flooding capacity of 5000 acre feet. These structures can be enlarged should any local government body desire on a 50-50 cost basis between the local government and the federal government, on the difference between the original size and the expanded lake.

What is the value of such a project to Lamb County? The values are many including the possibility of a water source for one of the county towns located near the area... Earth, Olton, and Springlake. Other values would be a close-at-home recreational facility large enough for fishing, boating and water skiing. Another value, the principal reason for the project in the first place, is to eliminate the loss of valuable top soil caused by flooding along the course of the stream.

How many acres will be needed to create the flood dam? This figure varies from 40 to 50 acres at the 250 acre foot level to 75 to 150 acres at the 5,000 acre foot flood level. However, if one of the dams were to be increased by a local government for recreational or water supply source, the number of acres would also increase.

How is the land obtained for use in the project? There are two ways and include the individual land owner or owners giving an easement for the required land needed and by purchase by a local government agency. If an easement is given by the land owner, the pond and project remain on private property. If the land is purchased by a local government, the property becomes public property and this available to the public for use.

Would such a project be feasible for Lamb County? Feasibility of this project is manifold. First, Lamb County, like all of West Texas, is in need of additional water sources as water becomes more and more necessary for existence in this area. Second, Lamb Countians spend thousands of dollars each year for boats, fishing gear and travel to and from lakes for recreation. The old saying, "that Lamb County is located right in the middle of the best fishing and boating country... 300 miles in any direction," is true as the water sportsmen and women can attest.

Indeed, instead of the water enthusiasts from the county going somewhere to enjoy their sport, many outside water fans would come into the county for their pleasure.

But to every good thing there must be a price. If the structure is to be enlarged, one of the local governments must sponsor the project. They must be ready to pay half the cost of the enlargement and maintain the dam after it is completed. In addition, if the land owner does not want to give the easement, the land must be purchased.

Brady, in central Texas, is in the process of completing a multi-purpose conservation project. The dam and lake created there are going to be boon to this otherwise staid community. The people there are enthusiastic about the project and voted a bond to insure its success.

The people of Plainview are also enthused about the project. They have taken the necessary steps to assure the success of the project. It may not seem vital at this time for the well being of the area... but no one will deny the value of water to this area, whether it be underground or as a lake. The time is now, not tomorrow, to begin plans for support of the project. David Penn-- Littlefield Press
