

Comparing Democratic, GOP Platforms

AUSTIN

Savoring the possibility of a Republican governor, the Texas GOP took more pains with their platform at Fort Worth than has been their custom. The result is an opportunity for voters to compare, subject by subject, the professed programs of the Connally Democrats and the Cox Republicans.

In general, the Connally platform contemplates an expanding state that will necessarily entail some expansion of government in such areas as health, welfare, and parks. The Cox platform is friendly to government action that will help business, but does not anywhere mention health, welfare, or parks at the state level.

JOHN CONNALLY originally took a no-new-taxes line, but his platform does not, and in recent public statements by the Democratic nominee, this former position has diminished to a "hope." The Cox platform says, "We favor a reduction in taxes through decreased government expenditures."

The platforms contain many platitudes and generalities that are similar; they are barely distinguishable on taxation, economy, oil and gas, tourism, and new industry.

Connally's labor plank favors the right-to-work law, but would provide an industrial safety program, a Bureau of Labor, and more vocational education. Cox's platform upholds the right of workers to organize and bargain collectively and proposes a labor-management desk in state government, but opposes the closed shop, which is what the right-to-work law in effect prohibits.

Neither the Connally Democrats nor the Cox Republicans mention integration, civil rights, civil liberties, natural resources taxation, the Wheatley's conditional gift of 5,000 acres for a state park, or legislative approval of the Congress-approved Padre Island national seashore area.

Programs supported by the Connally group, not mentioned by the Republicans, include support for "constitutional programs authorizing the creation of local hospital districts . . .

and increased state spending for needy aged, needy children, blind, and disabled";

Continued outpatient care for mental cases; expanded vocational rehabilitation for the disabled; assistance to the aged; more officers for the juvenile parole system;

Loan shark control; rehabilitation and development of existing state parks, providing "utility, sanitation, and shelter facilities adequate to accommodate Texans and tourists," consideration for long range park needs, and increases in roadside parks and boat launching ramps.

The Texas Republicans associate themselves with the far-right on many national and international issues. On such issues the Connally platform is silent.

The Republican convention adopted en toto Senator Tower's eight points for conservatives: "complete and clear-cut victory over communism," states' rights, a labor anti-trust law, a free farm market without controls, the selling of government businesses that compete with free enterprise, opposition to the freer trade bill, taxation of cooperatives the same as private corporations, and a mandatory balanced federal budget.

IN ADDITION, the Republicans upheld the status quo in medical care and opposed Medicare; favored "resignation from the UN," passage of the Bricker amendment, opposed "the transfer of our armed forces to any world government authority," and were so little disposed to entertain thoughts of disarmament they condemned the requiring of the registration of small arms because this would "pave the way toward total disarmament."

They proposed the dismantling, in effect, of federal regulatory agencies to eliminate "the meddling of bureaucrats in the American Free Enterprise System." Specifically they advocated "removal of the regulation of natural gas prices from the authority of the Federal Power Commission."

Their resolution on Cuba can be read as advocacy of war on Cuba. "We urge," they said, "an aggressive, positive, and immediate action to remove from the Western Hemisphere the Russian threat to hemispheric security." Senator Goldwater, endorsed by the convention for President, "emphasizes the principles of the Republican Party of Texas," they said; he "is the leader of the true Republican cause." Cox, they resolved, gives voters a choice "as between the socialist ADA, New Frontier on the one hand, and constitutional government on the other."

The Connally Democrats' generalizations sound more liberal than the general drift of their programs; there is a consistent right-wing ring to the Republicans' generalizations and particulars.

THE REPUBLICANS in their platform's preamble speak of "our founding fathers," "individual liberty," "thrift, incentive, and free enterprise." It is short and simple.

The Democrats preamble all over the place. "In 1970," they say, "we must provide almost 800,000 new jobs for our rapidly growing population. To make this growth possible, we must provide a favorable climate for business, industry, agriculture, and labor" (a variation on Gov. Daniel's "favorable business climate"). Efficient government, they say, "is essential to effective services in such areas as education, health, sanitation, resource development, roads, recreation, and law enforcement. Most of all, the government must be responsive to the people, their needs, their hopes, their progress."

The closest thing to a national reference in the Democratic platform are the sentences, "The Democratic Party is the party of the people. This is its greatest claim to its continued stewardship."

The Democrats' plank on local self government is a rewrite of the original Stevenson simplicity that states' rights entail states' responsibilities. Arguing that the lowest unit of government that can handle a problem, should, the platform adds, "A positive and active approach is necessary to guarantee this principle. In those areas of state responsibility, such as health, education, welfare, etc., where action is needed, we must act decisively and effectively. Only by such action and a positive approach can we prevent the extension of federal power in areas of state responsibility."

The platforms further compared:

EDUCATION

Democrats
Increase excellence in all areas. Attract more nationally eminent college professors.

A separate board of trustees for each teachers' college, rather than the present one board for all six of them, to let each trustee be more conversant with his school's problems.

Develop fully the gifted child. Emphasize communications—reading, writing, and speaking—in the early grades.

Expand foreign language programs; encourage participation in pre-school English classes for Latin-American students, "affording them an equal start in English when they begin school in the first grade."

Expand adult night school programs, academic and vocational; expand vocational education programs in general.

Republicans

Affirmative support for higher education.

"Revision of the economic index pertaining to the Foundation School Program so that Agriculture, the Oil & Mining Industries, Manufacturing, and General Business are all considered on an equal basis."

"Teachers are entitled to exercise rights of citizenship in participating in political affairs."

LABOR

Democrats
Retain the right to work law. Set minimum standards for industrial safety; educate labor and business on the subject.

Correct any inequities in the prevailing wage program.

Create a Bureau of Labor, abolish the Bureau of Labor Statistics.

Increase job opportunities for people forty and older.

Republicans

"No person should be forced to join any organization as a requirement for employment." (That is, no closed shop.)

Strict adherence to the law giving labor a man on the Texas Employment Commission.

A desk for labor-management problems in the Attorney General's office.

"Labor Antitrust Law.—Union activities which lessen competition or establish monopolies in the marketplace should be prohibited by law."

TAXATION

Democrats
Retain the sales tax. Simplify it for businessmen, clarify it, and "eliminate inequities."

Republicans

"We oppose vehemently a state income tax."

GOVERNMENT ECONOMY

Democrats
A constitutional requirement for pay-as-you-go. Deficit financing opposed.

Efficiency and economy. Centralize capitol area housekeeping.

Create a commission on executive organization like the Hoover Commission.

Republicans

End deficit spending. Balance the budget.

A bipartisan little Hoover Commission on economy.

POLITICS

Democrats
Limit a governor to two consecutive two-year terms. Remove him from certain state boards. Give him more budget authority.

Eliminate the poll tax; substitute a stronger voter registration law.

Require run-offs so that winners must get majorities.

Relieve absentee voters of "undue financial burdens."

Honest elections.

Republicans

A secret ballot; prevent fraud.

Submit a constitutional amendment, whether to abolish the poll tax; but reject the federal constitutional amendment to abolish it.

Let no man run for more than one office at once.

"A responsible two-party system." Redistrict the Texas House "to establish individual legislative districts within counties whose population justifies more than one legislator."

VOTE BILL CLAYTON---YOUR VOICE IN STATE GOVERNMENT

FOR STATE REPRESENTATIVE, 91st DISTRICT

Drivers Told To Winterize Attitudes

"Winterize your driving attitude" - is the advice handed Texans today by J.O. Musick, general manager of the Texas Safety Association.

Musick, queried on how motorists can best prepare for the hazards of winter driving, said staying out of trouble in traffic often depends on the driver's attitude.

"This is especially true of winter driving. While winter driving demands more skill, it takes a greater amount of patience," Musick said.

The safety director who is of the school that "accidents don't just happen, they are caused" said the driver who loses his temper in traffic is "asking for it."

He labels speeders and tail-gaters as the safety offenders that are the most likely to cause trouble in traffic during bad weather.

"These drivers are so anxious to get ahead of the next fellow, they do not even stop to consider the existing conditions," he added.

"What they fail to recognize is that while they are growling about 'the way the other guy drives,' they forget how to drive safely themselves."

Musick said another key to safe and skillful driving during bad weather is keeping a proper speed at all times so you can avoid sudden stops and starts.

"Look ahead and watch your speed so that when a traffic situation requires slowing down or turning, you can do so gradually," he continued.

"Apply brakes gently - not hard enough to slide the wheels. Use the gas pedal lightly. At the first sign of a rear wheel spin, ease off the gas."

He also said that following distances should be increased.

"Stopping distances are much longer on slippery surfaces. If the driver ahead makes a sudden stop on dry pavement you may have to stop on an icy surface. Be prepared for such circumstances."

Among other things Musick advises motorists to do for safe driving in bad weather is to keep automobile windows clean and clear for good visibility.

"Be sure wiper blades are in good condition and arm pressure is adequate. Replace blades if they streak and make sure your defroster will clear away fogging and ice," he said.

Musick emphasized that now is the time to give motor vehicles a good safety check for winter.

"Tires should have enough tread left for good traction, particularly in snow, and brakes should be adjusted with linings free of grease and dirt."

He warned that a rusty, leaking muffler or exhaust pipe can be a carbon monoxide hazard, especially if an automobile is held up in traffic or stalled in bad weather.

Seepage of gas into a car is more likely to occur when the engine is running and the car is standing still. A car idling in a garage can produce enough carbon monoxide to make the air deadly in a few minutes," he explained.

"Motorists should get plenty of fresh air when driving and should keep in mind that carbon monoxide poisoning can make a person helpless before he realizes he is affected."

The director said safety experts highly endorse the use of automobile seat belts at all times, but pointed out they are of added value when driving on rain-slick or icy roads.

Why all the talk now about ice and snow in Texas?

Musick says anyone who has lived in Texas a couple of winters, can answer that question.

"In Texas, we enjoy many Indian summer days, but it doesn't take an old timer or a meteorologist to know that a Texas-size 'blue norther' can blow in any time and tie up plenty of traffic. Especially in Texas, a driver has to be prepared for sudden changes in weather," he concluded.

Connally Said To Be 'Confident'

John Connally is moving forward in his campaign for governor, telling voters about his program, cutting away at his opponent's statements, and feeling "confident" about the election's outcome.

Connally laid out his program before the Dallas League of Women Voters and said, "I don't believe in picking up your marbles and going home just because you don't get your own way." The reference supposedly was to Cox's defection from the Democratic Party after an unsuccessful race for governor.

In El Paso, Gene Locke, Connally's campaign manager and chairman of the State Democratic Executive Committee, announced that Connally is holding a two and a half to one lead in El Paso and is leading throughout the state.

In Connally's Fort Worth rally, he deplored the "ram-paging fanaticism of those who would deny the right of freedom of expression." He said hundreds of his campaign signs were torn down in Dallas.

In Dallas, Connally poked fun at his opponent's talk about states rights -- inasmuch as "the Republicans at the same time were calling for Federal supervision to prevent fraud at the polls."

Establishment of a foreign relations service school in one of the Texas colleges or universities was proposed at Houston by Connally, who said: "There is no logical reason why all our foreign service career officers should be trained in the East. Such a school in Texas would bring beneficial results to our state, the nation, and our relations with our neighbors, particularly in Mexico, Central, and South America."

Dimmitt Raps Ponies In 3-AA Tilt, 22-2

Olton fans had little to talk about except a couple of two-point plays this week after Dimmitt's Bobcats stifled the Mustangs, 22-2, in the District 3-AA opener for both teams here last Friday night.

The Bobcats were on the rebound from a 12-6 loss to Floydada and the Mustangs were still feeling their oats from their upset 21-20 victory over Tulia the previous week.

That combination made it a poor night for Olton as the thoroughly outplayed Mustangs fell behind in the first quarter and were unable to go on a field left muddied by recent soaking rains.

Dimmitt scored just before the end of the first period, then tacked on another touchdown just before the half, leading 14-0 at that juncture.

The two talked-about two-point plays came at the start and end of the second half. Olton had the benefit of the first decision. The Mustangs kicked off to Dimmitt's Steve Hutton, a reserve quarterback, who took the ball at the Bobcat five.

Hutton surprised everybody, including the officials, by stepping into the end zone and going to one knee.

After a moment's hesitation, the officials ruled it a safety, making the scoreboard read 14-2, Dimmitt.

The Bobcat apparently figured he was making a touch-back, which would have given Dimmitt the ball at the 20.

That was all the scoring until the clock showed only nine seconds left in the game when Dimmitt tallied again.

With the score 20-2, the Bobcats attempted to kick an extra point, Olton linebacker George Jones rushed in and blocked the attempt, the ball sailing off to the side.

Dimmitt quarterback Jimmy Ratcliff ran over, picked up the ball and darted into the end zone, unchallenged.

As the teams lined up for the kick-off, the officials went into a huddle with Dimmitt players and ruled Ratcliff's run a two-pointer.

That brought a howl from the Mustang stands and later, in the dressing rooms, the official who called the play said it should not stand, that the ball was dead after the kick was blocked.

However, Olton school officials said this week it was their understanding the ball game ended with the score 22-2 and it would have taken an official protest within 24 hours to have it changed. No such protest was made.

So, the score apparently stands at 22-2, as a matter of record.

The Mustangs had one chance to put the pressure on the bobcats. The opportunity came early in the second half, with the Bobcats in command, 14-2.

Olton advanced to the Bobcat 31, as Halfback Jones picked up nine yards on two carries and Joe Costello and Joe Priest added three yards apiece.

Facing fourth down at the Dimmitt 31, Priest lofted a beautiful pass to Ronnie Parsons in the end zone, but the Mustang pass-catcher couldn't hold onto the heavy, slippery ball.

The Ponies never were able to come that close again as Dimmitt's stout defensive experts took command.

Olton got the ball only twice in the first half and the Mustangs had a minus eight yards rushing for the first two periods.

The Ponies fared little better in the second half, gaining a plus 31 yards on the ground, making it plus 23 for the night. Olton had 52 yards in the air.

Meanwhile, Dimmitt was rolling up 296 yards on the ground, making it plus 23 for ground as the Bobcats played ball control.

It was clear at the start that the Mustangs weren't at their best as Dimmitt, sparked by fullback James Cowell, began to roll.

The Bobcats marched 57 yards in 15 plays the second time they got the ball. Halfback Roy Battles got the TD from the three, but it was Cowell who put the Dimmitt 11 in position, Cowell ran 16 yards on four key plays.

On Dimmitt's second touchdown drive, which went 61 yards in 10 plays, Cowell romped for short gains, then scored from 14 yards out. After the second TD, Ratcliff pass to end Mike Calvert for the extra points that put Dimmitt into a 14-0 lead.

Following Olton's threatening gesture early in the second half, Dimmitt continued to move, but the Mustangs stiffened their defenses.

The stubborn Ponies thwarted one Bobcat drive at the Olton 19 in the third period.

Early in the fourth period, still behind 14-2, the Mustangs took advantage of a pass interference call and moved to the Dimmitt 46.

A couple of plays later, Priest passed complete to End Clyde Gallaway, who slipped through Dimmitt tacklers down to the Bobcat 20. An offside penalty against the Ponies rubbed out that play.

Priest's fourth down pass to Gallaway two plays later carried to the Dimmitt 35, short of a first down.

Dimmitt had a touchdown called back in the fourth period, when Cowell intercepted a Priest pass and rolled 45 yards for an apparent score. A clipping penalty rubbed out the run.

A few plays later, Olton's

TOUCHDOWN---Although seemingly stopped short of the goal line Dimmitt's Jacky Nichols managed to bull his way through his band of Mustangs just nine seconds before the game ended. The three-yard run for the TD was followed by a disputed extra points attempt.

for the game ended. The three-yard run for the TD was followed by a disputed extra points attempt.

INTERCEPTION---Olton's Ronnie Parsons returns an intercepted pass 21 yards in the second quarter of Olton's 22-2 loss to Dimmitt.

DIMMITT'S JIM COWSERT is pictured with the ball as Olton's Robert Struve (60) and Jimmy Bennett close in on him. The other identifiable Mustang is Jerry LaFrance (51). Cowsert picked up four yards on this play before he was nailed by Struve and Bennett.

TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN, Tex.--Enrollment at the 19 colleges and universities which are fully state-supported almost exactly doubled during the past decade. Texas Commission on Higher Education reports that registrations increased from 53,634 to 109,998, from 1952 to 1962. Head-count gain per school was:

- University of Texas, from 12,772 to 21,390;
- Texas Western College, 2,334 to 5,449;
- Texas A&M College, 6,277 to 8,126;
- Arlington State College, 1,258 to 9,116;
- Tarleton State College, 663 to 1,514;
- Prairie View A&M 2,491 to 3,282;
- Texas Tech, 5,160 to 11,181;
- North Texas State University, 4,422 to 9,921;
- Lamar State, 2,504 to 7,090;
- College of A&I, 1,928 to 3,517;
- Texas Woman's University, 1,767 to 2,979;
- Texas Southern University, 2,065 to 3,831;
- Midwestern University, 1,235 to 2,346;
- East Texas State College, 1,816 to 3,844;
- Sam Houston State, 1,603 to 5,270;
- Southwest Texas State, 1,562 to 3,463;
- West Texas State, 2,019 to 3,733;
- Stephen F. Austin, 1,217 to 2,737;
- Sul Ross, 541, to 1,199.

PAROLE SYSTEM--Confidence is expressed by officials that delinquents are being rehabilitated under the Texas parole system which was set in motion in 1957.

Program provided for an eventual organization of 70 parole officers which is now coming into being on schedule. Last 30 trainees, studying to take up their tasks, will complete the group whose activities are expected to reduce the work load for each parole officer in the field from 100 to 75 cases.

Parole system is under the direction of Ray W. Williams, acting in the absence, on leave, of Vincent O'Leary who is serving with the National Council on Crime and Delinquency.

Officials of the Pardon and Parole office feel the public doesn't fully appreciate the fact that, if Texas didn't have a parole system, prisoners would serve their time and be released without any supervision whatever.

LIBRARY JOB TAKEN--New assistant director of the rural library services division of the State Library is H. Kenneth Jackson of Fort Worth, former head of the Kilgore Public Library.

Jackson will be assisting Mrs. Emily H. Welty in promoting library development in areas not served by a public library.

POLIO COUNT--Latest polio count by the State Health Department showed 229 cases in Texas so far this year, with 174 of them paralytic.

Last year at the same time there were 29 paralytic cases on record. One new case each was recorded in Bexar and Coryell Counties.

A-G RULINGS--Rep. Don Kennard, chairman of the Texas House interim committee on migrant labor, has been advised by the attorney general that members serving on the committee may not receive State funds for travel reimbursement.

Kennard had asked for a legal opinion on the subject.

In another opinion, requested by Jerry Dellana, county attorney of Travis County, the attorney general held that motor boats are not permitted to be sold on Sunday.

TRUCK HEARING--Truck operators who have applied for permits to haul fruit and vegetables over the State were cross-examined by attorneys for common carriers at a hearing before a Railroad Commission examiner here.

Some felt the hearing would last until Christmas. It is a continuation of similar sessions held earlier at San Antonio, Lubbock and McAllen.

More than 130 operators are seeking the permits authorized by the Legislature in 1961. Common carriers oppose granting the permits on the ground that there is no need for them.

ESCHEAT LAW--Reports to the State treasury department indicate there is approximately $3,140,000 in personal property in Texas subject to the new escheat law.

So far the State has collected $108,000 through three suits. But 346 reports of this kind of property have been certified to the attorney general. Involved is $678,724 more.

It may turn out that the $3,140,000 estimate is too high, so far as the state's expectations of getting the money are concerned. This since a lot of owners of the property are being found.

In other instances it was discovered that some property is not subject to escheat, or at least not yet.

Seven years have to elapse before the State can make a claim. At this stage, it appears that the best "mining" country will be old meter deposits.

TEXAS GROWTH--Industrial growth of Texas in the next 15 years is being projected by the State Industrial Commission in a brochure called "Goals for Texans."

It will be several weeks before the brochure is finished and ready for distribution, but Commission officials feel it can be adapted to the needs of any area or community with benefits for all.

Commission based its plan on National Planning Association studies, and got assistance also from the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research.

But Herman, the station man, said you should have chains this winter.

That's stretching it a bit, but actually you can over emphasize safety. Get your car ready for the season ahead. We're ready to help you. . . so drive in.

Mahon Back At Office In Lubbock

LUBBOCK-- Representative George Mahon has returned to West Texas following the adjournment of Congress and reopened his Lubbock office. Mahon said that he would not remain in his Lubbock office regularly, but would visit about the 20-county Congressional District as much as possible.

In commenting on the recent Congressional session, Mahon said: "The international situation continues to be of major concern."

"The President under our constitution, not Congress, is responsible for the conduct of foreign affairs. Through the defense bill which I handle in the House, Congress has provided for a sharp increase in our military strength. We are in a position of unquestioned military superiority and the President can deal from a position of strength," Mahon said. Mahon noted that in hindsight the errors of former President Eisenhower and President Kennedy in handling the Cuban situation are obvious, but "the fixing of blame does not solve the problem."

"Congress," Mahon said, "did about all it could do in dealing with Cuba short of a declaration of war." "Castro must be eliminated," said Mahon, "and I voted to authorize the President to use all necessary force, including the armed services, in dealing with Cuba."

The President has announced that he will not permit Cuba to become a dangerous military base, Mahon pointed out. "I shall continue to do all I can toward a policy of strength and firmness in dealing with Cuba, Berlin and other trouble spots. Such a policy involves risks, but it is safer than a policy of weakness," Mahon declared.

Mahon declared.

The trade bill which Congress passed was, according to Mahon, a necessary reaction to the U.S. to the European Common Market and it should be helpful to this heavy cotton exporting area.

Mahon said he had renewed his protest over the proposed 10 per cent cut-back in the cotton allotment for next year. "It is my opinion," said Mahon, "that through legislation or otherwise, a way will be found early next year to prevent all or most of the decrease."

Mahon, without going into detail, said that in Congress this year he had continued his opposition to such proposals as federal aid to education, the federal medical care program, the Department of Urban Affairs.

"Major issues in the Congress were hard fought," Mahon said, "attesting to the vitality of the American system of government." He asserted that he had great faith in the strength and future of our country.

Voltage System Increased Here

Olton's electric distribution system has been changed from 2400 volts to 12,470 volts, Ralph Glover, manager for Southwestern Public Service Company, reported this week.

The result of this increase in the distribution system voltage is to make nearly 25 times as much power available to the company's Olton customers.

"We are ready for future growth in Olton, Electric power must be there ahead of the demand for it because we have the most perishable product in the world, it's used the very instant that it is made," Glover pointed out.

The new distribution system is served from the new substation erected last year in the west part of Olton.

A 14 man crew, supervised by Fred Clements, handled the distribution system improvement here in Olton.

The project is a part of the Southwestern Public Service Company expansion and improvement program which calls for more than $100,000,000 to be invested in the 45,000 square mile service area in the next five years.

Jack Cox is a real American. I have worked with Jack Cox in the American Legion and I know that he is dedicated to conserving the free enterprise which has made this nation so rich and powerful.

His objective in this campaign is to stop the federal government for usurping the rights of all individuals. He believes the state of Texas can better serve the citizens of Texas than can a centrally located all powerful government in Washington. Jack Cox told me that he did not leave the Democratic Party. The Democrats went off and LEFT him. He feels that he is now in the party which more closely supports the economy of free enterprise.

While Jack was a member of the Americanism Committee of the American Legion the organization requested the U.S. government to cease its "soft policy" toward Castro and further asked in 1960 that the "Monroe Doctrine" be enforced both "economically and militarily."

Jack Cox is very proud of the American Legion. I urge all of my friends to cast their votes Nov. 6 for
