Carriers to Deliver Livestock Cards

Rural Carriers across the state will leave livestock survey cards at random along their routes beginning Nov. 20. Information reported on these cards is used to set the yearly inventory of livestock and poultry on Texas farms. Since only an occasional patron will receive a survey card, it is extremely important that every card be returned so that USDA can get true sample of the State's livestock holdings.

Terrell Williams, carrier on Rural Route 1 out of Baird, will conduct the survey out of the Baird Post Office. Facts and figures in this survey are the basis for Texas and National pig crop reports and inventories of livestock and poultry on farms as of the first of the year. Stockmen and many others use this information in making business decisions.

Survey results will be widely distributed through Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Services, newspapers, farm magazines, radio and television.

The United State Department of Agriculture through its Agricultural Statistician in Charge, Cary D. Palmer of Austin, expresses thanks and appreciation not only to the Post Office Department for its assistance, but also to the farmers and ranchers of Texas for their help and cooperation.

Farmers to Vote November 23 On Transfers of Cotton Allotments

Deals regarding the transfer of upland cotton allotments were released today by Tommie Harris, Chairman, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation County Committee. A vote on whether to permit transfer of allotments outside the county (but within the State) will be held on Tuesday, Nov. 23, at the same time that growers vote on marketing quotas for the 1966 upland cotton crop.

The Chairman emphasized that the referendum on allotment transfers has nothing to do with marketing quotas.

Under the new farm legislation enacted this year, transfers of upland cotton allotments by sales or lease may be made from one farm to another within the same county without regard to the outcome of the allotment-transfer referendum. Also, transfers from one farm to another owned by the same person can be made across county lines within the State without regard to the outcome of the transfer referendum.

The referendum on transfers of allotments will decide only the question of whether to permit transfers outside the particular county - with within the State. If at least two-thirds of the growers of upland cotton voting in the county approve such out-of-county transfers, transfers outside the county can be made during the three years (1966-68). In no case can transfers be made outside the State. If county farmers disapprove such out-of-county transfers this year, another referendum on the question will be held next year.

The question about permitting out-of-county transfers of allotments will be decided by the vote within each county. The question about whether marketed, marketing quotas will be effective and price support available at approximately the same level as in the past. In some communities of Callahan County, peanuts are the most important cash crop produced and farmers should turn out in large numbers to vote in this referendum. If peanut producers fail to approve marketing quotas in Tuesday's vote, price support to those growers planting within their allotments will be at 50% parity, about $112.00 per ton instead of $224.00 per ton as at present.

As stated above, cotton and peanut producers will vote at the same polling places at the same time. Cotton producers must also approve marketing quotas by at least a two-thirds vote or the 1966 cotton crop will be supported at 50% parity for those producers who plant within their allotments. When the vote does not carry by a two-thirds majority, the new program to sell, lease, bank, or buy cotton allotments will also not be in effect. Due to the new provisions of the cotton program it is expected that the largest vote in this county's history will be tabulated in Tuesday's vote.

One of the more important issues to be voted on is whether or not cotton allotments will be sold or leased outside this county.

The polling places set up to vote on both peanut and cotton are as follows: ASCS Office - Baird; regular voting place - Putnam; City Hall - Cross Plains; School - Oplin; Co-op - Clyde.

Hunter Can Help Land Owner

This year more than 200,000 deer will be killed on private lands in Texas and based on 1964 records, landowners will receive approximately $12 million for leasing hunting and fishing rights.

Wallace G. Klussman, Extension specialist in wildlife conservation at Texas A&M University, encourages hunters to consider some basic relations with landowners to avoid friction for not only this but future seasons.

The hunter should realize that it costs money to produce game or fish and therefore should be appreciative of the part the landowner has had in providing the game.

The sportsman should develop a written lease with the landowner to include such things as rate and date of payment; time limits or duration of lease; boundaries of the lease area; the kinds of game or fish included; names of individuals or families in the lease; guest privileges; associated activities such as fishing, camping, picnicking, etc.; and the use and maintenance of any cabin or shelter included in the lease.

Showing respect for the owner's property is one way to lessen friction. Leaving gates just as they are found and asking about the location and type of livestock in the leased area will improve the hunter-landowner relation.

Wounded game should be followed and the landowner's suggestions, if wounded game crosses a fence, should be obeyed.

The hunter should know his gun and ammunition and have gun "sighted-in" at all times. Use gun and ammunition that is adequate for the purpose. Always make sure of the target and background -- that it is legal game and not domestic livestock or another hunter.

Klussman encourages hunters to obey all game and fish laws and to keep the place you camp and hunt clean at all times.

Outdoors In Texas

By VERN SANFORD

Many a hunter has left a deer to rot in the woods simply because he failed to check to see if his bullet hit the target.

Usually a deer falls or at least humps when struck by a high-velocity bullet. But there are many instances when mortally wounded deer ran spritely off after the shot, and didn't fall dead for as much as 100 yards. By then he had disappeared from view.

In his new book "Hunting The Whitetail Deer," Russell Tinsley points out that it is the obligation of every hunter to check thoroughly to determine whether or not he missed. Even though no blood may be present, a bullet-struck deer always leaves a calling card. A bullet will knock loose some hair. With a little experience the hunter actually can determine where he hit the deer solely by the type of hair left on the ground.

The author, who is outdoors editor of the Austin American-Statesman, was raised in the small hill country community of Mason, in the very heart of Texas' prime deer range. He bagged his first deer when he was nine years old and his missed very few seasons since getting that initial whitetail.

"Hunting the Whitetail Deer" is published in both hardcover ($3.95) and paperback ($1.50), and is available in local bookstores. Or it can be ordered direct from the publisher (Harper & Row, 49 E. 33rd St., New York N. Y. 10016). If there's a hunter in your family, this book would make a fine Christmas present.

Tinsley comprehensively covered all phases of deer hunting. He gives some background on the whitetail deer in the opening chapter, then delves into such things as rifle and sight selection, bullet placement, equipment, stand and stalk hunting, hunting the storm fronts, advanced deer hunting, field dressing the deer and caring for and cooking venison.

Also he discusses bow hunting and preserving the trophy. There is even a chapter on that dreaded thing called buck fever.

In his chapter on selecting the rifle, Tinsley points out that while there is no "best" deer rifle, his vote is for either the .243 Winchester or the 6 mm. Remington. He points out that these rifles shoot flatter and have more velocity. This means more knockdown power and surer kills.

As for the sight on the rifle, Tinsley recommends the telescopic sight.

He says a scope is much more than just a device for magnification. It also has the ability to gather and intensify light, making it easier to sight in early morning and late afternoon and on bleak overcast days. Furthermore, it has the ability to almost "see" through the brush, making it much easier to place the bullet in a vulnerable area.

In bullet placement, the ideal shot, he says, is the so-called "high-lung shot." This is just behind the shoulder and gives the hunter much more margin for error. While the neck shot is fatal and ruins negligible meat, the neck of a deer is much smaller than most people imagine and is difficult to hit.

A heart shot also is, at best, a long-shot proposition, since the heart is set low in the body and any bullet placed in this region will destroy much meat.

One of the most neglected hunting methods, yet one of the most effective, is driving deer. Tinsley tells what it involves and how several hunters working together, can make deer show themselves. A drive need not be an elaborate thing; two hunters working together actually can drive and intercept deer.

In field-dressing deer, "how-to" photos show the step-by-step procedure.

Two of the handiest items the hunter can have, Tinsley explains, are a short length of rope and a plastic bag.

First use of the rope is to tie one leg of the deer out of the way while dressing the animal. Then later it is used to hand the deer where it can drain.

The plastic bag can be used to transport the liver and heart to camp, to prevent clothing from becoming bloody.

Texans should be proud of this book written by one of their native sons. And also happy to learn that its sales already run into the thousands.

Top State Awards for '65 Claimed by 4-H Members

A Coleman County lad who had a peek behind the Iron Curtain and a poised young woman from Edcouch in Hidalgo County have won state 4-H public speaking honors.

Joe Pat Hemphill, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Zeno Hemphill of Coleman, won the boy's award with a talk on "A World Without 4-H," which recounted his 1964 summer trip to East Berlin, Hungary and Czechoslovakia. Hemphill will receive a wrist watch from The Pure Oil Company.

Lynda Bowers, 18, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Terry Bowers, spoke on "Citizenship—Our Heritage and Our Responsibility" to win the state contest for girls. She will receive a chest of silverware from Pure Oil, the program sponsor.

enough to convince us that Communism is not progress." Miss Bowers has given 24 speeches and appeared on radio and television. As president of her senior high school class she delivered the welcome address at graduation.

Public speaking, she says, has helped her gain poise and self-confidence. Miss Bowers attends Pan American College.

A profit of more than $1,000 over six years tells how seriously Andy Scott has taken the Chihuahua-raising business.

Scott, the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Scott, chose dog care as his main 4-H project, he says, because "it is one suited to a city boy." (Actually, 22 per cent of the 2.5 million 4-H'ers come from urban homes.) In all, Scott has sold 97 Chihuahua pups and has given away 10.

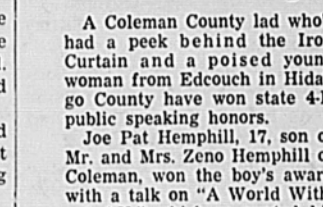

Scott gave four pups to a deaf mute woman because he felt dog raising would make life more enjoyable for her and help her financially. He says, he himself, would never have started his dog project without financial aid from his parents.

Dairy foods expert, Joanna Lewis, says she is "thoroughly familiar with milk" because she has lived all her life on a dairy farm.

Miss Lewis has been an asset to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joyce Lewis, by helping out with every dairy operation. She feeds calves, flushes lines, washes out the 700-gallon tank, gets cows from the pasture, and milks them.

In addition, she churns her own butter and makes cottage cheese and sour milk.

The 4-H'er with the best project in dairy foods was 16-year-old Joanna Lewis of Murchison. Carnation Company will give her a wrist watch.

Hemphill, born and raised on a ranch of more than 9,000 acres, had ample material for his many speeches on conservation and cattle. However, he also has spoken on "Democracy in Action" and read a dress revue script while Coleman County 4-H lovelies paraded their home-stitched fashions. Hemphill has been before TV cameras and on many radio shows.

In his "World Without 4-H" speech Hemphill characterized life in Czechoslovakia as dull and uninspiring.

Federal government in connection with the new Highway Beautification Act. A legislative council committee here now is considering the legal steps necessary in Texas to enforce provisions of the Act. This is to prevent loss of U. S. funds.

State Highway Engineer D. C. Greer is outlining an initial plan of compliance with the Federal laws which proposes control of scenery-spoiling billboards and junkyards and general scenic enhancement along 17,589 miles of Texas' Federal-Aid highway alone.

Texas Highway Department, Greer reports, already is taking steps to put into effect an expanded program of landscaping and beautification at a cost of about $10,000,000. Program will cover a two-year period and will include planting projects, rest areas, irrigation systems and possible scenic easements at selected overlooks and natural-beauty spots.

Greer anticipates Texas will get about $6,000,000 a year in federal funds for this work.

He has called for a complete inventory of junkyards and large outdoor advertising signs and devices within 660 feet of highways.

Some of the junkyards, Greer emphasized, will be screened by plantings, fences and other means in the near future.

Meanwhile, information from the inventories will be used in studies of needed state legislation, including zoning of industrial and commercial areas along the state highway system as called for in the beautification act.

INTEREST RATES STUDIED — State Banking Commissioner J. M. Falkner, on the heels of a new policy announced by U. S. Comptroller of the Currency James J. Saxon, has asked Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr whether state banks may charge the same interest rates as loan companies.

Saxon said national banks in Texas may charge the same interest as loan companies regulated by the state. So Falkner wants to know if the State Banking Department should let state banks exceed the constitutional interest limit of 10 per cent.

Texas law authorizes small loan companies to make loans with rates scaled from $1 interest on a $5 loan to about 17 per cent for loans up to $1,500.

Governor Connally vetoed a bill earlier this year authorizing banks to raise their rates to 17% each year on $100 loans up to $1,500 and 14% per $100 on loans between $1,500 and $5,000 a year.

Question now is whether state banks may charge the same interest rates as loan companies and national banks in Texas.

ATTORNEY GENERAL RULES — An Attorney General Carr said accounts payable to the State Building Commission, incurred under an inter-agency contract with the Mental Health and Mental Retardation Departments can be deposited to the Building Commission. Proceeds may be deposited as professional fees and services and travel expenses.

Carr also ruled that: A County Treasurer is entitled to receive compensation for additional duties of handling levee improvement districts' funds within his county.

Counties are responsible for the hospital care and treatment of prisoners in the custody of the sheriff.

Interest owned on investment of bond proceeds, not needed immediately for a voted purpose, may be placed in the proper interest and sinking funds, at the discretion of the Board of Trustees of the school districts.

SALT WATER DISPOSAL — Ector County oil operators have agreed to get rid of salt water disposal pits within three years.

County officials had requested Texas Railroad Commission to enter no-pit order for 40 Ector fields.

COURT SPEAKS — Houston Independent School District must pay $82,899 phone bill, State Supreme Court ruled. The court held that the school must pay Southwestern Bell Telephone Company full business rate of $16.50 per month for service rather than residential rate of $5.90 it had tried to settle for under a 1911 city ordinance.

Court refused to hear a suit alleged malpractice against a former Littlefield physician. Woman attempting to bring suit claimed the doctor left a gauze pad in an incision during an appendectomy.

Court of Criminal Appeals for second time upheld murder conviction of a Midland man, Marvin Clewis, who received a 25-year sentence for slaying his wife.

CRIMINAL CODE REVIEWED — Texas' much-maligned new code of criminal procedure was defended by State Bar official, Fred Erisman of Longview, at a three-day institute to study its provisions here.

Erisman said code brings Texas criminal statutes in line with modern-day decisions of U. S. Supreme Court. It means little to law enforcement, he maintained, to obtain convictions, only to have Supreme Court set the defendant free because of unconstitutional procedures.

PRISON UNIT NAMED — Texas Board of Corrections honored longtime member H. H. Coffield of Rockdale by naming the new unit in Anderson County for him.

Coffield has served on the board 16 years, eight years as chairman.

Board also authorized buying a new $190,000 airplane. Director George Beto reported that the plane already owned by the prison system isn't adequate for returning parole violators from other states.

SECURITIES SALES HIT RECORD — Securities approved for sale in Texas reached an all-time high of $283,300,000 during the fiscal year just ended, according to University of Texas Bureau of Business Research.

Total was $66,900,000 or 31 per cent over the fiscal 1964, despite a major market upset during 1965.

Activity, Bureau predicts, will "continue to be strong so long as the economy continues to expand."

APPOINTMENTS — Clay Cotten, formerly of Palestine, is the new State Commissioner of Insurance. As such he will be administrative head of an agency regulating Texas' No. 2 Industry.

APPOINTMENTS — uJA Tom I. McFarling of Austin is the new liquidator and conservator for the State Board of Insurance and Robert P. Clines is legal counselor.

Governor Connally announced these appointments:

State Board of Corrections — Fred W. Shield of San Antonio and Walter M. Mischer of Houston with Walter Pfluger of Eden reappointed.

Good Neighbor Commission — A. G. Ainsworth Jr. of Luling, Walter McBee of Dallas and Mrs. Phillip R. Bishop of Fort Worth with Ramiro Martinez of McAllen reappointed.

Texas Tech Board of Directors — Dr. Fladger F. Tannery of Dallas, Retha R. Martin of Lubbock and C. A. Cash of Amarillo.

Board of Texas College of Arts and Industries (Kingsville) — E. S. Joslin of Corpus Christi and Everett Braden of Edinburg with J. C. Martin Jr. of Laredo reappointed.

Speaker of House Ben Barnes named Reps. Hudson Moyer of Amarillo and John A. Traeger of Seguin to the Interim Committee on State and Local Tax Policy.

C. L. Friou, assistant director of administration of Parks and Wildlife Department, is the new president of Texas Public Employees Association.

W. O. P. EMBARRASSED — Dr. William H. Crook, southwest region director of the War on Poverty, said the program is temporarily "embarrassed by success."

Project Head Start, a child development program, has met such tremendous national success that there isn't enough money to meet the demand.

Regional office here now has 67 Head Start applications, totaling more than $15,000,000.

LAND OFFICE ACTIVE — First oil and gas lease sale for 1966 will be held February 1 at the General Land Office.

Nominations for tracts must be in the Land Office by Dec. 8.

Land Commissioner Jerry Sadler says his department's activities added $87,000,000 to the permanent school fund this year, boosting the fund to $654,000,000.

Pecan Growers Organize Assn.

Pecan growers in Texas are banding together in their fight for higher prices and more stable markets for pecans. The pecan growers have formed the Texas Pecan Improvement Association in an attempt to face the problem with an organized front.

The Improvement Association will have its headquarters in Hamilton. Open meetings over the state will be held to encourage pecan growers to become members.

The growers organization will perform several services, including: pooling, storage, possible shelling and marketing of the pecans.

A bumper crop, 50 percent more than last year, has depressed pecan prices and many native pecan growers are selling pecans at well below normal prices. Large commercial producers are also hit hard by depressed pecan prices in Texas.

J. B. Storey, horticulturist at Texas A&M University and secretary of the Texas Pecan Growers Assn., said, "There is considerable hope for higher prices and better markets for good native Texas pecans if the growers won't be in too big a hurry to sell."

The newly formed Improvement Association will accumulate pecans for members and store them in centrally located warehouses. Growers will be given negotiable warehouse receipts. Many of the growers have expressed interest in shelling the pecans and marketing the kernels.

Johnny Harris, Hamilton, is temporary chairman of the Pecan Improvement Association and Fred R. Brison, College Station, is temporary treasurer. Other members of the sponsoring group include: Clarence Tisdale, San Saba, Taber Shelton, Gonzales, Hugo Pape, Segun, Earl Callahan, Bastrop, Raymond Schindler, Houston and Dr. E. W. Darlek, Seguin.
