It was reported in Shanghai that Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek had resigned as president of the executive council in order to lead his troops in a final effort to stop the Japanese and win the war. H. H. Kung, it was said, would succeed Chiang in the presidency. He is finance minister

Thousands of civilians and foreigners were fleeing from Nanking. But military authorities remained there and declared the city would not be surrendered to the Japanese without a desperate fight.

If the Japanese penetrate the powerful "Hindenburg line" anchored on Soochow, Changshu, and Kashing, the Chinese were expected to fall back to new positions stretching from Kiangyin, on the Yangtse river, to Wusih, 100 miles east of Nanking.

Paris heard that Japan was threatening to establish a naval blood of the Chinese coast if any ns attempted to send supplies to the Chinese armies.

VISCOUNT HALIFAX, lord president of the council in the British cabinet, was in Germany ostensibly for the purpose of visiting a hunting exhibition but actually to negotiate with Hitler and other Nazi chiefs for the establishment of more friend. ly relations between Great Britain and Germany. Public belief was that he was authorized to hint to Hitler that there was hope Germany might regain some of its lost colonies if Germany would abandon its economic isolation and co-operate with other European pow-

A footpad with an evil record held up a victim. A bystander saw the crime, identified the thief.

The ruffian was held under indictment. ut he could give bond. The spectator was "de-tained" as a material witness-a gentle way of saying he was locked up, exactly as though he had been the criminal. Well, he was Irvin S. Cobb guilty of being poor.

Six months later came the trial. The defendant, having been out all that time on bail, looked hale and hearty. The prosecution's witness was produced under guard, pale and sickly from close confinement. It didn't help his health any when the crook's attorney browbeat him, yelled at him, practically accused him of perjury.

The citizen sued the state for false imprisonment, for loss of memorandum gave statistical tables wages, for separation from his family, for all he'd suffered. Under the statutes he had no standing. They threw his case out.

Meanwhile, the convicted crook had been released by the parole board and was free as a bird.

Aquatic Novelties.

NTERESTING discoveries were made in Hawaiian waters by government ichthyologists. For fear the similarity of sound may lead to wrong impressions, let me state that this department has nothing to do with Secretary Ickes, although, since ichthyology pertains to fish, Mme. Secretary Perkins might possibly have a contrary view on this point. Because they do say there are moments in the cabinet when all is not sweetness and accord.

However, the point is that Uncle Sam's piscatorial sharps dredged up a fish that is most delectable for six months of the year, but poisonous brother Ludwig in London. Ludwig the other six months. So at least they've found a creature emblematic of the California climate.

Let this be regarded around here as treason, I will state that I'm as loyal a native stepson as any that ever came out of Iowa, having been here long enough now to join in passing resolutions endorsing the scenery and at intervals uttering three loud ringing cheers for the sunsets.

WITH the evident intention of Also let envious Florida refrain from gloating. To typify Florida's climate that fish would be good only four months of the year and powerfully hard to put up with the rest of the time.

Lecturing Adventures.

N ALABAMA is a sect which forbids its converts to laugh or even smile. Now I know who it was bought out the house when I delivered a humorous lecture down there.

The other day a chap asked me why I didn't go back on the lecture platform. I told him I'd appeared in practically every sizable town in America, and, though it was years ago and probably popular indignation had abated now, still I wasn't taking any chances -I was waiting for some new towns to be built.

Once I tried the experiment of slipping around to the front door to hear what the crowd said, coming out. That was the night I attempted suicide by gas, but was saved when someone, passing through the hotel corridor, smelled something that smelled even worse than the hotel smelled.

A lecturer's lot is not a happy one. But usually it's the audience that suffers most.

Eating Oysters.

THERE'S a brand new movement called eat-oysters-in-any-month-2. An "all-weather" crop control you-please movement, or, unless you're working on space rates, it may be called E. O. I. A. M. Y. P. 4. National planning for better use M., for short. Its sponsor says the prejudice against eating oysters in It appeared certain that a vigorous opposition to all or part of months having an "r" in them is a fallacy dating back 2,000 years this program would arise, but nearwhen, between hiccoughs, a Roman ly everybody seemed in favor of tax senator said: "Oysters should be eaten only in certain seasons."

So it appears we've been penalizing ourselves ever since then for the indigestion of a Roman senator although, so far as eating the California oyster is concerned-he runs around forty to the dozen-I personally could refrain for the whole year without any undue longings. The California oyster looks something like a brass overall button suffering from vertigris.

Still, maybe it's all for the best. Because during May, June, July and August is when the oyster does practically all his courting. There's little enough romance left in the world -and anyhow, who am I to come between an oyster and his love-life? He doesn't seem to have any too Stalin and involve the country in a much fun the rest of the time.

Incidentally the administration has changed its tune entirely on the undistributed profits tax. One would think, to hear them talk now, that when the administration forced this tax on an unwilling congress there had been no ballyhoo in behalf of the little stockholder, looted by a conscienceless management of his corporation.

President Roosevelt himself, at the time, pointed out that the small stockholder had some rights in the matter, that he should have a voice in whether the earnings on his investment were plowed back into the company or whether he should receive his share of them.

This would be forced, the President then pointed out, by the undistributed profits tax. If this tax were made high enough, obviously corporations would not pay it, but would distribute their earnings among the stockholders. The good feature about this from the government standpoint would be, he pointed out, that the government would get much larger individual income taxes from the stockholders. But the good feature from the standpoint of the stockholder would be that he would get his earned dividends, and could then decide, according to his own circumstances, according to his own judgment of the management of the corporations, etc., whether he would put his own money back into the company.

If managements earned a reputation for business ability and sagacity, the President pointed out, stockholders would be eager to reinvest their earnings in the companies which paid them dividends.

Wander Away

How far the administration has wandered from this line of argument is best illustrated by the fact that the brain trusters are now talking stock dividends, providing cerned. That's why you are going the Supreme court will reverse its decision of some years back and hold that they are taxable as individual income!

This of course would serve the government's point by forcing the corporation earnings into individual incomes from which it would derive taxes, but would remove from the stockholder the much talked about advantage that he could elect whether he would reinvest his earnings in the same corporation.

In conversations with congressmen, Treasury officials are using an "Suppose," they say, "you (congress) should repeal both the undistributed earnings tax and the capital gains tax. Then suppose a rich man should put $10,000,000 in a corporation. That corporation might have vast earnings, and yet, for tax purposes, not disburse them. Ten years later, the company having meantime added twenty million of earnings to this original investment of ten, the rich man could sell his stock for $30,000,000.

"He would have paid no income tax on these earnings during the ten years, and, if there were no capital gains tax, he would pay no tax on the profit when he sold the stock. Thus he would have obtained $20,000,000 of profit without paying any tax on it."

One congressman said that would be all right with him, for the government would be getting 15 per cent of every dollar earned by the corporation every year under present tax laws. He added, however, that the 15 per cent might be jacked up a little, if the other taxes were repealed, insisting that he thought the corporations might pay more in taxes providing such taxes as interfere with management problems were repealed.

Meaning Lost

One of the reasons why Franklin D. Roosevelt was pleased with the election of Fiorello H. LaGuardia as mayor of New York stands out a sore thumb every time a group of Republicans get together. "Little Flower" has used the Republican label many times to his own advantage, but he has never been regarded as a Republican by the wheel horses of the party throughout the country.

One Republican senator, discussing this angle of the situation shortly after the New York city election. said: "If I want a New Dealer, why not take Roosevelt himself?"

Underlying this is the fact that 'Republican" and "Democrat" have lost their meaning, as far as the words meant anything to voters of Just a few years back. Old-time Democrats would now be regarded as Tories, just the same as oldfashioned Republicans.

Complicating this situation is the South, with its flery devotion to the Democratic label, which yet remains the most conservative section of the country.

The Lewis Setback

But it was these Brooklyn, Queens, Bronx and Staten island Democrats who were really fighting for Jeremiah T. Mahoney, and they were all political lieutenants of long standing of James A. Farley. Which explains why the Postmaster General had to go through the motions, despite the known fact that his chief was really for LaGuardia.

The bad setbacks which John L Lewis took in the Detroit, Akron and Canton elections were no blow to the White House. The President had shown several times that he resented Lewis' assumption that the C. I. O. had re-elected Roosevelt, and was therefore entitled to a break. The President has no sympathy with the idea of any powerful bloc in politics unless he and his friends can control the bloc.

Most observers and politicians had suspected that Lewis and the C. I. O. were overrating their political strength. They regard these elections as proof they were right,

"I don't follow that," Marian said. "Neither do I," Coffee said, dismissing discussion. He turned to Wheeler. "You told her what we aimed to try?'

The dogs were voicing uncertainty here, obviously runing uncertainty here, obviously running no trail, though Old Man Coffee seemed to know where he was going. And now old Rock made a curious play. The old dog had been in a sulk all day long, unwilling to quarter the trail of the loafer wolf; but now he sent up a long full-throated cry and drifted swiftly, nose down, a hundred yards along the red rock.

trail!" Yet because the trail of the wolf was indirect and circling, they spent another hour in following the dogs. The ponies were scrambling over broken rock now, keeping up as best they could. The dusk was very deep when Old Man Coffee pulled up at last and sat waiting. They did not see what had stopped him at first; but after a few moments they saw that the hounds had made a circle and were coming back. Coffee got down off his mule, called in his dogs, and tied up each of them, separately, to rock or scrub oak. But he had to crack the long dog whip over them more than once before they would lie down, sulking and moaning in their throats. Old Rock, the only one untied, lay down under the feet of the mule, raised his nose to heaven, and let out a long deep-chested wail.

Old Man Coffee tightened his saddle. "Marian," he said, "this is as far as you go." "You stay with her, Billy. I don't know how long this will take."

He said something unintelligible to the dogs, and then moved away from them, the dainty feet of his mule picking its way, and old Rock slinking close behind.

They sat there for what seemed like an endless time. Billy Wheeler tried to talk to break the sad terrible stillness, but this place smoth ered the words in his throat.

The first stars were showing when Old Man Coffee came back to them at last, his black mule moving like a lean tall shadow among shadows. He came close to them, then for a moment sat silent, looking back over his shoulder the way he had come; and Wheeler knew that he was futilely seeking words for what

They had expected Sheriff Walt Amos to appear in the course of dren, we're near the end of the the night, or at least no later than the first light; but it was noon before Amos appeared. He again came alone, as he had come after Billy Wheeler.

At the 94 he found only Horse Dunn and Billy Wheeler, for Steve Hurley and Tulare Callahan were in the Tuscaroras in search of the unknown prowler now believed to be hiding there; Val Douglas and Gil Baker had not yet returned; and Marian was out with her pony. Walt Amos climbed out of his car and walked slowly to the gallery of the cook shack, where the 94 people happened to be. They awaited him

"Horse," said Walt Amos, "the time has come when I can't put off acting no more."

"What have you done with Gil Baker?" Horse Dunn demanded. "He's in Inspiration. We had to take him in."

"Is he hurt?" "Not bad. He came prowling around Ace Springs, where Cayetano was killed, and one of the deputies hollered to him to halt, but he himself up. Turned out he was shot in the leg."

Sophomore Sensation.

Here's a dress after your own heart, Milady!-I betcha. Sew-Your-Own calls it its Sophomore Sensation. And aptly, for its allure and poise are typical of the modern miss. From Paris comes its concave silhouette; from S-Y-O its concise, easy to follow sewing instructions. Make your version in thin wool or velvet for Ace occasions this winter.

Carefully Planned.

Mothers are sweet in almost any kind of dress, but in the trim new model, above right, they're superbly sweet. There's some-thing genteel about its styling. It was carefully planned to bring you the best in style, the most in comfort. A glance at the diagram will convince the woman who sews of its simplicity. Two versions will be better than one of this charming fashion. Anything from percale to sheer wool will do nicely as the material.

The Patterns.

Pattern 1965 is designed for sizes 4, 6, 8, 10, and 12 years. Size 6 requires 2% yards of 54-inch material for the ensemble plus 1/3 yard knitted fabric for hat, sleeve and trouser bands and 2/2 yard zipper fastener for blouse front. Pattern 1359 is designed for sizes 12 to 20 (30 to 40 bust). Size 14 requires 41/8 yards of 39-inch sleeves 41/4 yards are required. Miss Modern and The bows and belt require 21/2 yards ribbon.

Pattern 1402 is designed for sizes 34 to 46. Size 36 fequires 41/2 collar in contrast requires %

AVE YOU ever thought how little the Pilgrims actually had for which to give thanks? How infinitely more blessed are we of today! But it was those brave souls who, through love for home and family, made Thanksgiving Day a national institution - a day for reflection on our domestic bliss. And our blessings have increased year after year until 1937 finds many thousands of West Texans possessed of all-electric homes . . . enjoying the Electrical Standard of Living. It is a mode of life-comfort and ease-undreamed by the Pilgrims. Its adoption has been swift in West Texas, so swift that this Thanksgiving finds a larger percentage of West Texans living in electrical security than do average Americans. We live better because every man who ever loved his family has sought to provide the advantages of Electric

"Sweetest Story Ever Told"

In 1884 Robert Morrison Stults resigned as musical instructor in the Long Branch, N. J., high school and moved to Batimore, Md., where he opened a piano and sheet music business. For some time he had been obsessed with the idea of writing a popular sentimental ballad. Mira Mirella, a comic opera star, was in search of such a song and Stults promised to write one "Well, that's the sweetest story ever!" He immediately supplied the word "told" and in two hours the song was finished.

Selecting Indian Chiefs

In some tribes, such as the Iroquois and some Pueblo tribes, certain chieftaincies were always selected from a particular clan. While illness, and brought success in love. there were hereditary chieftaincies among certain other groups, as a matter of practice such offices were usually elective. Rubbish and Garbage Should Not Burned in Your Furnace; They Cause Trouble.

SHOULD like to caution you against burning garbage and rubbish in the heating plant of your home. Many home-owners are given to this practice, knowing it is a quick and easy way to dispose of garbage, but not realizing fully that it is very harmful to the furnace.

Your furnace was built to burn coal, and coal only. Garbage and rubbish, when burned in it, deposit a thick crust of soot on the burning surfaces, and this soot absorbs much of the heat that should go into your rooms. They also form clinkers which, as you know, cause no end of trouble for you in keeping your fire burning efficiently.

Don't burn rubbish or garbage in furnace. They cause heavy soot to cake on surfaces and waste heat and also cause clinkers to parts as far as digestion is conform. Keep the ashpit clean.

Remember this: A clean furnace, like a clean automobile engine, will give better service and greater comfort.

How Lawrence of Arabia Became One of the Shaws

T. E. Lawrence of Arabian fame dropped in for tea one day at the house of the famous dramatist, Bernard Shaw. One of the ladies present glanced at him admiringly. He looked very young with his light hair, delicate complexion, and small slender frame. The lady turned to Mrs. Shaw. "What excellent looking son you have!" she exclaimed. Lawrence howled with delight when he heard this, and swore that he would thereafter be known as Shaw.

The result was that when he soon afterward hid himself in the British tank corps he enlisted as Private Shaw.

When Bernard Shaw later presented Lawrence with a copy of his play, "Saint Joan," he wrote a presentation inscription in it, "From Public Shaw to Private

Bad Effects of Fast Eating

WHEN food enters the stomach the walls of the stomach contract and squeeze this food onward and out of the stomach.

Now the food should not be squeezed out of the stomach hurriedly or in too short time, as the longer the food remains in the stomach the better it is mixed with the digestive juice of the stomach and that much more digestion of the food An interesting ex-

graphed in the form of moving pictures is recorded in the British Medical Journal by Dr. J. Russell Reynolds.

The moving pictures showed that the stomach is divided into three cerned. When food enters the first part nothing happens for a few minutes until there would seem to be some pressure from the amount or weight of food. When this pressure gets to a certain height the walls relax enough to let the food go into the second part. When this second part gets enough food or weight in it, the muscle walls of the stomach begin to squeeze or contract against the food, and the food is forced into the third part-the part nearest the opening into the small intestine into which the food enters when its digestion in the stomach is complete.

Some Squeezed Back.

An interesting point was noted in that when the stomach muscles squeezed the second part of the stomach sending a large amount of the food downward into the third part, some of the food got squeezed back into the first part again.

When the stomach was high up in the abdomen some of the food was acqually squeezed into the small intestine within twenty minutes after it entered the stomach. This is a condition often found in the nervous type of individual and Dr. Reynolds says: "This accounts for the digestive trouble caused by taking meals hurriedly; the muscular coat of the stomach, having no time to adapt itself to the bulk, responded by forcing the food out of the stomach before it was sufficiently mixed with stomach digestive juice. This means that food should be eaten slowly, to give the stomach the proper amount of time to handle or digest it properly.

Underweight Causes.

Many underweights trying to increase their weight have found that despite eating extra food the increase in weight has been little or none at all. Overweights all lose some weight when they cut down on their food. They lose weight whether their overweight is due to eating too much food or to not getting enough juice from the thyroid and pituitary glands.

Now why do the underweights not increase in weight when they eat more food?

There is always the fact that just as there is a tendency to over-weight in some families, so is there the tendency to thinness, underweight or malnutrition running in other families. This doesn't mean that the weight cannot be increased but it does mean that the increase cannot be expected to be large.

If, however, the individual has weighed more, has been of normal or average weight, and has lost considerable weight, the reason for this loss must be sought. If there has been worry, anxiety, grief or other emotional disturbance which has caused shock, then all parts of the body including the digestive system have been disturbed; food will go through the stomach and intestine and be only partly digested; diarrhoea may carry away too much fluid, or constipation will cause absorption of waste poisons that will take some of the body's fighting forces to combat. Further, the loss of rest from these emotional disturbances or from any other cause, uses up the body's tissues and energies, for rest is as important as a body builder and tissue saver as is food itself. Another factor is that some focal nfection may use up the body tisue and body energy, thus causing oss of weight. And finally, just as lack of thyroid and pituitary juice makes all the dy processes work more slowly us preventing loss of body tissue, can an increase in these juices ake all the body processes work ere rapidly, thus using up more y energy and more body tissue.

"The Terror-Stricken Hermit" By FLOYD GIBBONS Famous Headline Hunter

HELLO, EVERYBODY: Green eyes of a wildcat in the dark, a pitch-black road covered with snakes, a fear-struck hermit and a loaded shotgun comprise the bill-of-fare dished up today by Casper Stupin of Hoboken, N. J. Casper, an ex-Civilian Conservation corps worker who was eighteen at the time, encloses his discharge, which reads:

"By this all will know Casper Stupin served his country well as a member of the Civilian Conservation Corps, that magnificent army of youth and peace that puts into action the awakening of the people to the facts of conservation and recreation; and that with all honors he completed his tour of duty at Company 262, CCC Camp, Fla. SP-3, Sebring, Florida, on March 26, 1935."

Road Full of Sleeping Snakes.

On this fateful night, October 20, 1934, Casper missed the last truck back to camp, which left at 10:30 p. m. sharp. He would have welcomed a lift from a coal wagon rather than walk. Here's why: To begin with, the camp was four and a half miles from town. Four and a half miles is a constitutional, but when you have to do it in pitch dark, alone. not so good. And that's not all. Because the roads stay warm at night from the hot Florida sun, snakes are fond of lying in them at night and sleeping. Do you begin to get the picture? Four and a half miles, in the dark, expecting any minute to tread on a sleeping snake. And still not all. Casper had started walking and had done his first mile in darkness so intense he could see only a few feet ahead, when behind him he heard a soft, scratching noise, "as if someone was following me," he says. He turned to look. Nobody. He hastened his steps. Presently the sound came again. Casper stopped short, turned; thinking, perhaps, it was another CCC boy hoofing it to camp. In answer to his shout he got a soft, steady "Meow-w-w."

"That," Casper says, "was enough. Then I really did get fright." You see, they have wildcats in those parts.

Wildcat Was Ready to Spring.

Fearfully Casper tooked in the direction the sound had come from. Sure enough, two gleaming red-and-green eyes glared straight at him. Casper's heart just about stopped beating. Less than fifteen feet away was a wildcat, ready to spring. There was just one thing to do-run. Casper ran. In fact, he took to his heels in practically a blind panic. The nearest farmhouse was a quarter of a mile away. The road to this farmhouse was fairly infested with snakes. That didn't bother

He Raced Along a Snake-Infested Road.

Casper now-he had bigger worries. For that matter, if he did step on a sleeping snake, he was traveling so fast by this time he'd be out of sight before the snake woke up enough to do anything about it.

Casper did the quarter mile to the farmhouse in time Jessie Owens wouldn't have sneered at. He had just one idea—to get away from that wildcat. Perhaps that's why he was almost on top of the house before he gave a thought to his destination. To most people it might have seemed cheerful. To Casper it was a reminder that suddenly brought him to!

The farmhouse was occupied by a queer old hermit! choice. A second later, panting and shouting, he was pounding madly on May light colored evening the winter But-there were the gleaming eyes behind him, and Casper had no

Closer, closer came the red-and-green eyes. Casper redoubled his pounding, his frantic shouting. The door shivered, the knob rattled, the door swung back. It framed the figure of the queen old hermit. But what made Casper halt on the threshold, frozen with terror, was the shotgun in the hands of the fear-struck man. For its twin barrels, like the eyes of a death's head, were trained on Casper's heart. And its twin triggers were controlled, Capser knew, by fingers that took their bidding from a terror stricken, unpredictable mind.

Saved by Frightened Hermit.

On came the wildcat. Light from the shack door reflected from his blazing eyes. It was this light that probably saved Casper's life. For an instant it blinded the oncoming wildcat, slowing it up. And in this instant the terror-struck hermit caught sight of the blazing eyes beyond, and sized up the situation. He swung the shotgun away from Casper in the nick of time, drew bead on the wildcat's eyes and let go with the load.

The roar of the shotgun was too much for Casper's frayed nerves. The wildcat was finished, but he didn't stop to think about that. In fact, Casper was well down the road before he realized he hadn't even thanked the man for saving his life. With the wildcat and the shotgun and its strange owner behind him.

Casper still had a mile and a quarter of snake-infested, pitch-black road ahead of him. Worse still, there was nothing to stop a second wildcat from taking up the trail. So when Casper's overwrought nerves heard again the same scratching sound that had signalled the wildcat before, he didn't waste too much time looking. He just bolted-as fast as he could, trying to put as much distance between himself and this second pair of gleaming eyes as He didn't get far. Two powerful headlamps appeared in the distance lit up the road, came closer, and drew up. And in their welcome glow Casper saw that what he had mistaken for eyes of a wildcat were instead the eyes of a police dog, "Trooper," belonging to one of the CCC lieutenants. "And," Casper says, "was I happy!"

The Lieutenant—for it was his car—drove Casper back to camp

Tabitians Swim

The Tahitians are wonderful under-water swimmers and love to swim out to their coral reefs, where magnificent under-water ferns and plants grow in profuse kinds and fan-tastic shapes. The Tahitians can stay under some time to gather these tropical flowers; they like to wear them in their hair. There is only one place that they are forbidden to swim. That is the Sacred Blue Grotto of the Gods near Papeete, the capital. The water here is an amazing bright blue and very beautiful The Tahitians have been told by their medicine man that they would immediately be pulled down by a deathly swift current in this deep pool, waking to find them-selves in an open field full of flow-

The measurement to which we usually refer by this name is what can be more particularly called the statute mile. It equals eight fur-longs each of 220 yards, or 5,280 feet in all. There is another mile the geographical or nautical. This mile is one-sixteenth of a degree of latitude, or 6,085 feet. The word comes to us from the Latin word "mille," meaning a thousand, says London Answers Magazine. The Roman mile was 1,000 paces. They measured a pace as the distance between the points where the same heel came down in making a stride. The Roman pace-which we should regard as two paces-was reckoned at about five feet. This made the Roman mile—5,000 feet—noticeably shorter than the mile measurement we use today

ABC's in Manners: Red Nails Are Tabu

SHOULD schoolgirls ever use bright red finger nail polish either in school or at parties after school hours?

Answer: I think deep red finger nail polish atrocious on any one, but on a schoolgirl quite as bad as vivid make-up, or if anything, worse. Nails neatly manicured are of course proper as long as the color of the polish is not too conspicuous-especially while the girl is very young.

Should Divorcee Have Shower Second Time?

DEAR Mrs. Post: Is it in questionable taste to give a shower party for a friend who is still young but who is divorced and marrying for the second time?

Answer: It certainly should not be expected, but if some of her friends want very much to give a shower for her there is no reason against it.

Wedding Requires "Tails." EAR Mrs. Post: It is the custom here in the deep South to give evening weddings. In our commu-nity many of these take place at home. In the case I am specifically referring to the bride wants to make the wedding at home as formal as possible, and the groom insists that because the wedding will take place at home the men should be allowed to wear tuxedos instead of "tails." Will you give us your opinion?

Answer: Correctly, the men should wear "tails" - absolutely. Tuxedos are proper in small communities where few of the men have formal evening clothes. It is true that a house wedding may seem to have less solemnity because we know it is not taking place on consecrated ground, but apart from this consciousness of the fact a house wedding can be just as ceremonious and beautiful as a church wedding.

Meet Miss Sally

DEAR Mrs. Post: Isn't the form, "To meet Miss Sally Brown," in bad taste when most people already know her? I am giving a large tea for Sally, who is a young friend of mine whose engagement was just announced, and the invitations are for the most part going to Sally's own friends whom I have never met. In other words, I am the stranger and not Sally. Will you explain this?

Answer: "To meet" is merely a phrase used to indicate a guest of honor. The fact that she may be known to a guest personally is not considered.

Answer: I think this is a question of fashion. At present dresses of light colored thin materials are being worn everywhere, and such being the case they are particularly suitable for young paople. Clothes in winter are somewhat more elab-orate in design and less skimpy in their use of material.

Father Comes First. DEAR Mrs. Post: I'm in a pre-dicament and am finding it very hard to decide the best way out of it. I have a father, stepfather grandfather and a brother, all of whom have been very good to me fond. Whom shall I choose to walk with me up the aisle at my wed-

STAR DUST

* Movie · Radio  By VIRGINIA VALE

T IS a toss up whether ■ Madeleine Carroll or Loretta Young will be the mostexquisitely dressed screen star this winter. Miss Carroll writes from Paris that she is having the time of her life selecting costumes for "The River Is Blue" which she will start making for Walter Wanger when she returns to

Loretta Young was in New York recently buying fur coats, hats, and dresses by the score, just as if she hadn't had any new clothes in ages. Hollywood designers have just about run out of ideas for Loretta for in her last pictures she has had altogether some 80 changes of costume, and each one was supposed to be a knockout. The more extreme and bizarre clothes are, the better she likes them-so she keeps designers working overtime.

You will be hearing a lot from now on about Ilona Massey, who makes her American screen debut in M-G-M's "Rosalie." Officials of the company are so delighted with her performance in a minor role that they are going to give her the title role in "Pompadour," one of the most alluring beauties in history

There is one popular radio player who will have to mend her ways if she ever goes into motion picturesand most of them do sooner or later. Alice Frost of the "Big Sister" cast comes out of rehearsals with her forehead all smudged. She holds a pencil in her hand, and in a moment of dramatic tension invariably draws the point across her forelread.

The jinx that has dogged the footsteps of all Hollywood players who appeared on the Broadway stage this season has at last been knocked out. Frances Farmer broke the spell. She opened recently in "Golden Boy," a play about a prize fighter, and the critics went into rhapsodies over her deft playing of romantic scenes.

Radio performers develop some of the strangest hobbies, but for the present Tony Wons, the C. B. S. philosopher, is leading them all. He makes violins. He makes violins with the utmost care out of any old thing he finds lying around the house. Inspired, possibly by Bob Burns and his far famed bazooka, he out of a piece of tin stovepipe and the tone to his surprise is excellent.

The battle of the two great glamorous stars of the screen, Garbo and Deitrich, turns out to be no battle at all when you see their new pictures, "Conquest" and "Angel." Garbo is so far in the lead that there is just no competition at all. "Conquest" is a lavishly-produced, historically-faithful romance of the time of Napoleon, and Garbo as the lovely Countess Walewska has never been more appealing. "Angel," on the other hand, is just an inconuential modern triangle story in which the camera lingers on Miss Deitrich to the exclusion of any ac-

Because of her good work in the new Fred Astaire picture, "Damsel in Distress," Joan Fontaine is going to get a strange reward. She is going to be starred in "Curtain Call," which Katherine Hepburn turned down. Don't think she minds taking this hand-me-down, though, It is a grand story.

Royalty Rolls on the Rails

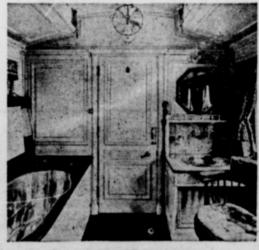

King George VI of England need sacrifice none of the comforts of home aboard the royal train, as indicated by his own compartment, shown above. Part of the equipment consists of two folding wall-tables set beside the unusually wide windows in the center of the room, which occupies the car's full width.

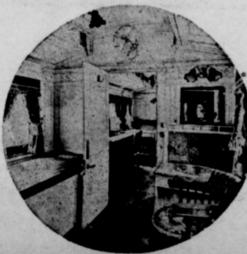

LITERALLY a rolling Buckingham Palace is the royal train of two coaches in which King George VI and Queen Elizabeth ride. These pictures, the first ever taken of the State train, show the various suites occupied by the royal couple. All the compartments are beautifully paneled in mahogany with inlays of rosewood and satinwood, and each is luxuriously fitted. The furnishings are in Chippendale style.

The queen's quarters are as dainty as she might wish. Her day compartment is shown above. At the right is her dressing room and bath: the tub lid, which folds down when not in use, provides a streamlined touch to the compartment. In the circle at the right is shown the king's dressing room and bath. The tub occupies the covered section to the left. Beyond the open door is his bedroom.

Queen Elizabeth sleeps peacefully and comfortably in the above compartment as she travels aboard the royal train. The entrance door is in the center background, beside the bed which occupies a corner of the room. Note the charm of the Chippendale furnishings.

Lesson for November 28 CHRISTIAN FRUITFULNESS

LESSON TEXT—John 15:1-16.
GOLDEN TEXT—Herein is my Faner glorified, that ye bear much fruit;
b shall ye be my disciples.—John 15:
PRIMARY TOPIC—Jesus' Rule of

JUNIOR TOPIC—The Loyalty of Love.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOP IC—What May We Expect to Achieve?
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—How Christians Become Fruitful.

Thanksgiving day has just afforded each one of us a special opportunity to return praise to God for the fruitfulness of America's broad acres. It is appropriate that we think today of the Christian life as manifesting itself in the bearing of Christian work of which we spoke last Sunday may (at least in a measure) be imitated, but fruit cannot be imitated. It is the result of life and only those who know the new birth bear the fruit of Christianity. The chapter before us is a portion of Scripture which has been the peculiar favorite of God's children in all generations. It is at the center of our Lord's words with his disciples immediately before his death on the cross. Many are the expositions of this passage, but a beautifully simple one which came to the writer from Dr. W. Graham Scroggie is suggested as most helpful.

I. Life and Fruitfulness (vv. 1-8). Life results in fruit and there can be no true fruit where there is no Christ is the vine, the Father is the keeper of the vine. We who are Christ's are the branches abiding in him, that is, living our whole life in and for him in such close union with him that his life as the vine brings forth fruit in us as the branches. That is real Christian

But, alas, there are branches that seem to belong to the vine but they lack the one indispensable evidence of life which is the normal bearing of fruit. These the Father must take and cast away to be destroyed. While we must not read into these words more than our Lord intended. let us beware lest we explain away their serious import. These are grave words of warning to false professors of Christianity, but they are not spoken to distress and dishearten true followers of the Lord Jesus. Fruit in the Christian is undoubt-edly first of all the fruit of character but that character is also to show in conduct. Note the progress -"fruit" (v. 2), "more fruit" (v. 2), "much fruit" (v. 5). In order to bear more fruit there is need of pruning and cleansing (vv. 2, 3). Pleasant? Not always, but always profitable. Let us thank God for even the pruning knife when its work is needed.

Do not miss the prayer promise in verse 7. It is an unlimited promise with a closely limited condition Let us meet the condition and claim the promise. II. Love and Friendship (vv. 9-16). "This is my commandment that ye love one another." In verse 10 we read that to abide in the love of Christ we must keep his commandments and now we learn that it is his command that we love one another. We are not to await the impulse prompted by the beauty or kindness or propinquity of someone, but we are to love one another. Many a Christian who has obeyed the commandments against steal-ing, adultery, and blasphemy has never noticed that he is commanded

The joy of Christ was fulfilled on the eve of Calvary by the love of his disciples for one another and for him. He rejoices today when we love the brethren and love him, for thus we enter upon the beautiful relationship of friends.

Dr. Scroggie says, "We may be God's children without being his friends; the one is based on his gift of life to us; the other, upon our offering of love for him. Are you a friend of God? You cannot have God and the world for friends at the same time. The friendship of the world is enmity with God. The world hates Christ, and therefore will not love you if you are like

But, oh! the sweet intimacy of fellowship with him. Read verses 14 to 16. Chosen and appointed by him, for "he first loved us," we are not kept in the distant position of servants but are brought into his circle of friends with whom he shares the glorious secrets of his Father, and our Father. It is a great thing to be a Christian, a friend of the Saviour. Note how closely this friendship is linked with assurance and power in prayer. Dr. Gray points out that "there is nothing in this sublime discourse of more practical value than what it teaches about prayer. See 14:13; 15:16; 16:23-27. To ask in Christ's Name is as though He asked Himself with all the assurance of answer which such a fact implies. This is the privilege of the true be-liever who is thus a member of Christ's body and of Him only, and it is a revelation of truth which Christ at no time had made known to His followers until now."

Silk Shades Give a Soft Glow

THERE is subtility in the light that glows through a silk shade, and many decorators are using them for the room that needs the softness of plaited folds and the mellowness obtained by placing two tones of fabric one over the other.

Two tones of China silk, one to be used for a plain lining and the other for a gathered outside covering will make an attractive shade. Before you buy the material it is best to experiment with samples one over the other trying them both in daylight and over an artificial light. You will also need a roll of silk binding tape matching the top color of the shade. This tape is to wrap the wire frame. And fancy braid either in gold, silver or a harmonizing tone of silk is used to bind the top and bottom of the shade. Use cotton thread to match the outside tone of the silk.

Slip the binding tape off the roll and wrap a rubber band around it as shown here at A. Working from the inside end of the tape wrap the frame as shown at B. The outside layer of silk is put on next. This is gathered both top and bottom and pinned to the wire covering as at C and D so that it is stretched quite tight. Joinings in the outside covering need not be sewed but may be hidden under the folds. This material is sewed in place as at E. Next, cut a straight strip for the lining and fit it around the outside of the frame as shown here at F. Trim the joining allowing a seam as shown at G. Sew to the frame at the bottom as at H. Trim quite close at the bottom. Turn lining to inside as at I Ship stitch the joining. Turn in raw edges at top and whip

4. How does a nautical mile compare with a land mile? 5. Why is Wall street so called?

1. According to Dr. George Granger Brown of the University of Michigan, gasoline as an ex-plosive has 10 times the explosive power of dynamite.

2. The building has a floor area of 14 acres. The structure stands in a park of nearly 50 acres. The dome is 387 feet in height.

3. It is designed so that it would immediately sink to the bottom of the channel and not congest the

4. It is almost 800 feet longer than a land mile. 5. A wall, the northerly defense of the city, once ran along it.

around top of frame. Pin the binding around and then sew it with stitches buried in the mesh of the braid.

Every Homemaker should have a copy of Mrs. Spears' new book, SEWING. Forty-eight pages of step-by-step directions for making slipcovers and dressing tables; restoring and upholstering chairs, couches; making curtains for every type of room and purpose. Making lampshades, rugs, ottomans and other useful articles for the home. Readers wishing a copy should send name and address, enclosing 25 cents, to Mrs. Spears, 210 South Desplaines St., Chicago, Illinois.

Cheap Sales Cost

United States census figures for 1929 show that at a cost of but 1.54 per cent advertising created a market for the $70,434,863,443 worth of manufactured products of that year.

Faith and Logic Faith is as much a normal func-tion of the human mind as is logic,—William W. Keen.

Are Women Better Shoppers than Men

GRANTING a woman's reputation for wise buying, let's trace the methods by which she has earned it. Where does she find out about the advantages and details of electrical refrigeration? What tells her how to keep the whole household clean - rugs, floors, bathroom tiling - and have energy left over for golf and parties? How does she learn about new and delicious entrees and desserts that surprise and delight her family? Where does she discover those subtleties of dress and make-up that a man appreciates but never understands?

Why, she reads the advertisements. She is a consistent, thoughtful reader of advertisements, because she has found that she can believe them—and profit thereby. Overlooking the advertisements would be depriving herself of data continuously useful in her job of Purchasing Agent to the Family.

For that matter, watch a wise man buy a car or a suit or an in ance policy. Not a bad shopper himself! He reads advertisements,
