THE TIME FOR SUMMING UP

Three years of depression have ended and we can begin to sum up. Hard times have brought ill winds but they have also brought some healthful breezes.

Business and individuals have been forced to "write down" fictitious valuations and standards. This has naturally caused a great deal of hardship and a long black list of bankruptcies. But real readjustments had to occur to put a sound foundation under family and business life.

Those who expanded and operated on the principal that which goes up need never come down, and that boom prosperity would continue unabated forever, had to be deflated.

The individual has found that it is possible to live happily and comfortably on a pre-war basis. He has found that the arbiter of wages is what the dollar will buy. He's come down to earth.

These are the "healthful breezes" of depression. The decks have been cleared for action, and the way of recovery is open.

As for the problems of depression, they are still vital and intense. Writing in the Yale Review, Sir Arthur Salter observed that 1933 will be one of the most crucial years in modern history.

The pressing and increasing weight of taxation stifles the capital (industry) of the world, creating unemployment and preventing industrial expansion and the further investment of money.

The burden of armaments, which their drain on national incomes and their constant threat to world peace, grows greater. In every important country the cost of wars, past, present and future, is the major item in the national budget.

The question of foreign trade looms large on the economic horizon. In normal times, foreign sales amount to ten per cent of the gross in this country. Today foreign trade is almost non-existent, due largely to a new and intense spirit of economic nationalism which finds its expression in tariff wars and embargoes. Almost every economist of distinction, here and abroad, stresses the need for revitalizing foreign trade as a factor in the work of recovery. Tied up with this is the problem of silver, which effects the purchasing power of half the world's people. When silver is depressed, as at present, the silver standard countries are unable to buy in the gold standard markets.

The picture at home is undoubtedly more encouraging than the world pictures. We have the finest industrial organism in existence—we have the factories and the machines and the farms that are adequate to our needs. Our utilities, our railroads, our oil companies, our insurance institutions, are the harbingers of America progress. They represent honest national assets as against the fictitious assets we counted on in the boom days. Because the machinery of distribution has slowed, it does not mean that the machinery of production is lacking or faulty.

Our greatest single problem is unemployment. Ten million of our working population is at present out of a job, and its buying has come to a stop. Much of this unemployment is temporary—part of it is the result of machine displacement of labor. Today the foremost industrialists are working toward plans to shorten the working day and the working week and to provide some means of employment insurance that will assure the able and willing worker a livelihood in bad times as well as good. It is difficult to believe that their efforts will end in failure. The weight of taxation, which forces retrenchment, is preventing the employment of many of those now seeking jobs.

This is America at the opening of 1933—a vast and incalculably rich land which is gradually emerging from depression and entering a new era. It is still a land of promise, as it was in the days of the Argonauts. It has lost nothing that it really possessed. Its earth is still fruitful, its mines are still filled with metals, its factories are ready to make the necessities and luxuries its people want. Its people are courageous, and they still have faith. Its leaders retain those vital qualities—intelligence and vision. America will pull out of the depression—and, from the lessons that depression has taught, it may find a means of preventing both extreme rises and extreme drops in the economic and social cycle, and of creating genuine permanent and sound prosperity.

Let the people curb the tax bill and the first great step will be taken toward industrial recovery and employment.

BACK TO THE MINES

The secretary of the American Mining Congress recently said that the mining industry has come to the end of the year with a brighter outlook ahead. Its principal problems are those of taxation and the tariff, and if they are equitable settled by Congress the industry will be in a strong position for recovery.

"Back to the mines" would be a mighty good cry to hear, especially in the west. It would mean the employment of thousands of men, the circulation of millions of dollars through agriculture and a thousand other industries, and new investment of capital. The mining industry has served this country well in the past, and it deserves all aid and encouragement now.

THE SHIPWRECK FARMERS

If a half dozen men were marooned on a desert island they would join forces to secure food, shelter and protection. It would be folly for each to work separately. By cooperation they would achieve results obtainable in no other manner.

This illustration explains the farm cooperative movement. Farmers today are in much the same position as sailors wrecked on a desert island. Their financial existence depends on profitable and permanent markets for their produce. Each farmer working alone is powerless for he is opposed by forces far stronger than he.

But when ten thousand farmers join forces to study production figures, marketing, transportation and like problems of agriculture, their situation has changed.

Cooperation is just another name for economic salvation.

LOOKING SOUTHWARD

As, three-quarters of a century ago, our nation looked to the west for an outlet for its products, so it is today looking southward, toward Latin America.

Here is one of the vastest lands in the world—larger in area than the United States, with almost as much population. Here is a potential outlet for millions of dollars worth of American goods and, as a result, the source of employment for hundreds of thousands of American workmen.

Anything we can do to encourage better understanding between the two hemispheres is thus of economic, as well as social, importance. Latin America has suffered tremendously from the fall of raw material values, as is evidence by revolutions, wars and frequent changes in government. Today she is passing through a period of chaos—but that she will come out of it is beyond doubt. The stuff of which great and permanent nations are made is within her borders, and that is the important thing.

Raw material prices will not always be depressed. Foreign money will once more flow into Latin America, in exchange for her coffee, tin, sugar, tobacco, petroleum, etc. Much of that money will find its way into this country, buying automobiles, typewriters, farm implements and other manufactured articles she needs. When that time comes, our Latin America trade will be a vital cog in the economical wheel.

USE FORESIGHT NOW

The principal task facing the farmer today is to build for the future, and at the same time carry himself through the difficulties of the present.

In this work the "cooperative" is his best ally. It is struggling to get him better prices and a surer market—and working as well to make that market permanent. It is blazing the way to better and more profitable farming.

The cooperative movement has surmounted many obstacles, and many more will beset its path before its success is complete. And, if it is to succeed, it must have the loyal aid of a majority of America farmers—they must not only pay their dues and keep up their membership, but must work with cooperative managements in bringing in new members and re-assuring old ones. They must fight aggressively for the cause of cooperation.

The strength of American business lies in cooperation—in a policy of enlightened self-interest through which all factors in an industry work together for the common good. It has proven to be a successful policy, and has helped more than we realize in bearing the brunt of these troubled times.

Agriculture must do the same thing it must realize that the welfare of the individual producer is absolutely dependent on the welfare of all producers. If the farm cooperative movement fails, it will be from lack of foresight of the American farmer.

Whether you like us or not, give us your business through February. Commencing on the first day. Make it a matter of local pride to be seen carrying a loaf of our bread.

Tell your Merchant not to use a sack. This will be a sign to others that you are for your own home town Bakery. It will make you happier for it puts forward the spirit of helping your neighbor who in turn is expected to help you. When our solicitors call on you give them the helping hand.

We say "Thanks in advance",

CONDITIONS HAVE CHANGED SINCE 1909

Back in 1909, nearly a quarter of a century ago we begun in the Drug business in Baird and since that time we have done everything possible to fill that place for which a drug store is intended, that is, be or real service to our neighbors and the community in which we have been located.

We have never in all the years turned a deaf ear to those in distress, we have been glad to extend credit to those who were sick, and have gone at all times of night to prepare prescriptions to relieve the suffering of our customers. Many times we were sure that we could never collect, but we went ahead and extended credit just the same, believing it was our duty.

Back in 1909 and until recently the Wholesale Houses were glad to help us carry these things and we were not crowded each month, so long as we could pay a part of our obligations, but today there is no Wholesale that will sell any one on longer than thirty days time and a great many demand cash in advance, or upon delivery; Hence it is absolutely impossible for us to go on as we have in the past. We will do our part on every occasion to help those about us, but we can't carry any accounts in the future longer than thirty days. If we fail to see you on the first of the month, you will receive a statement by mail, and unless paid promptly, the account will be closed until paid. This applies to every one, regardless of how much we would like to do differently, or how we feel toward you personally.

May we urge that every one who owes us, call and pay all you can before February 1st, as we must adhere strictly to the above rule until conditions change. May we say in conclusion, that we love and appreciate Baird and surrounding communities and wish it were possible for us to continue to help those who are in need but it is absolutely impossible and we sincerely hope our friends and customers will understand our position.

Yours very truly,

Better Lighting Will Ease Your Budget Worries

There are budgets that really will work . . . budgets that will show how to bring expenses within income! But they weren't created at a dark and gloomy desk . . . they were the result of calm and intelligent analysis under the cheering atmosphere of good light.

It's surprising what a difference adequate lighting makes! . . . Troubles take on a less terrifying aspect when subjected to the clear, eye-soothing brilliance of the modern electric light. It's not only much easier to work, but the absence of eye-strain keeps your mind clear and alert.

Next time you sit down to plot out the month's expenses, or to write a letter, be sure your light is adequate. You'll find the difference amazing!

A trained employe will be happy to inspect your home-lighting arrangements. There's no obligation, of course . . . and chances are that a simple rearrangement of your present fixtures, or adjustments giving you adequate sized lamps where they're needed, will be all that's necessary.

Do you know that your increased use of Electric Service is billed on a surprisingly low rate schedule . . . and adds only a small amount to your total bill?

Prohibition Rally

The weather was threatening, the wind was high, but a nice audience gathered from different parts of the county for the rally. On account of the strong wind the meeting was held in the Methodist Church. After some good songs and a prayer Dr. Hunt electrified the meeting with a masterful address on the question of Prohibition; after which a county organization was partially effected. Mrs. Ace Hickman was chosen as executive secretary; Mrs. Bob Norrell, treasurer; Mrs. W. B. Atchison, women chairman; Bro. Raymond Van Zant, of Clyde; M. E. Jolly, of Eula; Graves Darby, of Cross Plains, were selected as vice chairmen and I was chosen as county chairman. We will want two more vice-chairmen and a young people chairman.

Our plans are to have every town and community to organize with a local chairman, vice-chairman, secretary-treasurer, with a leader for the women, young people and any other organization they find it profitable to have.

Our aim is two fold; first, we are to back up our legislator and senate who are for prohibition and encourage them to fight on and at the same time let the others understand that there is a large percent of the people whom they represent who do not want liquors in any form and that we are strongly opposed to any changes in our laws or constitution that would legalize intoxicants of any kind.

Our second aim is to give out information. We purpose to offset the flood of wet propaganda that has been pouring into all of the country for the past decade. Now this information is along two lines; First that alcoholic liquors is not necessary as a medicine; but on the other hand, is injurious to the patient. Medical science has released these facts, that alcohol is detrimental in the treatment of diseases. This fact must be given out, our young people must have this knowledge. We must give it to them. How can we expect them to flee the danger when they know nothing of it? Yes we will inform the youth.

Our other line of enlightenment is to show to the people every where that prohibition has not failed, but has succeeded just as far as the bitter opponents of prohibition have let it. In spite of all the strong opposition to the prohibition law we have these interesting facts; The drinking of liquors has decreased more than 60 per cent and drinking of milk has increased more than 35 per cent. Infant Mortality has decreased more than 30 per cent. Thousands of new homes have been built each year. Large savings accounts have been made by the families who once were slaves to drink; and drunkenness has been put out and sobriety put in until we have nearly rid our land of the army of inebriates who once pre-terred the land. Where and when do you see the old drunken sot? When have you seen a poor fellow with snakes in his boots? Not in ten years and in many localities longer than that, because they have had prohibition longer.

Then come on people let's save our land from such a demon as we have once had to put up with. It is our common enemy, so let's fight it to-

Denton School News

Friday the thirteenth not an unlucky day for Denton Basketball Players.

Some people may believe that Friday the thirteenth is an unlucky day, but it would be difficult to make the Denton ball players think so. We played five games on that day and won four of them.

Friday afternoon the entire Oplin faculty and a great number of their patrons and ex-students brought over three teams. The Junior both boys and girls were scheduled for the first official games. The junior girls played the first game of the afternoon and the visitors were successful in taking the game. The junior boys followed with one of the liveliest games of the season. When the final whistle blew, the scores favored the Denton boys. The last game with Oplin was played by the high school girls. This game was hard fought from the start to finish, but ended also in Denton's favor.

There was a large crowd of local people present and everyone seemed to really enjoy the games.

Friday night the high school boys and girls met Eula's teams in McMurry's gym. Here again the Denton players demonstrated exceedingly well and won both games.

We are proud of our players. They show good sportmanship whether they win or lose.

School is progressing nicely; attendance has been excellent since the holidays and we feel that good work is being done.

The following pupils made the honor roll for the past month, with grades above 90:

First Grade: Maxine Franklin, Ruby Faye Edwards, L. C. Owens, Winfred Kendrick, W. T. Cutbirth, D. G. Allen.

Second Grade: Faye Hamm, Mary Bell Franklin, Bailey Tafton, Willie Tate, Doyle Whitley.

Third Grade: Floyd Tafton, Charlie Tate.
