Rodriguez was Tex-Mex pioneer

By RICK WHITE
Managing Editor

Johnny Rodriguez is hopping from one stage to another when he comes to Muleshoe next month.

After playing the lead role in a movie scheduled to premiere later this summer, the one-time country singing sensation will give two concert performances in Muleshoe July 4.

Rodriguez will perform during the 14th annual Joe's Boot Shop tent sale and later in a free concert at the city park.

Appearing in Muleshoe serves as a "warm-up" before touring this summer with the legendary George Jones, said Rodriguez, who brought Tex-Mex music into the mainstream two decades ago with a series of number one hits.

"I'm feeling energized a little bit and feel like I'm ready to get back out in front of people," Rodriguez said in a phone interview from a friend's house in San Antonio.

Rodriguez said fans can expect a mix of old hits and new songs. He said he even takes requests.

His latest album, You Can Say That Again, released on Hightone Records in 1996, has drawn favorable reviews as more than just another comeback effort.

CRP seminars offered

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Two public seminars for producers and landowners to learn directly from USDA officials how to make their best CRP bid for the upcoming Fall sign-up will be held in early July.

The free seminars, hosted by U.S. Rep. Larry Combest (R-Lubbock), are scheduled for July 2 in Dumas and July 3 near Lubbock.

"Our sole aim in these sessions is to provide landowners the best information for the next sign-up, not to dwell on the well-known problems of the recent sign-up," said Combest, chairman of the House Agriculture Subcommittee overseeing CRP. "I have registered — in the strongest terms — my displeasure and many of my constituents' comments with USDA through hearings, phone calls and letters to the U.S. Secretary of Agriculture, Dan Glickman. I encourage the attendance of everyone who would benefit from either one of these two-hour sessions."

The Dumas seminar begins at 10 a.m. at the Dumas Chamber of Commerce building, located at 524 South Porter. Please use the north entrance.

The July 3 Lubbock seminar also begins at 10 a.m. at the Texas A&M Experiment Station. It is located 1/2 mile east of I-27 on FM 1294, on the north side of the highway.

Local dance hall forced to shut down

The financially trouble La Mulita dance hall was closed by court order this week.

After last-minute negotiations by club owners failed to keep the dance hall open, Bailey County Sheriff Jerry Hicks delivered the court order to vacate the building Wednesday.

The West American Boulevard club hosted weekend dances featuring top-name Mexican bands and allowed customers to bring alcohol on the premises.

Sunday nights, Mexican music coming from the club wafted through the nearby residential neighborhoods, much to the dismay of many.

Over the years, law enforcement officials have received numerous complaints about the dance hall, which is located in the middle of a residential area.

"I was always concerned because of the location," Hicks said. "Neighbors would complain about loud music and the noisy crowd. And we knew there was a lot of drinking taking place."

"We went through a period of time where we were getting calls every time we turned around."

The one-time Gibsons discount store is owned by Equity Development Corp. of Seagoville, Texas, according to court records. The company bought the building and property for $15,000 in a foreclosure sale in December.

Mario and Anita Flores of Muleshoe purchased the building from Equity in 1988 for $45,000, according to court records.

Written notices to vacate the building were sent to the Floreses later in December and in March.

The property, which contains the building and several small lots that covers little less than an acre, is appraised at $66,260 according the Bailey County Appraisal District.

Mario Flores owes $1,876 in back property taxes on the property, according appraisal records.

Air Force spy plane goes boom in the night

The roof-rattling sound that rumbled through Muleshoe and most of the South Plains Tuesday night and again Thursday was a sonic boom created by an Air Force spy plane flying a practice mission.

The SR-71, a high-altitude reconnaissance aircraft that can reach speeds in excess of three times of the speed of sound, caused sonic booms over a wide area of the Southwest.

The aircraft was blamed for the sonic boom heard Tuesday about 10:30 p.m., according to an Air Force press release. A lesser sonic boom was heard Thursday at about 1:30 p.m.

The SR-71, which can reach speeds in excess of 1,000 miles per hour, was flying a joint exercise that took it on a route over White Sands Missile Range near Alamo, NM and Fort Bliss near El Paso, according to an Air Force press release.

The Air Force has three SR-71s based in California.

of the best country albums of the year.

The album is a return to his county roots after a string of uninspired efforts. Rodriguez calls the album traditional Texas dance hall music.

"I almost experimented myself out of the business," he said.

The album is produced by Roy Dea and Jerry Kennedy, who produced Rodriguez' first hit, Pass Me By, in 1972.

The 44-year-old Rodriguez followed up with a series of hits that made him one of the top performers in the business before being sidetracked by serious alcohol and drug problems in the 1980s.

He said it's something he's grown tired of talking about.

Rodriguez, in and out of trouble growing up in southwest Texas, was discovered by Tom T. Hall, who smoothed over the rough edges and got him signed to a record label where his first three singles all made the country Top 10 in 1972.

His meteoric rise took him by surprise.

"It was a culture shock to me," Rodriguez said. "I wasn't used to all the attention. I wasn't used to having all that money."

Divorced for a second time from Willie Nelson's oldest daughter, Rodriguez said he's lived a colorful life with no apologies.

Rodriguez said he recently read for a part in a Martin Scorsaise film co-starring Woody Harrelson of Cheers fame and also has an autobiography in the works.

PUBLIC NOTICE
BRIEF EXPLANATORY STATEMENT OF PROPOSED
CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT
SPECIAL ELECTION
AUGUST 9, 1997

PROPOSITION NO. 1 ON THE BALLOT

House Joint Resolution 4 proposes a constitutional amendment which would increase the school property tax residence homestead exemption from $5,000 to $15,000. The amendment would also authorize the Legislature to limit all or part of the exemption to political subdivisions that are the principal providers of elementary and secondary education within their boundaries.

In addition, the amendment would authorize the Legislature to allow the transfer of all or part of the age 65-and-over tax freeze to another homestead. Specifically, the Legislature would be authorized to provide that the current limitation against increasing school property taxes on the residence homesteads of persons age 65 or older, or their surviving spouse who is eligible to receive the exemption, may be transferred if the person establishes a different residence homestead.

The amendment would also allow the $10,000 additional amount for the standard exemption to be used to lower the tax rate of persons currently receiving the 65-and-over tax freeze. Specifically, for a homestead affected by this limitation in 1996 or in an earlier tax year, the Legislature must provide for a reduction in the school property tax limitation in the 1997 tax year and subsequent tax years in an amount equal to $10,000 multiplied by the 1997 school property tax rate.

The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows:

"The constitutional amendment providing school property tax relief by increasing the residence homestead exemption by $10,000 and providing for the transfer of the tax limitation to another qualified homestead for persons over 65 and a reduction in taxes subject to the limitation."

USDA steps up scrutiny of packing industry

The Agriculture Department is stepping up efforts to monitor concentration and ensure competitive practices in the packing industry, according to a story in the Texas and Southwest Cattle Raisers Association newsletter.

It is pursuing three major investigations of alleged anticompetitive practices in the meatpacking industry and another case involving the poultry industry.

IBP Inc., Excel Corp. and Monfort Inc., which control about 80 percent of the cattle-slaughter market, are under scrutiny, according to USDA officials. Leading poultry processor Tyson Foods Inc. is also being investigated.

One of the investigations is being conducted in the Texas Panhandle, where investigators are scrutinizing packers' cattle-buying practices for evidence of anticompetitive activities or arrangements.

USDA had also started to reorganize its Grain Inspection, Packers and Stockyards Administration, the agency that enforces agriculture's antitrust law. The reorganization is intended to strengthen federal oversight of livestock buying and poultry contracting and to increase the number of enforcement actions.

"I continue to be concerned about the concentration of more and more of the agriculture industry into fewer and fewer (corporate) hands," said Agriculture Secretary. "I believe it is USDA's responsibility to ensure that markets are fair and open, and to make certain our efforts keep pace with a changing market."

Glickman says the Clinton administration plans to ask Congress for additional investigative and enforcement weapons to ensure fair competition in the livestock markets. It will also seek a $2.4 million increase in its antitrust-enforcement budget for fiscal 1998.

Earlier this year, auditors said GISPA was ill-prepared to investigate price fixing and other violations. Because of these findings, Glickman ordered drastic reorganization of GISPA headquarters and regional offices with lawyers, economists and statisticians re-assigned to the field. New surveillance teams were also organized.

Bivins makes lawmaker list

AUSTIN—Sen. Teel Bivins (R-Amarillo) made Texas Monthly magazine's list of 10 "best" legislators.

Early copies of the July issue featuring the magazine's picks for the "best" and "worst" of the 75th Legislature, according to a Morris News Service story Friday.

The magazine noted that for the "best list, it looked for members with "integrity, fairness, a desire to solve problems, a willingness to compromise and a commitment to put policy ahead of partisanship," and that the "worst" legislators are "mirror opposites" of the best.

Bivins, a member of the Senate since 1989 and senate Education Committee chairman, was praised for his eggettiveness in saving bills.

"Caught in a real-life episode of 'E.R.'.... Bivins spent the final week of the legislative session performing triage on bills that were at death's door," Texas Monthly said.

Among the measures he saved was Gov. George W. Bush's charter school bill, one of 52 casualties in the "Memorial Day Massacre" that occurred when a House member used a parliamentary tactic to block bills from being considered.

Bivins, who represents Senatorial District 31, which includes Bailey County, also drew the magazine's praise for carrying the most important tort reform bill passed in the session. It closes a loop-hole that has allowed thousands of out-of-state lawsuits to clog Texas courts.

Muleshoe's Here Comes Trouble wins Father's Day softball tourney

Here Comes Trouble defeated the Vipers 29-12 in a battle between two Muleshoe teams Sunday to win the second annual Father's Day softball tournament at the new city park.

The Vipers beat Here Comes Trouble earlier in the day to force a second championship game.

The 15-team tournament was sponsored by Chicanos Unidos Campesinos of Muleshoe.

The two-day tournament drew teams from Lubbock, Morton, Earth, Hereford, Clovis and Muleshoe and an estimated 700 players, family members and friends.

Smashing Pumpkins of Lubbock finished third and Living Large of Morton placed fourth.

Proceeds from the tournament will benefit Chicanos Unidos, a non-profit service organization.

Partial funding for the tournament was provided by the Muleshoe City Council.

FIREWORKS SAFETY TIPS

Playing with fireworks leads to severe eye injuries in children every Fourth of July. Parents and relatives often try to make youngsters happy by buying fireworks and cause tragedy instead.

"There is no safe way for non-professionals to use fireworks," warns John B. Jeffers, M.D., member of Prevent Blindness America's Eye Safety Advisory Committee.

"Only by attending professional displays can families safely enjoy the splendor and excitement of fireworks on Independence Day," explained Jeffers.

Unfortunately, children and adult amateurs continue to set off fireworks.

According to the U.S. Consumer Product Safety advisory Commission, fireworks accounted for approximately 5,100 of the 7,600 injuries treated from June 23 to July 23 in 1996; 25% of the injuries were related to the eye. These figures only reflect those injuries treated in the U.S. hospital emergency rooms, as opposed to doctor's offices and those left untreated. Therefore, the actual number of injuries are even higher.

If an accident does occur, what can you do right away to minimize the damage to the eye? How can parents keep their children safe?

Dr. Jeffers offers the following eight actions to help save your child's sight. He has treated hundreds of children's eye injuries as an ophthalmologist and director of emergency services at Wills Eye Hospital in Philadelphia, PA.

■ Do not delay medical attention even for seemingly mild injuries. "Mildly" damaged areas can worsen and end in serious vision loss, even blindness, that might not have happened if treatment had occurred immediately.

■ Stay calm, do not panic; keep the child as calm as possible. "Both pain and fear are likely to be excruciating. A parent's anxiety can be contagious," said Dr. Jeffers.

■ Do not rub the eye. If any eye tissue is torn, rubbing might push out the eye's contents and cause more damage. Trying to tub the eye is an automatic response to pain, but pressure will only do more harm. Take the child's hand from his or her face.

■ Do not attempt to rinse out the eye. This can be even more damaging than rubbing.

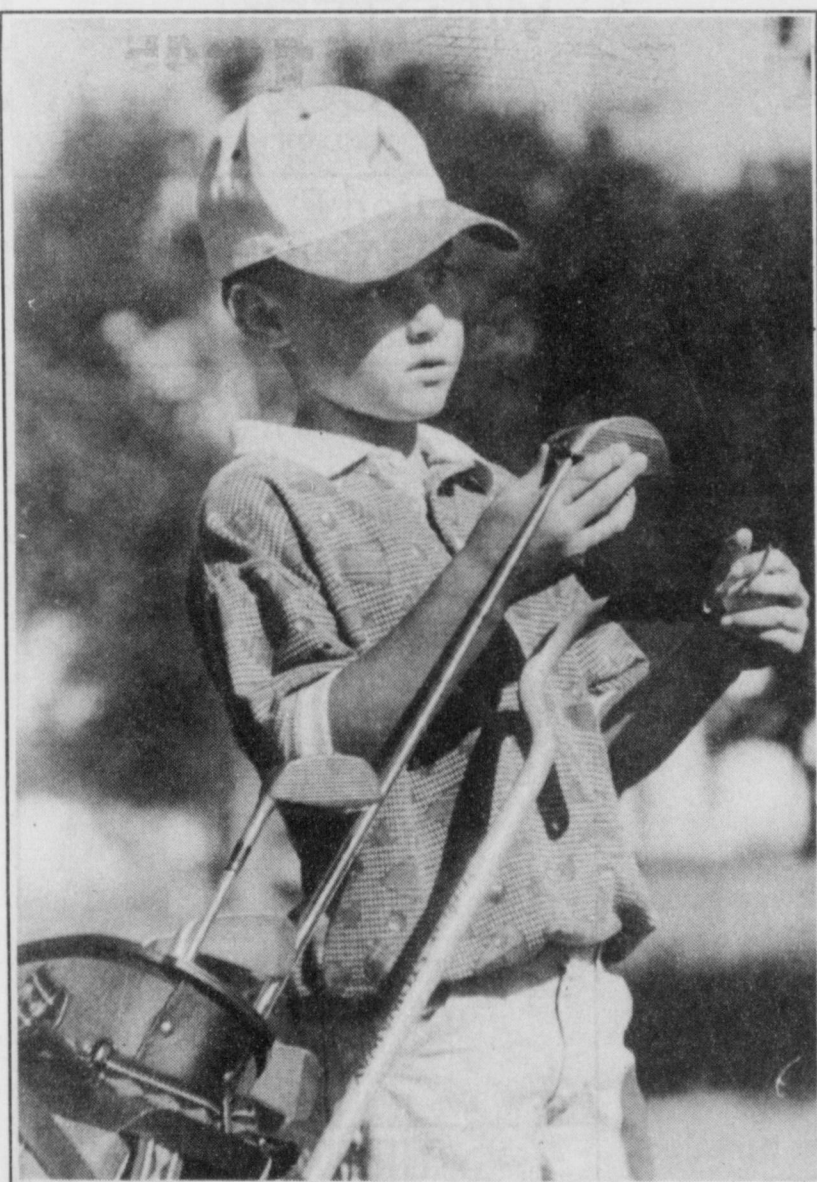

■ Shield the eye from pressure. Tape or secure the bottom of a foam cup, milk carton or similar shield against the bones surrounding the eye: brow, cheek and bridge of the nose.

■ Avoid giving aspirin or ibuprofen (or other non-steroidal, anti-inflammatory drugs, called "NSAIDS") to try to reduce the pain. They thin the blood and might increase bleeding. Acetaminophen is the over-the-counter drug of choice. "Unfortunately, non-prescription painkillers will not be of much help. It is better to by-pass the drugstore or medicine cabinet and get to the emergency room right away," said Dr. Jeffers.

■ Do not apply ointment or any medication. It is probably not sterile. Also, ointments make the eye area slippery. This could slow the doctor's examination at a time when every second counts.

Above all, do not let your child play with fireworks. Do not use them yourself and keep family members away from those who do. Even sparklers are dangerous. They burn up to 1800 degrees Fahrenheit; hot enough to melt gold.

15th CRP sign-up will result in a loss of more than one million acres in Texas alone," said Combust. "As Chairman of the Agriculture Resource conservation Subcommittee, I continue pressing USDA to immediately award the full 19 million acres authorized by Congress. More environmentally-sensitive land should be enrolled into this most-popular, voluntary conservation program. In the meantime, we have the commitment of USDA secretary Glickman for a 16th CRP sign-up this Fall. As your representative, I want to ensure those attending either of these seminars are provided the best available information to assist in preparing a successful bid this Fall."

Questions regarding seminar arrangements may be directed to Combust's staff members, Jimmy Clark in Lubbock at (806) 763-1611 or Tom Sell in Washington, D.C. at (202)225-4005.

Carpal tunnel syndrome can occur at any age. CTS from non-work causes usually affects people in their 50s, while CTS from work causes is highest between the ages of 20 and 40.

Facts About The BIBLE BY JOHN LEHTI

AHITHOPHEL, LONG A MEMBER OF KING DAVID'S PRIVY COUNCIL, A WILY POLITICIAN, WHOSE ADVICE WAS VALUED AS WISDOM FROM A SACRED ORACLE, LEFT DAVID AND JOINED ABSOLOM WHEN THAT YOUNG PRINCE REVOLTED AGAINST HIS FATHER IN AN ATTEMPT TO SEIZE THE THRONE. BUT KING DAVID SENT ANOTHER MAN OF WISDOM, HUSAI, IN A PRETENSE OF JOINING ABSOLOM'S REBEL ARMY, TO COUNTERACT ANY OF AHITHOPHEL'S SAGE COUNSEL. WHEN ABSOLOM DID TAKE HUSAI'S ADVICE OVER HIS OWN, AHITHOPHEL KNEW THAT DAVID WOULD NEVER BE DEFEATED -- SO HE LEFT THE ARMY, RETURNING HOME, WHERE HE PUT ALL HIS AFFAIRS IN ORDER -- FOR HE KNEW WHAT TO EXPECT ONCE KING DAVID GOT HOLD OF HIM -- AND HANGED HIMSELF!

THE LADIES GOLF ASSOCIATION

The Ladies Golf Association of the Muleshoe Country Club met Wednesday, June 18, for their monthly luncheon and business meeting. Anita Allgood, president presided over the meeting.

She welcomed our guests that were present: Helen Templeton's granddaughter, Amber Thomas; Neats Foster's guest Lynn Campbell; Shelly Turnbow was Yolonda Phillip's guest; Lisa Hall was Cindy Baker's guest. We also welcomed one new member, Rhonda Box.

Anita gave the birthday names for the month of June, Mary Holt, Cookie Bamert, Neats Foster, Linda Wood, Jana St. Clair and Anita Allgood. The June month produced a lot of special ladies we noticed.

Darlene Henry called the roll and read the minutes from our May meeting. Claudine Elliott gave the treasurers report.

Plans were made for our concession stand during the men's tournament the weekend of June 28-29.

Some plans were also discussed for our Ladies Partnership on Aug. 16.

Linda Elder announced that eight ladies went to Dimmitt this month for our Hi Plains Association Playday. Cindy Baker won low net and low putts in her flight. Jo Rempé won low putts in her flight and Linda Elder won low net in her flight. The Hi Plains meeting next month will be in Hereford, July 9.

Laverne Winn was thanked for adding some beauty to our club. She put in a fountain and flowers and plants to a corner of our club house entry. This was done by Laverne and Lynn Box in memory of Jess Winn, Laverne's late husband. It really added to our club entry.

Jeanine Gunstream gave out Playday awards to:

May 28—low putts - Linda Elder, Dorothy St. Clair and Lynn Box.

June 4—Throw out 3 worse holes - Anita Allgood and Deborah Noble.

June 11 — Worse on #4 hole - Lynn Box, Deborah Noble and Judy Wilbanks.

The drawing for the door prize was won by Claudine Elliott. She donated the money back to the Ladies Association.

After the luncheon the ladies divided into teams and played a scramble. The team winning the scramble was Yolonda Phillips, Claudine Elliott, Jeanine Gunstream and Jana St. Clair. They had a score of 72. Congratulations to them. It was a fun afternoon and we are so excited to have so many ladies come for golf and our luncheon.

HERITAGE FOUNDATION

The regular monthly meeting of the Muleshoe Heritage Foundation board met Monday, June 16 at the Muleshoe Depot with the President, Robert Shafer, conducting the meeting.

He first introduced Peggy Bruton, the new hostess at the Heritage Center. Mrs. Bruton has been working for four weeks and was asked for any suggestions she would like to make. She showed a flyer she has developed describing the center and giving hours when tours can be conducted. She suggested that these be placed at local motels and businesses throughout the area.

Board members approved the flyers and also suggested that Mrs. Bruton attend Muleshoe Club meetings to describe the facilities available at the Heritage Center.

The new hostess is at the Center Monday through Friday from 1-5 p.m. and visitors are welcome during these hours. Tours may be scheduled during weekends by calling the Heritage Foundation at 272-5873.

Representatives from the Student-Community Action Club (SCAC) were introduced and made a presentation to the Muleshoe Heritage Foundation, a check for $1,500.

SCAC members making the presentation were: Mark McGuire, outgoing vice president; Jo Beth Gilleland, outgoing reporter; and Peyton Rennels, member. These students suggested that this money be used to finish the walls at the old Muleshoe cook house.

The SCAC members noted that this money was made when the club conducted the Bake Auction over Channel 17 at the end of the school year. The students said thank you to the Heritage Board members for keeping the Center running smoothly.

In turn, board members responded by saying how much the student organization is appreciated for all the club contributions to the Center.

For the past fifteen years this club has been organized. It has given both money and time to the Heritage Foundation Center. In appreciation, SCAC representatives served board members refreshments of punch and cookies.

Board members then discussed serving a barbecue meal each night of the outdoor drama, "Keepers of the Legend," to be held this year at the Center in August. Members decided to check on getting the meal catered with board members serving the meal.

Further discussions were held about the outhouse to be moved to the Center and improvements made at the Janes ranch house. The president said those attending Red Raider Day at the Heritage Center were impressed, especially by the Janes ranch house.

Is Shopping for Churches Like Shopping for Shoes?

Some people shop for churches like they shop for shoes. They look for just the right size, just the right fit, the sort that would never rub them wrong. With shoes, that approach makes good sense, but with churches?

Obviously, if we have a choice, and we do, some things should be considered: size, style of worship, and, certainly, doctrinal emphases,

Focus On Faith

etc. But we must be careful lest we adopt the same "me-centered" approach in shopping for churches that we might use in shopping for a suit or a pair of shoes or a pizza!

Duane W. H. Arnold and C. George Fry, reprinted in Christianity Today's "Reflections" section, hit the nail on the head. They write, "Worship . . . fits right into the consumerism that so characterizes American religious life. Church-shopping has become common. A believer will compare First Presbyterian, St. Andrew's Lutheran, Epiphany Episcopal, West Hills Church of Christ, Brookwood Methodist, and Bethany Baptist for the 'best buy.'"

The church plant, programs, and personnel are carefully scrutinized, but the bottom line is, "How did it feel?" Worship must be sensational. "Start with an earthquake and work up from that," advised one preaching professor. "Be sure you have the four prerequisites of a successful church—" urged another, "upbeat music, adequate parking, a warm welcome, and a dynamic sermon." The slogan is, "Try it, you'll like it."

I enjoy "upbeat" music and convenient parking. I always appreciate a warm welcome, and I'm all for dynamic sermons. (I may have even preached one or two.) I have no patience with sanctimonious grins who probably didn't smile on their own honeymoon and who seem to think that anything approaching a smile at church or an enjoyable service is suspect. But if for these things alone—great music, fine parking, warm welcomes, and super sermons—we get up on Sunday and go to worship, we are centering far too much on ourselves and far too little on God. If there were only one church in town with old, wooden pews and poor singing, a muddy parking lot and a stuttering preacher, would we still take the trouble to worship?

If not, maybe we need to ask if we're really as interested in worshipping God as we are in worshipping us. We worship God because of who he is, because he and he alone is worthy to be worshiped, because he deserves our praise and our gratitude, because bowing before the Creator is the right thing for creatures to do.

Now, about that pair of shoes...

Editor's note: This is the third chapter of Hank the Cowdog, a book about the adventures of Hank, who is head of ranch security; Drover, his mutt sidekick; Slim a ranch hand; and Loper and Sally May, who own the ranch

No Dance For The Cowboy

By John R. Erickson

In the previous chapter, there has been a big explosion while Slim, the ranch hand, was burning trash. After Slim extinguished his flaming beard and some small fires on the ground, Hank the Cowdog began chasing ashes. The ashes not only left a bad taste in his mouth, so did laughter from Slim and Loper as they watched him chasing the ashes. Hank was irritated with his dog sidekick Drover, who started the whole ash-chasing thing in the first place.)

Hey, let's get something straight right now. Just because a dog snaps at ashes, that doesn't mean.

One of the very most important functions of a Head of Ranch Security is research and development. Your R&D work — (that's what we call it, R&D) — your R&D work is terribly important to the overall security program of the ranch, don't you see.

We must constantly test new procedures and techniques, otherwise we would never know that some are better than others. All of the great minds of science have taken the risk of testing new ideas.

Today, we remember only their successes. We forget that they had the courage to test bold concepts that others thought ridiculous — and that they were laughed at and ridiculed.

Loper had a blue coffee mug hooked in the finger of his right hand. Written on the side of it — the mug, not the finger or the hand — written on the side of the mug were the words, "Team Roping: America's Favorite Way of Going Broke."

And he was pointing at me. "What do you reckon goes through a dog's mind that makes him want to chase ashes?"

"Mind? I wouldn't bet that Hank even has one. I think he was brain-dead at birth."

Very funny.

Certain people will laugh at daring ventures, and the bigger the laugh the smaller the mind.

Yes, Slim and Loper laughed at my latest experiment into Cinder Flotation and Airborne Ash Interception procedures, but that was a tiny price to pay for the ...

Boy, those ashes really left a lousy taste in my mouth. I couldn't get rid of it. I licked and spat... spat... spot... sput... and pawed my tongue, and by George, the terrible taste remained. And, of course, the Small Minds loved it.

That was OK. I didn't need their approval. Their hooting and laughing didn't bother me at all, and Drover would pay for luring me into this.

And don't forget that one of the Happy Cowboys had just blown up the garbage barrel, caught his hair on fire, and had come close to torching the entire ranch.

With that, I will rest my case.

Loper turned to Slim and studied his turned hair and whiskers. "Your hair got burned."

"I noticed."

"You look pretty silly."

Slim dug into his jeans pocket and pulled out a quarter. "Here. Go call someone who cares that I look silly, 'cause I sure don't."

Loper took a sip of coffee. "You should. You're going to a dance tonight."

"I can't come."

"Give me one good reason why you can't come."

Slim hitched up his jeans and glared at Loper. "No, I'll give you five reasons. First off, I can't dance. Second, I don't want to learn. Third, I don't have a date. Fourth, I couldn't get a date even if I wanted one, which I don't. And fifth, I just had a grass fire in my hair and I look goofy."

Loper took another sip of coffee. "I heard a rumor that Viola wants to come but doesn't have a date."

"I'm sorry to hear that. She's a fine lady."

"She could teach you the two step."

"No thanks."

"Sally May could trim up your hair."

"No woman has ever cut my hair and no woman is fixing to start. They don't know how to cut men's hair."

Loper rolled his eyes. "Who do you think cuts mine?"

"I thought you just stuck your head into the lawn mower. That's what it looks like half the time."

"Well, I don't know why I'm arguing. I don't care if you come to the dance or not."

"Good."

"We'll have twice as much fun without you."

"Good."

"You can just stay home with the dogs."

"Fine. Old Hank don't care what my hair looks like, do you Hankie?" He shifted his gaze to me. I, uh, lowered my head and turned away. "Dumb dog."

Loper burst out laughing and started back to the house. "See? Nobody wants to be around a crabby, gripey, illtempered old bachelor cowboy, and that goes double for me."

"Fine."

"I hope you're miserable all night."

"I'll be asleep, and I'll enjoy every minute of it."

Loper went into the hose, muttering under his breath.

That left me and Slim. I turned my back on him and refused to look him in the eye. He noticed.

PUBLIC NOTICE

The U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) Region 6 is proposing to issue a permit to the Tolk Station (Tolk) pursuant to the 1990 Clean Air Act Amendments Title IV Acid Deposition Control and implementing regulations found in the Code of Federal Regulations, Title 40, Parts 72, 73, 75, 76, 77, and 78. The effective date of the permit would be from January 1, 1997, through December 31, 1999.

Southwestern Public Service Company (SPS) owns and operates the two utility boilers, identified as Tolk Units 171B & 172B, that are affected by this permit action. SPS is seeking approval to "early-elect" Tolk Units 171B & 172B into the Acid Rain NO_x program. Under the "early elect" program, a utility may receive an eight (8) year compliance extension — from the year 2000 through 2007 — to meet its Phase II NO_x obligations as long as they voluntarily comply to meet the Phase I NO_x limitation starting in 1997; three years earlier than otherwise required. As a result, Tolk Units 171B & 172B will each accept an emission limitation of 0.45 lb NO_x /mmBtu, annual average; consistent with the limit for tangentially-fired units. Issuance of this permit would not affect the responsibility of Tolk Units 171B & 172B to meet all other existing local, state, and federal emission requirements.

The designated representative for Tolk Units 171B & 172B is Olon Plunk.

Comments on the proposed permit issuances must be received no later than 30 days from the date notice appears in the Federal Register or the date this notice is published, whichever is later. If no adverse comments are received within this 30 day time frame, the permit issuances will automatically become final 10 days after the close of the public comment period. Comments, requests for a public hearing, and requests to receive notice of future actions must be sent to Samuel Coleman, P.E., Director, Compliance Assurance and Enforcement Division, EPA Region 6, 1445 Ross Avenue, Dallas, TX 75202. Comments must be submitted in duplicate and identify the permit to which the comments apply; the commenter's name, address, and telephone number; and the affiliation the writer has to the permittee. Any person who requests a public hearing must state the issue proposed to be raised in the hearing. The EPA will evaluate any request and hold a hearing if it finds that a hearing will contribute to the decision-making process by clarifying significant issues affecting these permit issuances.

The administrative record may be viewed during normal operating hours at the following location; EPA Region 6, 9th floor (attn: Joseph Winkler), 1445 Ross Ave., Dallas, TX, 75202, (214) 665-7243. For a copy of the proposed permits, contact Joseph Winkler, EPA Region 6, Air Enforcement Section, 1445 Ross Ave., Dallas, TX 75202, (214) 665-7229. 54346-6-997
