Entries Coming In Fast For Rodeo June 24th; Local Ropers Matched

With entries coming in every day for all the events, it looks like a big day for the Knox City Rodeo Association show here June 24. Ropers and bronc riders from all over the country are entering the contest and with a full roster of wild stock off the range, spills and thrills will be the order of the day when the first outlaw is sent out of the chute.

George Hardberger and his crew have all the pens and chutes ready for the big day. A parade will start the fireworks at 1:30 with the rodeo at 2:30. A jack pot roping event will be the first part of the program followed by a special appearance of "Pancho" the bronc-busting monkey riding a pitching mule.

"Pancho" has been signed up as a priority performer through the courtesy of Blackie McFadden of Stamford, well-known around these parts for his trained animal act. An extra added attraction at 11 o'clock Saturday morning will feature "Pancho" riding the world's greatest bucking Shetland pony "Blackie" at the arena. Mr. McFadden says Pancho is in good riding form now and it will be better than ever money that he "forks" this pony for a ride to the finish.

Loose rope bronc riding and wild cow milking will be the next attraction followed by a special jack pot roping event for professional ropers. Saddle bronc riding and matched calf roping will bring into the arena some of the best performers in this section of the state.

A special event between Eddie Bate man and Cap Etheridge vs. Fred Albright and Glenn McWhorter will offer some of the best roping to be seen anywhere. A ribbon roping event will close the show.

Walter Thomas and R. B. Howell, in charge of entries, say that all contestants must be registered before 12 noon on June 24. At the time of entering any contest, the performer will be given his arena number which will also serve as a gate pass.

Barney Arnold, Lee Smith and Virgil Stephens are making every effort to make the show a fast moving affair with little time lost between the events. An admission price of 60¢ and 30¢ has been set for the show.

Guy Steen will be charge of ticket sales and accommodations have been made to care for everyone without delay at the gates.

Lion Club Lecture Is Well Attended

It was a "full house" at the Lions club free lecture Tuesday night when James H. Course, in an hour and a half address brought to his listeners a message that reached home at this stage of our war with Japan.

Mr. Course was in fine form and we don't believe there was anyone who heard him that didn't go away from the lecture hall a better citizen of this nation. Sometimes it takes the bare facts to bring home the truth of what we are fighting against in the Japanese conflict but after hearing Mr. Course we believe it is evident to everyone.

His message is bound to strike a patriotic chord on the eve of the Fifth War Loan drive just started. His tribute to the bond drives and the American Red Cross work will be of great benefit in reaching our quotas.

Several people from surrounding towns were present to hear the program.

E. L. Park Announces For Commissioner

E. L. Park has authorized the Herald to announce his candidacy for the office of County Commissioner, Precinct 1, subject to the action of the Democratic primary in July.

In making his announcement, Mr. Park stated that he had served as commissioner of this precinct in the past and that he felt qualified to perform the duties of the office to the best interests of the public.

Tomi Jane Teaff and A. D. May Married

In a quiet ceremony Tuesday evening at 9 o'clock at the Methodist Parsonage in Knox City, Tomi Jane Teaff and A. D. May were united in marriage. Rev. Lloyd Hamilton, pastor of the Methodist Church, officiated.

Mrs. May is the daughter of E. E. Teaff of Knox City and a popular member of the younger set. She graduated from high school here in 1942 and has been attending West Texas State Teachers College at Canyon.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. May. He finished school in Knox City and has attended John Tarleton and Hardin-Simmons University. Since February of this year he has been employed in Dallas by the Firestone Rubber Co.

Mrs. May was attractively dressed in white crepe with white accessories and a red rose corsage. Attendants to the couple were the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. May and Wallace May.

Shortly after the ceremony the couple left for a honeymoon planning to return here Thursday afternoon. They will make their home in Dallas. Their many friends and acquaintances wish them the best of everything in the future years.

1944 Wheat Loan Program Started

Wheat loans averaging nationally $1.28 a bushel at the farm will be made by the War Food Administration's Credit Commodity Corporation on the 1944 crop. Last year the average was $1.23.

Loans will be made on a note and chattel mortgage basis for wheat stored on farms and a note and loan agreement for wheat stored in approved warehouses.

Wheat produced in 1944 grading U.S. No. 3 or better or grading U.S. No. 4 or U.S. No. 5, because of test weight only, will be eligible for loan. Loans will vary from the basic rate of $1.28 per bushel at the farm to take into account location, grade and quality. For example, the loan rate for No. 1 hard winter wheat at Kansas City for 1944 is $1.44 per bushel as compared with $1.38 in 1943.

Seven cents per bushel storage allowance will be advanced at the time of the loan on all farm-stored wheat. Loans on both farm-stored and warehouse stored wheat will mature on demand but not later than April 30, 1945.

Any loan may be quickly liquidated by the payment of the full amount advanced plus 3 percent interest from the date of the note. All loans will be administered in the counties by county Agricultural Adjustment Agency committees under the general supervision of the state committee.

Loan values at selected terminal markets are as follows: No. 1 hard winter, at Kansas City, $1.44; at Omaha, $1.44; at Galveston, $1.52; at Chicago, $1.49; at St. Louis, $1.49. No. 1 soft white or western white at Portland, 139; No. 1 dark northern spring at Minneapolis, $1.46; No. 1 red winter, at Chicago, $1.49; at St. Louis, $1.49; at Philadelphia, $1.60; at Baltimore, $1.60; at Louisville, $1.51.

The forces affecting meat production operate over a long period of time ranging from one to three years. Many of the factors that account for our supply of meat originated before this country went to war.

After bad droughts in 1934 and 1936 had resulted in reduction of feed supplies and increased marketing of hogs and cattle, we moved into a period

Community Quota Is $115,000

Knox City's quota of the Fifth War Loan has been set at $115,000 according to T. E. Robbins, community chairman. This is the same amount allocated for this territory in the last drive which was oversubscribed a few hundred dollars.

Mr. Robbins stated that an organization would be perfected as soon as possible to start the drive.

4-H Club Boys Visit At Sheppard Field

Four of the ten Knox County 4-H Club boys who were eligible under the "Feed a Fighter" campaign made the free trip to Sheppard Field Tuesday.

The four boys were Kenneth Griffith of Union Grove, Dennis and Randall Walling of Sunset, and Jerrel Trainham of Vera. The boys who have worked earnestly this year to produce enough food to supply at least one fighter for a year were rewarded for their efforts with a visit to Sheppard Field, where they saw what happens to their food after it reaches Army hands.

Gunner Sgt. Edwin Breslin paid tribute to the 4-H Club boys when he took time out for answering a barrage of questions about some of his combat flights over Germany. Many boys confessed that this was the first time they had ever talked to a hero.

Chowtime was a revelation to the boys of what happens to the beef, pork and poultry products they produce when it reaches the Army camps. Following the meal they toured the kitchen and saw the modern equipment of peeling potatoes and cooking the enormous quantities of food, one boiler had the capacity of cooking 60 gallons of beans at one time.

An additional feature of the tour was the opportunity of climbing into a B-25 bomber and glider and examining all the parts of the plane.

Accompanying the boys and their County Agents on the tour were L. L. Johnson, Boys State Club Leader, J. A. Scofield, District Agent of the Extension Service of A & M College.

It is time for the citizens of the United States to realize they are approaching one of the most critical national elections in the history of our nation. Basic principles are involved which affect the continuation of our constitutional form of government. They are in no way connected with Republican or Democratic partisan issues. The war our boys are fighting is non-partisan, for the purpose of enlarging liberty and opportunity for all the peoples of the world.

For more than a decade, Republican and Democratic politicians here at home have been urging so-called "emergency measures" which have bit by bit been restricting the individual in many phases of his daily life. The necessities of war have accelerated this movement, and now it is becoming more evident each day that many bureaucrats in both parties, who have gained a liking for government controls exercised over the individual, are "processing" the people through publicity and propaganda and utopian proposals at government expense, to extend centralized government control permanently or as far as possible into the postwar era.

Anyone who wants to read, can see a deadly parallel between this sugar-coated process and the one which engulfed European peoples and made them slaves to an official aristocracy. How often do you hear a candidate for political office come out and unequivocally praise the United States, its constitutional form of government, the liberties its people enjoy, the luxuries and necessities that have been delivered to them by our industries in a measure exceeding that enjoyed by any other nation? Too many candidates for public office assume that philosophy of government and private enterprise have outlived their usefulness; that they must be curbed, changed and controlled; that government must become the dominant factor in our daily lives and that we must ape the teachings of some foreign na-

Account Numbers Are Important Part of Social Security Set-up

A social security account number shows that the worker has an insurance account with the United States government — Federal Old-Age and Survivors Insurance.

Insurance policies must be protected and that is why they are kept in safe places. The social security account card is evidence of a worker's insurance policy with the government. Give it the same care as any insurance policy, advises R. L. Surles, manager of the Social Security Board's office, located at 421 Post Office Building, Wichita Falls, Texas.

For every account number it gives out, the Social Security Board sets up a separate account. The number on the card is the same as the number on the account. With the worker's name it identifies the account.

Old-age is not the only risk the account insures against. The purpose of this insurance is to pay not only a regular monthly income when the workers are 65, and stop work, but to pay benefits to the family if the worker dies. These monthly insurance payments are based on wages in the jobs that come under the old-age and survivors insurance system. Every day's pay on such a job helps to build up this family insurance protection. Be sure that these records are kept under one account number.

Families need this protection. When a worker or his family makes an insurance claim, his account should contain a complete record of all his pay in work that comes under the social security system. Even if he works only part time in such jobs, his wages should be recorded under his account.

For further information, inquire at the Social Security Board office at 421 Post Office Building, Wichita Falls, Texas.

that has brought nothing but misery and disaster to its people.

This process must be reversed. The people must demand men in public office who are proud of the American system. Men who do not give it lip service one minute and in the next breath propose measures that would restrict individual opportunity.

The United States was built on the principle of a government being best which governs least; on the principle that public officials are the servants, not the masters of the people; on the principle that government confine itself to the functions of governing and not enter into activities which compete with the livelihood of the citizens which it taxes. These are basic ideals. They are what our boys are fighting for. Labor loses its independence when government goes into business. The business man loses his independence. The boy in school loses his future opportunity. When the government becomes the master, the people becomes slaves.

These are fundamental issues on which every candidate for public office on any party ticket should be forced to express himself. In a hundred ways, warning flags are flying to arouse our people to inroads that are being attempted on American liberty. As war measures, we will accept any hardships and restrictions necessary to bring victory. But now, as never before, we must safeguard our future by rejecting proposals and candidates that insidiously undermine the ground in which individual liberty and opportunity stand in this nation. You can't accept state socialism, even in small doses, and retain your independence. In the coming postwar era, our people must be the master not the servants of our government. Never in our history was this issue of such ardent importance as in the coming election.

The Temple Telegram culled these gems from relief workers' case reports in Texas:

"Man has ulcers on his stomach." "These people are extremely cultured. Something should be done about their condition."

"Milk needed by baby and father unable to supply it." "Man hit by automobile—speaks broken English."

Duck hunters with an impatient eye on the lake created by Denison Dam should find good hunting there this fall, according to William J. Tucker, executive secretary of Texas Game, Fish and Oyster Commission, who has pointed out that the lake is on the central fly-way from Canada to the Gulf Coast.

Oklahoma State Game Warden, Jeff Kendall, also expressed confidence of good duck hunting on the Oklahoma side of the 140 square-mile lake. However, sportsmen in the lake area are of the opinion that great confusion will result unless a unified hunting season for the entire lake be established by the U. S. Department of the Interior in Federal Migratory Waterfowl regulations. Since the meandering river bed, original state line, is concealed many feet under water, a hunter quite unwittingly could cross the state line, thereby violating local hunting season laws.

Because of the tremendous fish stocking program by the Texas and Oklahoma commissions and the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service, there will be no fishing until regulations are issued by the game commissions which Tucker believes will be early next year. According to Tucker, no lake in the Southwest has received better primary stocking than Denison Dam reservoir. Oklahoma and the Federal government each will plant about 3,500,000 fish, and Texas plans to have nearly 4,000,000 planted by the end of the year.

FATHER

Used to wonder just why father
Never had much time for play.

Used to wonder why he'd rather
Work each minute of the day.

Used to wonder why he never
Loafed along the road and shirked.

Can't recall a time whenever

Father played while others worked.

Father didn't dress in fashion,

Sort of hated clothing new,

Style with him was not a passion.

He had other things in view.

Boys are blind to much that's going

On about 'em every day.

And I had no way of knowing

What became of father's pay.

All I knew was when I needed

Shoes I got 'em on the spot;

Everything for which I pleaded

Somewhat father always got.

Wondered, season after season,

Why he never took a rest,

And that I might be the reason

Then I never even guessed.

Saw his checks were getting paler.

Didn't understand just why.

Saw his body growing frailer;

Then at last I saw him die.

Rest had come! His tasks were ended.

Calm was written on his brow;

Father's life was big and splendid,

And I understand it now.

HIGH GARDEN YIELD RESULT OF CONTROLLING INSECTS

A good yield from a Victory garden depends largely upon the gardener's success in controlling the insects that prey upon young, tender plants. A full growth of foliage, especially with potatoes, is necessary because the leaves are the means of conveying food and energy to the roots. Insects damage leaves by chewing or sucking the important juices and control should be applied as soon as they appear.

Lead arsenate, used either as a dust or spray, is the most effective poison for potato insects. According to Lucille King, County Home Demonstration Agent, it gives a good kill, sticks to the leaves well, and gives protection for two or three weeks unless washed off by rain. Three tablespoonsfuls of poison to one gallon of water makes a satisfactory spray and requires less of the poison than dusting. But Miss King suggests that if the latter method is used, the plants must be dusted liberally.

Cryolite may be used with safety for controlling cabbage worms until the heads begin to form. The poison then should be changed to Rotenone, which is harmless to humans.

Beef and Pork

and April, the taxing of storage and export shipping facilities to the limit, all combined to create a situation that made it possible to reduce pork to zero point value.

While hog marketing will probably decline during the summer, the factors operating to reduce pork point values to zero will probably continue for the next several months.

BEEF

The less popular cuts of beef were included in the general meat reductions to zero point value because of increased marketing. Also practical trade experience showed that with pork loins, hams and chops at zero, the requirements of points for the less popular cuts of beef might cause a sharp reduction in consumer demand for the larger than normal available supplies.

The production of beef cattle goes in long-term cycles. Normally, the cycle is upward for six years, and for 10 years the cycle is downward. From 1938, the number of cattle on farms has been increasing. At the beginning of the year, cattle numbers had increased to an all-time high of 82,000,000 head, which is larger than desirable in relation to the available feed supply.

Cattle marketing usually go up in the last half of the year, and this, coupled with the unusually pressing need to market large numbers of beef cattle, means that we should get enough beef cattle to market this year to check the upward trend in numbers on the ranges. However, the beef we will be eating will consist to a greater degree than usual of the less popular cuts and the lower grades.

R. O. Dunkle has received the following communication from the War Food Administration:

The 82.2 million head of cattle on farms in January 1, 1942, was the largest inventory on record in the United States. It is more than 10 per cent larger than the previous peak of 74,369,000 head on January 1, 1934.

It should be clearly pointed out that it is not the purpose of the War Food Administration to inaugurate a program for the reduction of livestock numbers. However, it is our obligation to point out the facts relative to livestock numbers and the feed supply. With the over-all situation in mind, an individual livestock producer can plan his own adjustment program.

It is estimated that with average weather conditions, we will have sufficient feed, range and pasture carrying capacity to maintain about 76,800,000 head, which was approximately the number on farms January 1, 1943. To achieve this goal, it would be necessary to slaughter 36.5 million cattle and calves during 1942. This would compare with 27,300,000 head slaughtered during the 1943 calendar year.

It is doubtful if the slaughter facilities can handle more than about 35,000,000 cattle and calves and then only if a considerable part of the increased slaughter can be brought to market during the summer months.

It is estimated that the slaughter of 32,000,000 head in 1942 will be required to meet the estimated minimum total requirements for beef and veal for civilian, land-lease, and military uses.

In the good old days, the suitors for some nice girl were often said to go down on their knees to win her, but some of them would be afraid now that it would spoil the creases in their trousers.

Spoilage Clinics Will Study Causes of Canning Failures

Spoilage clinics are being held in each demonstration club throughout the county during the month of June.

Each club member brings in a can of spoiled food and the agent brings containers of spoiled food. Miss King says spoiled food is divided into three classes. They are as follows: Underprocessed, faulty seal and improper handling. She stresses the cause of food spoilage under these headings and has examples to show of each classification.

Miss King says the greatest cause of food spoilage is due to the type of jar one uses. A standard jar is the type to use if you wish to conserve your food.

Underprocessing is the next in line in cause of food spoilage. Underprocessing occurs under the following conditions:

1. Processing for too short a period (not following reliable processing time tables for either pressure cooker or water bath).

2. Canning low acid vegetables or meats without a pressure cooker.

3. Using a pressure cooker with an inaccurate gauge.

4. Closing the petcock of the cooker before the air is driven out.

5. Beginning to count the processing time before the water bath has come to a boil again after the containers have been put in.

7. Falling, during processing, to have the containers of fruit well covered with boiling water, or with a lively head of steam held in by a tight fitting lid.

8. Failing to increase the processing time if the water does not completely cover the containers, does not boil constantly, or if the jars have unusually large diameters.

9. Failing to permit free circulation of water by packing jars too closely together or not using a rack.

10. Preventing adequate heat penetration by packing containers too tight or too full, especially with beans, corn, greens, peas, pumpkin.

11. Using too much fat in meats. (Bacteria are less readily killed in fat than in water.)

12. Sealing food cold and processing the same length of time as if it were hot when sealed.

Botulism—Foods Affected

Botulism may be found in canned low acid vegetables and meats that have not been heated at high enough temperature for a long enough time. Of rare occurrence under special conditions, a few acid products are subject to botulism.

Botulism cannot always be detected by appearance or odor. Gas is always present. A cloudy liquid sometimes, but not always, accompanies botulism spoilage. Never taste before boiling any meat or vegetables (besides tomatoes) that were canned in a water bath, by open kettle method, in an

Knox City People In California Reunion

Approximately 35 native sons and daughters of Knox City, Texas, and their children last Sunday held a reunion and picnic at Anaheim City Park. It was the first time that many of the brothers had been together for more than a decade.

Most of the time was spent in recalling old days in Texas while the children made themselves happy using the play equipment in the park. It was the first reunion of the former Texans and the occasion was soon enjoyable, according to those attending, that plans are being formulated for period picnics and get-togethers.

Those attending the picnic were: Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Ward and children, Billy and Donny of Los Angeles; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Ward and children, Barbara Fay and Freddy Lee of Buena Park; Mr. and Mrs. Ollie Ward and children, Jerry and Bobby of El Monte; Dewey Ward, Venice; Dale Ward, Whittier; Mr. and Mrs. M. M. Ward and Lura Ben of Anaheim; Lt. Hollis Almanrode of Muroc Air Base; Mr. and Mrs. Sylvan McCoy and children, Patsey, Larry and Mickey; Mrs. Jessie Willis, Fred Hewitt, Mrs. M. H. Taylor, all of Long Beach; Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Swain and Bernie of Anaheim and Sgt. Raymond Williams of Camp Cooke. —Anaheim (California) Bulletin.

OILED SWEET CORN

In Victory gardens large enough to allow sweet corn plantings, there will be need to protect the growing ears from the corn ear worm, according to R. O. Dunkle, County Agent.

If the silk begins to wilt and the tips turn brown three days after the silk emerges from the ear, apply 15 to 20 drops of neutral mineral oil. An inexpensive refined mineral oil may be bought at any drug store. Place the oil a quarter of an inch inside the silk mass just inside the tip of the husk. An ordinary medicine dropper will do the trick. One pint should treat about 600 ears.

If delayed more than seven days after silking the worms may start feeding on the kernels and cannot be reached by the oil.

BLOOD BANKS HELP TEXAS COMMUNITIES; SERVICE MAY BE HAD FOR ASKING

Texas, one of the first states in the Union to establish a blood plasma program for civilian uses, operates, thru the State Department of Health, a well equipped and efficiently manned mobile bleeding unit which is sent upon request to any community desirous of its services.

Blood plasma banks have been proved an invaluable aid to all towns and hospitals where established. The giving of blood does not cause any ill effects to the donor and blood donors are usually pleasantly surprised at the painless simplicity of the bleeding. The process usually takes about thirty minutes from the beginning of the donation to the resumption of normal activities, and is without discomfort to healthy individuals who, incidentally, are the only ones from whom blood is accepted.

Regarding the importance of the blood plasma program, Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, has stated that the man at the front has long since learned to appreciate the value of plasma and would no doubt be grateful to know that it is available for use as needed by the family he has left, and to his home community.

Dr. Cox pointed out that the State Department of Health merely collects the blood and processes it into plasma and then it is returned without cost to the community from which it came. Any civic group or other organization interested in public health may sponsor this program locally. Contact may be made with the local health officer who can make arrangements for this service wherever requested.
