

Refuge not just for the birds

By MARTHA TOLES FROST
City Editor

Many people who live in New York City have never seen the Big Apple from the top of the Empire State Building.

And many people who live in Muleshoe haven't made it out to the Muleshoe National Wildlife Refuge to see a sandhill crane — yet.

Refuge office assistant Glenda Copley said ten sandhill cranes have already arrived at the refuge, but more are expected any day. She hopes they

The refuge's visitor center, 20 miles south of Muleshoe on State Highway 214, is normally open from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. on weekdays.

But refuge personnel are celebrating the refuge week by keeping the center open from 1 to 4:30 p.m. Oct. 8 and 14.

The visitor center contains mounted wildlife species and interpretive wildlife exhibits.

The sun rises over the Muleshoe National Wildlife Refuge on a typical West Texas fall morning. Just before sunrise is a good time to catch a glimpse of the sandhill cranes, which winter in Muleshoe.

Armyworms march through cotton fields

AUSTIN — The cotton crops in several agricultural regions of Texas have experienced extensive and costly damage from a pest known as the "beat armyworm."

The losses vary, ranging from severe devastation in the Rio Grande Valley to some significant yield reductions in the San Angelo/Concho Valley region to minor damage in the Corpus Christi and Winter Garden/Uvalde areas.

"Texas farmers stand to lose at least $209 million from what was otherwise projected as a bumper crop this year," state comptroller John Sharp said.

"These losses result from crop yields being reduced—or in many cases destroyed entirely—as well as the additional expenses associated with purchasing and applying chemicals to fend off a pest that never before has significantly affected the Texas cotton crop."

The army worm—normally a pest to Texas vegetable grower—this year invaded cotton patches.

In the Rio Grande Valley, Sharp estimated the losses at $143 million. In the Concho Valley area, the losses are projected at $38 million.

Though their production will be less affected, cotton farmers in the Coastal Bend, Winter Garden and South Plains regions of Texas will have to spend nearly $30 million for chemicals to protect their crops from the pest that virtually wiped out the cotton crop in the Rio Grande Valley and Concho.

Sharp's report also noted that cotton farmers in northern Mexico did not experience the Muleshoe ISD students will have no school Monday, Oct. 9. But teachers will have a full day of intense training.

Staff development days are designed to help Muleshoe teachers and administrators keep up with new ideas and ways to help students learn.

MIDS Board to discuss results based monitoring

Muleshoe ISD Board of Trustees will meet at 7 p.m. Oct. 9 to approve the tax roll for 1995-96, to discuss the progress on results based monitoring and to discuss the district's employment policy.

Before business items, there will be an open forum for audience participation. After business items, informational reports will be given and personnel considerations will be discussed in closed session.

Bailey County approved for grazing extension

Bailey County has been approved for an extension of the Conservation Reserve Program (CRP) grazing period.

This extension will allow grazing only of the CRP acreage through Nov. 30, 1995.

Producers will not be required to pay any additional fee for extended grazing if approved for the original period. Acreage that has been hayed cannot now be grazed.

CRP participants who request grazing for the first time must meet all the provisions required for those who requested grazing for the original period, except that they must prepay eight percent of the CRP-1 annual per acre rental rate times the acres to be grazed.

Producers must certify acres grazed and the number of cattle that grazed on these acres by Dec. 15, 1995.

For more information, contact the Bailey County Farm Service Agency (FSA) Office at (806) 272-4538.

McViker top picker in Power Points

J.E. McVicker of Box 766 in Muleshoe is the weekly winner of the local first prize in the Muleshoe Journal Power Points football contest for games of Sept. 30-Oct. 2.

McVicker garnered 102 points in a difficult week for pigskin prognosticators statewide. With the Dallas Cowboys, Texas Tech Red Raiders and Houston Oilers losing games they were favored to win, contestants saw their scores tumble.

McVicker used Dallas as his 16-point choice. But he used Houston, Denver, New Orleans and Tech at the bottom of his list, and those incorrect picks did the least damage.

McVicker receives the $10 first prize, as well as a gift certificate from Joe's Boot Shop.

Second with 101 points was John Purdy of 1805 Avenue D in Muleshoe with 101 points. He also used Dallas as his 16-point choice, but moved the other potential upsets to the bottom of

Seminole plows past Mules

By RICK WHITE
Managing Editor

Muleshoe needs to look no further for an example of how a program can be rebuilt.

Seminole was in a situation similar position to Muleshoe four years ago.

Long on losses and short on tradition.

Not any longer.

Seminole manhandled Muleshoe Friday night, 48-6, at Benny Douglass Stadium in the final pre-district tune-up for both teams.

"I'm impressed with what they've done there," Muleshoe head coach Randy Adair said. "(Army Salinas) is a class guy.

"We just got overpowered. So far, I'd have to say they were as impressive as anybody we've played."

Muleshoe (0-5) has played three other District 5-3A teams.

Operating out of the Wing-T, Seminole (4-1) rushed for 497 yards against a young defense that resembled a speed bump trying to slow down a runaway truck.

The Indians scored on every possession except its final possession of the game when time ran out.

Three Indians topped the Fullback Nathanael Flores added 129 yards and three touchdowns and tailback Toby Shain had 112 yards and a

"We had a little success last year," Salinas said. "I think the kids are beginning to realize how it feels to win. I'm elated, astatic for the kids and the program.

hunt until the final game last season (4-5-1) and should make a strong run at a berth this year.

his selections. He receives $7.50. Third went to Crystal Casto of Rt. 2, Box 1391, Muleshoe, with 95 points. Crystal was one of the few contestants who predicted the Cowboys would lose to the Redskins. But She went with Houston, Tech, Denver, San Diego and predicted SMU would upset Texas. Crystal hung in for the $5 third prize.

Honorable mention goes to Sherri Harrison of Muleshoe, who was one of an elite group to finish above 90 points for the week. The contest low was 40 points.

On the statewide contest, another convenience store day manager in Wylie won the $1,000 first prize with 118 points. Jeff Steele, 24, of nearby Farmersville, was the second Wylie convenience store manager in two weeks to claim the top prize. Last week it was Mike Watkins.

Besides their choice of occupations, the Wylie wonders have something else in common: Watkins last week predicted the 49ers would lose to the Giants. This week Steele predicted both the Cowboys and Oilers to be upset.

First Methodist to host workshop for caregivers is the topic for a meeting in the parlor of the First United Methodist Church in Muleshoe, 507 W. Second, at 7 p.m. Oct. 19.

"Managing Alzheimers' Disease and Caregiver Stress"

Leading the session will be Greg Joiner, a psychologist in training from the Texas Tech University Health Sciences Center.

Mary Lynn Bell of Muleshoe—an advocate of the rural education program—said, "Many rural families are conditioned to think Alzheimer's symptoms are just a product of growing older and don't seek help."

The rural education program teaches how to recognize symptoms, where to go for good medical care and ways to improve the patient's life.

"Family members and caregivers are of special concern because the majority of Alzheimer's sufferers are cared for at home," Bell said

Birds

President Theodore Roosevelt established the first National Wildlife Refuge in 1903 at Pelican Island, Fla., to protect egrets and other nesting birds from market hunters.

He established 50 more refuges during his presidency to protect species threatened with extinction, such as the buffalo.

Most of the 500 refuges in the United States and its territories provide habitat for migratory birds, whose fall migration will be in full swing this month.

The Muleshoe refuge hosts one of the largest concentrations of sandhill cranes in North America (during the six-month period the cranes are away from their Alaskan and Canadian breeding grounds).

But due to decreased waterfowl populations and lower lake levels, the refuge has evolved as a wintering area for a species known as "lesser sandhill cranes."

Muleshoe's refuge consists of 5,809 acres—including short-grass rangeland, scattered mesquite and three playa lakes.

When the lakes are full, 600 acres of water are available for wildlife. Upper and Lower Pauls Lake, Goose Lake and White Lake often held water when the Ogalalla Aquifer was higher, refuge manager Don Clapp said.

But when the water table is low, there is no way for the water to purify itself—no outlet. Because of caliche and deposits of lime and alkali in the soil, the dry lake beds and shores appear white.

The refuge manager says sandhill cranes seem to like the periodically dry condition of the Muleshoe refuge, with its shallow wet areas to stand in and its exposed lake shores that allow the cranes to watch for predators.

Migrating cranes begin to arrive in early October, and numbers increase into the thousands.

About 100,000 of the cranes winter at the Muleshoe refuge in a normal year—with an all-time peak of 250,000 counted in February, 1981.

Many spend the entire winter in the area, roosting nightly on the shallow, saline lakes and flying at sunrise to surrounding agricultural land in search of waste grain, invertebrates, grass or wheat.

"Sometimes the lake is half-covered with them. They come from the Texas coast to spend the night. If the lake is dry, they go on," Clapp said.

Early fall migrating waterfowl such as shorebirds, blue-winged teal and early arriving sandhill cranes are just some of the 281 species of wildlife that may be seen on the Muleshoe refuge.

In addition to birds, many mammals common to the area are abundant at the refuge, including the prairie dog, prairie rattlesnake, coyote, bobcat, badger, skunk, cottontail, jackrabbit and porcupine.

Lady Mules fourth at Abernathy

ABERNATHY — The Muleshoe Lady Mules finished fourth here Sept. 30 in a meet dominated by Nazareth.

Nazareth finished with 32 points, placing all of its runners in the top 12. Muleshoe, led by a sixth-place finish by Cari Faver, totaled 192 points in the nine-team meet. Faver toured the two-mile course in 13 minutes and six seconds.

Brandi Harrison ran a personal-best time of 13:26 and finished 17th.

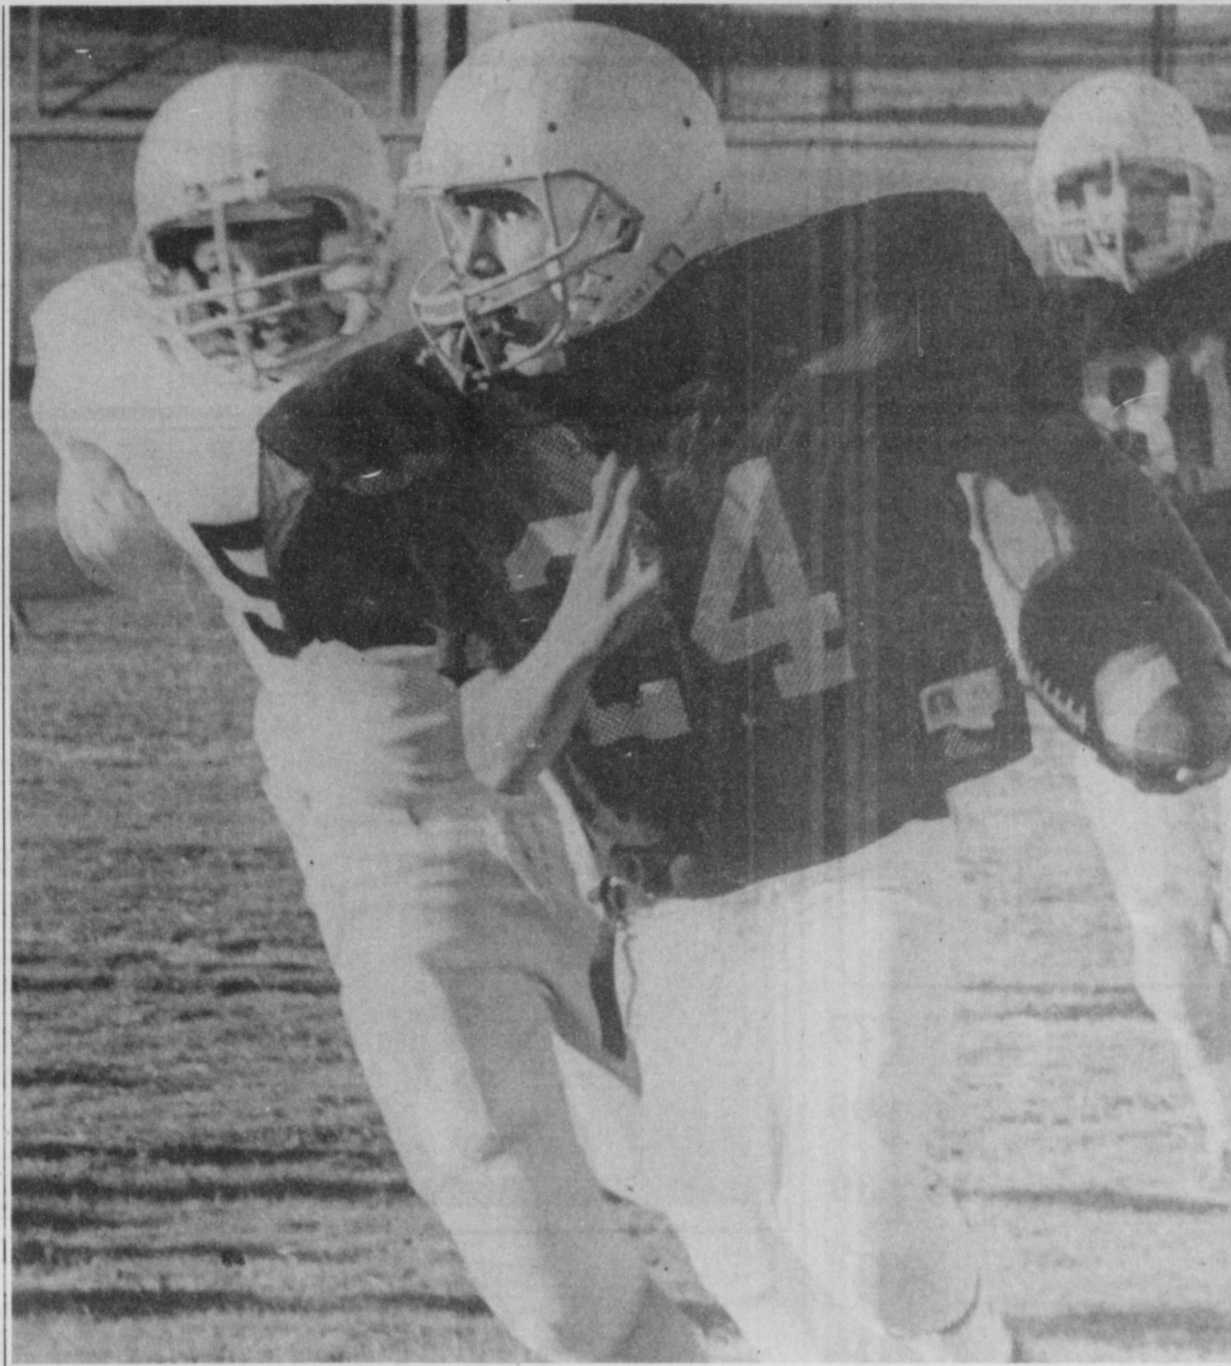

Other Lady Mule times were Kim Villa, 13:54; Priscilla Aguirre, 14:04; Jo Beth Gilleland, 14:05; Shelbi Robinson, 14:24; and Casie Height, 15:03.

Because of injuries and several runners that quit the program, the Muleshoe boys didn't field a complete team.

Charles Acosta placed fourth for the Mules with a time of 17:59 over the three-mile course. Riley Byers was 16th with a time of 19:18.

Other Mule finishers and times were Corey Williams, 21:04; and David Vaughn, 21:13.

Muleshoe ran at a Lubbock meet Saturday.

Don't look back

Chris Vella returns a kickoff during the second half of the Watson Junior High 7th-graders' 20-14 win over Seminole Thursday. Vella scored twice as the Mules improved to 3-0-1.

WJHS 7th remains unbeaten

Chris Vela ran for 78 yards and two touchdowns to lead the Watson Junior High 7th-grade Mules to a 20-14 win over Seminole Thursday at Benny Douglass Stadium.

Vela's 29-yard scoring run in the third quarter snapped a 6-6 tie. Darrell Lewis added a 32-yard touchdown run late in the fourth quarter to give the Mules a 20-6 lead.

But Joquin Rios raced 76

yards for a touchdown and ran for the two-point conversion to make it 20-14 with a little less than a minute left. Rios also scored the Indians' (1-3) first touchdown.

But Muleshoe (3-0-1) ran out the clock.

Jerrell Otwell gained 23 yards on five carries, ran for a two-point conversion and had a sack for WJHS, while Lewis picked up 61 yards on six carries. Zack Barrett completed his only pass attempt, a 13-yarder to Chris Shelbourne.

Linebacker Stephen Woodard and defense tackle Manuel Flores paced the Mule defense with six tackles each. Cornerback Tyler Black added five tackles while Blake Bates recovered a fumble.

WJHS opens its District 2-3A season Oct. 6 at Littlefield.

Little Mules come up short against Indians

The Watson Junior High 8th-grade Mules came up a minute late and a yard short of keeping its unbeaten streak in tact Thursday, dropping a 7-6 decision to Seminole at Benny Douglass Stadium.

After driving 60 yards for the tying touchdown late in the fourth quarter, Clint Black was stopped just short of the goal line on a two-point try with 1:44 left in the game.

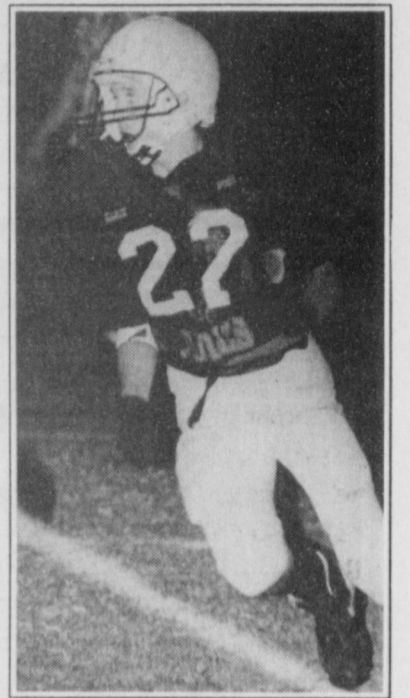

After being bottled up by a swarming Indian defense for most of the game, the Mules (3-1-1) finally got their power running game in gear.

With Josh Tosh (98 yards on 11 carries), the Mules moved swiftly down field after taking over at their own 40 with a little less than six minutes to go.

Tosh, who did most of the damage with strong running up the middle, found a gaping hole in the right side of the defense and scored on a 13-yard run to tie the game at 6-6.

Seminole scored in the first quarter on a short pass. They were the first points the Mules allowed this season.

Mitch Mason led WJHS with seven tackles and a sack.

On the loose

Clint Black finds some running room in the WJHS 8th-graders' 7-6 loss to Seminole Thursday.

Rhett Green had five tackles, one sack and one forced fumble while Jesse Reyes had four tackles and two sacks. Raymond Cortez also forced a fumble.

James Barrett was 5-for-7 for 14 yards and Eric Posadas was 1-for-2 for 14 yards. Black was their favorite target, catching four passes for 24 yards.

WJHS opens its District 2-3A season Oct. 6 at Littlefield.

Heritage Happenings

The annual meeting of the Muleshoe Heritage Foundation was held Sept. 25.

The meeting was called to order by president Robert Shafer.

Treasurer Mrs. Vivian White gave the financial statement and noted the importance of the Heritage Gift Shop to support the Heritage Center.

Barak Harlin, president of the Student-Community Action Club, then gave an update on the activities of this student group which acts as an honorary board member. SCAC donated $1,150.50 to the foundation the past year to help restore the loft in the old log cabin.

Mr. Shafer reported on the goals accomplished at the Center the past year. These included a parking lot, new Christmas lights, restoring the Eclipse windmill, sending a board member to a grant-writing school, porch repairs at the Janes ranch house, obtaining a computer, as well as the Green Thumb worker. The president reminded everyone that the Heritage Center is open every day except Tuesday and Wednesday for tours since obtaining the Green Thumb worker. He also explained how the Heritage Center was used as a backdrop for the outdoor drama "Keepers of the Legend."

The foundation also sponsored the very successful bike ride held over Labor Day weekend which attracted more than 100 riders to Muleshoe.

The president then reported on future goals, which included a new sprinkler system, landscaping of the Heritage grounds, renovation of the old Muleshoe cookhouse, restoring of the log cabin loft with the help of the SCAC and a tree/shrub memorial program.

The memorial chairman, Jenne McVicker, explained the tree/shrub memorial program and invited Bailey County residents to donate a tree in memory or to honor a friend or relative, which will be planted at the Center with a memorial plaque, according to the approved landscaping plans.

The president then asked for a report from the nominations committee for new board members. Dan Throckmorton, vice president, asked that the three members whose terms expire at this year be re-elected and the motion was approved.

Thus, R.A. Bradley, Kim Shafer and Vivian White will continue as board members. The president then appointed Chuck Smith to fill the unexpired term of Larry Hooten, who asked to be re-elected as a board member.

The president then adjourned the meeting.

A short meeting of the board of the directors followed and old officers were re-elected to serve another year.

These include Shafer, Throckmorton, first vice president; Jack Hicks, second vice president; Evelyn Peat, secretary; Vivian White, treasurer; Jean Allison, public relations.

Other board members include R.A. Bradley, Terry Sowder, Kristy Price, Gordon Green, Larry Nickels, Kim Shafer and Chuck Smith.

Farming ain't for the rich

BAXTER BLACK

ON THE EDGE OF COMMON SENSE

If wheat gets up to seven bucks
I'll hoard it, yessiree
Til the grain bin's overflowing
Or it gets back down to three.

Like asphalt in the driveway
Or fancy silverware
Or a double jointed tractor
Course, the preacher wants his share.

There's too much ridin' on it
To sell it right away,
The banker might call in my note
They're funny that-a-way.

No, there ain't no use me gettin' rich.
Knowin' me, I'd spend it.
and borrow more for land and stock.
There's plenty who would lend it.

As long as things are nip and tuck
They'll let the balance ride.
Just pay the interest on it
And they'll be satisfied.

I'm better off just gettin' by
And stayin' where I set
'Cause the more I make farmin'
The more I go in debt

They don't like sudden changes
Conservatives, you see,
They like things they can count on Like hail and CRP.

So, if wheat gets up to seven
I could sell it on the board
But I won't. 'Cause makin' money's
One thing I can't afford.

And if you look to go prosperous
Or friends think that you are
They'll try and sell you somethin'
You've lived without so far

It's a different kind of logic
That allows a man to boast
When the richest farmer farmin'
Is the one that owes the most.

Congressmen tell their side of Farm Bill policy battle

By U.S. Reps. Bill Emerson (R-MO), Larry Combest (R-TX), Richard Baker (R-LA), and Saxby Chambliss (R-GA)

There has been much confusion and false implications in the national media regarding farm policy reform emanating from the House Agriculture Committee.

In virtually every case, a quote from former President Harry Truman about the impetuous difficult nature of one of his Cabinet Secretaries comes to mind.

When asked why he found it difficult to deal with his own Secretary of Commerce, Henry Wallace, President Truman state, "He is a man so firmly in possession of the truth that the facts just don't matter very much."

We do need to consider the facts to get as close to reality as mortal effort permits.

As the four Republicans on the Ag Committee who voted against the Freedom to Farm Act (introduced by Chairman Pat Roberts) and supported a substitute measure known as the Agricultural Competitiveness Act of 1995, we wanted to take this opportunity to set the record straight.

First and foremost, the Agricultural Competitiveness Act meets the budget guidelines of reducing the cost of federal farm programs by $13.4 billion over seven years.

Meeting our balanced budget obligations was never a question—was not and is not. We, and most agriculturally-involved folks in rural areas, have always believed that the farm sector should do its share in this effort.

So, there is no dispute between Freedom to Farm and the Agricultural Competitiveness Act on meeting budget guidelines. Our reforms reduce payments to farmers, increase flexibility, and yes, meet the budget.

What these reforms do not do is allow farmers to collect checks from Uncle Sam (i.e., the American taxpayer) when those same producers have received good prices in the marketplace.

Many reports, editorials, and publications have implied that to not support the so-called Freedom to Farm proposal perpetuates "welfare for farmers." Nothing, we repeat nothing, could be further from the truth.

For instance, under Freedom to Farm, a producer with a good harvest and excellent prices could still get a $50,000 government check.

Under the Agricultural Competitiveness Act, however, that same farmer would collect nothing -- zilch -- from our Federal Treasury.

Under our proposal, the safety net would be there when prices and market conditions are distorted for a variety of reasons.

In fact, in 1995, the very crop year in which we are debating this legislation, the market for cotton, wheat, and corn—all program crops—has been good, not great, but at a level that will preclude or reduce greatly payments to farmers under existing law.

Under the Agricultural Competitiveness Act, the Congressional Budget Office estimates that no checks would be written, while under Freedom to Farm's provisions, windfall checks of up to $50,000 would be sent to farmers who have already received a profit in the marketplace.

The House Agriculture Committee has the responsibility to keep American agriculture competitive so that our farmers are not left at the mercy of foreign governments—particularly those that buy products from their farmers and proceed to dump these products on the markets below the cost of production.

Chart the recent history of this heavy foreign government pushiness in the international markets, and you see wild price gyrations that make some U.S. commodities truly susceptible.

GATT (the General Agreement on Tariffs & Trade) should dissuade dumping, but many foreign governments did not sign GATT.

Under the Agricultural Competitiveness Act, the tools are in place to fight this inequity; under Freedom to Farm, our producers would be defenseless.

American farmers, ag business leaders, and taxpayers demand and deserve an honest well-thought-out proposal; and that's exactly what we have put on the table. We believe the Congress must take bold action to achieve the mutual goals of sound farm policy and fiscal responsibility. This is a matter of national interest and basic principle.

Seeing our point, the Senate Agriculture Committee has approved a Farm Bill measure in keeping with the same principles of our Agricultural Competitiveness Act. Both Senate Majority Leader Bob Dole and Senate Agriculture Committee Chairman Richard Lugar cast their votes in favor of this market-oriented plan -- one that does not pull the rug out from underneath the feet of America's farmers.

The facts must be looked at and the rhetoric ignored. As this process proceeds, it is easy to see the truth in President Dwight Eisenhower's statement, "Farming looks mighty easy when your plow is a pencil and you're a thousand miles away from the field." We will continue our efforts in the Committee and the Congress so that American farm policy takes the shape of a productive tool for farmers.

Garza installed as 1995-96 Muleshoe Kiwanis president

Flavio Garza was installed as the new president of the Muleshoe Kiwanis Club during the annual installation banquet Sept. 30 at Five Area Telephone Cooperative.

Garza, who assumed office Oct. 1, was installed by Kiwanis Division 33 District Lt. Governor D.A. Pritchard.

Garza is a one-year member of the Muleshoe Club and as president will provide leadership and coordination for the club's growth, activities and community service projects.

Founded in 1915, Kiwanis is a civic and community service organization with more than 9,000 local clubs and 300,000 members in 80 countries.

Under the motto, "We Build," and the major emphasis of "Young Children . . . Priority One," Muleshoe Kiwanis actively sponsors and supports local projects.

Some of the projects are Meals on Wheels, Boy Scouts, Cub Scouts, Girl Scouts, the flag project, the Mule Putt golf Guests for the evening included members of the Amarillo Golden K Club: Bill Couch, Ben Pumphy, Stew Chapman, Gene Weaver, Bill Ferrell, Frank Benites, Elnora Boothe, Prichard and his wife Inez.

Also present were Sandra Garza, Gayle Morris, Pat Young, Kiwanis Sweetheart Michelle Williams and her sister Melissa.

Ag Update

by Curtis Preston

The last two weeks have been critical weeks for the development of late cotton.

Dr. Dan Krieg at Texas Tech was able to determine that the green leaves are still fully functional and even purple leaves are contributing to boll development.

The higher percent of green in a leaf, the higher the photosynthetic activity.

Basically, we got lucky! Four days of overcast weather—after getting 35 degrees—allowed healthy leaves to repair themselves.

Chilling injury causes internal cellular damage. Water-stressed or older leaves were not able to repair themselves.

POWER POINTS OFFICIAL RULES

- Object of the game is to amass as many of the 136 possible points as you can. Simply review the week's schedule of games, listed on entry form, and decide which game you are surest of picking a winner in. Write the name of your projected winner on the 16-point line. If that team wins its game that week, you win 16 points. Write the name of your second-surest winner on the 15-point line, and so on down to the 1-point line, which game you figure to be a toss-up. Next, fill in Tiebreaker-1, the total points scored by both teams in the week's Cowboys or Oilers game. If this step fails to produce a winner, the judges will apply Tiebreaker 2, total offensive yardage from scrimmage in this game. If a winner still doesn't emerge, a drawing will be held among those contestants still tied. Decisions of the judges are final. The weekly winner of the contest will receive $1,000.
- Any entry form that does not contain a legible name, address, etc., will be disqualified.
- Entries that fail to forecast a winner from each and every game will be disqualified, as will entries that fail to distinguish between the Jets and Giants of New York and, when necessary, between the Houston Oilers and the Houston Cougars.
- No points are awarded on tie games or in case any game is not played for any reason during its scheduled week.
- Entering POWER POINTS constitutes permission by contestant for his or her name and photograph to be used for news and reasonable promotional purposes at no charge.
- Employees of this newspaper and their immediate families are ineligible to participate.
- No purchase necessary. Facsimile game entry forms will be accepted and are available at all outlets of participating co-sponsors. Enter contest by dropping entry form into POWER POINTS container at participating co-sponsors.
- Weekly deadline for entry will be 2 p.m. Fridays except when noted otherwise on weekly entry form.
- Neither this newspaper nor any co-sponsor will be responsible for illegible entry forms or those lost, stolen or damaged in any way.
- Limit: one entry per person per week. Each entry must represent the original work of one entrant, "group" entries "systems" or other attempts to enter multiple entries will be disqualified. Filling out extra forms and putting your friends' and relatives' names on them violates this rule. Any such entries are destroyed prior to grading.
- Contestants must have reached the age of eight (8) years by the Sunday of any week's play.

Happy October birthdays to Nannie Blackman, 10/8/1906; Lora Dale, 10/20/1918; Roma Davis 10/30/1913; Vera Downing, 10/15/1905; Vera Engleking 10/14/1909; Kenneth Everett, 10/1/1942; D.B. Ivy, 10/8/1916; Leonard McCormick, 10/5/1910; Ruby Steinbock, 10/6/1911; and Oneita Wagnon, 10/27/1911.

Thursday morning, a van from the First Baptist Church and two mini vans—loaded with residents, volunteers and staff—headed for Lubbock to spend the day at the South Plains Fair.

The convoy arrived at the fair grounds close enough to noon that our first mission was a place to eat for a group of twenty. We were successful and found a place large enough with good food.

We were then off to explore the fair, to see the exhibits, the animals, a goat blowing up balloons, ride the ferris wheel, listen and watch quartets sing, get another Coke, eat funnel cake and now time to load up and head for Muleshoe. We arrived a little weary but exuberant.

Residents who participated were Lora Dale, Roxie Hoover, Rosa Sneed, Kenneth Everett, Helen Tinskey, Bootie Tiller, and Jackie Davenport.

Volunteers were bus driver, Melvin Griffin, Wanda Griffin, Mrs. Waddell, Joyeline Costen, and Clara Lou Jones.

Melvin Griffin made us a really neat and unusual bird feeder. You must come by and see it.

The Muleshoe Church of Christ Prayer Sisters and ladies' Bible study group will host our Halloween party, Tuesday, Oct. 31 at 3:30 p.m.

The October birthday party is scheduled for Thursday, Oct. 26 at 3:30 p.m. Come help our residents celebrate.

Nettie Quesenberry was visited by her daughter, Anna B and son-in-law, Jack Lane, and her daughter Nadine Macha of Littlefield, Wednesday.

Glenda Jennings and Jonessa Brockman lead the singing and played the piano at our Wednesday afternoonsing-a-long and puppet show. Special guests for the event were Ruby Garner, Jack and Anna B. Lane and Nadine Macha.

Buster and Wanda Kittrell hosted coffee/spudnut time Wednesday morning. Kathrine Rogers submitted a poem "Fudge" written by Barbara Berry, and read by Buster. Jim Claunch, Tennie McCormick and Ruby Garner also participated in the event.

Staff were Vikie Hutton, Teri Brown, Jesse, Ruth, Janell and Joy.

Guy Kendall was visited by Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Scoggin Thursday.

Margaret Wilhite visited Florence Harvey Wednesday afternoon.

Jackie Davenport was visited by her daughter and son-in-law Wednesday.

Ava Carpenter visited Lola Goodnought Tuesday afternoon.

Kathryn Hancock surprised us with a visit Wednesday afternoon.

Friday afternoon the Joy Choir from the First Baptist Church filled the Care Center with music and song. The gospel songs were lead by music director, Scott Pace, and the piano was played by Lois Killingsworth. Following the singing, refreshment of finger sandwiches, cookies and punch were served.

Melvin and Wanda Griffin hosted the bingo time Saturday.

Sunday afternoon the Calvary Baptist Church came for church services.

Have a nice day!

Peer Assistance Leadership class receives PAL training

The Muleshoe High School PAL (Peer Assistance and Leadership) class participated in PAL training Sept. 16-17 at Ceta Canyon.

The retreat training was conducted by Louise Lee of the Peer Assistance Network of Texas headquartered in Austin.

Subjects covered during the PAL retreat included teamwork and cooperation, interpersonal relationships, self-esteem, keeping confidentiality, helping skills, goal setting and sharing.

Some of the PAL class activities include working with elementary students at Dillman and DeShazo campuses, peer tutoring at the high school, community service projects and other projects that arise throughout the year.

The class was accompanied by PAL teacher Alice Liles.

Plainview Excel is convicted of negligence

PLAINVIEW — A federal judge Thursday awarded $625,000 in damages for work-related injuries to two employees of Excel Corporation's meat packing plant in Plainview.

Maria De La Cruz suffered a wrist injury and Frances Ponce sustained shoulder injuries.

Both sustained cumulative trauma disorders (wear and tear on the joints caused by repetitive motion) using a Wizzard Knife, a powered knife used to scrape meat from bones.

Such injuries are associated with sustained gripping of a vibrating tool.

St. Mary of the Plains opens new cancer facility

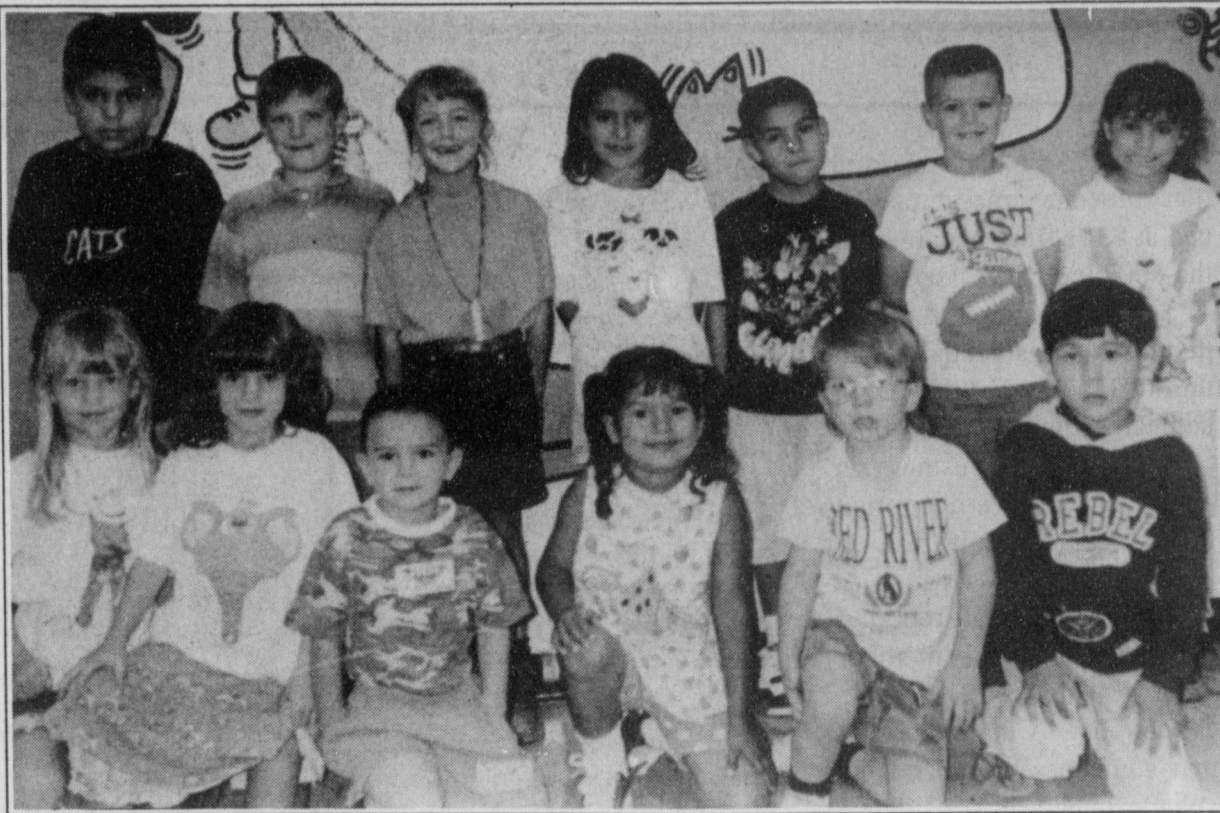

LUBBOCK — The Joe Arrington Cancer Research and Treatment Center (JACC) is a comprehensive, community-based facility that provides cancer education, diagnosis and research, including medical and radiation oncology.

The primary goal of the center is to inform the community of the benefits of cancer screening and early diagnosis.

The 17,000 sq. ft. center at 4101 22n Place was named in memory of Lubbock cardiologist Joe Arrington, M.D.

The cancer center provides advanced treatment with state-of-the-art equipment.

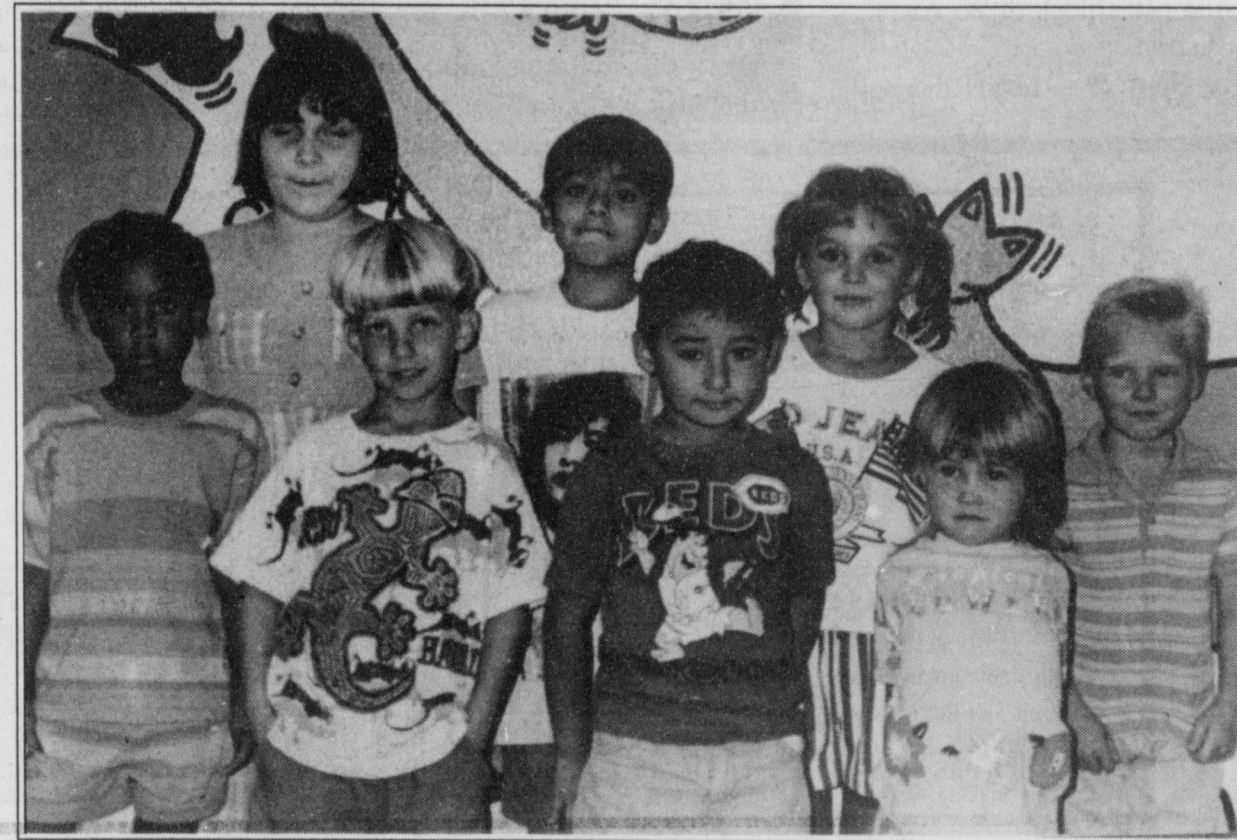

JACC also serves as a national cancer registry to collect data on patients with cancer from diagnosis through survival analysis.

Mules

Alfredo Gonzales and two other starters were declared academically ineligible.

The Mules went to a power running game with senior Daniel Garbarino taking over under center. Garbarino is one of the top wide receivers in West Texas.

The Mules rushed for 223 yards and Garbarino threw a 25-yard touchdown pass to Jarrod Redwine. But turnovers on their first three possessions of the second half ended any chance of staying in the game.

All three led to Seminole touchdowns.

"The kids were excited about lining up and playing smash-mouth football," Adair said. "I think it fits our kids better now than the one-back set."

John Bryan Cowart paced the Mules with 92 yards on 15 carries in his second game since coming back from a knee injury. Jake Adair added 59 yards on 17 carries.

Flores gave Seminole a 13-0 lead with a pair of first-quarter touchdown runs, with a lot of help from his pulling guards, who carved out creases that look like the Grand Canyon.

Muleshoe responded with 63-yard scoring drive, with Cowart being the workhorse. On first-and-10 at the 25, Garbarino floated a play-action pass to Redwine to get the Mules on the board.

The Real Simpson Jury Is Still In O.J.'s Mirror

Almost exactly one year ago, I bowed to O.J.-madness and wrote the following column. Since that's all we're talking about this week, here's a re-run, with notes—

When we Christians embrace God's priorities as our own, the folks the church recognizes as this world's true VIPs are, as one man the O.J. Simpson case.

From hero to heel, from start to finish, from Hertz in the airport to handcuffs in the courtroom, we've watched O.J.

Is he guilty? I don't know. But his former sister-in-law spoke for lots of us non-legally-minded ordinary "Joes & Janes" when she said, "If O.J. is so innocent, why are they trying to suppress all the evidence?" Maybe any competent defense attorney would bring up what most of us see as "technicalities," but what if technicalities are all they have? What if the only Academy Award O.J. ever gets is one for a perfect impersonation of a guilty man? Just wondering.

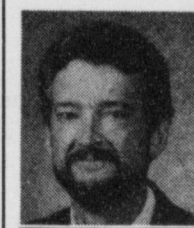

What will happen in the trial? I don't know [We do now!], and I personally hope the judge plugs the keyhole on this nation of peeping Toms and we're not allowed to see it [Alas, we saw it all!].

But one noted attorney gave this prediction: two hung juries and he walks. [Surprise! The verdict came in all too easily.]

It wouldn't surprise me. But I submit to you that, whatever the verdict is, the one jury that neither O.J. nor the rest of us will ever fool is the one that looks back in the mirror. [Still true.]

Your Judge and mine won't be impressed with a technical defense. And the only blood stains that will matter are His Son's as they cover our sins.

has written, "the little, the least, the last, and the lost." In a perfect world (or in one with much good taste) "Lifestyles of the Rich and Famous" and People magazine would both go broke. No one would appreciate twisted priorities and peeping Tom journalism. It would be, for our society, a much healthier sign if we approached such shows and magazines with glances of pity, or nausea, or, maybe better, yawns, instead of drools. Alas, the pity is that they seem to be in no financial danger! Donahue and Sally Jesse and their ilk continue to turn out tripe, and too many of us adjust our television sets and continue to stoop lower in front of the TV keyholes.

Fire safety class kicks off safety courses at SPC

LEVELLAND — A class in fire safety is part of a list of safety-related short courses South Plains College is offering this fall to help business and industry meet new OSHA regulations for their employees.

Fire safety on Oct. 9 will cover recognizing potential hazards, proper housekeeping, extinguishing small fires, classes of fire extinguishers, live fire training and when not to fight a fire.

Respiratory protection class is slated for Oct. 16, hazard communication for Oct. 23, and personal fall protection on Oct. 30.

All classes meet 6:30 to 9:30 p.m. in the SPC Petroleum Technology-Law Enforcement Building, Room 108.

R.E.S.M. of the Littlefield York Rite Masons. Survivors include his wife, Barbara; one daughter, Marsha Lynn Douglas of Garland, TX; one brother, Roy Blackman of Spearman, TX; one sister, Pat Carter of Lovington, NM; and two grandchildren.

He was preceded in death by a son, Brent Lee Blackman in 1979.

SEASONS CHANGE

For a time leaves are green, then in early fall they become brilliant with many colors. Finally they turn brown and fall from the trees, leaving them drab and lonely looking.

God never changes, he is an ever present help.

"For I am the Lord, I change not"

Attend church and learn more of God's wonderful and never changing love.

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

Jena Carlile honored with bridal shower

A wedding shower in honor of Jena Carlile and Curt Moore was held Sept. 24 in the home of Billie Graves.

Guests were greeted by Jena Carlile and Billie Graves.

Special guests were Janice Moore, mother of the future groom; Jan Carlile, mother of the bride elect; Frances Oliver, grandmother of the future groom; and Ernestine Steinbock, great aunt of the future groom.

The hostess gift was a

Jena Carlile vacuum cleaner. The hostesses were Polly Oliver, Maxine Donaldson, Carelean Hamilton, Billie Graves, Coralyn Jarman, Sherry Embry, Bobbie Pierson, Mary Tate, Sandy Turner and Mary Hicks.

Braddock feted with bridal shower

Sheila (Garner) Braddock was the guest of honor at a bridal shower held in the home of Connie Haight of Muleshoe. Guests attending were greeted between the hours of 2 and 3:30 p.m. on Sunday, Sept. 17.

Refreshments included an assortment of home-baked breads, cheesecake, nuts and mints. Scarlet punch was served from crystal appointments on a table covered with white lace. A peach and mauve silk arrangement accented the serving table.

Special guests included Paula Braddock, mother of the groom; Vickie Garner, mother of the bride; Marie Williams, grandmother of the bride; as well as Tessa Garner and Britany Braddock, nieces of the same problems as their Texas counterparts.

"Crops north of the Rio Grande experienced uniform damage, while crops south of the River, as close as two miles to Texas crops in some areas, had excellent yields," Sharp said. "The Mexican crops survived the same heat and the weather conditions and in many cases, with less water."

The key difference, according to officials of the State Department of Agriculture and many Rio Grande Valley producers, is that the Mexican growers did not initiate a comprehensive boll weevil eradication program and, therefore, did not kill the beneficial insects that traditionally kept the beat armyworm in check.

"Beneficial insects are more important in combating beat armyworm than with other pests," said Dr. Jim Leser, an entomologist with the Texas A&M Agriculture Extension office in Lubbock.
