40c PER MONTH

The several pastors filled their respective appointments yesterday morning and evening, with fairly full audiences; and the meeting of the Epworth league at 4 o'clock was entertaining and instructive.

We are indebted to the ever vigilant registrar, John A. Lomax for the third annual announcement and catalogue of the University of Texas. Will give particulars in next issue of the Evening News.

Blacklisting and Boycotting.

The labor union in Colorado introduced a bill in the State legislature to prohibit blacklisting and boycotting. It was finally passed with amendments prohibiting boycotts. At the same time just passed, the clause concerning boycotts was repealed and the repeal bill was vetoed by the Governor. In his veto message Governor Thomas says: "The boycott and black list are slightly different means of accomplishing the same result. Those of our citizens who demand the suppression of the black list and the freedom of the boycott should reflect that every argument they urge against the one applies to the other." Once more from Governor Thomas's veto of the boycott repeal bill.

The most serious fault in this bill is that some of its provisions in the State disregard and violate the black list section with impunity, while labor organizations are held to a strict accountability under the other. This is said to result from the difficulty of detecting the one and concealing the operation of the other. There is, unfortunately, too much truth in this statement. The strong syndicate, entrenched in power and authority, overrides prohibition and penalties, snaps its fingers in the faces of the people, and sets at naught the limitation of statutes and Constitution.

So not only does anti-trust and anti-blacklist legislation react against the labor, but it is far more easily enforced against the labor than against the capitalist.

Yet another fact remains to be considered, and that is the cost of litigation. It is a notorious fact that a rich man is able to carry his case from court to court, until he can secure a verdict in his favor, while the poor man must succumb under the first adverse ruling.

Every one, or nearly every one, claims to desire a state of society founded in accordance with the principle of equal freedom. When this is achieved, strikes, boycotts, trusts, and black lists will seldom if ever be resorted to. With the declaration of peace, the horrors of war become a thing of the past. If such social conditions are ever to be instituted, every proposed reform must be judged in the light of Equal Freedom. Any that are to be found to be at variance with this principle must be defeated, no matter how promising they may be at first glance. Justice can never grow out of unjust legislation, nor can the world become free while defending tyranny.—FRANCIS D. TANDY

CIRCULAR LETTER.

Amarillo, Texas, February 10th, 1900.

To the citizens of Amarillo, Texas:

We beg leave to call your attention to the requirements of this city, relative to the sanitary condition of the same, and urge upon you the necessity of an early and concerted action with us in these matters, to the end that we may enter the summer months free from all local causes for disease, and that we may be enabled with your assistance to at all times maintain this condition, which should be the primal wish of every inhabitant of our city.

Below we give you a brief synopsis of the requirements of the city ordinances bearing upon this point, and a strict adherence to the same will be observed in all cases of violation of the least of the provisions, and the city scavenger is required to report all cases of violation, as well as the sanitary board, to the proper authorities for action as the law requires, a date ten days from this date has been allowed by the city council, to all parties, to strictly comply in the manner herein provided as follows:

All privies and out-houses for private residences, must be cleaned once each month, during the months of April, May, June, July, August, and September, and at least one time in two months of the year thereafter; all privies and out-houses used in connection with any hotel, boarding house, wagon yard, livery stable, saloon, or any other kind of business houses, within the city limits, must be cleaned once in every two weeks, during the months of April, May, June, July, August and September, and once in each of the other months, during the remainder of the year. Each person owning or controlling any such privy, above defined, shall use a sufficient quantity of lime, or other disinfectant, to keep the privies, and out-houses, from becoming offensive.

No hogs shall be allowed in the city limits.

Barrels, or other receptacles, shall be kept by all persons, in which shall be deposited all garbage, slops, and all vegetable refuse, or decaying substance, and shall have the same emptied, and contents removed, as often as may become necessary to prevent the same from becoming offensive. All carcasses, of dead animals and fowls, shall be removed to the scavenger ground of the city.

All tanks, reservoirs, or other receptacles for water shall be cleaned as often as necessary, to preserve the purity of the water.

There must be a back covering, swung on hinges, or otherwise conveniently arranged, to hide from view the deposits in any and all privies, and to prevent paper blowing from them out into the streets and alleys, and from thence carried by the wind throughout the entire city. This requirement must be carried out to the letter.

A violation of any of the foregoing provisions, entails a penalty as fixed by ordinance of the city, of not less than $10 nor more than $100.00, together with all cost of the proceedings.

It is unlawful for any person to throw waste paper or any kind of fruit peeling, or watermelon rind, or any kind of trash or filthy substance, onto any street, alley, sidewalk or vacant lot.

This provision becomes imperative, owing to the fact that it becomes necessary to protect the system of drainage put down by the city, from filling up with rubbish, and preventing the free flow of water through it. Each merchant should provide a place for accumulated waste paper, so it can be burned, and also provide a receptacle for all manner of fruit peeling and trash that will accumulate, and have the same hauled off. This rule must be invoked to the letter, and the penalty for violation of any provision as named, will entail a penalty of not less than $5.00, nor

Death of E. R. Vaughan.

E. R. Vaughan, after a three week's illness of pneumonia, passed away at 1:50 o'clock this morning; aged 28 years. Mr. Vaughan came to Amarillo something near two years ago, and established a jewelry store, but soon sold out and went into the cattle business, and more recently sold his cattle, and at the time of his illness was out of business. He was a native of Augusta, Ark. Just before taken down he had finished the building of nice cottage for his mother on corner of 4th and Buchanan street.

Ed Vaughan as he was familiarly known, was an unusually bright young man, proverbially polite, and respectful, especially to his scholars, and was universally esteemed by his many acquaintances.

The Capps Troubles

Mrs. Wm. D. Capps is in sore distress over the two episodes recently in her family—that of the mysterious missing of her husband, and the kidnapping of her 14 years old daughter.

The reporter found her leath to divulge opinions of what is so little certainly known; but the following was gleaned: On the 29th of Dec. her husband, Wm. D. Capps, out in town as supposed, failed to return, and not a word has been heard of him since. No trouble in the family, never seen drinking, was not dependent, no indication of a desire to go away, had business fairly well in hand, and can not account for his protracted absence.

A Denver paper, received recently, gave account of a dead man found in an ice car for J. L. Worth. The matter is being investigated, as it is possible to be the remains of Mr. Capps.

Regarding the alleged kidnapping of the little daughter by Kate Cooksey little was asked, but the following obtained: Cooksey is the son of Mrs. Capps' disrespected first cousin in of the girl, and was raised by their grandfather at Colorado city, Texas. He had a pretty young wife, and in charge of Mr. Capps' restaurant annex of his lodging house.

His near relationship to the girl enabled him to gain her confidence, which he did completely—so much so, said one who knew, that one ever she was hypnotized by another, out side of the profession, it was she.

The officers arrested Cooksey and rescued the child in Motley County, the day after their arrival there, she at the time being very sick or measles, and with no testimony has been taken from her for use of the grand jury at Cleardon.
