REMEMBER TO VOTE TODAY

Voters Go To Polls On Water Issue Again Today - Aug. 14

Voters will once again go to the polls today (Thursday) to decide whether or not to authorize the City Council to enter into a contract with the North Central Texas Municipal Water Authority to supply water to the City of Knox City.

All resident, qualified voters of the city will cast their votes in two separate ballot boxes, one either for or against the water contract and one either for or against the bond issue. Any registered voter who has been a resident of Knox City for the past six months may vote.

Member cities of the NCTMWA which include Haskell, Munday, Goree, and Knox City, all approved both proposed issues in elections held last May 29. However, litigation questioned the validity of the election inasmuch as voting was limited to property owners.

After exploring the legal aspects of the situation, the board members of the NCTMWA agreed that a new election would be the safest and simplest of alternatives. The Authority received a 120-day extension of its loan commitment from the Texas Water Development Board and the local City Council held a special meeting last month to adopt a resolution calling for a new election to be held on Thursday, August 14.

The election will be held at the City Hall and polls will be open from 8:00 a.m. to 7:00 p.m. Otis Harbert will serve as presiding judge with G. W. (Jack) Coats as alternate judge.

Voters are urged to exercise their voting privileges and to remind friends and associates to do likewise.

Hays Sets Practice Date

Band Director Wesley Hays reminds band students at Knox City High School that regular band rehearsals will begin Monday evening, August 18 at 7 o'clock in the band hall.

He asked that high school beginners and freshman band members meet with him at the band hall on Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday mornings at 9 o'clock prior to the Monday evening class.

'Hound Workout To Begin Monday

Again it's that time of the year when the greatest young football players in America begin working out.

Texas not only has the best players but the most participants and schools playing. There are 190 schools playing in 4-A, 160 schools in 3-A, 240 schools in 2-A, 245 schools in 1-A, and 185 schools in Class B. This is a total of approximately 1,010 schools that are playing football.

In Knox City's classification, which is 1-A, there are 245 schools. Knox City is in District 11-A and the district has two schools picked in the top 10 in the state. Archer City is picked for number three and Holliday is picked for number eight in pre-season polls. This means that the Knox City Greyhounds have a tremendous job ahead of them. Interest is running high and we would appreciate all the support we can get. We can promise you all-out effort in each game.

Approximately 40 players are expected to show for daily workouts beginning Monday morning at 7 o'clock and again at 6 o'clock each evening.

The morning sessions will be concentrating mainly on contact and the afternoon on timing in shorts.

Knox City's first scrimmage will be against Throckmorton on August 29 at Throckmorton beginning at 7:30 p.m. The second scrimmage will be on September 5 against Lockett at Knox City and will start at 7:00 p.m.

Knox City -Munday Farmers Cooperate With Texas Tech

Lubbock — Multi-purpose vegetable production research at Texas Tech and on private acreages in the Munday-Knox City areas east of here point toward a rapidly-expanding agricultural industry in West Texas.

Commercial production of melons, onions, Irish and sweet potatoes, cabbage and lettuce is moving toward high-density planting, cultivation and harvesting and can produce income in the hundreds of dollars per acre, Tech horticulturists say. "But with high density planting and totally mechanized cultivation and harvest must come entirely new concepts in the use of agri-chemicals and a whole new concept of education in vegetable production," according to Dr. George Tereshkovich, professor of horticulture at Tech. He, with Prof. Robert R. Reed, heads up vegetable research at Tech.

To complement the Texas

Tech research, vegetable specialist Joe Tidwell is stationed at Munday to work with several producers in that area in on-the-farm research. Tidwell, a native of Knox City, has a master's degree in agronomy from Tech.

"Several Munday and Knox City farmers have already gone into vegetable production and are cooperating fully with Tech researchers in efforts to improve their methods of production and quality of product and to reduce production costs," Dr. Tereshkovich said.

"The prime thing we are interested in," Reed said, "is moving to high density planting or 'jamming.' That would mean planting tomato plants 6 to 9 inches apart, or 80,000 to 100,000 plants per acre.

"There are several reasons," he continued, "for high density planting. The days of hand labor are gone, and we must go to total mechanization in all operations in vegetable production.

"The high plant population will be needed to counteract

Teachers Banquet Set For Tuesday, Sept. 16

A meeting was held Sunday afternoon at 4:30 in the Fellowship Hall of the Methodist Church here and plans were discussed for the upcoming Teachers Appreciation Banquet. A tentative date was set for Tuesday evening, September 16.

The suggestion was made to carry out plans very similar to those used in last year's preparations. Representatives present from various civic organizations agreed to give the project their full support.

The primary purpose of the banquet is to show appreciation as parents and grandparents to local teachers for their outstanding job in teaching the youngsters in our community by treating them to a covered dish supper and light entertainment in the school cafeteria.

the loss from mechanization of harvest. The mechanized harvest of a vegetable crop means the end of that crop, it means that not yet ripened fruit is harvested just as the ripened is and does not have an opportunity to mature later. Mechanized harvesting also usually damages or bruises some of the crop which is lost or marketed at less profit.

"This type of operation with high density planting will require total control by chemicals of weeds and insects and will call for new concepts of fertilization."

"The grower must be 100 percent 'clewed in,'" Reed said, "on how to use pesticides, herbicides and fungicides. Emphasis must be placed on the control of noxious weeds and most of these operations must be done at planting or before."

High density planting, the researchers said, produces complete ground cover with many vegetables, preventing the use of machinery in cultivating and application of chemicals.

"This approach to commercial production of vegetables will also change the whole concept of nutrition and watering," said Tereshkovich. High density planting calls for more research at all levels.

"We need to learn the effect of a high density crop prevent preventing sunlight from penetrating to the soil and lower portions of the plant, its effect on the rate of evaporation and yield of the crop."

Other experiments in the Munday - Knox City vegetable growing area call for overwintering - planting of crops in the fall or early winter so they will be ready for marketing early the next spring; study of the need for protection from winds which damage crops by blowing dust and sand against the fragile plants and which cause excessive drying.

Knox County growers cooperating with Tech's research program include Gene Thompson with Irish and sweet potatoes, James Smith with onions and cabbage, Lonnie Offutt with cucumbers and watermelons, and Floyd Reed with cantaloupes. All live in the Munday area.

The Munday - Knox County area has good underground water, Reed said, since it lies near the Brazos water shed.

Tereshkovich and Reed see the High Plains, the Rolling Plains and particularly the Munday - Knox City and Seagraves - Seminole areas as becoming one of the best food production regions in the nation.

The region has good position for transportation and marketing. It also would give buyers a continuity of market, permitting them to work early in the season in the Rio Grande Valley area, moving successively to the Red Rolling Plains, then the High Plains and Hereford areas as the harvest moves northward.

"There is a need for marketing assistance," Reed said, "in the form of association. There are no government controls on acreages or yields, neither are there price supports."

Tech horticulturists paid tribute not only to the cooperating farmers, but also to the seed and agricultural companies which have contributed varieties of seeds, insecticides, fungicides and herbicides for experimental and research use.

Reed said the developing industry needs more publicity and promotion and called for chambers of commerce to follow the lead set by the Munday Chamber of Commerce in its support of vegetable production.

Tereshkovich said statistics show that last year only 49,500 of the four million acres of irrigated land on the High Plains went to vegetable production, evidence of the room for expansion of the industry in this area.

KCHS AG Teacher Leon Burkham Participates In State Meeting

Knox City Vocational Agriculture teacher Leon Burkham joined 1,152 teachers from over the state for the annual Vocational Agriculture In-Service Workshop held this year August 5 through August 8 at the Terrace Motor Hotel in Austin.

Mayor Travis LaRue of Austin extended the official welcome to the group, and the teachers also received greetings from Commissioner of Education J. W. Edgar. Before the first general session began, the ag teachers were honored to hear a message from Governor Preston Smith, and later Herbert J. Head, general marketing manager for Ford Motor Co. spoke to the group on "Agriculture 2,000."

Wednesday workshops included New Developments in Beef Cattle Production, Assisting First and Second Year Teachers in Vocational Agriculture, Techniques in Organizing and Conducting Young Farmer Programs, Use and Safety of Herbicides, and the Study of Farm Accounting Books Which Will Be Used for Vocational Agriculture Students.

In the second general session, the group heard from John R. Gueprou, assistant commissioner for vocational and adult education, on How Recent Legislation Affects You as Vocational Teachers. The key address, High on the Totem Pole, was given by Reagan V. Brown, Extension sociologist.

During the Thursday workshops, Mr. Burkham served as a consultant in Creative Teaching Innovations. He also was chosen to demonstrate his project, How to Make Gate Hinges Out of Sucker Rods, to about 600 teachers in two sessions. Other workshops included Swine Production, Pecan Propagation, Farm Credit, and Developing a Program in Off-farm Agricultural Occupations.

The third and final general session Friday morning featured George Hurt, director of agricultural education, and his subject was, "What's Ahead in Vocational Agriculture?"

After the last session, the crowd broke up for area meetings where programs were made out for monthly in-service workshops which will be attended throughout the year.

Mr. Burkham was further honored at an Awards Breakfast where he received his ten-year service pin. Eight of those years, Mr. Burkham has served the Knox City Schools.

SS Office Needs Data

When John Q. Public files his claim for social security benefits, how soon does he receive his first check?

The answer to this question depends to a large extent on the individual, according to Helen Rigdon, social security manager in Vernon.

"People in this area have their applications processed faster than those from any other section of the country," Mrs. Rigdon pointed out. "Our people take pride in their prompt handling of claims," Mrs. Rigdon continued, "but the real key to speedy payment of claims is the claimant's coming to our office prepared with the proper information."

As an example of such information, Mrs. Rigdon mentioned the worker's tax return for the preceding year. The applicant is asked the amount of his total earnings in the last calendar year. Having his tax return with him, the applicant can give the information accurately from his W-2 form or other parts of his tax return.

The application for benefits also requires the amount of earnings expected in the current year.

"Earnings in the current year affect the amount of social security benefits payable in the year," Mrs. Rigdon stated. "The person who brings these figures with him is likely to receive his check several days sooner than would be possible otherwise."

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Clay and boys of Alvarado visited in the home of Mrs. Clay's mother, Mrs. Myrtle White, recently.

KC Fire Dept. Answers Calls

Members of the Knox City Volunteer Fire Department were called out twice Monday to extinguish a pasture fire for Jack Tankersley on the James Hewitt farm about three miles south of town.

According to Mrs. Tankersley, the fire was first noticed about 10:30 a.m. by Claudale Barnard who tried to contain it by plowing with a one-way around the blaze, but when he could not control it, he had his wife call in the alarm. About 1:00 p.m. Mrs. Tankersley noticed smoke on the north side of the pasture, and the firemen were called again.

Mr. Barnard said the fire began in the middle of the Bermuda grass patch, but the cause was unknown.

Deadline Set For Mailing Refund Claims

Austin - Attorney General Crawford C. Martin reminded Texans today that August 16, 1969, is the deadline for mailing refund claims on broad spectrum antibiotics for which they were overcharged during the years 1954 through 1966.

That is the deadline set by the federal court for individuals to file claims for a share of the $100 million settlement offered by five drug manufacturers after multiple civil antitrust actions were filed against them by Texas and other states.

Martin said the procedure for filing consumer claims was the result of an order issued by the US District Court in New York. The forms for the refund claims may be picked up at the County Clerk's office in each county courthouse. A number of newspapers have also printed copies of the form.

If a person fails to file a claim, it will constitute authorization to use the money recovered in his behalf for the benefit of all consumers in a manner directed by the federal court.

The notarized claims must be mailed to the Clerk, United States District Court, P. O. Box 745, Bronx, New York 10451.

Drugs involved in the settlement are Aureomycin, Terramycin, Achromycin, Mysteclin, Panalba, Panmycin, Polycycline, Steclin, Tetracycline and Tetrex.

IN KANSAS
Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Middlebrook spent last Wednesday through Sunday in Burlington, Kansas visiting their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. John Ballard.

FROM LUBBOCK
Spending the weekend here with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Tankersley and his brother, Sam, were Mr. and Mrs. Donald Tankersley of Lubbock.

GRAIN INDUSTRY IMPORTANT TO TEXAS

In 1968, cash receipts for Texas grains accounted for almost one-fourth of the state's agricultural commodity sales. John Siebert, Extension grain marketing specialist, said cash receipts for grains were second to those for livestock products. The total was in excess of $620 million. The grain industry, he added, contributes mightily to the Texas economy.

"Melanie Meddles"

By Melanie Whitley

Brother and Mrs. W. A. Park gave their six-year-old son William a calendar to learn the days by marking off each day as they do on their calendar.

One morning Judy discovered that William had marked off all the days of August and had his calendar set for September.

"Why did you do that, William?" she asked.

"Well, because I didn't want you to get ahead of me."

I had a nice surprise a couple of weeks ago when some relatives who were coming on their vacation got to our house two days early.

Of course I had to jump right out and round up some extra bedding; then it dawned on me that I had also been spared the waxing, dusting and usual pre-company hustle. By the time their three children and our three children had played for a week, that was when the ol' homestead needed the attention. I really enjoyed their visit and hope I remember to leave the work til last next time.

You'd be surprised how many housewives are noticing and complaining about the penny-by-penny (when you're lucky) and three-to-five cent, and even 30¢!! jump (round steak) that is going on constantly in the grocery stores. And it's everywhere.

You can compare and shop and stretch and wring those dollars for all they are worth, but it always comes down to either goulash every day or eat what you want while you pay what they ask.

I'd just like to know where does it begin and who ends it. If the ranchers want more for their cattle because feed has gone up, which causes the meat market prices to soar, then the daddies, whether they sell clothes or build houses or cut wheat, decide they better raise their wages so they can bring home the bread. Sooner or later this wave of inflated prices gets back to the rancher and here we go again. Has anyone accomplished anything? Has anyone in this chain ever voluntarily decided he didn't need a raise that year? The buying public must take their mini-dollars and weigh quality and quantity with each purchase. Competition becomes a key factor in price setting.

From my father I have inherited a shopping system that begins with the attitude that just because an item is marked a certain price doesn't necessarily mean it is worth that much. Suppose Daddy was shopping at Montgomery Wards and a salesman wouldn't budge on the price of an article; Daddy would say, "That's ok, it's cheaper at Sears" (or vice versa) and start to leave. And you know, it worked every time. It seems there was some room between the cost and the profit, with perhaps a slice off his commission, for negotiations.

Everybody would rather have less profit than no profit at all. And it's up to the buying public to keep prices under control. Don't laugh the next time your wife says she is "going shopping", it is a definite part of being a homemaker and takes some skill and a lot of practice.

Streams In Desert Places
BY OZELLE STEPHENS

"Behold, I stand at the door and knock: if any man hear my voice and open the door, I will come in and sup with him and he with Me."
Everyone hears the tender knocking at his heart's door. It is a soft knock, yet it cannot be denied. Do not hesitate to open, for those who have are so glad they did. At the entering of this heavenly guest, they are made happy and have an inner joy of great peace that makes their eyes shine with hope. When the door is open a beautiful light will flood your soul. Your heart will seem to burst with a new found joy. Listen quietly with your heart and your spiritual ears to the soft and sweet voice that sounds like silvery waters falling or the sound of a bird singing in the stillness of the night.
He is waiting to come in and sup with you.

Letter To The Editor

Dear Billie Bess,
Hass and I will be returning to our home in Knox City the last of August.

Every year we go to the East Rio Hondo in Rio Hondo, Texas to gin cotton.

Before ginning starts we enjoy some good fishing. Prior to this year, I had been almost alone in catching fish. Now Hass is giving me a lot of competition. The only way one can catch more fish than Hass is to go fishing without him.

Our catches for this summer total over 1000 pounds of fresh water channel cat, all caught on rod and reel. Often we have managed to catch 12 to 25 catfish each weighing from three to ten pounds, in an approximate three hour period.

I'm sending pictures of two catches and one picture of Hass fishing one morning. Just as the picture was snapped, he hooked a big one. Had ours been a movie camera, we could have seen all the action. The fish went half way to the bend down stream and Hass jumped up and went the other way. He either out ran or reeled in a 9 pound catfish.

In the other picture I am shown loading another catch of 22 fish which weighed out 110 pounds.

See everyone soon,
Flo Huntsman

Gift Tea Thursday Afternoon Honors Miss Judy McCown

Knox City - Miss Judy McCown, bride-elect of Mike Wyatt, was the honoree at a gift tea Thursday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Charles Reese.

Greeting guests was Mrs. Reese who presented them to the honoree, her mother, Mrs. John McCown, the prospective bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Johnnie Wyatt of Rochester, and Miss McCown's grandmother, Mrs. A. Suter of Old Glory.

Miss Margaret Howell registered guests. The honoree's chosen color of hot pink was featured throughout. The serving table was beautifully laid with a pink cloth and held an arrangement of pink flowers.

Misses Sue Egenbacher and Mary Reese served punch and cookies, and Misses Betty Hodges, Rosie McElroy, and Karen Clonts assisted in displaying gifts.

When a person ventures to Hawaii either to live or just to spend a few days, one of the most popular "happenings" during his stay is the famous Hawaiian Luau. It takes a lot of skill and know-how to have one of these events - skill and know-how which have been handed down from one generation to another.

Members of the 1946 Study Club met for a called business meeting at 9:30 a.m. Wednesday, August 9. The president, Mrs. Robert Howell presided. The club accepted, with regret, the resignation of Mrs. Arche Lieb. The name of Mrs. Cliff Swain was graciously accepted for membership and plans for a membership drive were discussed.

1946 Study Club Meets Wed.

Members of the 1946 Study Club met for a called business meeting at 9:30 a.m. Wednesday, August 9. The president, Mrs. Robert Howell presided. The club accepted, with regret, the resignation of Mrs. Arche Lieb. The name of Mrs. Cliff Swain was graciously accepted for membership and plans for a membership drive were discussed.

Mrs. Howell appointed Mrs. Paul Clayton and Mrs. Joe Boone to represent the club with assistance in planning the Teachers Appreciation Banquet.

McGaughey Receives Special Recognition

Pt. Benning, Ga. - Stephen McGaughey, husband of Mrs. Ronda T. McGaughey, Santa Rosa, N. M., who has completed the nation's only basic ROTC summer camp, received special recognition from his unit.

Conducted for the third consecutive year by the Training Center's 2nd Brigade, the basic summer camp has doubled in size since the 1967 camp. A member of Company C, 9th Battalion, 2nd Brigade was awarded a trophy for attaining the high score in his platoon on the final physical proficiency test. The test consists of five events - 40-yard low crawl, horizontal ladder, run-dodge-jump, one-mile run and man-carry. These events have been carefully chosen to demonstrate the most significant areas of strength and stamina necessary to insure top physical conditioning.

Completion of the six-week camp has qualified McGaughey for entrance into the advance ROTC program at Texas Technical College, Lubbock, Texas.

Unique in its concept of providing active-duty training in lieu of two years on-campus study, the basic ROTC camp differs in many aspects from the normal basic training cycle. Each cadet attending the camp is a volunteer, under no obligation to continue the entire six weeks; therefore, those completing the program are highly-motivated young men.

Covering basically the same course of instruction in two weeks less time, the cadets received greater emphasis on tactics and leadership. Each cadet at some time served in a leadership position, be it squad leader or platoon leader. The graduation ceremonies were conducted entirely by the cadets.

McGaughey is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Merick D. McGaughey, Benjamin, Texas. He is a 1964 graduate of Benjamin (Texas) High School and received a bachelor of arts degree from McMurry College, Abilene, Texas, in 1968.

The average age of the 14,000,000 World War II veterans is 49.3, the VA reports.
