Local School Makes Large Refinance

Knox County Early Pioneer Re-intered After Forty Six Years

Local School Board Saves Tax Payers $9,000.00

At a meeting of the Knox City School Board, held last night, the board has approved a plan for refinancing school bonds of the Knox City School District. Various leads have been followed up and it was determined that the school board sent to Austin on July 19th to the State Board of Education to discuss the matter with the board.

Hugh Webb Gets First Bale Cotton

Hugh Webb, who is farming on the Kony and Wittbanks farm north west of town ginned the first bale of cotton to be ginned in Knox City this year.

The Cotton Growers Cooperative Gin Company ginned the bale, which weighed 615 pounds from 2190 pounds of bolls.

A premium of $26.20 was made up and given to Mr. Webb by the merchants and business men of the town. Hugh is lucky in getting the first bale, as he won the same honor two years ago. He stated that the bale which was an extra large one was picked from about twenty five acres. This is by no means drouthy spots, as he believes that the land this bale was picked from will make about a half bale to the acre without the rain we have been looking for so long.

This is the earliest a bale of cotton has been ginned in Knox City with the exception of the year 1927, when a bale was ginned on the 5th of August.

Government Buys Many Cattle Here

For the past week in this section of the state, the government has been buying cattle in large numbers. Several thousand head of cows and calves have been shipped and killed from Knox County, up to Wednesday of this week. Over seven hundred cows and calves were in the stock pens at Benjamin on Monday, and they are being sent in every day.

These cows and calves are being classified, and shipped and killed according to their class. Young calves, which the government figures are too small to ship properly, and profitably, are killed and given to anyone wishing to use the meat for their own consumption. Hundreds of families in the county have received from one half to a whole beef, and are putting the meat up in cans and jars.

Cows that are too poor for beef are killed and destroyed. They also cut out cancerated cows as well as those the veterinary find unfit for consumption.

The cows are bringing from twelve to twenty six dollars each, according to parties that have been attending these meetings. This is a good price for old cows, under present conditions. Young calves average about four dollars each, which under some circumstances is a very poor price, where grass and water is short and scarce, however, it is possible better to sell at any price rather than buy feed.

H. P. Arledge Building Home

H. P. (Henry) Arledge, manager of the Arledge Ice Company is building a home in the southeast part of town, on lots just south of the Methodist Church.

He is well along with the framework and from all appearances it is going to be a very attractive place, and will have five rooms and bath.

Milo Thompson is doing the contract work on this place. Milo is well known here for his good workmanship, having built several homes as well as doing many finishing jobs on store buildings, in the past several years.

Remains of P. J. Farmer Placed In I.O.O.F. Cemetery

Memories of the pioneer days of Texas were brought back to us last Wednesday at 5:30 p. m. with the re-entombment of the remains of P. J. Farmer, in the Knox City cemetery, by the side of his companion, Mrs. Sallie Louise Farmer.

Reverend R. R. Gilbreath, pastor of the Knox City Methodist Church conducted a short and very touching service, using as his text, Hebrews 11: 11-34.

Mr. P. J. Farmer a pioneer settler of this community was born in Virginia in June 1837, and at an early age was converted and united with the Methodist church. He served in the Confederate Army during the Civil War, and in 1876 was united in marriage to Miss Sallie Louise Manahan of Booneville Mississippi.

He with his wife came to Texas in 1884 and for about a year made their home in Albany, coming to Haskell Texas in 1885. In 1886 he filed on a section of land 25 miles Northwest of Haskell and moved with his family to this land the same year. To this union there was borned five sons, all of whom are living to day as follows: O. B. Farmer, Scenic S. D. C. M. Farmer, Etter, Texas, C. J. Farmer, Amarillo, Texas, S. G. Farmer of Seymour, Texas, and B. M. Farmer, Knox City Texas, three of whom C. H. Farmer, S. G. Farmer and B. M. Farmer were present at this service.

On a trip to Abilene for supplies for the family, Mr. Farmer was stricken with paralysis, near Paint creek between Haskell and Stamford and upon returning home never recovered from this attack, and died in May 1888.

Mr. Farmer was buried on the section of land on which he first made his home in this part of the country, and from which place his remains have today been brought to be laid to rest by the side of the companion of his early life.

One year prior to the death of this pioneer, this country was in the memorable drouth not yet forgotten by the early settlers, of which only a few remain alive.

Mr. Will Edge of Rochester, was the only person present at the service, of the re-entombment, that was at the burial of Mr. Farmer. Mr. Edge was only ten years of age at that time Mr. C. M. Brown, of Munday and Uncle Trav House of Benjamin, knew Mr. Farmer at that time but were not at the funeral, but both were present for this service.

When Mr. Farmer moved and settled here, and up to his death, there were very few settlers in this community. Haskell had a population of between 25 and 50 people and as yet Stamford was not thought of. Supplies had to be hauled from Abilene and Seymour. Very little farming was carried on, just enough feed to run what stock was needed, and something to eat for the family was all that was expected. Cotton at that time was out of the question, it was not known to grow here and there was no gins to take care of it if were raised.

The memory of the pioneers is very dear to all of us, especially to those that were the children of those pioneers, and came up with the country, watching the advancement and growth of the communities, the coming of transportation, and the breaking up of the land. Everything that we have accomplished, and all the pleasures of better conveniences are due to those settlers.

Deputy Sheriff R. J. Whitten, of (Idabel) Oklahoma is in a critical condition in a hospital at Paris, Texas, as a result of gun shot wounds received while trying to arrest a suspected automobile thief, and believed to be an escaped convict. Whitten is related to W. R. Whitten and brother of this place.

Christian Revival To Close Sunday

The evening services have been evangelistic and those following will be of the same nature. Thursday evening the sermon will be on, "Excuses," Friday evening on, "What Shall I do With Jesus," Saturday night, "Prepare to Meet Thy God," Sunday A. M. "Why God Expects Me to Tithe," Sunday Night, "Triumphant Certainties."

The public is cordially invited to attend these meetings.

Mesquite Beans Sell For Ten Dollars A Ton

A new and novel method of solving the employment situation, was called to the attention of the Herald on Monday of this week.

While in the west part of the business district, it was noticed that a line of men, boys and girls kept going into the Porter and White Feed Store, and upon investigation it was found that they were bringing in cotton sacks, and feed sacks full of mesquite beans, and were selling them to the feed store. The average size sack weighed about 25 pounds and net the labored one half cent per pound.

By Monday night the feed store had bought what looked like about a ton of beans, this put ten dollars into the hands of the parties gathering the beans. The mesquite bean crop is exceedingly good this year, which has been a boon to the stock man.

In early times in Texas the farmers were known to gather mesquite beans and store them in their barns in the summer, especially when there was a feed shortage, and these farmers made a crop the following year on the beans, and they said that their work stock did about as good as though they had been fed on corn. If they had been able to crush the beans they would have gotten better results.

Below is given the average composition of mesquite beans as was given by the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station at College Station:

|  | Per Cent |
|--|----------|
| Protein                                | 38.00    |
| Ether Extract                          | 4.60     |
| Crude Fiber                            | 7.00     |
| Nitrogen-Free Extract                  | 34.20    |
| Water                                  | 11.60    |
| Ash                                    | 4.60     |
| Digestible Protein                     | 31.20    |
| Productive energy therms in 100 pounds | 76.00    |

To give a comparison between the mesquite bean as a feed and of cotton seed meal of which the composition is 43 per cent protein, is as follows:

|  | Per Cent |
|--|----------|
| Protein                                | 43.20    |
| Ether Extract                          | 7.50     |
| Crude Fiber                            | 10.80    |
| Nitrogen-Free Extract                  | 34.20    |
| Water                                  | 6.80     |
| Ash                                    | 5.50     |
| Digestible Protein                     | 35.90    |
| Productive energy therms in 100 pounds | 74.90    |

From the above you will note that the percentage of digestible protein in mesquite beans is slightly less than 43 per cent protein cotton seed meal, but the productive energy is about 1 per cent more.

Mesquite beans are eaten by animals and good results should be obtained in their use, says the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station. But as far as we know, there is no practical experimental data concerning them.

PRESS FREEDOM ESSENTIAL

In commenting on political terrorism in Germany, which is largely made possible by strict censorship of the press, and the insistence of American newspapermen that nothing in a newspaper code in the United States should interfere with constitutional guarantees of freedom of the press, General Johnson, in a recent statement, said:

"For a long while I thought sincerely that the newspaper insistence on writing into their code a clause saving their constitutional rights was pure surplusage.

But now I see more clearly why these gentlemen were apprehensive. Absolute freedom of the press is the greatest guarantee the American people have for life, liberty and pursuit of happiness.

HEADED FOR WHAT?

In commenting on governments invasion of the field of private business a leading western citizen who has created employment for thousands of men by developing a number of the West's natural resources, says:

It's a pity the people who have homes and maybe some small investments and savings, as well as those who aspire to such possessions, cannot be brought to realize the scourge that is arising to plague (tax-exempt government business competing with highly-taxed private business) to the end not only of destroying their possessions, but depriving them of all opportunity to live otherwise than as charges bureaucratic absolutism and in much the same way as now applies, so far as living conditions are concerned, to the inhabitants of the public aims house.

One would think that the history of the development of this nation should be sufficiently fresh in the memories at least of the native-born, to inspire an entirely different conception of present-day tendencies than that now prevalent. Maybe, after all, we have got to resign ourselves to the dismal spectacle of the entire constitutional and economic structure of the country in ashes before a misguided public awakes to the fact that it is being devoured by the flames that it now looks upon as an interesting pyrotechnic entertainment.

AGRICULTURE—THREE PHASES

Agriculture has been undergoing three distinct phases of development.

One came with depression, when prices dropped to rock-bottom, and there didn't seem to be a single bright spot on the horizon.

Another came with government relief, no matter how aggressively used cannot alone solve all his problems and bring him peace and plenty.

The third phase is characterized by the fact that an increasing percentage of American farmers are learning the doctrine that he who helps himself is helped best. They are realizing that the way to stability and prosperity, is through determined, cohesive effort by the farmers themselves.

The farmer's weapon in this work is the cooperative. It is not subject to political consideration—it does not change in purpose and direction with a shift in the political power. It is responsive to his needs, and he and his fellow-members make its policies. It does not represent a temporary effort to bring relief it represents long-term planning, in which the larger issues are kept always in view.

It is not an exaggeration to say that, fine as the work of the co-ops has been in the past, their period of greatest achievement still lies in the future.

That judicious advertising of a business will prove a profitable investment.

Newspaper advertising is a welcome relief to most shoppers, as it tells them where and what to buy.

Up-to-date, dependable stores fully realize their responsibilities.

Customers expect service. They expect reasonable prices. They expect quality.

When they trade at a store they express the faith they have in the reputation of that store for square dealing.

Newspaper advertising does much to create a friendly feeling between a store and its customers and benefit both.

The road to continued prosperity is right ahead. A get-together, stay-together and boost-together spirit will set your city on that road and keep it there.

All citizens should boost with real enthusiasm. Your city is worthy of your best endeavors.

Boosters are the back-bone of development; they are the mainstay of progress.

There has never been a greater opportunity than right now for every citizen to render real service to the home city.

It is the duty of every man to boost the home city. It is up to them to measure up to the requirements of their city.

They should rally to the support of every forward movement and lend their time and money unstintingly for its success.

There is bound to be growth where there is action. People are attracted to the communities that are alive and let the world know it.

Mrs. H. E. Clonts left the first of the week for Sulligent, Alabama, upon the receipt of a wire that her mother about 65 years of age had died of a stroke of paralysis.

TO THE VOTERS OF KNOX CO:

I wish to express my appreciation for the fine support given me by the voters of Knox County. Regardless of my success in the run off campaign, I wish to extend sincere thanks to all interested in the race. I am asking further support in the run off on my pledge of faithful business administration of the office and continue to serve the people of the county to the best of my ability if the voters see fit to continue me in the office of County Judge.

We are proud of the part electric power is playing in laying the groundwork for this greater progress and prosperity.

One is the day when the larger metropolitan centers are a monopoly of power supply, the first essential of industrial growth and development.

Widespread networks of transmission lines have given smaller communities the same high-grade electric service as the larger cities have.

On this firm basis, industries are increasingly recognizing the advantages of location in small communities.

Joe Bailey Hyde Makes Big Tour

Three weeks ago Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Hyde accompanied by Joe Bailey (spot) Hyde, made a vacation trip to Lamesa where Mr. and Mrs. Hyde visited their daughter Mrs. Bob Brown.

Mr. and Mrs. Hyde decided to come home in a few days and left Spot up there for a longer stay. But he got home sick last week and wrote his father a card telling him that he had a ride to Snyder, and that he would be on down to Anson on the bus by way of Abilene.

Walter failed to get the card so last Saturday he went to Lamesa after Joe Bailey, or Spot, when he got to Lamesa he was told that Joe had already gone to Snyder, so Mr. and Mrs. Hyde drove on back to Snyder and Anson by the way of Abilene.

Everything had worked out according to schedule, Joe thought, so upon seeing the bright lights in Abilene he received an urgent desire to see what the lights were all about, fact is Joe thought there was a carnival going on, so he got a rebate on his ticket, and proceeded to the home of relatives in Abilene, and wrote another card for his father to come for him in Abilene, but in the meantime Mr. Hyde was looking for Joe elsewhere.

Upon the information at Snyder Mr. and Mrs. Hyde drove on to Anson, but found nothing of Joe, and it was the same at home, only there was a card from the young explorer, expressing the desire to leave Abilene. And to make a long story short as well as lots of driving, Mr. Hyde started to Abilene after Joe on Monday, and met him walking in about four miles north of Anson. He had one shoe off and stone bruises on both feet. Spot says he thought the folks had forgotten about him so he would just walk in. His world travels are over for several months, he says.

Mrs. J. J. Handley of Benjamin was in Knox City on Tuesday of this week, shopping and visiting with Mrs. L. M. Jones.

J. LYNDAL HUGHES THANKFUL FOR SUPPORT IN FIRST PRIMARY

In the presentation of my candidacy for the office of county school superintendent to the people of Knox City and vicinity, it has been with the desire that it be considered strictly on the merits of qualifications, measured by educational preparation, record as teacher, knowledge of school needs of Knox County, and ability to administer the office of county superintendent practically, economically, and efficiently. The vote which I received on July 28th from the people of Knox City was gratifying and I appreciate it very much. I shall continue to solicit your support upon my merits as a school man whose life shall be dedicated to the education of the youths of our country, and I respectfully solicit your support and influence during the next two weeks.

MESQUITE BEANS

... the feeding of these beans. It is reasonable to assume, however, that they can be substituted for 43 per cent cottonseed meal with fairly good results.

In feeding these beans as a substitute for cottonseed and for corn and maize the farmers and feeders so far are mixing the beans with about 63 per cent maize which has been ground, the bean is a sweet feed and a greater mixture would make the feed sweeter than is necessary to feed, is the opinion of some.

It is not likely that the market will be flooded with mesquite beans anywhere in Texas, as the mesquite trees were destroyed to give the place to cotton, we did not know that we were destroying a native crop though when the mesquite tree was grubbed up.
