

A hole-in-one is a rarity, and is very seldom made . . . as most golfers already know, but C. E. (Cidy) Williams joined the "hole-in-one club" last Saturday afternoon. While Cidy, Jeff Graham, Charles Reese and Sonny Hughes were playing on number nine . . . Cidy made the hole-in-one . . . a 137 yard feat.

This scribe remembers the time we came in from a golf match and remarked to the wife we had made a "hole-in-one" . . . to which she replied: "And to think it was only yesterday when I mended that darn hole in your sock."

Linda Swaner, 14-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Burt Swaner . . . as most Knox Citizens are aware . . . is Knox County's spelling bee champion. On April 18 Linda will be in Wichita Falls to compete with other county champions at the district spelling bee.

With the poise and ease Linda won the county bee championship . . . this scribe firmly believes she has a good chance, a very good chance, of walking off with district honors.

This scribe, along with all Knox Countians will be pulling for Linda, and are wishing for her the best of luck in the district bee.

According to some doctors singing warms the blood. We have heard some that made ours boil.

The old saying is a new broom sweeps clean. So don't forget the Lions annual broom sale coming up in the near future . . . in fact on May 21.

Good Gracious, Grandma . . . time's a-wasting . . . The annual senior play is coming up next Thursday night, April 16. . . so, "Good Gracious, Grandma!" better get your tickets now!

One way to get rid of the noise in the rear of your car is to have her sit up front with you.

Although the homecoming date, November 6th and 7th, for Knox City ex-students is quite a ways off, Rufus White, president of the Ex-student Association states that considerable interest has already been shown, and plans are beginning to jell for the event.

Future events cast their shadows before them . . . and from stirrings of the Little League . . . good 'ole summer time is just around the corner. No finer training for boys can be found than that of Little League. Not only will the activities furnish many hours of enjoyment for the youngsters . . . as well as dad who sits on the sideline . . . but in turn teaches the boys good sportsmanship and instills into their minds that it is not so much as to whether they win or lose . . . but HOW they play the game. Hats off to Sammy B. White, president of Little League, and to all who are assisting in any way in keeping Knox City's Little League going.

By the time the meek inherit the earth, taxes will be so high they wont want it.

Not long after the Hinds family migrated from Central to West Texas, a number of years ago, we were riding in the country, and while driving along, a long legged bird ran across the road and the wife asked, "What kind of a bird was it?" Of course this scribe knew the peculiar looking bird was a "road runner", but thinking to have a little fun we told the Missus it was a bird of paradise, to which she quickly replied: "Well, if that is a bird of paradise . . . what is it doing here?"

A truly sensible girl is not as sensible as she looks, because a sensible girl has more sense than to look sensible.

This scribe would like to extend thanks for the fine reception the "Know Knox" column has received. Please do not think we are boasting, but for the telephone calls, letters, and to those who have stopped us on the streets, and to those who have dropped by the office to tell us in person that you have been reading and enjoyed the column we humbly say thank you.

When we see two women kissing we always think of two boxers shaking hands before the fight.

High School Vocational Agriculture Students Face New Agribusiness Area

High school students of vocational agriculture are on the threshold of a new age in agriculture—the scientific agricultural age of Agribusiness.

In this new age of Agribusiness, agriculture products must be provided for tomorrow's expanding population that is estimated to reach 250 million in the U. S. and 400 billion in the world by 1970.

The new age of Agribusiness is even more basic than the Atomic or Space because it encompasses a world need for more scientific production of food and fiber. This production must be done by people with special talents applied in the new age. Few farm products in this era are consumed in the same form as they are produced.

What this means, then, is that in the Agribusiness Age there must be cooperation between the farmer, scientist, farm supplies distributor, processor, engineer, manufacturer and others. Today, these groups are working together so closely that all of them are actually in agriculture. It has become difficult, if not impossible, to tell who is the farmer in the traditional sense. In actual practice, the modern farmer is a little bit of each of the specialists and each of the specialists is a little bit of the farmer.

The benefits of this modern Agribusiness Age go to all—not just to the farmer.

The farmer, by applying scientific information from all these specialists, has been able to produce better crops on fewer acres. He can also market his beef cattle earlier and can do it at a saving of many pounds of feed per animal. Such is the result of modern developments in animal nutrition, antibiotics, genetics and management. These results aid not only the farmer but the consumer as well.

Other comparable achievements have been made with poultry, dairy cattle and other animals.

Nuclear research—a product of the Atomic Age—is part of the newest age. Radiation is now being studied as a means of preserving food when being transported from farm to consumer. Already the government has an atomic farm where radiation is quickly altering varieties of

Bulletin Released On Pecan Diseases And Insects

The pecan tree must be protected from attack by the many destructive diseases and insects that affect it to produce a bountiful crop.

Pecans are attacked by more than 20 species of insects that cause damage to leaves, nuts, twigs, buds, branches and even the bark.

Diseases that affect the pecan, especially those caused by fungi are rapidly spread throughout the orchard in the early spring. During this season of frequent rains, spores of the disease fungi germinate and invade young, tender tissues of the shoots, leaves and nuts.

The many destructive insects and diseases must be controlled for successful pecan production.

The grower must understand the nature and habits of the various disease and insect pests that threaten his crop and use certain cultural practices which help to reduce damage.

The Texas Agricultural Experiment Extension Service have joined to publish a bulletin which can be very helpful to growers faced with this problem. It is entitled "Pecan Diseases and Insects and Their Control." This 19-page bulletin contains discussions of the characteristics, type of damage and control of almost all the major diseases and insects which damage pecan trees.

It is available free of charge from local county agents or the Agricultural Information Office, College Station, Texas. Ask for MP-313.

No other schools entered the meet.

plants otherwise a process that would have taken thousands of years.

Such agricultural progress as this has fused older careers into a new one—Agribusiness. Presently as products travel from the farm to consumers, all careers participate—the transportation specialist, the marketing specialist and the packaging specialist. Such participation insures the consumer of a more economical and a better qualified product.

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights by Vern Sanford TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN, Texas — With just about a month left between now and May 12, automatic adjournment date, it's "now or never" time in the Texas Legislature.

Bill sponsors are challenging other members to "pass it or kill it." No more playing the waiting game. Less judging of the parliamentary ball.

House Speaker Waggoner Carr gave this "get with it" mood a strong shove by taking a firm stand on tax goals. "There is no Santa Claus," Carr told House members. Texas must raise $300,000,000 in new money to meet its obligations, he said. On "how to do it," the Speaker made these suggestions and observations:

1. A bill is needed "which will include a broad array of selective taxes—including, but not confined to—selective sales taxes."

2. A general sales tax is "out" Lawmakers will—and should—keep their promises not to pass one.

3. "Broad" taxation would include levies in areas suggested by the governor—natural gas liquor, cigarettes, corporations—but at a lower rate than suggested by the governor. In addition, many new items would be added in keeping with the "spread thin, hurt little" principle.

4. "Piece-meal taxation" is unfair, inadequate to the present challenge. State government should not "reward political favorites." New taxes should be "spread across as much of the Texas economy as possible."

5. Likewise on appropriations. If college professors and state employees get a raise, public school teachers should, too.

Carr's speech was regarded as public announcement that he is taking the reins of leadership to get a tax program passed.

Gov. Price Daniel's comment on Carr's statement was in vein of "why didn't you say so before?" Daniel said, "I am in agreement with much of it and only wish it had been made 30 days earlier."

House Taxation Committee Chairman V. L. Ramsey of Beckville named a five-man committee to write a tax bill and have it ready early next week.

Given the tax are Reps. Wesley Roberts of Lamesa, H. J. Blanchard of Lubbock, Joe Burkett of Kerrville, Ben Atwell of Dallas and Warren C. Cowen of Fort Worth.

TEXAS IN 1980 — Creation of a vast "government center" that would cover most of an area seven blocks long and four blocks wide is the aim of the Capitol Hill Master Plan.

Recommended steps for the 1960-61 are buying up several more blocks of land and remodeling the Capitol to provide offices for House members.

PARTY REGISTRATION fight — A watered-down party registration bill is in line for House consideration after approval of the Elections Committee.

Original proposal by Rep. Jamie Clements of Crockett would have required that a voter state his party preference and have it stamped on his poll tax at time of purchase. Thereafter, the carrier of a "Republican receipt" could not vote in a Democratic primary and vice versa.

Attorney General Will Wilson ruled this unconstitutional. He said it set up requirements for voting not authorized in the constitution.

As amended, the measure provides that a voter would have his receipt stamped when he voted in a primary or participated in party conventions. This would prevent his participating in the convention of a different party until he bought a new poll tax.

Liberal Democrats, particularly DOT spokesmen, were very dissatisfied, even called the attorney general's opinion "dead wrong."

SUNDAY SALE BAN — Senate has given final approval to a measure that would prohibit selling, buying or trading motor vehicles on Sunday.

Exempted would be persons who observe some day other than Sunday as the Sabbath, such as Seventh Day Adventists.

Bill had lively opposition from several senators whose argument was that it would "restrict competition in the name of Christianity."

Corner on Cotton BY BOB COLLINS

Needed right now is a commission to study ways of reducing immediately the cost of growing cotton . . . lots of talk and action about getting the price of cotton down where it can compete with synthetics and foreign growth . . . this must be done, of course . . . but just as important is reducing farmers' growing costs . . . research is underway, of course, and some day the boll weevil cost will be whipped . . . some day the weed control problem will be eliminated . . . but something needs to be done now!!! . . . what ??? . . . we don't know, but there should be a commission set up with all segments of the cotton industry represented . . . its only aim should be to study ways of reducing as quickly as possible the farmer's cost of growing cotton . . . who knows what could come out of this?? . . . perhaps certain research projects need to be assigned different priorities . . . maybe new ways of handling cotton are needed . . . maybe nothing can be done, but it should be tried.

No Crew Cut — Boll weevils like cotton with crew cuts . . . at least the weevils don't like cotton with long hairs on the stems and leaf stalks because the hairs interfere with the pests' movements . . . so a new strain of hairy cotton has been developed with 10 to 30 per cent less damage from weevils, early tests show . . . wonder if this long hair cotton creates more problems for the ginner???

How Much? — On the question of cotton production costs . . . do you know how much it really costs you to grow a pound of cotton?? . . . we'll bet you don't . . . it's one of the big problems in research right now, finding out how much money a farmer spends on only cotton . . . for instance when you take your truck on a fishing trip do you charge the gas used to fishing or let it run in with production expenses???

University of Missouri now has a project underway to get detailed cost information.

"FA" Cotton — Ever hear of "FA" (fully acetylated) cotton?? . . . it's something fairly new . . . a cotton fiber with improved heat and rot resistance and still retaining cotton's natural resistance to wear . . . big use forecast for

Uncle Ben from Benjamin says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

Ever time I pick up the paper I see where our elected officials is trying to find somepun new to tax. The trouble with us folks back home is that we've done quit hollering and has gone to accepting it as a way of life. We're like the dog that was always gitting pestered by the neighbor's kids tying cans to his tail. They kept it up so long that finally the pore old dog, ever time he saw a tin can, would back up to it like a mule backing up to the plow. Them politicians has been tying new taxes on us so long we back up fer it instead of bucking. I'm gitting mighty tired of backing up to the plow and aim to do a little more bucking in the future.

The Government could save a heap of tax money if they'd just quit filling up a farmer's mail box ever day with that junk from the agriculture agencies. I recollect onct when a farm agent called on my neighbor down the road. This feller had his arms full of pamphlets and reports and my neighbor run him off with a shotgun, told him he wasn't using all the knowledge he already had. I got a pamphlet from them folks onct that said, "in the three months from June 1 to October..." With that kind of arithmetic in Washington, it ain't no wonder they can't balance the budget.

And when they ain't taxing they're regulating, usually on the wrong end. Take, fer instant, all this fuss the health folks make about cafes and eating places, making 'em git electric dishwashers, electric glass washers and all that stuff. If they is so anxious to look after the customer's welfare, why don't they regulate how small a cafe can cut a piece of pie. When I was a boy they just quartered a pie. Now we git electric washers and eight slices to the pie. I reckon that's progress, Mister Editor, no bugs and no pie.

I see by the papers where they're having another squabble over the "Sanity Code" in football. I don't know nothing about sanity, but I can tell 'em without further ado that they'll never solve the problem as long as a long-legged football player makes more money than a long-haired professor.

But everybody, Mister Editor, ain't as pessimistic as me today. I see where a feller in Canada advertised in the paper fer a honest lawyer, said he had a little legal business to attend to and wanted a lawyer he could trust. I reckon there's a little optimism left in this world.

Yours truly,
Uncle Ben

Streams In Desert Places

Ozelle Stephens

The Lord spoke through his servant and said, "Be still and know that I am God." (Psalms 46:10).

There is no substitute for knowing. When we know the word and act upon it, God will bring it to pass in our lives. When you acquire the ability to be still and listen, you reach the center of God's quietness where the answers to your needs come. He speaks in the stillness. There you know Him as the all sufficient One. You know Him in a closeness that you have never felt, in a realness you have never known. You can be born anew by the spirit of God and live continuously in the Streams of His eternal life.
