THE AMERICAN FLAG

June 14th, Flag Day, has ever carried the deepest meaning to every true American. This year the day will carry a tenfold significance as the Nation celebrates the Two Hundredth Anniversary of the Birth of George Washington. For to General Washington tradition credits a leading part in the very designing of the flag and what he did to give it meaning is and will be known to every American as long as our country lives.

Since the time of its beginning, made by the nimble hands of Betsy Ross in 1777, wherever it has gone it has meant honor and achievement, but this year it floats in honor of the greatest of Americans—George Washington and his cration of the United States.

Happy Smith spent Thursday of last week in Abilene.

Ira Russell left Knox City Monday for the C. M. T. C. camp in San Antonio.

Mrs. E. O. Jamison, Mrs. O. L. Jamison, Yvonne Jamison and Miss Elizabeth Bryant visited in Wichita Falls Tuesday.

ADJUTANT GENERAL W. W. STERLING TO BE A JUDGE AT COWBOY REUNION

Stamford, Texas, June 8—Adjutant General W. W. Sterling of Austin has accepted an invitation to serve as one of the judges in the cowboy rodeo to be held in connection with the Texas Cowboy Reunion in Stamford July 4, 5 and 6.

General Sterling has a national reputation in judging rodeo contests, having judged in Madison Square, New York, Soldiers' Field, Chicago, and numerous other rodeo performances. He declined a number of other invitations in order to come to Stamford this year.

The judging staff will also include Sheriff C. R. Elliott of Knox County and Frank Rhodes, Throckmorton cattlemen, both of whom are experienced in appraising rodeo contests. The fourth judge is still to be secured.

Two rodeo performances will be held daily during the Reunion, afternoon and night. Contests will be held in bronco-busting, calf-roping, steer riding, and wild-cow-milking, with over $1,200 in cash prizes offered. The champion cowboy in roping events will receive a $150 saddle. Another saddle of the same value will be awarded to the winner of the oldtime cowboys' calf roping contest, which is open to cowhands over 55 years of age.

The rodeo arena has been improved this year with the installation of four additional floodlights for the night performances and the laying of a water line for sprinkling the ground. Chutes and corrals also have been improved with a view of speeding up the performance.

COX OPENS HIS CAMPAIGN AT OZRO

Ozro, Texas, June 7—"With Andrew Mellon, Secretary of the Treasury, 'big boss' of the United States, having three Republican presidents serve as his arrand boys, the last few years have seen the powers of that great office used to authorize over two billion dollars in tax refunds to major corporations, over four billion two hundred million dollars advance to 'blood-sucking' World War profiteers, and numerous other outlandish raids and the funds raised by the long suffering taxpayers of this country", asserted Ernest C. Ozro Cox, in his formal opening address for Congressman-at-large here Tuesday afternoon. Andrew Mellon and his clique of international bankers, in order to insure the billions they have loaned privately to European nations being repaid, have engineered the cancellation of enough debts due us by foreign nations to have paid the entire expenses of our national government for a period of two years.

Mr. Cox stated that a depression was a natural result of scarcity of money and he showed that according to census in 1920 there was $52.00 per capita afloat in this country while in 1930 there was only a little over 127.00 per capita. He declared it was as impossible to withdraw one half of the circulating medium and expect business and industry to remain strong and vigorous as it is to take one-half of the blood from the human body and expect normal functioning.

"I therefore, favor a policy which will encourage our basic industry; in this country—agriculture; thereby increasing the purchasing power of the farmer and lowering the value of those manufactured articles from the East that we must purchase", he explained. "This is not meant as an effort to array one section of the country against the other or to arouse class prejudice, but rather one of warning to avoid a condition that if carried much further will bring the farmers of the state to the level of the Mexican peons or Russian peasants. I, therefore, should like to plead with the voters of my native state to remember that the Democratic party has always been the friend of the masses and even if the nominees of your party are not entirely satisfactory to you the ticket straight, increasing the power and prestige of that party founded by Thomas Jefferson, and championed by Andrew Jackson, never Cleveland, and the immortal Abraham Lincoln."

Advancing a desire for rigid economy in all Federal appropriations he stated, "Since the establishment of this representative form of government, the greatest experiment in behalf of the people that history has recorded, our population has increased twenty times over, but the number of employees in our national government has increased twenty thousand times. The Republican ideal has been to centralize power and functions in Washington, and this has been the cause of unnatural and mushroom growth of our national government."

Declaring that the death knell of the idea of the divine right of kings was sounded long ago, Mr. Cox stated that there was as little logic in the idea of divine right of financial power. He stated that the accident of birth of an individual was not enough to guarantee his unlimited power that comes from the control of colossal wealth. Yielding to parents their praise-worthy right of reasonable provision for their children through inheritance, he denied the right of descendants of those who have been the holders of huge fortunes to receive the entire control of this amassed wealth. Mr. Cox advocated a sharply graduated inheritance tax as a just and reasonable means of revenue and stated he would lead every effort to bring about a more equitable distribution of taxes and of the necessary burdens of government.

Mr. Cox stated that the proper and reasonable care of disabled ex-service men and their dependants was a solemn duty of the nation. He added that those who risked their all to guarantee the purity and perpetuity of our ideals were entitled to the greatest possible care, where they incurred a loss of earning power in unselfish service. He declared that as an ex-service man, he did not believe in gratuities to able-bodied men who had performed just a simple duty of citizenship, but that for the disabled the treasuries of the nation should be open. Mr. Cox advocated an immediate cashing of the adjusted service certificates.

Stating that he felt he was peculiarly qualified to represent Texas and her particular needs in the national legislature since his travels over the state had brought him in close contact with so many Texas problems, Mr. Cox asked his audience seriously to consider him for the place. He earnestly urged them, whether they voted for him or not to exercise their right of ballot lest they endanger representative government and allow a selfish minority to gain control.

There were several hundred persons who heard Mr. Cox's address delivered in the little country town in which he was born. Delegates from various parts of the state were here, and several organizations were well represented.

Note: This space was donated by the Herald in the hopes that we could help Ozro win the office. We know him and think he is well fitted for the office.

Sunday was a big day at the Methodist church. Mr. Boyd McKeown delivered a very fine address Sunday morning on the advantages of the denominational colleges. At noon the old time basket lunch was spread and every one discarded his dignity for an hour or so and the fried chicken just simply disappeared.

The afternoon was given to a program of piano numbers, talks and a sermon all given by members of the McKeown family. As a whole or in any part the day at the church was the finest ever.

RESTFUL SLEEP for FRETFUL, FEVERISH CHILD

—With Castoria's regulation

When your child tosses and cries out in his sleep, it means he is not comfortable. Very often the trouble is that poisonous waste matter is not being carried off as it should be. You need help—mild, gentle help that is effective. Just the kind Castoria gives. Castoria is a pure vegetable preparation made specially for children's ailments. It contains no harsh, harmful drugs, no narcotics. Don't let your child's rest—and your own—be interrupted. A prompt dose of Castoria will urge stubborn little bowels to act. Then relaxed comfort and restful sleep! Genuine Castoria always has the name:

Here's Simplified Cooking

Actually, cooking consists of only three fundamental operations: preparing the foods... putting them in the oven... and placing the meal on the table.

But so many more are required by old-fashioned methods! So much pecking, tasting and testing is necessary! So much time is wasted on these unnecessary, tiresome tasks!

With a modern Electric Range, cooking is reduced to its three fundamentals. You merely prepare your meal, place it in the oven, set the Time and Heat Controls, and forget the actual cooking! All the work is done automatically... requiring none of your time or attention—and leaving you free to enjoy happy leisure hours!

And this Freedom is only one advantage of modern Electric Cookery! Foods look better, taste better and are more healthful. In fact, there are so many advantages you'll wonder how you managed with old-fashioned, inefficient methods!

Call us for an individual investigation of your use of electric service, to determine the cost of cooking by electricity in your home. You may be surprised to know that there are many cases where electric cookery actually decreases the total of electric and gas bills.

mates again, the class feeling of true friendship and sympathy need never cease. Just here we would like to say a word to those who we appreciate most and who have done most for us—our parents. No words that we can speak can express the tenderness and appreciation that we have for them; they, who have toiled and labored for us and to whom we owe a debt that we can never repay.

But we say farewell, not only to former days and old friends, but harder than all to our dear teachers, who have daily thought and worked for us to make our school routine not a task, but a thing of pleasure and profit. The teacher who understands the particular wants of all his pupils, and who does all in his power to aid each in the needed direction, is doing a great work. Such teachers have been ours. Who guided and directed our thoughts, explained the hard places and showed us the important points of each lesson as we pursued a tiresome study? Who had such patience with failures and faults as our teachers? Who of my class but will say, "All that I have done as a pupil has been through the influence of my teachers. If they who have shown me the true import of study".

It is with sadness akin to sorrow that we leave the school life, made so pleasant and instructive by their efforts. Still progressing, by the instructions, and precepts given us day by day and week by week, guide each of us to take up and carry his or her life work.

Kind teachers, as pupils, we say farewell to you to-day, but nothing can remove from our minds the remembrance of all you have done for us, nor darken the picture of the bright school days spent as classmates and teachers together.

But mingled with these feelings for the past, come out anticipations for the future, which still allure us on. Time speeds with flying feet, and all alike must follow. The curtains fall upon the past schoolday scenes, but another and more glorious scene lies before our eyes the morning of our manhood is breaking, and before us stretches far into the unknown future, diverging paths, which lead us ever onward to an unknown future.

Teaches and school companions, one and, and all with a last lingering look at the setting sun of our high school days shining with tender radiance clothing all the scenes with glorious beauty, we turn and fix our gaze upon the day just dawning."
