PARENT-TEACHER INITIAL MEETING SEPTEMBER 7TH

The Parent-Teachers Association will hold their first regular meeting of the school year at the school building Sept. 7th at 4 o'clock. All the patrons and friends of the school are invited and urged to be present. A musical program will be carried out after which a social hour will be enjoyed and refreshments served. This will give the parents a splendid chance to meet the new teachers and cooperate with them. The Parent-Teachers Association is the great success of the year. We urge all parents to attend the first meeting of our school year.

Important Notice to Advertisers

After checking up all accounts the Journal management finds that the paper cannot be continued on the present price of advertising, so from the 1st day of September the new rate will take effect. The new rate, however, need not alarm any one as it will not yet be anywhere near the price being charged in the neighboring towns. It will amount to only a trifle to each merchant but will enable us to put the paper on a cost basis at least; we do not hope to put it on a profit basis. If the business interests of the town do not care to back the publication to this extent our free service is over and the only alternative will be the closing of the plant. Our new rates will be courteously given upon application. We believe that a local newspaper has a place in each community and that it is a valuable asset to the growth and health of any town, but as whether it is important enough that you would care to support it at prices on which it can be maintained we base entirely with the public.

GINS PREPARING FOR FULL-TIME RUN NEXT WEEK

Cotton has been coming in at a pretty rapid rate the last few days. There is now considerable cotton open and most everyone is making arrangements to begin picking next Monday. The gins are expecting to run full time next week. The price of cotton has been advancing some on account of the extreme short crop over the entire country which is now estimated at not over seven million bales. However on account of the great holdover the price will be a disappointment even at its best.

The Colonel's Maid

Under the auspices of the Intermediate League of the Methodist church a play entitled "The Colonel's Maid" will be presented at the Opera House by a group of Throckmorton young people Tuesday evening, August 30.

There are many laughable situations in the three act play brought about by an impertinent Chinese cook and two irate old colonels, adequately portrayed by Messrs Ed Merriam, Boyd McKeown and Judge Lee Smith.

The tyrannical Aunt Emmie (Miss Meech?) and her daughter Julia, who are the objects of desire of several passengers, especially Ned

Two Methodist preachers, and the other colored. The negro received a considerably larger salary than his white brother, who asked him if it was not his custom to expel his members who failed to pay. "No, boss," he replied, "we would not like to put the gospel on a money basis. We get them to subscribe, and if they don't pay we turn them out for lying."—Memphis Commercial Appeal.

Sometime ago we mentioned some of the "Burbank" experiments being carried on by Kirby Kinsey in his father's watermelon patch. In experiment No. 1, which was a yellow melon, he hooked it with a cake coloring.

The yellow colored melon, he declared, it was a regular sized color, of yellow blue and green, owing perhaps to too much of one color and not enough of the other.

However, his faith in Mr. Burbank was not lessened in the least.

In the flavoring experiment, Kirby says the flavoring last added out, owing to too much West Texas ozone perhaps, but he says he surely grew a bunch of highly perfumed vanilla and pineapple watermelons. Kirby doesn't much faith in the yeast cake experiment, where a North Texas man is expecting to raise an acre of "alcohol watermelons."—Sweetwater Reporter.

Two girls unfamiliar with baseball were watching the local nine play a visiting team last Saturday.

"Isn't that fine?" remarked one girl.

"We have a man on every base."

"Why, that's nothing," said the other, "so have they."—Boston Transcript.

The Peace treaty between the United States and Germany has at last been agreed upon and will become effective as soon as ratified by the U. S. Senate and the German Reichstag. The terms are short and concise and have embodied in them all the concessions of the Versailles treaty. Diplomatic relations will be resumed with Germany in the near future.

"Management of Chickens on Texas Farms" is the subject of a bulletin just issued by the Texas Experiment Station, College Station. This bulletin contains much valuable information for the farmer who keeps a number of hens on his farm. The selection of stock, culling, care of eggs for hatching, incubators or hens, types of incubators and operation, hen hatching, rearing chicks, operation of brooder, poultry feeding, feeding growing chicks, houses for the laying hens, and the marketing of eggs are discussed for the farmer who keeps a small flock of chickens on his farm.

Those who are tired of the tendency. They contend that another great war between the white races with modern war equipment will bring such distraction as to leave the dark races of the earth in domination. These are facts that each person should ponder well and use their influence in every way possible to bring a more peaceful attitude among men.

There are enough watermelons in the immediate Rotan vicinity to feed all of New York's children and fatten all the hogs used by the Chicago packing houses, but it is said it is not practicable to ship them. The expense of transportation makes for a waste of foods in one section and hunger in another.—Rotan Advance.

High wages are a most desirable thing especially for those who are receiving them, but the producing people have suffered the railroad workers to advance their own wages by their strong organizations until the process has brought about such high shipping rates as to rest heavily, and in some instances destroy the industry of the very men who are expected to pay the freight. If it is unprofitable to ship watermelons and other commodities, three distinct classes will unavoidably suffer: The men who grow them, the men who expected to transport them and the men who expected to eat them. The day is coming when shipping problem will be forced to the front and then some practical solution will no doubt be found, even if a few of the princely railroad salaries have to be reduced and the railroad unions be given to understand that America's interests and welfare are greater than their plans for continued salaried enhancement.

Multitudes of people seem to be willing to plod through life, apparently content to eke out miserable existences, without a hope for the future or even a desire for advancement in either their mental or material condition. Having fallen into a narrow rut, or groove, they lack ambition to grow out of it.

In a few years retrogression is inevitable. Envy takes the place of energy, and but for such the word mossback would never have been coined. This is the other extreme. Avoid extremes. Strike a happy medium and there will be found ample latitude to satisfy any laudable ambition.—Ex.

Why Do

The three fastest drivers in the Auto Races used TEXHOMA GASOLINE.

Here are the facts gathered by the Automobile Editor of the Abilene Reporter, Abilene, Texas, after the Auto Races recently held in that city: Glenn Breed, of San Antonio, driving a Hutson Special (the car that beat them all and won every race it entered) used TEXHOMA GASOLINE. Breed won $800. in money, being first place in three races.

George Clark, of San Angelo, driving a Hutson Special, won $400. in money, being second man in the three races, and he used TEXHOMA GASOLINE.

Red Shafer, of Fort Worth, driver of the Chevrolet with a Duesenberg Motor, winner of $400.00 in money, being first man in one race, second man in one race and third man in one race, used TEXHOMA GASOLINE.

Of the eight cars that entered the 25 mile race, six were filled with TEXHOMA. The only three cars that finished the 25 mile race, the two Hudson Specials and the Duesenberg, used TEXHOMA GASOLINE.

If TEXHOMA GASOLINE is good enough for racing cars, it is good enough for any motor. The BTST is none too good for racing cars. We always sell the BEST gasoline and Oils that the market affords.

FIND RELIC OF OLD LONDON

Arch of Bridge Which Must Have Been Built Centuries Ago Just Brought to Life.

A very interesting relic of old London has come to light, according to the London Times, an arch of old London bridge, which was demolished during the construction of the new London bridge, which began in 1825. The arch now discovered is the second from the north side of the old bridge, and is close to St. Magnus' church. It was disclosed during some building operations now in progress.

The first stone bridge over the Thames was built in 1170, but the bridge was constantly repaired and restored, so that there is no evidence of the exact date of this particular arch. It was apparently medieval, and is built of Reigate stone with a very flat trajectory. At the beginning of the eighteenth century, however, three flat wrought-iron supporting ribs were put in, and the middle one of these is dated 1700. The arch is not yet entirely uncovered, but a springer at each side is just being disclosed, and the span is estimated to be about 30 feet. The under surface of the arch is considerably water-worn between the additional ribs. It is one of the arches close to the mill wheel stood for the mill stood alongside the bridge. This is an evidence of the limits which time has gone on, have been imposed on the Thames, the river being now much narrower than it was in medieval times. It is understood that this relic of old London is to be carefully preserved.

Swatting the Fly

"Have you stopped swatting the

 that settles disputes between printers

Land and Water Ship

The hippopotamus is now rivalled by an amphibious tank that travels equally well by land and water. It is a tank only in the sense that it originated in the fighting tanks of the war, for it is, as a matter of fact, a passenger vehicle. When ashore, it travels on endless tread wheels, and looks like a motorbus; when afloat, it is propelled and acts like a launch. It is the invention of a Frenchman, and was recently tested, carrying six passengers, in Marseilles, the great Mediterranean port. The French got around the difficulty of giving it an appropriate appellation by calling it a land and water ship.—Popular Me-

Japanese Judicial Regalia

Speaking of robes, that worn by the first judge of the Japanese Su-heavy with embroidery as the vest-

 German church in Porto Rico. The color is black and the texture fine.
 Around the neck is a collar, woven into the gown itself and not worn separately, as is the collar of the chief justice of England. The color of the embroidery of this collar is royal purple, and is called the "crest of the seven flowers of peonies." The cap, something after the order of the very smart sport hats worn by the American women, is also black, with a design of "clustered clouds" around the top and sides.—New York Tribu-

MEMORIAL TO CLARA BARTON

School in the great Woman Taught school is impossible," the school of Bordentown, N. J., told Clara Barton, the greatest woman teacher of her time, and one of the best friends to children in all time.

 "It has been tried and always it has failed."
 She had taught at Hightstown in 1833, and the fame of her conquests of expertly bad boys had spread. Her pupils were her champions, and when their enthusiasm could reach some of the general prejudices against public schools were shaken. But Bordentown was ten miles away.
 The new teacher took a tumbledown, unoccupied building, with six pupils, but in six weeks the place was too small to hold half of the little Bordentowners who wanted, at last, to go to school. It had become—though no one knew it then—an educational landmark. The old structure where she proved that there was life in public schools will be taken care of for the future.
 Since Clara Barton was the founder of the Red Cross in America, that organization took the responsibility of buying the school when it was in danger of destruction, but they could not buy the site. Now the building has been moved and the land on which it stands has been donated.
 Burlington county teachers have restored the interior so skillfully that it is almost exactly as it was when Miss Barton taught there.

The Doughty

Colonel Roosevelt told a war story at an Albany reception.
 "A doughboy," he said, "had just got back home from the war, and he was lunching in a cafeteria when a dear old lady in the next chair to his own leaned over across her plate and said:
 "I, too, have a soldier son, young man, and a lucky one at that. Would you believe it? My boy went through the war without a scratch."
 "Dear lady," said the doughboy,
 "I'll be the name of his insect powder,
 will you?"
