

THE KNOX COUNTY HERALD

VOLUME 60

THE KNOX COUNTY HERALD, KNOX CITY, TEXAS 79529, THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 2, 1965 17N CENTS PER COPY

NUMBER 41

OUR THANKS—to the Munday Times, Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Herring, Aaron Edgar and Earl Little; To the Haskell Free Press, Mr. Jetty Clare, Mr. Vance Abeldt, Mr. Al Hinds and Mr. Roger Weatherford; to Mrs. C. C. Hoge and Mrs. Henry L. White, without whose untiring labor and effort, there would have been no Knox County Herald in the mail this week.

The Munday Times staff was at the Herald office bright and early Sunday to print four of these pages, and on Monday afternoon and evening, the Haskell Free Press staff and Earl Little of Munday put four more pages together and were nearly ready with the last four.

Mrs. Hoge and Mrs. White stayed on the telephone and typewriter Monday and Tuesday and did a wonderful job of reporting and writing news, so this should be the best issue of the Knox County Herald printed in the past seven years. We would also like to thank all the wonderful people for the flowers, the cards, all the phone calls, the food and the many, many acts of kindness and assistance.

The Knox County Herald and the staff, Kenny Hickman and Glenn Davis, and the Hill family are all DEEPLY GRATEFUL.

City Audit Held Recently

The City of Knox City received an audit of the city books for March 31, 1965, recently and Accountant Travis Lee made the following report and recommendation:

Munday, Texas
June 5, 1965

Gentlemen:
Pursuant to your request, I have audited the books and records of the City of Knox City for the fiscal year of April 1, 1964 through March 31, 1965. I am pleased to submit herein my report.

My examination was made in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards, and accordingly included such tests of the accounting records and such other auditing procedures as we considered necessary under the circumstances.

In our opinion, the accompany statements and schedules fairly present the fiscal operations of the City of Knox City for the fiscal year ended March 31, 1965, in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles applied on a basis consistent with that of the preceding year.

I have called to your attention in the past the necessity of increasing your tax revenues. As will be noted in the proposed budget, if the estimated income and expense is accurate, the city will operate in the red for the ensuing year. I have compared your tax roll with other cities of comparable size in this area, and I find that you are from one third of a million to three quarters of a million dollars less in evaluation of real property than the cities your size. I strongly urge that you consider the possibility of increasing the values of the real property of the city.

I found the books to be in good order. I was unable to make a complete check of the water and sewer accounts receivable due to the fact that part of the records were locked in the vault that the combination was not known on; however the accounts that were checked were found to be in order. I would suggest to the City Secretary that dates be placed on all pages of the cash receipts journal rather than just on the pages where deposits were made.

I would like to thank the council for the opportunity to make this audit, and I hope that I may be of service in the future.

Very truly yours,
Travis Lee,
Public Accountant
Permit No. 7671.

O'BRIEN BULLDOG SCRIMMAGE

O'Brien High School football practice moved into its third week Monday with Coach Darrell Lewis well pleased with the progress the Bulldogs have shown so far.

David Hewitt, a very promising Freshman, was sidelined for two weeks with a broken thumb, representing the only Bulldog casualty this season.

Coach Lewis reported a fine showing when the Bulldogs scrimmaged the Goree Wildcats Thursday and the public is invited tonight to attend the return match at 7:30 at O'Brien Field.

VISITS IN FINLEY HOME

Visiting the H. W. Finleys this week were his mother, Mrs. J. J. Justiss of Claude, and Mrs. Finley's sister, Mrs. J. G. Acker of Amarillo.

A twin engine Piper Comanche plane crashed in a cotton field one and a half miles south of Lowake about 2:35 p. m. Friday, killing Knox City Attorney Bill Sams and the pilot of the plane, Aubrey Lloyd Graham of Amarillo. Two other Knox City men, David Counts, insurance man, and James E. Hill, editor of the Knox County Herald, were injured.

An engine which died shortly after take-off from the Lowake Inn landing strip, was blamed for the fatal crash.

Graham had flown to Knox City Friday morning, and he, Sams, Counts and Hill had left the Knox City airport about 9:30 a. m. enroute to Temple to transact business for Graham. Graham owned extensive rest home interests, and Sams was his lawyer, and Counts handled the insurance matters for him.

They flew to Lowake for lunch and were then enroute to Abilene to discuss the purchase of a private plane for the newly-organized Knox City Flying Club, when the crash occurred.

According to David Counts, the right engine started to lose RPM's almost immediately after they left the ground. He said Al (Graham) tried to correct it, but the engine died, so he leveled off and attempted to crank it. Failing, he tried to make a slow circle to return to the runway at Lowake. They continued to lose altitude and airspeed, and the pilot was still busy trying to start the engine when they hit the ground. He said he thought the plane hit with the left motor and fuselage, then cartwheeled and came to rest upside down about 20 feet away. They were coming nearly straight down. He said the next thing he knew there was dust all around and when it had settled he was the only one conscious and they were all upside down.

The pilot, Graham, was killed instantly. Counts loosened Hill's seat belt and laid him on his side, fearing possible rib injuries. Graham and Sams, in the front seats, were pinned from their waist down by the instrument panel.

Counts kicked out the window near Hill so the editor could get fresh air, then he (Counts) escaped by kicking out the rear window on his side of the plane.

He threw dirt on the plane and dug furrows in the plowed ground to divert the gas that had leaked from the plane. A farmer who had seen the dust from the crash, and had then arrived on the scene, was sent for help and returned with a group of area farmers who held up one wing of the plane, giving relief to Sams who was then semi-conscious, but in little pain, according to Counts.

Using wooden posts as pry bars so as not to cause sparks and ignite the leaking fuel, they worked for over an hour before Sams was freed. He was dead on arrival at the Ballinger hospital.

Counts and Hill were released from the Ballinger hospital on Sunday. Counts suffered a laceration on the head, hip and leg injuries, and Hill suffered lacerations of the eye and upper lip. Both were badly bruised.

1946 STUDY CLUB PRESENTS STYLE SHOW

Members of the 1946 Study Club and their daughters modeled fashions from Lowreys on Friday night for their first fund raising venture of the year. About 40 members and daughters modeled this year's styles, but the real show stoppers were generally conceded to be Kay Howell, age two, Gay Lynn Barkham, age four, and Kolbe Waggoner, age 2, who each won a round of applause.

Special entertainment included a one-act play, "Take a Letter," which starred Leon Barkham, Sue Odom, Peggy Grindstaff, Georgie Lynn, La Verne Genie Cobb.

The Knox City Stage Band, under direction of Norman Arnett, provided the music.

Mrs. Bobby Joe Helton said that plans were now being completed for the club's Opening Night Dinner.

LOCKJAW KILLS 13 IN TEXAS IN 1965

Tetanus, commonly called lockjaw, has killed 13 persons in Texas this year, the State Health Department reported recently.

The fatalities represented more than half of the 23 persons stricken with the disease this year. Six of those who died were under one year of age. Five were 50 or over.

The department said none of the 23 cases had prior immunization against tetanus, except for a 7-year-old "who gave a questionable history of having received a single injection in the past."

DON GIBSON NOW COACH AT BENJAMIN

Don Gibson has been appointed new head coach of Benjamin High School. He will handle both the senior and junior high boys football and basketball duties.

Gibson graduated from Electra High School where he lettered in football and basketball. He received his B. S. degree from North Texas State College in 1951 and was in professional scout work prior to this assignment. Gibson has two daughters who are attending school in Electra this coming year.

AUTO STICKERS TO FEATURE FLAG

A touch of Texas tourism will be added to the 1966 automobile inspection stickers issued after Sept. 1.

Col. Homer Garrison Jr., director of the Texas Department of Public Safety, said official inspection stations will use a colorful sticker featuring the Texas flag.

The DPS director encouraged motorists to secure new stickers as soon as possible even though the final deadline for inspection is April 15, 1966.

The new inspection period will mark the 18th year of compulsory vehicle inspection in the state. Col. Garrison reports that inspections have decreased accidents from vehicle defects, with 1965 reaching an all-time low.

JOE W. DOBY
COUNTY AGRICULTURAL AGENT

We are back at work after taking a two week's vacation trip to the Gulf Coast. The first part of the trip was spent in McAllen attending the Texas County Agricultural Agents Association meeting. A total of 115 agents attended with a total of 285 including wives and children. The agents in that district did an excellent job in making arrangements for the meeting. We had a choice of three tours to be taken — citrus, vegetable and the screwworm plant. We finally decided upon the screwworm plant. It takes a pretty strong stomach to make this one but it was very interesting. It was a good trip but we are glad to be back home.

Creep feeding is a management tool in the production of calves to weaning that depends on the judgment of the individual cattleman for its success. The ultimate goal is to increase profit. In most tests run on creep feeding, figures are on the wrong side of the profit ledger for calves on good pasture. Increased value of feeder calves is seldom enough to pay for the additional feed and labor.

Purebred breeders may still profit from creep-feeding bull calves, regardless of pasture conditions, if an additional 25 to 50 pounds makes a bull calf bring 50 or more at sale time.

Performance testing shows that the average creep-fed calf gains one-tenth of a pound more per day than his non-creep fed counterpart. This amounts to 25 pounds extra at weaning. However, if put-on cost is greater than sale price, profits are lost.

Creep feeding varies widely from farm to farm. If profits are to be gained, the manager must pay attention to several factors.

Feeders should be placed where the herd congregates, such as near water or shade. A ready supply of clean, fresh, inexpensive feed is a must at all times. Winter creep-fed calves will probably need a ration containing 14 to 15 per cent protein. In summer on pasture a 12 per cent protein content is sufficient.

For more information on creep feeding calves, we suggest Bulletin B-792, "Creep Feeding Beef Calves" which is available free of charge at my office.

Sharp knives and a properly adjusted forage harvester mean a saving on time and fuel when harvesting silage, increased silo capacity and better silage at feeding time.

For quality silage at feeding time, you need a quality forage crop at the proper stage of maturity at harvest time. The crop should be harvested to give short uniformly cut silage.

Sharp knives and shear bars adjusted to the proper clearance aid in producing uniformly-cut silage with minimum power requirements. Most of the power is used in the chopping process. If knives are dull or the shear bar-to-knife spacing is incorrect, you are throwing away power. Forage will be torn apart rather than cut. This eats up power and results in coarse, non-uniform silage that is difficult to pack. The end product is a lower quality silage of poor palatability.

A length of cut from one-fourth to three-eighths inch is desirable. Most newer forage harvesters can be adjusted for this length of cut. To overcome the problem of dull knives, many manufacturers are making it easier to sharpen or hone the knives. Knife sharpeners are built-in on many of the machines while knives can be easily removed for sharpening on other types.

It's a good idea to check your operator's manual for information on adjustment and operation of your particular forage harvester.

Annual Punt, Pass, Kick Contest Open To Youths

The National Football League and the Ford dealers of America have announced the fifth annual Punt, Pass and Kick competition for the nation's 8-through-13-year-old football fans.

"PP&K pits the youths' punting, passing and place-kicking skills against those of other participants of the same age. Since its inception in 1961, the program has attracted more than 1,700,000 entries, including a record 601,000 last year.

Registration for this year's competition will be held at Ford dealerships, or at locations designated by them, September 1 through October 8.

Competition in the Dallas area will be prefaced, in late September, by a football clinic conducted for PP&K entrants by members of the Dallas Cowboys football team. Actual PP&K local and district competition in Dallas County will take place at city parks. Elsewhere in the Southwestern region, competition will be held at school athletic fields, parks or other areas designated by Ford dealers.

Winners of these preliminary PP&K contests will advance to area competition to occur during half-time ceremonies at NFL games. Winners from the Dallas, Houston, New Orleans and Oklahoma City districts will compete during half-time at Dallas Cowboys games and Memphis-district winners will perform at St. Louis Cardinal football games. Area winners will vie for Eastern Division honors December 11 at Dallas' Cotton Bowl during half-time of the Dallas Cowboys - St. Louis Cardinals game. Similarly, Western NFL-area champions will compete in Los Angeles December 18 to decide the six Western Division NFL champions.

Finalists Visit Washington and Miami

The 12 finalists — one each in the 8-13 groups from both the Eastern and Western Division team areas — will go to Miami for the final PP&K competition at half-time of the NFL Playoff Bowl Game in the Orange Bowl on January 9, 1966. The all-expense "Tour of Champions" for the youths and their parents will begin with a visit to Washington, D. C., on January 7. The Washington visit will be highlighted by a special tour of the White House.

Following the half-time show-down in Miami, the six national age-group winners will be crowned by NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle. One of the national PP&K champions last year was 9-year-old Mark B. Woodward of Huntsville, Texas.

Levels of Competition

The five levels of competition begin with local programs during the October 9-17 period. Local winners will be determined in local, dealer-sponsored competitions. The top six scorers in each Ford sales zone will be invited to represent their zones in a Ford district competition.

After competitions in the 37 Ford districts, the top six youths in each age group (a total of 222 boys) will qualify for the area competitions in each NFL-area city. From there, area winners will enter divisional and national championships.

The six National champions will be determined in competition between champions of the Eastern and Western Divisions at half-time of the Playoff Bowl Game in the Orange Bowl at Miami January 9, 1966.

Awards

Awards to winners at the various levels of competition will be:

Local (for 8, 9 and 10 year olds): 1st, NFL warmup jacket; 2nd, football helmet; 3rd, PP&K football. (Boys 11, 12 and 13 will receive plaques).

District (in each age group): Plaques.

Area (in each age group): Trophies.

Social Security Is Extended For Students After 18

Many Knox County students who receive Social Security benefits as the children of retired, disabled, or deceased workers can continue to get the payments after age 18 if they are attending school full time, Francis J. Stevens, Knox County's Social Security representative, announced this week.

Under this new provision, contained in the 1965 amendments to the Social Security law, students can continue to receive monthly benefits until they reach age 22 or complete their education, whichever is earlier, Stevens continued. Students whose benefits were stopped when they reach 18 and who are continuing their education as full-time students will have to file a new application in order to have their payments started again. Benefit payments can be made retroactive to January 1965.

Young adults who take a full-time vocational course, as well as those going to high school or college full time, are covered by this provision, Stevens stated.

In addition to benefits during the school year, payment can continue during a vacation period of up to 4 continuous months, if the student will be returning to school afterwards.

Stevens suggested that anyone having questions about this new provision write to the office in Wichita Falls or meet him at the courthouse after September 1st.

Power-Boat Racer Bertram-Safety Champ

World famous power boat driver and builder, Dick Bertram, pilots his Detroit Diesel-powered Bertram 36 Special, BRAVE MOPPIE, to a world speed record of 57.7 MPH. Earlier this spring, Bertram finished first in the diesel class in the Miami-Nassau race. BRAVE MOPPIE is now on her way to Europe, where Bertram will compete in Italy's Viareggio Bastia race, and the English Channel Cowes-Torquay race.

Bertram says he's always amazed when people seem surprised that offshore power-boat racers are conscious of boating safety rules. His racing friends would not think of starting a race without thoroughly checking the boat, radio, flares, rubber life boat and numerous other items on their checklists.

Pleasure boaters will increase their boating pleasure if they would observe more boating safety rules. The most frequent violations which he has noted are failure to batten down movable equipment, including fuel tanks; stowing of lines where they can accidentally fall overboard and foul the props, disregard for proper footwear and clothing that will provide protection from sun, wind and spray; use of lifelines when climbing topside decks; and permitting children on board without life jackets. He's always particularly distressed to see children on cabin tops and forward decks, rather than in the cockpit when underway.

Ocean racing, just like any other kind of boating, is thrilling and satisfying provided you play it safe . . . and that's the only way he'll drive the BRAVE MOPPIE with her reliable diesels.

Tax Man Sam Sez:

The principal changes that Congress made this year in our tax laws was the reduction of excise taxes. Of course, any tax cuts benefit the taxpayer, but the manufacturer usually pays the excise tax. The tax cut will be passed on to the taxpayer through a reduced price on the articles that you buy. Most of us don't spend enough time keeping up with tax changes that affect us. There are usually several each year. We may not enjoy reading tax instructions but if we don't keep up with tax changes we'll miss a lot of benefits. Ignorance of your tax affairs can be costly. It's fine to have a good tax man but you should also keep yourself up to date.

VISITS E. B. SHAVERS

Recent visitors in the E. B. Shaver, Jr. home were Judy Brown of Ackerly, Paula Teeter of Tulso, Okla and Susie Kinard of Abilene.

TO THE RESCUE!

Motorist A, rounding a curve too fast, knocks Motorist B into the ditch. C, a Good Samaritan, drags the injured B from the wreckage. But in doing so, C wrenches his own back. May C collect damages from A, the original wrongdoer?

In court, A would probably argue something like this:

"I'll admit I'm to blame for the injury to B. But I had nothing to do with C. He came to the rescue on his own initiative. He took his own chances."

But the court would hold A liable for C's injury as well as for B's. The law says a motorist should foresee not only that careless driving may cause an accident but also that a rescuer may be injured at the scene. In the words of Judge Benjamin Cardozo:

"Danger invites rescue. The cry of distress is the summons to relief. The wrong that imperils life is a wrong to the imperiled victim; it is a wrong also to his rescuer."

Here are other examples of the law's special concern for the rescuer:

A woman was injured saving a child from a position of danger on a defense merry-go-

95 Of Every 100 Persons Affected With Tooth Decay

The teeth of Americans contain at least one billion cavities, each a potential source of toothache, dental authorities now estimate. They say tooth decay is so wide spread that it involves 95 of every 100 persons and is still increasing.

A virtually incurable chronic disease which must be prevented round. The court granted her claim for damages from the negligent proprietor.

A woman, answering a call for help in an apartment building, stumbled over broken flooring in the hallway. The court granted her claim for damages from the building owner.

A man was injured halting a run-away horse, negligently let loose on a busy street. The court granted his claim for damages from the owner of the house.

Of course, in all fairness to the original wrongdoer, his liability should not be extended too far. If the rescuer is more fool than hero, he usually cannot collect.

In one such case, a man sued the electric company for burns he suffered when he picked up a fallen wire. He explained that, even though he knew the wire was live, he wanted to safeguard some children who were playing a considerable distance away. But the court denied his claim, holding that his very good intentions were no excuse for his very bad judgment.

However, the law will overlook a reasonable amount of impulsiveness in the face of an emergency. As one judge put it: "In such cases the courts will not require the person to stop and hesitate and weigh probabilities until it is too late to make the rescue."

if it is to be conquered at all, tooth decay is a particular nemesis of elementary school-age youngsters although all ages are vulnerable to its ravaging pain.

Children are said to develop cavities at about the same rate as do adults — approximately one per child per year. But scholarly surveys show that whereas one-third of the adult need for fillings is being met, only one fifth of the cavities in children's teeth are being repaired.

The reason, Texas Health Department dental officials speculate, is that so many parents still cling to the totally false notion that so-called 'baby teeth' are unimportant because they are temporary. The frequent result is that good dental health for children is still relatively a scarce commodity.

In an attempt to reverse the trend toward almost universally poor dental health among youngsters — particularly in under privileged homes — the dental division of the Texas State Department of Health gives financial and education support to dental clinics in selected local health departments around the state.

The addition of fluoride in carefully controlled amounts to public water supplies is known by dental researchers to be an efficient deterrent to dental decay. The state board of health has reaffirmed its belief that fluoridation is safe and effective, and recommended that local communities consider the practice wherever applicable and practicable.

There is one positive step all parents can take to avoid the fate of toothlessness among their children, dental scientists agree. It's a simple step, requiring only that youngsters be taken to a dentist for tooth and gum inspection before being enrolled in school each fall.

Before the visit is over the dentist will have tutored the youngster in good dental hygiene at home, hoping the habits will take hold and last into adulthood.

When enough children have received such instruction, and make it a part of their daily lives, the blight of tooth decay may slowly fade from the American scene.

O'BRIEN SCHOOL BOARD MEETS

The O'Brien School Board met in a called session Tuesday, August 24.

Purpose of the meeting, according to O'Brien School Superintendent Bill Baker, was to make continuing plans for the installation of the new Vocational Agriculture Shop Building in O'Brien.

Mr. Dulan Harris, Area 2 Vocational Agriculture supervisor and J. D. Hinton of Snyder were also present.

Mr. Hinton was employed by the board to draw up plans and specifications for the new Vocational Ag shop and for the renovation of the existing building. It is hoped that the new building can be occupied by late fall, according to Supt. Baker.

Other business conducted by the board included the acceptance of the resignations of Mrs. Jean Lewis, third grade teacher, and Mrs. Estelle Wiley, High School English teacher.

The board hired Mrs. Carl Morgan of Knox City for High School English and Mrs. A. B. Michaels of Rochester for the third grade, completing the staff in time for school opening on Monday.

Mobile Pesticide Lab Set For Texas

For the past several years, Texans have become increasingly sensitive to dangers of mishandled and misused pesticides. Chemicals harmful to insects can cause equal mischief among humans and animal life without proper precautions.

It will be a relief to many people to learn that the Texas Department of Agriculture is doing something about the problem. A new pesticide residue testing laboratory has been included in plans announced this week by Agriculture Commissioner John C. White.

The mobile lab will travel throughout the state gathering samples of good crops, drinking and stock water. Extensive test will be made to make certain no pesticide is present in quantities harmful to either stocks or humans.

Pesticides are an everyday part of modern farming and are a great boon when properly controlled. Yet, some mistakes are inevitable and the lab is being constructed for the purpose of providing greater protection for the consuming public.

Commissioner White said the lab is expected to be in operation within six months. It will be moved to various locations in the state according to the harvest season of edible crops. Samples will also be taken from parts of the state on a regular basis and sent to the lab for tests.

"Much of this type of work has already been done by the Food and Drug Administration in Texas," Commissioner White pointed out. "However, the volume of crops is so great that this additional equipment and work by the Texas Department of Agriculture is badly needed. We expect to conduct spot tests on several thousand food products and water samples in the initial phases of the operation."

White pointed out that serious cases of pesticide poisoning are actually quite rare. "But even one case is too many and we are taking all precautions to avoid such accidents."

O'BRIEN ENROLLMENT

First day enrollment in the O'Brien school system totaled 200, with an additional 20 more students expected by the end of the week. A breakdown of the figure showed:

High School, 50.

First through eighth, 150, with 27 in the first grade.

Supt. Bill Baker said first-day enrollment compared very well with the beginning enrollment last year.

Make Plans Now For Education In Higher Levels

The class of 1966 is preparing to enter the final year of secondary school work. Many of these high school seniors are so busy they have given little thought to what will happen after graduation.

Now's the time to take a thorough, realistic look ahead to the fall of 1966, says Patsy Reynolds, specialist in family life education with the Texas A&M University Extension Service.

"Parents and school counselors should help students take a look at their education or career plans early this fall. They need to complete their plans for college, business school, or other advanced preparation to earn a living. Applications should be submitted by November or December — yet many families do not realize this when their first child prepares to enter college," Miss Reynolds says.

Students who plan to apply for scholarships should keep this early deadline in mind, too. Many scholarships have a February 1 deadline for application.

"This means that the young person must already be admitted to the college and then file the application by February," the specialist adds.

"She advises young people to talk to school counselors and write to the colleges or business schools in which they are interested.

A decision on higher education should be reached soon, and it may require some serious thinking before final plans can be made, Miss Reynolds says.

Knox Prairie Philosopher Claims Figures Prove Patients Get Well Faster As Medical Costs Increase

(Editor's note: — The Knox Prairie Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Miller Creek gets twisted up in some statistics this week, his letter reveals Dear Editor:

The main thing you can say for statistics is that they furnish work for the people who compile them.

A couple of items I read in a newspaper last night got me to thinking about this.

One said that the government now considers a man is living in poverty if his income is below $3000 a year, but it didn't say whether it was talking about a man and his wife living in a house in the country with a garden and an income of $2985 a year, or a man in the city with $2995 and ten kids and two brothers-in-law. Maybe both of them are poverty-stricken, but one of them sure is more stricken than the other.

The other statistic said it has now been established that one average hospital stay is only half as long as it was 25 years ago. The average stay in 1935 was 14 days and today it is 7.7 days.

The group putting out this statistic said the reduction was due to better medicines, new equipment and improved treatment.

What the statistic failed to mention was that the cost of a hospital stay has more than doubled in 25 years.

There is no doubt that medicines, equipment and treatment have improved, but I was just thinking, you reckon the fact it costs twice as much now has anything to do with a man's cutting his hospital stay in half?

Now a good man at statistics could take this and figure out that if you double the costs of hospitalization you half the length of stay, then if you double the costs again you half the length of stay again, so that finally, if you got the costs high enough, nobody would show up at the hospital and the statistical news could be announced that for the first time in history nobody is confined to a hospital and therefore the nation is 100 percent healthy.

"It is now up to the mails and then to the 2,500 licensed dealers to serve the sportsmen in adequate time and to avoid delays that occurred in the past," said Watson.

The overall consignment included 775,000 fishing licenses and 736,000 hunting licenses. The present year licenses will be invalid September 1, when the new licenses become effective.

The fishing licenses cost $2.15 to both residents and non-residents. Resident hunting licenses cost $3.15. There is a special $5 five-day non-resident license for hunting migratory birds, including waterfowl and doves.

Persons 17 years of age and under 65 years of age must have the licenses to hunt and fish with some exceptions, explained in the official hunting and fishing digests available shortly at licensed dealers, at Department local offices as well as with game wardens or other departmental personnel.

Premature contact with the big game herds was noted in eight cases linked to killing deer in closed season, according to J. B. Phillips, law enforcement coordinator.

Others involved illegal shooting of pheasants, dove, turkey and squirrel.

Phillips said game wardens are escalating nighttime patrols in the big game country.

To The Rescue

Motorist A, rounding a curve too fast, knocks Motorist B into the ditch. C, a Good Samaritan, drags the injured B from the wreckage. But in doing so, C wrenches his own back. May C collect damages from A, the original wrongdoer?

In court, A would probably argue something like this:

"I'll admit I'm to blame for the injury to B. But I had nothing to do with C. He came to the rescue on his own initiative. He took his own chances."

But the court would hold A liable for C's injury as well as for B's. The law says a motorist should foresee not only that careless driving may cause an accident but also that a rescuer may be injured at the scene. In the words of Judge Benjamin Cordozo:

"Danger invites rescue. The cry of distress is the summons to relief. The wrong that imperils life is a wrong to the imperiled victim; it is a wrong also to his rescuer."

Here are other examples of the law's special concern for the rescuer:

A woman was injured saving a child from a position of danger on a defective merry-go-round.

The court granted her claim for damages from the negligent proprietor.

A woman, answering a call for help in an apartment building, stumbled over broken flooring in the hallway. The court granted her claim for damages from the building owner.

A man was injured halting a runaway horse, negligently let loose on a busy street. The court granted his claim for damages from the owner of the horse.

Of course, in all fairness to the original wrongdoer, his liability should not be extended too far. If the rescuer is more fool than hero, he usually cannot collect.

In one such case, a man sued the electric company for burns he suffered when he picked up a fallen wire. He explained that, even though he knew the wire was live, he wanted to safeguard some children who were playing a considerable distance away. But the court denied his claim, holding that his very good intentions were no excuse for his very bad judgment.

However, the law will overlook a reasonable amount of impulsiveness in the face of an emergency. As one judge put it:

"In such cases the courts will not require the person to stop and hesitate and weigh probabilities until it is too late to make the rescue."
