FOOTBALL SEASON BEGINS FRIDAY

Moguls To Take On Haskell In Opener

With the season football opener set for Friday night, Mogul coaches watched the team carefully in its scrimmage against Holliday to spot any weaknesses and came away with lots of good things to say about this year's Moguls.

"Overall, I've been real impressed with our performance at both scrimmages," Coach Ron Steele said. "That's what scrimmages are for, to point out your mistakes, and we certainly made some, but I saw lots of bright spots, too." The coach went on to say that the team has shown a great deal of intensity and executed well, and that the few penalties assessed against them is a good sign this early in the year.

"Especially impressive was our defense," he continued. "We really had few breakdowns. Holliday did run the ball on us some, but they are a good ball team and I felt we held them well. I think the Holliday scrimmage was, defensively, as good an outing as I've seen for a first or second scrimmage, and I'm extremely pleased with that."

Offensively, he said the team needs to work on its timing but should show much improvement once that is worked out. Quarterback Anthony Stinnett is throwing the ball well, and the offensive line is giving him plenty of time to pass. "John Paul Browning has done a super job at wide receiver," the coach said, "and our running backs, J. B. Jones and Curtis Taylor, could play for anybody."

Other early standouts are Chris Baker, Lowell Hutchens, David Hertel, Glen Reid, Howard McPherson and Russell Reddell.

Haskell, the coach stated, is a big and fast team which is much improved from last year's squad. "The key to defeating them is to contain their speed and not make any mistakes. We're going to have to play pretty much error-free football."

The Indians are led by running backs Stephon Brockington and Mark Young and 210-pound Andy Griffith on defense.

The Mogul Booster Club served ice cream to most of the good-sized crowd on hand for last week's scrimmage. The football team was fed a hamburger supper after the game by some local businessmen.

The Mogul junior varsity will host Haskell at 7 p.m. here Thursday night. Then the varsity team will head for Haskell the following evening for an 8 p.m. kickoff. The home opener will be on Friday, September 12, when the Moguls host neighboring rival Knox City, the team that's chosen to win the north zone of District 5A.

Other games on the Mogul schedule include Archer City here on September 19, Electra here on September 26 and Seymour there on October 3. We will only play four district games this year because Lorraine had to drop down to six-man action. Munday is in the south zone of District 5A and will play Rotan here on October 10, at Roscoe on October 17, Aspermont here on October 31 and at Roby on November 7, with October 24 open.

Orientation For Foster Parents

If you would like to leave a legacy of love, the Texas Department of Human Resources needs additional foster parents in this area.

An orientation meeting for interested persons will be held at 7 p.m. Monday, September 8, at the East-side Baptist Church in Haskell.

Public Service Announcement

A representative of the Vernon Social Security office will be at the Munday City Hall from 9:30-11:30 a.m. Wednesday, September 10, to assist citizens in filing for Social Security retirement, disability, survivors, Medicare or Supplemental Security Income benefits.

Agencies Can Ask United Fund Help

Officers of the Munday United Fund are studying their list of organizations which receive financial assistance from the United Fund. Any organization which would like to be included in the 1987 Munday area United Fund drive should submit a written request for inclusion on the budget along with the agency's last financial statement.

Requests should be sent to Sandy King, executive secretary, Route 1, Box 38, Munday, Texas 76371, by Monday, September 9.

Field Day Set At Area Plant Materials Center

Plans have been completed for the field day and tour to be held at the Knox City Plant Materials Center on September 10. This USDA Soil Conservation Service center serves both Texas and Oklahoma.

Guided tours through the center will start at 8:30 a.m. and will be held throughout the morning and after lunch until about 3 p.m. In addition to the wagon tours, which will last about 45 minutes, there will be exhibits, equipment and a slide presentation for visitors to view, and a self-guided walking tour of the areas around the headquarters has been mapped.

During the noon lunch, a formal program will include speakers Curtis Sharp, SCS plant materials specialist of Washington, D.C., and Waldo Smith, president of the Association of Texas Soil and Water Conservation Districts of Brenham.

The Plant Materials Center is located northwest of Knox City. Visitors should travel two miles north on Texas Highway 6 then turn left at FM 1292 for two and one-half miles. The center is indicated by signs both at the location and the turnoff from Highway 6.

Transportation for persons flying to the field day in private or chartered planes will be furnished by the Knox City Chamber of Commerce. The chamber is also furnishing lunch on a prepaid basis.

Several selections of plants are now being grown at the center which were not being evaluated during the last field day in 1982. Grass seed dealers, seed growers, conservation district directors, research workers, wildlife enthusiasts, livestock producers and others interested in the search for better plants are invited to attend this event.

THE 1986 MUNDAY MOGULS have put in many hours of running, working with weights, practicing and scrimmaging, all leading up to one thing - opening night of the coming football season, which will be Friday, September 5. The Moguls will travel to Haskell to face a much-improved Indian team that should have a good chance to make the Class AA playoffs. Experts say the Moguls will do the same thing in Class A, and fans are urged to journey to Haskell and watch the team as they begin another quest for the district championship and playoff victories under the guidance of Coach Ron Steele. Kick-off is at 8 p.m. at Indian Stadium.

Goree Man Assessed 5 Years In Prison

District court was held in Benjamin on August 21 with District Judge David Hajek presiding. A number of criminal cases involving area residents were heard.

In the case of the State of Texas versus Eddie Russell of Goree on the state's motion to revoke probation, the defendant was found to have violated the terms of his probation and was sentenced to serve five years in the Texas Department of Correction. Russell was serving a probated term for the shooting death of Jimmy Lee Mayse, another Goree resident.

Judge Hajek reserved ruling on the cases of Luther McCrary, James McCrary and Michael McCrary, all of Knox City, until September 3. The state has motioned to revoke probation in each of these cases.

Carl Engbrock of Benjamin pled guilty to the charge of driving while intoxicated and was placed on probation for five years. Defendant Doyle James of Knox City was charged with the offense of bodily injury to a child. Pre-trial motions were considered by the judge and a trial date was set for October 21, 1986.

Test Early Soil Samples For Nutrient Recommendations

Knox County farmers should take time to collect soil samples from those fields which will be fall planted to wheat or other small grains.

Soil test results will be returned early enough to allow plenty of time to apply recommended nutrients and incorporate them into the soil during final seedbed preparation.

Incorporating or knifing nutrients into a moist seedbed is important to reduce nitrogen volatilization losses associated with surface-applied urea-containing fertilizers. It also allows placement of non-mobile nutrients such as phosphorus into the active root zone of plants.

Small grains which are grazed naturally require more fertilizer than ungrazed grain because of nutrients removed by grazing. About 30 to 40 pounds of nitrogen are removed in forages grazed by stocker cattle for each 100 pounds of beef produced per acre. This nitrogen, less some recycling, must be replaced to provide adequate nutrition for grain production after livestock is removed.

A soil test is still the best way to determine fertilizer needs. How much of a given nutrient to apply depends on the level of that nutrient in the residue levels, cropping history, available moisture, grazing practices and general management.

A general "rule of thumb" says that wheat requires about 2 pounds of nitrogen per bushel of grain produced. Therefore, a 30 bushel yield

Judge Explains Problem Of Indigent Health Care

Knox County Judge David Neil Perdue has told the Courier that several inquiries have been made concerning the Indigent Healthcare and Treatment Act which became law September 1. The act was passed by the Texas Legislature during the last regular legislative session. This act places the responsibility of indigent hospital costs on counties and cities where hospitals are located. What this means to local citizens is that the Knox County Hospital will be responsible for hospital care for persons living in Knox County who qualify for indigent care.

If there was no hospital in the county, the county would still have the responsibility for the care of indigents. In such a case, those patients could receive treatment at a hospital in Dallas, Wichita Falls or some other larger city where costs of health care are very expensive compared to local care, and the county would still be responsible for the cost. If indigents can receive care at a local hospital, some control of expenses can be monitored, and this can be important to the hospital, the county and its citizens.

The financial impact the new law will have on counties is unknown as yet because no experience has been established. But the basic facts are that each county, city or hospital district in Texas will be responsible for health care for eligible indigents, and such entities will be forced to increase their tax bases in order to have funding available to pay costs for which they are responsible.

A prime example of this is in Baylor County, where the Seymour Hospital Authority is responsible for indigents located within the city limits and Baylor County is responsible for all others in the county. Approximately 70 people who would qualify as indigents live in the county. The City of Seymour has allocated $45,000 and the county $40,000 to cover those unknown expenses.

Haskell Memorial Hospital, like the Knox County Hospital, is a separate taxing authority. Officials have reported approximately 140 eligible indigents living in Haskell County, and the hospital budget will include $100,000 to cover those included in the new law.

In Knox County, Judge Perdue says there are approximately 150 people who have been reported as being eligible under this program. $116,000 of the funds in the hospital budget will provide for the new responsibility.

"These dollar figures," Judge Perdue said, "have to come from our tax base. No one knows the impact of the new law. But it doesn't matter if you have a separate hospital district or if it is county-operated, the same responsibility will be in effect as of September 1."

Hopefully the above information will help Knox County taxpayers to better understand the difficult decisions that must be made by members of our local hospital board.

ART LAWLER

Nobody was supposed to take this game serious. It was therapy for lunatics who had gone berserk when their croquet games began to slip.

The sheep looked on in amusement from Scotland's pastures, but nobody but a few shepherds paid sheep any mind back then.

There is no logical explanation for why we are swatting the little ball several hundred years later, though. You're not even considered a lunatic if you participate now. You can do it in broad daylight in front of important people. Sheep aren't even allowed in the same pasture.

To make the whole exercise more difficult, humans have constructed kidney-shaped sand piles and water hazards. Greens are so smooth that striking the ball into the hole is like hitting a ball on a coffee table.

These obstacles are harmless - provided you swat the ball correctly. Unfortunately, almost nobody does. So skin divers are dispatched to the bottom of the water hazards after closing hours.

The little balls are retrieved, taken to the pro shop and placed in big jars to be re-sold the next day - often to the same people who put the balls in the water in the first place.

Sometimes it's hard to tell whether a stroke has been taken or not. Grim faced officials have to be summoned to trees and sand traps. A crowd gathers and a national television audience looks on.

Did the swatter actually draw sand with his swatter before it addressed the ball setting directly on top of the sand?

Millions of arm-chair lunatics at home watch replays in slow motion. Did the spec of sand fly prematurely? Grown men in suits whisper into microphones, trying to explain the proper procedure for avoiding premature sand flippage. They caution against accidentally making contact with the little ball while measuring it from just behind tree trunks, too. Somebody out there is always ready to assess a penalty.

After watching all this excitement on Sunday afternoon, the arm-chair lunatics go out to their favorite country clubs or many courses and try to emulate the pro swatters.

Husbands leave wives and wives leave husbands to swat the little ball for four or five hours a day. Children can either raise themselves or start swatting the little ball, too.

hiring pro swatters to watch them swing their swatters. Why does the ball fail with such depressing regularity?

Swat courses are becoming war zones, what with all the little balls flying in all sorts of unpredictable directions at 100 miles per hour. For some reason, when your ball is about to decapitate somebody you're supposed to yell, "Four." It doesn't make any sense, but it does get people's attention.

The physical knowledge can help for a while. But eventually technique alone is useless. By and large, this is a mental game. Men with long couches in their offices make $60 an hour listening to people with perfect techniques weeping about their neurotic hooks and slices.

The problem with this game is that it ought to be easy.

Nobody lines up in front of a swatter to block his shot. Nobody throws the ball at the swatter. Nobody spits on it to make it more difficult to hit. People just stand back quietly an allow the swatter to humiliate himself.

For reasons known only to swatters, they're always barking commands at the ball while it's in mid-flight.

"Come back, come back."
"Fade sucker,"
"Get down, get down, (expletive deleted)."

The ball, being more sensible than humans, ignores the commands and goes wherever it pleases, seldom drawing applause for its independent spirit.

People justify this madness by saying it is good, gentlemanly (gentlewomanly), exercise.

Not a word of truth to it. People who fight losing battles with tiny balls for four straight hours are not gentle. As for exercise, the hardest thing most of them do is turn on the switch to the battery-powered riding cart. Or freeze their hands in the ice chest while looking for refreshments.

I know what I'm talking about when it comes to this swatting madness. With the exception of the 31 times I've retired, vowing never again to expose myself to such ridicule, I've been swatting for 20 years now.

If you're going to live in a world of lunatics, I suppose it's only logical to be a part of the global funny farm.

For the first time ever, American women can expect to spend more years caring for an aging parent than for a dependent child, according to American Demographics. Today's average woman will spend 17 years of her adult life as the mother of a dependent child, but 18 years as the daughter of an elderly parent. The finding, based on Princeton University research, revealed a situation "new to human experience." In 1980, 65% of 50-year-old women had living mothers. This is a significant increase over the 37% reported in 1940.

Growers Must Apply For Crop Insurance By September 30

Wheat growers are reminded that September 30, 1986, is the last day to apply for crop insurance for barley, oats and wheat in Texas and Oklahoma counties, according to Bruce Hottle of the Federal Crop Insurance Corporation (FCIC).

Recently a new crop insurance plan, called Actual Production History (APH), became available to farmers for specific crops. It is designed to promote integrity and fairness on a producer-by-producer basis. "Using your own farm records or other available sources of information, an APH yield is determined for each crop produced. An individual APH yield is figured by averaging your annual yields for up to the ten most recent years, including 1986 yields if you have information available prior to the crop insurance sales closing date. For years that you lack farm records, FCIC will use a "Transitional Yield" based on local production history. The higher your individual APH yield, the more insurance protection you are offered," explained Hottle, "and the lower your premium rate."

Since no one crop insurance policy is best for every situation, individual and financial needs must be considered before buying insurance.

"To find out more about the program, contact an authorized insurance agent," urged Hottle, "as the deadline to apply for crop insurance is September 30."

Munday Students Off For College Studies

Some 50 Munday students are attending college this year, and we want local residents to know who they are and where they are going. So we've attempted to compile a list of those young people. KNOX COUNTY FARM BUREAU manager Don Welch, a 12-year resident of Munday, sells insurance during the week. But in his off time, he wears many different types of hats as he goes about his spare time activities. Don says he's done a little bit of just about everything, and, judging by the list of hobbies that he gave us (and that we added to), he doesn't seem to be anywhere near to slowing down. Among his many activities, he doesn't miss many chances to support our athletes and he regularly gives blood at Munday Bloodmobiles.

TO GET AWAY FROM JOB

Insurance Man Has Variety Of Hobbies

What do insurance agents do for fun? Ask local Farm Bureau manager Don Welch what he enjoys doing, and you wonder how he ever has time to sell any insurance!

Welch says his hobbies are rebuilding old cars and doing woodwork. In addition to that, he is a musician, a photographer, an antique collector and an intrepid explorer of ghost towns.

Some of these pastimes have even made him some money. It takes just as long to list the other things he has done for a living in his relatively young (pushing middle-age but not quite there!) lifespan. He has worked in construction, driven trucks, been a mechanic, a lineman, a parts manager and a car salesman.

After all this, he decided to try his hand at the insurance business, and there he found his niche. He began his career with Farm Bureau in Archer City and moved to Munday in 1975, replacing former manager Eddie Chambers. He was ably assisted for most of the past 12 years by Thelma Maston Byrd, who moved to Electra last fall after her marriage. Presently, Welch is assisted by another insurance agent, Freddie Caram, who has worked for Farm Bureau three years, and by two secretaries, Becky Offutt and Nancy Beatty.

Welch does business a little differently than other insurance agents in town. He doesn't set his own policies - the Knox County Farm Bureau board of directors does it for him. This board is made up of two members from each community in the county who are elected by the other members. This board is responsible for making major policy decisions and also addresses issues deemed important by the state and national Farm Bureau organizations.

When he became manager of the Munday office, the Knox County Farm Bureau had about 275 members, Welch said. This month the membership numbers 642. Members pay yearly dues in addition to their insurance premiums. County Farm Bureaus also maintain tire, battery and tillage tool dealerships, and members can purchase items from the Farm Bureau dealer.

Other changes in the business include volume - the amount of paper work has tripled, as has the number of accounts, since 1975, Welch said. Another major change came in 1978, when Farm Bureau allowed its agents to insure as many non-agriculture related accounts as they could obtain. Before that time, a large percentage of the insurance accounts had to be related to agriculture.

Underwriting guidelines have also changed to become stricter. Agents do not write policies to the customer's specifics now; policies must adhere to the guidelines set forth by the Farm Bureau headquarters.

Welch remembers well the busiest and most expensive time for his business - it was after Memorial Day weekend of 1980, when the city was battered by a storm of huge, damaging hailstones. Welch returned from his holiday at Lake Kemp to find customers in cars lined up for blocks, waiting for him to open his office and file their damage claims.

Most agents are in agreement that it is harder than ever before for persons to get insurance coverage and then to pay for it. But at the same time, with costs for all services on the rise, it has never been more important for everyone to carry as much insurance as they can afford. "We push our service," Welch said. "We try to help our customers as much as we can, whether they're needing to file a claim or open a new account. That is the advantage of having a home-town insurance agent - they are available to answer questions or explain policies. And if we don't know the answer to something one of our customers needs to know, we'll try to get it for him."

Welch says the insurance business is a stressful one, especially at this time. So agents need outlets for relaxation. Several years ago his outlet was playing in a dance band. But his days as a bandleader are over (or so he keeps saying), and he has turned to other interests now. Rebuilding old cars is a longtime hobby, and he and his wife, Shirley, have done some beautiful woodwork together. Photography is a sometimes-paying hobby that he can put to good use on vacations. Welch has been to Hong Kong and Hawaii within the last several months, but says he intends to stay in the good ole U.S. of A. for a while now. On a recent trip to Colorado, he got bit by the ghost town bug, so further vacations will no doubt take the family to some remote spots. Of course, there's always Ruidoso, another place where he likes to spend time and money.

If this isn't enough, Welch owns some antique gas station equipment that he bought several years ago and stores in Anson, where his parents live. Added to that he tries to spend some time with his family, which includes long-suffering wife Shirley, son Larry and daughter Cherie, as well as two granddaughters and a foster-daughter.

If we're making it sound like Don Welch is just a part-time insurance agent, well, just ask his secretaries. They'll probably tell you he isn't even on the job that much. However, that might be a little bit of an exaggeration; he's generally in his office every day unless he's at a meeting somewhere. But as all his friends know, this insurance agent likes jokes and having a little innocent fun at someone else's expense as well as the next fellow, so we couldn't resist getting back at him for all the aggravation he's dealt to the employees in this office.

And just in case Don has some form of retaliation in mind, we'd like to remind him of two old cliches: You can't beat the power of the press, and the pen is mightier than the sword.

And please, Don, don't cancel our insurance!

Bank Franchise Taxes Distributed In County

State Comptroller Bob Bullock said checks totaling $13 million were sent in this year's second allocation of the state's franchise tax on banks to 2,011 local taxing jurisdictions.

The Legislature brought banks under the franchise tax for the first time in 1984 and allocated receipts from the tax to cities, counties, school districts and other local taxing units where the banks are located.

Banks are taxed at the same rate as other Texas corporations. Previously, bank stocks were subject to local property taxes. The Legislature exempted the stocks from property taxes, substituting the new bank franchise tax. Collections are prorated among local taxing units based on their tax rates.

The City of Munday received $112.61, giving the city a total allocation of $3,062.81 for the period ending August 20. The City of Knox City's check was for $93.92 for a total of $2,354.99. These figures represent increases of 13.28 percent and 8.17 percent, respectively, from 1985 receipts.

A check for $264.35 was sent to the Munday Independent School District, bringing their bank franchise tax coffers to $6,987.93 for this pay period. That's an increase of 3.38 percent from 1985. The Knox City-O'Brien Consolidated Independent School District has now received $4,325.82, an increase of 11.05 percent, with their recent check for $158.23.

Knox County received $126.77 for a total of $3,423.20 this pay period, an increase of 8.82 percent. The Knox County Hospital District added $66.98 to their bank account, bringing their total this year to $1,808.99 for an 8.89 percent increase. Knox County's Drainage District #1 is also receiving checks for the first time, earning $18.04 this pay period and $498.80 for the year.

Mr. and Mrs. Randy Collier and family of Krum, Robbie Thompson of Dallas and Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Curry and family of Lubbock spent the weekend with Jo Jarvis.

Texas Farm Receipts Expected To Be Below Those of 1986

While 1985 was a tough year economically for Texas farmers, 1986 likely will be worse.

That's the projection by a Texas Agricultural Extension Service economist, Dr. Carl Anderson.

"Preliminary data shows Texas farm receipts far below levels of the first half of 1985," says Anderson. "When the final bell rings on 1986, I expect overall cash receipts to be considerably less than in 1985, even with some improvement in livestock prices over the last half of the year."

A look at crop prices in the U.S. during the first half of 1986 shows a 13 percent decline from levels a year before, the economist points out.

However, all is not bad on the farm front, notes Anderson. Lower fuel and interest costs may partially offset the drop in total cash receipts so that net farm income may be down only slightly from 1985.

And he offers a positive outlook for the coming year. "1987 promises to be a better price and income year than 1986," says Anderson. "The main thing producers need to do is to build their business around financial and price risk management."

Anderson also foresees an end to some of the world's best food bargains for U.S. consumers, especially in meat prices, as the market begins to make a turnaround.

Looking at the last 12 months, the economist notes that crop prices have continued to fall while livestock prices registered gains over 1985 levels. Farmers at mid-year got more for hogs, cattle, broilers, potatoes and eggs but less for corn, oranges and wheat.

At the same time, prices paid by farmers averaged just under levels of a year ago. Lower prices for feed and fuels were offset by higher prices for feeder livestock and building materials. Fuel prices were the lowest since September 1979.

"Cattle and hog prices in July averaged 10 percent more than a year earlier," Anderson points out. "Hog prices were the highest they have been in four years."

He adds that poultry and egg prices were up 24 percent compared to a year ago. Broiler prices jumped 8.4 cents a pound to 42.4 cents from June to July, the targets gain since records began in 1940.

Cotton Sales High As Price Drops; Prospects May Improve

A drop in U.S. cotton prices has sales moving briskly, and that means farmers need to keep a wary eye on market developments.

U.S. cotton prices dropped about 40 cents a pound at the beginning of August, says Dr. Carl Anderson, economist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. This, combined with a weaker dollar, is expected to substantially increase world trade, discourage foreign competitive production and increase cotton consumption.

Thus Anderson sees improved prospects for a fairly reasonable U.S. cotton supply-demand balance by the end of the 1987 crop year.

"Recently announced provisions for implementing cotton certificate programs on inventory adjustment and first handler certificates have added momentum to the potential of a 14-million-bale offtake this year," says Anderson. "This com-

TO ALL INTERESTED PERSONS AND PARTIES

You are hereby notified of the opportunity for written public comment concerning the application for relocation of permit No. R-6395 by Strickland Bridge Inc. to construct a concrete batch plant in Munday, Knox County, Texas. The proposed location is from US 277 one quarter of a mile east on FM 222. These facilities propose to emit the following air contaminants: cement dust and other particulate matter. A copy of all materials submitted by the applicant is available for public inspection at the Texas Air Control Board Regional Office at Commerce Plaza Office Building, 1290 South Willis, Suite 205, Abilene, Texas 79605, telephone (915) 698-9674 in Abilene, Texas. All interested and affected persons may inspect these materials and submit written comments to the Executive Director of the Texas Air Control Board. Any person residing in a permanent residence within one-quarter (1/4) mile of the proposed location of the plant may request a public hearing concerning the proposed construction of the plant. All comments received in writing and postmarked by August 31, 1986 shall be considered by the Board in making its decision on the application. All comments will be made available for public inspection at the Texas Air Control Board Regional Office. 47-2tc pires to an offtake of 8.4 million bales in 1985. With a new crop potential of 10 to 11 million bales, 1986 ending carryover may decline 3 to 4 million bales from the 9.3 million 1985 carryover."

The volume of cotton certificates to fulfill from the CCC loan during the certificate's nine-month life is sizable, adds the economist. Each of the estimated 2.5 million bales of "free" cotton on August 1 generated a certificate value equal to two to four bales. This "free" cotton alone should boost loan equity demand substantially because it will equal to nearly all the remaining 6.85 million bales of old cotton under CCC loan.

Further, under current world price levels each first handler certificate for a 1986 bale purchased will result in a value of about one to two bales, notes Anderson. On August 1 the adjusted world price of U.S. cotton was 22.37 cents, with the coarse count adjustment a minus 3.33 cents. Much of the Texas cotton crop has a 5 to 15-cent per pound adjusted world price value.

"All this suggests heavy trading in the equity market to redeem a large amount of certificates during the 1986 cotton season," the economist points out. "The world cotton price is probably over reacting on the downside, so continued wide swings in prices may occur. If the market makes a noticeable upturn by early 1987, expect renewed interest in forward contracting."

"Since cotton commodity options are available for roughly 15 to 17 months ahead, producers and buyers have considerable flexibility in pricing opportunities," says Anderson. "They can use pricing strategies such as options and futures to accomplish price insurance and at the same time benefit from a possible upward price move." *****

Hunters Warned To Avoid Phone Lines

With the dove season here again, General Telephone is reminding hunters not to shoot in the direction of telephone lines and poles, according to W. C. Wells, general manager for General Telephone Company's Mid-Texas Division. The warning and reasons given are timely and should be considered by every hunter.

A shot may disrupt telephone service and endanger many people who depend on their telephone during an emergency. Damaged communication lines often do more than disrupt weekend plans, it was pointed out. The lines may be carrying emergency messages which guide planes, serve radar tracking stations or connect several missile sites.

Just remember, each minute a telephone is out of order, the safety of many people may be threatened, which is reason enough not to shoot birds on telephone lines or poles.

There is another reason not to shoot at a bird on a telephone line or in the direction of a line: it is against Federal and State laws that prohibit any action to disrupt communications. *****

Former Resident Is Buried Thursday At Goree Cemetery

Longtime Knox County resident John H. Bates II, 74, died Tuesday, August 26, at his home in Seymour. Funeral services were at 2 p.m. Thursday, August 28, at the Goree United Methodist Church with Rev. Russell Byard, pastor, officiating, assisted by Paul Evans, minister of the Seymour Church of Christ. Burial was in the Goree Cemetery under the direction of Archer Funeral Home of Seymour.

He was born June 20, 1912, in Knox County and married Ruth Rice June 19, 1935, in Munday. A retired farmer, he was engaged in that business in this area for many years before moving to Baylor County 18 years ago. He was a member of the Methodist Church.

Survivors include his wife; two daughters, Jacqueline Wallace of Stephenville and Roxanna Babin of Venice, Fla.; a son, Frank Ross of Austin; a brother, Ruben Bates of Wichita Falls; five grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren. *****

THROWING GOOD MONEY AFTER BAD

A major step was taken this week toward ending the unfair and careless process employed by the Department of Energy (DOE) in its search for a site to house this nation's first high-level nuclear waste facility. In a hearing on the Energy and Water Development Appropriations Bill, the legislation which funds the selection procedure, the Senate Appropriations Committee voted unanimously to reduce the funds for the site selection process to a level which precludes any site specific work.

If the language of this bill is adopted by the entire Senate and an eventual House/Senate Conference, no funds will be available for work at any of the three sites chosen and announced by the DOE in May. As a result, sanity and coherence will be the rule of the site selection process, rather than the exception.

As I have previously outlined, the Secretary of Energy, announced on May 28th that the DOE would begin site characterization for the waste facility in three locations: Hanford, Washington; Yucca Flats, Nevada; and Deaf Smith County, Texas. This announcement also outlined a decision made at that time to "indefinitely postpone" the search for a second repository site in the Eastern U.S. This decision on the agency's part raised the concern that the DOE was making its decisions along strictly political lines.

In documents released to a House subcommittee investigating the agency's performance of its duties, it was disclosed that the DOE made its decision to overlook the Eastern U.S. in order to relieve political pressure being applied by officials from those 12 Eastern states then under consideration.

These DOE working papers testify to the fact that agency officials, when implementing a supposedly scientific selection process, weighed political pros and cons to a greater degree than safety and fairness.

Further, a recent Seattle Times points out that DOE data shows that Richton Dome, Mississippi was determined to be the best site for the repository, based on the DOE's own analysis. Now, however, the DOE says the Richton site wasn't recommended for site characterization because the selection rankings place too much emphasis on cost and proximity to the source of the waste, rather than on a desire to examine different geological media. If the DOE was really concerned with examining different media, it would have retained those granite and crystalline formations in the Eastern U.S. in its considerations.

Over the course of this debate, I have attacked the DOE's actions on a number of fronts. The vote in the Senate Appropriations Committee, however, is a major victory for those of us in Congress who believe that if any project is worth doing right, it is this one. Moreover, it is precisely the effect of two pieces of legislation I have introduced, and an amendment I offered to this same measure when it was introduced in the House of Representatives. This action finally represents a strong multi-regional, and bi-partisan stand against what many see as a process which will only lead to the selection of the most politically acceptable site for the waste repository, not the safest.

In the long run, it should be our goal to ensure that our descendants' environment is not the ultimate victim of today's political battles.
