Meeting Set For Cotton Producers

The Knox County Boll Weevil Association and the Knox County Crops Committee are sponsoring a fish fry and program on the Knox County uniform planting date for cotton at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, May 8, in the Munday Elementary School gymnasium. Cotton producers and their spouses who plan to attend are asked to pre-register no later than 5 p.m. Friday, May 4, by calling the Knox County Extension office at 454-2651.

Stanley White will fry fish for the meal. Emory Boring, Extension entomologist, will discuss how and why the uniform planting date for cotton works. Al Alexander, Extension agronomist, will outline some important production practices to help improve cotton yields.

All area cotton producers are urged to attend this meeting and cooperate with the uniform planting date. This will greatly reduce the boll weevil population in Knox County during the 1984 cotton season.

Officers of the county boll weevil association are Vernal Zeissel, president; Bernard Brown, vice-president; and Maynard Moore, secretary. Zeissel is also chairman of the crops committee. Members are David Albus, Ray Escobar, Louis Baty, Bernard Brown, Sonny Moore, Clarence Brown, Wayland Hardin, Larry Smith and Randy Jones.

Private Applicator Program Planned

Knox County producers will have an opportunity to complete a training program leading to certification as private applicators at a program scheduled for 7:30 p.m., Tuesday, May 1 at the Munday Vocational Agricultural Building. The program is being coordinated by the Brazos Valley Young Farmers with David Tunmire, Knox County Extension Agent.

The Private Applicator Certification Training Program, one of the optional means of qualifying for certification as a private applicator of restricted-use pesticides, includes a discussion of laws, labels and labeling, pesticide safety, mixing and calibration and pests and pest damage identification. The program prepared by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service includes a review of certain questions relating to the information presented. The program will require approximately two and one-half hours.

Those attending and seeking certification as private applicators will have an opportunity to complete a Request for Private Applicator Certification which will be forwarded to the Texas Department of Agriculture (TDA) for issuance of certification.

Sunday We Begin Saving Daylight

Sunday, April 29, is a day that many people throughout the nation look on with misgiving and even disgust. But to ignore the importance of that day is to be out of step with the rest of the country until next October.

Daylight Savings Time begins Sunday, and we are instructed to "spring forward" in the spring, meaning to turn our clocks ahead by one hour at bedtime Saturday night. Don't forget, or you're likely to be late for Sunday School the next morning. You might even try getting to bed an hour early, thereby gaining back the hour of sleep you will miss courtesy of the time change.

Most of us tolerate Daylight Savings Time and the changes involved with a fair amount of patience; it is, after all, almost unavoidable. Some persons even profess to like the change, and claim not to miss the hour of sleep they lose.

But to those few souls who despise and detest Daylight Savings Time, who will absolutely not be able to catch up on their sleep until the last Sunday in October, we extend our condolences. Hang in there, it'll be here before you know it!

inating the varsity meet, the Mogul junior varsity placed second in their division and the eighth grade Braves finished third.

Several team members contributed to the overall effort by winning third, fourth, fifth and sixth place ribbons and added to the number of total points.

Making the trip to Lubbock for the regional track meet will be the members of the undefeated mile relay team, Paul Wright, Quincy Adams, Frankie Stinnett and Todd Thompson. Each of these young men will also participate in at least one other event. Also qualifying for regional in two events was Johnny Collier, and Dent Offutt and Adam Campos will compete in one event. City Council Sets Out Goals For Coming Year

The City Council of the City of Munday, Texas met in special session Friday, April 20, at the Munday City Hall.

Members present: Mayor Doris Dickerson and Aldermen Richard Albus, Garon Tidwell, Gary Decker and Von Marr.

Members absent: Jessie Tucker.

Mayor Dickerson called the meeting to order. The April 10, 1984 minutes of the last meeting were read. Marr moved for approval as written. Albus seconded. All for.

Mayor Dickerson said the purpose of this meeting was to familiarize new council members with goals and objectives of the City in the next 12 to 24 months as presently set out; also, to offer opportunity for new members to change the goals and objectives if those now being instituted need new priorities; also, to familiarize new members with their responsibilities in departmental appointment.

Goals as set out and which may be later realigned by the Council and are not necessarily in order of priority are as follows:

1. Continue daily maintenance as needed and can be handled by the work force in water, sewer, garbage, cemetery, airport and landfill departments.

2. New City Hall - where to locate, architect or not, financing, library (to include or not).

3. To complete and hold hearings and approve the 84-85 budget, set capitol priorities, etc., (for all city operations).

4. To fill old water well at tower - remove south part of building and do other things needed for waterworks approval of the system by the Texas Department of Health.

5. To work with Drainage District board of directors to secure right-of-way for drainage ditch extension from SW corner at 90 degree bend west to county road; to work out a method for financing and construction - several alternatives are possible.

6. To commence work necessary to properly proceed in plans to secure a new sanitary landfill site.

7. To install approximately 10 to 20 more fire plugs, to authorize purchase of approximately two additional "tall" plugs to install when three feet length barrel is too short; to replace two six inch water valves broken or in need of replacement; also, to map water system (all of system to be recorded on one map): 1926 system, 1952 system, and system added by Mr. Williams, E. Y. Johnson and by present forces.

8. To consider changes in operational procedure of police department.

City Administrator Hertel recommended the above program be implemented to the degree possible in the 1984-85 year; also, that the City try to get discretionary funds (H.U.D.) to build the City-Drainage District project as set out in item five. Capitol items recommended are $10,000 to new city hall and fire station funds; $3,000 to $4,000 to fire truck funds; funds for new police car in February or March of 1985; estimate $8,000 to $10,000 for completion of H.U.D. project in east part of Munday and City to seal coat one block on E. Street; $5,000 for gravel or other suitable material hauled in to add to City's gravel streets (no other City seal coat of streets is recommended in this budget due to winter breakage costs and work load).

Each Alderman was briefed on duties in their various departments. The priorities set out above were discussed. The Council will give consideration to each item after further review of the proposals. Some will be discussed further at the next meeting.

Tidwell moved the City purchase two "tall" fire plugs, one 3'6" barrel and one 4' barrel. Albus seconded. All in favor.

Von Marr, police commissioner, had several written notes, etc., in regard to police department operation and hiring a replacement for Melvin Cypert. These options are under study and he had not reached a decision on what he will recommend by meeting time.

Albus mentioned one bad intersection needing drainage, patching, etc., at Munday Ave. and Highway 277. This will be worked on as soon as some present City installations on well, water and sewer are completed.

City Administrator Hertel was given authority to negotiate with High Plains Pavers for seal coating of one block on E Street east of Highway 277 and proceed if a reasonable satisfactory agreement can be made.

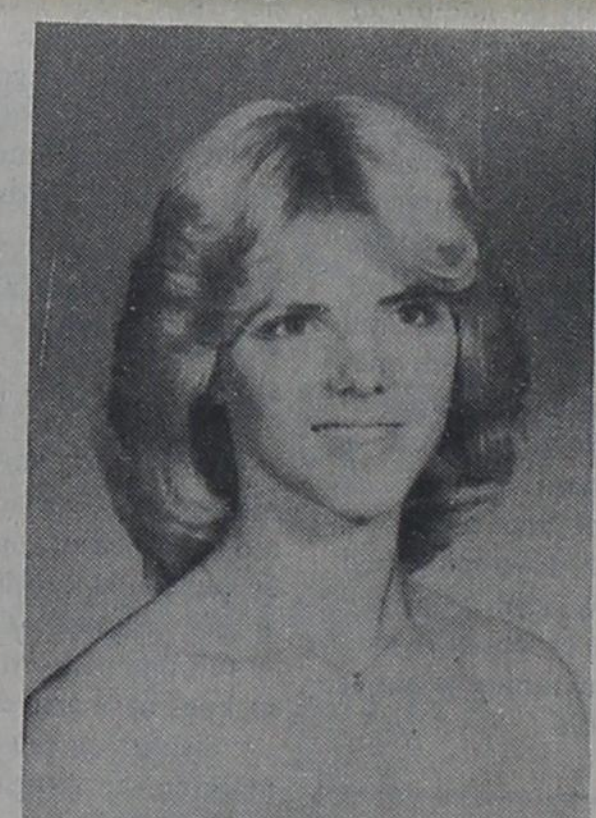

Tidwell moved for adjournment. Marr seconded. All for.

Uniform Planting Date For Cotton Meeting

The Knox County Crops Committee has selected May 21 as the Knox County uniform planting date for cotton. This selection was based on some of the following information from Emory Boring, Extension entomologist.

Boring points out that uniform planting of cotton after May 21 delays the production of the first one-third grown squares until July 1.

Boring suggested that to make sure weevil populations stay low, cotton should not be planted before the May 21 planting date. Early planting will provide the boll weevil with early food and egg laying sites resulting in the production of an additional partial to full weevil generation and larger weevil populations during the entire 1984 cotton production season.

Most of the overwintered boll weevils that survived the winter will have died by July 1. Only those female boll weevils that survive until one-third grown squares are present are able to deposit their eggs in those squares. A square is not large enough to support the developing boll weevil larva until it is one-third grown or larger. A one-third grown square is about seven days old.

Boring notes that peak boll weevil emergence generally occurs the last week of May or first week of June. Research has shown that boll weevils typically live from 10 to 22 days after they emerge from overwintering habitat when they do not have squares to feed upon. Few weevils that emerge after June 15 survive long enough to deposit their eggs in one-third grown squares. The uniform planting date, along with the typical weather conditions of the area, can reduce weevil populations in most of the area to the point that boll weevils cause little cotton yield loss.

According to Boring, in 1983 cool conditions delayed boll weevil emergence, resulting in heavier infestations than have been seen in the Rolling Plains since 1976 or 1977. The hot, dry conditions during July and August reduced boll weevil numbers in most dryland fields to low levels but in some irrigated fields boll weevil populations increased and caused some level of lint loss.

The cold conditions of this past winter were hard on overwintering boll weevils. Just how hard the combined effect of the hot, dry conditions last summer and the extremely cold conditions of December and January were on the overwintering boll weevil populations will be indicated by boll weevil pheromone trap catches during May and June. Overwintered weevil populations are well below those of last year.

According to DPS officials, Gonzales and the injured persons were traveling east in a vehicle driven by Rodriques Belmontes when the right rear tire blew out. Gonzales was dead at the scene. The other occupants of the vehicle were taken to Seymour Hospital.

Funeral services were held at 2 p.m. Monday, April 23, at Seymour Memorial Funeral Home. Rev. Lloyd McIntosh, pastor of the First Assembly of God Church in Seymour, officiated. Burial was in Riverview Cemetery.

Letter To The Editor

Dear Editor:

The deaths recounted in the accompanying pages caused a great deal of speculation and surmising in the community.

My typewriter ($10.00 at a yard sale in this block) is decrepit, and only modestly prevents my saying the same thing about the writer. The basic facts as related are true. I was four or five years old at the time so some of the details are a bit foggy. You'll need to recopy it I'm sure.

My best regards to a large number of Mundayites whose friendship is my most valued possession.

Very truly yours,
Harvey Lee,
1905 1/2 Grand Ave.
Ft. Worth, Tex. 76106

EDITOR'S NOTE: We think Mr. Lee's recounting of a piece of Munday history will be interesting to local residents, especially to those who might remember hearing of this incident. And we'd like to point out that Mr. Lee's "decrepit" typewriter did a fine job, and so did the typist, as the story is well written and needed only a small amount of editing. We appreciate his taking the time and trouble to share his remembrances with us.

Following is his account of what happened to some former residents.

Death Of The Donaldsons

With the death of R. E. (Elmer) Donaldson in Fort Worth a year or so ago the curtain fell on the Donaldson Family saga involving a series of events only the oldest of oldtimers will recall.

Coming to Texas from Albany, Kentucky about 1889 were R. J. (Jesse) Smith, only brother of the late Mrs. Oliver Lee and Mrs. G. A. Craft, and Kern Donaldson and wife and infant son, Elmer. Mr. Smith lived in a half-dugout with Tom Anderson, Lige Crouch and Jim Raines, three miles northeast of what is now Munday, and taught school at the Helms school a mile or so east of Munday. Mr. Donaldson resumed his trade as carpenter, building his home in the southeast part of town. Mr. Donaldson befriended a young man down on his luck, and permitted him to live with the family. He was around 20 years old, and I cannot recall his name.

About August 1905, both Mr. and Mrs. Donaldson suddenly became very ill. Within a day or so Mrs. Donaldson died, and two days later Mr. Donaldson also. Their symptoms were identical and the doctor attending them said poison of some sort was indicated. During this time the young man mentioned was not to be seen and the youngster told authorities that his father and the young man had quarreled a day or so before the Donaldsons became ill, and that he had saddled his horse and left. I do not know what sort of investigation was made concerning the poison angle, but all drugstores sold large quantities, with no restrictions of any sort, of poisons for eradication of prairie dogs.

By this date Mr. Smith had married Nora Johnson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. D. L. Johnson, and he and Mrs. Smith took the young orphan into their home. Both Mr. Donaldson and Mr. Smith were charter members of the Munday Masonic Lodge, and Mr. Smith and Mr. J. N. Campbell, an official of the lodge, contacted the Masonic Orphans Home in Ft. Worth, explaining that the youngster had no relatives in this section, and that the Home seemed the logical place for him. The Home agreed with them and stated he would be taken at the first vacancy. After living with the Smiths for several months Elmer entered the Home. There, during his growing-up period, he worked in the Home power plant, played in the band, learned to write a beautiful "Spencerian hand", and took the school military training all the while.

During the time he was in the Home he frequently visited friends in Munday, staying with the O. W. Lees, and visiting the Campbells, the Crafts, the Johnsons and others who had been friends with his parents. The Jesse Smiths moved to New Mexico shortly after he entered the Home. He particularly enjoyed rabbit hunting on the creek, and was a fine shot with a rifle. The last time I saw him here in Fort Worth he asked me if I recalled our killing a bull-snake that actually measured (by my grandfather) 1 1/4 inches short of eight feet.

He worked for a car-lot inspection bureau for a number of years. As stated, schooling at the Home included military drill, and shortly after our entry into World War I, Elmer found himself on a parade ground drilling recruits. He went overseas as a sergeant in the 315th Engineers, and there followed the old routine of trench warfare - days, weeks, months in the mud. He survived with no visible scars, refusing a commission to be a civilian once more. His two marriages resulted in no children. He was buried in Mt. Olivet Cemetery in Ft. Worth. His parents' graves are near the center of the old section of the Munday cemetery.

MANY YARDS IN Munday are displaying lovely iris in various shades. The yard of Mr. and Mrs. Weldon Floyd at 411 N. 5th blends iris with patches of bluebonnets, a snowball shrub, peonies and red barberry bushes for a pretty springtime setting. This is the Munday Garden Club's choice for Yard of the Week.

Appraise Your Valuables

You don't have to have a million dollar estate to need the services of a professional appraiser, says home economist Bonnie Piernot.

A good appraiser can be as important as a good banker, broker or lawyer if you have insurance damage or loss settlements, divorce proceedings or an IRS audit, explains Piernot, a specialist with the Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service.

Appraisers are not directly licensed or certified by government agencies, so you should investigate before you hire one, she advises.

Ask for and check any references provided by a potential appraiser. Past experience and client satisfaction is as important in selecting an appraiser as in any other major financial decision, Piernot says.

Knowing what you want appraised and why will help you select the best person for the job, states the specialist. For example, a skilled personal property appraiser may not have full knowledge of the value of your stamp or coin collection. Or an antique expert may not adequately appraise your jewelry.

To find the right kind of appraiser, you can consult one of several organizations for a list of members in your area, Piernot suggests. The Society of Real Estate Appraisers includes appraisers of all types of property, art, antiques, jewelry and real estate. The Appraisers Association of America, Inc., lists its membership according to type of appraisal and geographic location.

Once you select an appraiser, request an estimate of his or her charges and ask how the fees are determined. Most appraisal societies forbid members to ask for a percentage of the appraised value as a fee, she says, since that might encourage them to over-value property to get higher fees.

Many appraisers now charge an hourly rate or a negotiable flat fee for a job, notes Piernot.

You can help your appraiser by collecting information such as bills of sale, deeds, lists of improvements and costs or previous appraisals, advises the specialist.

Since an appraisal report can help in estimating financial net worth, formulating your estate plan and assessing insurance needs, make maximum use of it, advises Piernot.

Tennis Teams End Season

Munday tennis teams were busy at district and regional competitions last week, but none of the local athletes were successful in their quest for trophies.

Cherie Welch and Holly Hutchinson, the second place girls' doubles team in district, met a team from Eldorado for their first match in regional play at Lubbock. Coach Bill Kingston said competition at regional is extremely tough, and the Munday team was defeated 6-0, 6-1 despite a strong effort.

Varsity and junior varsity boys' teams were in Hamlin two days last week for district matches. In doubles action, Ryan Offutt and Craig Burleson lost to a Paducah team in split sets, and Shawn Cude and Scotty Jackson were defeated by Rotan in straight sets. Pat Angerer lost his singles match to a Paducah player.

James Gass and Howard McPherson made up one of JV doubles team, and Jay Donoho and Chris Baker composed the second one. They played and were defeated by opponents from Seymour.

An ad in the Munday Courier will get results. Have yours in by noon Tuesdays.

Munday Bank Deposits High Despite Decline

Deposits at the First National Bank of Munday decreased in the first quarter of 1984 by more than $600,000.

In a statement of condition compiled at the close of business on March 31, 1984, the bank showed deposits of $24,780,770.72, as compared to $25,464,605.24 on December 31, 1983.

A decline is not unusual for the first quarter of the year, and the figure is approximately two and one-half million dollars higher than the deposits listed in March, 1982.

M. M. Cobb, 73, of Haskell died at 5:30 a.m. Saturday, April 21, at his home.

Services were held at 10 a.m. Monday, April 23, at Trinity Baptist Church in Haskell. Rev. Kenneth Blair, pastor, officiated. Burial was in Willow Cemetery under direction of Holden-McCaulley Funeral Home.

He was born July 26, 1919, in Franklin and had lived in Haskell since 1925. A retired heavy equipment operator, he married Velma Mullins October 15, 1932, in Terrell, Oklahoma.

Three brothers preceded him in death.

Survivors include his wife; a son, Jerry Cobb of Munday; a sister, Octavia Scott of Boyd; and two granddaughters.

Golfer's Dream Comes True

Eat your hearts out, golfers! You all dream of it, but few accomplish it.

Munday attorney Bobby D. Burnett did Monday afternoon, when he hit a hole-in-one at the Knox City Country Club course. Burnett was playing with Domingo Garcia, John Lee Wilde and Wayne Bufkin on the fifth hole when he hit his lucky shot, using a number four iron. Joe Morrow also witnessed the feat.

This was Burnett's first hole-in-one. "It took me 23 years of golf," he said. "I was speechless."

His partners probably would have been just as happy if he'd never regained his speech, because there may have been just a little bit of bragging done.

Elderly Are Special Target Of Home Improvement Fraud

Now that spring is here, it's time to be on the watch for this year's home improvement scams.

While consumer frauds are widespread and pervasive, the elderly are special targets for these abuses, says Nancy Granovsky, a family resource management specialist with the Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service.

According to recent research conducted by the U.S. Senate Special Committee on Aging, home repair and improvement frauds were the most frequent type of frauds committed against the elderly, she explains. Nationwide, 71% of the elderly own their own homes. The majority of these homes were built before 1940. This combination of the number of elderly who own homes and the age of the dwellings is especially attractive to phony repairmen, notes the specialist.

Some of the common scams include itinerant repairmen who operate on a "hit-and-run" basis, cautions Granovsky. They may use scare tactics to persuade the elderly person that the chimney will collapse, the roof will leak or some other drastic problem needs immediate attention.

The elderly person winds up paying high costs for poor workmanship, and sometimes for no work at all. Often the con man will ask for money for paint or materials and then simply leave without doing any repairs.

The driveway resurfer promises a first class job at a "bargain price," says the specialist. The resurfer may claim to have some leftover asphalt from a construction job in the area which is too much trouble to haul back to the plant. But you will usually get a driveway that is poorly laid or coated with material that will wash off with the next rain. Then when you try to locate the person to complain, you may discover that the name and address on the business card are phony.

Itinerant exterminators may offer a "free" termite inspection that will create a termite infestation, quickly treat it for a fee and then leave town. Fake tree surgeons may also prey on elderly homeowners, offering to chop trees and bushes and rid them of any disease, she cautions.

Senior citizens - or people of any age - can avoid being taken in by these scams, says Granovsky, if they will do one or more of the following:

*Call or write the Better Business Bureau for information about any unknown firms or individuals.

*Ask the salesperson for name of local customers; then call them to find out about their experience with the company.

*Does your community have a requirement that all door-to-door salespeople register with a local agency such as the police, mayor's office or chamber of commerce? If so, ask the salesperson to show you their registration cards - tell them that you will think about the offer, call the registration office, and then get in touch with the seller if you are still interested.

*Stay in control. It is your house, your yard, your money and your time. Never sign a contract until you read every word and understand it.

Jones, Myers Make Regional Track Finals

Two members of the Moguelette track team made the finals at regional competition in Lubbock last week. Regina Jones finished fifth in the 200 meter dash and Janet Myers failed to place in the final ranking.

Also participating at the meet were Kelli Smith, Gwen Stinnett and Eva Escamilla. Erlinda Escamilla was an alternate.

Coach Randy Burks said times were very fast at the meet. As expected, Hamlin broke several records for class AA. "We had a relatively successful year," Coach Burks commented, "and the best thing about this team is that none of our regional qualifiers graduate. We have the potential to have a real good team next year."

Junior 4-H's Learn About Summer Camp

Microwave Ovens: Cooking Techniques

Today we are going to take a look at microwave cooking techniques and hopefully refresh your memory or give you some tips to try.

Microwave cooking is slightly different from conventional cooking. Although you can apply most of your conventional cooking knowledge to microwave cooking, you should be aware of special cooking techniques which are unique to microwave cooking.

Let's first look at cooking variables. Microwave cooking can be directly affected by different food variables.

The shape of foods can greatly affect the amount of cooking time. Foods that are flat and thin heat faster than foods which are chunky. For example, a casserole will cook faster in a flat dish, rather than if heaped in a small dish. Foods cut into small pieces will cook faster than large-shaped foods. Pieces should be of a uniform size and shape for more uniform cooking, or the smaller pieces will cook faster. The greatest amount of heating takes place within 3/4 inch of the food's surface. The interior of large food items or dense foods, is heated by the heat conducted from the outer food layer.

For best results, cook foods together which have similar sizes and shapes.

The quantity or volume of a food can affect the amount of cooking time. As the volume of the food is increased, the time required to cook or heat the item increases almost proportionately. If twice the amount of food is placed in the oven, it will take almost twice as long to cook. Increase the amount of cooking time when you increase the amount of food to be cooked.

The density of foods can greatly affect the amount of cooking time. Porous foods, such as breads, cakes or pastries, will heat much more quickly than dense meats of the same size. Porous foods absorb microwaves quickly throughout. Meats absorb microwaves mostly at the exterior surface, and the interior is heated by conduction, increasing cooking time. Meats can be cooked in a sauce, if desired. Due to the moisture content, a sauce will transfer to the meat, so the meat will heat faster due to heat by conduction as well as by microwaves.

The starting temperature of foods affects the amount of cooking time. Each temperature degree that the food item is to raise must be supplied with a definite amount of energy. Lower initial starting temperatures require more energy and more time to cook. Therefore, refrigerator temperature foods require a longer cooking time than do room temperature foods. Foods already slightly warm will heat very quickly in the microwave oven.

The moisture content of foods affects the amount of cooking time. The higher the moisture content in the food, the longer the amount of cooking time.

The fat and sugar content of foods affects the amount of cooking time. Foods containing high fat and sugar levels heat very quickly and may reach much higher temperatures than foods having low fat and sugar levels. Foods having lower fat and sugar levels require longer cooking times.

The arrangement of food within a microwave oven cavity affects the way in which the food cooks. Arrange foods as the recipe suggests. Arrange foods such as baked potatoes or cupcakes in a circle. When only one food item is being cooked, place it in the center of the microwave oven for cooking.

Now that we have discussed cooking variables, let's talk about manipulation of foods. Although most microwave oven manufacturers indicate that turning or rotating of food items is unnecessary because technological advances have minimized hot spots and uneven cooking of foods, if some recipes do suggest manipulating or moving food during cooking, several forms of manipulation should be used.

Stirring is required less often in microwave cooking than in conventional cooking. In conventional cooking, you use a spoon to move food up from the bottom of a pan to evenly distribute the heat. In microwave cooking, you still stir to redistribute the heat within some foods, but you need to stir from the outside of the dish toward the inside or center. This is recommended because cooking occurs from the outside to the inside. For best results, stir only when necessary.

A few foods which can't be stirred should be repositioned or rearranged during cooking. One example is baked custard. Rearranging allows for the most even cooking of foods. Foods which are cooked covered, or which are cooked using lower power settings usually require little rearranging.

Turning is also done when food cannot be stirred. There are two types of turning. Turning foods over is done to redistribute heat. Meat and poultry are two types of foods which are sometimes turned over. Small meat items or poultry pieces may need to be turned over when in casseroles or when in a browning skillet.

Rotating or turning dishes is done when a food cannot be stirred, rearranged or turned over. In these cases, the actual cooking dish is turned or rotated. Most recipes will indicate how much rotating is to be done. A half-turn means to grasp the dish and turn the portion of the dish that faces the oven door around until it faces the back of the oven.

I hope you will keep these techniques in the back of your mind and try using them in your microwave cooking. Next week we will finish our microwave series with cooking utensils.

History Book To Be Printed

Collaborators on the Truscott-Gilliland community history book, "Between the Wichitas", have announced they plan to go to press by May 15, and expect copies of the book to be available for purchase by August 15.

The 600-page book is a complete history of the two Knox County communities and will be priced at $45 per copy.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Brown and Kerry King visited the Andy Anderson family in Aledo during the weekend.

Beef Plays Important Part In American Diet

When it comes to the American diet, that popular question "Where's the beef?" has a simple answer - it's on the dinner plate.

Beef is clearly a staple of the American diet, says Marilyn Haggard, a Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service nutritionist.

The American Meat Institute estimates that the average American consumes a little under 19 pounds of hamburger per year. Other studies have shown that ground beef is served in 96% of all U.S. households and fresh beef other than ground beef is eaten in 97% of households, explains Haggard.

Families do, of course, vary in the amount of beef they eat, but total beef consumption has stayed about the same since 1981, says the nutritionist. Heavy users serve beef twice a week or more, moderate to light users serve beef one to three times during a two-week period, and others serve beef only occasionally.

From a nutritional standpoint, beef makes an important contribution to the American diet, says Haggard. For example, a person who has a daily diet of 2,000 calories gets only 8% of his calories from a 3-ounce serving of beef, but gets 57% of his protein need, 34% of his vitamin B-12, 32% of his zinc, and 21% of his phosphorus. Many consumers have become concerned about the amount of animal fat and cholesterol in their diets, notes Haggard. However, beef - especially as eaten rather than as purchased at the store - contains less fat, less saturated fat and less cholesterol than many people assume, says the nutritionist.

United States Department of Agriculture studies show that once you trim the fat from your meat, beef is not high in fat when compared to many main dish items in Americans' diets. USDA research also show that less than half the fat in beef is saturated fat.

While animal sources still contribute the greatest amount of fat to American diets, vegetable sources like oils and margarine account for the increase in fat in the food supply, says Haggard.

Well-trimmed beef is part of a good balanced diet which includes other meats, fish and poultry, fruits and vegetables, cereals and grains, and dairy products, she adds.

Special Camp Offers Help To Children With Diabetes

Diabetes can be a lonely affliction for a child. He thinks he is "different" and he often resents the fact that he is the only one among his classmates who has to take daily insulin injections and watch his friends eat desserts in the cafeteria.

It doesn't have to be so! He (or she) can enroll in one of the three, three-week sessions at Camp Sweeney for diabetic children this summer, and find new independence, new friends who share his same feelings, and a new way of eating that allows "treats" without upsetting his diet.

Camp Sweeney, located ten miles northeast of Gainesville in North Texas, is nestled in a picturesque, 346-acre site near the Oklahoma border. It offers the diabetic child, ages six to 16 years of age, all the camping fun and activities of a regular camp, plus the extras of learning how to care for himself.

A medical staff skilled in the knowledge of juvenile diabetes gives campers round-the-clock supervision and attention when needed. A dietician gives them recipes, menus and information on balancing their insulin intake and their diet and how to substitute foods when a party is on their schedule.

Camp activities include arts and crafts, horseback riding, archery and riflery, swimming, tennis, soccer, sailing and fishing. Dances, talent shows, movies and other events give campers a full range of camp experiences.

Campers stay in one of six air-conditioned cabins, divided according to age groups. All are staffed with several counselors at all times. Some are former campers themselves, who know the problems and anxieties facing their charges.

Parents are also given tips on meal-planning and caring for their youngster, tasks that often seem awesome.

Jim Campbell, a retired school administrator, has been director of the camp since its beginning. Camp Sweeney will open its 35th year of operation with session one on June 3, which ends June 22. Session two will be held from June 24 to July 13, and the final session is set for July 15 to August 3.

During its many years of operation, the camp has cared for 8,981 children. In 1983, Camp Sweeney served 291 children from 63 counties in Texas and from ten different states and Mexico.

For parents who cannot pay the three-weeks' tuition (costs available by contacting camp), an aid program is offered, and application forms may be obtained from the business office. A booklet answering all questions about the camp also will be sent to prospective campers.

"Children of all races and creeds are admitted to the camp and none has ever been turned away because of an inability to pay," director Campbell stated.

Parents wishing to enroll their child for the first session should do so by May 15. Approximately 100 children attend each session and space is sometimes limited.

For more information and/or application forms, write or call Southwestern Diabetic Foundation, P.O. Box 918, Gainesville, Texas 76240, 817-665-9502.

IN TOUCH

JIM WAY, PASTOR
FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH

Matthew 14:28-32 records for us a very interesting incident in the earthly ministry of the Lord Jesus Christ. After sending away the multitudes whom he had taught and fed, Jesus went up on a mountain to pray while his disciples were crossing the sea. A storm came up, and the ship was in trouble. Jesus walked upon the water out to the place the disciples were.

Peter asked the Lord to allow him to walk out on the water to meet Him. Jesus agreed, and Peter started out. He soon began to look at the wind and waves, became frightened, and began to sink. He then called out to Jesus, who rescued him.

When we read this, we are quick to be critical of Peter. We shame him for his lack of faith. We point out his failure in taking his eyes off Jesus and doubting. "He couldn't do it!" we chide. We may well be wrong in our criticism, however. Why don't we criticize the other disciples for not having enough faith to try? They, like most of us, remained comfortably in the boat, lacking faith to dare great things. It is much easier to sit back and laugh and criticize the failures of others than to "get out of the boat" ourselves and attempt mighty things. Peter tried. He learned even from his mistakes, and he is the only man I know of besides our Lord who ever walked on the water!

We live in days that are filled with great danger. The enemies of the Lord, the gospel, and the church are formidable. Days like this require great acts of courage and faith. God, help us to not stay in the boat - accomplishing nothing. Instead may we muster our faith, put our eyes on Jesus, and walk on water or do whatever else is necessary to do God's will and work in our day!

Mr. and Mrs. George Spann and Sheryl of Ennis visited their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Chester Lain and Mrs. Bera Spann, during the Easter weekend.

Senior Party South Of The Border Style

Munday seniors were feted with a Spanish supper at the Munday Church of Christ on Tuesday evening, April 24. Special guests were Mr. and Mrs. Doyle Lowrance, Mr. and Mrs. Doug Donoho and Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Ratliff. The dining area was decorated in a Spanish theme with a pinata as the focal point. Brightly colored tissue flowers enhanced the theme. Tables were covered with red and white checked cloths, and centerpieces were Mexican sombreros filled with mints. A supper of enchiladas, tossed salad, tortilla chips and picante sauce, orange sherbert, cookies and iced tea was served. Spanish music played in the background during the meal. When they had eaten their fill, the students enjoyed a typical Mexican party, the highlight of which was taking turns at trying to break the pinata, which was filled with candy. *****
