

John William (Mike) McGraw Succumbs In Wichita Falls Hospital

John William (Mike) McGraw died on Wednesday evening at 8:00 o'clock in a hospital at Wichita Falls, where he was taken some two weeks ago for an operation of a serious nature, and he seemed to be on the road to recovery when pneumonia developed some days ago, and since that time his condition has been critical.

Notwithstanding the fact that members of his family and friends realized that he was in a critical condition, his death came as a severe shock to the community, for it was hoped that his perfect physical condition prior to his illness would enable him to overcome his illness, but he fought a losing battle, and the end came on Wednesday evening while his wife and father and mother were at his bedside.

Deceased was born at McKinney, Texas, on April 9, 1898 and came with his parents to Munday many years ago, and "Mike", as he was familiarly known to all his friends here, practically grew to manhood in Munday. During the World War he entered the service of his country and remained in the service until the close of hostilities. He was married some seven years ago to Miss Bowden, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Bowden, who together with one child—a daughter—two years of age survive him.

In addition to his bereaved wife and little daughter he is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John McGraw, of this city, and three sisters, Mrs. Glenn Dobbs, of this city, Mrs. Lewis Reinlee and Mrs. Jewel Love, both of Dallas.

Funeral services will be held this (Thursday) afternoon at 3:30 o'clock at the Methodist church, with the Rev. R. B. Freeman officiating, and interment will be made in Johnson cemetery.

Death, under all circumstances, is an earnest master, but when it comes to one in the prime of life and in seemingly perfect health, as it has to our friend, Mike McGraw, we are all made to realize more fully the frailties of life and the narrow chasm that divides us all between life and eternity, and as the shadow of sorrow stalks into the homes of our friends our greatest regret is that we cannot properly convey to them our sincere and heartfelt sympathy and help them to bear their burden.

Supt. J. E. Rhodes Is Re-Elected For Term of Two Years

We are sure the patrons and citizenship in general of the Munday community will heartily endorse the action of the school board in its action in re-electing Supt. J. E. Rhodes for a term of two years, which action was taken by the board at its regular meeting last week.

Supt. Rhodes has demonstrated his ability as a school executive during the past year to the entire satisfaction of the board, and we believe, to the entire satisfaction of all the patrons of the school, and his election for term of two years will enable him to make plans for the betterment of the school that he could not otherwise plan, and it is safe to say that he will render a valuable service to the school during these years, for his entire soul is in the work of the school, and his ever thought is for the betterment of the school.

Judge I. O. Newton to Be Speaker Washington Services Tuesday Eve

Newton of Seymour will be the principal speaker, and other speakers will be on the program, including brief talks by Rev. R. B. Freeman and Rev. P. D. O'Brien.

A special musical program is being arranged for the services, and will include numbers by a quartette composed of local talent and a violin solo by the Rev. P. D. O'Brien.

All members of the order and visiting members are urged to be present at this meeting, and they may be assured that a worth-while program will be in store for them.

MRS. DONNELL WILL OPEN BEAUTY PARLOR

Mrs. Donnell, who before her marriage some months ago was Mrs. Katherine Harlan, will open and operate a beauty parlor again in Munday, and her many friends here will be very glad to know that they are to reside in Munday.

Guinn Hardware Co. To Hold Demonstration Here Tuesday, Feb. 21

Announcement will be found on another page of this paper of a tractor school to be conducted by a representative of the International Harvester Co. at the Guinn Hardware Company on Tuesday of next week, and Mr. Ben. I. Guinn, manager of the business, states that he would like to have every farmer in the Munday country who is interested in the care and operation of a tractor to be present at this school, regardless of the kind of tractor he may own or operate.

The school is free to everyone, and no obligation of any kind is incurred by those taking advantage of this opportunity to learn something of value pertaining to the care and operation of tractors, and Mr. Guinn expresses the sincere hope that the farmers of the Munday country will avail themselves of the opportunity that is offered in this school to learn something that will be of value to them.

Boys Badly Shaken Up When Car Turns Over Monday Night

Three boys, J. C. Nelson, Jim Isbell and John R. Rayburn, were very badly shaken up on Monday night when a Ford touring car in which they were driving turned over near the school building on Earnest street. The trio were enroute to the basket ball games which were in progress at the community auditorium—only a short distance from where the accident occurred.

The most seriously injured of the boys is J. C. Nelson, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Nelson, who received a severe blow on the head, and for a time it was feared that he had secured a fracture of the skull and possibly serious internal injuries, but we are glad to report that his condition has greatly improved and it is now believed that he will recover without having suffered any permanent injuries, and the other boys' injuries have proven to be only of a minor nature.

Judge Isaac O. Newton Seeks Re-election to District Judgeship

We are authorized to announce the candidacy of Judge Isaac O. Newton of Seymour for the office of District Judge, 50th Judicial District of Texas, subject to the action of the democratic primaries.

Judge Newton is now serving in this capacity, having received the appointment from Gov. Dan Moody upon the death of Judge J. M. Milam, and during the months that he has served he has demonstrated his ability as a jurist and he now comes before the voters of the district seeking election to the office.

Judge Newton is one of the pioneer attorneys of this section of the state, and in years gone by has served the district in a most capable manner as district attorney, which fact, linked with his long experience as an attorney, particularly fit him for the discharge of the duties of the office of which he aspires, and he respectfully asks that his candidacy be given due consideration at the polls.

COMPTON-WARKENTIN

The marriage of Dr. J. Kelly Warkentin and Miss Loree Compton, which was solemnized on Tuesday evening of this week at the Lansford Apartments by the Rev. R. B. Freeman, came as a great surprise to their many friends, notwithstanding the fact that they had exhibited during the past few weeks a degree of attachment for each others company.

The groom recently came to Munday from Oklahoma, and during the short time he has been in Munday he has made many friends. He is a young man of culture and high ideals and we feel safe in predicting for him a most successful career in his chosen profession.

The bride is a member of the faculty of the Munday Public Schools and during the time she has been in Munday has endeared herself to the people of Munday and the students under her direction. She came to Munday from her home at Lipan, Texas, where her mother, Mrs. Halz, resides, and has proven herself to be a most capable teacher and an accomplished young lady.

We want to add our best wishes to those of others in wishing for him a long and happy married life.

CHANGES MADE IN DRUG STORES MANAGEMENT HERE AND AT WEINERT

Marshal J. Whitsett, who has been manager of the Eiland Drug Store at Weinert for the past few years, has sold his interest in the business there to Aubrey L. Smith of this city, and has purchased a drug store at O'Donnell, Texas, and he and Mrs. Whitsett departed for their new home on the plains first of the week, while Mr. Smith who has been associated with the Eiland Drug store here for a number of years, has gone to Weinert to assume charge of the business there.

Both of these young men are Munday boys, and their many friends here will wish for them a full measure of success in their new locations.

AGRICULTURAL NOTES

(By W. O. Logan, Co. Agent)

We have been to Ohio, and we saw many Jerseys, and also some fine barns and mighty good feeders. It would be more than interesting to some of the fellows here that feed a few cotton seed, milk the cow when she comes up, and let her go when she doesn't, or looks her up a day or two later to milk, to see real cows cared for.

We brought back twenty eight head of Jerseys, register of merit class, and most of the thirteen bulls had medal dams and grand dams. The following article appeared in the Farm and Dairy, a publication of Salem, Ohio:

"Texas Jersey Breeders Coming to Ohio for Blue Blooded Improvement.

"Eastern Ohio was called on last week to furnish Texas a carload of Jerseys, with which to improve the herds of Knox county. W. O. Logan, of Benjamin, Texas, Agricultural Agent for Knox county, came to Mahoning, Columbiana and Belmont counties and selected 28 head of yearling bulls and heifers, practically all from dams and sires with gold and silver medals for butterfat production back of them.

"Among the Mahoning county breeders who furnished stock for the shipment, which loaded Thursday, February 2nd, were H. J. Beardsley, Confield; Frank Buckwalter, T. S. Woodward and Hugh W. Bonnell, Youngstown; Walter Brown, Hubbard; and R. E. Frederick, Poland.

"Wilfred Thomas of Columbiana, near Salem, furnished a yearling bull whose dam has a record of 4,200 pounds butterfat, and 72,000 pounds milk in eight lactation periods of one year each.

"Four bulls were secured in Belmont County, from the famous L. P. Bailey herds and F. M. Griffin and Son. Mr. Logan was to accompany the car to Texas, caring for the cattle enroute."

We saw many other notices about the quality of stuff we were getting in daily, and weekly publications. We got one bull that is out of a gold medal cow, and both granddams were gold medal cows. We got four bulls from H. J. Beardsley, that every dam averaged over six hundred pounds of butterfat as mature cows, and every half sister tested has made silver medal, and every sire is a medal sire. In fact, we went after register of merit stuff with real records and after seeing some hundred fifty or sixty bulls we got what we went after.

GEO. TILLINGHAST BUYS INTEREST BELL-MOORE CHEVROLET AT HASKELL

G. W. Tillinghast has purchased an interest in the business of the Bell-Moore Chevrolet Company at Haskell, and has gone there to take active charge of that branch of the business, and Mrs. Tillinghast and children will join him there within the next few days. Haskell is fortunate indeed in the acquisition of this excellent family, and while we deeply regret that they are leaving Munday we join their many friends in wishing for them a full measure of success in their new home.

FATHER OF MISS MARIE MILLS DIED IN HOUSTON AFTER ACCIDENT

Miss Marie Mills, a member of the faculty of the Munday High school, left on Wednesday morning for Houston, Texas, in response to a message advising her that her father, Ed Mills, had sustained severe injuries in a tractor accident at Columbus, Texas, and had been carried to a hospital at Houston for treatment. A telegram was received by Supt. J. E. Rhodes on Thursday morning advising him of the death of Mr. Mills.

No details of the accident was conveyed in any of the messages, however, it was stated that Mr. Mills had suffered two broken lower limbs and an arm in the accident.

Mr. and Mrs. Mills resided in Munday for several months last year, and during their brief stay here made many friends, especially did Mr. Mills have many friends here in Masonic circles, for he was a most enthusiastic member of the order, and his untimely death will be mourned with deep regret by those who knew him well, and we join the entire citizenship in extending sincerest sympathy to the bereaved members of the family in their great sorrow.

In going to her father's bedside, Miss Marie was joined at Haskell by a sister, who is a teacher in the Haskell schools.

Egan, District Agent for this District, all helped us get this stuff located and under advisement. Then Mr. H. E. Dennis on Field Man American Jersey Cattle Club, for Ohio, and Michigan, furnished his car and helped us materially in selecting this stuff. So with such able assistance, and the Jersey Cattle Clubs of each county visiting, we feel that the best stuff has been secured, and Knox county will not only be the home of some of the best beef cattle in the country, but that Knox prairie will eventually be the Jersey center for adjoining counties.

BAPTIST CHURCH ANNOUNCEMENT

The pastor expects to be in the pulpit at both hours next Sunday. We have had so many things to keep us out of our regular services of late that we are very anxious to get back to normal. Last Sunday service was very gratifying. Brother Powell preached a great sermon, after which our church gave more than a thousand dollars to the Texas Baptist Conquest campaign. We are very grateful for this liberal offering.

The pageant which was to have been given on Sunday night was postponed on account of some conditions, which could not be helped. We hope the folks were not greatly disappointed. A large number of our people went to the Methodist church and report a splendid sermon and service there. We hope to have the pageant soon.

Our hope is to make the Sunday night services powerfully evangelistic for the next few weeks. We are going to be disappointed if souls are not saved in the regular services.

Our Sunday school, our Young Peoples Unions, our prayer meetings, our Missionary Society, and our regular preaching services welcome you at all times.

HAMM-PHILLIPS

On Wednesday afternoon Mr. Earnest Phillips and Miss Eloise Hamm of this city were united in marriage at Benjamin, and the marriage of these young people came as a great surprise to their friends.

The groom has been in Munday for several months, and has been associated with the Eagle Service Station here, while the bride is a niece to Mrs. J. Arthur Smith, with whom she has made her home for a number of years. She is a very beautiful and attractive young lady, and we join their many friends in wishing for them a full measure of happiness throughout their married life, and our wish is that they may live long and prosper.

A LESSON FOR MOBS

How unjust it is to judge of guilt on the strength of superficial circumstantial evidence was illustrated a couple of weeks ago by the case of a 11-year-old boy murdered in Arkansas, presumably for a small amount of money he carried.

It was known that shortly before his death he had been in company with a one-eyed negro boy, who also was missing. Search for the negro was begun, with open threats of summary vengeance. After several days the negro boy was found not far from where the white boy was killed. But he was also dead, with indications that he gave his life in common battle with the white lad's murderers.

Now suppose that the two boys had separated before the white boy was killed. And suppose the mob had captured the negro lad, whose sightless eye would have identified him beyond question. There would have been just one more lynching of a negro despite his pleadings and protestations of innocence.

This should be a lesson for any who may be tempted to take part in mob murder.

MOVIE CENSORSHIP

During a recent debate on the question, "Should there be Federal supervision of motion pictures?" the affirmative was upheld by Canon W. S. Chase of Brooklyn, who incidentally indulged in some loose talk on the subject.

He declared among other things that the motion picture is a school of crime, and attributed the kidnapping and killing of Marian Parker by the young fiend, Hickman, to the fact that the murderer was a frequenter of the movies.

That such a statement is not only ridiculous but vicious is evident to any sane person. In all cases in which motion pictures deal with crime the criminal is brought to justice before the story ends. We have never seen a picture in which the criminal escaped. Therefore, there is nothing in moving picture plots which might encourage a person to believe that he could commit a crime and get away with it.

Federal censorship and supervision of motion pictures would merely add another lot of officeholders, with authority to harass producers and an already overburdened public. If such a thing were possible, any censorship which might be invoked had better be applied to such idle talk as Rev. Chase indulged in concerning the cause of crime.

How to Play BRIDGE

Series 1927-28 by Wynne Ferguson
Author of "PRACTICAL AUCTION BRIDGE"

Copyright 1927, by Hark, Jr.

ARTICLE No. 11

There is one fine point of the bidding in auction bridge that most players overlook. For example, suppose your partner, as dealer, bids one spade and second hand either passes or doubles your spade (informatory). In such cases there are a number of hands where you have a fine opportunity to make a big gain. The following hand is a fine example:

Hand No. 1
Hearts—8
Clubs—K, 2, 3, 2
Diamonds—A, K, 7, 4
Spades—J, 10, 7, 3

No score, rubber game. If Z dealt, bid one spade and A passed, what should Y bid? With this hand, Y should bid four spades, to shut out, if possible, a heart bid by B. Unless B has an overwhelming hand, he probably will be unable to bid five hearts. Y's hand is so strong that his partner has a fine chance to make four spades, so his bid does two things: First, shuts out adverse bidding; second, offers a fine chance for game. In this particular hand, Y's clever bid was a big winner, for A-B could have made a little slam at hearts, but Y's bold bid prevented B from showing his hearts. A-B, moreover, made four spades and so won the rubber.

Hand No. 2
Hearts—7, 5, 2
Clubs—10
Diamonds—A, K, 7, 4, 3
Spades—J, 7, 5, 2

Hearts—K
Clubs—Q, J, 8, 5
Diamonds—Q, J, 5
Spades—none

No score, rubber game. Z dealt, bid one spade and A doubled (informatory). What should Y bid? With this hand Y should bid three spades over the double in the hope of shutting out a club or heart bid. It takes a four bid in either to overbid three spades, so Y has a good chance to win the bid at three spades. The hand is not strong enough to bid four and there is not the same necessity of shutting out hearts as in Hand No. 1. Be on the lookout for hands of this type and don't hesitate to jump the bid when holding four or more trumps and a void suit that may cause trouble. Many a game is won in this way by shutting out adverse information.

Here is another type of hand which was played recently in a championship team match and which caused considerable discussion:

Problem No. 13
Hearts—Q, J, 10, 9, 7
Clubs—A
Diamonds—A, 10, 7
Spades—8, 5, 2

No score, first game. Z dealt and bid one no-trump. Should A pass, double (informatory) or bid two hearts? The match in question was won on this hand so think it over and see how your conclusions agree with the analysis that will be given in the next article.

Problem No. 14
Hearts—none
Clubs—4, 3
Diamonds—3, 2
Spades—9, 4, 3, 2

Hearts—Q, 10, 7, 5
Clubs—10, 9
Diamonds—10, 8
Spades—none

Hearts—A, J, 9, 6
Clubs—K, 5
Diamonds—A, 4
Spades—none

Spades are trumps and Z is in the lead. How can Y-Z win all the tricks against any defense? Solution in the next article.

of all their guesses will be worthless, as usual. There is one strange thing, though, about political predictions. No matter how wild they may be, there will be some to believe them, and after time proves them to be merely foolish guesses those making the predictions will have lost nothing in prestige.

Ordinarily when one "talks through his hat" and subsequent events show him up he is more or less discredited as a prophet. Not so in politics. For example, Charles D. Hilles, who declared on the eve of the presidential election in 1912 that Taft would win over Wilson and Roosevelt, is now getting considerable space for his forecasts of coming events, in spite of the fact that in 1912 Taft carried only two states. Many who confidently predicted the election of Bryan each time he ran are still doing business at the old stand.

so possibly foolish political dope is as harmless as anything they could waste their time on.

SOMETHING NEW IN TAXES. MARRIAGE A SCHOOL. SAVE A LITTLE. PROTECT NATURAL RESOURCES

A learned legislator says married women ought not to work, and if their husbands earn as much as $2,000 a year, the woman's earnings should be taxed 20 per cent.

Under old laws a husband could take what his wife earned; even now in England he controls the children that she produces.

For the State to rebuke her industry by taxing her earnings 20 per cent would be something new.

Bolshevism decides that little girls must not play with dolls, because that encourages the bourgeois or capitalist idea of family life, developing a taste for motherhood and household duties.

Bolshevism interprets the little girl with a doll correctly, but will no more overcome the love of dolls than it could overcome the instinct of self preservation. Maternity is planted in the hearts of little girls by a Power far above Bolshevism, just as ambition of another kind is planted in the hearts of little boys. And that ambition is what makes Communism an impossibility.

Dr. M. S. Taylor writes from Chicago, "Contribute your opinion on legalizing companionate marriage."

That question was settled when Eve appeared from Adam's rib.

Woman is naturally monogamous, it is determined to make man so, will do it eventually, and marriage is the school of monogamy.

A companionate marriage expresses doubt, proves lack of confidence on which marriage should be based, and while it is perfectly legal now, divorce being legal, it is a poor, cold-blooded sort of marriage.

Fortunately, the average young couple have no doubts whatever, and only regret the marriage cannot last a million years, just to prove it. Sometimes they are disappointed nearly always through the husband's fault. But meanwhile the children have been born, blessed with the influence of trust and affection.

William Fox has bought 307 more theatres, seating 350,000 for $100,000,000.

Twenty-five years ago Fox got into the theatre business because his employer refused to raise his $17 a week salary. Fox had just married. The employer said, "Not only I can't raise your $17 a week, but you are getting $2 too much. I am going to pay what you are worth, $15."

Fox had saved $380 on $17 a week, got control of a tiny moving picture theatre, that could take in $2,500 when packed. Now he has 356 theatres.

Always save something. If you have brains it will increase. If not, saving will keep you out of the poor house, anyhow.

The Prince of Wales, hopefully discussing trade revival, wonders whether human beings invented earrings or trousers first. Man's passion for adornment, he thought, probably produced earrings before clothes.

He is right about that. Darwin tells of Paganian ladies, living in a climate often bitter, that would not think of coming from their huts to let a stranger see them until they had painted their faces and arranged their hair. But they did come out without one stitch of clothing.

A British nobleman, by the way, owns a pearl earring taken from the ear of King Charles the First after his head had been cut off.

The United States pays more toward the expenses of the League of Nations than any other country except Britain—although we are not in the League. That's usual. We paid more than any other nation for that big war—about fifty-nine million dollars a day while we were in it, and we lent the allied fighters ten thousand millions of dollars—yet it wasn't our war.

Our troubles will come in America when our natural resources are exhausted—coal, oil, iron, forests, etc.

At present we are busy using, wasting. Some day we may be busy regretting. Emel Kekich sent to Sweden by Herbert Hoover's Department of Commerce, reports that Sweden has solved her forest problem.

The annual growth of timber in Sweden exceeds the annual cutting by 100,000,000 cubic feet, or 1,200,000,000 lineal feet.

Seniors

On last Thursday evening the girls of the senior class went on a hike. We hiked out to the home of Mr. Tom Martin, which is four long miles from town. We had a wonderful time gossiping and eating. When we arrived at our destination we prepared a chicken, which was greatly enjoyed by all. As we had such a wonderful time we have planned to hike very often.

Annie Matt Tate spent the week-end in Hamlin and McCaully.

Delphine Hendrix was out of school Friday due to illness. We are indeed glad that she was able to be back in school Monday morning.

Juniors

"Less Quantity But More Quality."

It is just our luck to have the smallest class in high school, but it seems as if it cannot be remedied. W. A. Wyche has "pulled stake," and moved back to Anson. We are certainly sorry to lose such a fine class-mate and student, but "the boys will come home." He'll be back next year. There are four looking for him back soon. Then there is Sebern Jones, who learns on the return of his parents Friday, that he is to move to Mineral Wells, Texas, in a few weeks. Gee! what would we do without "Sebo"? That is to be answered after he goes, but the answer won't be very encouraging. And "Icky" plans to go to South America to make his fortune, but "Icky" has "notions" so we are not afraid of losing him soon.

The Juniors had a "big eating" picnic Thursday afternoon. The numbers were small and the time short, but the good time had by everyone made the day seem more pleasant.

The Juniors are putting into the field of debating Joe Aycock with Otis Burnett, a senior, to win the county debating contest. We are hoping that they will, as a team for M. H. S. carry away the laurels wherever they go.

Sophs.

"Climb, Though the Rocks May Be Rugged!"

When you see any of our gang with their heads down, and looking very sad, you will know we are moaning over the loss of one of the best girls that ever lived, and she is, Clara Tillinghast. Clara is moving to Haskell this week. She joined our bunch when we were in the seventh grade, and has been a faithful member ever since, and of course, has gained the friendship of every one. Therefore the Sophs. of '28 wish Clara the best of success throughout her life.

We have one winner in the boys and girls debating team to go to the county. She is Arlene Kendall, and we are sure she will make a good showing there.

Gladys Hutchens spent the week-end at Cisco visiting friends.

We are up against some algebra problems now that will sure make you sweat before you get the answers.

In biology two birds we had in captivity died before we could experiment on them, but the third bird, which Clara and Ruth Tillinghast and Henrietta caught, did not have sense enough to die before we experimented and we operated on him.

Mr. Standley told us that most girls were better looking than boys, but the male bird has one over on the female bird, because he is better looking than she.

Freshmen

Four Freshmen boys received football sweaters. They were Paul Pruitt, Gilbert Myers, Elmo Wilson and Howard Kyle. The latter two boys moved away, but just the same, we are proud of them. We are doubly proud of Paul because he will be captain of the team next year.

Hubert Isbell has entered the ovation contest, and we fully believe he will be one to go to Europe. Let us hope so!

Irene Bowden missed school the latter part of last week. She was not out on her own account, so we hope she does not miss any more.

Sad but true, our valentine party "fell through." Just the same, we are going to have a good time soon.

Lois Langford and Grace Hutchins have too much curiosity to hear of a robbery and not investigate it. Therefore, they went to Cisco and looked things over. They say it would have been hard for them to do a much better job.

Katheline Sams of Benjamin was a visitor of Lillian McClothlin over the week-end.

Beatrice Ghidwell enrolled last week as a Freshman. We hope she likes our class.

THE TOURNAMENT

The Knox County basketball championship will have been determined before this goes to press. With but one night left to play (Tuesday) it looks very much like Truscott will again triumph. Only Goree remains to stave off that possibility.

The first game Friday night brought us together with our ancient foes, the Knox City Greyhounds. And what a game it was. Tinged with all the color, excitement and feeling of a college game it was truly a typical Munday-Knox City contest. Both teams battled at almost a deadlock throughout the game and with the final whistle the Moguls were leading one point. The score was 10-9 with Mann and Pruitt leading the attack for the Moguls. In the other games Benjamin, Goree and Truscott won over Gilliland, Vera and Gillespie respectively.

Saturday night showed what sudden relaxation after the tension of three hard games will do for a team. As a result of this the Moguls were battled to a stand still by Vera for 3 quarters. They finally pulled themselves together, however, and in the final quarter forged ahead to a 20-11 victory. And it might be added, in spite of Coach Brown's (of Truscott) timely advice to Vera between the halves.

In the other games Knox City defeated Goree in a hard fought game, Truscott found it fairly difficult to beat Gilliland, and Benjamin nosed Gillespie in a fast game.

Tuesday night's results: Goree defeated Benjamin, Truscott defeated Knox City, Munday defeated Gilliland and Gillespie defeated Vera.

'N We Laughed

Lucille: "Where are you going?"

Preacher: "I'm going to catch that eight o'clock train to Wichita."

Lucille: "Why it left several minutes ago."

Preacher: "Gosh, I've sure gotta hurry."

Faye: "What's this plant called, despair?"

Mr. Palmer: "Despair plant?"

Faye: "Yes, I read that throughout a certain land there were sown the seeds of despair."

Miss Mills had been trying to explain what a dumb-bell was.

"If there are any dumb-bells in the room, please stand up."

After a slight pause, J. C. stood up.

"Why, J. C., do you consider yourself a dumb-bell?"

"Well, not exactly, teacher."

J. C. replied, "but I hated to see you standing all alone."

Mr. Standley: "How many controls are there on your radio set?"

Mr. Rhodes: "Three; my wife, sister and brother!"

Mrs. Rhodes: "What does C O A L. spell? John R. Rayburn."

John R.: "Er—er—!"

Mrs. Rhodes: "What have you in your cellar?"

John R.: "I ain't sartin' nothin'. Pop'd kill me!"

Joe: "What's the difference between 'abstract' and 'concrete'?"

Virgil: "When my sister promises to bake a cake that's abstract, and when she does, why, that's concrete!"

Little Jimmie found the cat in a sunny window, purring cheerfully.

"Oh, grandma," he said, "The cat's gone to sleep and left his engine running."

About Your Health

Things You Should Know

Laryngitis.

One of the most common affections of the throat. It may be acute or chronic. The latter form is rare, I'm glad to say, because it strikes terror to me—the thought of tuberculosis of the larynx. My purpose in this sketch is to deal with the acute form only.

This varies from slight hoarseness with no fever, to the most profound illness, with loss of voice and dangerous temperature. Diphtheria and croup are the most formidable of throat ailments of childhood. An old author once said that croup is attended by loud, rasping cough; seldom a cough in diphtheria. That was when diagnosis depended entirely on physical signs.

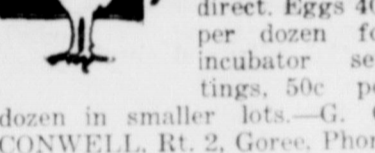

The first symptom of laryngitis is any of its forms is—loss of voice. This tells us that the disease is in the larynx—in the vocal "box." It is the signal for immediate action; get the physician at once!

Mouth-breathers are by far the most likely to be attacked. To take young children suddenly out of a warm house, into zero temperature, without warm muffler, of woolen wrap placed lightly over the breathing passages, is to invite trouble; the change from warm to cold should be gradual. Teach children to breathe through the nostrils, if suddenly exposed to cold; they will not do it. And be sure there are no adenoids there to obstruct.

Prevention is golden here. Keep the child's bowels freely open. Require plenty of drinking water, and good, plain, nutritious food. Air the bedroom well during the day. A would not house children too closely—cultivate tolerance for pure, out-door air, but wrap the body warm; especially, keep feet and legs warm and dry. Until the doctor comes, treat the fever with sweating and inhalations of turpentine vapor, eucalyptus oil, or from slaking lime.

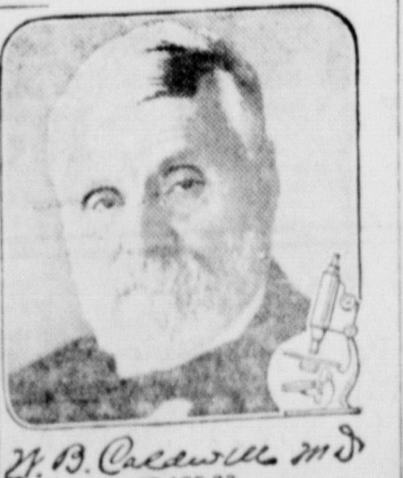

WE BUY, SELL, trade, rent. Pay spot cash, we trade fast. We are out of the high rent district, so we sell for less. JIM & JOE.

Prescription He Wrote in 1892 is the World's Most Popular Laxative

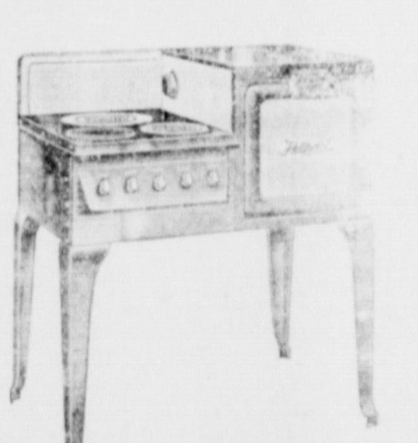

When Dr. Caldwell started to practice medicine, back in 1876, the recipe for a laxative were not as great as they are today. People lived normal, quiet lives, ate plain, wholesome food, and got plenty of fresh air and sunshine. But even that early there were drastic physicians and purges for the relief of constipation which Dr. Caldwell did not believe were good for human beings to put into their system. So he wrote a prescription for a laxative to be used by his patients.

The prescription for constipation that he used early in his practice, and which he put in drug stores in 1892 under the name of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, is a liquid vegetable remedy, intended for women, children and elderly people, and they need just such a mild, safe, gentle, bowel stimulant as Syrup Pepsin.

Under successful management this prescription has proven its worth and is now the largest selling liquid laxative in the world. The fact that millions of bottles are used a year proves that it has won the confidence of people who needed it to get relief from headaches, biliousness, flatulency, indigestion, loss of appetite and sleep, bad breath, dyspepsia, colds and fevers.

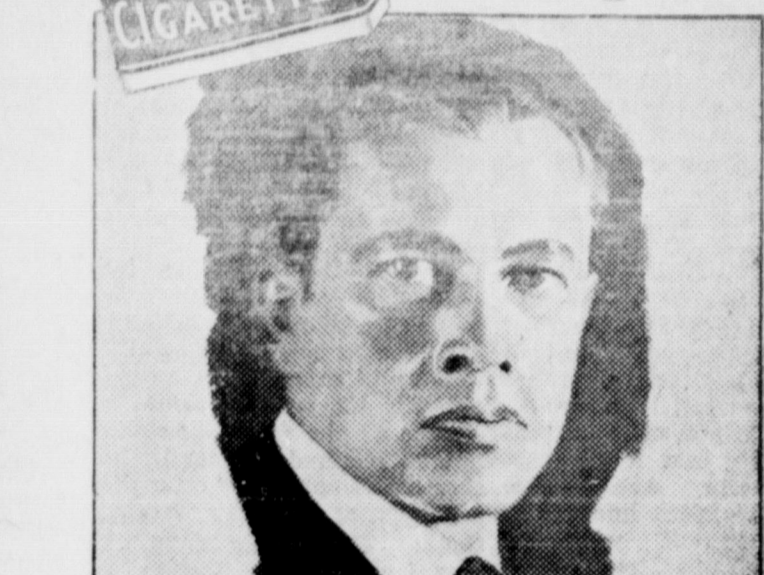

Some of the More Striking Advantages of the Hotpoint Electric Range

- Convenient Turn the button; instantly the cherry red heat is available. No preliminaries.
- Cool Practically all the heat goes directly into the cooking. The temperature of the room is hardly affected.
- Clean No bringing in fuel or taking out ashes. The air carries no greasy soot. Clean pots and pans.
- Efficient Doing everything that can be done on any type of range, quickly and better.
- Economical Because roasts lose less weight, bread and cakes are moister, you eliminate spoilage and you save time.

Laundry - Washed Clothes ARE CLEANER COST LESS LAST LONGER GUARD HEALTH ARE NOT RUBBED Here Are The Reasons

1. Laundry-washed clothes are cleaner. They are washed with pure soap and rainsoft water. The washing and rinsing involves from 9 to 13 complete changes of soft water, depending on the nature of the fabric.
2. Laundry washing costs less. One woman in this city recently figured that she saved 21 cents in two days by doing all the washing and ironing herself over what she would have paid us. Do you want to work 2 days for 21c?
3. Laundry-washed clothes last longer. The methods in the modern laundry are marvelously gentle. The clothes are washed cleaner and all the dirt that wears out the fabric is removed.
4. Laundry-washing guards health. The U. S. Government is authority for the statement that only modern laundry processes will actually get clothes clean.
5. Laundry-washed clothes are not rubbed. The soft-water process guards against the hard water scum that fills fabric pores and colors clothes grey. It eliminates the vigorous rubbing and chemical treatment necessary to combat this scum.

CHIROPRACTIC

The Greatest Story of Modern Science

The brain, vertebrae cord and nerves, so far as known, are composed of the same material and constructed on the same plan and emanate into human cognizance almost if not quite, simultaneously.

It will be seen, therefore, that the brain vertebrae cord and its intervertebral nerve trunks and nerves are in existence and performing their function of conveying stimulus or life force long before there is a heart or vital organ, a vertebra or any other bone.

The power that rules and reigns, made this brain, with its cord and nerves and through it the rest of the anatomy to reside in a harsh environment, to locomote itself about, sustaining joints, jars and falls with the minimum danger of its life. It, therefore, invested the brain with a number of bones so formed as to constitute a globular shaped covering with yielding but practically immovable joints or sutures, called the skull. It covered the vertebrae cord with short, peculiar shaped bones, piled one on top of the other with notches on each side, so formed in each vertebra that between any two there is a nearly round opening, shaped to accommodate the nerve trunk and its accompanying tissues, which were already there, let it be recalled, when the bones were formed.

The multiplicity and shortness of the vertebrae were necessary to give flexuousness to the backbone, but it was made as nearly solid bone as its use would allow by attaching the vertebrae together with cartilages, and ligaments; substances having the least give or stretch of any soft tissue known, and external to these imbedding the whole strongly with heavy muscles. Between the bodies of these short bones, underneath the muscular and ligamentous covering, the disc of fibro-cartilage not only attach the vertebrae together but give longitudinal elasticity, which lessens jars and shocks.

These short bones just described and in the situation described, form the vertebral column, commonly called the backbone.

The intervertebral nerve trunks so called because they were there when the osseous column was built around them, are free from dense structures after leaving the column through-out the remainder of their length, except where they pass through muscular, cartilagenous, or ligamentous foramina at joints, or pass through immovable foramina to supply the internal parts of bones or soft tissues.

Nerves extend to every part and portion of the entire animate anatomy, in the form of trunks, so small as to require a strong glass to see them, at or near their ends. At their ends the trunks separate into single nerves that can not be pricked with a pin without injuring several of them.

These very small nerves, are all in direct communication with the brain itself when the entire system is in normal relation. The vibration of a thorn prick in the big toe is transmitted through the nerves to the brain, through openings, formed by the relation of the notches in the sides of the vertebrae, called foramina.

THE BANKER-FARMER MOVEMENT GROWING

There are several reasons for the growth of the banker-farmer movement in Pennsylvania. William S. McRay, Chairman of the Agricultural Committee, Pennsylvania Bankers Association, has reported to the Agricultural Commission of the American Bankers Association, the cooperation and leadership of the county agents in the several counties of the state; the appointment and functioning of county chairmen of agriculture known as Key Bankers, one of whom there is in each county of the state; and the organization of county bankers associations, whereby agriculture is given consideration by all the banks responsible for this interest. The following table shows the activities for the year.

Project	Number of Counties
Sent young farmers to state college for special course	5
Encouraged farm shows	16
Field agricultural tours	6
Sponsored various club activities	28
Gave illustrated lectures on poultry, cow testing, and improved farm methods	1
Distributed purebred livestock, chicks, and disease-free potatoes	13

"There is probably no class of business men that has a greater opportunity for helpfulness than the bankers in this movement," declares Mr. McRay. "It builds up a substantial community which makes for better banking institutions, it adds to the material prosperity of our state, but above all, it is the expression of a service which will react favorably upon the character of those interested."

About Your Health

Common Sense Pays.

An old friend of mine had a hernia—he called it "rupture." For many years this minor affliction had been with him. Assured that a simple operation, and that only, would cure him permanently, he testily replied that he "objected to carving." It was pathetic to see him draw from his pocket a half-dozen lurid circulars, adjust his glasses, and read—the glittering offer, "a cure, or your money back." Could anything be fairer? One day he came into my office, carrying a small package. "Doc," he announced, "I've got this outfit—but he sez to get my physician to put it on for me!" I read the "instructions," which "assumed that your doctor is an intelligent person." O, the irony—the immaculate gall of it! But this old man had trusting faith in me—with certain limitations, and I loved him. I unpacked the thing—found a few strips of adhesive, a small pad with about a cent's worth of hokum on it, some pieces of cheap gauze, and a black-letter instruction and caution. All of which I observed to the letter, and to my customer's delight. He had spent some ten dollars, and had a right to the benefits, if any. It didn't cure him. It didn't benefit him. He didn't get any money back. He was informed that "evidently the pad was not properly applied—in view of which we will sell you another for half price!" No, dear reader, this is not a fable; every word of it is true. But it has a moral: The only way to convince a fool is, to let him get stung. The pity of it all is, that the thousands of dollars spent annually for "hokum" is extracted from lean pocket-books.

Abraham Lincoln

The name of Lincoln is linked inseparably with a love for his fellow men, a passion for the welfare of humanity. Dealing with a Nation's destiny, he came to be clothed with a nation's majesty. In his own great heart, as in a nation's crucible, he assembled and resolved the nation's complexities; and in his own pure unselfish desire, as in a nation's purified hopes, he defined and described our national goal. Abraham Lincoln's conscience was his only guide—his conscience was king. Altho Lincoln's face has long vanished, his voice hushed, this sweet and beautiful soul—one of the most beloved characters in American History will live forever.

He shrugged his shoulders. Women always got over these things. Still, a slight change in minor tactics seemed desirable. It would no longer be possible or desirable to restrain the young man by force.

"I leave him to you," he told Burton. "Try to get some common sense into him—if it's possible. But be sure to tell him one thing: That his interests are going to be scrupulously protected. He'll get every cent that is coming to him."

He disappeared down the meadow. Burton looked after him, her bosom heaving with emotions too deep for reply. Then in a passion of mingled loyalty and anger she fell on her knees again beside the unconscious young man.

CHAPTER XXII

Nothing further happened now until shortly after sunrise the next morning.

Then Burton, who had fallen into an uneasy slumber after some hours of futile watching to see that dear Larry did not die of an overdose without her knowing it, awoke and aroused him.

"What is it, dear?" he cried. "What are you doing here?"

Her story did not take long in the telling.

The narrative finished, he arose to his feet, fumbled in his pack, drew forth a revolver and holster, which he strapped to his belt.

"What are you going to do?" she asked anxiously.

"I'm going to follow the car."

"You can't hope to catch it."

"The chance is very slim," he acknowledged, "but it's the only chance, and it should be taken. Luck might play with us. The car might get stalled. Who knows? And in any case I've got to get on the wires to the lawyers right away."

He was methodically bestowing small necessities in a rucksack.

"Please have Simmins take care of my other things," he requested.

"Goodbye, dear."

He opened his arms and she crept into them. They clung together for a moment.

"Be careful," she begged. "You must come back to me. Don't—don't be rash, will you?"

He laughed.

"You mean the gun? No; I'm not going forth to slay. That's just in the remote case I need a convincing argument. This is a lawyer game now, and a game of get there first."

He kissed her again and strode away.

"Come back to me soon!" she called after him. "The soonest ever!" he cried back.

After his departure Burton, whose education had been coming on, made herself some coffee. About two hours later

Simmins appeared, very apologetic over his tardiness.

The absence of the little car Burton had expected; but she was at first puzzled to hear that the extra cooking utensils had disappeared; as also a small quantity of provisions.

Then she realized that her father was hiding out, and Burton had a shrewd suspicion that he would continue hiding out. Even a private chief, if not tender feeling, at least love of mental ease, and Burton realized that even this stern parent might be just as well satisfied if he did not have to face his child while things were too fresh in her mind!

"You and I will probably have to wait here some days," she said, and told him what had occurred.

Shortly after noon they were astonished to see Davenport returning. Burton ran to meet him with a cry of mingled gladness and curiosity.

Larry strode to the fireside and threw down the rucksack with a slam, then turned to Burton.

"I followed the car for six or eight miles to the place the road crossed the Deep Barranca on a trestle. Part of the trestle had been carried out by the flood. Gardiner had driven the car off into the abyss."

"Killed?" cried Burton, horrified.

"Gone; swept away, disappeared completely. The stream is wide and swift and fast. I climbed down, of course, but no trace whatever remained except one seat cushion that had been thrown clear. I followed down the stream on the chance that the car might have stranded; but in that force of water it probably broke to pieces almost at once. It was of very light construction."

He replied curtly. His eye was savage, his lips compressed. She looked at him then fell silent.

"What a tragedy!" cried Burton. "Poor Ross Gardiner."

Davenport shut his lips grimly and let this pass. After a decent moment or so Burton ventured a comment.

"But there is this to say: The present problem is solved. The agreement is gone, the whole scheme headed off. You can build another battery."

"That's just it!" cried Davenport. "I'm not sure I can do anything of the sort. All my notebooks or 'farm-books' were in that car, every scrap of paper I had in the world that had anything to do with this."

"You can copy your other battery," she pointed out.

"Oh! U. S. first was crude. It was a man let him go."

"You will work it out again," she comforted. "It may be a slow task, but you'll get it."

He looked at her with something like fright in his eyes.

"I do not know!" he almost whispered. "I thought that at first, and I did not really care very much. But then all at once when I sat down to think about it I discovered that I had not one shred of memory of how to make a start at it. It's gone."

"Why, Larry!" she cried. "I hardly know you. It isn't like you to be discouraged. What does it matter if it does take time? You'll get it."

He shook his head.

"No, I'm not a quitter," he disclaimed. "I know it sounds like it. But this has become a certainty to me. It has come to me in the same way that all these other things have come to me. Perhaps it is the last of these beautiful certainties of the current of wisdom. It was given to me, and now I feel that it has been taken away. I never was more sure of anything in my life."

She stared at him, aghast.

"Such things cannot happen!"

He shook his head. In his upflashed face was no discouragement, only the sorrow of regret.

CHAPTER XXIV
Simmins Writes a Note

Unnoticed a lank figure had crossed the meadow from the road and now appeared among them.

"Hallo, folks," said he, casting a curious eye about him. "Campin' forfun, or get stuck yere by the storm?"

"Caught by the storm," replied Burton.

"I'm the stage driver between Eureka and Teolote," he volunteered, "but I don't see no way of gettin' through now. That there redwood tree's got the road blocked for keeps. Say, she must have made some crash when she came down!"

"She did!" replied Burton. An idea was forming in her brain. "Are you going back to Eureka?" she inquired.

"Sure. Only place to go."

"Have you got room for two?"

"I got only the United States mails aboard. What's the idea?"

"Our car is broken," she explained rapidly. "If you will wait 10 minutes, we'll be ready."

"Lots of time," rejoined the stage driver, and sauntered over to engage the excellent Simmins.

"It is the only thing! she urged Larry, as soon as the other was out of hearing. "Can't you see it? We cannot stay here. Don't you see it?" she implored.

"I want to get out before he gets back," replied Larry bluntly. "You're right; I'll go."

"I'm going with you," she said steadily.

"What! You cannot do that!"

"You are going to need me; I know," she insisted, "it's part of my wisdom, as you call it."

The hunted, hurt look in his face softened.

"Come," he cried, almost exultantly. "There must be people who marry people up here!"

The world and its power and its troubles can go hang!"

"All aboard!" called Davenport to the stage driver. "Ready when you are."

"Simmins," ordered Burton, "you take care of things. We will send some one out from a garage."

But Simmins, at the thought of being left alone with a marooned and exasperated Pirate Chief, lost all his pose and poise and became thoroughly human.

"Oh, Miss Burton!" he cried. "Don't leave me here all alone!"

"Afraid of the woods, Simmins?" asked Larry mischievously.

"Yes, sir," rejoiced Simmins. "I am afraid of the woods; and I am afraid of Mr. Grimstead."

Larry glanced at Burton, who nodded.

"All right; come along," he agreed.

"One moment, sir," begged Simmins.

He produced a pad and pencil and wrote thereon.

"I don't want to pry; but if that note is to Grimstead—" suggested Davenport.

"It is only my resignation, sir," replied Simmins.

"You are right," said Davenport. "What would you consider the proper procedure for a young lady eloping. Should she also leave some sort of written communication?"

"I took the liberty of explaining in my note that I was leaving to enter your service, sir, and that of Miss Burton; and that it is intended to send a garage man immediately," answered Simmins.

"You relieve my mind, Simmins," murmured Larry, and hastened to join Burton and the stage driver. She looked at him with pleased surprise.

"Good!" she cried. "You're more like yourself!"

"It's Simmins!" Larry exploded with suppressed laughter. "He's a joy and a jewel and he's untwisted me from all my knots. Dear, never must we lose Simmins! We'll pawn the family jewels before we let him go."

The little party, carrying the few pieces of baggage, and followed solemnly by Rapsallion, crossed the meadow to where waited the stage.

Ten minutes later Grimstead, who had heard the racket made when the long vehicle backed and filled in turning around, came curiously to see what was happening. He found himself alone with the wrecks he had made.

Across the episode now slowly the dark curtains closed. A great vision had been given one man; a vision that in its due and proper time will lift from mankind one of its greatest pressures. But that time had not yet arrived. When thus it too evidently appeared that from the gift would come strife, not freedom, then the great Invisible Intelligence, whose pressure is the carrying on with the wisdom of our little world, in sadness reached forth their hands. From the soul of that man the vision was erased. Of all its breadth and greatness remained only one little thing; an idea for this story. But sometime, in the remote future, somewhere, to some soul, the vision will come again.

The POLICY of PROGRESS

A STATEMENT by GENERAL MOTORS

IT is the policy of General Motors to maintain continuous improvement, in every one of its car divisions, with no interruption in production.

This means that you enjoy the benefits of new engineering developments promptly—just as soon as they have been thoroughly tested on the 1245-acre Proving Ground.

It means that you can now order the new Chevrolet, Pontiac, Oldsmobile, Oakland, Buick, LaSalle, Cadillac, or GMC Truck, and receive immediate delivery.

Behind this policy of continuous improvement is an organization so widespread and resourceful that it can make and sell quality automobiles more economically than any automobile manufacturer in the world.

In the north and south it logs and mills its lumber. In the east it makes its ball bearings and radiators. In the middle west it produces its plate glass. Its plants are busy in 33 important American cities.

From almost 5,000 suppliers, its materials are obtained. Its sales and service take place through 33,000 dealers. More than 275,000 families look directly to General Motors for their livelihood—almost a million and a half men, women, and children in every community in the land.

Meaning so much to so many, General Motors has felt a supreme obligation to look ahead.

Are there methods by which General Motors cars can be better built to better serve?

Are there new ideas which can increase the utility and pleasure and safety of motoring?

Are there new materials which can add to owner satisfaction?

Such are the questions that all General Motors engineers have always asked. The answers have made it possible, year after year, to offer an increasing measure of beauty in design, modern performance, riding comfort and distinct style. Thus in every price class, from Cadillac to Chevrolet, purchasers are constantly benefiting from the General Motors policy of progress.

PERFECTED WHIPPET MARKED BY UNUSUAL LINES OF BEAUTY

NOTABLE REFINEMENTS ADD TO DISTINCTIVENESS OF CAR; KEEN INTEREST IS SHOWN IN PERFECTED MODELS.

Unusual lines of beauty and design are characteristic features of the perfected Whippet which is being presented at the lowest prices in the entire history of the Willys-Overland Company. The recent price reduction in the Whippet places this modern car in direct price competition with the lowest priced models in the light car field.

Although the basic principles of Whippet design are retained in the perfected models, certain refinements have been made which add materially to the beauty and grace of the car. Each model is distinctive for its rich exterior color combination while the interior appointments have a distinct luxury tone.

The perfect Whippet retains the low swung body, a type of design that has since been adopted by many other manufacturers, not only in the light car field but in cars that sell in the higher price ranges.

The long sweeping lines of the Whippet from the nickel-plated radiator to the rear are accentuated through the employment of full crowned fenders. In place of old type sun visor, which was formed by a continuation of the roof line, a cadet type sun visor is used on the perfected Whippet. This imparts a smart military effect to the cowl section and also provides a wider range of vision.

Interior improvements likewise carry out the aim of the manufacturer to even increase the quality and equipment of the Whippet despite the new low prices. Remote door controls have replaced the type of locks, this providing an additional convenience for driver and passengers. An automatic windshield wiper is now standard equipment in place of the hand operated wiper on the original Whippets.

The rich upholstery blends perfectly with the exterior color schemes in each of the various models. The metal trimmings also are in keeping with the noticeable stamp of luxury. Not only are these interiors marked by luxury but utmost roominess is provided for driver and passengers.

The unusual reception being accorded the perfected Whippet in every city, town and hamlet of the nation since the price reduction was announced, indicates that this modern light car has quickly reached a position of quality leadership in the light car field.

MANY THRILLS PACKED IN FRED THOMPSON'S WESTERN

One need not pine for thrills in the latest Paramount picture starring Fred Thompson in "The Pioneer Scout," which opens an engagement at the Peoples Theatre Saturday. Some of the most thrilling scenes seen here for some time are included in the western picture, and to the star's credit, it must be said that this that his present offering is one of the best shown here for many moons.

Local film fans will remember this star in "Jesse James," which created so much talk throughout the film world. That also was a Paramount picture, and the producing firm has spared no pains with Thompson's second picture made for the concern.

Fred Thompson, as predicted before, will soon mount the pinnacle of popularity with Young America, and if the older folks fail to get a kick out of his pictures, there is something decidedly wrong with their constitution.

With "The Pioneer Scout" the lover of thrills could hardly ask for more, as there is one big punch after another. The photography is also striking—and the scenery! There is only one Golden West in the world, and Paramount has succeeded in catching a good sample of it in this current attraction at the Peoples Theatre.

Briefly, the story concerns the days when the pioneers ventured across the desert wastes during the hectic gold rush days or during the time when the West was first settled. Of course they were beset by all sorts of hazards. Fred Thompson is a pioneer scout, whose business it is to lead these sterling characters across the desert.

It is during one of these trips, that he met Mary Baxter, daughter of a settler, and immediately fell in love with her. But, of course, there is the villain! And it's Tom Wilson, who portrays "Handy Anderson" who boasts a "hooked" hand. Thrilling events follow, one of which is a race between covered wagons over the flat desert, with smash ups and everything. Silver King, Thompson's white horse, also should come in for a share of praise.

GRAND OPERA

In bringing the Chicago Civic Opera Company to Wichita Falls, in the operas "Aida" and "Resurrection," February 29th and March 1st, the guarantors who are some of the best known business men in Wichita Falls, had in mind what this event would be to all North Texas and Southern Oklahoma. It is an opportunity for the people of the two sections to hear the operas just as they are given in Chicago and other large cities.

Only 18 cities in the United States will have grand opera; only two cities in Texas; only one in this section of the country, Wichita Falls, the smallest city to ever have grand opera. With the new Memorial Auditorium fitted with every modern device and equipped with everything any opera house in the United States has for staging the operas, the success of this first opera season is assured.

Two special trains with 18 baggage cars of the largest type are necessary to transport the Chicago Civic Opera Company a greater movement, in railroad parlance, than "The Greatest Show on Earth," ever contemplated in its palmy days. A personnel of three hundred involved—a small army in itself.

All railroads coming from territory adjacent to Wichita Falls and extending to Amarillo on the West; Dallas on the East; Abilene on the South and Lawton on the North, will have reduced rates for the two Operas, February 29th and March 1st.

Wichita Falls has ample hotel facilities for caring for all those who come to this North Texas and Southern Oklahoma feast of music and drama, and the club women of the city are preparing to entertain the visitors with drives to points of interest and will serve tea at the leading hotels, on the two afternoons of Opera, to the opera stars and visitors.

The ballet of the opera "Aida" is worth the price the whole thing will cost and the symphony orchestra alone is one of the most wonderful musical attractions ever brought to this section. It is the opportunity of a life time to see and hear, not only Rosa Raisa and Mary Gardin, but other noted stars like Rimmini, Cyrena Van Gordon, Edith Mason, Charles Marshall and many others.

A letter written direct to Mrs. F. E. Springer, Grand Opera Headquarters, Hamilton Building, Wichita Falls, Texas, will assure you of ticket and hotel reservation, or she will be glad to answer any question regarding anything concerning the coming operas.
