Mr. Ramirez had passed away at the young-at-heart age of 51 on Saturday, June 20 in a one vehicle roll-over. The accident occured in the northbound lane of Highway 277, 2.5 miles north of Haskell at approximately 1:30 a.m.

Mr. Ramirez was owner of Home Building Center in Munday which was a common gathering place for men and women of the community. Most people in the community simply referred to the establishment as "Daniel's" and several times a week the host would cook up a meal and serve it to his friends and customers who gathered there for a little relaxation and to swap a light-hearted tale or two. Homecoming 1964 one to remember September 5, 1964 was a splendid homecoming week-end for Mundayites.

Registration for the weekend began on Saturday afternoon at Munday Elementary School with most of the afternoon being set aside for meeting and visiting with old friends and acquaintances from days gone by.

The homecoming game was scheduled for Saturday evening at Scruggs Field with the Mighty Munday Moguls playing the Class AA Seymour Panthers in the battle for the pig-skin. There seems to have been a friendly rivalry going on between the two teams for quite a few years!

Despite the fact that it was Munday's homecoming the Moguls couldn't quite hold on to the lead and dropped the game by a players, including Terry Leflar, Skip Lane and David Tomlinson, put in some exciting plays for the Daniel had many rental properties in the Munday area and more than once he turned his face when his otherwise timely renters became overdue on their rent because of hardships. He was understanding when they approached him with a problem.

One year in the recent past a young couple had moved to Munday from a distant state and rented a modest home from Daniel. Being newcomers they had relatively few friends and even fewer dollars. When the young wife and mother shared the news that her brother had died in her home state Daniel funded the trip for the couple so that the young lady would be able to attend the funeral services. One businessman stated, "We'll never know all the things that Daniel did for people. He was very quiet about his deeds. I believe he got such a sense of joy out of doing for others that he didn't need the praise that might have accompanied these deeds."

Burn ban declared in Knox County

On Monday morning, June 15, Knox County Judge David N. Perdue declared that a state of emergency exists in Knox County due to recent dry weather and the extreme potential for large and destructive wildfires.

An emergency order was issued by the judge that prohibits any open burning in the unincorporated areas of Knox County. The burning of combustible material in approved enclosures, such as trash barrels and charcoal grills which are designed to contain all flames and embers are exempt from the emergency order.

Judge Perdue reminds all individuals in the county that the dry conditions and the lack of significant rainfall poses a threat of dangerous wildfire which could pose risks to lives and property.

Local fire department officials, the National Weather Service, and the personnel from the Texas Forestry Service advise that there is no present forecast for improving weather and/or moisture condi-

Rodeo honor stuns Thompson

by Terry Moore Globe-News Sports Writer, Amarillo

Larry Thompson returned to Tri-State Fairgrounds and the Coors Ranch Rodeo on Friday after winning the event's 1997 all-around cowboy honor.

Problem is, the 51-year-old Thompson, who has ranches near Knox City, Benjamin and his hometown of Munday, still isn't sure how he won the award last year.

"I certainly didn't plan on winning it," said Thompson. "We've been second several times and we've competed 11 years. How do I say this? They probably gave it to me for those reasons and because our team has never been a problem."

The all-around cowboy is selected by a panel of judges on qualities such as sportsmanship, attitude, character, horsemanship and team effort displayed during the event.

Along with the 6666, the Thompson is the only ranch to win the Coors Ranch Rodeo twice - on back-to-back tries in 1992 and '93.

Still, the competitive side of the event is only part of the fun, even for the defending all-around cow-

"But, if it wasn't for the competition, it wouldn't be as much fun."

The Thompson is among 14 ranches who competed in the twoday event. The contest consisted of saddle bronc riding - done without PRCA rigging - wild cow milking, calf branding, remuda roping, cattle sorting, horse racing and cattle mugging.

Thompson said his team "never" practices. The closest they come to practicing is in team roping, which Thompson said they do at home as a hobby. The no-practice theory also goes for new events.

"We did sorting for the first time this afternoon, and it looked like it," he said. "You have to be strong in every event if you want to win it. It's pretty hard to win."

The Thompson family began ranching and farming Cottle County in the early 1900s. Up until about 20 years ago, the main interest of the ranch was farming, but in the 70s and 80s, the ranching interest started to become the ranch's main endeavor.

The Knox City Center is open every Thursday night for games and fellowship. The games begin at 5:00 p.m. and a pot luck meal is served during the evening.

Director Penny Winchester invites the senior citizen area to join any of the five sites for lunch. Meals are served Monday through Friday in the Knox City Center. The Munday and Goree sites are open for lunch on Monday, Wednesday and Friday. In Benjamin and Truscott meals are served on Tuesday and Thursday.

Good eating habits throughout life can promote physical and mental well-being. In later life, good nutrition is even more important. Eating right can help improve or maintain your quality of life, lessen the effects of diseases and possibly lengthen your life span. Joining a senior citizen group for lunch will add variety to your diet. While we cannot promise perfect health, we do offer a good nutritional meal for your well-being.

Willm also was introduced to the world of computers while at Munday High School. "I had never touched a computer and I didn't have a clue what I was doing - but now I do," he says.

Willma's home town of Rheine, in the country. After his obligation Germany holds a population of approximately 80,000 and is lo- ably join his father in the family cated along the Rheine, River just commercial advertising business. thirty miles or so from the border of The Netherlands. The change is temperature hasn't hindered Willm here.' too much, "I prefer the hot weather have the hot wind, but that's O.K., June 24 too, I guess."

The language hasn't posed too much of a problem for Willm, either, since German children begin their English studies in the fifth grade. "We are taught "Oxford English" which is somewhat different," he explains. "I did have to adjust somewhat." The ability to speak two languages can come in handy. Willm and his brother, Ron, say that they can speak English to each other at home and their parents won't be able to know what they are conversing about.

As for the food in Texas, "I liked Reba's pies - she's a good cook. Mashed potatoes are also one of my favorite things." Since his hometown enjoys the benefits of McDonald's and Pizza Hut he didn't find those items to be of interest. But he did enjoy homemade ice cream that was made for him by Jeannie and Jimmy Carden.

Willm and his brother, Ron, both hope to return to the United States sometime in the future. Ron is employed in the television industry in Germany and Willm will return to finish his schooling there. Once he is finished with his education he must work for one year in social work or join the armed forces for one year - this is a government requirement for all males

CAPITOL COMMENT

U.S. SENATOR KAY BAILEY HUTCHISON

THE BEST DEFENSE IS A GOOD DEFENSE

The recent nuclear weapons explosions by Pakistan and India expose our country's failure to establish a serious policy to defend itself against the growing threat of ballistic missiles. The administration has relied on sanctions, rhetoric and Cold War arms control treaties. It's time to consider a bold new approach: Defend the United States.

The only way to do that in this era of ballistic missiles is through a national defense system against such weapons.

The threat of Third World nations armed with nuclear weapons - and 30 nations with ballistic missiles — is completely different from the threat posed by the Soviet Union during the Cold War. The Soviet Union was a superpower with well-defined, predictable, interests all around the world-The new threat is completely different, and in some ways more treacherous,

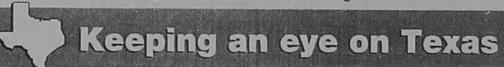

There can be no opportunity for engagement with countries that have no moral inhibition against developing a nuclear-tipped missile capable of reaching the United States, or thrusting a chemical killer into a U.S. military base anywhere in the world. These are countries that play by very different rules from those that evolved during the Cold War.

What is our best defense against the spread of missiles and nuclear warheads? The best defense is a good defense. But, the administration is thwarting the efforts of Congress to develop missile defenses for the security of the United States and her allies. In fact, the very week that India tested its nuclear warheads, the Senate failed by one vote to break a filibuster against legislation with the modest goal of deploying as soon as possible a system capable of defending the United States against limited ballistic missile attack, whether accidental or deliberate. It failed due to administration opposition.

Subsequent events have amply demonstrated the need for such a system. With Pakistan's nuclear tests, and her clear intention to arm long-range missile systems with nuclear warheads, the failure of diplomatic efforts is apparent in bright relief. Knowing ful! well that the U.S. response to Pakistani, tests would be sanctions and renewed pressure to sign a test-ban treaty, the government in Islamabad calmly conducted its tests. What would make it useless for a nation to spend millions of dollars on nuclear weapons and the missiles to deliver them? Simple. A defense that hurts the country that launches the missile. Missile defenses will change the strategic landscape in a way treaties and sanctions cannot - in particular, the "boost-phase" interceptors that would shoot down a missile while it's still over the territory of the country that launched it. The threat that their own weapons and debris will come raining back down on them is a far better deterrent to rogue nation behavior than a treaty it won't honor and we can't verify.

For this reason, the Senate Appropriations Committee provided $10. million to the Pentagon for fiscal year 1999 for boost-phase programs; the administration had requested nothing for them in its budget submitted earlier this year. This would be a small down payment on the serious systems of defense against the threats we are likely to confront on the next battlefield. If the President will not get serious about this, Congress must.

Texas highways pave the way for trade

About 80 percent of U.S. trade with Mexico passes through Texas, where truck traffic has increased 19 percent in the past three years. Although the federal government passed the GATT and NAFTA agreements* to encourage trade, the state has received no additional federal compensation for wear and tear on roads, highways and bridges. Texans provide more than half the revenue for the Texas Highway Fund through motor fuels taxes paid at the pump and Social Security releases information on new Medicare benefits

by Patty Brandt, Resident Representative in Vernon

Medicare has added several new benefits designed to encourage the early detection of certain lifethreatening diseases common among elderly people. They include yearly mammograms, pap smears, colorectal cancer screening and free flu and pneumonia shots.

As of January 1, 1998, women are able to get yearly mammograms, pap smears, including pelvic and breast examinations, without paying the Part B deductible. Also since January 1, colorectal cancer screening became available. In addition, Medicare will pay the full charge of flu and pneumococcal shots.

Starting July 1, 1998, Medicare will provide diabetes glucose monitoring and diabetes education to beneficiaries. Bone mass measurement will also be available as of July 1, 1998.

Interested Medicare beneficiaries should call their doctor or health care provider for more information on the availability of the new benefits. Also, a Medicare hotline is available: 1-800-6638-6833.

Teens may enjoy City Pool on Thursday evening

Teen Night will be held at the Munday City Pool on Thursday evening, June 25 from 7:00 until 9:00. Admission into the pool will remain at $1.50 with music and games featured throughout the evening.

Teen agers are encouraged to take advantage of this opportunity so that this can be an on-going event throughout the summer.

TruscottGilliland News By Mrs. Clara Brown

Betty and Ben Gleaves have returned from Fort Worth where they visited with Ben's father, C.B. Gleaves who had surgery recently. He is now in a Fort Worth re-hab hospital near their home.

Patty Alexander enjoyed a trip to England May 27 - June 4 with her granddaughter-in-law, Dolly Alexander, and a couple of Dolly's friends. They enjoyed the sights of London, visited the historic hot springs at Bath which were once enjoyed by the Romans, and also visited one of the channel islands.

Opal Jones of Vernon attended a family gathering at Lake Murray, Oklahoma Friday to Sunday while Edgar Jones visited at Truscott with his children Vernon Jones, Norma Lee, Joyce Williams and Clara Brown.

Beau Hohmann is in Fort Worth for the summer but plans to return in the fall to attend school again at Benjamin.

Derrell, Vula, and Randall Hord were in Stamford Sunday to shop and eat out. Vula says Derrell's rain gauge blew away in one of the rain and winds storms early last week.

The historical markers have been set in The Truscott Cemetery. Plans are now being made for walks around the markers.

Wedding Announcement

Leslie-Lanier Horton of Superior, Colorado and Stephen Edward Cassle of Jacksboro, Texas exchanged wedding vows May 16 at 7:00 p.m. at Robert Carr Chapel on the campus of Texas Christian University in Fort Worth.

The bride is the daughter of Colonel (Retired) Tom and Lanier Horton of Superior, Colorado. She is the granddaughter of the late Ernest and Ruth Horton of Munday, Texas and Dr. T.R. and the late Marjorie Sharp of Dallas. The groom is the son of Tim and Donna Cassle of Jacksboro. He is the grandson of the late Jesse Cassle and Donna Cassle Howard of Abilene and the late Emil Francis Vasco and Frances Waldron of Weldon, California.

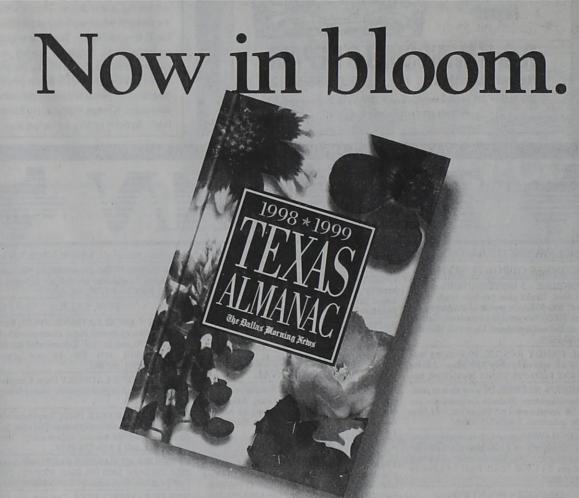

The bride is a graduate of Texas Christian University and received a Bachelor of Science in Social Work degree. She is a member of Alpha Delta Pi sorority and was Vice President of the social work honor society, Alpha Delta Mu.

The groom graduated Magna Cum Laude from Texas Christian University and received a Bachelor of Science degree in Biology. He was a founding father and President of his fraternity, Sigma Phi Epsilon. Both were members of the Greek Honor Society, Order of Omega.

The groom was accepted and will attend Colorado State University College of Veterinary Medicine and Biomedical Sciences in Fort Collins.

While English speakers might tell someone to "go fly a kite," in Spanish, the comparable expression is "go fry asparagus."

Cut fresh just for you is the 59th edition of the Texas Almanac. More informative than ever, the 1998-1999 version features a colorful look inside the National Wildflower Research Center in Austin, the only national nonprofit center committed to the preservation and re-establishment of native plants.

And that's just the cover story. Other stories include:

- A fascinating glimpse at La Belle, the ship of French explorer Rene-Robert Cavelier, Sieur de La Salle.
- A glance at the state of education in Texas.
- Plus regular features on Texas politics, government, banking, the environment, education, the arts, agriculture, profiles and maps of all 254 Texas counties and much more.
