General Telephone Co. is "making rapid progress" on its conversion program here, and R. E. (Bob) Saunders said Saturday that "everything is 'go' for Aug. 15." Saunders is district manager.

"We can't say for sure yet that we'll be able to make the conversion on Aug. 15, but everything is pointing that direction now," he summed up. Saunders said the work is making progress on schedule "in most phases" and is ahead of schedule on a few other phases.

Forty workers are expected at the kick-off meeting scheduled for 6:30 a.m. at Paul's restaurant. Purpose of the drive is to strengthen the community building organization through new memberships and new financial support.

The campaign has been set to run concurrently with National Chamber of Commerce Week, April 4-10, designed to emphasize what a potent force for betterment.

Roy Davis, manager of the Muleshoe Chamber of Commerce, was a guest of the Friona Retail Merchants' group at a luncheon Thursday.

Already, night crews have been moved in to make connections for the "hundreds of wires" which must be connected before the system can start on its final phase.

Saunders explained that the night crews are being used "in order that the changes can be made in the middle of the night when very few phones are in use."

Five-Day Celebration Planned For Muleshoe's July 4 Event

Muleshoe's annual July 4th celebration will be a five-day event this year!

This was decided at a meeting this past week of the Chamber of Commerce's Retail Activities Committee, headed by Doug Haynes.

Complete schedule of events has not yet been drawn, but the event probably will start July 1 and wind up with the conventional talent night and fireworks show Monday, July 5.

A group of Muleshoe folk, headed by Gil Lamb, went to Slaton this past week to confer with Santa Fe officials and complete arrangements for a five-day celebration in the life-sized replica of land on Santa Fe tracks where the Mule Memorial is to be mounted.

Plans now called for the unveiling of the mule, a life-sized replica in fiberglass of "Old Pete," Saturday, July 3, with a buffalo barbecue, a gigantic parade and a pioneers' reunion.

That same day also two performances of a junior rodeo are scheduled.

Sunday's events will be limited. See EVENT, Page Three

"The Saints" have disbanded, and "the Sinners" (only they never had got around to the business of giving themselves a name) are no longer on the prowl. The Saints were girls, the Sinners were boys.

"There is no longer a teenage gang in Muleshoe. That's my candid opinion." So says County Judge Glen Williams.

"But a few weeks ago it was a different story; there was a

FHA to Stage Own Style Show

April 11-13 being FHA week here, various plans are being made for the week in Muleshoe. Nationally and in Texas, however, the week of April 4-10 has been set as FHA week.

April 11, the FHA members will attend church together as one unit.

The highlight of the week will be Tuesday night with a style show. The models will be made by the homemaking girls.

Refreshments will be made by the homemaking girls studying for this semester. FHA members and their parents are invited.

girls' gang already partially organized, and the boys' gang, although bigger, was well along toward the making."

It all came about when one of the girls who belonged to "The parents, teachers and the officers, nipped the embryo teenage gangs in the bud.

Quick work on the part of "Saints" wrote a filthy letter to a boy. But a teacher intercepted the note and turned it over to city officers who in turn handed the affair to Judge Williams. Judge Williams called the girl and her mother before him. And the story that unfolded revealed the presence of a fairly well-formed girls' gang and a boys' group in the making.

"It was not just this case alone that brought the news of the gangs into the open; we had already been getting tips on various and sundry activities by a group of boys and girls. The note-passing case was merely the match that set off the fire."

Considerable investigation was done by officers who finally rounded up 12 kids — eight boys and four girls — 13, 14 and 15 years old. They and their teachers and parents were hauled into court, and Judge Williams probed deeply into the gang's operation.

He found that some of the children were carrying small "weapons" which they used as "weapons" in their little gang. See GANG, Page Six Charged with the double shooting is the younger woman's husband, Bernardo Salcido, 31, who was employed by a Muleshoe tire company. He was captured in Carlsbad, N. M. late that night after wounding a Carlsbad policeman in the shoulder. With him at the time was Salcido's 2-year-old son who was asleep in the back seat of Salcido's car.

Secundino Murillo in 1941 at Levelland.

Salcido was captured by Patrolman Gary Kennedy in Carlsbad who spotted Salcido's automobile and gave chase. Salcido crashed his car into a telephone pole in an attempt to outrun the Carlsbad patrolman. Salcido faces charges of murder with malice in Partner See VICTIMS, Page Six

Food Dollar Tips

Wurlanized wool, which appeared on the consumer market slightly more than a year in the shrinkproofing of wool, is a scientific development in the shrinkproofing of wool which is gaining in popularity.

This treatment was invented in the Wool and Mohair Laboratory of the U. S. Department of Agriculture at Albany, California, and is technically known as an "anionic polymerization treatment" of wool, explains Jean Martin, county home demonstration agent.

In this chemical finishing process, an extremely thin film of polymer forms on the surface of the wool fibers. Wurlan differs from most previously used chemical treatments in that it does not weaken the wool. Instead, it appears to strengthen the fibers and should provide better wearing qualities and increased durability.

Total usefulness of any treatment or process to manufacture shrinkproof wool fabric also depends on other properties of the treated and laundered fabric. Adding shrinkproofness and laundering capability must not create undesirable fabric properties for the wearer.

These properties of wurlanized fabrics have been determined by observations of many different weights, weaves, and colors of fabrics that have been treated under both laboratory and mill operating conditions.

1. Hand — the hand of fabric treated in this manner is considered good to excellent.

2. Shrinkage — yard goods have shown less than 5 percent of directional shrink after continuous machine washing in 140 degree water 5 hours.

3. Permanence — indications are that it will last the life of the garment.

4. Colors and shades — a slight change in dye — bath necessary to compensate for the darkening effected by the wurlan treatment.

5. Permanent pleat — no problem to apply these to wurlanized fabrics.

6. Strength — treated fabrics are from 5 to 10 percent stronger.

7. Wearability — laboratory tests indicate a significant improvement over untreated goods in abrasion resistance.

8. Drying — there is no essential change in the drying rate after treatment.

9. Air permeability — is slightly decreased.

10. Moisture absorption — remains unchanged.

Meantime, the fiberglass replica of "Old Pets" is nearing completion, and will be shipped to Muleshoe long before the actual unveiling day is at hand, according to Lamb who has masterminded the Mule Memorial project. Workmen soon will start preparing the tract of land on the Santa Fe right-of-way for the base on which Petie will be mounted.

United Fund met Wednesday afternoon for its first session this year. Presiding was the new chairman, Robert Hooten. The group considered the capital funds drive of the Caprock Council Girl Scouts to provide permanent improvement to the facilities at Camp Rio Blanco. The recommendations of the committee were presented to the full board at a meeting Saturday afternoon in the Bailey County Electric Cooperative. Present at the Wednesday meeting were, in addition to Hooten, Mrs. Pat Bobo, Mrs. Thurman White, Bobby Airhart, Roy Davis, Roy Whit, Myron Pott II, Joe Harbin and local Girl Scout representatives, Mrs. Charles Mayhue and Mrs. Herb Griffiths.

Monthly meeting of the Muleshoe Chamber of Commerce board of directors is scheduled for tomorrow night 6 o'clock. Dr. Charles Lewis, president, announced. The meeting will be held in the Chamber office.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe S. Dameron have been visiting with the Verna Thompson's of Fort Lauderdale, Florida. The Dameron's have been in Fort Lauderdale for about three weeks. They plan to return to Muleshoe about the middle of April.

Kathy Moore, student at West Texas State University, Canyon, will be visiting for a few days at Muleshoe with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Moore and with friends.

Local District man, Bob Glass and wife Francis attended the Grand Opening of Field Enterprises Education Co-operative and Worldbooks New regional office, in Amarillo Saturday.

Bob was awarded an attorney case for personal selling, Jonathan Ramsay the new regional manager was presented with the company's highest award, the distinguished service award.

Mr. and Mrs. Elbert Nowell were in Wister, Okla. over the weekend attending the funeral of Mr. Nowell's uncle, G. W. Jagers who passed away Friday, March 26. Funeral services were conducted at the First Baptist Church Sunday, March 28.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Cockrell left Friday for Springs, Ark. for a four-day, expense-paid vacation for Farm Bureau Agents who have qualified for the Farm Bureau's "Round Trip

He explained that 25 phones at a time are disconnected and re-connected to the new switching service. "That's why we have to do this job in the wee hours of the night," he said.

Saunders said that Frank Wallace has been named "co-ordinator" for the installation here on a full-time basis. Until recently, Wallace and his crews had been working only part time on the conversion project. "But we have now reached the stage where we have to go forward with the work with dispatch in order not to interrupt service. In fact within the next few days we will have to set a definite date for the cutover; as of now it still looks like the date will be Aug. 15." Such changes in service are usually made on a Sunday; Aug. 15 happens to be on a Sunday.

Another major step in the conversion and expansion program was taken this past week when work began on a big underground cable system which will put all toll circuits underground between Littlefield and Muleshoe. This will provide ultra modern long distance service for this system, Saunders explained.

Not only will the new underground toll circuits provide improved long distance service for Muleshoe patrons but for area communities served out of this office, such as Needmore and Lubaddee, he said.

Much progress is being noted in the plant here in the making of steel structures, usually referred to as "bays." It is to such equipment that the switching equipment is mounted.

Saunders said "many major changes" will be made within the next 30 days as the system changes from what the telephone company calls "terminal per line" service to "terminal per station."

The Flying Mules will meet Monday night at 7:30 in the front part of the Muleshoe Motor Co. body shop. Anyone interested in model airplanes is invited to attend.

Greater power will be a feature of the new equipment, and a complete "balancing" system is being installed which will take the load off "heavily loaded" circuits and place it automatically on circuits less loaded.

The district manager said that a new telephone directory will be issued just before the change-over is made. He said all numbers here will be changed; not only will the prefix be added, but the other four digits also will be changed. "In some cases," he explained, the base numbers' changes will be minor."

He said when the new equipment goes into use, it will be necessary to dial all seven digits in order to call a number.

Art Association Special Meeting

Muleshoe Art Association will meet at 2 p.m. in the Intermediate room of the First Methodist Church.

Guest speaker for the event will be Dr. Howard Ellis, artist and minister from Nashville, Tenn.

Gang

The judge also discovered at the investigation that the Saints had a "death list," girls — and some boys — who were on the blacklist of the youngsters, and mothers were asked to help in running down the blacklist.

"In making the investigation, I discovered that out of the 12 boys and girls brought before me, nine were from broken homes, and the father of one youth is now serving time in the penitentiary. Apparently, parents of all of the children were unable to control them, and many of them so stated in the courtroom."

The county judge, who also doubles as juvenile officer in this county, says the real problem is "what to do with these offenders."

He explained: "I can not send them back to their own homes on probation; in many cases, the home was at fault of the boys and girls wouldn't have been in trouble in the first place."

"My only alternative is to turn them loose on probation, or else send them to the boys' reformatory at Gatesville. That latter alternative is too severe for first offenders. About all I can do is give them a good talking — to and then keep a close watch over them to see that they heed my advice. If they don't then it's Gatesville for them."

The judge said Texas "needs a sort of intermediate home—something between the boys' and girls' own badly-operated homes and Gatesville. I would like to see something like several Boys' Town organizations set up where we could place erring boys and girls who have just started down the road to crime. I believe such institutions might prevent many a boy and girl from going wrong."

He also praised the work of a juvenile panel which passes on many cases before the youths are brought before the judge. He pointed to a case or two where citizens of the county have taken erring boys or girls under their wings, "sometimes even taking them into their homes to help them go straight. "One such case," he recalled, "is working out very satisfactorily. I paroled a young boy to a good citizen here, and he has made the boy walk a chalk line, even pushing him into booting his school grades. I wish we had more people who are willing to do as much for other boys and girls who are brought before me."

Judge Williams said that rumors of gangs still in existence "are floating around, but," he added, "I don't think such is the case. We are watching carefully for any indication of gangs. Anyway, rumors are easily started, such as the entirely false one that an 11-year-old junior high school girl is pregnant by a 14-year-old boy. That rumor is absolutely unfounded."

"Of course there are always such rumors, but we believe the juvenile situation here is well in hand."

He told of a case where a Lazduddie boy, 16, was fined $10 on each of two traffic charges after the boy was caught by city officers following a chase. "The boy had already been given one speeding ticket, and when officers tried to nab him on a traffic charge, he panicked and fled. He didn't think he could afford to get another speeding charge or he might lose his license."

In attempting to escape from the city officers, the boy wrecked his automobile.

Five Lazduddie teen-agers were passengers in the car.

Still another case this past week involved a 16-year-old boy charged with giving hot checks and three boys are being investigated on another series of worthless checks ranging from $4 to $29. Officers have been unable to determine just which one of the boys actually wrote the checks; a handwriting expert is now examining the checks to determine the writer.

Judge Williams summed up the alleged gang activities here like this: "I don't think there was any doubt about it, a teenage gang or two was in the process of forming. But the officers stepped in and broke it up before any damage was done. I still insist there is no teen age gang in Muleshoe now."

Victims

Boles of the two women were found about 7 p.m. in the back yard farm home of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Hernandez, Farwell.

Mrs. Hernandez witnessed the double shooting. Farmer County Sheriff Charles Lovelace said.

Lovelace set up roadblocks in the Farwell area on both sides of the Texas-New Mexico border, and a massive manhunt was launched by Texas Rangers, city police and sheriff's deputies in the two-state area.

The shooting apparently climaxed a family argument, Lovelace said.

Mrs. Hernandez told Lovelace the women and the Salcido's two-year-old boy had come in one car and that Bernardo Salcido came to the home in another auto.

They had come over to settle an argument, Mrs. Hernandez told Lovelace, when the shooting occurred in the backyard.

Mrs. Salcido was shot once through the throat and once through the left side of the head, the bullet coming out the other side of her head.

Mrs. Murillo had been shot once in the forehead.

Salcido reportedly fled the scene and a two-state alert was issued for his capture. A Texas warrant charging murder with malice was issued by Justice of the Peace J. R. Thornton.

District Attorney Jack Young charged the complaint on request of Sheriff Lovelace.

Patrolman Kennedy, who spotted the car of Salcido in downtown Carlsbad and halted it after a chase was in good condition with a bullet wound in the shoulder. Carlsbad police said Salcido shot at Kennedy six times.

Salcido threw down his 38-caliber gun when two other officers pulled up behind him as he crouched behind a car, firing at Kennedy, police reported.

Salcido's two-year-old son was turned over to welfare offers. The couple also was reported to have a two-month-old girl who is at Littlefield. Lovelace said that he would leave for Carlsbad today. The Hernandez home, the scene of the shooting, is on the A. D. Kirk farm. Mrs. Hernandez' husband works on the farm. Lovelace said that Mrs. Salcido and Mrs. Murillo were dead when law enforcement officers arrived at the scene. Mrs. Murillo was lying on the ground behind the house and Mrs. Salcido was on the back porch. Hernandez arrived home shortly after the shooting and was told what had happened by his wife. They both went to a nearby farm to call the sheriff.

B&C Builders Here is Growing. Inland Steel Makes Strides

If you need a steel building of any kind whether for farm or business, see Lonnie M. Bass, president of B & C Builders, Inc. of Muleshoe. This company has erected dozens of steel buildings in West Texas and New Mexico since its formation and has just completed one for the Johnson Furniture Co., on W. American Blvd., in Muleshoe.

B & C Builders are dealers for Inland Steel Products Co., pre-engineered buildings, roof deck - floor deck, wall panels, bar joist and structural systems. They are presently constructing a building for Sears Automotive Center in Amarillo which is 36,000 sq. feet. They sell steel to contractors in this area as well as use it themselves.

B & C Builders does a turnkey job. They design buildings, do the drafting, engineering and construction work and the building is complete in every detail when finished.

The firm was organized here July 1, 1963, with Lonnie M. Bass as president; W. R. Carter as vice - president and Allen T. Webb, Jr., as Engineer. Six people are employed regularly by the company and more when a building is being constructed.

Mr. Bass has been in business in Muleshoe since 1956 and is well known throughout this area as a contractor. He keeps abreast of new developments in the building industry and adopts whatever ideas he thinks will improve his construction work.

The home office of this organization is located at 217 E. Ave. B, and the phone number is 3-6780. They also have offices in Clovis and Amarillo.

Business men and farmers are more and more coming to recognize the value of steel as a construction material because of its longer lasting quality and its clean appearance. There are no termites in a steel building
