Munday Gets A. A. U. Boys' Basketball Meet

West Texas Boys' High School Teams Will Participate in Athletic Event

$250 in Trophies To Be Awarded in Tournament Held Under Auspices Amateur Athletic Union Sponsored by Munday C. of C.

That Munday will entertain the West Texas tournament of the Amateur Athletic Union in boys basketball is now an assured fact. Superintendent J. E. Rhodes has been at work in an effort to secure the meet for some days and at a meeting of the directors of the Munday Chamber of Commerce Monday night that organization agreed to sponsor the bringing of the meet to Munday and Mr. Rhodes has notified the officers of the organization at Dallas and received assurance that the meet would be held in Munday.

In securing the meet it was necessary to guarantee trophies for the winning teams amounting to approximately $250.00, and in securing the meet it is the opinion of those who have gone into the proposition that the receipts will easily care for the expense incurred. The tournament will probably run for four days with programs mornings, afternoons and night and will be participated in by boys' basketball teams from all sections of West Texas.

The girls' tournament for the A. A. U. will be held at Snyder on February 14, 15 and 16, and the boys' tournament will likely be held immediately following that tournament. In securing this meet for Munday the directors of the chamber of commerce feel that Munday will enjoy having an event like this in our city and that our citizens will cooperate to the fullest extent in entertaining the visiting teams. Many of the towns who have the privilege of entertaining these tournaments make substantial concessions to the visitors in the way of rooms and we are sure that Munday will meet the situation in a very liberal manner. It is likely that some thirty teams from all sections of West Texas will participate in the tournament, which will mean that there will be a large number of visitors within our gates, and it is the hope of those who have been instrumental in bringing this meet to Munday that our citizens will prove themselves real hosts.

The tournament will be conducted strictly upon A. A. U. rules and officials from that organization will be here to conduct the games.

Publicity pertaining to the meet is now being prepared and will be sent to all the daily and weekly newspapers in West Texas, and during the tournament the daily papers will have sport writers here to cover the various contests, and Munday will receive some real publicity out of the tournament.

This is no small undertaking, but we are sure that Munday is amply equipped to care for the meet. Our school indoor court is one of the best in West Texas and the building has sufficient seating capacity to care for a very large crowd and seating and heating will receive special attention.

At an early meeting of the chamber of commerce several special committees will be appointed to work along various lines, and it is hoped that every member of these committees and every citizen will leave nothing undone to make this one of the most successful and enjoyable events that has ever been held in Munday.

CARD OF THANKS

I wish to thank each and every one who helped me in the contest, and especially my friends, who helped me in every way they could.—IDA BEECHER.

C. A. Benedict, 74, Pioneer Citizen of Knox City Succumbs

C. A. Benedict, pioneer citizen of Knox county, died on Friday of last week at the home of his brother, W. H. Benedict, at Knox City, and the funeral services were held on Sunday afternoon at 2:00 o'clock at the Benedict home and were conducted by the Rev. J. A. Scroggins.

"Uncle Ab," as he was familiarly known throughout this section, was born in Conway county, Arkansas, July 20, 1854 and came to Texas more than fifty years ago and had been a resident of Knox county for about forty years. He was one of the pioneer citizens of Knox City and has been instrumental in the development of that town since its beginning. More than a quarter of a century ago he assisted in organizing the First National Bank in that city and has since been actively associated with that institution, being chairman of the board of directors at the time of his death.

Mr. Benedict was never married and is survived by two brothers, W. H. Benedict, of Knox City and G. E. Benedict, of Portland, Texas, and a half-sister, Mrs. J. R. Smith, of this city.

The funeral cortege that followed the remains to the cemetery on Sunday afternoon was one of the largest ever held in Knox City, and many pioneer citizens from various points in West Texas came to pay their last tribute of respect to this good man who for a half century had had an active part in the development of West Texas.

STOCKHOLDERS ANNUAL MEETING

The Rule National Farm Loan Association of Rule, Texas held its regular annual meeting on January 28th and the following officers were elected to serve for the year 1929:

Directors: F. E. Hines, R. W. Cole, R. L. Vick, W. R. Carothers and M. D. Abbott, President, F. E. Hines, Vice President, R. W. Cole; and Secretary-Treasurer W. H. McCandless. This association has loaned more than one and one-quarter million dollars to 450 farmers of this section, has never had a foreclosure and does not have a single delinquent.

AMERICAN LEGION WILL HOLD MEETING THURSDAY NIGHT

In giving a list of officers recently elected by Lowry Post, American, in our issue last week we erred in stating that Dr. Joe Davis was elected post commander. We should have stated that Dr. E. J. Burns was elected to this position and Dr. Davis was elected vice-commander.

We are requested to announce that the Legion will hold another meeting on Tuesday night of next week at 8 o'clock at the city hall, and all ex-service men, whether members of the American Legion or not, are urged to be present.

Clay Groves of Faxon, Oklahoma, was here first of the week visiting in the home of J. B. Renoau and other relatives.

Business Expert To Speak Here

Arrangements have been made by D. T. Mauldin, secy-mgr. R. M. A. of Munday for the appearance of G. W. Sulley, prominent merchandising authority from the Merchants Service Division of the National Cash Register Company at Dayton, Ohio, who chants Association at the City Hall on March 5th.

The address to be given by the Dayton speaker will be of interest to merchants, salespeople and business men generally, because of his intimate association with the latest developments in retailing and his background of thorough study in merchandising, according to reports from other cities where he has spoken.

In his address, the speaker will deal with the modern methods of building better retail business, it is announced. The most successful selling methods, plans for cooperation between merchants, ideas in buying and selling, store service and store management, all will enter into the discussion. The importance and proper use of advertising will be dealt with thoroughly by the speaker.

Every point in the address will be illustrated clearly by numerous charts. These graphic illustrations serve to distinguish the discussions on better retailing given by Mr. Sulley from the ordinary business talk.

The speaker comes to this city after visiting many centers in this part of the country where he has spoken before trade conventions, merchants, and salespeople.

An invitation is extended to all business men, and their salespeople to hear this lecture whether you are a member or not.

Demonstration Of Model Farm Near Wichita Falls Sat.

The formal opening of the Model Plant of the Scientific Little Farms that are being developed by Chas. Weeks at Wichita Falls will be held Saturday, February 2. The model farm is located about 5 miles southwest of Wichita Falls near a splendid swimming pool. A splendid program is being arranged for the occasion. Two of the city bands will be there for the entertainment of the crowd, and many other numbers will be presented to make it an interesting and instructive day. Every detail of the building plans will be explained and the first official announcement of the plan will be made. Any one who is interested in poultry development will find it profitable to be there and see the most modern way of handling poultry.

Mart Hardin was in Wednesday afternoon with a cargo of eggs. From the large number he brought in one might think he was really in the poultry business, but this is just one of the side issues on the Hardin farm. Mr. Hardin brought in 21 dozen which represented the cackling on his farm for only three days, and which were produced by about 200 White Leghorn hens. The Hardins also sell butter and other products from their farm all during the year, and usually when they come to town they go home with more money than they came with, which is our idea of modern day farming.

Chas. M. Conner of Haskell was in the city on Wednesday. Mr. Conner is in the floral and nursery business at Haskell. In growing nursery stock he is a pioneer of this industry in this section of the state, as many old timers have contended that the soil and climate in this section is not adapted to growing same but Fr. Conner is of the "show me" type.

Future Mrs. Babe Ruth.

Mrs. Claire Hodgson, former show girl, is rumored, to be become the wife of Babe Ruth, famous ball player.

45 Bales Gathered Off Of 27 Acres Is Record Of Munday Farmer

Sounds like a fish story, but it's a fact nevertheless. Not only that, but this same farmer gathered from 36 to 40 tons of maize from 22 acres with a little better than half a stand. This wonderful yield was made by A. W. Griffin, residing five miles south of Munday the past year.

Mr. Griffin owns 80 acres down there which he purchased in 1925 from W. A. Baker for $50.00 per acre. Since that time the land has twice produced sufficient amount of cotton and feeds to pay for the land in a single year. But this land which produces so abundantly, produces only in extremely dry years, as in nothing more than a lake, and the crop produced the past year is the first that has grown on the land in three years. Mr. Griffin states that the bales were all 500 pounds and over and the seed from which this excellent crop was produced were of the Summer half and half variety and were purchased by him from Frank Barnison, local distributor.

Of the 80 acres in his farm about half is covered by this low spot which in rainy years is inhabited by many wild ducks, but when the up-land farmers are waiting in despair for the rains to come and give life to their crops, Mr. Griffin is watching his crops grow and put on fruit, but in the wet years he has to sit by and get what satisfaction he can out of the fact that he will have another chance next year, and he states that he can safely figure on an abundant yield at least every three years, and naturally the land around the lake produces abundantly every year, and Mr. Griffin is well satisfied with his farm.

Mr. Griffin is offering the seed from this excellent cotton for sale, as will be found by his ad in this issue of the Times.

PIONEER CITIZEN WEINERT PASSES AWAY IN SLEEP

D. Jeff Jones, pioneer citizen and business man of Weinert, was found dead in his bed Tuesday morning when members of his family went to his room to wake him. An examination revealed that he had passed away without a struggle during the night and had not so much as disturbed the bed covering.

Deceased was 63 years of age and had been in business in Weinert for the past twenty years. He is survived by three sons and one daughter.

NOTICE TO MEMBERS OF MUNDAY FARMERS UNION

E. DUVAL RETIRES FROM ACTIVE SERVICE IN BANK

At a meeting of the board of directors of the First State Bank this week the same officers that have served during the past year were re-elected, as follows: E. Duval, president; Fred Warren, active vice-president; S. A. Bowlen, vice-president; P. G. Barton, cashier.

Following the meeting it was announced that Mr. Duval would hereafter be inactive in the bank. While he is retained as president of the institution he will not take an active part in the management of the bank but will retain all his interest in the institution.

Mr. Duval states that he will maintain an office in the bank building from which he will operate an insurance, loan and real estate business, and those actively associated with the bank will at all times have the benefit of his advice and counsel.

The directors of the bank are as follows: E. Duval, R. S. Barton, S. A. Bowlen, Fred Warren, E. H. Bauman, M. H. Reeves and J. I. Staley.

LEGION HAS UNIQUE MEMBERSHIP RACE ON

AUSTIN:—The American Legion has something unique to interest its members in membership activities this year, said Farnest Cox, Ass't. State Adjutant of the Legion in Texas, who is also Chairman of Membership work for this State. Each state has been assigned the name of a horse that was one time winner of the famous Kentucky Derby. The race is being carried on, in cooperation with the auxiliary and the winner will be that state whose membership average of both the Legion and Auxiliary is greatest in proportion to quota assigned by National Headquarters. "BUCHANAN" who was derby winner in 1884 is the horse assigned Texas and every effort will be made to bring him down the stretch a winner when the contest ends on May 18th, the date for the next annual Kentucky Derby, said Cox.

SISTER-IN-LAW TO PROF. L. M. PALMER SUCCEMBS

Prof. L. M. Palmer was called to Grand Saline, Texas, on Thursday of last week by a message advising him of the death of his brother's wife, Mrs. J. S. Palmer, at the family home at Grand Saline. Mrs. Palmer was 28 years of age and is survived by her husband and one daughter nine years of age.

The many friends of Mr. Palmer here will learn of the great sorrow that has come to him with regret.

Sheriff Recovers Three Stolen Cars

On Thursday night of last week a car was abandoned three miles east of Benjamin and was taken in charge by Sheriff C. R. Elliott, who located the owner of the car in St. Louis, Mo., where it was stolen on January 22.

On Friday night presumably the same parties who abandoned the car near Benjamin stole a Ford sedan in Knox City and the car was located in Deming, New Mexico on Sunday through the activities of the sheriff's office. In recovering the car three men were taken into custody by officers in New Mexico and are being held in the El Paso county jail on a federal charge of interstate transportation of stolen property.

On the same night a car was stolen from J. G. Hudson, of Benjamin, which was also located Sunday at Tahoka, Texas, and two men were arrested in the same day at Ralls by Sheriff Elliott and are being held in the Knox county jail to await the action of the grand jury after having waived examining trial and their bonds being fixed at $1,000 each. The car was said to have been in good condition but was minus a spare tire and saddle which were in the car at the time it was stolen.

A Federal man was in Benjamin Tuesday and informed Sheriff Elliott that the men held in the El Paso jail would be prosecuted on a Federal charge and charges would also be filed in Federal court against the man now being held in the Knox county jail.

We believe that in recovering three stolen automobiles and placing five men behind bars for automobile theft that Mr. Elliott has made a record that is seldom equaled in so brief a length of time, and prompt action like this is likely to bring automobile thefts to a minimum in Knox county.

Terracing School To Be Conducted Here During Next Month

County Agent Jack Wilson was here the first of the week and announced that sometime in February he planned to hold a terracing demonstration in this community, at which time he will be assisted by a terracing expert from A. and M. College and a soil expert from the Federal Land Bank of Houston. The date and place for this demonstration will be announced later, and every farmer in this section should witness this demonstration. It is not unusual to talk to citizens of West Texas and if they have visited back east recently they will tell you that the land that formerly produced abundantly is now practically worthless. The soil has washed away and the land has been planted in cotton year after year until it has ceased to produce. The same thing will be true of West Texas within a very few years unless something is done to preserve the soil. Even today farmers who have resided on Knox prairie for a number of years will tell you that the soil will not produce as it did years ago. There is a reason for this—and a remedy, and those who fail to rectify the situation are facing losses in the production of their land and hence in the value of same.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Williams and Mrs. Williams's father, Mr. Hobbs, daughter, Helen Marie, accompanied motored to Throckmorton Sunday to visit relatives.

TEXAS SENATORS IN U. S. CONGRESS

1845-1930 James Pinkney Henderson—1857-1858

(Copyright 1928 by Alva O. Hearne)

James Pinkney Henderson was born in Lincoln County, North Carolina, on March 3, 1808. He was of an old and honorable pioneer family, members of which were among the early settlers of southwestern Kentucky. He pursued academic studies in the town of Lincoln, North Carolina; received a classical education, was admitted to the practice of law in 1829 and rapidly gained prominence in the legal profession.

Henderson moved to Mississippi in 1835, where he resumed the practice of law. Shortly after locating in Mississippi he firmly resolved to join and assist the Texans, then struggling for their freedom from Mexican domination. In furtherance of his plans he assisted in recruiting and training a company of volunteers. He went to Texas in advance of the company shortly after the memorial battle of San Jacinto, and upon his arrival President Burnett commissioned him to return to the United States for the purpose of recruiting additional volunteers. He raised a fine company in North Carolina and carried it to Texas at his personal expense. Reaching Texas in the month of November, 1836, soon after General Sam Houston had been elected President of the new republic, he was appointed Attorney General, and the latter part of December, 1836, was made Secretary of State.

In 1837, Henderson was appointed special agent to England and France, with full authority to secure a recognition of Texas independence, and to negotiate treaties of amity, commerce and navigation. His splendid bearing and unusual talent soon won respect for Texas at the courts of England and France. He was greatly aided in his duties by General Lewis Cass, then American minister to France, with whom he became closely associated. He married Miss Frances E. Cox, an accomplished young lady of Philadelphia, in the City of Paris.

Upon his return to Texas in 1840, Henderson was given a tremendous ovation for his diplomatic success. He then located in San Augustine, Texas, as a lawyer, and very soon ranked among the most eminent lawyers, possessing great ability and enjoying a large and lucrative practice. In 1844, he was appointed minister to the United States and joined Isaac Van Zandt, the resident minister, in the negotiation of a treaty of annexation. The United States Senate declined ratification of the treaty. However, the annexation was completed by a joint resolution of the United States Congress adopted on March 1, 1845.

In 1846 Henderson served as a delegate to the Texas constitutional convention, and in November of that year he was elected as the first governor of the State and inaugurated on February 19, 1846. The Mexican war began in May following his inauguration as Governor, and Texas placed four regiments of troops in the field. By authority of the Texas Legislature, Governor Henderson personally took the field as a major general of the United States Army under General Zachary Taylor. He achieved great distinction in the three day battle of Monterrey, for which the United States Congress voted him a sword. He and Jefferson Davis and others were commissioned to effect the treaty of amity with Don Pedro de Ampudia, the Commander of the Mexican forces.

After the war Henderson returned to Texas and resumed and continued his term as Governor. Declining reelection, he resumed his law practice, and for several years was in poor health. He repeatedly declined official posts. When in 1857, the State legislature unanimously elected him as a States Right Democrat to fill the vacancy created in the United States Senate by the death of General Thomas J. Rusk, he reluctantly accepted. Following a short period of rest and recuperation in Cuba, he took his seat in the Senate on November 9, 1857. He had served only a few days when it became necessary for him to go to Philadelphia for treatment.

Senator Henderson died in Washington, D. C., on June 4, 1858.

NOTICE IN PROBATE

THE STATE OF TEXAS To the Sheriff or any Constable of Knox County—Greeting:

You are hereby commanded to cause to be published once each week for a period of ten days before the return day hereof, in a newspaper of general circulation, which has been continuously and regularly published for a period of not less than one year in said Knox County, a copy of the following notice.

THE STATE OF TEXAS

To all persons interested in the estate of J. N. Campbell, Deceased, J. C. Borden has filed an application in the County Court of Knox County, on the 19th day of January, 1929, for Letters of Administration upon the estate of said J. N. Campbell, Deceased, and on the 19th day of January, A. D. 1929, by order of the County Judge of Knox County, Texas, the said J. C. Borden was appointed Temporary Administrator of the estate of said J. N. Campbell, Deceased; and at the next regular term of said Court, commencing on the Third Monday in April, A. D. 1929, the same being the 15th day of April, A. D. 1929, at the Court House of said County, in the city of Benjamin, Texas, at which time all persons interested in the welfare of said estate, may, and are hereby cited to appear and contest such appointment, if they so desire, and if such appointment is not contested at the said term of said Court, then the same shall become permanent.

Herein fail not, but have you before said Court, on the first day of the next term thereof, this writ, with your return thereon, showing how you executed the same.

Witness my hand and official seal, at Benjamin, Texas, this 26th day of January, 1929.

(Seal) THOS. F. GLOVER, Clerk County Court, Knox County, Texas. (Published in The Munday Times, January 31, Feb. 7 and 14, 1929.)

I'm Grateful To Orgatone, Says Wichitan

"I don't Ever Remember Feeling As Well As I Do Now, Since Taking New Medicine" Says Mrs. H. H. Hopkins

"Orgatone has done a world of good and I'm now feeling just fine," said Mrs. H. H. Hopkins, wife of the well known field superintendent of the Drilling Rigs of the Petroleum Produce Oil Co., and residing at 3100 Miami, while talking with the Orgatone nurse recently.

"My stomach and liver bothered me for several years," she continued, "and I suffered with terrible pains from the back of my head down to the small of my back. My liver was inactive, and I was tired and worn out all the time. I couldn't sleep hardly any and what sleep I did get, didn't seem to do me any good and I would get up in the mornings without any energy and I just hated the very thought of work. I didn't have any appetite and what little food I did eat, did not agree with me, it formed gas on my stomach, and gave me a puffed up, uncomfortable feeling. I was just going down hill every day, and it seemed as if I could never find any medicine to relieve me or bring me out of my run down condition.

"One day I noticed in the local paper here, where Chief McClure had endorsed Orgatone and I too, decided to try it. It has done me more good than any medicine I have ever taken and I have certainly taken my share of it. I have tried everything, and nothing ever did me any good until I got Orgatone. I am certainly grateful to it. I eat anything I want now, my food digests properly, and the gas does not form on my stomach at all now. I've taken a little over one bottle of Orgatone and never realized it could do anyone so much good. I am giving this statement to the paper because I hope a man takes it, that I know of, who is suffering as I was, for I know if he does it will certainly help him. I feel like a new woman. I want every one to profit by my experience and get them a bottle of Orgatone. Orgatone is the most wonderful medicine I have ever taken and I shall continue to use it as long as it helps me as it is." Orgatone is not a so-called patent remedy, but a new scientific treatment containing no false stimulating drugs and may be obtained in Munday, Texas, at Eiland's Drug Store. —Advertisement.

Go to Bed Story by Farmer Smith

Bobbie and Billie Bunny were out in the moonlight one night hopping, skipping and jumping when Mister Jay Bird happened to see them.

"Hello, there, you rascals! How are things?" "We are O. K. How are you?" "Fine. I want to ask you a question—did you ever play golf?" "Play what?" asked Billie Bunny. "Golf—g o l f. Nice game."

"We never played it. Will you show us how?" "Come here tomorrow morning early, and bring two clubs and—" "How many members must the clubs have?" asked Bobbie. "Clubs are sticks—not—not—well not what you think they are. They are sticks with knots on the ends of them."

"Are they not?" asked Bobbie. "You're too smart, replied the Bird.

The Rabbit children skipped home and went to bed with their secret about golf and when morning came they were out where Mister Jay Bird had told them to come. Each had a stick with a knot on the end of it.

"Pretty little knot, is it not?" asked Billie, when Mister Jay Bird came to the limb of the tree above them.

"Quit your nonsense and get a hickory nut for the ball," shrieked the Bird.

"You'll be wanting us to eat your dinner for you next," said Bobbie as he lapped off in search of a nut.

"Bye and bye he returned and the Bird told him to make a little hill and put the nut on it. He said to hit the nut and make it go in the hole in the old oak tree.

Bobbie put the nut down and hit it BANG! The nut flew up and just missed Mister Jay Bird's head. Hey, you! Stop that. You shoot at that hole in the tree."

Bobbie put the nut on the little hill and told Billie to hit it. BIFF!

Billie gave the nut a swat! and it disappeared in the hole in the old oak tree.

"I'll get it," said Bobbie. He ran to the tree and looked and looked, but he couldn't see the nut. In a few minutes he heard a noise up in the tree and there sat Mrs. Squared cracking the nut. "I like to play golf, too," she remarked.

"Ha, ha, ha!" laughed the Bird. "We'll fix you for that," shouted the Rabbit children as they skipped away.

A rooster discovered an uncracked egg and rolled it into the hen house and said: "Now, ladies, I do not want to embarrass you, but here's a sample of what other people are doing."

SAME PRESCRIPTION HE WROTE IN 1892

When Dr. Caldwell started to practice medicine, back in 1875, the needs for a medicine were not as great as today. People lived normal lives, ate plain wholesome food, and got plenty of fresh air. But even that early there were drastic plagues and purges for the relief of constipation which Dr. Caldwell did not believe were good for human beings.

The prescription for constipation that he used early in his practice, and which he put in drug stores in 1892 under the name of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, is a liquid vegetable remedy, intended for women, children and elderly people, and they need just such a mild, safe bowel stimulant.

This prescription has proven its worth and is now the largest selling liquid medicine. It has won the confidence of people who needed it to get relief from headaches, dizziness, indigestion, flatulence, loss of appetite and sleep, bad breath, dyspepsia, colic, fevers. At your drug store, in Munday, Texas, for 25c a bottle.

MOGULS LOSE TO CROWELL

Last Thursday night the Moguls journeyed to Crowell to return a game that was played here some two weeks ago. So far as the Moguls are concerned the game might as well be passed up without mention, but for fear that some of our rivals will think that we are not good sports we will record the event along with our other games. Crowell won the game 25-12. We feel, however, that the loss can be very largely explained. In the first place, the morale of the team was badly affected when it was learned that Coach Palmer would not be with them. The big reason, however, was the court we played on, which was much smaller than the average sized court and in addition two large iron beams hung low over each team. Crowell admitted that they always defeated their rivals at home and we believe it is about one hundred percent true.

In a second game the Munday Independents partly made up for the high school defeat by handling the Crowell Independents a 36-24 drubbing.

CHAN'S CHATTER

Coach Palmer was called home last Thursday on account of the death of his sister-in-law. He received the message just before he was to leave with the basketball squad for Crowell. The members of the football and basketball squads extend to Coach Palmer their deepest and sincerest sympathy in his hour of bereavement.

Mr. Rhodes took charge of the basketball squad during Mr. Palmer's absence. As he explained it he was "pinch hitting" for the coach. However, the duties of handling the team were not entirely new to Mr. Rhodes as he was actively engaged in this work for several years.

As a token of their appreciation of his value as a gentleman and an athletic coach, the members of the football squad presented Mr. Palmer with a beautiful miniature gold football last Thursday. Mr. Rhodes made the presentation in behalf of the squad.

Be it truly said of the Spur and Wichita Falls teams that they are real sportsmen in the truest sense of the word. Not a single instance of "rough stuff" or questionable play was in evidence. May we have more competition of this kind.

The program for this week will be headed by a trip to Magarzel Tuesday night to return a game played here earlier in the year. On Thursday night the Moguls will take on the Stamford Bulldogs in the Community Hall. Games for Friday and Saturday nights are yet to be arranged but it is highly probable that our opponents for one night will be our ancient and traditional rivals, the Goree Wildcats.

The basketball season is rapidly coming to a close. Don't miss a chance to see the games from now on.

SATINI SODALES

The first and second year Latin classes of Munday high school met Wednesday, January 23, for the purpose of organizing a Latin Club. After discussing the type of club and the kind of work we wanted, we lected officers as follows: W. B. Miller, president; Frances McCord, vice-president; Madeline Spelece, secretary; Marie Spelece, treasurer; Myrl Lowe, reporter. The name chosen for the club was "Latin Sodales" (Latin Companions). The club colors are Roman Purple and White.

Our dues will be fifteen cents (15c) per month, and any person who falls out of the club. We will have a club program each third Wednesday, the first period in the afternoon, or from 12:45 to 1:30 o'clock.

The Latin Club is late in organizing this year; therefore we are going to have to work hard and fast. We are planning to have very interesting programs, and lots of fun.

FRESHMEN ECHOES

Thank goodness! Those long dreaded mid-term examinations are over! And the high school students have heard the last echo of the teachers' war cries, "Thou shalt not pass!"

What would Munday high school do without—

Some geometry sharks like Frank and Roy?

Hubert and Rex to go to the library?

Carl Newsome's bright remarks in English class?

J. C.'s interest in Algebra?

Frances' ability to learn Latin?

The extraordinary record that the Freshmen are making?

What do you know about the Indian report? Pull up your chairs and I will tell you—

It seems that the Redskins, who once held clear title to all real estate, timber, mineral, and water now have a share of less than one-fourth of one per cent. Yet he is better off than he has been before, according to a report by the bureau of Indian affairs.

In a report covering the last seven years the Bureau discloses that there has been a 15,000 rise in population, a sharp rise in the per capita wealth of the race, and a three per cent drop in the death rate. Indian appropriation for the past year amounted to $12,654,685.

The Freshmen are attending the ball games like Freshmen should. We are always right there hollering for the Munday Moguls.

This demerit system certainly is getting heavy on the Freshmen. I guess all the teachers are taking their spite out on us. It seems as if we cannot stop this habit of talking. Mann says, "Habit is a cable; we weave a thread of it every day, and at last we cannot break it."

There are several new pupils in the Freshman class.

All of the pupils are glad that gas stoves are being installed in the high school building. We are sure that we won't freeze to death now. (As we have come so near doing.)

SOPHOMORES

What a relief! And most of us even with the world! Exams are over, but oh, those grades! Work hard Sophs and keep the same crowd together again.

Thomas Carlyle one time said that the man who sings at his work, be his occupation what it may, is always equal to any of those who follow the same pursuit in silent dullness. The light-hearted person, singing as he goes, will do more work in the same time, and will do it even better.

One is scarcely sensible to fatigue while he marches to music. Some one has said that the very stars make harmony as they revolve in their spheres. Wondrous, indeed, is the strength and influence of cheerfulness. Singing and cheerfulness seem to go hand in hand.

Nothing is ever well done that is not done cheerfully. The one with a growl spoils whatever joys there may come to him, but the one whom the whole world loves and admires is the man with a song of cheer on his lips.

Mrs. Kunkel: "George Elliott was only her pen-name."

Bright Pupil in English II: "And what was her name while out of the pen?"

English II has started studying literature and we've started out on "Silas Marner." Guess the latest! We have been working in real estate, and we're going to build a village of Raveloc. We'll show you what artists we have in our class.

The mid-term exams are over, and the whole student body seems relieved although some dread to take a "peep" at their report cards, which are to be handed out Wednesday. Of course some of us will be disappointed in our grades, but that is only natural. Let the next term bring up the average of this past term so that you will be a proud possessor of that good grade at the end of the next term. Remember, that old slogan, "Don't give up the Ship", and keep striving for you are a poor student who "gives up the ship in the middle of your journey."

We are sure that each and every student enjoyed the past term and we are sure that your pleasures will be doubled in the next term.

To ye Seniors, make this last "lap" in your high school days the best in history. Strive harder, put out your "stuff", and as you cross that line, make it the most successful victory while in high school. Such a victory will give you a good foundation for other victories in your future life.

The entire student body extends to Mr. Palmer their deepest sympathies in his hour of sorrow.

Mrs. Rhodes was ill the first part of last week but she is back in school now, ready to give you some demerits if you so desire.

Before the exams "Jeky" was saying "Lord be with us in these exams, lest we forget, lest we forget." Somehow, since his exam papers have been graded, he forgot that prayer and is now saying, "Lord, thou was not with us, for we forgot, for we forgot."

MOGULS FIGHT HARD TO WIN FROM SPUR 26-12

The game last Friday night between Munday and Spur proved to be a slow moving affair in the first half, with Spur leading the attack and holding a 1 point advantage as the half ended.

At the start of the second half the fighting Moguls came back with much more pep and began to shoot "the old pill through the basket." Spur never seriously threatened during last half, being able to make only 2 field goals. The game ended 26-12 in the Moguls favor.

The game was clean, fair, and a thrilling event. Both teams showed great sportsmanship.

COYOTES TAKE BIG TILT FROM MUNDAY MOGULS 17-9

The game last Saturday night between Wichita Falls and Munday High was one of the best games played here this season. Wichita Falls, although a much larger school, did not out class Munday very much, on the basketball court as the score was 17-9.

The Coyotes played, perhaps, the best defensive game of any team seen on the local floor this season. Their five defense men seemed next to impossible to penetrate and as the Moguls were off form on long shots few "tallies" were marked up against the Coyotes.

With Captain Paul Pruitt in the line up the score might have been different, but it is not our purpose to alibi for a defeat at the hands of a large school like Wichita Falls.

announcing The New PONTIAC BIG SIX

Introducing Big Car Standards of Luxury, Style and Performance at $745

TODAY a new type of low cost motoring luxury is available. It embraces big car style. It provides big car riding comfort. It embodies big car quality in unseen parts. It is offered by a brand new automobile—the New Pontiac Big Six.

Frankly, the New Pontiac Big Six was designed to appeal to a certain group. This group is made up of people who are beginning to move up in the world. Many of them will soon make the first step up in the quality of their cars. The New Pontiac Big Six was designed for them.

It comes to them entirely new in appearance. Stunning new bodies by Fisher contribute to the big car beauty and big car style presented by the car as a whole.

Progressive people are seeking greater luxury. The Pontiac Big Six offers them the luxury for which bodies by Fisher are famous the world over. It provides the smooth-riding qualities of a car 167 inches in overall length, with accurately balanced rotating mechanical parts and such advanced comfort features as adjustable drivers' seats.

It is a six with the added power of a larger L-head engine and the added smoothness imparted by a dynamically balanced, counter-weighted crankshaft and the famous Harmonic Balancer. Its new brakes are of the disc-and-weather-proof internal four-wheel type.

It reveals big car performance even to the point of developing big car power and big car speed.

Only a few highlights in its construction have been mentioned. Just enough to prove that the Pontiac Big Six is entirely new and capable of meeting progressive Americans' demand. But the amazing thing about it is that it gives so much big car luxury, style and performance at prices which come within practically everyone's reach!

Prices $745 and up, f.o.b. factory, plus delivery charges. Bumpers and rear fender guards regular equipment at slight extra cost. Check Oakland-Pontiac delivered prices—they include lowest handling charges. General Motors Time Payment Plan available at minimum rate.

Shower for Recent Bride

Thursday afternoon from three to five o'clock at the home of Mrs. J. C. Campbell a miscellaneous shower was given by Mesdames Campbell, M. H. Reeves and Hilton Hogan, honoring Mrs. Jack Tidwell, formerly Miss Trudie Isbell.

The guests were greeted by a receiving line composed of Mrs. Hogan, Mrs. Tidwell, Mrs. Geo. Isbell, Mrs. Clarence McKinney and Mrs. R. L. Burton. They were then ushered to the dining room where Mrs. Reeves and Mrs. Campbell, assisted by Mrs. S. E. McCord, poured tea. The table was beautiful with a battenberg cover centered with a basket of lovely cut flowers. Long stemmed sweet peas were given as favors. From three guests were escorted to a room where the many lovely gifts for the honoree were displayed, then to the beautiful bride's book to register.

During the evening readings were given by John McMahon, DeFrance Burton and Betty Reeves and a song by Mickey Joe Mason. Sixty guests registered in the bride's book.

Past Noble Grand's Rebekah Lodge Organize Club

On Wednesday, January 23 the Past Noble Grand's of Munday Rebekah Lodge No. 111 met in the home of Mrs. Fannie Buntz and organized a Past Noble Grand's Club, and the following officers were elected: Mrs. Fannie Buntz, chairman; Mrs. Birdie Wilson, vice-chairman; Mrs. Della Perdus, secretary-treasurer; Mrs. S. E. Roberson was appointed marshal and Miss Annie Munday was appointed conductor.

Motion to adjourn was in order, after which refreshments consisting of sandwiches, hot chocolate and wafers were served.

The club will meet each third Thursday afternoon at 2:30, and the next meeting will be held with Mrs. Della Perdus.

Shackelford—Smith

Mrs. Earl Shackelford and Miss Neta Mae Smith were united in marriage Sunday at the home of Dr. G. A. Trotter, who officiated.

Both the bride and groom are well known in Munday, the bride being a daughter of Mrs. Jack Smith, and has resided in this city for a number of years, while the groom is a son of Mrs. Gertrude Shackelford, who is one of the pioneer citizens of Munday.

These young people have a large host of friends in this city who will join us in wishing for them a long and happy married life.

Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Alexander and Miss Lorene Parker left the first of the week for Dallas, where they attended the Style Show and purchased goods for The Hat Shop.

Miss Lucille Harris left on Tuesday last week for Norman, Oklahoma, where she will be a student in the University of Oklahoma.

Miss Grace Nelson will leave the latter part of the week for Houston, where she will attend the Silver Jubilee of the Extension Work in Texas. Every county agent and demonstration agent of Texas and many others of note will attend this meeting.

Miss Frances Dashner, who was formerly a member of the faculty of the Munday High School, has been critically ill with pneumonia in a hospital at Ada, Oklahoma, and late reports from there are to the effect that she is getting along some better, according to information received by Mr. and Mrs. T. G. Benge, who are keeping in touch with relatives daily, and the many friends of Miss Dashner here will be very glad indeed to learn that her condition is improving.

Miss Beatrice Beville of Abilene has accepted a position with the board of education and is now a member of the faculty of the schools. She was employed to fill the additional place in the schools that was created some weeks ago when the crowded condition of some of the rooms was brought to the attention of the board, and is in charge of one half of the fourth grade, which was divided between she and Miss Hearn.

A. J. Manuel and daughter, Miss Ruby, of Jayton, were here during the week-end visiting their daughter and sister, Miss Bertha Manuel.

Aubrey L. Smith and Dr. Cadenhead of Weinert were here on business Wednesday afternoon.

HINTS FOR THE HOME

If you are so unfortunate as to have a home without a fireplace, you can acquire the full effect of one by simply introducing a mantel with a false grate to accommodate electric logs or coals. Then, if possible, have bookshelves built into the wall at either side and you will have a charming hearth setting at very little cost.

The scheme can be worked out inexpensively in almost any room since it entails no outside repairs or structural work. And the decorative effect—the atmosphere of comfort gained—are worth many times the amount involved.

Split pork tenderloin down the center and fill with a dressing as for fowl. Roll and tie up, sprinkle with salt and pepper and flour. Bake in a buttered pan, basting frequently with a little water to which melted butter has been added.

Banana Salad

Cut bananas in half lengthwise and scoop out the centers. Fill with a mixture of chopped nuts, diced canned apricots and chopped maraschino cherries blended with dressing. Garnish with whole maraschino cherries.

Baked Peppers

Cut stem end from green peppers and remove seeds and core. Boil for 5 minutes in salted water. Mix together 1-2 teaspoon boiled rice, 3 tomatoes, chopped, 1 chopped onion, large piece of butter and seasonings. Drain peppers, put piece of butter in bottoms, fill with stuffing, and sprinkle with crumbs and dots of butter. Stand in pan, pour 1-2 cup boiling water over them and bake for 3-4 hours.

Sour Cream Cake

Cream 1-2 cup butter and 2 cups sugar. Add 3 eggs well beaten. Dissolve 1-2 teaspoon soda in 1 cup of sour cream and add alternately with 3 cups of flour (sifted) to the sugar and egg mixture. Flavor with a scant tsp. lemon extract, pour in greased cake pan and bake in a moderate oven.

Did not beauty prove most precious when its opposite obtained?

—BROWNING.

Beautiful hair is a subject much too important to beauty to suffer much neglect. Women are naturally endowed with good, healthy attractive hair. You have only to look at any child and convince yourself of this fact. If in later years, we neglect our hair—if through infrequent or too frequent washings we destroy the gloss and finish of it—we have only ourselves to blame.

However taking for granted the fact—which is all true—that very few women reach thirty with the hair beauty they were meant to have, it doesn't do for us to blame. The thing to do is to set to work and repair the damage.

Whether your hair is long or short, thick or fine, black or white there is one daily practice which is good appearance demands—and that is brushing.

If you really want beautiful hair, you cannot neglect this all-important rite.

Brushing sounds simple enough, doesn't it?—yet I really doubt if there is one woman in a hundred who knows the technique of hair grooming. Get yourself a bottle of Hair Tonic—and either a pair of military brushes or a good, firm handled, firm bristled brush. Part the hair, rub a little tonic in at the partings and then brush with long over strokes. Be sure that your strokes start at the scalp and end at the very end of your hair—one hundred strokes a night is only a good healthy average, and if you are really anxious about improving the health and beauty of your hair you will not begrudge the effort of an extra fifty strokes or more. Next week I shall take up the subject of Shampoo.

THE HOLY SCRIPTURES
Psalm 19:7-14; 2 Timothy 3:14-17
Rev. Samuel D. Price, D. D.

The Christians Sacred Book is a descriptive statement of the Bible. In fact, it is a library consisting of sixty-six books, divided into the Old and New Testaments. "How we got our English Bible," by J. Patterson Smyth answers many questions in the mind of every investigator. Beyond all human source this Book comes from God. Rev. F. B. Meyer, D. D., says, "Inspiration consists in the divine quality that inheres in the Bible." It is certainly different and superior to every other book and is well called the Book of Books. One cannot claim to be well educated who is not conversant with the general content thereof. Dr. Meyer also states, "The best argument for the Bible is the character it creates," and William F. Gladstone declared, "The Sunday School is the world's greatest institution for popularizing the world's greatest Book."

Read this Book through, and do so as often as possible. Then commit many chosen passages to memory. One of these will be the nineteenth Psalm, from which the first Scripture portion is taken today. If you wish to save many terms for the Scriptures read Psalm 119, where there is some mention in each of the 176 verses. In spite of its age the Bible is still the best seller each year in all literature, both modern and ancient. A very simple and yet most comprehensive statement is

"Sin will keep you from this Book; This Book will keep you from Sin." Study carefully each of the following selected portions that are a part of this lesson. Deuteronomy 6:4-9; Joshua 1:8, 9; 2 Kings 22:8-20; Nehemiah 8:1-8; Psalm 19:7-14; Luke 24:25-32; Acts 17:10-12; 2 Timothy 3:14-17.

The first reference indicates a portion that the Hebrew places in his mezuzah and phylactery. This Word has a place on his doorstep and it is taught to his children. The Jew has made an incalculable contribution in giving this Book to the world. Well does the Psalmist say "The law of Jehovah is perfect, restoring the soul." The Word was indeed law and its precepts were to be accepted and obeyed, for they are "right." Psalm 19:7-8. Take the other descriptions in that Psalm—"pure, clean, true and righteous altogether."

As is stated in Psalm 119:105 "Thy word is a lamp unto my feet, And light unto my path."

Paul in charging Timothy refer to the "sacred writings" in which he had been instructed from his youth. Thierby "the man of God may be complete, furnished completely unto every good work."

Straws in Plaids

The popularity of straw cloth inspires designers to develop the plaid motif which appears in advance models shown for Palm Beach wear. One hat with small brim or plain red straw has a crown checked in harmonizing shades of red. Red and navy, brown and beige, green and black in different plaid designs are among the collection.

Wide Side Brim a Feature

Imports show several models with the side brim which in its most attractive form is used on one side only, the other part of the hat fitting closely to the head. When the hat has a tiny brim across the front the tendency toward trimming extends backward, or to the side back where pleats or tucks or a gathered draping of the felt give nice variety of line.

Ornaments More Interesting Than Ever

Bowknobs of brilliants, bucklets of jade enamel studded with pearls; modernistic pins in gold and silver with a touch of enamel—all are in high favor for the coming season and give smartness and character to the most demure felt hat.

SCHOOL BUILDINGS ARE NOW EQUIPPED WITH GAS

The board of education has had gas piped into the school buildings and as a result the rooms are rendered much more comfortable and it will be possible to maintain a much more even temperature than with the coal stoves.

The change was made at a heavy cost, but it was the desire of the board to eliminate every possible cause for colds and add to the comfort of the student body, and we are sure that the change will prove very satisfactory.

How to Play BRIDGE Series 1927-28 by Wynne Ferguson

ARTICLE No. 35

One of the best ways to learn how to play a good game of auction is to study the mistakes made by others. In this way similar mistakes can be avoided and your own game improved to that extent.

Example Hand No. 1 Hearts - K, Q, J, 8, 7, 5 Clubs - 10, 9, 8, 7, 6 Diamonds - A, K, 5 Spades - A, 7

In the actual game however, Y got panicky when A redoubled and bid four hearts. A doubled and Y failed to make his contract by one trick. If he had passed the redouble, he would have defeated the four club bid by two tricks or four hundred points, so Y's mistake in judgment is in this instance cost him five hundred points.

Example Hand No. 3 Hearts - J, 7 Clubs - A, J, 6, 3 Diamonds - Q, 8, 7, 4 Spades - A, J, 8

No score, first game. Z dealt and bid one heart. If A bid one no-trump, what should Y do? Should he pass, double one no-trump or bid two no-trump? One of the best ways to decide Y's proper bid is by deciding what Y should do if A had passed Z's one heart bid.

Example Hand No. 2 Hearts - K, Q, 10, 7, 6, 3 Clubs - A, 10, 9, 8, 7, 6 Diamonds - A, K, Q, 9 Spades - 8, 5

No score, rubber game. Z dealt and passed. A bid one spade, Y bid two hearts, B bid two spades, Z passed, A also passed. Y bid three hearts, and B passed. Z passed and A bid three spades. What should Y now do? Should he pass or bid four hearts? Y should pass. He has bid all that his hand is possibly worth. If he does bid four hearts he is pretty sure to be doubled and lose a big penalty.

Example Hand No. 4 Hearts - A, J, 9, 7, 6 Clubs - 8, 7 Diamonds - A, 10, 9, 7, 3 Spades - 9

No score, rubber game. Z dealt and passed. A bid one club, Y bid three hearts, B and Z passed and A doubled. Y passed, B bid four clubs, Z and A passed and Y doubled. If B and Z passed and A redoubled, what should Y now do? Should he pass the redouble or bid four hearts? Y should pass.

Answer to Problem No. 36 Hearts - A, J, 9, 7, 6 Clubs - 8, 7 Diamonds - A, 10, 9, 7, 3 Spades - 9

Hearts - K, 10, 3 Clubs - 9, 2 Diamonds - K, J, 8, 2 Spades - 7, 5, 3, 2

Hearts - 2 Clubs - A, K, Q, J, 10, 5, 3 Diamonds - 4 Spades - A, K, 8, 4

Clubs are trump and Z is playing the hand. If A leads the nine of clubs, how can Z play the hand so that he will win all of the tricks against any defense? Z should win the trick and lead the four of diamonds, winning the trick in Y's hand with the ace. He should then lead a small diamond and trump in his own hand with a small trump. He should then lead the king of spades and follow with the four of spades, trumping in Y's hand with the eight of clubs. He should then lead a small diamond from Y's hand and trump in his own hand. He should then lead the nine of clubs, Z now leads the deuce of hearts and Y wins the next two tricks. In this problem both A and B are forced to discard hearts. B at the tenth trick, and A at the eleventh trick. This forcing of discards from the hands of both opponents is the so-called double squeeze.

Hearts - A, J Clubs - none Diamonds - 10 Spades - none

Hearts - K, 10 Clubs - none Diamonds - K Spades - none

Hearts - 2 Clubs - none Diamonds - none Spades - A, 8

At the eleventh trick Z should lead the ace of spades and A is forced to discard. He cannot discard the king of diamonds or Y's ten of diamonds will be good. Therefore A must discard the ten of hearts. Y then discards the ten of diamonds and B follows suit. Z now leads

Once to every man and nation, comes the moment to decide, In the Strife of Truth with Falsehood, for the Good or Evil Side. -LOWELL.

If you haven't a new tax for your car you will likely find it profitable to walk hereafter.

Senator Earle B. Mayfield and the Hon. Pat M. Neff, both prominent in Texas political circles, are at odds in Washington. At this distance it looks as if the retiring Senator is trying to avenge Mr. Neff for his failure to support him in the recent campaign in which he lost to the Hon. Tom Connally. Neff and Connally were born and reared in the same community in central Texas and have been close personal and political friends for years. Anyway, Mr. Mayfield's opposition to Mr. Neff is not likely to have the desired effect, as Mr. Neff attributes his appointment to one Herbert Hoover, who is now more in the public favor than he was at the time he suggested the name Pat Neff for the post he holds.

Gov. Moody has offered some real constructive suggestions to the Legislature now in session down at Austin. Among them is the suggestion that the number of offices be reduced. Revolutionary as are these suggestions, everyone will concede that such a move would decrease costs and increase efficiency in governmental affairs. We have so many boards and commissions down at Austin now that they are continually scrapping over the conflicts that arise as to who is really in authority. An instance of this condition is cited in the continual quarrel that has gone on between the Board of Control and the Highway Commission during the past year. A decrease in the number of offices and a decrease in the salaries of officials might bring more efficiency into the affairs of state.

During Hoover's recent trip about South America, he had to refrain studiously from referring to the people of the United States as "Americans." The correspondents with him were enjoined to make no use of the term even in their communications home. It seems that the Brazilians, the Argentinians and the Columbians, who feel they have as much right to the word "American" as we have, strongly resent our using it to designate this country alone.

The term "American" has no exact significance. So many nations are in North and South America in referring to our countrymen, foreign papers must of necessity use the long term: "Americans of the United States."

The word United States is awkward. During the past few weeks a large number of noted criminals have been run down and placed behind bars. In reading accounts of these cases it seems that practically all of these men have been under arrest and in jails all over the country and have either escaped from jails or have jumped their bonds. We asked an official recently if these bonds were ever paid over to the state, and he replied that very rarely did the state ever realize a penny from a forfeited bond. Naturally there will be no material fear of the loss on the part of the criminal element so long as this state of affairs exists. A bond that is not good is the same as no bond at all and released criminals under such flimsy pretense, are merely turning their loose to perpetrate more crimes.

Editor E. L. Cross recently made a in many of its forms. No one can be a "United Stateser!" We can talk of "United States territory" or "United States history" but think of talking "United States literature" or the "United States language."

Noah Webster declared that a deeper national feeling would be engendered by the adoption of a felicitous name all our own. But after all usage is everything. Usage will keep the name "America" in our minds and on our tongues for centuries. The word is imbedded in our history and literature. It will be well to recognize, however, that the outside world is likely to grow intolerant of our claims upon a word that designates not merely one nation, but two large continents.

HONESTY

Governor Sampson of Kentucky is starting a very worthy movement indeed. He believes too many people are "indifferent honest" and thinks there should be more "affirmative honesty" - especially in business transactions. He wants a nationwide survey to stimulate fair-dealing. "Integrity is not vanishing," he says, "and all of us ought to be emphatic in saying so. This undertaking is not for the purpose of gathering statistics about acts of honesty. It is a survey of thought concerning honesty."

"The purpose is to increase our realization of the truth that although we all approve the principle of right conduct none of us is an affirmative as we might well be in our aid of increasing the general belief that honesty and good purpose are the prevailing motives of most people."

A great phrase: "Affirmative honesty." It is a quality well worth cultivating, and Governor Sampson is to be congratulated on bringing it so forcibly before the public.

About Your Health

FEDING THE AGED

Old age is in reality a second childhood. The infant needs certain food-elements to sustain and produce than is needed. But the aged need only sustenance, and cannot comfortably bear more food than that necessary to sustain life. Perhaps it is instinct that leads the old man to insist on the plainest, most nourishing, unstimulating diet.

If grandpa insists on his corn-bread and milk, don't deny him; if he just must have roast potato, you need not call him a back number because he abhors scalloped potatoes. If you cajole him into eating some new-fangled dish with a little of everything in it, yet no real fuel for the waning fire, you may give him an alarming fit of indigestion away into the night. If he refuses shrimp salad, try him on graham mush!

The oldest machine of today, was probably built out of the best material at the outset. It has lasted this long by being properly housed, no overloads having been heaped upon it, and, having had the proper fuel for its engine. If you desire your (human) machine to last a long time, do nothing to hinder its normal action. It is easy to induce appetites, but not so easy to rid ourselves of the effects of overindulgence.

By giving your aged ancestor the food he likes, you are adding to his comfort and longevity, besides gathering blessings on yourself that are mighty nice to have; then, frak dieting is harmful at any age.

FINAL INSTALLMENT

"You can go back to her, Duane! It never seemed possible, but now it's true. Fight with us from cover—then go back to her. You will have served the Texas Rangers as no other man has. You'll be free, honored, happy—and rich. Jennie's rich, Duane. And she loves you! My God! how that girl loves you! She's—"

But Duane cut him short with a fierce gesture. He lunged up to his feet and the rangers fell back. Dark silent, grim as he had never been, still there was a transformation singularly more sinister, stranger.

"Enough. I'm done," he said solemnly. "I've planned. Do we agree—or shall I meet Poggin and his gang alone?"

MacNelly cursed and again threw up his hands, this time in baffled chagrin. There was deep regret in his dark eyes as they rested upon Duane.

"I accept, Duane," he rejoined quietly. "I'll go about the arrangements at once."

Duane was left alone. Never had his mind been so quick, so clear, so wonderful in its understanding of what had heretofore been intricate and elusive impulses of his strange nature. His determination was to meet Poggin. Meet him before any one else had a chance—Poggin first—and then the others! He was as unalterable in that decision as if, on the instant of its acceptance, he had become stone.

At a few minutes before half-past two a dark compact body of horsemen appeared far down, turning into the road. They came at a sharp trot—a group that would have attracted attention anywhere at any time.

They came a little faster as they entered town—then faster still—now they were four blocks away—now three—now two. Duane backed down the middle of the vestibule, up the steps, and halted in the center of the wide doorway.

There seemed to be a rushing in his ears through which pierced sharp ringing clip-clip of iron hoofs. He could see only the corner of the street. But suddenly into that shot lean-limbed dusty bay horses. There was a clattering of nervous hoofs pulled to a halt.

Duane saw the tawny Poggin speak to his companions. He dismounted quickly. They followed suit. They had the manner of ranchers about to conduct some business. No guns showed.

Poggin started leisurely for the bank-door, quickening step a little. The others, close together, came behind him. Blossom Kane had a bag in his left hand. Jim Fletcher was left behind, and he had already gathered up the bridles.

Poggin entered the vestibules first, with Kane on one side, Boldt on the other, a little behind him.

As he strode in he saw Duane. "Great Scott!" he cried.

Something inside Duane burst piercing all of him with cold. Was it that fear?

"Buck Duane!" echoed Kane.

One instant Poggin looked up, and Duane looked down.

Like a striking jaguar Poggin moved. Almost as quick, Duane threw his arm.

The guns boomed almost together. Duane felt a blow just before he pulled trigger. His thoughts came swift like the strange dots before his eyes.

His rising gun had loosened in his hand. Poggin had drawn quicker! A tearing agony encompassed his breast. He pulled—pulled—at random.

Thunder of booming shots all about him! Red flashes—jets of smoke—shrills yell.

The end—yes—the end! With fading sight he saw Kane go down, then Boldt. But supreme torture—bitterer than death—Poggin stood, mane like a lion's, back to the wall, bloody-faced, grand, with his guns spouting red!

All faded—darkened. The thunder died. Duane fell, seemed floating.

Then it drifted—Jennie Lee's sweet face, white, sad, with dark tragic eyes—fading—fading—fading—

Light shone before Duane's eyes—thick, strange light that came and went. It seemed a long time with dull and booming sounds rushing by, filling all. It was a dream in which there was nothing. Drifting under a burden—darkness—light—sound—movement. Obscure struggling that—vague sense of time—long time.

There was blackness and fire, creeping consuming fire. He was rolled and wrapped in it—and a dark cloud carried him away, enveloped him.

He saw then, dimly, a room that was strange, strange people moving about over him, with faint voices, far away, things in a dream.

He saw again, clearly, and consciousness returned, still strange, still unreal, full of those vague and far-away things. He was not dead, then. He lay stiff, like a stone, with a weight ponderous as a mountain upon him. And slow dull beating burning agony racked all his bound body.

A man bent over him, looked deep into his eyes, and seemed to whisper from a distance. "Duane—Duane—Ah, he knew me!"

After that another long time of darkness; when the light came again, clearer, this same dark-eyed earnest man bent over him. It was MacNelly—and with recognition the past flooded back.

Duane tried to speak. His lips were weak and limp. Their movement barely perceptible.

"Have—you—sent—for her?"

"No, oh no. It's not that bad. You've a chance. Why, man, you'll get well. You'll pack a sight of lead all your life, Duane. The whole Southwest knows your story. You need never be ashamed again of the name Buck Duane. It'll live in Texas with that of Davy Crockett. Think of Jennie—home—mother!"

Then there was a white house—home—and his heart beat thick.

How familiar it all seemed—how strange, too! And all seemed magnificent.

The someone in white cried low and knelt by his bed.

His mother flung wide her arms with strange gesture.

"That man—that's his father! Where is my boy? My son, oh, my son!"

It was sheer pleasure to lie by the west window and watch Uncle Jim whittle his stick and listen to him talk. He was old now and broken.

He told so many interesting things about the people Duane had known people who had grown up and married, failed, succeeded, gone away, died. But it was hard to keep Uncle Jim off the subjects of guns, fights, outlaws. He could not seem to divine how mention of these things made Duane shrink.

Uncle Jim, old, childish now, and he had a pride in Duane. He wanted to hear it all—all of Duane's exile. And if there was one thing more than another that pleased him it was to speak of the bullets Duane carried in his body.

Fame of Sargon Spreads Over Entire Nation

Never before, perhaps, in all history has the demand for a proprietary medicine ever approached the wonderful record that is now being made by Sargon, the new scientific formula which has been accomplishing such remarkable results throughout this section. Its fame is rapidly spreading over the entire country and wherever introduced, Sargon is the most talked of medicine in the country today. Nothing like it has ever been seen before.

Sargon was first placed on the market just a little over six months ago. Its success was immediate and people everywhere were quick to recognize in it a new and epoch-making product—a medicine of great power and extraordinary merit. In leading cities where it has been placed on sale it has required from 70,000 to 100,000 bottles to supply the unprecedented demand, establishing a record probably never before equaled in the history of the drug trade.

Countless thousands of men and women, in all walks of life, suffering from indigestion, constipation, nervousness, etc., are now enjoying the benefits of Sargon.

Landlords Go In Dairy Partnership With Negro Tenants

By M. B. Oates

One of our most interesting and inspiring visits on the dairy tour last summer was at Starkville in north central Mississippi. The visit was made because we found that the landlords had gone in partnership in the dairy business with their negro tenants and both were making money from the new venture. Also the bankers had taken the initiative in loaning landlords and business men were decidedly enthusiastic over dairying in this old cotton county.

The visit was interesting because Starkville is the home of the Mississippi A. and M. and the dairy specialists of the Extension Service. Mr. L. A. Higgins, was eager to spend as much time with us as possible and make our visit pleasant as well as profitable. He knew about dairy development in this county as well as that throughout the state, and gave us all the information we wanted.

We arrived at Starkville late Saturday afternoon and spent Sunday here. Sunday afternoon we took a little drive out in the country and then visited the A. and M. College. While at the College we visited the College herd and found a good herd of cows and some very fine herd sires. That night we had another conference, this time with Mr. Higgins and the County Agent. The next morning the Director of the Experiment Station took us over the Experiment Station farm. So our visit to Starkville was very interesting.

On our arrival at Starkville, Mr. Higgins told us he had arranged for a conference with the bankers and business men that night. We learned that the County in which Starkville is located (Oktibbeha County) has 3,000 farms. Seventy percent of the farmers are negroes. The County had been a strong cotton county in all time past and all business in Starkville was credit business. But in 1912 the boll weevil hit this county and the farmers and the merchants were both ruined. One banker describing the devastation caused by the boll weevil said, "The boll weevil just eat our shirt tails off". So here we were in an old cotton county, farmed almost exclusively by negro tenants who were forced to change their system of farming from cotton to cotton and cows. What the effect was is shown by the following facts:

The creamery started in 1912, opened for business with 19 patrons. This number has grown to 436 and the creamery is now paying out $40,000 per month. After the creamery had operated for a number of years the milk producers decided they wanted a whole milk plant. The business men became interested in securing a whole milk plant and joined together in taking a cow census, checking every farm in the county. This job took three months but the effort convinced the Borden Company that Starkville wanted a condenser and would support it. In 1926 the Borden Condensery at Starkville was completed at a cost of $764,000. The plant now has 1150 patrons. The creamery and condensery at Starkville paid out together in 1927 the sum of $1,359,399. Here again we found that the creamery business had increased greatly after the condensery was established. Two years ago this county was shipping out 69 percent of its dairy products.

The landlords first became convinced that dairying would pay and the boll weevils started the negroes to milking. It is said that most of the dairymen in this county are negro tenants, however, in 1927 there were 568 negroes who operated dairies in their own name and received $160,000 for their products. The negroes are highly pleased with dairying because the milk plants pay off every thirty days. The business men say negroes milk cows because they want money. The negroes say they have thirteen Christmases a year now. These negroes are making money for themselves and their landlords and paying cash for their supplies for the first time in their lives. They are still raising cotton but they like cotton and cows better than cotton alone because they get cash every month. Indeed the tenants are so well pleased with dairying that they are moving off farms where the landlord refuses to furnish them with cows. This fact alone explodes the idea oft repeated here in Texas that a tenant will not milk and can't take care of cows. We who talked to these landlords were convinced that a landlord can well afford to furnish his tenants with cows.

We found that the landlord buys the cows and pays for half the purchased feed and the tenant does all the work, produces all the feed he can and gives the landlord half of the gross receipts. Many such tenants are negroes and they are making money for themselves and their landlords.

Wirt Carpenter, President, Security State Bank, operates several farms on this basis. In 1927 one of his tenants milked 20 cows from which he and the landlord each re-

Physical Education In Public Schools Fostered By American Legion

"So far during this session we have had introduced several Americanism bills of the American Legion. One of special interest to the public makes it imperative that the American Legion flag be flown from all public school buildings in Texas. Another provides for the incorporation of a course of study in the history and meaning of the State and Federal Constitutions in all tax supported schools of the State. Still another will require that all school teachers in the public schools of Texas be American citizens, either native born or naturalized. The reason for the above bills is to teach a deeper love of and respect for the principles of American government.

The public schools is the place to begin according to the views of our organization," says Ernest Cox, Assistant Dept. Adjutant of the American Legion, Department of Texas, who is also a member of the State Legislature. "We have also had introduced a Bill requiring physical education to be taught in the elementary and secondary schools of the State to give necessary instruction in this subject while the youth of the land is in the plastic age. Our organization became deeply interested in this very important subject as a result of statistics compiled during the registration for military service during the World War. Thirty-five per cent of all registrants for the draft were found to be physically unfit for active service, and we are interested in correcting such a condition among the young men of military age in this country.

"In our National Legislative Program the American Legion is very interested in the passage of the Cruiser Construction Bill. It is necessary to build these ships in order to maintain our National ratio in the present treaties. It is hoped that the American Legion Posts over the State will emphasize this to the U. S. Senator from Texas," said Assistant Adjutant Cox.

LEGION SPONSORS SAFETY FIRST CAMPAIGN

AUSTIN, Texas, Jan. 28.—Carrying out one of the mandates of the National Convention of the American Legion at San Antonio, the National Organization of the Legion is urging its 11,000 Posts to take part in a great National Safety Campaign, said Ross Cole, State Adjutant of the Legion in Texas today. Posts of the Legion in Texas will be asked to cooperate to the fullest extent with any local plan now in operation or to start a campaign of safety, especially for children where nothing is now being done. The loss of life, is reaching alarming proportions and our Posts could take part in no more worthy community betterment effort, said Mr. Cole.

THE FIRST LAW OF MOTORING—be sure of your OIL

IF motorists could only be thoroughly impressed with the paramount importance of proper lubrication, cars would last longer, depreciation would decrease and operating costs would tumble to a fraction of their present staggering figure. When you allow an unknown, unbranded, "mystery" oil to go into your crankcase you are violating the first law of economical and efficient motoring. By demanding the tried and tested brands marketed by the Continental Oil Company you are sure of your oil. Back of each of these brands stands the experience of almost 50 years—and a reputation which stands for nothing but the best. Ask for these brands at service stations and the better garages.

Speaking of Telephones

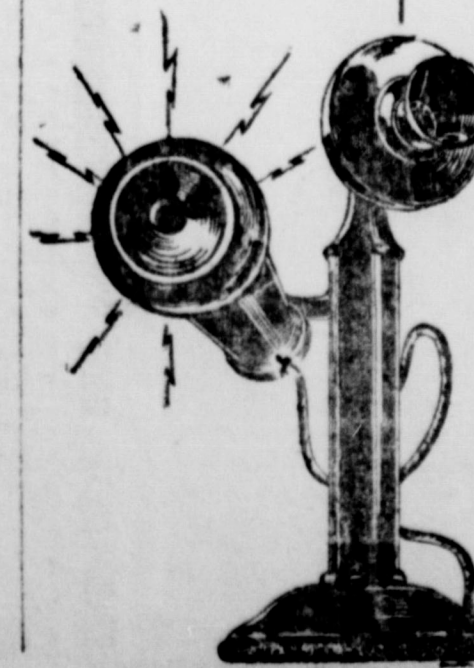

We can remember the first time we ever talked over a telephone. It was an uncanny experience. We were afraid of the thing and dodged when a faint crackling noise came over the line.

We don't understand the telephone any better now than we did then, but we recognize its usefulness.

Take the telephones out of Munday today and business would come to a practical standstill. Social activities would be paralyzed. We would feel helpless and isolated.

Has it ever occurred to you that we are all inclined to take the telephone too much for granted? The only time we ever think of the service end of the telephone is when central inadvertently gives us the wrong number. Then we holler and complain.

We get good telephone service in Munday. We should remember that fact every time we get the RIGHT number, and not wait to complain about the occasional mistakes.

EXTRA CONGRESS, EXTRA TROUBLE. PROSPERITY'S BACK LOG. MR. LUCEY HALF RIGHT. WISE KING AMANULLAH.

There is to be an extra session of Congress, so well informed Washington reports, and the farmer will wait for "relief" until the new Congress gathers.

Mr. Hoover probably wishes that milestones were passed.

The farm question is this: How can you make those engaged in a thoroughly disorganized husbandry as prosperous as those in industries thoroughly organized on a scientific production and selling basis?

Changes in the tariff are predicted. "Big financial and industrial interests feel that tariff changes are needed." If they feel that way, the changes will be made, and probably should be made. Big business has its faults, but it knows what the country needs, realizing that the big man can get only his part of what the little man can eat.

All of our prosperity comes down to the fact that people EARNING more can SPEND more. Mr. Ecker of the Metropolitan Life Company puts it in words: "The people earn fifteen to twenty billions more than it costs them to live. Those extra billions are prosperity's back log."

Mr. Lucey, the old Northampton cobbler who knew President Coolidge when a boy, is supposed to have given little Calvin this advice, "Keep your shoes laced tight, and never let your tongue wag."

President Coolidge took that good advice about the tongue. There is no information as to the advice concerning shoes.

It is harmful to lace children's shoes too tight. Lacing tightly around the ankles, causing the blood vessels, impeding the flow of blood, gives the heart more work to do. Cobbler Lucey was only half right.

King Amanullah of Afghanistan, discovered suddenly and suddenly what American prohibition enthusiasts are discovering slowly, that it isn't easy to change men's habits by proclamation or law.

Amanullah came back from his visit to England wearing Euro-can clothes, his wife fashionably dressed, short skirts, silk stockings, nothing to cover up her face.

He announced that women in Afghanistan were also to go with their faces uncovered, no more "seclusion."

Tribes rose against him, armed, drove him into a fortress.

King Amanullah changed his mind. Afghan girls sent to be educated in the modern way in Turkey are to come home. European dress is to be abolished. Soldiers of Afghanistan are to be allowed to follow and bow down to their religious leaders, the holy men, or Pirs, and women will be kept in seclusion.

All the suggested reforms will be thrown overboard. Wise Amanullah, he wanted peace.

The Chinese, poor creatures, butchered, starved, forced into revolutions of which they do not know the meaning, know at least one thing, and that is that it is important to have good roads.

Mr. G. Walter Reed, of the Santa Fe Railroad, quotes an engineer just back from China: "Food from South China cannot reach those starving in Northern China because of fittees that had impassable miles."

Miss Rebecca West, British novelist, recently said she thought American girls' legs the most perfect in the world. The legs above belong to the following actresses: Maurine Holmes, American; Mrs. M. M. M. French; Mai Orton, British; Hazel Forbes and Hazel Jennings, American.

GUSTAV STRESEMANN'S MESSAGE TO AMERICA

Praises Peace Pact

New York, January 31, 1929. — Gustav Stresemann, Foreign Minister of Germany, in a special message to America to be printed in the "New Germany" number of the Survey Graphic of February, asserts that the general acceptance of the Kellogg Treaty will help materially to modify the hardships under which the German Reich is laboring.

"The German Republic," writes Herr Stresemann, "asks nothing more or better than to be upon terms of complete and understanding friendship with its neighbors as well as with all the other civilized states of the world and to play, to the limit of its ability, its part in the great tasks which confront Humanity."

"We Germans understand only too well that things of the past, connected with the complicated historical heritage of this Europe of which it is our fate and our privilege to be the geographical core, have left accumulated problems and misunderstandings which only time and patience and the wisdom of well-meaning leadership can assuage."

"Meanwhile our chief preoccupation is to rebuild our own house and to make it a fit dwelling and working place for the German spirit. . . . We are confident that the spirit which increasingly prevails among the nations, with the modifying effect of time, and the normal operation of such measures for international understanding and cooperation as the League of Nations, the Locarno Agreements, and, in addition to these, the general acceptance of the proposal for the renunciation of war, submitted to the nations by Secretary Kellogg and growing out of his interchanges with M. Briand, will help to remove or to materially modify injustices an obstacles."

"We rejoice in the many indications that the nations of the world are thinking less about the past and more about the future, and desire to find better ways of intercourse than those which have so long prevailed. These indications greatly encourage us as we bend to our mighty tasks, and help us to feel, as we desire to be, not only welcome but indispensable as participants in the work of building a new world of peace and brotherhood of all Humanity."

Gustav Stresemann, the famous Foreign Minister of Germany, who has expressed the opinion that the general acceptance of the Kellogg Treaty will help to modify the hardships under which the German Reich is laboring.

Permanent peace is the ideal that has inspired nations and men for centuries. The man now in the van of all agitation for the complete cessation of settlement of disputes by warfare is Frank Billings Kellogg, the author of the Kellogg Pact, his activities are bringing us all nearer to the time when arbitration and not force will rule the world.

Frank B. Kellogg was born in a small town, Potsdam, N. Y., in 1856. He had a common school education. He was admitted to the bar in 1877. He was city attorney of Rochester, Minn., for three years and county attorney of Olmstead County for five years.

He moved to St. Paul, where he became a member of a law firm, and soon he was handling very important cases for the U. S. Government. From 1917 to 1923 he was a U. S. Senator from Minnesota. He held the post of Ambassador Extraordinary and Plenipotentiary to Great Britain in 1924.
