Roxy Theatre Is Opened To Public

Talks and Program Presented To Large Audience Despite Threatening Rain.

A crowd that practically filled the house was present on Thursday evening at the formal opening of the Roxy Theatre despite the fact that clouds were threatening and many were therefore reluctant to brave the weather.

Beginning at 7:30 the Munday Chamber of Commerce Band gave a concert in front of the new theatre as the crowd was gathering, and when the house was filled the curtain was raised.

Prior to the presentation picture program a brief program was carried by the Rev. E. B. Freeman, pastor of the First Methodist church offering prayer dedicating the new edifice to the entertainment and pleasure of the people of the community, and after made a brief talk in which he commended Mr. Williams for the high class of pictures that had been presented at the theatre during the time he had been a resident of Munday, and called attention to the fact that these high-type productions offered far more wholesome entertainment than the usual fly-by-night show that visit the various towns and take away all the money they can and leave nothing, and urged that the citizenship of Munday and the Munday country express their appreciation of the new theatre by giving Mr. Williams their hearty cooperation in bringing clean entertainment to Munday and giving him their patronage of high-class pictures.

J. A. Kennedy made a brief talk in which he stated that he spoke the sentiment of the people of Munday when he stated that Munday was proud of the Roxy, and was not only proud of the Roxy but was proud to claim its builders, Posy and Roxy Williams as its citizens, and praised Mr. Williams for the beautiful sentiment expressed in naming the theatre in honor of his wife.

Mayor C. E. Hayes then made a brief talk in which he recalled that when he came to Munday some twenty odd years ago that a gin plant stood upon the spot now occupied by the Roxy, and a field of cotton grew where the city hall now stands, while across the road, or what is now the principal business street, was a wheat field, and which is today lined with modern brick business houses. He pointed out that Mr. Williams' business had grown with Munday and predicted that it would continue to grow with the progress of this city.

Dr. Joe Davis also made a few remarks, and like Mayor Hayes recalled that when he arrived in Munday some thirteen years ago, that things were quite different from what they are today, and especially was this true with reference to the theatre, which then consisted of a projecting machine in an old store building, with a bed sheet for a screen and ordinary benches for seats.

Mr. Williams came forward at the close of the talks made and expressed his sincere thanks for the many complimentary remarks that had been directed toward him and expressed the desire that he might continue to prove himself worthy of the good things that had been said about him and his business.

Little Mickie Jess Macon gave a very pretty little presentation with a song and dance, with Mrs. Macon at the piano, and her contribution to the program was very pleasing to the audience, as was evidenced by the applause.

Later in the program Mrs. Joe Davis sang a solo, which contributed to no small degree to the program, for, with her beautiful voice, she never fails to captivate any audience favored with a rendition by her.

Mrs. Will Parris and R. P. Adkins were united in marriage at Anson on August 17th, and left immediately after the ceremony for a trip to El Paso and other points. Mrs. Parris was a resident of Munday for many years, and is well known here while Mr. Adkins is in the wholesale produce business at Seymour, and is well known throughout this section.

Mrs. Arthur Clark of Dallas, who has been visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. L. West, returned home Saturday and were accompanied by her sister, Miss Linnie West, who will visit in Dallas and Weatherford.

Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Pendergrass and daughter, Miss Stella, of Meadows, Texas, visited relatives at Munday and Goree last week.

Mrs. Louise Ingram Resigns As Teacher of Music in M. H. S.

Announcement has been made of the resignation of Mrs. Louise Ingram as teacher of music in the Munday Public Schools. The action was taken by Mrs. Ingram on account of her health, and it is with much reluctance that she relinquishes her connection with the schools.

The vacancy caused by the resignation of Mrs. Ingram has been filled by the election by the school board of Miss Jessamyn Thornton of Mabank, Texas, who is a graduate, both in music and literary courses, of the Baylor University, and it may be pleasing to those interested to know that she will teach the same method that has been taught by Mrs. Ingram.

W. T. Utilities Co. Is Electrifying the Wilbarger Oil Field

Electrification of the New Consolidated Pool in Wilbarger county, Texas, is well under way and indications are that this big oil field will shortly join the ranks of the many fields in West Texas which are electrified almost exclusively.

Work of tapping the 66,000-volt high line running from Vernon to Holliday, carrying the power into the Wilbarger Field over a 12,000-volt aluminum transmission line, has already begun.

The West Texas Utilities Company also is constructing a 1,000 kva 66-12 kv lattice steel substation at the east side of the H. & T. C. railroad's property.

The new high lines and substation will be capable of furnishing an unlimited supply of power to this field. It is believed that within a short time the New Consolidated Pool in Wilbarger will rank electrically along with the Noodle Creek field, where nearly 30 wells, either drilling or pumping, all but three are using electric power.

The service is being extended at once to the Simms Oil Company's leases and others for electric pumping and drilling. There are now approximately 30 drilling wells using steam rotary rigs in this field.

Rev. P. D. O'Brien Accepts Pastorate at Floydada, Texas

"They folded their tents like an Arab, and silently stole away."

Possibly because it was the easiest manner in which they could tear themselves away from their good friends in Munday, they were gone before many of their friends knew that they were even contemplating making the change, having packed their household goods last week and moved to their new home at Floydada. Yes, the O'Briens have gone from Munday.

For some time friends and members of the congregation have known that the Rev. O'Brien was struggling between his desire and what he felt in his heart to be his duty, and the decision came to him through prayer, and his action followed immediately.

Some weeks ago a call came from the Floydada church. Friends who had known him in years gone by wanted him as pastor there. They offered him the place at an increase in salary and a greater field for usefulness. The building program was pending here, and Brother O'Brien expressed the opinion that others were more particularly fitted for the work than he, and it was this feeling that caused him to come to the conclusion to accept the Floydada church.

During the three years that he has been pastor of the Baptist church in this city he made a large host of friends among all classes. Not only has he proven himself to be a most able shepherd of his flock, but he has proven himself to be a most able citizen in every respect. He was active in the organization here of the Munday Golf Club, the Boy Scouts, the Lions Club and in every movement for the betterment of the town in any manner, he has interested himself and thrown his energies into making them a success, and we speak the sentiment of every citizen of Munday when we say that we shall greatly miss him, and the same applies to his excellent family, and our best wishes go with them in their new home.

Mr. and Mrs. John Ed Jones returned first of the week from a two week's outing trip in Colorado and New Mexico. They visited Pike's Peak, Carlsbad Cavern and other points of interest and report a most enjoyable trip.

Mr. and Mrs. H. V. West and children, who have been visiting in the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. I. L. West, left Sunday for the plains, where they will visit relatives and friends before returning to their home at Altus, Oklahoma.

Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Parramore and children have returned from a two-week's visit with relatives and friends at Winters, San Angelo and Roby. While at San Angelo they, in company with Mr. Parramore's sisters and families, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Pritchett of Dallas, Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Floyd of Vernon, spent a few days fishing on the Concho. They report catching a large quantity of fish and had several quail to eat. Their best catch of fish was a yellow cat weighing eight pounds and a channel cat weighing our pounds.

Miss Annie Munday has returned from Corsicana, Texas, where she attended a state meeting of the secretaries of Rebekah lodges. Miss Munday states that it was a great meeting and the secretaries were highly elated over the excellency of the orphan's home and the excellent manner in which the home is managed.

Election Passes Off Quietly Here

Thos. E. Glover is Re-Elected County Clerk; Lee Haymes Wins In Weighers Contest.

Saturday's run-off election passed off very quietly in Munday, and there seemed to be very little interest shown in any of the contests, but despite the seeming lack of interest there were more than 500 votes polled.

STELLAR PLAYERS SEEN IN CAST OF OZARK DRAMA

There is a call for "new faces in the films," and also a demand for the familiar faces.

It happens that those who see First National's big film production of the Harold Bell Wright novel, "The Shepherd of the Hills," coming to the Roxy Theatre Monday and Tuesday, September 3 and 4, will have their wish, whether it is for the old or the new. Purely by chance, half of the large cast are newcomers and the other half veterans.

Charles R. Rogers, who produced the film for First National Pictures, and Albert Rogell, who directed it, made their cast selections with just two things in mind—fitness to type of the story characters and acting ability. But in doing so they secured the following groups of players:

Veterans: Alec B. Francis, in the title role; Matthew Betz, the villain; Ronnie Fielding, Otis Harlan and Joseph Bennett, all in important roles.

"The Shepherd of the Hills" was produced on an elaborate scale, with realistic, pictorially beautiful backgrounds, warmly human characters and a powerful dramatic plot.

COTTON BAGGING FOR COTTON BALES

Now let us face the question, "is it to the advantage of the American farmer to have his cotton bales wrapped with cotton instead of jute?" It means that he must pay more for his bagging in order to boost the price of his low-grade cotton. But the evidence proves that he can afford to do it. It is estimated that something like 200,000 to 300,000 bales of low-grade cotton would be required to cover the American cotton crop with a light-weight cotton bagging, and that if we could increase consumption to this extent, it would increase the price of low-grade cotton about 1-2 cent a pound or $2.00 a bale. We do not have figures showing the comparative cost of cotton and jute bagging, but certainly $1.00 should pay the added cost of cotton bagging.

If cotton containers were used for every purpose for which jute is now used, it is estimated that a market would be furnished for 2,000,000 additional bales of low-grade American cotton. The fertilizer trade alone would use 170,000 bales.

The first step in the substitution of cotton for jute as a cotton covering is an increase in the tariff on the imported jute.

The Progressive Farmer does not believe in a tariff that stifles competition. But we do feel that inasmuch as the cotton farmer is paying his share of the higher costs due to this tariff, he is entitled to some of its benefits so long as it is in effect. Congressman Blanton of Texas recently introduced a bill in the house of Representatives that places an embargo on jute and its products. This is a rather strong arm method, and the general preference will probably be for the plan of Senator Ransdell of Louisiana, which contemplates an increase in the duty of these jute products which will offset their lower cost of production.—The Progressive Farmer.

SIXTEEN YEARS OF SERIAL MAKING

Spencer Bennett, the Patheserial director, has been connected with the production of thrilling chapter plays continuously for more than sixteen years, with the single exception of when he was in France with the army. He has never been connected with any other form of motion picture entertainment and is possibly the best posted man concerning serials in the world. His latest efforts behind the megaphone was on "The Yellow Cameo," a Patheserial starring Allene Ray and featuring the new Pathe dog star, Cyclone, opening next Friday at the Roxy Theater. Bennett makes several interesting comparisons between his latest Patheserial and the first with which he was connected. The changes are phenomenal and there has been no other form of screen entertainment showing greater or steadier improvement from the first.

"In the earlier days of Patheserials," stated Bennett, "we bothered very little about stories and our only concerns were speedy action, thrilling stunts and melodramatic climaxes. We were not particularly interested in production, players or photography, but it was not long until the definite value of serials became known and this brought into existence established serial stars.

"Within two years, the story situation improved mightily but it has not been until four or five years ago that distinct effort was made to have all parts portrayed by the best melodramatic actors obtainable and to use only thoroughly adequate sets and locations for the production. Naturally, with good actors playing all the parts and an expensive production, it became necessary to devote considerable more attention to photography than in the old days.

"In the first dozen or so serials in which I worked, we had only one cameraman. He had no assistant and made no effort to do much other than get something on his film. To day, it is different. The Patheserial production unit which filmed "The Yellow Cameo" included seven expert photographers, who in turn were assisted by a crew of eight men, all highly efficient in the matter of illuminating a subject with reflectors, shades, etc. on the exteriors or with electricity within the studio. There is as much attention given to photography in the present day Patheserial as in the finest super-feature."

The company appearing in "The Yellow Cameo," as directed by Bennett, included besides Allene Ray and the dog, Cyclone, Edward Hearne, Noble Johnson, Tom London, Harry Semels, Richard Bartlett, Frederick Dana and Walter Shumway.

Millions of Families Depend on Dr. Caldwell's Prescription

When Dr. Caldwell started to practice medicine, back in 1875, the needs for a laxative were not as great as they are today. People lived normal, quiet lives, ate plain, wholesome food, and got plenty of fresh air and sunshine. But even that early there were drastic physical and purges for the relief of constipation which Dr. Caldwell did not believe were good for human beings to put into their system. So he wrote a prescription for a laxative to be used by his patients.

J. B. Caldwell, M.D.
AT AGE 83

The prescription for constipation that he used early in his practice, and which he put in drug stores in 1892 under the name of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, is a liquid vegetable remedy, intended for women, children and elderly people, and they need just such a mild, safe, gentle bowel stimulant as Syrup Pepsin.

Under successful management this prescription has proven its worth and is now the largest selling liquid laxative in the world. The fact that millions of bottles are used a year proves that it has won the confidence of people who needed it to get relief from headaches, biliousness, flatulence, indigestion, loss of appetite and sleep, bad breath, dyspepsia, colic and fevers.

It is particularly pleasing to know that the most of it is bought by mothers for themselves and their children, though Syrup Pepsin is also as valuable for elderly people. All drug stores have the genuine bottles.

Millions of families are now never without Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, and if you will once start using it you will also always have a bottle handy for emergencies.

We would be glad to have you prove at our expense how much Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin can mean to you and yours. Just write "Syrup Pepsin," Monticello, Illinois, and we will send you prepaid a FREE SAMPLE BOTTLE.

Baseball is the greatest American game, and some of its stars are Schulte, Schang, Gehrig, Koenig, Messel, Lazzari, Pippas, Blasholder, Heimach, Shantz, Uhle, Grabowski, Schiebler, Holshauer, Congran, Oratt, Cosselkie, Dugan and Bengt.

And speaking about baseball, we're glad to see the Spiders going after the pennant, and hope that they succeed in taking the big end of the game from Houston in the finals. Skipper Galloway knows his baseball, and has been in the game for good many years. We can remember when he played on the Aquilla team down in Hill county, and he organized a team down there in the bush that beat everything in those parts. We're for the Spiders and we're for Jim Galloway.

Possibly the happiest man in Munday over the results of the election Saturday was C. R. Elliott, who was reared on an adjoining farm with Tom Connally in McLennan county. While Mr. Elliott took an active hand in the election, having political troubles of his own, he was nevertheless one of the last to turn in Saturday night, and derived much satisfaction over the fact that his boyhood friend had won such a victory.

And personally, we'll admit that we derived much satisfaction over the results. We were for Connally for no particular reason other than the fact that we knew him to be a good man. During all the campaign not one word was said against his character. Even Jim Ferguson could find nothing on that score upon which to base criticism—and that fact must have caused Jim much mental anguish.

COTTON LEAF WORM SIT- UATION NOT SERIOUS YET

College Station, Texas, Aug. 27.—That north and west Texas is free of the cotton leaf worm at present and that no extensive damage need be feared there before August 25th at the earliest, is the opinion of R. R. Reppert, Entomologist of the A. & M. College Extension Service, who has just completed an inspection trip through many West Texas counties. The inspection was made in numerous counties where leaf worm has been reported, but Mr. Reppert found in all cases that the worm reported was another species and he failed to find any individual cotton leaf worms or the moths that produce them. He believes that no widespread damage need be expected for three or four weeks. "The only authentic reports of the presence of this insect are from Nueces County and from Brazos Bottoms close to College Station, although it is probable that small numbers of worms may be found in many South Texas counties," he said. "On the other hand, cotton boll worms are serious in some sections," Mr. Reppert reports. "From past experience we cannot encourage the farmers to look for control of this insect by the application of poisons, and the damage inflicted will depend largely on natural factors over which farmers have no control."

INSECTS OR MAN— WHICH WILL CONQUER?

Somebody has said that the contest as to which shall control the world lies not between man and the lower animals, for lions, tigers, wolves, bears, serpents, etc., have had everywhere to give way to man. The contest rather lies between man and the much smaller units of creation. The real contest for supremacy on this planet lies between the human race on the one hand, and insects on the other.

The thought has often occurred to the writer on his own farm this summer as hornworms and budworms have sought to destroy the tobacco, bean beetles have made it impossible to have snaps any more without fighting for them, and boll weevils make all cotton production little less than a gamble.

A large of last week's paper, for example, was given out to a considerable extent we add those that affect health of plants for fighting these and other insects that injuriously affect, and sometimes entirely destroy, all the results of a farmer's toil throughout a growing season.

When to the insects that destroy flies, mosquitoes, etc.—we realize the seriousness of man's perpetual battle to keep control of the earth rather than surrender that control to insects.

Furthermore, it is a fact that the very triumph of man's genius in the form of a quicker means of transportation—steamships, railroads, airplanes, etc.—are used by our enemy as agencies for spreading their forces with ever increasing rapidity over the earth. Consider what has only half an ordinary lifetime. Thirty years ago the most ignorant negro could grow cotton; nobody outside of Mexico and a strip of West Texas had heard of a boll weevil. Until just a few years ago, the Mexican bean tapper in the last thirty years—beetle was unknown; now, as we said last week, "we must kill the beetle or die without beans." And all over America today the corn borer and all over the Cotton Belt the pink bollworm threaten to duplicate the boll weevil's own dramatic march from the Rio Grande to the Ranges.

For this has come when every farmer owes a duty to himself, his family, and his neighbors to learn to do his part in this world-wide contest between man and insects. If you do not know what to do and when to do it, please inform yourself.—The Progressive Farmer.

RENTS FOR THE HOME

By Nancy Hart

DID YOU KNOW that—no matter what the make—your car can have a windshield of glass that will not shatter? Good news to thousands of mothers who hesitate to take children on motor trips along crowded highways. The safety windshield has no wires in its construction, but is a triplex product made of three layers of glass welded together by heat, pressure and a chemical treatment that makes it indistinguishable from ordinary glass.

Under severe impact triplex glass will yield, but does not fly in fragments or present jagged edges that cut and tear. Which is to say—it is good accident insurance against more than half the injuries that occur to motorists, for insurance statistics tell us 45 per cent of all motor accidents are due to broken glass.

Eyesight and one's good looks are precious possessions. It pays to protect them in every reasonable way.

To Darken Light Tan Shoes

If you will rub your tan shoes with a cloth dipped in ammonia they will be a darker shade when dry. If necessary, repeat the treatment several times, allowing the lather to dry between applications.

To Prevent Sun Burn.

Into a fourth cup of water put ten drops of glycerine and apply to the skin with a soft cloth. Leave on five minutes then remove gently, and you will find this a good protection against sun burn.

To Remove Splinters.

To extract a splinter easily, fill a large-necked bottle nearly full with boiling water, place the injured part over the mouth of the bottle and press gently.

To Protect Plants

When plants become covered with insects, spray them with a syringe using a solution of soap.

Softens Limpy Sugar

When sugar becomes hard and lumpy, stand it in the refrigerator for a day and it will turn soft again.

A Good Wall Paper Cleaner

Mix a teaspoon of kerosene, two of vinegar, two of ammonia, one of salt, a half cup of warm water and one cup flour. Cook together, stirring constantly. Then knead as you would bread dough, until one pound of dough is made. Break into bits and rub moist paper with it as if it were an eraser.

DR. FRANK CRANE SAYS:

Impulses.

Miss Jackson, after eleven years' experience at San Quentin State Prison, declares that women criminals are the victims of uncontrolled impulse rather than of a physiological leaning toward crime. "There is no criminal type among women prisoners," she says. "Crime among women generally follows an uncontrolled impulse in which women leave the usual path of life and make a detour into crime without thought of the results that follow."

It appears from this that self control in all emergencies in the virtue most needed.

The writer was once a prison official and frequently visited the State Prisons of Illinois. He was surprised to find that the class of convicts that gave the least trouble was the murderers. The reason is that murderers are usually committed on a sudden impulse and a man need not be a hardened criminal to be guilty of this crime.

Of course there are some people who are simply lacking in moral sense. Their whole tone of morals is low and all they need to commit a crime is the opportunity.

But all of us are potential criminals when it comes to impulse, a sudden surging of passion or some overwhelming desire.

Parents should learn from this the most necessary lesson to teach children is self control. Children do not need so much to be taught obedience as to be taught how to obey their own better selves.

Any one who finds his passion too strong for him and who loses his sense of restraint when under the influence of them is in danger of committing any crime.

Self discipline may be very hard; to people of strong emotions it is sure to be hard.

But it is none the less essential. Most law suits would be avoided if people would control themselves and could learn to be good sports and take their losses without yielding to a desire for vengeance.

"VERY LATESTS"

By Cecile.

Those first delicious early fall days will be all the more enjoyable if one has a smart new coat to wear. Evidently some such thought was registered by Esther Ralston, a Paramount Star, when she posed for this picture which shows her new full coat of soft gray faille with softer squirrel fur.

Note that the lines are slightly flaring and the collar is not exaggerated in size. It is a very conservative little coat—a type that would serve well the average wardrobe.

For those who like extremes in style, late fashion notes indicate the use of huge fur collars. Indeed, sometimes they are so large that they almost hide the wearers' face. Again they stand well away from the face, forming a frame-like background for it that is most intriguing.

Hats of Silky Felt

For general street wear felt still holds unquestioned favor, but now it appears in unusual color combinations which may be in contrast or different shades of the same color. This two-color effect is often developed in two fabrics—a felt crown with brim of velvet, satin, or heavy faille silk, perhaps.

A Pointed Style Note

The arrow motif appears in interesting ways on new fall frocks. One finds a band trimming for the flat neckline ends in a decided arrow point at the center front of the blouse. A slender band ending in an arrow head may extend upward to form a closing at the back of the sleeve. Clocked hosiery showing arrows descending from the knee towards the ankle are also exceedingly smart.

Perforated Gloves for Sport

New Sports gloves appear in tan leather showing eyelet perforations extending up and down the back of fingers and hand, and many gloves are shown in two tones of leather—the darker skin inside, the light shade facing toward the world.

Fresh Peach Moussé

Two cups whipping cream, 1 cup puree of fresh peaches, 1 tablespoon gelatin dissolved in 2 tablespoons cold water, 2 tablespoons lemon juice, 1 cup sugar (heat or cane). Add dissolved gelatin to hot fruit juice and when cool and about to set, fold in stiffly whipped cream. Pack in mold, cover with ice and allow to set 3 hours or more.

An Appetizer for Summer Meals

Eggs in aspic make a very tempting and substantial appetizer for summer meals. Cut hard-boiled eggs in half, deviled the yolks and return them to whites, put a half egg in each individual mold, fill with aspic or a lemon-flavored gelatin and put in ice box to set.

Two Good Vegetarian Menus

Cream of lima bean soup, corn fritters, escalloped tomatoes, cream slaw, baked peach dumplings, non-stimulating drink. Cream of potato soup, vegetable patty, egg salad, banana shortcake, non-stimulating drink.

Protect Your Investment in Your Model T Ford

THE Ford Motor Company is making a new car, but it is still proud of the Model T. It wants every owner of one of these cars to run it as long as possible at a minimum of expense.

Because of this policy and because of the investment that millions of motorists have in Model T cars, the Ford Motor Company will continue to make parts until, as Henry Ford himself says, "the last Model T is off the road."

More than eight million Model T Fords are still in active service, and many of them can be driven for two, three and five years and even longer.

So that you may get the greatest use over the longest period of time at the lowest cost, we suggest that you take your Model T Ford to the nearest Ford dealer and have him give you an estimate on the cost of any replacement parts that may be necessary.

You will find this the economical thing to do because a small expenditure may enable you to maintain or increase the value of the car and give you thousands of miles of additional service.

No matter where you live you can get these Ford parts at the same low prices as formerly and know they are made in the same way and of the same materials as those from which your car was originally assembled.

Labor cost is reasonable and a standard rate is charged for each operation so that you may know in advance exactly how much the complete job will cost.
