PAUL WRITES TO HIS FRIENDS
In CORINTH

1 Corinthians 1:10-13, 3:5-11, 21-23

Rev. Samuel D. Price, D. D.

What Paul wrote has been of continuing influence, for his letters form part of the Book that is the world's best seller. Millions of copies of the Bible come from the presses every year.

Some letters of Paul are lost but we have at least thirteen in the New Testament that were written by him. As this is the first lesson in the series that deals especially with Paul's letters you should give special attention to each of the epistles. In your Bible dictionary, teachers' helps, or other reference books search out all you can about where each was written, to whom, why, and make an analysis of its general content. I and II Thessalonians were written during the second and journey, I and II Corinthians, Galatians and Romans on the third journey. During the first Roman imprisonment the world received Ephesians, Philippians, Colossians and Philemon. Then came I Timothy and Titus during the days of freedom and II Timothy was written just before his Release, during the second imprisonment at Rome.

The Bible is always a book of human interest. Paul was at Ephesus. Some member of the household of Chloe, from that city, had spent a while in Corinth and on returning told just how matters concerning the new church were progressing in the Isthmian city. It seems that in general there was marked progress, but old fashioned human nature was also running true to form. Factions were being formed by those who claimed that they were converts through the special work of some individual. Some belonged to the Pauline party, others claimed Cephas or Apollos, while another group was frank in saying that they belonged to Christ and it was not at all vital through whom they learned of Him; the new life was the essential factor. It was to correct the erroneous thinking that Paul prepared this first letter to the church at Corinth. Of course he added much that was constructive. Now read the entire letter. You can note that the lessons for September 23 and October 14 are also taken from this most helpful epistle. Then read the first four chapters a second time as that portion is the general content for this lesson study. Every week you should get the full content in Scripture as well as the few verses indicated for particular study.

Because Paul was seeking to build up a Christ-centered Kingdom and not a man-centered party the people in Corinth were urged to think the matter through. Each one who had visited that city had been working for the one great purpose and had not sought to establish an individual following. Each had a real part in this Kingdom-building but always "God gave the increase." Every worker was just a minister-servant of the Christ. Every bit of self interest is ruled out as all are styled "God's fellow workers." This is partnership indeed. The truth is enriched when another term is used—"God's husbandry."

Full credit for foundationing is given in verse 11 as Jesus Christ is named. "Other foundations can no man lay." It is the part of each one who will care for his own life and be useful in the lives of others to build personally and directly with reference to this essential foundation. Peace, unity and the true brotherhood of man are acclaimed in the Golden Text—"Behold, how good and how pleasant it is for brethren to dwell together in unity!"

KEEP YOUR DREAMS

By Edgar A. Guest

Keep your dreams—they're richer far Than the facts discovered are.

Do not seek all things to touch. Do not want to know too much.

Growing old, still play the child. Keep some glory undefiled.

What if clouds are mist and air? Still see white ships sailing there.

What would life be if we knew Only those things which are true;

If the things of bad and good Were by all men understood?

Nature's hills and brooks and springs Would be catalogued as things.

Keep your dreams, for in them lies Joy denied to men grown wise.

Still build castles in the air; Still see white ships sailing there!

Still have something to pursue, Something which you wish you knew.

"Very Latests"

By CECILE

With the return of molded lines and flaring skirts we have many interesting developments for fall. For one—this smart little wool frock that is one of the practical members of the wardrobe of Katharine Hepburn, now playing in "The Big Pond."

Boilice and hip-line of this costume discreetly follow the lines of the figure, while the skirt ripples—also discreetly—at the sides. Back lines of the skirt are quite straight, and a deep inverted pleat at the center front disposes of additional fullness in a clever, tailored way.

Notice, too, the slightly lengthened skirt. Whatever our doubts about the trend of fall fashions at this early date, we may be sure of four important facts: There will be longer skirts, uneven hems, molded lines—and flares.

Short Jacket Suits for Fall

Not only for sports wear, but for more formal occasions, too, Parisian designers have sponsored the short jacket costume for fall. This gives a new importance to the under-blouse and skirt which show to much better advantage than they have under full-length ensemble coats.

Blouses may contrast in color or show smart conventional designs in colors that harmonize with the plainer shades of the suit. Pleated skirts appear most often with these short jacket suits; collars are scarf-like, or have softly tailored lines.

Can You Wear It?

The beret—or close-fitting "tam"—is having a vogue for sports. Have you a part, round face with whips of windblown hair to frame it, or a mop of boyish curls? Then you may wear the beret and be certain you are "right." Not otherwise.

More Matches

For a time we were content with matching shoes and hand-bags. Now it must be shoes, hat, scarf, and bag—if we would be supremely smart. With a best frock or costume for a promising background, an unending variety of costume effects can be achieved in this way.

HINTS FOR THE HOME

Good picture-framing is a new art which has much to do with the increased popular appreciation of pictures, and the fact that pictures seem to have a new beauty in our eyes.

It has been discovered that the best way to bring out all that is lovely in a picture is to have it properly framed. One that seems dull may only need the right frame to bring it back to favor—perhaps a lighter, more colorful frame, toned to its colors, instead of the old, dull, heavy frame. Before discarding a picture that seems to have no charm, "try on" a more becoming frame, and see what a difference there will be.

Makes Draperies Hang Straight
Sew taped weights across the bottom of draperies on the inside of hem and they will always hang trim and straight.

Freshens Withered Apples
Wash and clean withered apples and place in a stone crock filled with salt brine—one handful of salt to every three gallons of water. Change water every six hours until apples appear fresh.

Keeps Old Potatoes White
To prevent old potatoes from turning dark when cooked, add a teaspoon of vinegar to the water when it starts to boil. This will keep potatoes white and leaves no taste of vinegar afterward.

Removes Spots on Furniture
Dip a cloth in scalding water, place on spot, remove quickly and rub over spot with a dry cloth. Repeat, if necessary, and finish with a brisk rub with linseed oil.

Salt Kills Plant Pests
If you will work a little salt around the inside of flower pots, baskets or boxes, it will kill any bugs that may be at the roots, and also act as a fertilizer.

Easy Ice-Bot Meals
If the ice-box meal is well planned and balanced, almost any family will welcome it once or twice a week—and 'tis a splendid change for the cook. One good menu is—iced cream of beef soup, stuffed pork tenderloin (steamed cold), potato chips, salad of mixed cooked vegetables molded in lemon-flavored gelatin, grape ice-box pudding, iced drink.

About Your Health

LEST WE FORGET

Oxygen is absolutely essential to human life. Let the supply of oxygen be diminished, and the health suffers accordingly. There is no danger of an over-supply of oxygen from the air about us.

Oxygen is stimulant—tonic. Pure oxygen gas is a destroyer, and is not met with, save in the laboratory. It is a supporter of combustion—a steel watch spring will burn in it, as a pine splinter will burn in the air. Oxygen burns up impurities in the blood, reaching them through our lungs.

Oxygen in proper dilution with nitrogen makes up the air we breathe. Our "bounden duty" is to get plenty of pure air—we are in little danger of getting an overdose.

If you are in the habit of lying in bed until nine o'clock these mornings, you are not getting the health-giving supply of oxygen that you must have if you would be vigorous. The habit of lying in bed until long after sunrise, is pernicious in the extreme. That debauch dinner that you devoured at six o'clock the evening before, and which you should not have taken at all, gave up at least fifty per cent of deadening impurities. You felt full, apathetic, and appetiteless, when you crawled out of bed at nine this morning; you were simply poisoned, and—did it yourself; if a physician tried to poison you, you'd want to thrash him if not more. You prefer to commit your own suicide!

Nitrogen deadens. You consume an overdose of nitrogenous foods—its effect is certain. You take away the nitrogen excess with oxygen, derived from both air and water—for water is one-third oxygen, derived from both air and nitrogen, and harness the lungs with bed-covers nine or ten hours, it is no wonder you feel lazy and incapable. Get up early—and drink freely of water; get back your "pep."

"What's troubling you, little boy?"
"Ma's gone and drowned all the kittens."
"Dear me! That's too bad."
"Yep, she—loo-hoo—promised me I could do it."

Greatest August in Willys-Overland history—63% gain over last year!

NOW August has added its sweeping plurality to Willys-Overland's impressive total for 1928. Eight consecutive months have broken every record for the corresponding months in all of Willys-Overland's 20-year history.

Last month 63% more people bought Whippet and Willys-Knight cars than in August, 1927—a gain of more than two-thirds!

Experienced motorists are quick to appreciate the superiority of the Whippet Four, with its many engineering advantages never before brought to the light car field—the Whippet Six, the world's lowest priced Six, with 7-bearing crankshaft and other costly car features—and the Willys-Knight Six, which now, at the lowest prices in history, brings the unmatched smoothness, silence, power and operating economy of the patented double sleeve-valve engine within easy reach of thousands of new buyers.

SUCCESSFUL REVIVAL IS CLOSED AT HOOD CHURCH

A very successful revival meeting was concluded on Friday evening of last week at the Hood Methodist church in which the pastor, the Rev. A. G. Hulme, did the preaching. At the close of the meeting there were thirteen additions to the church and the spiritual life of the community was built up materially.

WORK

I extend pity to no man because he has to work. If he is worth his salt, he will work. I envy the man who has work worth doing and does it well. There never has been devised, and there never will be devised, any law which will enable a man to succeed save by the exercise of those qualities which have always been the prerequisites of success, the qualities of hard work, of keen intelligence, of unflinching will.—Theodore Roosevelt.

The old hen gathered her brood together and bade the twelve pullets guard their only brother while she went out for the afternoon.

On her return all the pullets were weeping bitterly and cried, "Oh, mother dear, our brother is dead."

"Dead! How did it happen?"

"The minister came to tea. The farmer's wife caught our brother, plucked him, cooked him and the minister has eaten him!"

"How sad! But we must look at the bright side of things. Anyhow, we can be thankful your brother has entered the ministry for he would never have been any use as a layman."

ADVENTURES IN THE KITCHEN!

THE KITCHEN CLUB had a full attendance on the afternoon that it met with Grandmother Lovett, for the members could always be sure of getting from her, new ideas tempered with the experience of fifty years in the kitchen. Grandmother remembered the time when tomatoes were called "love apples," were grown in the front yard as ornaments, and were considered rank poison! Grandmother had raised five sons to stalwart manhood long before calories or vitamins were ever heard of! Grandmother had loved and lived with her family long enough to know that her kitchen had the greatest influence of any room in the house.

"Many a time," she would say, "I'd want to tell Mr. Lovett and the children, 'For goodness' sake, get out of this kitchen and let me do some work!' But I didn't. After all, I was a woman who wanted to stay around me and my cooking."

"But, Mrs. Lovett," protested one of the club members, "Mr. Lovett says he doesn't want me doing the cooking. You don't think a woman should spend her life in drudgery, do you?"

"No, daughter, but look at that fine man and those splendid children, realize their lives are strong, their blood pure and healthy, their eyes bright, because you're giving them the right sort of food—then you know that your work is not drudgery. It's art."

"Get all the labor-saving devices you can get into your kitchen, girls. Make your kitchen beautiful and easy to work in. But don't begrudge the time you put into them, for you're painting pictures out of flesh and blood, and a whole lifetime can't use much to give, if necessary. Sermon's over, girls. What do you want me to tell you about this afternoon?"

"I don't have many," replied Mrs. Lovett. "It's a confession of poor planning if you always have left-overs to contend with. If I have them, I usually put them in the garbage. It's far better to have your family know that they're going to get something good at your table than to give them bread puddings and hashes if they detest them. I'd rather preserve my family's appetite than a little dab of food. Besides, left-overs always call for other ingredients to make them fit to eat, and there's no use in throwing good ingredients after bad. I'll give you a few recipes for left-overs that I have found good, but there's not a bread pudding among them!"

LEAVES FROM NANCY'S KITCHEN CLUB NOTEBOOK

I think we managed to make a modern kitchen for Grandmother Lovett without taking away the delightful home-iness of the one she had. It will have a gray linoleum floor, light-gray walls, white woodwork, light-gray cabinets, refrigerator and table, light-gray chair with a lavender cushion in it, lavender curtains, silver-gray oil stove, lavender lacquered bookcase, a china clock in purple and white, and a foot-stool covered purple.

Keeping Meat Fresh
"We didn't always have ice when I was a young housekeeper," said Grandmother Lovett, "and so we made our meat stay fresh longer in this way instead of putting it flat in a pan, we set it on a grill, so that it didn't rest in its juices; we covered it, but not tightly."

Sprinkle cold biscuits with hot water, or dip them in hot water for an instant. Then set in the oven to dry and heat.
Children will love biscuits cut in two, each half with a dab of butter on it, put in a pan with syrup poured over the whole and cooked for a few minutes.

Meat Omelet
Shred or run through food chopper left-over, rare beef or steak. Heat in double boiler or in container over boiling teakettle. Fold into mashed potatoes. Make a smooth mound of the mixture, brush it over with white of egg and brown in oven. Mashed potatoes should always be mixed with hot, not cold, milk.

Table on Rollers
"I'm not so fond of taking steps as I used to be," says Mrs. Lovett. "So I had a small table put on rollers. I keep this at my outside kitchen door. The delivery boys put their packages on it without having to come in to the kitchen with their muddy feet. Then I roll it to the refrigerator. At meal time I use it to collect dirty dishes."

The Times man accompanied Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Lovelace to Wichita Falls on Friday morning of last week, and there we visited Tom Haney, who is in the General Hospital, and found him much improved, and later reports from there are to the effect that he has continued to improve, and his many friends sincerely hope that he will soon be fully recovered.

BIG MEN FROM SMALL TOWNS

Walter P. Chrysler

Walter P. Chrysler is the head of one of the largest automobile companies in the world. Thirty-five years ago he was an oil wiper making five cents an hour.

Chrysler was born fifty-three years ago in a little Kansas hamlet called Wamego. His grandfather had driven a covered wagon across the plains, and his father was an engineer on the Union Pacific Railroad. He went to school until he was 17. During summer vacations he worked at the grocery store, but it was at 17 that he really went to work—and he has been working ever since.

For four years he worked in the Union Pacific shops. Then he attracted attention to himself by doing a particularly difficult repair job. This led to his becoming foreman of the Colorado and Southern shops at Trinidad. Chrysler made good, and in nine years had become Superintendent of Motive Power of the Chicago and Great Western System.

Then he was 23, and realizing that he could not advance much further where he was employed, he quit to become works manager of the American Locomotive Company—at a salary of about half of what he had been getting. In two years he was general manager.

He gave a $12,000 job to take one at $6,000 with General Motors. He became Vice President there, and then left. After the war he began reorganizing other automobile companies. In 1924 his dream came true—he was making his own car! Now his company has made new auto history in its fusion with the Dodge concern.

Chrysler is adventurous. He never hesitated to change jobs. He saw that his future was in the automobile business, and so sacrificed other lucrative work in order to get into it.

Chrysler is industrious. Despite his great success, he still punches a time card and works harder than any of his employees.

"The man who makes good," he said to S. J. Woolf in a recent interview, "does a little more than is expected of him. Give the boss a little more than he expects and he will see that you are rewarded. And if he doesn't—find another boss."

Chrysler believes the poor boy has a better chance in life than the rich boy. The poor boy, he says, can only get pleasure out of constructive things, while the rich boy gets pleasure out of spending money—most of the time in a destructive fashion.

Walter P. Chrysler stands out as one of the great American business men born in a small town whose life should be an inspiration and guide to all boys. He has been able, by dint of genius and determination, to get up at the top in the great automotive industry. His success is only another example of the great rewards that accrue to honest industry and painstaking effort.

Dr. Frank Crane Says

Moses and the Ten Commandments
Moses was a Jew, the great grandson of Levi, the great great grandson of Jacob, who was the first Israelite, and the great-great-great-great grandson of Abraham, who was the first Hebrew.

In China they boast of pedigrees thirty centuries long; the only people that can show anything equal to this are the Jews. The proud Jew of this day can look down with contempt upon the Hohenzollerns, the Romanoffs and the Guelphs of Europe. "Whose blood has crept through scoundrels since the flood." But to the Egyptians Moses was a slave's son. He was to them as a black baby, born in a Louisiana slave-hut, would have been to the Southern aristocracy in 1850.

Time has a grim humor. The monarchs of Egypt are today only known as contemporaries of Moses. The Czar of Russia will be known as the contemporary of Tolstoy.

Moses goes up into smoking Sinai and has a conversation with the thunder and lightning. What did they say to him? He shows us when he comes down. There on a stone slab are graven the Ten Commandments.

Whether he really spoke with God, or whether he had a hypnotic fit up there in the thunder-storm, the fact remains that in some way he got hold of the toughest, most everlasting and fireproof bundle of truths any son of man ever found.

The Ten Commandments are the most important words in history. They were given by Moses to the Jews, but they have been generally accepted throughout Christendom as the foundation of all law and morals.

They are the basis of society in the civilized world.

There is no other instance in history where a rule has been recognized and obeyed by the mass of the most intelligent people for over three thousand years. They are not merely religious teachings inculcated by the church. They lay their restraining hand on every human being.

They function in the home, the market, the street and office. They hold in the wild places of the earth and in the farthest seas.

In the tremendous success which Pontiac Six is enjoying is ample reason for designating this great General Motors car "Chief of the Sixes." This great public acceptance tells more of what Pontiac offers at $745 than even the most complete listing of such features as Fisher bodies, 186 cu. in. engine, the C-M-R cylinder head, cross-flow radiator, foot-controlled headlights, coincidental lock, etc., etc.! "My Old Home Town"

Tain't big like some other town— Ain't got no sky scrapers like unto the big cities—No great white way, wide boulevards, play parks, smoke stacks and factories it has none—No union depots nor boat landings where foreign ships cast anchor—Best of all, it's mousy gambling halls, cong-aw-ner dens and bawdy houses—Yes, it's just a little old country town away out in the middle of a big cow pasture, where the white-faced cattle browse upon the hill sides and graze in the fertile valleys—O yes, situated on tin the big open space, plenty of elbow room, where the sky is blue and the air pure—Get your lungs inflated with the fragrant air, poke kick in the blood and pep in your heels—Your brain children go scampering in the odd woods, plucking bouquets of beauty and building play houses of fiction. O yes, just a little old poke easy, sleepy cowmans town, not in much of a hurry, don't make much noise about its business, but it gets there just the same and brings the bacon home on pay day—Not many of us here, yes, in numerical strength we can't match the larger towns, but what we lack in number, we make up in quality—O yes, counting quality, we are the biggest little town on the man of creation—Ain't got much, don't need much, don't know much—But satisfied with our capital stock—Just a few of us here, we know everybody and everybody knows us—Hello John and Jack and Dick and Tom and Harry, how's your rheumatism and when do you think it will rain? Crop conditions, political situation, revival services and the town meetings are our stock in trade—And we diggones sure whoop 'em up in season. The town paper, Albany News, just a stinky country sheet, been here every since after the war, a little bit, a Country Campbell press, ten by fifteen job press, a shirt tail full of type—It enlightens the population about the deaths, the births, the hen and the sow and the cow, revival meetings and commencement exercises—What else in the h— is there to know—One fellow said to us to come over in a larger field Dick, where big opportunities loom—Nothing doing boy, said I—We have no banking for the mad mob on Main Street, where my nostrils and strive and scramble for gold and place—Where the hungry man of his process mess up white snow with all that devilish dirty stuff they call news—Not me boy—I like the big open space, the little old country town—My Old Home Town—Where one can breathe the air of freedom, be one's own individual self, say what you think, say it out loud in the meeting. No, no, this is the life for us, away from the mad mob, out in the countryside, where the green grass grows and the wild flowers bloom, where the frisky brooks bubble, and the cows come home at eventide mooing and the milk maids sing—Why all this fuss boy, why all this struggle? The clothes you wear out, the victrol, you eat, and a plot of ground six by three—That's your portion down here, then you look God in the face, and present your plea for a crown—MY OLD HOME TOWN—Best place on earth.—Albany News.

CONSTITUTION DAY

While Constitution Day, September 17, is not a legal holiday it is observed with appropriate exercises in many schools, and various patriotic societies employ the occasion to renew acquaintance with the provisions of our nation's organic law.

The Constitution of the United States was adopted on September 17, 1787, by the convention appointed in pursuance of a resolution of Congress. Washington presided over the convention, which was composed of 55 delegates, representing each of the original 13 states except Rhode Island, and that body was in session nearly four months. The final draft of the Constitution was made by Gouverneur Morris, a delegate from Pennsylvania.

Delaware was the first state to ratify the Constitution, which it did on December 7, 1787, and Rhode Island was the last, its date of ratification being May 29, 1790.

The first ten amendments, popularly known as the Bill of Rights, were proposed together, and adopted by the required number of states by December 15, 1791. Only two other amendments were adopted prior to the Civil War, and between 1865 and 1870 three more were added. Since then four additional amendments have been adopted, providing for the income tax, direct election of United States Senators, prohibition and women's suffrage.

The Constitution is one of the world's greatest documents, and every citizen should make himself familiar with its provisions, even though some of them have been sadly disregarded in recent years.

TAKING CASH FROM WOMEN TUNNEY RETIRES COLOR IN MOTION PICTURE A PENNY PLUS 900 YEARS

In New York a nurse, fifty-two years old, about to retire from hard work, kills herself. Her life's savings had been lost in a mousing swindle. Real estate sharks, oil sharks, all kinds of sharks, swindle women. They believe, poor things, what they want to believe, that they are to be made rich.

Women should not invest in what THEY DO NOT UNDERSTAND. They should not buy land that they have not seen. And having seen it, they should think it over, examine it several times, consult some skeptical friends, then wait a month, and see it again.

Don't believe fairy tales. Ask yourself, "Just how would I, me, myself, not somebody else, actually make a living out of that land?" Or, if it is to be sold at a profit, how do I know that I can sell it at a profit? And why doesn't the man keep it and take the huge profit himself?

If you are leaving money to wife or daughters, fix things so that no other man will be able to get it from them.

Gene Tunney, whom certain prizefight fans don't like because he has brains and they haven't, retires from the ring. That, it is said, will "hurt the game, which is too bad. No matter what champion they may develop to collect money from fools, it can never be proved that he could have beaten Tunney.

Tunney, you read, is going to Paris to study philosophy. An excellent place. The Sorbonne is well equipped.

But the important thing is to BE a philosopher, not merely a student of other philosophers.

If Tunney can take his $2,000,000 quickly earned out of prize fighting and stay out he will have proved himself a philosopher.

Mr. Eastman, king of all kinds of photography, announces perfected moving pictures in color. With that announcement, pictures reach full development, MOTION, COLOR, SOUND.

Now you will see the heroine's eyes the vampire's rolling eyes, hear the voices that lure men to their doom. The moving picture stage will show all that the living stage can show.

It was a noble effort. The only difference between a father and mother in such a case is that THE MOTHER WOULD HAVE DIED WITH THE CHILDREN.

Ethel Barrymore, forty-nine years old yesterday, told friends she was enjoying life "as much as ever." She ought to be enjoying life MORE than ever.

For an intelligent woman real life begins at forty-nine. Wise Providence won't let women do important mental work much before fifty. Up to that age Nature intends women to be busy with children.

Roy Chapman Andrews, searching for strange things in Central Asia, reports finding an extinct monster "as big as the Woolworth Building."

Such an animal, if carnivorous, could carry home in its mouth a couple of big elephants and walk through an ordinary city crushing buildings as it went.

But it had a small head, little or no thinking power. That is why it is no longer with us.

Living Tree Represents Man On Horseback

There are trained cedar trees on the grounds of Mr. and Mrs. U. J. Prucha which he has trimmed and designed into all sorts of animals. His "tree managerie" is a beautiful exhibit and tourists delight in visiting the place. Photo shows Mr. and Mrs. Prucha standing beside one of their trained cedars representing a man on horseback.

Old Folks Say Doctor Caldwell was Right

The basis of treating sickness has not changed since Dr. Caldwell left Medical College in 1875, for since he placed on the market the laxative prescription he had used in his practice, known to druggists and the public since 1892, as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin.

Then, the treatment of constipation, biliousness, headaches, mental depression, indigestion, sour stomach and other indispositions that result from constipation was entirely by means of simple vegetable laxatives, herbs and roots. These are still the basis of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which is a combination ofenna and other mild laxative herbs, with pepsin.

The simpler the remedy for constipation, the safer for the child and for you, and the better for the general health of all. And so you can get results in a mild and safe way by using Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. By taking chances with strong drugs!

A bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin will last a family several months, and all can use it. It is good for the baby because pleasant to the taste, gentle in action, and free from narcotics. In the proper dose, given in the all ages. Elderly people will find it especially ideal.

Over Million Votes Cast in Nationwide Presidential Poll

Hoover Has 534,524 Votes; Smith Has 494,378; Number Switches Is Still Mounting

Results to date in the Nationwide Presidential Poll, held by this newspaper in conjunction with 2,000 others, still place Herbert Hoover in the lead. Hoover has been in the lead consistently since the beginning of the balloting, but during the past few weeks Smith has been catching up on him to a great extent. In the last tabulation, Smith was only 10,000 votes behind Hoover; but at this date he is approximately 37,000 votes behind the Republican candidate. Results are fluctuating greatly from week to week. The general impression of the Nationwide Presidential Poll is that there is little or no possibility of forecasting the election results beforehand.

Presently, "Straw Votes" held in presidential years have shown overwhelming majorities in most cases for the candidate eventually successful in the presidency. This year's close results in the Nationwide Presidential Poll as well as to the numerous other states where being held by various organizations, the country over, seem to indicate that the battle this year will be a very close one. Speculating on the winner is about as hopeless as speculating on what the weather will be on election day.

Perhaps to some votes keep streaming in—the response in the shape of ballots to this Poll has been tremendous so far—some clear sign of the country's stand may be arrived at. To date Hoover has 534,524 votes to

In the aggregate of total votes cast, the difference between the number states of the two candidates is quite slight. Of the total vote, Hoover has approximately fifty-one and eight-tenths per cent.

IF WAR VANISHED, PAIN AND SUFFERING, ABOLISHING POVERTY, PADLOCKS FOR HOMES?

That past outlawing war is sought for the present, serious men to take it seriously. Suppose the "improbable" SHOULD happen, and all nations suddenly abandon war. What would happen?

Earth's population has been registered by WAR, DISEASE, FAMINE. Machinery and better government have practically eliminated famine.

Science has almost eliminated the plagues that killed wholesale. No more "Black Death." With war of population growth, the earth could sustain?

Divine Wisdom, ruling the earth, is probably able to solve that problem as it has taken care of others, including the most difficult, how to keep populations GROWING in spite of war, plague and famine.

The Rev. Dr. Auer, who teaches philosophy at Tufts college, says men should not vote to UNDERSTAND both.

That is better than the old theory that God actually wanted men to suffer.

When "anesthetics" were first used, for clergy of Britain decried them as interfering with God's wishes.

God wishes us to suffer when man's not interfere with His plans by using chloroform, thus cheating the Lord, said the preachers.

An "ingenious" doctor answered, to the confusion of clergymen, quoting the book of Genesis, asserting that the Lord was the One to "use" anesthetics when He "caused a deep sleep to fall upon Adam," before removing one of Adam's ribs to make Eve.

Men should understand pain and suffering, of course, as the reverend philosopher Auer says. But they should also concentrate on eliminating both by scientific means, and especially by abolishing poverty.

The best thing in "Hector" Hoover's speech at Tufts, the best thing said by any Presidential candidate since Lincoln, was his statement expressing the hope that by giving every man a job, we could pay poverty may be made to disappear.

In Minnesota population officials threaten to padlock wet homes. Quote a surprise for the Minnesota ploughman homeward plodding his weary way, or children from the park, and padlocked, and he compelled to sleep in the garage.

One way to kill a thing is to make it ridiculous.

Seven thousand miles happens to be the distance in a straight line across the Pacific Ocean. Planes able to make that trip ought to interest us.

But we haven't any air ministry. Our Government doesn't yet realize that airplanes really exist. This nation, richest in the world, depends on private individuals to develop the airplane. We may pay for that some day and be compelled to call on British airplanes to help us as we had to call on British ships to help us in the big war.

What we are saving now on airplanes may cost us a thousand dollars for one fine day.

KNOW TEXAS

Texas is second only to Iowa in total value of the livestock industry. The annual production in Texas is about $300,000,000.

Poultry raising has shown most increase recently in Texas. This industry is now producing annually more than $33,000,000.

The Texas cotton crop is valued ordinarily at more than the annual value of all gold, silver, copper and zinc in the United States.

The total land area of Texas is per cent of that total amount is in cultivation.

FIFTH INSTALLMENT
WHAT HAPPENED BEFORE
 Simon Judd, amateur detective, and William Dart, an undertaker, are visiting John Drane, eccentric man of wealth, at the Drane place. Suddenly the household is shocked to find that John Drane has been murdered. The dead man is first seen by Josie, the maid, then by Amy Drane and Simon Judd. The latter faints. Police officers call and investigations begin. Dr. Blessington is called, and after seeing the murdered John Drane, makes the astounding revelation to Amy Drane that her "uncle" is not a man but a woman. Dr. Blessington discounts the theory of suicide, saying that Drane was definitely murdered. Dr. Blessington comments on the fact that all the servants in the household of Drane are sick, and that Drane has never discharged a servant for ill health. Dick Brennan, the detective, arrives to investigate the case.

Now go on with the story—
 "Yes, Dr. Blessington made the examination, victim dead several hours, cause of death stab wound to heart. Suicide theory untenable, Dick, because old lady couldn't have used so much strength. And there ain't no knife around either, Dick. She's been murdered, all right. Well, the queer part is she's this old John Drane that's been living here, see? He was a she all the time, wouldn't that jar you?"

der," Brennan said. "Go right in, if it's the usual thing and you want to, I've been put on this case and I'm looking it over a bit."

"If there's anything I can do—"

Carter suggested.

"No, never mind that now," Brennan said. "I'll take it up with you if I need to. I want to talk to Miss Drane next and you can help me most by staying here down if she's excited at all. Tell her I'm out here on the porch and will see her whenever she's ready. No hurry. Let her take her own time. Tell her it's nothing to be afraid of."

"That's fine of you, Carter said, putting out his hand impulsively. "Brennan is the name," the detective said, shaking Carter's hand. "I'll be glad to see you."

Bob Carter found Amy and Simon Judd finishing their breakfast and about to arise. Mrs. Vincent at her end of the table had eaten nothing, merely sipping tea, and her face showed she was still in great pain. Impulsively Amy arose as Carter entered and he was holding her in his arms before he was aware that he had intended to do any such thing.

"Oh, Bob, Bob! Don't be dreadful! Amy cried as he tried to comfort her. "If I didn't have you I wouldn't know what to do!"

"Yes, well, you've got me all right, honey," he said. "Don't you take it so hard. It's not enough, but you got to look up. No good in letting it get you too hard. We'll stick it out together."

"It's so good to have you here," she said, wiping her eyes again. "I don't mean to break down, I'm trying to—"

"That's the idea," Carter agreed. "And now, look here, honey—there's a detective fellow out there wants to talk to you. Just don't let it worry you, that's all. He ain't be rough; he's a nice sort. And we needn't go out until you're ready; he says he's in no hurry."

"In nearly one, Bob," she said. "You'll come, Mr. Judd?"

"Sure!" cried Simon Judd wisely. "Surest thing you know. Detectives are the thing I want to see; I'm going to be one myself."

"You'll see a good one when you see this Brennan," Carter said. "None better."

"That's the kind I want to see," said Simon Judd, and they went out to the veranda. Brennan arose as they appeared.

"Miss Drane," he said. "And this would be Mr. Judd? My name's Brennan, as Carter has probably told you. I've been put on this case, I've got to ask some questions of you, Miss Drane, but if there are any you don't care to answer in a crowd we'll leave them until later. No, you men need not go; I'd rather have you here—the young lady is less apt to be nervous. Let's sit down; we may as well be comfortable."

"I've had the officers make a search of three rooms up there," Brennan said. "Mr. Drane's room—we'll call him that, or call her that—and the room Mr. Dart was to occupy, and your room, Mr. Judd."

"Suits me all right," Simon Judd said heartily. "Anything you do suits me; I'm going to be a detective myself, and the way you do it is what I want to see."

"We'll talk that over later, then," said Brennan after a glance at the huge Westerner. "I don't suppose, Miss Drane, we'll find anything in those rooms that will mean anything, although a man can never tell. I've talked to Josie and got all she could tell me, and Zella has told me her story. You, they say, were the second person to reach Mr. Drane's door. Just tell me why you went there—and what you saw."

"Amy, folding and refolding her handkerchief, told what we already knew."

"Yes; nothing in all that," said Brennan. "Now, have you personally any reason to think any particular person killed—"

He pointed toward the house with his thumb.

Dr. Caldwell's 3 Rules
Keep You Healthy

Dr. Caldwell watched the results of constipation for 47 years, and believed that no matter how careful people are of their health, diet and exercise, constipation will occur from time to time regardless of how much one tries to avoid it. Of next importance, then, is how to treat it when it comes. Dr. Caldwell always was in favor of getting as close to nature as possible, hence his remedy for constipation, known as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, is a mild vegetable compound. It can not harm the most delicate system and is not a habit forming preparation. Syrup Pepsin is pleasant-tasting, and youngsters love it. He did not believe they were good for human beings to put into their system. In a practice of 47 years he never saw any reason for their use when a medicine like Syrup Pepsin will empty the bowels just as promptly, more cleanly and gently, without griping and harm to the system.

Keep free from constipation! It robs your strength, hardens your arteries and brings on premature old age. Do not let a day go by without a bowel movement. Do not sit and hope, but go to a druggist and get one of the generous bottles of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. Take the proper dose that night and by morning you will feel like a different person. Use Syrup Pepsin for yourself and members of the family in constipation, biliousness, sour and crampy stomach, bad breath, no appetite, headaches, and to break up livers and colds. Always have a bottle in the house, and observe these three rules of health: Keep the head cool, the feet warm, the bowels open.

We would be glad to have you prove at our expense how much Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin can mean to you and yours. Just write "Syrup Pepsin," Monticello, Illinois, and we will send you prepaid a FREE SAMPLE BOTTLE.

Pay in the Navy

Navy recruiters are frequently asked the question "What is the pay in the Navy?" This question can be answered by saying that Navy pay varies with the man just as it does in any industrial organization that employs a large number of men.

The lowest pay is $21.00 per month for the first four months, then the man is eligible for promotion to the $30.00 pay grade; the next jump is to $44.00, then $60.00, $72.00, etc., on up the line to the highest which at sea is $125.00 per month.

However, this pay is a great deal bigger than it looks just in dollars and cents. It is pay-plus-expenses and more; there is no heat, heat, light, or rent to pay; the recruit is GIVEN a $100.00 clothing credit; no doctor's or hospital bills; ordinary dental work is done free by qualified naval dentists; free athletics of all sorts; free movies, bands, pianos, victrolas, radios, and libraries; no lay-offs; 30 days leave of absence each year on full pay; barber, laundry, cobbler, clothes repair, clothing, etc., at what corresponds to a wholesale price.

Navy pay is pay that can be SAVED, and our financial accomplishments in this world are not gauged so much by what we are getting as by how we are saving—how much we are in a position to save.

There is a world of travel, instruction, and training the troops with it.

The man who stays in the Navy as a career has splendid financial benefits in the Naval Reserve with eventual retirement privileges—no financial worries about old age or disability; as he goes down the line of his years of active service he has no worries as to flood, drought, employment, crop failures, financial depressions, or other things of life that mean good or bad times—his job and pay are assured by the law of the country whose uniform he wears.

He won't get rich on his Navy pay, but he can become financially independent of his community and of his relatives—he is self-supporting, and more than that depending upon his financial inclinations as regards saving and investment.

Marie Vero Prefers it to Operatic Possibility

New York City.—Until we have American opera in which American singers can use their own language, musical comedy will offer greater opportunity for the native-born girl than opera.

Marie Vero, who was recently picked by vaudeville scouts at a public school entertainment in New York and hailed as the typical "sweet girl graduate," backs up this statement by her experience.

Not Opera
"Too many American girls have the false idea that vocal honors can be obtained only through the operatic stage," she declares. "A common sense review of opera in America upsets this theory. Technically, musical comedy offers as great a range for the voice as opera, so first of all the singer of popular production numbers need not apologize to herself for the medium she is using to express her art. She will find her creative talent has as much opportunity for growth and achievement in musical comedy as it has in opera."

Several hundred musical comedy companies are greater in musical comedy, and there is opportunity to reach a greater number of people. The remuneration is also far better.

"The peoples of Europe are raised on opera. It is indigenous to their soil. A child hears great operas sung in his own language from the time he is old enough to talk. In America opera is only for the elite—a privilege reserved for the Four Hundred of a few cities."

Methods Differ
"Not only do our music and methods of talk differ from Europe's but also the very thoughts in back of them. In Europe, for instance, one hears songs to the sun, love songs and odes dedicated to the sunlight and moon. We here in America always associate our love songs with the moonlight. To us the moon spells romance, the sun daylight and commonplaces. An Italian singer told me recently we were 'moon mad.'"

"A song which I have been singing in concerts, 'Lonesome In The Moonlight,' tells in verse and note our poetic ideas of the moon. Technically, it is quite perfect and as fine music as any light European opera, but it is very hard to convince the aspiring singer that the opportunity she wants and the music she wants are to be found right here at home."

THE DAY

What of the day? 'Tis past!
Have I one thought unworthy entertained?
Has the sting of words unkind profaned
Its brightness? Then 'twere better lost.
And in its storied archives clings a stain
Which, though I strive to cleanse, will e'er remain.

What of the day? What have I wrought?
Have I the smallest deed of kindness shown
To those I've met, or to some face worn,
A look of joy and brightness brought?
Then in its treasure troves a purest gem
Is added to the chain adorning them.

What of the day? I only ask,
Beyond that gorgeous sunset glowing there,
All flaming gold and crimson, heaven's stair,
Where truth and charity, in endless love doth bask.
Oh, may the dear dead day record some task
Of love, or kindness, as my just need.

SUCCESS NO EASY MATTER

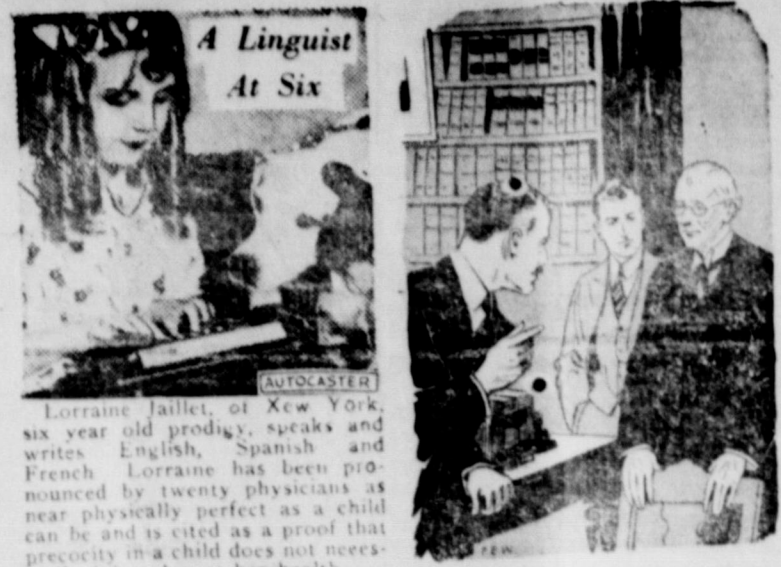

Without work no amount of talent, no amount of influence, will carry a man very far in this world. I am amazed at the point of view of some modern young men. They look at the successful men of the day as if they supposed success to be an easy matter—giving rich gifts and requiring little in return. I wonder what they would think if they could see the average day's program of one of the men they envy. Theodore Roosevelt left a correspondence that of itself involved more work than the average man does in his active life. Yet it represented only a small part of his activities.

The higher men climb, the longer their working day. And any young man with a streak of idleness in him might better make up his mind at the beginning that mediocrity is to be his lot. Without immense, sustained effort he will not climb high. And even though fortune or chance were to lift him high he would not stay there. Fog to keep at the top is harder, almost, than to get there. There are no office hours for leaders.—Cardinal Gibbons.

"SWELLED HEADS"

Leslie Cooper, writing in the San Marcos Record, says: One of the most disgusting things in this world, and a thing there is absolutely no excuse for is a big, swelled head. If you are able to do something better than your fellow, if you are better looking than the average, if you have more of the world's goods, or what not, do not give yourself too much credit. Consider for a moment and you will find that only a very small part of the credit belongs to you. In the first place, Nature en-
