

Kracker Krumb's

Odds Bits Salvaged at Random

It's about the snazziest store front in these parts.

Remember how Atkison's had all the front torn out and boarded up several weeks ago? Cracks in the boards were "chucked up" to prevent the coolness from escaping on the inside.

Workers were busy for some ten to twelve days, and to the casual observer it was kinda hard to see just what the store front was going to look like.

Anyway, a portion of the front was bricked up, then new glass installed. Instead of two entrances, the store was given only one, but this was nicely fixed with large all-glass doors.

Now it is a "city-fied" store front, which shows that folks down Atkison's way believe in keeping a modern store, both in appearance and service.

We remember several years ago this store kinda led the way in this area with the installation of their large refrigerated vegetable vault and complete refrigerated air conditioning.

And this has been the history of Atkison's all through the years—a leader in modern merchandising.

Another place that's taking on a modernistic appearance is the Jones building, which will be occupied by Dr. Eiland's offices and clinic.

And another modern building will be the offices of Production Credit Association.

What worries us, though, is the slowness in which progress is being made toward its erection. Reckon we shouldn't worry none, though, if members of that board of directors down Stamford way are not pulling their hair.

With new buildings being erected, old ones being modernized, and several new homes being constructed, looks like the old town of Munday is keeping step with progress.

Won't be long, now, we guess until some work will be done toward giving the town that long-sought swimming pool. Bids on this project were opened last Monday, while most of us were observing the holiday.

And observe it the town did.

We came to the office to gather up some loose ends and get the ball rolling toward getting out our weekly effort and found the town pretty well closed up.

First off, we started to J. K. Jackson's place, where we usually purchase two cups of coffee a day, but midway across the city hall lawn we noticed the doors closed and daily papers on the racks outside.

So we went to Eiland's, another good place for the brew, and learned that they'd probably close at noon.

On down Rexall way, "Pop" Smith was on the job filling prescriptions, but indicated he would shut down as soon as the doctor had seen all his patients.

One thing about the holiday week end—traffic deaths were running below the national estimates—and that's a good thing.

We're glad, too, and none of the traffic fatalities had effected our community. The pall of sorrow brought on by traffic accidents just does something to the holiday period, and we're glad it hasn't happened here.

And speaking of everyone closing up—wonder what we're doing here at the office, anyway. Think we'll go home and rest in cool comfort.

Paternal grandmother is Mrs. Tina Rossmiller of Clinton, Oklahoma, who came in Saturday to be on hand to welcome her. Maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Barnhart of Stamford, Oklahoma—but Susan's no "Okie," she's a real Texan!

A HEALTHY SITUATION

As any merchant in the country will tell you, the buyer's market is back. That means competition is more intense now than at any time since the last great war.

This is a perfectly normal development in a country which is dedicated to the ideal of the maximum amount of freedom for all—including economic freedom. It is also healthy, and works to the long-range advantage of all concerned. There are some, of course, who don't like it—who feel that competition is in danger of reaching the cut-throat stage. But for the most part this comes from people who had forgotten or had not experienced real competition, and had benefited from the artificial conditions produced by the wars.

In any event, we get our best picture of how competition works at the retail level. It is a very favorable picture to the consumer. The prices of many commodities have declined. The prices of relatively few have risen. There are no shortages. There is an abundance all along the line. Big stores and little stores, chain stores and independent stores—all are competing with each other. We see the results in very community in the land.

SOCIALISM PURE AND SIMPLE

If words have any meaning at all, government in business is socialism pure and simple. And it's probable that few of us realize even now just how big a socialistic businessman Uncle Sam has become.

The Chamber of Commerce of the United States made a report on this matter. Here's an excerpt from it: "Today our national government is, among other things, the largest landlord, the largest tenant, the largest holder of grazing lands and of timberland, the largest owner of grain, the largest warehouse operator, the largest shipowner, and the largest truck fleet operator."

Government competition was reported by airlines, bakeries, cemeteries, coffee roasters, dry cleaners, freight forwarders, motor vehicle repair-boat operators, wooden box manufacturers and rope manufacturers, tire retreaders, trucks, tug engines, ship builders, ship operators, retail grocers, many others.

"The government alone can neither create prosperity nor overcome depression. Only the American people themselves can do that."—Benjamin Fairless, Chairman of the Board, United States Steel Corporation.

DOGS BY THE BILLION!

This summer, as always, huge armies of Americans of all ages are flocking to baseball games, to beaches and lakes for picnics and sport, to amusement parks and carnivals, and are enjoying all manner of other diversions. A very high proportion of them will have what might be termed an "expedient companion" in the form of the delicacy known as the hot dog.

During the 14-week period that began with Decoration Day and will end with Labor Day, says the American Meat Institute, the incredible total of 2,624,640,000 hot dogs, a string that would girdle the earth about 8 times, will be consumed in this country! That works out to 21 of the dogs for every man, woman and child between the ages of five and sixty!

The hot dog, obviously, is a true and lasting American institution. It's as indigenous as apple pie. To millions of us, there would be a sad lack in the best of ball games without a "red hot" or two and something cold to wash it down with. The hot dog stands are as much a part of carnivals as the rides and the sideshows and the barkers. And the hot dog is a key element in the home barbecue trend which has developed enormously in late years.

This season's consumption, incidentally, will be eight per cent over last's. The good old hot dog gets more popular all the time.

$12,000 PER WORKER

How much do you think it costs to give the average worker in American industry a job—that is to provide the machinery materials, working space and other needed facilities?

An authoritative survey places the figure at about $12,000 per worker—and in some industries it is many times that.

The money that provides the jobs comes from two sources—industry's profits, and the savings of stocks and bonds. These buy the tools that make high employment and high wages possible.

We rightfully hear much of the importance of labor. But we should hear much more than we do of the importance of the investor.

"Could the FHA scandals, coming on top of the RFC disclosures, mean that the federal government has no business in the loan business. Well, yes—also that it has no business in business."—The Freeman.

UNITED IN ONE CHURCH

The only way the religious world can have unity for which Christ prayed for (Jno. 20:22) is through obedience to his word. Then there will be no division among us, we will be perfectly joined together, in the same judgment. (1 Cor. 1:10.) In this we will have oneness or unity in the church. We will then all be one in Christ Jesus. (Gal. 3:28.)

United in Christ

"So we, being many, are one body in Christ, and every one members one of another." (Rom. 12:5.) "There is neither Jew nor Greek, there is neither bond nor free, there is neither male nor female, for ye are all one in Christ Jesus. (Gal. 3:28.)

United in One Body

"There is one body." (Eph. 4:4.) "But now they are many members, but one body." (1 Cor. 12:20.) "We are called in one body." (Col. 1:18.) What is the one body? "And he is head of the body, the church." (Col. 1:18.) "For his body's sake, which is the church." (Col. 1:24.)

United in One Church

Since there is "only one body" and the body is "the church." Then there is only one church. Which church is this? It is the one Christ said he would build. (Matt. 16:18.) "The one he purchased with his own blood." (Acts 20:28.) "The one the Lord added those to that were being saved." (Acts 2:47.) Paul called it the Church of Christ. (Rom. 16:16.) When we render full obedience unto the gospel of Christ, he will add us to his body or church. Since the church is the body of Christ, for us to be in Christ is to be in his church.

How Do We Get Into Christ or the Church

"Know ye not, that so many of us as were baptized INTO CHRIST have put on CHRIST." (Gal. 3:27.) "For by one spirit are we all baptized INTO ONE BODY. (1 Cor. 12:13.)

If all religious people will lay aside the doctrines of men, obey the gospel just as it is revealed unto us, the Lord will add us to his church. In this way we can all be one in Christ Jesus, and there will be no division among us. In following his word we will all speak the same thing. Then we will all be united in the "One body," all will be worshipping God in the same way.

"God is Spirit, and they that worship him must worship him in Spirit and in truth. (Jn. 4:24.)

PAYNE HATTOX, Evangelist

He's a big fellow, standing over six feet tall and weighing around 200 pounds and has a quiet voice and a friendly manner and he usually has four or five cigars stuffed in his shirt pocket. His name is Frank Kirk and he lives in Gorman—though there was no Gorman in those days.

During the Desdemona oil boom he dealt in leases and was a drilling contractor. After the gushers subsided to pumps and oil slid from $3.50 to $1 a barrel, the crowds melted away but Kirk stayed on in Gorman, and from time to time brought in a well.

Away back in 1919, the Skelly Oil Company had drilled a small well on the Mears farm but it was small in comparison to the spouters and attracted little attention. Also a dry hole was drilled on that farm but Kirk knew that the well had been drilled by promoters who mainly wanted to put a hole in the ground to justify their sale of stock and they didn't want to be bothered with oil unless it was thousands of barrels a day.

Frank Kirk knew about these wells. You see, the advantage of living in one place a long time is that you have plenty of opportunity to study it. You get to know the hills, the rocks and the creeks as well as you know the palm of your own hand and if you have patience and are of a studious nature. Also you know the whole story of this week and that—just as you know the life stories of your fellow townsmen, if you live in a small town.

Furthermore, he kept in mind the knowledge that the acid treatment to make a lime give up its oil had been unknown during the Desdemona boom. He took his time because he knew that if the crude was there it wasn't going to get away, decided that the Mears farm was a good bet. So he and associates started a test and in January, 1948, brought in a producer good for 360 barrels a day. This caused a real rush and, in less than a year, more than 100 wells were put down, in many of which Kirk had an interest.

News From The U. S. Congress

Congressman Frank Ikard

This week saw action in the House on two important pieces of legislation. First was the Mutual Security Act which was considered on Monday and Tuesday. As it finally passed, Act authorized approximately $110,000,000 less than was asked for by the Administration and contained a provision to bar participation under the program set by the Act for any nation in the Western Pacific or Southeastern Asia that joins in a non-aggression pact with Communist countries. I am sure you know that the British had proposed such a non-aggression pact for the countries in those areas of the world.

The House also adopted this week legislation setting out the farm program for next year. The House defeated a proposal to adopt the flexible support system proposed by Mr. Benson, the Secretary of Agriculture, on basic crops which would have provided for flexible parity between 75% and 90%. It also rejected the recommendations of the Agriculture Committee which were that 90% of parity be retained for one more year. The plan finally adopted by the House was a compromise version of the flexible farm price support plan by putting flexible supports between 82 1/2% and 90% of parity on the basic crops for next year. The Agriculture Bill now has to go to the Senate for approval, and I am sure that it will not pass that body in the same form that it passed the House; therefore, it then will have to go to Conference Committee, and the report of the Conference Committee will have to be approved by both Houses. Therefore, it is impossible at this time to say just what the final price support structure will be. However, it is almost a certainty that it will be some kind of flexible price support program that will attempt to reach a compromise between the plan presented by the Secretary of Agriculture and that presented by the Committee on Agriculture in the House.

Quite understandably, there has been a great deal of concern here recently about the infiltration of Communists into Guatemala. At this writing, the anti Communist forces seem to have regained control of the country. There seems to be no question but what the Communists are making a very concerted drive to establish a beachhead somewhere in Central or South America, for almost daily the newspapers contain accounts of demonstrations against the United States in some country in that portion of the world. It would really be a disastrous thing if the Communists should become strong enough to control the government of one of our near neighbors. Senator Lyndon Johnson introduced a resolution which would get at the heart of this problem which was quickly passed by both Houses of Congress. This resolution directs our attention to the fact that re-sense of the Congress that this country should take all necessary and proper steps to support the Organization of American States in taking appropriate action to prevent any interference by the Communist movement in affairs of the countries of the Western Hemisphere. This resolution passed the House and the Senate with only one dissenting vote, and should make it clear that this country is determined to do everything within its power to keep Communists from invading the Western World.

FLOODS AND DROUTH

Two natural disasters loomed over Texas in the closing days of June; on struck with dramatic swiftness, the second was paying a return visit.

It is a fantastic "joke" that Texas can be plagued with floods and drouth at the same time—and often within a few miles of each other. That is what happened last month.

The devastating floods at Lamesa, Ozona and along the Rio Grande, resulting in tragic loss of lives and property, captured the newspaper headlines. But at the same time, farmers and ranchers in many parts of Central and West Texas began to feel the now familiar effects of a lack of water. The aftermath of both disasters will linger for a long time.

Despite recent rains in many areas of Texas, drouth conditions are approaching the critical stage in a number of central and southern counties. Feed crops and pastures are deteriorating as strong winds and a blazing sun deplete the soil moisture.

Typical of these drouth-ridden areas is McCulloch County, located in the geographical center of the state. A farm and ranch center, its county seat is Brady. Rural residents make up about 50 per cent of the total population and most of its economy is based on agriculture.

The moisture situation is grave. Less than five inches of rain has fallen in McCulloch County so far this year, and only a total of seven inches has been received since last October. This is in a county whose normal rainfall is 24.94 annually.

The fields of cotton, grain sorghums, oats, corn, and forage crops along the Colorado River, Brady Creek and San Saba valley are suffering. Pasture land which makes up most of the remainder of the county is also in poor shape. As a result an appeal has been made to Austin and the federal government urging that immediate steps be tak-

OFFICIALS STUDY BEEF PURCHASES

FORT WORTH—Increasingly dry conditions over a wide section of Central and East Central Texas is causing some alarm and is prompting some inquiry as to whether the need for drouth feed and other steps to help farmers and ranchers in the area may not be needed.

This writer talked with Texas Agriculture Commissioner John White last week and he was investigating the matter with a view to steps needed for relief of drouth area farmers and stockmen.

Secretary of Agriculture Benson was asked to look into the need for some drouth relief in Texas in a letter written by Texas Congressman Wingate Lucas last week.

Lucas asked the Secretary also to look into the need for expanding government purchases of beef in order to halt the downward skid of cattle prices as summer runs reach a peak.

Lucas advised by livestock market men at Fort Worth that some classes of cattle, especially cows and bulls, were selling late last week within a dollar or so per hundred of the low time in June a year ago and fears that these low points would be reached unless some government buying entered the market were freely expressed.

It is understood the funds and the necessary organization are at hand to step up purchases of beef products for use in the school lunch program and in the Foreign Operations Administration.

Some government purchases at this time could prevent serious losses to farmers and stockmen as they harvest their cattle crop in the next 90 days.

MARKET STEADY AT FORT WORTH MONDAY

Cattle and calf prices were generally steady at Fort Worth Monday. Some spots were stronger on cows and slaughter calves. Salesmen were generally asking sharply higher prices, but the buying side was extremely reluctant to increase live stock costs and little change was effected. Stocker trade was rather a narrow affair, some choice calves and yearlings sold steady, but otherwise most stockers sold at or near butcher levels.

Good and choice slaughter steers and heifers sold from $17 to $22, two loads of well finished heifers at $21, and three loads of choice heifers from Moore County topped at $21.50.

Some good steers from the Sensbacher Ranch of Clay County sold at $18.75. Common to medium grassers sold from $10 to $16.50, and cutter grade yearlings sold from $8 to $10.

Fat cows sold mostly from $9 to $12, a few heiferish kinds to $13. Canners and cutters sold from $6 to $9, and some shelly cannors were bid below $6. Bulls drew mostly $8 to $13, odd head outside that range.

Fat calves of good and choice kinds sold from $14 to $17.50, and common to medium slaughter calves drew $9 to $13, and culls sold from $7 to $9.

Stocker steer calves drew $12 to $17, a few to $18. Stocker steer yearlings sold from $17 down. Stocker cows were reported down $8 to $11 in a few sales.

HOGS ADVANCE 25c IN MONDAY TRADE

Butcher hogs topped at $24.75, or 25 cents higher, at Fort Worth Monday. Good and choice hogs at that figure, while the less desirable weights and kinds sold from $21 to $24.50.

Packing sows sold from $15 to $19.

LAMBS STEADY EWES ARE LOWER

Slaughter lambs topped at $19 at Fort Worth Monday, and virtually all sheep and lambs drew steady to strong prices in the trade. Ewes were unevenly lower, with sales around $4 to $5, representing steady to 50 cents lower prices for the class.

Good and choice fat Spring lambs drew $17 to $19, and common to medium slaughter lambs sold from $10 to $15, and culls again sold from $8 to $10.

Fat yearlings sold from $10 to $12, and cull yearlings drew $8 to $9. Aged wethers cashed at $7 to $9. Slaughter ewes sold from $4 to $5.

For Repairing a Leak

UNTIL a major repair can be made, a small leak around pipe fittings or "sand" holes in a pipe can be stopped by wrapping the area firmly with common cotton twine, as illustrated in Family Handyman.

The twine is wrapped in parallel coils which do not overlap anywhere. Keep tension on the string as you wrap it in close coils. Make three or four layers about an inch in width, and hold it, finally, with a few turns of a second bit of twine.

This temporary repair works because wet twine shrinks and rust particles and sediment are caught and help seal the leak.

The same system may be used to mend a leaking garden hose. However, the length of the wrapping should be increased to about two inches.

Road Construction Shows Big Advance In Past Five Years

AUSTIN—During the last five years, 24,577 miles of road have been built in Knox County. It was the the greatest period of road construction in history. Highway Department files show.

The breakdown by counties as well as state totals prepared by the department showed that $1,303,512.37 was spent in the county for maintenance of present roads and for the gigantic construction program.

Meanwhile in Austin Governor Shivers cited the impressive figures "as evidence that the state's construction program is giving Texas motorists the best roads that engineering can provide."

The report showed that 14,926-10 miles of roads added to the state highway system over the period covered cost $575,158,577-32, more money spent for construction than in any other comparable period.

Figures also showed that Farm-to-Market roads came in for a lion's share of the total. The roads were named a priority because they give farmers needed routes to markets and access to towns and surrounding rural areas, a highway official said.

Shivers, who said he was very proud of the excellent way Texas roads have improved in the last half-decade, listed dollars and time saved as two prime benefits to Texas motorists.

"State drivers have been able to save countless hours and money through good roads that provide the ultimate in safety and design," he remarked.

He also pledged that he "would do everything in my power" to continue the present rapid pace of road-building and maintenance.

"A road system worthy of its name must provide motorists with swift, safe routes," he said.

Weekly Health LETTER

Issued by Henry A. Holle, M. D., State Health Officer of Texas

AUSTIN—Diseases in domestic animals and fowl is coming under closer expert scrutiny since July 5 when state health and veterinary authorities launched a new system of reporting presence, prevalence, and distribution of animal diseases.

Depending on how much cooperation is forthcoming from private veterinarians, on whom the success of the program hinges, State Health Officer Henry A. Holle, said the new system ideally will reveal bi-weekly incidence of domestic animal disease occurring in any of the state's 254 counties.

Included among diseases reported are anthrax, brucellosis, equine encephalomyelitis, leptospirosis, ornithosis (psittacosis) rabies and others.

Thus, health officials will have an up-to-date check on infections afflicting household pets and farm animals, providing alling animals were seen by veterinarians.

Infections in animals are exerting increasingly greater influence on human health, state health leaders point out.

Agencies cooperating in the new venture are the State Department of Health, Livestock Sanitary Commission, A. & M. College School of Veterinary Medicine, Texas Veterinary Medical Association, the Disease Control Branch of the Agriculture Research Service, and the United States Public Health Service.

The State Health Department for years has maintained a reporting system for human communicable diseases. And for the past three years the department has conducted a monthly survey pin-pointing the county of origin and species of all rabies—positive animal heads autopsied by the Bureau of Laboratories.

This new animal morbidity system is separate from the human disease record, and absorbs the monthly rabies report.

The report system works like this:

Two identical self-addressed, postage-free report cards are mailed to each of the state's 700-plus private veterinarians. One card covers the first half of the month; the other the second half.

A column of most important animal diseases is printed on each card. The veterinarian has only to check the number of cases of each disease he has observed during the appropriate two-week period and return the card to the state health agency.

Accumulative results for each monthly period are by the Bureau of Laboratories, and a copy sent to each veterinarian when new report cards are mailed.

The tabulation shows any unusual incidence of specific disease in a given area, so that appropriate control measures can be started to prevent its spreading.

Basket Weave Fence

A NEW idea in fencing can provide privacy to your patio, or it may be used as a lawn divider. Some families have used this attractive basket weave design to screen an unsightly corner.

Built in units 6 feet long and 5 feet high, the fence may be set up to form a corner enclosure. It may be set up also as a straight or a staggered fence.

Pliable but strong Masonite Tempered Presdwood is used for weaving this fence between lumber supports. Available at lumber yards, the panels may be cut readily with a cross-cut saw. They take a beautiful paint job which, with the unusual basket weave design, will enhance the appearance of any lawn.

Flower pots may be hung on holders formed from wire coat hangers that are hooked over the Tempered Presdwood near a post.

Knox Prairie Philosopher Wants The Unknown Candidate's Platform Adopted By The Stores And Banks

Editor's note: The Knox Prairie Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Miller Creek has another idea he won't get anywhere with but he never stops trying.

Dear editor:

I don't know much about politics or politicians either, and my forecast on how any election is gonna come out is about as dependable as a Russian promissory note. Also, I have never understood why people run for office when there's anything else to do, although there must be some good reasons as nearly every office that's available, there's always somebody willing to run for it.

J. A.

And also, the reasons candidates give why they ought to be elected have always appealed to me, I sort of keep a mental scrapbook of them, and the other day I was pleased to add a new one.

This candidate, according to a statement I read in a newspaper which drifted in here on a dry wind, said he ought to be elected because, as he phrased it, "you haven't heard too much about me."

According to him, not having heard about a man is a strong recommendation, in these days of investigations, and he may have a point, as I'll admit the less you know about some candidates the more you might be in favor of em.

But what I'd like to see is this system applied to other endeavors, not just limited to politics. For example, if banks would make loans on the same basis, all a man would have to do to swing one would be to find a bank that never had heard of him, and with the number of banks there are in this country, I figure I could operate for years without ever once being turned down.

This idea of investigating a man thoroughly before extending him credit is what keeps more money from circulating, is what keeps merchandise sitting on store shelves instead of winding up in homes where it was intended.

What this country needs is to get away from this eternal suspiciousness, back to where a man's word, if it ain't as good as his bond, is at least good for a television set on credit.

I doubt if this candidate I mentioned is gonan win, don't see how he can if nobody ever heard of him, but he has hit on an idea which certainly would help some people if it was applied universally by banks and stores. It would help me if it was applied just in a ten-mile radius for one week.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

FOOD UMBRELLA AIDS PICNICKERS

A new gadget has been devised to aid summer picnickers.

Called a "shoo-fly food umbrella," it is designed to protect picnic or outdoor dinner tables. The clever food cover, said to be a perfect foil against bugs and flies, is 16 inches square. It fits down over cakes, pies, sandwiches, and other foods.

Made of gaily colored cotton net, reinforced with wire ribs, the cover folds up like an umbrella and can be tucked in a picnic basket along with the lunch.

J. J. Collier and J. T. Randolph of Winters were here last Friday visiting with friends and attending to business matters.

Mrs. Carl Green left last Thursday night for Whittier, California to visit her son, Harold, and family and to see her new granddaughter.

MORE MONEY for ROADS

During Allan Shivers' administration more money has been spent for roads than in other comparable period in Texas history.

For that money Texas has added 14,926.10 miles of smooth roads to the state highway system and maintained all roads to keep them safe and sound for you.

Allan Shivers knows the importance of good roads to you. Whether trade routes that speed goods to market or modern super-highways that make your driving a pleasure, good roads save you time and money.

IN KNOX COUNTY $1,163,512.37 has been spent on roads for you during Allan Shivers' Administration.

You have 24.57 more miles of roads today than when he became your governor.

This means better Farm-to-Market roads, so important to farmers and citizens of small towns.

It means, modern, safe highways that make your trips enjoyable and inexpensive.

Texas comes first with Allan Shivers.
