

Kracker Krumb's Odds Bits Salvaged at Random

This 100-degree-plus temperature that started around the middle of the May kinda threw us into a tail-spin.

Seems we had the fire burning one morning and the fans going the next day, and it was apparent we had delayed too long about installing our cooler at home.

And that's been one of the most thriving businesses for the past ten days. Boys who service and install the coolers have really been on the ball.

And so the weather continues to be the topic of conversation, with rain being mentioned occasionally along with the soaring temperature.

Some remarked a few days ago that they were really afraid of what the weather was going to do this week. They opined that it always does rain just about the time wheat harvest gets under way, and this was the week for the "monsoon" season to start.

We're afraid of the weather, too—afraid it isn't going to rain.

Of course, this is really good cotton weather—if we really had all the moisture we needed.

People of Munday can have more moisture, beginning next month—which will start on Monday.

That's when the new water rate goes into effect, and you can put an additional 1,000 gallons of water to your lawns and gardens without it costing you any more money.

Your minimum consumption will be stepped up from 4,000 gallons to 5,000 gallons. Trouble is, when you open all those water faucets around the place, it don't take long for the old meter to click off a thousand gallons.

Then after you've consumed the minimum, the following rate begins taking effect:

You'll pay 40 cents per M for the next 3,000; 30 cents for the next 4,000; 20 cents for the next 10,000; at which time you've consumed a total of 22,000 gallons.

Then it really gets cheap—just ten cents per M for all above the 22,000 mark.

That seemed like lots of water to us, so we asks Harvey Lee who's going to consume all that much water.

"Golly," Harvey said, "I used about 65,000 gallons one month last summer."

The tractor judging contest held here Monday brought into town county agents from several adjoining counties.

Among them was our old friend, R. O. Dunkle of Graham. We returned to the office, after being out pounding the hot concrete for some time, and learned that he'd barged in here and announced he was running around with our wife.

Fact is, the woman took him to the house to see her daddy, whom Dunkle has known for some 30-odd years. Dunkle was a rather young county agent, and a single buck, when he first met W. J. Bridge. Our father-in-law got some good laughs and some pleasant memories out of his visit.

But we didn't—didn't even get a chance to clip him for a cup of coffee.

The new Masonic building is getting into the final stages of completion. Just a few of the final details of the finishing touches will remain when you're reading this, if you are. The lodge room proper will be ready for next Monday's meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Jones and Larry of Wink spent last week in the home of his mother, Mrs. Lula Jones, and Ina. Mr. Jones has been transferred to Stamford and will continue to work for the Coca-Cola Company.

Alex Jones, 77 Dies Suddenly Here On Monday

Alex Jones, well known pioneer resident of this area, died suddenly at his home in Munday last Monday morning. He apparently suffered a stroke soon after returning home from a trip to town to do some errands.

A local physician was called when Mr. Jones was stricken, but he had passed away before the physician arrived. He was pronounced dead at 9:30 a. m.

Born on September 13, 1875, Mr. Jones was 77 years, 8 months and 12 days of age. He came to this area around 1885 and became a progressive farmer and stock farmer. He was an extensive landowner in this area.

He married his wife, Beulah, in 1905, and the couple became widely known throughout this part of the state. Mr. Jones retired several years ago, and after quitting his farming operations, he served as a member of the City Council of Munday.

Funeral services were held from the family residence at 4 p. m. Tuesday with Rev. Doyle Ragle, pastor of the First Methodist Church, officiating. He was assisted by Rev. Huron A. Polnac, pastor of the First Baptist Church. Burial was in Johnson Memorial Cemetery under the direction of Mahan Funeral Home.

Lamoine says that he sure is a ugly critter but that is hard to believe with as two as pretty girls as they have. Mother and baby are doing fine.

Residents of Munday will receive an extra 1,000 gallons of water during the summer months without any additional rates, it was announced Monday by Harvey Lee, city secretary. This action was taken by members of the city council in a recent meeting.

The new rate will be in effect during the months of June, July, August and September. The minimum charge will be on 5,000 gallons instead of 4,000, and after the minimum the following rates will apply:

Next 3,000 gallons at 40 cents per 1,000; next 4,000 gallons at 30 cents, next 10,000 gallons at 20 cents, all over 22,000 gallons at ten cents.

Wilbarger And Wichita Youths Win In Contest

Results of the District 3 Tractor Operators Contest held for the 4-H boys of this area showed Bobby Moore of Wichita County and Ray Weideranders of Wilbarger County the top scorers, and those selected to attend the State 4-H contest meeting held in College Station on June 25th. Expenses of the two winners are paid for this state contest.

Tractors for the contest were furnished by Munday implement dealers, and J. A. Scofield, District Agent from Vernon supervised the contest judged by Joe Burkett, Frank Martin and Roy McClung, County Agents from Ford, Haskell and Baylor counties.

Scores of boys competing were as follows: 1st: Bobby Moore, Wichita County, 255; 2nd: Ray Weideranders, Wilbarger County, 244; 3rd: R. D. Fuller, Kent County, 204; 4th: Maynard Moore, Knox County, 186; 5th: Dan Robertson, Young County, 165. Perfect grade was 300.

Maynard Moore of Rhineland who represented Knox County was handicapped as he was unable to attend a tractor school, and was a last minute substitution for the winner of the Knox County Tractor Contest, Moore's operation of the tractor was near perfect, but theory and maintenance given in the schools was his downfall.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben (Granny) Barton of Crystal City were week end guests in the home of J. M. Terry.

HEARD RESIGNS—Attorney General John Ben Shepperd has announced the resignation of Dow Heard, head of the department's submerged lands division.

Heard was a leading figure in the state's successful fight for recovery of its tidelands. He has been in Washington since January representing the state in connection with tidelands legislation.

In comment on Heard's resignation Shepperd said "Texas owes Heard a great debt of gratitude for an outstanding and conscientious job in securing the return of our tidelands." Heard has been an assistant attorney general since 1949. He assisted in several other major lawsuits, including the injunction against telegraph and telephone companies to stop ractrack and bookie joint service.

Plans for opening a new sub-district office of the Lone Star Gas Company in Munday were announced last week by A. C. Haley, district manager of Seymour. A lease has been taken on the D. E. Holder building, and workmen started remodeling the building last week for the Munday office.

"This will be a reporting sub-district office," Mr. Haley said, "and it will serve the towns of Munday, Goree and Weinert. All monthly bills of customers in these three places will be payable at the Munday office."

Miss Eva Hudson of Goree, who is now employed in the Seymour office, will be transferred to Munday to serve as clerk and cashier. Continuing in the service department will be Fletcher Gates, local service manager, and George Muntzert.

Tentative plans are for opening the Munday office around the middle of June, Mr. Haley stated. The building will be ready by that time and if office billing machines and equipment are here the office will be opened June 15.

NO SANTA CLAUS NEEDED

The basic medical care problems of small communities can be solved—and in instance after instance are being solved—without turning to government to pay the bills and give the orders. That fact was stressed at the recent Council on Rural Health of the American Medical Association.

The prime requisite, as one speaker phrased it, "seems to have been imagination and leadership." Another said that one point uppermost in rural health planning has been that "there was to be no Santa Claus in the picture."

A successful community health program demands the cooperation of all concerned—civic groups, labor and business organizations, farm associations, extension services and so on. Doctors are attracted to localities, even very small ones, where the residents are actively out to promote better health and are working to help provide the necessary facilities and opportunities.

It was also emphasized at the Council that group health and accident coverage of farmers and their families provides an economical means of meeting medical care costs. This kind of insurance is available through commercial carriers and companies sponsored by the Farm Bureau and the Grange, and also through the Blue Cross, Blue Shield and similar voluntary programs.

Very noteworthy progress in solving rural health problems has been made in the last few years—and there is more momentum behind the movement now than ever before.

GRASSROOTS OPINION

LOGANSPORT, LA., INTERSTATE PROGRESS: "President Eisenhower 'put the cards on the table' for the world to see in his speech before the American Society of Newspaper Editors . . . The speech was an outstanding re-statement of principles formed in an era almost forgotten."

PITTSFORD, N. Y., BRIGHTON-PITTSFORD POST: "What this country needs most is to cut waste in . . . the federal government."

BEVERLY, MASS., EVENING TIMES: "We sincerely hope that Congress will heed the latest message by former President Herbert Hoover . . . We must be impressed by Mr. Hoover's assertion that our government's 'socialized power' empire is draining billions of dollars annually from the taxpayers' pocketbooks and the U. S. Treasury."

BRIDGTON, ME., NEWS: "The modern trend in government is to figure what the expenditures could probably be and the entry to find a means of raising that amount of money by taxation. The matter of soundness of tax policy or consideration of the taxpayers never seems to enter into the picture."

"CLIMATE" IS ALL-IMPORTANT

The goal of the United States Treasury was described by Secretary Humphrey in these words: "It is our purpose in the Treasury to help provide the proper economic climate in America. The fiscal policy is very important in determining that climate . . . It is our purpose to establish and maintain such fiscal policies as will permit America to continue to grow and reach even higher standards of living for all its people."

The statement of principle strikes a refreshing note—particularly after years in which a basic Treasury policy seems to be the search for new and even more oppressive ways to soak the taxpayers. That "economic climate" of which Mr. Humphrey spoke will largely determine whether or not we are to remain strong, secure as a nation, and free. Current administration efforts to cut government costs, to balance the budget, and to make tax reduction possible show that the cheering words are being accompanied by deeds. The job is enormously difficult, but it must be done.

RETAILING IN MOSCOW

A group of American editors was recently allowed to spend a week in Moscow. One of them Mrs. Jane Mellivaine of the Downington, Pa., Archive, gave a long interview to U. S. News and World Report on her return home.

Much of the interview dealt with her impressions of Russian living standards. She was asked what was in a department store she visited, and answered, "Practically nothing . . . They had just gotten a load of the first spring print dresses. It was something you wouldn't believe, and the cheapest one was $125 . . ."

Another question was, "What about shoes?" To this Mrs. Mellivaine said, "Shoes are the hardest things to get. They have a kind of cardboard shoe for which they pay $20 . . . A decent pair of shoes, which really isn't decent by ordinary shoe-store comparison, cost $125."

Russian retail stores, like Russian farms and factories, are government ventures. The government decides what the people shall and shall not have, and what they must pay.

Contrast this situation with what you find in that show window of free enterprise—American retailing.

the so-called excess profits tax is a destructive tax, dishonestly named. It is not, as its name implies, a tax on excessive profits. It is an excessive tax upon normal profits, on business efficiency, on industrial growth, and on public service."—Benjamin F. Fairless.

Man: The only animal ingenious enough to blow himself to pieces with atoms.—Wall Street Journal.

A DOCTRINE OF HATE AND DIVISION

One charge is, that I preach a doctrine of hate and division and the people don't like it.

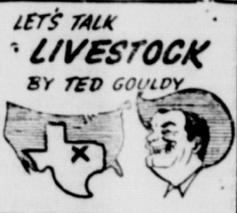

First, let me frankly state, that I am not primarily interested in pleasing people in my preaching. I am interested in pleasing God first. Peter and John in Acts 4:19 said, "Whether it is right in the sight of God to hearken unto you rather than God, judge ye." Paul in Gal. 1:10, "For am I now seeking the favor of men, or of God? or am I striving to please men? if I were still pleasing men, I should not be a servant of Christ."

Jesus said, "Ye shall know the truth, and the truth shall make you free." The man who would teach the truth is the best friend that his fellow men has upon this earth. You would consider a man who would poison your water supply an enemy of society. But a man who would pollute and adulterate the "water of life" (the truth) is a far greater enemy. An adulterated or perverted gospel will cause one's soul to be lost in a Hell prepared for the Devil and his angels. The curse of God rest upon the one who would prevent, add to or take from the gospel written by the apostles. (Gal. 1:6-9; Rev. 22:18-19).

Paul said that the mystery of lawlessness doth already work and that the lawless one should be revealed. "Even he, whose coming is according to the working of Satan with all power and signs and LYING wonders, and with all deceit of unrighteousness for them that perish; because they receive not the love of truth, that they might be saved. And for this cause God sendeth them a working of error, that they should believe a lie: that they all might be judged who believeth not the truth but had pleasure in unrighteousness. (1. Thess. 2:9-12).

Seeing that condemnation rest upon he who teaches error and also he who believes error. "So then am I become your enemy, by telling you the truth." (Gal. 4:16).

People are always seeking short cuts. It was truly said a long time ago to a young prince, "There is no royal road to learning." If a man—be he king, or peasant—wants to learn something, he must study. Actors, speakers, singers, musicians put in years of preparation, much of it drudgery, and after they attain success, they spend long hours each week in practice. After a performance, they go back over the occasion in their minds for self-criticism; they are not smugly satisfied, but by careful analysis, they find where by a gesture here or an inflection there, they can improve their rendition.

Hard work while others are fishing, loafing, reading "Snappy Stories" or lamenting their own failure as being due to bad luck—that is the difference between mediocrity and brilliance. Ceaseless attention to trifles make perfection; but, as Michael Angelo said, "Perfection is no trifle." Anyone can do anything he wishes—if he is willing to pay the price.

Recently I saw John Kimbrough, now a member of the legislature. Everyone remembers when "Jarring John" was All-American fullback of a great A. & M. football team. I knew him in those days rather well. One day, at a political gathering, he wanted to aid a friend of his who was a candidate. The big fellow was modest and hesitated to start so I said, "Go ahead, John, and if anybody tries to make you any trouble, just let me know." The 210-pounder grinned and everybody else laughed—and he started handing out the cards.

For my part, I must own that I wish the country to be governed by law but not by lawyers. Now before my attorney friends start throwing things, let me hasten to say that the above utterance was made by the great English statesman, Edmund Burke.

A scientist says the heart is not on the left side. A historian says the Vandals were not especially destructive. Another historian says that Captain Kidd was not a pirate. What is a man to believe, anyhow?

LIVESTOCK PEST CONTROL

Livestock pests cost the nation an annual loss estimated at over a half billion dollars.

Who bears the brunt of this loss? Everyone does—the farmer and the consumer pay higher prices for necessary goods due to wasted feed, damaged hides, and both lowered quality and reduced output in such essential animal products as meat, eggs, wool and leather.

The common fly is a real culprit in this respect. He cuts deeply into beef and milk production. Insects keep pastured animals from grazing adequately when feeding costs are lowest. Cattle grubs do much damage to hides and may also reduce output of beef and milk.

Also high on the list of "profit robbers" are ticks, lice, screw-worms, and sheep ticks which take an immense toll in unproduced meat and fibers that should go for food and clothing. Infested animals are "discontented" and cannot produce good quality meat. Fortunately, most of these losses can be reduced or eliminated. Individual farmers can do much to protect their own livestock but community cooperation can do even more. United action make for better eradication.

To successfully control insects, farmers and ranchmen must know what pests attack animals, what insects to use, the correct formulas and methods of application.

County agents, entomologists, veterinarians and other specialists can render important service in providing information and leadership to get the more harmful livestock pests in hand. A number of bulletins also are available for research and study.

Knox Prairie Philosopher Says Juggling Of Funds Around To Pay The Teachers Is Very Poor Business

Editor's note: The Knox Prairie Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Miller Creek is about like a lot of people, he's interested in seeing the school teachers get a raise but not in doing anything about it himself. Dear editor:

Of course, it's not my main problem, in fact, if I was hard pressed I'm not sure I could tell you what my main purpose is in the first place, but I've been doing some more thinking on the school teachers' problem of getting a raise and I was interested in a proposed solution I ran into yesterday in a copy of a newspaper which I picked up in town and brought home with me to stuff in a hole in the back screen door where I've been noticing flies are getting in.

According to this solution, which was proposed by some Representative in Austin, it might be possible to get enough money to pay the teachers their raise by juggling the state funds around.

I don't know whether the state's finances are in the same shape mine are or not, looks like they may be—more demands for spendin than there is money to spend—and if they are, I can say right now it won't work.

If anybody is an expert at juggling money around, I'm it, and over a long period of years I've found that you can plug a few holes, stave off the noisiest creditors for a while, by juggling funds around, but in the long run it's a mighty poor way to do business. That is, I like it all right, but the creditors don't. Makin one creditor happy at the expense of another doesn't give you much real peace of mind in the long run, as there ain't nothing more unreasonable than an unsatisfied creditor.

And the state will find the some funds around and pay the same thing out. It might juggle teachers and get em off the politicians' necks, but some other group would take their place and the politicians would be right back where they started. I can tell the legislature now that juggling funds is no substitute for raisin money, I've tried it for years and it never has worked very long for me, although this ain't to say I won't try it again the next time I get in a financial jam.

The only way, as I see it, for the legislature to get the teachers their raise is to raise some money, and how they're goin to do that is more than I'm prepared to say, as I've discovered long ago who pays the taxes in the final analysis. It's pretty hard to get a thinkin man to devote much thought to increasin his own taxes. We need two branches of government, one to vote salary increases, the other to raise the money and then resign and take cover.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Sprinkler Irrigation System Becomes Popular Method In Sections Of State

The application of water to the soil by the sprinkler method is becoming a popular method of irrigation in many sections of Texas. According to R. V. Thurmond, irrigation specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, the chief reason for this increased popularity is that the system can be readily adapted to land which cannot be irrigated successfully by surface methods.

Thurmond also lists other conditions which favor the application of a sprinkler irrigation system. He says they can be adapted to uneven, hummocky land or steep slopes where leveling would be uneconomical; to sandy soils subject to erosion and which have high water intake rates; to shallow soils; for land on which high cash value crops can be produced that can bear comparatively high irrigation costs; to areas where the water supply is not adequate for surface irrigation methods or where the water supply is so located that it must be pumped; in areas where only supplemental irrigation is needed for crop production and on farms where labor is available without additional cost for moving the sprinkler equipment.

On the other hand, Thurmond points out a few limitations for the sprinkler system. The initial investment is high, he says. The successful operation of a sprinkler system depends upon adequate pressure in the system and thus developing this pressure requires constant pumping. Moving the pipe is explained as an expensive and often disagreeable job by Thurmond. A sprinkler system lacks flexibility because it is designed for only one capacity and is not easily adjusted to take care of emergencies and finally says the specialist, wind affects the water distribution by increasing evaporation and scattering the spray pattern.

P-TA Sums Up Year's Work; New Officers Named

Crowning the year's achievement of our local Parent-Teacher group was the second place rating earned at the District meeting at Vernon of the spring conference. Mrs. Lonnie Offutt, Mrs. Bill Morris, Mrs. Herbert Partridge and Mrs. Jimmy Harpham represented the local organization, and on the basis of their written report the coveted rating was given. Two factors which were responsible were the large attendance of school parents at P-TA sponsored programs and the introduction of the action group programs, which met enthusiastic response.

In addition to advancing the new type program, the P-TA went on record as unanimously endorsing a city-wide campaign to provide a swimming pool and park for Munday. Resolutions were presented to the Munday Study Club and Chamber of Commerce. Approximately $350 netted from the annual Halloween Carnival was set aside to be used in connection with the swimming pool project.

An annual event was the presentation of the Fandangle Sampler of Albany by the P-TA. The Sampler received an enthusiastic response, and seldom has Munday been privileged to enjoy such an entertaining and colorful interpretation of our pioneer days.

Highlighting the spring events was the presentation of the school band and choral groups in a music festival. It was gratifying to the school patrons to see the progress made by these groups who were under the direction of Mr. J. Forrest Posey and Mrs. J. H. Bardwell, respectively.

As for the 1963-64 term P-TA President Mrs. Clyde Taylor is recommending that the membership give some thought to the possibility of night meetings in order that all parents may attend. A poll will be taken during the summer to determine community reaction, and it will be well to have an opinion when confronted with the proposal.

Officers elected for the coming year are:

President, Mrs. Clyde Taylor.
First Vice President, Mrs. Jimmy Harpham.
Second Vice President, Mrs. Dorse Dickerson.
Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. Wallace Reid.
Treasurer, Mrs. Leonard Kuhler.

News From The U. S. Congress

Congressman Frank Beard

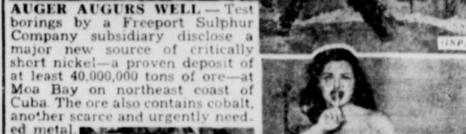

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 22 — The President's signing the Tidelands Bill brought to an end the ten year struggle on the part of the States to have their historic boundaries recognized by the Federal government. The bill that the President signed vests title in the States to all the lands that lie within their historic boundaries. This means that in the case of Texas and the West Coast of Florida that the title of the States extends ten and one-half miles seaward from low tide. In other states, the boundary is three miles out. While this bill gives to the States all that they can rightfully claim as far as ownership is concerned, it did not touch upon the highly controversial question of who shall exercise police power over the area that lies immediately beyond the states' boundary or on the so-called Continental Shelf. I feel that the states should have the right to regulate production on the Continental Shelf through the enforcement of their conservation laws such as proration orders issued by the Texas Railroad Commission and that they should have the right to exer-

If their viewpoint should prevail, it would mean that there would be a new federal bureau set up to control the production and to regulate and enforce any ordinary police laws or regulations that might be adopted by the Federal Government. It seems to me that it would be much more economical and much more efficient to let each State deal with this problem just as the states with large tracts of public lands within their boundaries do.

This week Congress adopted a resolution that would admit Ohio into the Union which would take effect as of March 1, 1803. This may sound rather strange, but it was brought about by the fact that when Ohio first attempted to come into the Union in 1803 the Congress, through an oversight, did not give final approval to the Constitution of the State as was required at that time. The result was that Ohio thought they were legally in the Union for years until this mistake was discovered.

The House passed the Agricultural Appropriation Bill, Department of Health, Education and Welfare, and Department of Labor. There was an effort in the House to seriously cripple the Soil Conservation Program. This was defeated, however, in an extremely close vote of 201 to 196. It seems to me that we should all become more interested and more conscious of the importance of soil conservation for as I pointed out two weeks ago,

Weekly Health LETTER

Issued by Dr. Geo. W. Cox, M. D., State Health Officer of Texas

AUSTIN — The coming of warm weather brings a warning from Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, for all persons to be on the alert regarding food poisoning. Most cases investigated by the State Department of Health disclosed that improper food handling was responsible for the illness.

Food poisoning is commonly caused by bacteria in food. In general there are two types, food poisoning and food infection. Food poisoning is caused by bacteria in the food that produce a poison and usually the symptoms appear with a few hours. In food infection, the bacteria do not produce a poison, but attack the body. This takes longer so symptoms usually do not appear for 12 to 24 hours after eating.

In both kinds of illness, the symptoms may be similar: nausea, vomiting, diarrhea, abdominal pain and fever may all occur. In food poisoning nausea and vomiting may predominate while in food infection diarrhea may be the prominent symptom. As a prevention Dr. Cox suggests that all food be protected against flies and other pests. Refrigerate all perishable foods including meat, poultry and cream filled pastries. Many outbreaks of food infection are caused by leaving food out of the refrigerator. Also, avoid handling food if you have a sore or an infection on your hand or if you are sick.

Mrs. Nevada French of Fort Worth and Mrs. Johnny Thompson of Ottawa, Canada, visited Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Offutt, Sr., and Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Offutt over the week end.
