Odds Bets Salvaged at Random

We've never known a slithering, crawling, unpopular (with us) creature receive as much publicity as did Pete the python down Fort Worth way. His escape was a disaster; his recapture an event of state-wide interest.

And now that Pete is back in confinement again, we, as well as his owner, Harry Jackson, can both rest easier. We just plain don't like snakes, and Pete is no exception.

We once saw our brother catch a bullsnake by the tail and pop his head off as easily as we could pop a tassel on the end of a buggy whip. But we'd have no truck with that type of activity.

With Pete back in captivity, we guess his picture won't appear in them papers much longer. Even his picture is sort of repulsive to us.

As an interested—sometimes uneasy and nervous—spectator at the ball game Friday night, we got to listening at some of the remarks from other spectators.

We suppose they got just as amused at us, but it was that kind of ball game. Our football boys were paying their hearts out, and we remarked that it would have been a jam-up good ball game even if we had lost—which we didn't.

But we got to wondering just what kind of ball game it would be if our boys took seriously and tried to carry out all the coaching from the bleachers.

"Hold that ball!" we'd hear from above us, when nobody but the center was touching the ball. Now what kind of ball game would we have if the center just stayed put, holding that ball, like the fans told him to?

About the same time, we'd hear other voices: "Use that spread—all the way." "Get that man." "Block that kick." "Watch that pass," etc.

It would have been ridiculous for our boys to put all that sideline coaching into action. It would have been a disheartening game for them to play, too, if all fans had just remained there in complete silence.

It all goes with a football game.

Anyway, our boys won their first district game, and by so doing, have served notice that they will be stiff competition for other teams in the district.

And the backing of fans make the boys play a better game. Of that we have no doubt.

The goat business is pretty good here on Saturdays.

Many of our transient laborers buy the animals for their meat during the week.

Recently we saw a goat in a bad predicament. All four feet were securely tied with a rope or strap, and its new owner was carrying it with the strap across his shoulder. The goat, with feet tied and up in the air, was bleating like a distressed child.

But last Saturday, a goat regained its freedom.

It got loose from its purchaser and took off in a high lunge across the city hall lawn.

Then we heard a bunch of conversation—all in Spanish—which we didn't understand. We don't think the goat did, either. Some people think goat meat pretty good eating. Others think they couldn't go it at all.

While newspapering down in the sheep and goat country several years ago, we ate some at a Lions Club feed. It's not bad at all if you can keep from thinking how it is on the hoof!

Rev. and Mrs. Huron A. Polnac of Weatherford were here Thursday attending to business matters and visiting with friends.

Progress Shown In Improvements At Munday Lumber Co.; To Build Station

Improvements which have been under way at Munday Lumber Company for several weeks are beginning to take visible form at the present time, and progress will become more noticeable within the next few days.

The lumber yard, owned by E. B. Littlefield of Munday and Carl Mahan of Abilene, is undergoing an almost complete remodeling job. This "face lifting" when completed will present a different view than that which people have known for a number of years.

A large portion of the yard is being moved to the east. A residence building was moved onto the site and is being converted into a roomy and modern office for the firm. Additional housing has been erected for storage of moulding, sheet rock and other items, these, too, being located on the extreme east of the property.

The old office building and about half of the lumber storage will be dismantled and rebuilt into newer storage space for both lumber and building materials.

On or near the site where the old office building now stands will be constructed a service station building which has been leased to the Humble Oil Company, it was stated.

The remodeling and moving operations will consume a period of several weeks longer, according to Mr. Littlefield, but when completed will make the yard more convenient and accessible for customers, as well as having another modern business establishment on the site.

Your Duty To Help Prevent Fires

Did you know that a fire strikes somewhere in the United States every 20 seconds? Did you know that over $900 million worth of property is destroyed by fire every year?

Those are appalling figures, yet statistics show they are true. The next fire may strike your home or property. Have you checked for fire hazards lately?

This is fire prevention week—a time when people over the nation are asked to become fire-conscious. It's your duty to help prevent fires.

Make a regular check of your premises. Check the wiring, electric irons, lamps and other appliances and be sure they are safe. Check the attic and storage rooms for accumulations of junk that might cause fire.

Our school children are becoming more fire-conscious every year. This week practically all grades are making fire prevention posters, calling our attention to causes and dangers of fire. Every parent should carry out the idea and look for fire hazards.

This is Fire Prevention Week. Every week should be fire prevention week.

Moisture Halts Cotton Gathering

Moisture which began in this area shortly after noon Tuesday has done very little more than lower temperatures and halt cotton gathering in the county.

Showers started about 1 p. m. Tuesday and continued here for better than an hour, bringing about a quarter of an inch of moisture. Drizzles since then have kept cotton fields wet enough to prevent gathering, and over-run gins have had a chance to catch up.

A survey of the Munday gin plants at 9 a. m. Thursday showed a total of 2,789 bales from the 1954 crop ginned at Munday. The Rhineland Co-op Gin reported 1,128 bales at the same time.

A report from H. P. Hill, local U. S. weather observer, showed a total of .57 of an inch of rainfall for this week.

MORE DOCTORS TO SERVE US

The medical profession continues to set new records in both the quantity and quality of service available to the American people. During the last year, for example, the largest class of physicians in history graduated from the nation's expanding medical schools, and a new high ratio of one doctor for every 730 persons in the United States has been achieved. Our physician population is now approximately 220,100.

Of key importance in implementing this advance is the spirit of unselfish service which is one of the most honored traditions of the medical profession. It took 28,435 faculty members to maintain high levels of instruction in the medical schools, and 21,328 of them volunteered to teach without pay, their duties varying from a few hours annually to large areas or responsibility.

All the facts highlight one point—we can count on constantly improving medical attention for our growing population. Here are a few of those facts. There are 28,227 students in medical schools now—more than ever before. Ten new four-year schools are in the construction or planning stage and will be operating within the next five years. Last year more than $76,000,000 was spent on new facilities, remodeling or completion of buildings for medical instruction, and this year the schools have total budgets in excess of $143,000,000.

American medicine is meeting its responsibility to produce an ever-increasing supply of well-trained physicians dedicated to the welfare of their patients. The job is being done without government domination or regimentation. Personal pride in achievement and service produce the highest possible medical standards.

NATIONAL BIBLE WEEK

The Laymen's National Committee announces that the 14th annual observance of National Bible Week will be held from October 18th through 24th. Its purpose is to encourage everyone to read the Bible—and thus find the physical strength and courage which is so necessary to our very survival in today's chaotic world.

Abraham Lincoln once said that the Bible is "the best gift God has given to man." Its precepts are timeless and as enduring as the world itself. Read the Bible during the Week—and every week thereafter.

"Some motorists seem to think a locomotive whistles at a crossing just to keep up its courage"—North Dakota Wahosiyapi.

CONSUMERS CALL THE TUNE

Writing from Paris, Doris Fieson, the nationally syndicated columnist, said this of the French system of doing business: "Cartels keep prices up and wages down and stifle competition. One good U. S. supermarket, in the opinion of an American businessman here, could bring food prices down 20 per cent."

It is undoubtedly true that typical American retail stores, either chain or independent, could slash the price of the goods by heavy margins.

We take for granted the best, efficient and most economical retail service on earth. There aren't any cartels here. No one has a monopoly on anything. Competition is keen in every line of endeavor—and nowhere is it more intense than in retailing.

Sometimes, of course, there are complaints. Lately it has been argued that the spread between what many articles sell for at wholesale and what they cost at retail is too great. We forget that, in large measure, we consumers create that spread, by demanding complex and costly marketing services—of which processed foods and handsomely packaged merchandise are good examples.

The proof that retailers aren't unduly profiting at our expense is found in the figures. Food chains, for instance, often earn as profit as little as one cent out of every dollar's worth of goods they sell. Department and variety stores usually earn only three cents or so. All the rest goes to buy the goods, to pay wages and taxes and other overhead, and to provide the services the consuming public demands.

COMPETITION PROVIDES THE DRIVE

A British industrial engineering team visited this county some time ago. It probed what it termed the "dynamic and aggressive" American approach to industrial problems. It found that "competition provides the drive" underlying American material progress, and is also responsible for the "constant efforts to achieve the most economic usage of men, materials, machines and money." The team's report also had the highest praise for our living standards, and made this significant observation: "What is especially remarkable is the growth of interest in human relations on the part of management . . ."

Those who are unduly critical of our free enterprise system would do well to consider this British view. In millions of foreign eyes, American industry's contribution to the welfare of the masses of people is little short of miraculous.

WHO CAN RECEIVE GOSPEL BAPTISM?

The baptism that Christ included in his gospel is seen to be highly important, when one remembers that the Spirit had Paul to describe the gospel as "the power of God unto salvation." (Rom. 1:16.) We cannot afford to be indifferent to anything which is a part of that power. Therefore let us thoughtfully and earnestly consider the gospel baptism as outlined in the New Testament.

In Mk. 16:15-16, Jesus Christ commanded the apostles: "Go ye into all the world, and preach the gospel to every creature. He that believeth and is baptized shall be saved; but he that believeth not shall be damned." In this commission as spoken by Luke (24:46-49) "And that repentance and remission of sins should be preached in his name among all nations." Again in Matt. 28:18-20, "And Jesus came and spake unto them, saying, all power is given unto me in heaven and in earth. Go ye therefore, and teach all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Spirit."

Proper Subjects for Baptism

Turn back to the great commission, as stated above and you will see the people eligible for baptism. "He that believeth and is baptized;" "Repentance and remission of sins; (Also Acts 2:38 says, "Repent and be baptized . . ." "Teach all nations baptizing them." "Many of the Corinthians hearing, believed, and were baptized." (Acts 18:8.) The eunuch said to Philip, "See here is water, what doth hinder me to be baptized. And Philip said, if thou believeth with all thine heart thou mayest. And he answered and said, I believe that Jesus Christ is the Son of God. And he commanded the chariot to stand still and they went down both into the water, both Philip and the eunuch, and he baptized him." (Acts 8:36-39.) Here the candidate for baptism had to confess Christ as the Son of God. This confession was made with the mouth. (Rom. 10:9-10.)

Thus, we see the proper subject for gospel baptism is: (1) one who can be taught; (2) a believer; (3) one who repents of sins; (4) one who confesses with the mouth his faith in Christ. "There is one baptism." (Eph. 4:5.) There is no such thing as administering gospel baptism to any one who is too young to be taught, believe, repent, and confess with the mouth. There is not one case of infant baptism in the New Testament.

PAYNE HATTOX, Evangelist

In the days of the Texas Republic an encampment of the regular arm was the scene of an assassination. One night, the officers had sat around talking and Col. Henry Teal told of his experiences at San Jacinto. Then they retired. About two hours later, while a thunderstorm was in progress, a flash of lightning and crack of thunder were followed by the roar of a musket. The officer of the guard investigated and found Teal dead. The unfortunate officer had shared a tent with Col. William G. Cook and the lightning flash had provided illumination which enabled the assassin to miss Cook by a scant two inches and shoot Teal through the heart.

Investigation produced no headway toward learning the identity of the murderer and so, in time, the mystery came to be regarded as destined never to be solved.

And now let us turn to another crime. In 1845, two settlers living near Gonzales set out for Galveston where they were to board a steamer to New Orleans. They brought along a man to take the horses back. While they were encamped for the night, this man—John H. Schultz—murdered both, took $4,000 they had and proceeded to Galveston where he boarded the vessel they intended to take. The bodies were discovered and the murderer traced to New Orleans and Mobile, they the trail was lost.

Nearly ten years went by and the double murder still was occasionally mentioned by friends and neighbors of the victims but all agreed that the perpetrator would never be brought to justice.

Judge Edmond Bellinger of Gonzales County went back to South Carolina to visit his old home. His nephew, a lad of perhaps 12, made a remark which caught the visitor's attention. He drew the boy out and heard a lurid story of a double murder. Judge Bellinger recognized the circumstances and caused the arrest of the man who had told the lad the story. The prisoner Schultz.

Brought back to Texas, Schultz was tried and convicted. While in a Galveston cell awaiting the day of his execution, he said he would like to confess. He acknowledged the murder of the two settlers and also admitted several other cold-blooded killings in other states, of once being so close-pressed that he had escaped by crossing the Mississippi River in a canoe and joining the Murrell gang of robbers and cut-throats.

And he told of having killed Colonel Teal because, so the prisoner claimed, the officer had insulted him during an Indian campaign and he determined to get even.

Fred Lang, student at Midwestern University in Wichita Falls, visited friends here over the week end.

Knox Prairie Philosopher Alarmed Over The Women In Politics After Learning What One Group Achieved

Editor's note: The Knox Prairie Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Miller Creek is on risky ground this week, but it's his worry, not ours.

Dear editor:
I was out here wandering around over my farm yesterday afternoon enjoyin' the October weather, there's no time of the year better than October, although I haven't got anything against the other eleven months either, when I discovered a copy of a newspaper which was half covered up with dirt, and then abandoned, I imagine when they got to the editorial the termites had eaten part of page, and I shook it out and sat down and looked it over.

Over on a page that was still intact I ran into an article that confirmed an opinion I've had for a long time, that women don't belong in politics. It's not that they don't have the right to be, it's when they get in.

Accordin' to this article, about a year ago up in a town in Mississippi they elected and all-woman city council, and the reporter was giving a summary of their accomplishments in the past twelve months.

The main thing they had accomplished and what they considered a full year of devotion to duty was to get rid of all the weeds in the town, and I guess you know how they did it; they had the men do it. This is typical of women in politics. They been in office a year and they wind up with a weed-less town and a lot of tired men.

You let this thing spread, let more women get in more important offices, and they'll start spreadin' their anti-weed campaign out into the country and America will wind up clean as a city park and the men too tired to fight off an invader.

Personally, I'd rather have a few weeds about the place and stay rested up. I don't know of anything in the Constitution that says a man ought to spend his life hoeing weed and Johnson grass, and I for one would like to sound a note of alarm when you hear of women threatening to go into politics. If it comes down to a choice between cleanin' up all the weeds on my farm and keeping women out of political office, I'll choose the latter, even if I have to run for office myself to do it, although my ambitions to hold office are about like my ambitions to get rich if it takes work to accomplish it.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Weekly Health LETTER

Issued by Henry A. Holle, M. D., State Health Officer of Texas

AUSTIN—The epidemics of encephalitis which struck some 400 persons in the Rio Grande Valley during August and September has been declared at an end, but exhaustive studies by state and federal laboratory experts still have failed to show the specific agent which caused it.

"We are still conducting tests here and at the U. S. Public Health Service Laboratory in Montgomery, Alabama," State Health Officer Henry A. Holle said.

But the possibility persists that this is something new or at least highly unusual.

Dr. J. V. Irons, director of the State Health Department's laboratory activities, said the epidemic "may have been due to an entirely new type of virus or to a known virus appearing in epidemic form for the first time in this country"

The epidemic began in August in Hidalgo County. Two deaths were definitely attributable to the disease, and three others "probably" were.

When it first took shape, county, state and federal public health officials took immediate steps to curb it. Insect control experts reduced mosquito populations to practically zero.

But investigators were confronted with many confusing factors. For example:

Most common types of primary encephalitis are transmitted by mosquitoes. But Hidalgo County's mosquito populations were below normal due to intensive spraying operations after heavy rains last April.

The reservoir of the three most common types of encephalitis in the United States is in wild birds, and the hosts of these same types are man and horses. Thus, if a mosquito feeds on an infected wild bird, and later feeds on a horse or human, the infection is passed on.

But Valley veterinarians say they haven't seen any horse involvement which ordinarily would be concurrent with the human epidemic.

The distinction between non-paralytic polio and mild encephalitis is a difficult one to make, which adds to the uncertainty.

Dr. Irons said laboratory attempts to identify the causative agent would be continued indefinitely.

Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Hayley and children of Fort Worth visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Henslee, last Sunday. They were here to attend the funeral of Mr. Hayley's uncle in Seymour on Monday.

Wayne Smith, who is attending McMurry College in Abilene, was a week end guest of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Smith.

WOMEN AND WHEELS

Changing Modes and The Suburban Look

By Mary Lou Chapman

The suburbs of almost every American city have expanded with great vigor in the last ten years. Whole new communities have sprung up, and with them new ways of living.

The casual way of life is evident everywhere in the suburbs, where there is more space and more trees and grass than in our cities.

Suburbanites are doing more gardening, generally have more children and more pets, take more interest in sports, and do more traveling than their city-dwelling cousins.

Mrs. Chapman

Shopping centers have appeared to cater to the needs of suburban dwellers. Sports wear and casual dress departments in women's clothing shops have expanded phenomenally since World War II.

CLOTHES GO SUBURBAN

Women are wearing looser clothes for a more active existence. Sweaters are more popular than ever and they are now worn over everything from a pretty cotton dress to an evening gown. Middy type sweaters go to the beach and jeweled sweaters are worn to the theater and to parties over silk dresses. Even women's suit jackets are designed to resemble the loose cardigan sweater.

Shoes, too, reflect the pattern. One manufacturer came out right after the war with a moccasin type shoe with a well-shaped wedge heel. This sold extraordinarily well — mostly to suburbanites — because it was smart but comfortable and could be worn almost anywhere. Since then the design has been copied by every shoemaker across the country and in every conceivable color.

"LONG" SHORTS POPULAR

Bermuda shorts are another item currently making a big hit. These stop just above the knee, and are usually worn with British type walking socks which come just below the knee. Both men and women are wearing these. With smart women, the Bermuda shorts have almost replaced slacks as well as short shorts.

Hair styles are in keeping with the trend toward easier fashions. They are all above the collar line, with some versions a little softer and others more severe like a little boy's cut. Often in the suburbs, you will see a mother and daughter both wearing the same simple, easy-to-care-for style.

THE CASUAL CAR

"Suburbia" has fostered a new range of style in cars as well as in clothes. For these families, the station wagon has really come into its own.

In 1936 the station wagon made up less than one tenth of 1% of the total output of the automobile industry. By 1954 the total zoomed to over 5% of all cars made.

Demand for these station wagons was created largely by the new move to the green-grass areas. The housewife lived farther away from her needs, and she wanted a special kind of car for carrying shrubs for the garden, for carting the children to school and taking the dogs to the vet, not to mention shopping trips. The suburban station wagon was the answer.

The automobile industry watches the fashion world carefully, because fashion tells much about the living patterns of America. From different ways of life come needs for different car designs. The colorful and sturdy suburban wagon is an answer to a way of life.

(Fashion writer, artist, and TV personality, Mrs. Chapman is a native of Detroit and has spent the last several years working with automobile stylists, designers and engineers at Chrysler Corporation.)

home Sunday night after a two weeks visit in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Timberlake and family of Levelland.

Mrs. Herbert Skelton accompanied Mrs. George Parrish from Houston and visited in the home of relatives Thursday through Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Carroll and Mr. and Mrs. Travis Gore of Wichita Falls visited in the H. H. Gore home Sunday.

Out of town relatives attending the funeral of Mrs. J. O. Feemster last Thursday were: Mr. and Mrs. Duward Richards of Vineto, Okla., Mrs. Mary Lou Price of Kentucky, Mr. and Mrs. Curtis McNeill of Peco, George McNeill of Cleburne, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Feemster, Mr. and Mrs. Pete Feemster and Mr. and Mrs. Jimmie Lee Feemster of Weatherford, Mr. and Mrs. James Feemster and little daughter of Dallas, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Alexander, Wanda and Robert Charles, Mr. and Mrs. Bobby McCarely, Mr. and Mrs. Pete Tillery of Grapevine, Mrs. Joyce Alexander of Dallas and Mrs. George Parrish of Houston.

He Is Remembered

"What the USO has done with such conspicuous success is to make each and every individual serviceman or woman feel that he is remembered and that he is important—important to himself, important to his service, important to his country —to his community back home and to the community in which he is stationed.

"Every man in uniform is entitled to the assurance that though he is serving in the armed forces away from his own home, he is still an integral part of the community life of the nation. Every man in uniform, no matter where he is stationed, is entitled to some good clean wholesome recreation. The USO provides that.

"It is this attention to the individual that is the strength of the USO, just as it is the strength of this nation."

"Blind Man's" Bluff

You know how Handy Turner down at the hardware store goes in for weird advertising stunts. Well, when it came to plugging his new Venetian blind department, his enthusiasm nearly landed him in trouble.

Handy painted a warning on the tailboard of his truck: "Caution—blind man driving." "Had driven about a mile," Handy says, "when a state trooper stopped me and told me that sign might cause trouble. Guess he was right. From now on I'll advertise in the Clarion."

From where I sit, I agree—the highway is no place for jokes. We all ought to be considerate of the other fellow when we're driving. In fact, let's respect our neighbor's right of way always. Then, when we have differences of opinion—say about the best route to Centerville, or whether beer or buttermilk is better with lunch—there will be less chance of anybody developing any "blind" spots.

FARM FIRE PREVENTION

Fire is still one of the most costly drains on a farmer's income.

Last year, fires cost the American farmer an estimated $139 million in property loss alone. And more than 3,000 farm people died as a result.

The week of October 3-9 is designated as National Fire Prevention Week. The Texas farmer owes it to himself and his family to safeguard farm life and property.

The minimum of fire-fighting equipment on a farm should include: an adequate supply of water available in any season of the year; approved fire extinguishers conveniently placed near all hazardous locations such as the barn, machine shed and gas and kerosene storage tanks, and a garden hose or filled water barrels and buckets strategically located.

Also needed are safe ladders long enough to rescue persons from the highest farm roof top, a back-pack pump, fire swatter, wet brooms and wet burlap bags to fight field fires.

Does all this sound too cautious? It shouldn't! Below are nine major "hot spots" or main causes of farm fires. And every Texas farm is endangered by at least one, and probably more, of them.

LIGHTNING-ROD SYSTEM should be checked for rods or wires that are damaged or worn. Be sure ground connections are secure.

CHIMNEYS that are defective should be replaced and heating apparatus properly installed and insulated. Keep chimneys and stoves clean.

COMBUSTIBLE ROOFS should be protected with spark *arresters on chimneys. When re-roofing, fire resistant material is preferred.

DEFECTIVE HEATING APPARATUS should be overhauled, cleaned and repaired.

CARELESS SMOKING AND MATCHES cause major fires. Cultivate careful smoking habits and keep matches in metal containers away from children.

FLAMMABLE LIQUIDS should never be stored in the house. Do not use kerosene, gasoline or any flammable liquid to start or boost fires in stoves, ranges or fireplaces.

SPONTANEOUS IGNITION often occurs in barns stored with wet hay.

RUBBISH should be removed from house and barns regularly and never let oily rags accumulate.

ELECTRICAL DEFECTS should be repaired. Replace or repair defective electrical appliances and use proper fuses for your electrical circuits.

CATTLE PRICES BETTER AS MARKETING SLOWED

FORT WORTH—The receipts of cattle and calves at Fort Worth were curtailed on the opening of the week Monday by rains in some sections of the territory which in some cases hindered movement and in others gave promise of some grazing and put out some stock water.

The prices were very mixed in the highly uneven trade with some sales fully steady to strong.

Stocker demand for cows was considerably better and some of the better kinds of plain stocker cows were up sharply compared with last week. Whether this was entirely due to firm orders or represented some hopeful buying in view of the prospects for winter grain field grazing development could not be ascertained immediately. High quality stocker calves and yearlings were moving steadily at stronger prices, some spots $1 up. Slaughter buyers also were pressed to get their share of the offerings and with their current killing operations geared to high levels were in need of numbers even at higher prices.

Consumer demand was apparently still at high levels despite the increased competition for beef from cheaper broilers and turkeys, as well as the swelling tide of butcher hogs that were moving into Cornbelt points.

Good and choice fat steers and yearlings cashed at $19 to $24, and common and medium sorts bulked at $10 to $18, with a few rannihan yearlings below $10 still.

Fat cows cleared at $8.50 to $11, with a few smooth high yielders to $12. Canners and cutters sold largely at $5 to $8.50, some high yielders to $9, and still some emaciated canners of light weights below $5. Bulls cashed at $8 to $13.

SHEEP AND LAMBS OPEN FULLY STEADY

Trade was active and prices were fully steady on sheep and lambs at Fort Worth Monday as the first week of October livestock trade got underway. The run was made up largely of old

Speaking of PUBLIC SAFETY

20,000 persons are duped to death each year by the fallacy that you are safer driving at night simply because there is less traffic. Actually, you need only a glimpse of the traffic accident picture to realize how fallacious that reasoning really is.

Out of every hundred fatal accidents, 60 occur in the dark when only 25 of every 100 vehicles are operating. In addition to the 20,000 lives, the night toll last year was 900,000 injured and $1 billion of economic loss.

It is because of the greater danger of fatality at night that motorists are urged to observe special safety precautions after dark.

REDUCED SPEED: Driving at night should always be at speeds which permit stopping within range of headlight vision.

WATCH FOR SIGNAL CRASHERS: Never crash lights nor stop signs and don't ever move into an intersection until you have looked in both directions after the light has changed. Don't assume that a green light means safety! Too many drivers like to race through the red end of a light change.

PROPER VEHICLE LIGHTING: Headlights should be accurately focused, kept clean, and rear lights properly operating. Directional signal lights, both front and rear, aid in signaling but no driver at night should assume the mere act of signaling his intent will prevent an accident. He should never intersect traffic unless absolutely sure he has ample time to avoid a "close call".

AVOID ALCOHOL: Darkness which dulls vision and alcohol which slows mental and physical reactions is a deadly combination at night. If you must drink, for humanity's sake don't drive.

Motorists are urged to observe these precautions at night to compensate for the inadequate visibility which will continue to make night driving dangerous until street lighting is made adequate in cities and towns and on critical accident-prone areas of highways.

EBBETT'S FIELD SEEN IN NEW COMEDY

Ebbett's Field makes it screen bow, being importantly featured as the locale of one of the merriest, sparkling comedies of baseball manners to hit the screen. Seen at the Roxy Theatre Saturday night, Republic presentation of the John Bash production, "Roogie's Bump" brings to local fans a free ticket to the great diamond, plus a box seat to a rhubarb which could happen only in Brooklyn.

The film introduces twelve-year-old Robert Marriot, as Roogie, a small boy who longs to play on the sandlot team of his neighbors. But Roogie hailed originally from Ohio, is a stranger in the section, and the kids are skeptical about his skill. After all, this is a BROOKLYN team.

Actually, Roogie has his eye on the big league but it seems unlikely that he's going to land with the Dodgers until he's added a few years. . . and keeps in practice. The former he knows is mechanical; the latter is a problem, for if he can't play, how is he gonna keep his pitching arm in shape.

The problem is taken out of his hands—and as the mysterious bump grows on his pitching arm, his prowess also grows. Trouble haunts him, as he sees a timber shatter under the impact of one pitch. Then there's the time he forgets to let go of the ball . . . and goes sailing toward the batter, riding it like a streamer.

Winners Of Safety Awards

Lone Star Gas Company employees, perennial winners of safety awards, attained a new high in safety performance in 1953 to win the National Safety Council's highest commendation, the Award of Honor. In the above picture, Lone Star President D. A. Huley of Dallas, right, commends A. W. Ereland, the company's assistant director of personnel and director of safety, holding the Award of Honor plaque, for the Safety Department's role in the establishment of the 1953 safety record. "The lion's share of the credit, however," Huley said, "rightly belongs to our more than 6,000 employees in the field, since it is in the field accidents that occur, or are prevented by the simple process of observing safety rules and, during unusual situations not listed in safety manuals, using plain horse sense in coping with those situations."

Mr. and Mrs. Herby Peek visited J. O. Peek in the Haskell Hospital last Sunday.

How far ahead of Edison are you?

Just 75 years ago, Thomas A. Edison created the first practical electric light bulb.

It was a feeble thing and a luxury at first. Who would have guessed then how many ways you'd be using electricity today — to save time and effort, to make living more pleasant.

You're putting more new electrical "servants" to work year after year. That means you're going to need still more electricity.

The West Texas Utilities Company and the other business-managed electric light and power companies are building for that additional electric power you'll want tomorrow and in the years to come.

No matter how far ahead of Edison you are — today or tomorrow — you'll have all the low-priced electric service you want. Here in West Texas your electric service company will continue to provide plenty for home, farm, business and industry.

YOUR ELECTRIC RATES HAVE STAYED LOW
In fact, in homes served by WTU, the average cost of a kilowatt-hour of service is 22% LESS than it was ten years ago!

Moguls Take First Conference Game From Greyhounds Here Friday Night

All football fans in the north side bleachers let out yells of delight here Friday night as the Munday Moguls snared a hotly contested game away from their S-A conference rivals, the Throckmorton Greyhounds, 14-12 in the final minutes of play. It was the north side that was occupied by Moguls' fans and pep squad who saw defeat turned into victory.

Both teams were held scoreless in the first quarter, as the near-capacity crowd saw the game turned into a punt battle. The first score of the game was set up early in the second period when Munday recovered a fumble on the Greyhound 32 yard line. They scored six plays later when Glenn Amerson went the last nine yards over tackle. Gary Cure punted the extra point. The 'Hounds came back strong with Glenn Hudson, right half, taking the kickoff back to the Munday 33 yard line. Two plays later Throckmorton scored with a pass from Bobby Davis, half-back, to Billy Whitaker, quarterback, for the last 29 yards. Whitaker's kick was wild, and the half ended with Munday on the tall end of a 7-6 score.

The second half opened with another long run by the visitors, this time by Davis, who nearly went all the way. He was overtaken by Amerson, who downed him on the 6 yard line. In three plays the Greyhounds didn't get any closer to the goal, but a fourth down pass from Davis to Left End Terry Armstrong rang up the second counter. Again the try for extra point was no good, but the visitors were leading 12-7.

the ball into scoring position, only to lose it. The game was saved when Amerson took a punt on the mid-stripe and carried it back to the 20. Four plays later Wyman Tidwell clicked off the last 16 yards through tackle, and Skip Cure again made his kick good, making the final score 14 to 12.

The Moguls were again in possession of the ball when the game ended.

Both the Moguls' defense and offense were improved, with all the boys turning in a good game. But for the two long scampers by the visitors, the Moguls held them pretty well at bay during the entire contest.
