Odd Bits Salvaged

They may not come back again. That depends on you, and you, and you.

They'll be here Friday and Saturday—and if the patronage is not what they think it should be, they may scratch Knox County from the list in the future.

By "they" we mean those who operate the free chest X-ray unit for the State Health Department.

"I've had my chest X-rayed—have you?"

Next Friday people of this area will start wearing the little cards with the above words in them.

We hope before 5:30 p. m. Saturday hundreds of those signs will be seen on the streets of Munday.

Like we said once before, it's no trouble at all to have your chest X-rayed.

You don't have to disrobe.

A courteous lady will get your name and the name of your doctor. Then you take pencils, cigarettes, etc., out of your breast pockets and step up before that contraption.

"Raise your chin a little," the attendant will say. "Now take a deep breath, hold it. That's all, thank you," and the job is done.

We've had our chest X-rayed twice—and that's as many times as the mobile X-ray unit has come to Munday. This will be third time.

Those in the know say one should have it done once each year—and this could be possible if enough people will just take those few minutes time to do it next Friday and Saturday.

When one coughs and wheezes until he wonders if he has "epi-looza" or something—then it's a good idea to have the chest picture made. And when it's all for free—like this one—it's all the more reason we should patronize it.

And what a wonderful feeling you have, then, when the State Health Department sends you that little card saying, "All clear!"

Don't think you're accepting somebody's charity when you have this free X-ray made. You are not.

The mobile X-ray unit is maintained by the State Health Department—a part of our wonderful state's system—and financed through your taxes and mine.

It's just a free service which the department is offering to all who want it as a means of helping to keep us healthy and happy.

No charity to it!
Your race, color or creed makes no difference, either.

All that is required is that you're 15 years old or over and that you have a chest to be X-rayed.

So do it Friday and Saturday. Do it for your health's sake!

Moguls Downed By Indians At Haskell, 41-7

The Munday Moguls' chances for a tie in district football were thwarted last Friday night by the Haskell Indians, who continued their bid for the championship by decisively defeating the local boys, 41-7.

After a scoreless first quarter, the Indians scoring machine started rolling early in the second period when Mullins picked up good blocking and went 75 yards for the first score. The Indians made it 20-0 at the half by scoring the third counter on a 45 yard drive after John Holt had recovered a Mough fumble on Munday's 45.

Haskell scored twice in third and again in the final period. Munday's Gary Cure, proclaimed the Moguls' hero in lone score by recovering a handoff fumble on the Munday 40 late in the final period.

Amerson hit a 17-yard pass to put the ball on the Haskell 40 and after making two on a sneak, Haskell was penalized five more. Tidwell made five and Amerson hit Jerry Guinn for 19 yards to the 10. From there Tidwell scored in two plays, blasting over from the two. Cure's kick closing scoring for the game.

Munday accounted for six first downs to 14 by the victors.

Notes For Knox Farms, Ranches

By W. J. Bryan, Knox County Agent

With the approach of winter livestock producers should be thinking about a supply of roughage—and plenty of it—if you do not have a good supply on hand, it can be bought cheaper now than if you wait until later in the winter.

Roughage in some form should be available to livestock at all times. This doesn't necessarily mean it must be of the highest quality, but the higher the feeding value the better.

Roughage very low in nutritive value can be fed with success if adequate supplement, about two pounds of cottonseed meal, is supplied each day. Cotton burrs, hulls and oat straw fall into this category.

Suitcase rations for wintering cows are four pounds of legume hay with 14 pounds of cottonseed hulls or oat straw per day. If silage is available, feed 40 to 50 pounds and one pound of cottonseed meal or cake.

Eighteen pounds of sorghum bundles, Johnson grass or prairie hay supplemented with one to two pounds of cottonseed cake makes a top notch ration for dry cows. If sorghum or Johnson grass hay was cut early and is of good quality you may get by without any supplement.

A cow nursing a calf will need about 60 pounds of silage or 20 lbs. of hay or bundles with about two pounds of cottonseed cake or meal.

Less feed is needed to keep cows from losing weight than to put it back on after it is starved off. Fleishy animals may lose 150 to 200 pounds without impairing the production of a calf.

Salt and steamed bone meal mineral supplement will complete the winter feed requirement of beef animals and should be fed free choice.

A good bulletin on emergency feeding of livestock is available from my office.

According to latest information farm experts were about a hundred million dollars higher this year than last year, which was about 30% below the peak established in 1951-1952.

Foreign cotton, wheat and sorghum grain supply are smaller than a year ago and this is expected to increase our exports next year by about 10%, which should aid the prices of farm products here.

Good foreign markets are not a cure for this country's surplus problem, but will give strength to our total marketing position.

All of the 4-H Club boys and girls who are feeding nurse fed beef steers will bring them to Benjamin Saturday afternoon at 1:00 p. m. for an educational day. The boys and girls will get a chance to see what other steers look like and demonstrations on grooming, showmanship and parasite control will be given. Also talks on feeding and beef cattle judging.

Everyone interested is invited to attend.

Moguls Hope For Win Friday With Badgers

The Munday Moguls will close their 1954 grid season on Friday night of this week when they play the Merkel Badgers at Merkel.

Training this week has been centered on every effort to close the season with a win, making it 7 wins and 3 losses for the Moguls. The game will likely be a close one, however. The Moguls dropped Throckmorton 14 to 12 early in the season, while just last Friday night the Greyhounds defeated Merkel 13 to 7.

After Friday night, the Moguls will "track" their uniforms until another season, and local fans, many of whom will accompany the team to Merkel, will center their thoughts on other forms of athletics.

An all-out effort to get citizens of this area to take advantage of the free service offered by the mobile chest X-ray unit, which will be here Friday and Saturday of this week, is being made by the sponsors.

The State Health Department's mobile unit will be in Munday both days, being located in the Cybert Garage building, just east of Atkeison's. Sponsoring units are the Munday Study Club and Circle II of the Methodist Women's Missionary Society. Active in the work are Mrs. D. C. Eiland, Mrs. Charles McCauley and Mrs. Ben Bowden.

Free x-rays will be made between the hours of 8:30 a. m. and 5:30 p. m. each day. Every person from 15 years up in this area are urged to be at the Cybert Garage building on one of these days. On the mobile unit's last visit to this area, only about 30 per cent of the population of Knox County took advantage of the free x-rays. Officials of the health department have indicated that the unit will not visit here again unless better response is obtained this year.

The unit was in Knox City on Tuesday and Wednesday and will be here Friday and Saturday. These are the only towns in the county to be visited.

"This is not a charity movement, but a free service offered by the State Health Department, officials said. "They want everyone possible to take these free x-rays in order to help discover and combat diseases of the chest and respiratory system. Your cooperation on this visit will assure the unit's visit to the county at some future time." This is the third time the unit has made a visit to Knox County.

WHAT FIXES GASOLINE PRICES?

How are the prices of oil products established? Who or what is responsible for them. Is the job done by human dictate or by some other force? The head of a mid-western oil company has answered those questions, using the oil industry's most-widely used product, gasoline, as the example.

He said, "It does not lie within the power of this or any other oil company to determine gasoline prices. Prices are made by markets, and all oil companies competing for a given market are under the same economic pressures. These economic pressures are ceaselessly at work to cause fluctuations in the price of gasoline at the pump."

If a company tries to sell at a price which is too high, he continued, "business will be lost to its competitors. If too low to cover costs of finding, transporting and refining the oil, the company cannot stay in business except at ruinous loss."

Then he observed that his own company had recently made a substantial cut in its gasoline prices at service stations—a cut which may cost it several million dollars. It took steps because it had to in order to meet the competition—and because competitive forces had created a down cycle in the price swing.

Price changes, whether up or down, reflect the natural and irresistible forces of supply and demand in a free competitive economy.

NO SUBSTITUTE FOR GOOD MONEY

A study made by the National Association of Manufacturers of the costs of living and the purchasing power of the dollar contains food for serious thought.

Between the first of 1953 and July, 1954, the consumers price index increased only 1.5 per cent and the purchasing power of the dollar declined only 1.1 cents. In the two prior years, by contrast, the cost of living rose 10.4 per cent and the dollar's value shrank by 9.2 cents. The study states, "The leveling off of prices occurred after the discontinuation of price controls, while during price control, the cost of living kept climbing."

In short, when producers and retailers got back on an open competitive basis, free of governmental dictation, prices virtually stabilized after years of steady inflation. What will the advocates of the controls say to that fact?

WELL-BEING OF NATION AT STAKE

Nation's Business recently summarized the coal situation, as it exists now and as it is expected to be in the future. The conclusions reached certainly show how difficult and serious the coal problem is.

Coal's long range future, says the magazine, is bright—output and demand probably will double in 20 years. But, it continues, "the present is dark." This year's bituminous production will be less than that of 1907. Mining employment is now below the 1890 figure. Some 2400 soft coal mines have closed in the past three years.

It is obvious that if coal is to be capable of doubling production in 20 years, it must be a progressive, profit-making going concern in the meantime. It is equally obvious that skilled miners can't wait years for jobs to open up—and that if coal continues in a state of depression, young men won't enter mining in sufficient numbers.

The coal industry, the other basic industries which require coal, and government experts—all are searching for solutions to this dilemma. Success is vital to the security and well-being of the whole country.

GIVE $50,000 TO YOUR CHURCH

During his lifetime any man can contribute up to $50,000 to his church—in terms of money and service. That striking thought comes from Robert W. Lawson, editor of the Union-Republican, Alvia, Iowa, and a Lutheran lay leader.

"If men were to give more time and money to their churches," he went on, "the influence of the Christian philosophy would rise in a dramatic and significant manner in our own community and throughout the world. . . . Some church-goers who shove a five-dollar bill over the liquor store counter for a fifth of whiskey just can't seem to shake another five-spot from their fingers into their church treasuries."

If ever a sorry world was in need of a Christian resurgence, this is the time. And that demands both money and manpower.

ESSENTIALS OF CHRIST'S WILL

Salvation is a free gift of God's grace through the will of Jesus Christ. But salvation depends on man accepting Christ's terms.

Some people would say that meeting the conditions of Christ's will amounts to earning salvation. But if you were willed $100,000 upon the condition that you collected the money in Munday, Texas, would you have worked for it?

FREE GIFT

Indeed not. It was a free gift to you, depending only upon your willingness to meet the provision in the will.

Some people today expect forgiveness of sins from Jesus on the same basis he forgave sins when he was upon the earth, but such cannot be obtained.

ESSENTIALS OF A WILL

(1) Testator or will-maker. Someone capable of (having authority) to make a will, such as Christ.

(2) An estate—Jesus had the greatest estate of all, the gift of salvation.

(3) Conditions must be indicated. While salvation is a free gift, stipulations are attached to Christ's will, certain conditions which must be complied with.

(4) Death of the testator—necessary to make the will effective. "For where a testament is, there must also of necessity be the death of the testator. For a testament is of force after men are dead, otherwise it is of no strength at all while the testator liveth." (Heb. 9:16-17.)

(5) Probation. This was done in heaven, where Christ was exalted at the right hand of God.

(6) Executors. If one wants to know how to gain the free gift of salvation through Christ's will, one should go to those chosen to execute Christ's will, namely the apostles. And the apostle Peter urged believers on this side of the cross to repent and be baptized for the forgiveness of their sins. (Acts 2:36-38.)

(7) Heirs. Salvation is to all who meet the terms of Christ's will. "Not everyone that saith unto me, Lord, Lord, shall enter the kingdom of heaven, but he that doeth the will of my Father which is in heaven." (Matt. 7:21.)

PAYNE HATTOX, Evangelist

The little iron kettle that the traveler sees beside the highway as he enters Grand Saline represents the beginning of the great salt industry there.

When the industry was 100 years old, on December 17, 1945, the writer visited Grand Saline and from J. E. Hanes, manager of the Morton Salt Company, and from the Grand Saline Sun, the story was obtained of the growth of the industry until 350 men were employed in connection with the mining hundreds of feet below the earth's surface.

It was in the closing days of the Republic of Texas that the industry started. However, one can go back even beyond that, for the Indians knew of the salt and utilized it. The Cherokees obtained the land in 1834 by treaty and made salt by evaporating water from a salt marsh which was on the surface, of course—and over the center of what has since been found to be the salt dome.

Mrs. E. J. Persons, Sr., who made a study of the history of the deposit, has recorded that the redskins used iron kettles to boil away the water and that they carried some of the salt to Nacogdoches to barter for things they needed.

The Grand Saline dome is circular in shape at the top and is about a mile and a quarter in diameter. The dome lies about 200 feet below the surface of the ground, with total depth unknown.

When the land was thrown open for settlement, partnership agreement was entered into for the purpose of making salt, between John Jordan and A. T. McGee, dated December 17, 1845. The settlement was known as Jordan's Saline and salt was made by boiling down the marsh brine in kettles. One of these is the kettle to be seen as you enter Grand Saline on the west and another is on the east.

Frederick J. Hamm acquired the properties in 1857. The output was small, due to the crude methods of manufacturing and transportation difficulties, the salt being hauled to towns on the east in wagons. In 1895, S. Q. Richardson bought Hamm out and made improvements, digging shallow wells and installing a pump operated by oxen on a treadmill. Gum logs were hollowed out and joined together to form a pipeline from the pump to the kettles.

During the War between the States, the Richardson salt works were taken over and operated by the Confederate government. The production was about 100 sacks a day, a sack being 100 pounds. After the war the plant was turned back to Richardson.

In 1874, the Texas and Pacific Railroad came and the community was renamed Grand Saline. Another salt works was established and, after various changes in ownership, the industry there was purchased by the Morton Salt Company. Both the evaporation process (from wells) and mining are done. The shaft struck salt at 200 feet but drilling continued an additional 500 feet. Sixteen months being required to sink the shaft.

The mine is worked on a room and pillar system, similar to coal mining, except the rooms and galleries are larger. The rock salt is blasted loose with charges of dynamite. The mine is electrically operated throughout, a scraper loading the salt into a hopper on a conveyor belt

CALVES SELL BETTER STOCKERS IN GAINS

FORT WORTH — Improved moisture conditions in the territory gave the calf market a hand up Monday at Fort Worth. The stronger prices were triggered by broader stocker demand when same sales of replacement calves and yearlings were 50 cents to $1 higher. Some heifer calves at $18 and some stocker heifer yearlings at $17 represented best sales of those types in some time and were particularly noteworthy since both prices were made by straight bunches of heifers which had no steers to help them move into the higher sales range.

Salesmen were usually showing the heavyweight calves of the light yearling types to cattle buyers and as a result getting away better than when showing them to calf buyers. While most strictly calf weights were topping around $7.50 for slaughter, some of the heavyweights were able to sell into the $18 to $21.50 bracket as light yearlings when fancy fat.

Cows were selling measurably better than at the close last week, although beef buyers were inclined to be pessimistic in view of the approach of Thanksgiving. Fed steers and yearlings sold steady to 25 cents lower. Packers pointed to the severe turkey and broiler chickens as well as the liberal run of hogs being reported around the major marketing circle Monday as evidence of the kind of competition was running into across the butcher centers. Price pressure, especially from poultry, was reported very severe by packers.

Several loads of well finished steers sold in the $20 to $23.50 range at Fort Worth Monday and the plain and medium sorts sold around $12 to $18 with cut-yearlings and heifers from $8 to $12.

Fat cows drew $7.50 to $11 and canners and cutters sold mostly from $5 to $8, some light shells below $5 still. Bulls sold from $8 to $12.

Good and choice slaughter calves of light and medium weight sold from $13 to $17.50 while choice and prime heavies sold frequently as light yearlings into the $18 to $21 bracket. Lower grade calves drew $7 to $13.

Good and choice stocker steer calves drew $15 to $20, and yearlings sold from $19 down. Heifer calves topped at $18 for stocker and heifer yearling stockers sold from $17 down. Replacement cows cashed at $8 to $12. All cow shipments were being sorted closely and those suitable for stockers were going back to the country in recent weeks has given rise to some misgivings as to whether the cow herd in the part of the country will actually be reduced this year or not.

LAMBS SELLING HIGHER; OLD SHEEP STEADY

Shorn fat lambs topped at $18.50 at Fort Worth Monday, a shipment from Pecos County at that price selling as strongly as at any time in the past three weeks. Woolled lambs of the good to choice kinds sold from $18 to $20. Feeders at $15 were considered fully steady to stronger, the kind and quality considered.

Old wethers drew $7 to $11, and yearling muttons cashed at $9 to $14.50. Old ewes drew $5 to $6 and breeding eyes sold from $6 to $12. Very good demand for suitable breeding ewes was again evident on all sides. Old bucks sold around $4, some higher for stocker purposes.

Movement of sheep and lambs was curtailed at all market points on Monday, bearing out the seasonable trend toward smaller marketings. The latest lamb feeding prospectus issued by USDA says that not much change in the numbers of lambs to be fed was evident at end of October, as compared with a year ago at the same time.

In the Southwest, dry weather kept sizeable numbers of lambs off grain field pastures, whereas a year ago in favored areas a good many sheep and lambs did well on these pastures.

HOGS WEAKEN AS BIG CORN BELT RUNS SHOW

Hog prices at Fort Worth were weak to mostly 25 cents lower Monday. Sows held steady. All major markets reported lower hog prices as 12 major markets reported 120,000 hogs on hand Monday. This was one of the biggest uns of the season so far. Top at Fort Worth Monday was $19.50 to $19.75 and sows sold at $18 down.

1955 Dodge, On Display, Introduces New Advanced Concept In Its Designs

DETROIT—The 1955 Dodge passenger car line, an advanced concept in automotive body design, was introduced this week in dealers' showrooms across the nation.

William C. Newberg, Dodge president, explained that car stylists have blended aircraft sleekness and power into a "design of refreshing beauty."

He revealed that Dodge engineers have incorporated over 100 structural and mechanical innovations in the longer, lower and wider 1955 line. He said all four door sedans have a distinct touch of hard top styling.

Offering three series—the new luxurious Custom Royal, the richly appointed Royal and the classic Coronet—the '55 Dodge has a built-in look of action, resulting from its swept-back design.

Performance to bear out the air-slicing swiftness in styling is provided by a wide choice of engines—the "Get-Away Six" developing 123 horsepower, the all-new Red Ram V-8 rated at 175 horsepower, the Super Red Ram at 183 horsepower, and the super-powered Super Red Ram V-8 at 193 horsepower.

From front to rear the 1955 Dodge conveys an impression of classic, clean-lined simplicity. A feeling of streamlined flight is embodied in the car from the twin-opening grille to the twin-jet taillights.

All 14 models have an increased wheelbase of 120 inches. Overall length is increased by as much as 16 inches on some models, but the cars appear even more lengthy due to Dodge's flair styling.

Moving from the massive chrome grille is a dashing V-type hood ornament, accenting the low, sweeping hood and fast line of the front fenders. Chrome hoods over headlights further emphasize the impression of forward motion.

"New Horizon" windshields wrap around at both top and bottom of the glass for improved and safer vision. The windshield provides cockpit-like visibility for driver and front seat passengers.

The "tumble home," or inboard slant of the car's sides above the belt line, creates an appearance of low, road hugging massiveness. Doors, too, are new and different—partly cut back, but wider for easy entry.

Novel treatment of flared rear wheel openings provides a speed enhanced style feature. The rear deck continues the theme of motion, while increasing usable trunk space by two cubic feet to 37.6 cubic feet with spare tire installed.

Granny Drives But Won't "Shift"

Saw Grandma Taylor parking her 1924 Franklin out front the other day. Neat as a pin, radiator and hub caps gleaming—the whole car is as shiny as the day she bought it 30 years ago.

Then I stopped and looked again—for there, hanging on the spare tire was a sign: "This car NOT for sale."

Asked Granny what was going on. "Joe," she says, "it's this crazy for old cars. Everybody wants to buy my Franklin. But it has served for years and it's not for sale at any price."

From where I sit, it's strictly the new cars for me—but Grandma Taylor, and others, are certainly welcome to their "old faithfuls." It's simply a question of preference. Same with a choice of beverages. For instance, I like a temperate glass of beer with supper. You may prefer coffee. Fine! The important thing is that we respect each other's choice—and "ride along smoothly" together.

Plymouth Announces Bigger And More Powerful Cars In The New 1955 Models

DETROIT—Plymouth's bigger and more powerful 1955 model cars were displayed by dealers throughout the nation beginning Wednesday, November 17. President John P. Mansfield of Plymouth Motor Corporation, announced today.

The 1955 Plymouths are entirely new, both in styling and engineering detail, Mansfield said. They are lower, longer and wider than previous Plymouth cars.

They are the most powerful car Plymouth ever built. The 1955 engines are 117-horsepower PowerFlow six, a 157-horsepower Hy-Fire V-8 and a 167-horsepower Hy-Fire V-8. The latter engine also is available with a four-barrel carburetor and special manifold which increases its horsepower to 177.

Plymouth offers as optional equipment a full range of automatic and power assist devices. They include PowerFlite fully automatic no clutch transmission, a new design coaxial full-time power steering, power operated front seat adjustments, power-operated window regulators, and adjustable speed electric windshield wipers. Air conditioning by Airtemp also is available as special equipment.

The 1955 line is made up of 12 models, including for the first time four-door versions of the Plymouth Suburban, the all steel body "station wagon" type car which Plymouth pioneered in 1949.

Mansfield said the 1955 models are all new in a more basic sense than at any previous new model introduction in the company's history.

"We started three years ago to design them," he said. "Everything is new. This applies not only to their styling and interior decor but also to the body structural details, the frame, the suspension system, the interior ventilating and heating system and many other features. It literally is true that our 1955 models are new from bumper to bumper."

"RIDING A SEESAW"

You are familiar with the principle of the common seesaw; changes in weight at either end causes it to move up or down.

By the illustration of this children's toy, you can readily see how changes in livestock supplies causes the prices of cattle to vary. These changes may be from day to day, week to week, or month to month.

The biggest cause of changes in the see-saw of cattle prices from week to week is in the changes in the number of head sold for slaughter. When less cattle is sold during a particular week, it means that meat packers have less beef to sell and that the price of cattle can generally be expected to rise.

On the other hand, when numbers of cattle sold increase substantially, it means that packers have a lot of meat to sell and that producers can expect a decline in beef prices.

Changes in the wholesale price of beef are reflected in the prices bid for cattle. Here we see the economic see-saw in action. The prices producers can expect to receive for their livestock is governed by the amount of beef available in the market.

Feed supplies, weather, seasons and how the market looks to a particular stockman at a particular time are a few of the factors that enter into the all-important decision of when he should market his cattle. But in the final analysis, it is the daily decision of hundreds of cattlemen all over Texas that govern where to market their cattle, the for slaughter.

To help Texas stockmen in their decision of when and where to market their cattle, the Market News Service makes available a daily bulletin on the State cattle market. Requests for free copies should be sent to the Texas Market News Service, Department of Agriculture, Austin 14, Texas.

Mrs. David Clark received a telephone call from her husband Saturday night that he had landed at San Francisco, Calif., and would get his discharge there. He will probably be home the last of this week. S/Sgt. Clark has served the past 15 months with the Air Force in Japan.

Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Williams of Ballinger were week end guests of Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Wren.

Mr. and Mrs. E. O. Tuggle and daughter of Wayside spent the week end with her sister and husband. Mr. and Mrs. Dee Mullican, and with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Tuggle.

Luther Hester and Clayton Strickland of Rochester were business visitors here last Tuesday. While here Mr. Hester ordered the Times to his home for a year.

Goree Girls Employed By Lone Star Gas Company Get Together At Munday

Four young women who live in Goree but commute daily to three different Lone Star Gas Company offices in this area, got together in the Munday office recently for a group picture.

It was to be used in the Company's employee magazine, Blue Blaze, and Munday seemed like a central point where they could all meet. But after the picture was made they spent the 30 minutes before closing time, comparing notes on their work.

The girls included Eva Hudson, Pauline Searcey, Verna Lee Rawlins and Jessie May Rawlins. All are junior clerks with the company except Verna Lee, who has worked longer and carries the title of clerk in the Seymour office.

Hostess for the group was Eva Hudson of the Munday office, and she was plying with questions about customer contacts and sales and records.

Since both Rawlins sisters work in Seymour which is a larger office, equipped with a long customer counter, they were interested in the fact that Eva keeps her cash in a desk drawer and waits on customers seated at her desk instead of having to get up from the desk and walk to the counter.

Pauline Searcey is a junior clerk in the Knox City office which has the same arrangement.

This story began in October, 1951, when Verna Lee Rawlins went to work for Lone Star in its Seymour district office. She liked the work so well that when Jessie May graduated from Goree High School the following January, Verna Lee steered her around to the Seymour office and a similar job with the company.

Then Eva Hudson became interested, there was still another opening at Seymour. Eva went to work there in May, 1952.

Like other folks in Goree, Pauline Searcey heard so much about Lone Star from her friends that she, too, began to think in terms of a career with Lone Star. Eva put in a good word for her friend and when a job opened up in the Knox City office, Pauline was hired. That was in April, 1953, and Pauline spent April to June training in the Seymour office which is district headquarters for all three towns.

Eva Hudson was transferred to Munday in July, 1953.

Now, all four of the girls commute from their homes to their jobs every day. Only the Rawlins sisters can ride together, however, although each has her own car.

Eva drives a Plymouth. Pauline borrows either the family Oldsmobile or pickup, for her round trip to Knox City and home.

Their recent visit together at Munday, arranged for them by District Manager Roy Day at Seymour, was just a sample of what happens on week ends when they all meet on the street or shopping in Goree. You can bet the conversation always gets 'round to Lone Star and "what's cooking" in the gas industry.

Knox Prairie Philosopher Amazed At The Income Tax Collector's Idea On Judging His Neighbor's Income Tax

Editor's note: The Knox Prairie Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Miller Creek discusses incomes this week, a matter mostly theoretical with him. Dear editor:

It has long been my observation that some men are almost up on the feminine level when it comes to being curious about how much money other men make and the current controversy over the new-fangled method of sending out income tax forms has emphasized the point.

As you know by now, the government has designed a system of easy handling of income tax notices, with colored stripes around the outside of the envelopes indicating what income bracket the tax payer is in. While this makes it easy for the government clerks in sorting out the notices for mailing, it also gives people a chance to observe what income bracket their neighbors are in, and it's this point which has set up a howl throughout the country, lots of people contending notices ought to be sent in plain envelopes so nobody can tell what bracket they're in.

In answering this complaint, Internal Revenue Commissioner Andrews in Washington said it was a lot of political nonsense. "In the first place," he said, "don't know anybody who cares who knows how much money he makes," which, if you ask me, indicates Mr. Andrews don't know the same people I know.

But he didn't stop there. He went on to say, "If people want to go snooping, they'll find out anyhow. There are a thousand and one ways to approximate a person's income—by the way he eats, dresses, the number of children he supports, the automobiles he drives."

When I read this, I had to walk around the room to make sure I was reading it right.

If there's any way to tell what a man's income is not, it's following the plan Mr. Andrews outlines. Some of the best dressed people I ever saw owed the most money and had the least chances of ever paying it back. Any banker who set out to judge a man's income by the clothes he wears, or the clothes his wife wears, wouldn't be in the banking business long. Drivin a long automobile these days ain't no more of an index to your income than owning a television set or an innerspring mattress. Judging a man's income bracket by what he eats is about as accurate as estimating the size of his house mortgage by the way he trims his lawn or by the color of his bathtub. And as for judging a man's income by the number of children he has, I tell you, that floors me. Maybe it can be done in Washington, but it sure can't out here in my neck of the woods.

By the way, yesterday mornin a man in a new 1955 convertible stalled on the road out here near my place and asked me to lend him a dollar to get some gas with. What income bracket you reckon he's in?

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Weekly Health LETTER

Issued by Henry A. Holle, M. D., State Health Officer of Texas

AUSTIN—You can catch a cold from a person who has a cold when you take in more of his cold germs than your body defenses can destroy. This is apt to happen when you are tired, and somebody is coughing or sneezing around you, says Dr. Henry A. Holle, State Health Officer.

Avoid taking in large masses of the germs by staying away from the person who has a cold; by staying out of crowded places during a cold epidemic; by washing your hands before you eat and after contact with a cold-infected person, or articles he has handled.

Keep your general health high by getting plenty of sleep; by eating regular well-balanced meals and drinking plenty of water; by getting some outdoor exercise every day; and by letting sunshine and fresh air into your home, office or factory.

Don't lower your resistance by getting too tired, over-heated or chilled. Avoid sitting in dried out, smoke, dust or chemical laden air. Dress according to the weather and the temperature in which you must work.

Go to bed, get as much rest as possible. Protect others by covering your mouth and nose when you cough or sneeze, and by washing your hands frequently, especially before handling food, cooking utensils or dishes.

Don't try to treat yourself. If your cold symptoms persist or if you develop fever or chest pain, call your doctor and follow his advice.

Amendments To Social Security Act To Include Farmers Effective January 1st

The Amendments to the Social Security Act which President Eisenhower signed into law on September 1, 1954, are of particular importance to both farm operators and farm workers in this area, Erton F. Tate, manager of the Wichita Falls Social Security District Office, said today.

The new law extends social security protection to almost all farm families after this year. Nationwide, about 3,600,000 self-employed farmers are covered for the first time in much the same way as other self-employment persons under the program. Approximately 1,100,000 more hired farm workers will start building old-age and survivors protection for themselves and their families on January 1, 1955.

This means that by the time they have worked through two more crop years, elderly farm people may be insured, so that they can receive monthly security checks after 65. A farmer's family will be protected, too, so that if he should die, at any age, the widow and children would receive monthly payments. For a retired farmer and his wife, the payments will be from $45 to almost $163 a month, depending upon his earnings, while the family of an insured worker who dies will receive from $45 to $200 a month.

The amended law does away with the complicated "regularly employed" test whereby a worker had to be continuously employed by a farm operator before his work started to count toward social security. Also eliminated is the provision that he must then be employed by the same farm operator on a full-time basis for at least sixty days during the following quarter. The amended law replaces this test with the requirement that, beginning January 1, 1955, an agricultural employee will be covered by social security in any calendar year, in which he is paid as much as $100 in cash by one farm employer.

Given coverage for the first time as of January 1, 1955 are cotton-gin workers. They will earn social security credit in the same way as other agricultural employees who they are paid $100 in a year by an employer. As heretofore, Mexican contract workers, and workers in the production of gun naval stores (Turpentine) do not have coverage.

Farm operators and workers who have never been in employment or self-employment covered by social security and have never had a social security account card, or have lost their card, should get in touch with the nearest Social Security District office, Tate declared. The social security office in Wichita Falls, Texas is at Room 425, Federal Building. If it is not convenient for a farmer or farm worker to visit that office, he can get an application blank at the post office and mail it to the above address.
