A year makes a big difference.

Just a year ago last Saturday—only last year it was Friday, March 13—Knox City was visited with a devastating tornado, which also hit the Jud and O'Brien areas.

Many persons were killed and injured, many homes were left in wreckage as the tornado cut a great swath of destruction through the little town.

It appeared that Knox City would be a long time in getting rid of the scars of that terrible day, as one drove down the littered streets, the rain still falling, ambulances screaming as they carried injured to other hospitals after our own hospital was badly damaged.

But a year later, the town bore but few signs of that Friday, the 13th.

The hospital was quickly repaired and back into operations, new homes sprung up where others had been demolished, a new ultra-modern Knox City clinic was built, and today, one has to rely a great deal on his memory to recall that devastated scene of a year ago.

When one remembers, too, how the Red Cross stepped in and helped those homeless people—how Munday people helped out with their money, clothing, etc., it's a little hard to conceive how this community, just a year later, can be lagging in its Red Cross fund drive.

Knox City didn't lag. E. R. (Skeet) Carpenter was chairman of the drive over there. He reported the drive was conducted one day, Saturday, March 6, and a total of $726.00 was deposited to the fund.

Reports last week were that Munday had obtained only about half of her quota.

Drove out to the club house Monday.

The repairing and refinishing work being done there is coming along pretty nicely.

We kinda picked it up among the members that they're planning open house out there Thursday.

In talking with the keeper, he said he hoped to have the windows cleaned by then.

We've paid our taxes on the drainage district for last year. Now, we'd like to get our money's worth.

Wouldn't it be a pretty sight—seeing that drainage ditch in operation again, carrying off the surplus water?

Sunday was a right peaceful day. A little on the cool side, but as the day kinda brought an end to a dry, dusty week, one didn't mind the cool too much.

We stopped H. R. Hicks Monday to ask if he saved any of his fruit crop.

"Not this last spell," he said, "I think that spell got it all."

One reason we are interested was that during the freeze before the last one, Bob got a bunch of "smudge pots" going to save the peach crop.

It reminds us, too, what O. C. Harrison had in his "Passing Day" column of the Baylor County Banner several weeks ago.

"No use worrying about the fruit crop this year," he said, "It's going to get killed anyway."

"Oh, where is my boy tonight? That's a song we used to hear years ago."

But according to our local chief of police, there are some Munday parents who should be asking themselves that question—then set out to find the answer to it.

Senior Class To Present Play Friday Night

The senior class of Munday High School will present its annual class play, "Me And My Shadow," in the school auditorium on Friday night, March 19, at eight o'clock.

This is a three-act comedy by J. Vincent Barrett. The entire scene is in the living room of the Harrington family in a small mid-western city. Roy Harrington is a young attorney, whose mother-in-law, Mrs. King, has never quite approved of his marriage to her daughter, Arleen. Arleen is studying first aid and practices on everyone she meets. She is going to a lecture in a neighboring city and hates to leave her husband alone, so she induces Roy's friend, Dr. Bruce Douglas to spend the night with Roy.

On his way home from taking Arleen to the bus station, Roy saves a mysterious young East Indian girl from being run over by a train. She is unconscious when Roy brings her home to see what Dr. Bruce can do for her. Both boys are amazed when the girl comes to and declares that because Roy saved her life, she now belongs to him. She is determined henceforth to be his slave. The boys try to rid themselves of her, but to no avail.

To further complicate matters, Mrs. King arrives unannounced. Then a nosy neighbor's interference makes things still worse. When Arleen arrives and finds the young Indian girl with her husband and wearing her clothes, things really happen.

The cast is composed of the following seniors: Roy Harrington, Jimmy Morgan; Arleen, his wife, Billie Jean Tuggles; Mrs. King, Barbara Phillips; Susan Fisher, Shirley Davis; Bruce Douglas, Dick Ponder; Georgia Butler, Bera Faye Spann; "Shadow," Johnny Matthews; Hickson, Bobby Killian; Sabu, Joe Lynn Phillips.

Entertainment during the intermission will be furnished by Dick Ponder, Joe Lynn Phillips, Harold Jackson and Bud Phillips. Assisting on the stage will be Jerry Bob Goodwin, Walter Owens, Gene Haney and Leon Johnson.

The religious motion picture entitled "The Beginning of the Rainbow" will be shown at 7 o'clock Sunday evening at the First Methodist Church. The film tells the story of a "modern" young lady who is looking for happiness. She and her friends finally come to the realization that the greatest joys in life are to be found in the assurance of eternal happiness which God has given us through faith in Christ. The general public is invited to see the film.

ANNOUNCE SCF CLOTHING CRUSADE FOR NEEDY CHILDREN

Munday Public Schools will take part in the state-wide Save-The-Children "Bundle Week" drive to collect used clothing for needy children, it was announced today by Superintendent W. C. Cox. The drive, which is part of the Twelfth Annual Children's Clothing Crusade, will take place here on March 22nd and will last for 5 days.

Three million pounds of wearable clothing have been set as the national goal. Last year in the Eleventh National Children's Clothing Crusade, nearly 5 million pupils collected a total of 2,900,000 pounds of clothing, approximately five million garments.

"We cannot stress too much the desperate need for clothing that exists among children in this country and overseas," Superintendent Cox said. "I am sure the citizens of Munday will want to lend a helping hand. Bundle Week provides a practical and effective means of clothing collection, and at the same time, teaches youth in our schools to share with the less fortunate. Participation in the National Children's Clothing Crusade will help foster a sense of brotherhood and lay a foundation for international good-will."

Clothing collected by the Federation is used to aid needy children and families in Korea, in war-depleted countries of Europe and the Middle East, and in disadvantaged rural areas of the United States.

More than nine million Korean men, women and children are homeless refugees in their own country. At the request of United States Government authorities, the Save The Children Federation continues to send warm clothing and shoes to these victims of Communist aggression.

In many countries of Europe the scars of war have not healed. Save the Children Federation representatives in Europe report that clothing needs are particularly acute in many areas of Italy, and in Greece, where villagers who fled from Communist aggression have returned to their native homes only to find them in ruins.

In the United States clothing is distributed in low-income rural areas of eight Southern and Midwestern states and on the Navajo and Papago Indian reservations. If it were not for the Bundle Week collections, thousands of these rural children would not be able to attend school because of the lack of adequate clothing.

Superintendent Cox said that wearable clothing of all types, in babies', children's and adult sizes; blankets, sheets and other bedding; and low-heeled shoes are especially needed.

"I hope we will give a bit of ourselves with these gifts, by cleaning and mending the garments so they will express our good wishes for the children who receive them," he said.

A large number of shipping bags have been ordered from the Federation, and leaflets will be given to all children in the school system to take home during the drive, stating the purpose of the drive and asking the cooperation of parents.

"The remodeling of the club house is near completion, and it will be well worth while just to see it."

Bond Election Is Called For Park Project

Acting on a petition circulated by Munday's civic groups and signed by the required number of qualified voters, the city council of Munday has ordered a bond election for Monday, April 5, to decide whether bonds in the amount of $20,000 shall be issued for the purpose of "park improvements."

The petition was circulated by those of Munday primarily interested in the construction of a municipal swimming pool. This movement has been under way for some time and has been gaining in interest by those who desire a swimming pool for the youth of the area.

It was pointed out two weeks ago that a representative of an investment and securities agency in Fort Worth, after reviewing the financial structure of the city, explained that such a bond issue is possible for the city under the existing tax rate and without any increase in the present tax rate.

The order of election appearing in this issue of the Times states the proposition as follows:

"Shall the City Council of the City of Munday, Texas, be authorized to issue the bonds of said City in the amount of Twenty Thousand ($20,000.00) Dollars, maturing serially in such installments as may be fixed by the City Council, the maximum maturity being not more than thirty-five (35) years from their date, and bearing interest at a rate not to exceed Five (5%) per cent per annum for the purpose of purchasing and improving land for park purposes, and to levy a tax sufficient to pay interest as it accrues and principal as it matures on said issue of bonds."

A large number of the local teachers attended the Oil Belt Teachers Meeting held in the Abilene High School last Friday and Saturday. Outstanding speakers of the state gave talks during both days.

ATOMIC ENERGY AND THE FUTURE

There is hope and confidence, based on scientific knowledge, that eventually atomic energy, which has so far served only as an incredibly destructive force, can make an immeasurable contribution to the arts of peace, primarily as a source of electric power.

The question is whether the enormous amount of work and research that must be done before this goal can be approached will be continued as an iron-clad government monopoly—or whether the law will be amended to allow private enterprise, with its vast human and financial resources and "know how" to participate.

Those who favor such amendments include the present chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission, Lewis L. Strauss, past chairman Gordon Dean and David Lilienthal, and such leading atomic scientists as Harold Urey. The amendments proposed would in no way weaken the government's ability to protect atomic secrets and to prevent misuse of this staggering force. Production of nuclear weapons would, of course, remain the province of government alone. The role of private enterprise would simply be to help bring a peace time atomic age into being as soon as possible.

Suppose that from the very beginning the internal combustion engine, which has literally transformed the world, has been a monopoly of government? Can anyone seriously believe that in that case it would have served mankind as it has? Monopoly, whether governmental or private, always blocks and in some cases actually stifles progress. This is the fact we must not forget in deciding our future toward the atom and its yet barely-touched secrets.

FREEDOM OF CHOICE

"You must join and pay dues to a labor union, or else give up your job—that is a compulsion which is now being imposed upon hundreds of thousands of 'free' American citizens . . .

"That this is as wrong as it could possibly be, seems beyond argument or question. The right and freedom to join a labor union is no longer denied anywhere in this country. It is protected by federal law. But the corresponding right and freedom to stay out of a union is not so protected and is now becoming rapidly extinguished in this, our 'land of liberty' . . .

"If this be not a form of tyranny, then what is it? It is a denial of individual freedom of choice. It is a levy of tribute, in behalf of private organization, for the privilege of working and earning a living. It is an oppression of minorities and a compelled allegiance, which arouses natural and bitter resentment. It moreover creates a condition of monopoly, which in the long run will inevitably work to the injury of employers, employees and the general public alike.

"The principle at stake is simple, basic and vital, individual liberty means freedom to join a lawful organization and freedom not to join. It means the one as truly as it means the other!

"A bill has been introduced in Congress which would assure to every American citizen that he has a right to join a labor union or not to join, as he may see fit, and that he shall not be subjected to any requirement or compulsion in either direction. This certainly ought to be the law in this land."

A NEW ERA FOR YOUR DOLLAR

That dollar of yours has taken a fearful beating, as far as purchasing power is concerned. But things are looking up, in the view of Sylvia Porter, a widely syndicated write on business affairs.

In one of her late columns, she said: "It's a new era for your dollar. For the third consecutive year, the dollar you are earning, saving, spending, borrowing, lending or investing is a 'stable' dollar. Its buying power no longer is being slashed by vicious inflation—soaring prices, increasingly shoddy goods, black markets. Your dollar is holding its own. It is buying better quality goods, and greater variety of products . . . It is becoming worthwhile to save because its value in the marketplace has steadied. At the same time, it is becoming more worthwhile to spend because it commands higher quality and variety of goods at staple prices."

We can see this situation in our retail stores today. Naturally, the dollar doesn't buy what it did in past times—current wages, taxes and other costs preclude that. But its value isn't going steadily downhill either. As Miss Porter also observed, " . . . it has regained respect and respectability." Let's all pray it keeps those characteristics.

"It is government's responsibility in a free society to create an environment in which individual enterprise can work constructively to serve the ends of economic progress."—President Eisenhower.

WE ARE SAVED . . . BUT NOT ONLY

We are saved by faith . . . "Therefore being justified by faith, we have peace with God through our Lord Jesus Christ." (Rom. 5:1).

But not by faith only because . . . We are saved by repentance.

"Repent and be baptized every one of you in the name of Jesus Christ for the remission of sins." (Acts 2:38).

But not by repentance only because . . . We are saved by confession.

"For with the heart man believeth unto righteousness; and with the mouth confession is made unto salvation." (Rom. 10:10).

But we are not saved by confession only . . . We are saved by baptism.

"The like figure whereunto even baptism doth also now save us." (1 Pet. 3:21).

But we are not saved by baptism only . . . We are saved by hope.

"For we are saved by hope; but hope that is seen is not hope: for what a man seeth, why doth he yet hope for?" (Rom. 8:24).

But we are not saved by hope only . . . We are saved by works.

"Ye see then how that by works a man is justified and not faith only." (James 2:24).

But we are not saved by works only . . . We are saved by the gospel.

"For I am not ashamed of the gospel of Christ: for it is the power of God unto salvation to every one that believeth." (Rom. 1:16).

It takes all of anything to make a whole, not just a part. It takes all of the gospel to save and not one part ONLY.

CLIFFORD WILSON, Evangelist

A schoolboy declamation back in grandpa's day was this speech by the Irish orator, Charles Phillips, on "Napoleon":

He is fallen! We may now pause before that splendid prodigy which towered among us like an ancient ruin, whose frown terrified the glance its magnificence attracted.

Grand, gloomy and peculiar, he sat upon the throne, a sceptered hermit, wrapped in the solitude of his own originality.

With no friends but his sword and no fortune but his talents, he rushed into the lists where rank and wealth and genius had arrayed themselves, and competition fled from him as from the glance of destiny.

He knew no motive but interest; he acknowledged no criterion but success; he worshipped no god but ambition; and, with an eastern devotion, he knelt at the shrine of his idolatry.

A professed Catholic, he impoverished the pope; a pretended patriot, he impoverished the country; and in the name of Brutus, he grasped without remorse and wore without shame the diadem of the Caesars.

Through the pantomime of his policy, fortune played the clown to his caprices. At his touch, crowns crumbled, beggars reigned, systems vanished, the wildest theories took the color of his whim, and all that was venerable and all that was novel changed places with the rapidity of a drama.

Nature had no obstacles that he did not surmount; space no opposition that he did not spurn; and whether amid Alpine rocks, Arabian sands or polar snow, he seemed proof against peril and empowered with obliquity. The while continent of Europe trembled at beholding the audacity of his designs and the miracle of their execution. Skepticism bowed to the prodigies of his performance; romance assumed the air of history; nor was there aught too incredible for belief or too fanciful for expectation.

when the world saw a subaltern of Corsica waving his imperial flag over her most ancient capitals.

All the visions of antiquity became commonplace in his contemplation; kings were his people; nations were his outposts, and he disposed of courts and crowns and camps and churches and cabinets as if they were the titular dignitaries of the chess-board.

He was, through all his vicissitudes, the same stern, impatient, inflexible original—the same mysterious, incomprehensible self—the man without a model and without a shadow. His fall, like his life, baffled all speculation. In short, his whole career was like a dream to the world.

Drive carefully. The life you save may be your own.

GOVERNMENT SUBSIDIES

Farm price support is an issue commanding a lot of attention and a target for much criticism in Washington this year.

What has this program cost the individual taxpayer in the past two decades? And how does it compare with government subsidies to other industries?

The total net loss to the government during 18 years of price supports was $1,303,000,000—or roughly $72 million per year. This means that each person living on the farm has received an average subsidy of $3 per year for price supports.

Looking at it another way, every person in the United States has had to pay an average of only 45¢ per person each year to maintain a solid floor under our agricultural industry.

The subsidies to airlines which have mail contracts far exceeds the farm figure. About $140 million is paid by the post office to airlines for carrying airmail each year and only about $60 million can be considered compensation for actual mail services, according to admissions by Civil Aeronautics Board to Rep. John W. Heselton (R. Mass.) and John J. Rooney (D. N.Y.).

In this case, the cost to the taxpayer for subsidizing airmail equals 88¢ per capita during the past several years, or almost double the cost of price support to the farmer.

Two kinds of subsidies are paid to the shipping industry—construction and operational. From July, 1937 to Dec. 1946, the government paid construction subsidies amounting to $380,285,242 or about $40 million per year. Operational subsidies from 1951 through 1953 amount to $144,135,782 or an average of over $48 million per year—and half this total figure was paid in the year of 1953 alone.

Apparently, the cost of subsidies is going up.

These are but two examples of government support of industry. There are hundreds of others and many of them surpass the cost of the farm price support plan which guarantees farmers of a fair price for their products. Most farmers would welcome a return to "free economy" and give up the price support if other industries would do the same. But he cannot survive on the open market when other phases of our economy enjoy protection by the government.

If the government will reduce tariffs by one-third, reduce wages by one-third, reduce the costs of living one-third, reduce the cost of machinery one-third—in short, if it will cut subsidies by one-third, straight across the board, then the farmer will go along and take his chances with the rest.

News From The U. S. Congress

Congressman Frank Beard

To everyone interested in soil or water conservation, a bill passed by the House this week should be of great interest. The bill I refer to is one that authorizes the Secretary of Agriculture to cooperate with states and local associations in planning and carrying out water and soil conservation programs by way of building upstream dams and reservoirs. This bill is the result of the attention of Congress having been focused on the destructive aspects of water which led to soil erosion, gullies, the flooding of creek bottoms and the destructive floods on large streams. Incidentally, one aspect of the program will be to make the beneficial aspects of water available to homes, industries, cities, and agriculture. We all know that the earth itself is the most marvelous reservoir of water that has ever been devised. It will hold more water than all of the structures that man can ever build upon it. The basic purpose of this bill is to hold a larger part of the water where it falls either in the earth or in small structures on the upper reaches of our streams. Water retained in this way will either soak into the ground or can be fed down to where it is needed gradually. In either case, it will not only help to decrease the damage from floods in the bottom lands but will provide additional sources of water to the upland. The main principle of this legisla-

Housecleaning Hints
By Betty Blake

Every day is cleaning day for the average housewife and anything that will "lighten the load" is welcomed with open arms. For instance, attic windows, basement windows and garage windows are usually difficult to reach—yet always seem to be in need of cleaning. This problem is now easily solved with a practical and inexpensive product obtainable from your dime store.

Vitropane, a plastic coated window covering which is applied directly to the glass, lends a frost-free effect or colorful design to those "out-of-the-way" windows. The windows not only stay cleaner much longer periods of time—but when they do get dusty, Vitropane makes it possible for you to easily clean them in only a few seconds by simply wiping with a damp cloth.

Another way to cut down on daily household cleaning chores is to cover glass doors of utility cabinets and bookcases with Vitropane. Not only will less frequent and easier cleaning be gained, but the smart designs will help brighten and beautify your home.

Vitropane is translucent and although it effectively blocks the view from the outside (as most of us prefer to have for attic, pantry and garage windows) it does not prevent daylight from coming through.

Ask the clerk at your local housewares counter for Vitropane to put an end to your "out-of-the-way" window worries.

tion is that every gallon of water that can be made to soak into the ground into a field or pasture or which is caught in a small upstream tank is one gallon of water which will be available for beneficial and constructive purposes and one which will not contribute to soil erosion or floods. This type of program is now under way in some portions of my Congressional district principally in Jack, Denton, Cooke, and Montague counties. Passage of this bill should make for an expanded program which should be very beneficial to the whole North Texas area as well as the country as a whole. Under the bill, local groups may organize and form associations for the development of an upstream water control program. It is required by law that they make certain contributions to the program such as easements and right-of-ways and in some instances a share of the cost of the program itself. If a watershed project is approved by the Secretary of Agriculture, then the Federal government will make certain contributions to its cost.

To those of us who are familiar with what an excellent job he had done as Secretary of the Navy, Bob Anderson's promotion to Deputy Secretary of Defense came as no surprise. As the Secretary of the Navy, he has been outstanding and has rendered a great service to the country. As the Deputy Secretary of Defense, his responsibilities will be increased, but I know he will handle it in a capable and efficient manner. Here in Washington Bob is one of the most highly respected men in the Eisenhower administration. The general feeling is that he will eventually move into positions of even greater responsibility and influence than that of Deputy Secretary of Defense.

Knox Prairie Philosopher Brings Bit Of Cheer To Downcast Neighbor By Helping To Increase His Rainfall

Editor's note: Frankly we don't know what to make of this letter this week from the Knox Prairie Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Miller Creek but every man to his own way of thinking.

Dear editor:

A man the other day accused me of being one-sided, said I seemed to spend all my time seeing that I was comfortable and not worryin about somebody else's comfort, said it looked like just so my cows made it through the winter, with maybe a little help from a neighbor's pasture through the courtesy of a sorry fence. I didn't save any further concern for the human race.

I wish to deny this. While it has always been my contention that a man's biggest job is to get himself and his own through the winter before he started worryin about somebody else, in fact, if everybody was able to follow that principle there wouldn't be anybody left needin help. I still would like it known that I do spend considerable thought and time on other people, frequently neglectin my own plowin to worry about national problems, although I'll admit I have never been able to put the national debt ahead of a personal debt when it comes to worryin.

But what I started out to do was to tell you about a little deed I did the other night, just to make my neighbor happy.

This neighbor has been worryin pretty deeply about the weather, about the lack of rain all over the country and especially on his land. He's one of these fellows they never have made any weather for yet that really suited him, but here lately he's been worryin more than ever. He'll get a little rain and figure the 5-year drouth has been broken, then let it stay dry a month and he's back worryin worse than ever.

Well, here lately it's gotten worse, even affectin his health.

"If we could just get one inch of rain right now, I'd be satisfied," he told me the other day, shakin his head. "We've just got to have some rain."

Well, the other night we had a little rain out here, not much, but the clouds were pretty dark-looking along about sundown and the prospects for moisture looked pretty good.

Along about an hour after dark it began to pepper down pretty good and I got to thinkin about that neighbor. I knew he was gonna be out the first thing in the mornin lookin at his rain gauge, and if it showed only about a quarter of an inch he was gonna be as disappointed and downcast as a candidate who lost by two votes.

So in the spirit of neighborliness and goodwill I put on my raincoat, got a fruit jar full of water out of my well, and eased down to his place and poured enough in his rain gauge to show a good inch, then came back home.

We got enough rain that night to wet the ground out here, but we didn't get anywhere close to an inch, but you have never seen a happier man than him when he turned a flashlight on his rain gauge at 6 o'clock the next mornin and saw where the water level was. His appetite picked up, the mornin took on a rosier glow, and he went to town later in the day and bought a television set just on the strength of it.

It's these little inexpensive, thoughtful things a man does that brings happiness to others.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Weekly Health LETTER

Issued by Dr. Geo. W. Cox, M. D., State Health Officer of Texas

AUSTIN—Heart disease is the number one killer in Texas. "What kind of a heart have you?" asks Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer. The periodic check-up with your physician will tell you. The Tuberculosis X-Ray Survey in the state conducted by the Texas State Department of Health has brought to light many non-tuberculous abnormalities, some of these have been heart conditions.

The three present major forms of heart trouble are: rheumatic heart disease, high blood pressure and coronary heart disease. The most common type of early life, occurs as the result of one or more attacks of rheumatic fever. It is a public health problem for which very little has been done, yet with early diagnosis and proper medical care during the acute or convalescent stages, children who develop rheumatic fever can be largely spared from rheumatic heart disease in later life.

Another major cause of heart trouble is high blood pressure or hypertension. This is the most common heart disease, but we do know that its is most common in people who are overweight, and that it is associated with long, continuous nervous strain, high tension and constant worry. Treatment of high blood pressure is fairly successful in the majority of cases. Coronary heart disease is a disease of the arteries which supply the heart muscle itself with blood. A majority of persons survive the first attack, and with good medical care, rest and common sense precautions, may even live a normal life span. Syphilitic heart disease can be prevented by early and adequate care of the systemic disease, a problem which has been simplified by the use of penicillin. Research in the medical sciences is constantly improving the outlook for the cardiac patient, yet each individual must assume the responsibility for obtaining the benefits of this knowledge from his physician for himself and family.
