MRS. HOMER PRUET RETURNS FROM TRIP TO MISSOURI

I've just returned from a trip to Schell City, Missouri, Pearl Petersen and I drove up in a car through eastern Okla. and must say from Muskogee on to Kansas was a beautiful country.

So is country around Schell City. What struck me as odd the berry vines growing wild on the fence rows and in pastures; also apple, plum and pear trees in pastures.

Their principle crops are soy beans, corn and grain. The pecan crop this year is enormous and lots of timber.

We visited with the Billy Mack Jobes who live about three miles out on the Triangle S Ranch.

Research Paces Oil's Progress

There are three reasons why America's petroleum industry has been able to supply the ever-increasing demand for energy called for by our mechanized way of life: 1, it has fearlessly invested its capital in the hazardous search for oil and gas; 2, it has steadily expanded its facilities; and 3, it has conducted endless research to find better, more efficient ways to make the oil products America needs.

Research! That's the key to the petroleum industry's progress. And the Humble Company assures itself a place of leadership in this field with two great research laboratories.

In the Humble Research Center in Houston scientists and engineers study all phases of finding, producing, and conserving oil and gas.

In the Research Laboratory at Humble's Baytown, Texas, Refinery, highly skilled technicians seek to develop new and better petroleum products, to improve those we already have, and to develop methods for making these products more efficiently.

Just as America's progress depends on oil, so oil's progress depends on research.

A big political question this week was what effect Lt. Gov. Ben Ramsey's new job as national Democratic committeeman from Texas will have on his and Texas' political future.

Ramsey, quiet-mannered and nearly 52, was elected at a Ft. Worth meeting of the state executive committee last week. He succeeds Wright Morrow of Houston.

Often mentioned as a prospective candidate for governor, the San Augustine lawyer was catapulted into the committee job without advance fanfare. He was labeled a surprise "compromise" nominee after agreement could not be reached on 14 others.

Some viewed it as positioning him on the inside track in the governor's race with firm conservative support and maybe some "loyalist" backing. A few seemed to consider the job a political blind alley. A few others thought Ramsey already Grounds, he said, would be that Judge Davidson had "expressed himself" on the Duval cases before he became judge.

Davidson took office Jan. 1, replacing Judge Harry N. Graves. In the previous decision, Judges Graves and Woodley had voted together, with Judge William A. Morrison dissenting. In the new decision, Davidson joined Morrison to reverse the court's previous stand.
