Odd Bits Salvaged at Random

There was a tremendous expense involved, and a whale of a lot of work to be done, so Munday has abandoned plans for a week-long elaborate celebration of the 50th anniversary of the town's incorporation.

k-k

Chamber of Commerce officials voted at a recent meeting to not go into the big celebration originally planned. The City Council voted at an earlier meeting to abandon the plans.

k-k

Some sort of celebration of our Golden Anniversary Year is being considered for some period during the year—possibly a one-day celebration instead of the week-long event. Should these plans be worked out, the date will be announced later.

Planting of potatoes is in full swing this week but will be completed in a few days. Jack Colver, who is here supervising the planting, stated that about 280 acres are being planted in potatoes this year, more than twice the amount last year. During the growing season the crop will be watered about twice a week.

k-k

Jack Colver had a nice crowd of interested people at the meeting Saturday when he explained the cantaloupe and watermelon planting and harvesting. He stated that in a normal growing season with our cantaloupe acreage this year—around 600 acres—they would move 21 freight carloads per day during the peak of the harvest. And that's lots of melons!

The week of March 5-9 has been designated as Public School Week.

k-k

Some schools have made plans for some sort of event each day during the week. Vera has announced programs that should be of interest to patrons and the general public, and most of the schools will be dismissed Friday for the district teachers meeting in Sweetwater.

k-k

"We believe patrons would like to see our schools as they actually operate," said Supt. W. C. Cox of Munday, "and we plan our regular schedule of operations. We insist, however, that any parent or patron who can visit our school at any hour during the week. Don't think you'll be in the way, because you won't. We can have better schools when our patrons know more about our operations and understand our problems."

This little ditty came over the radio a few evenings ago and seemed to be a pretty good recipe for living the full life:

"Do all the good you can, in all the ways you can, at every time you can, to all the people you can, as long as ever you can."

Two men have gone from our midst during the past week, and their passing will be greatly missed by those who knew and loved them.

"You know him—he's the man who always had a smile," we were told when informed of the passing of J. F. Lindsey, whose funeral services were held last Sunday. That alone is quite a tribute to any person.

The death of Porter Campbell of Rule last Monday brought an end to a career of usefulness to this area. Mr. Campbell was a member of one of our earliest pioneer families, and the name of Campbell has been associated with the growth and development of Munday and surrounding area for about 60 years.

Whereas the term of Elkin Warren and Melvin Cooksey, members of the Board of Trustees of this school district, will expire on April 7, an election will be held on said date for the purpose of electing two members to the Board. Candidates requesting for the above mentioned election shall be filed not later than March 27, 1956.

George Hunt, president of the Board, has announced that Bryan Lawson has been re-elected superintendent for two more years. This is his sixth successive year as superintendent of the Goree School.

James Carver, principal of the high school, and Mrs. Homer Moore, principal of the grade school, were re-elected for two years in April, 1955.

Parents Invited To Visit Schools During Next Week

The Munday Public Schools will carry on their every-day work-day program next week during Public School Week, Supt. W. C. Cox stated Monday, however, parents are urged to visit the school during this week. Mr. Cox said:

"March 5-9 is set aside as Public School Week. The Munday schools wish to extend to every patron an invitation to visit the schools during this period.

"According to present plans, the Munday schools will be closed on Friday, March 9, to enable teachers to attend the district meeting in Sweetwater.

"We feel that all patrons will find it convenient to visit us during one of the four days the schools will be in operation during the week. We hope every patron will show interest in the schools by coming out and seeing them as they actually operate."

Official Memorandum
BY ALLAN SHIVERS
Governor of Texas
AUSTIN, TEXAS

CERTAINING

On March 7, 1956, fifty-nine courageous Texans met in convention at the Texas Press Association, and there imparted their own lives by signing the Declaration of Independence from Mexico and setting up a provisional government for the Republic of Texas.

At that same convention these men wrote a Constitution for the Republic of Texas which for the first time in history prohibited imprisonment for debt. Recognized equal property rights for women by setting up a community property law and protected a man's home from foreclosure by a homestead law. These provisions were carried over into the laws of the State of Texas and other states.

The Texas Independence Day Organization, with the cooperation of the Texas Press Association, seeks to immortalize the Signers of the Declaration of Independence by building a Museum of Texas History in their honor at old Washington State Park by public subscription.

Gov. SHIVERS, I, as Governor of Texas, do hereby designate the fifty days beginning March 7, 1956, and ending April 21, 1956, as a period in which Texas generally shall be informed of this worthy cause and shall, according to their desires, contribute to this effort through their local newspapers.

City Council, C. of C. Abandon Plans For Elaborate 50th Anniversary Event

Plans for a week-long elaborate celebration of Munday's Golden Anniversary Year have been abandoned. This does not mean that we won't have any sort of celebration, but the one as originally outlined will not be held.

"Due to the tremendous expense involved in staging the week-long celebration, the Chamber of Commerce officials have decided it is not financially wise to do so," stated Charles McCauley, president of the organization, last Monday.

The plans called for a week-long event, with a pageant being staged, depicting the history of this area, over a period of several nights.

At an earlier meeting a majority of members of the City Council voted to not go into this sort of celebration.

Some observance of our 50th anniversary of the incorporation of Munday will probably be held during the year, but this will likely be a one-day affair. The date and plans will be announced later.

To Elect Directors
Mrs. Levi Bowden, C. of C. secretary, is mailing out ballots this week for members to elect three new directors. Those whose terms expire are E. H. Nelson, J. Weldon Smith and G. W. Hawkins, who has served the unexpired term of H. E. Sharp and whose name has been submitted for reelection.

Carry-over members are McCauley, Gene W. Harrell, Charles Baker, Tom Bullington, Dorse Collins and Joe Bailey King.

Banquet Date Set
Directors have set Friday evening, March 30, as the date for the annual Chamber of Commerce banquet. Principal speaker will be Melvin Munn of Dallas, public relations man for Blue Cross and Blue Shield.

Drive carefully. The life you save may be your own.

Colyer Explains Melon Prospects At Meeting Saturday

Over 50 growers and interested persons met at the American Legion hall last Saturday afternoon to hear Jack Colyer explain the planting, picking and marketing of cantaloupes and watermelons to the group.

It was pointed out that diversification in farming is becoming more important because of further cuts in the cotton acreage and the fact that melo may be declared a "basic commodity" in the future. The fact that melons come off a little earlier in this section than in some other makes prospects for better market prices a little brighter.

With some 600 acres being planted in cantaloupes this year, Mr. Colyer explained that with normal yield a total of 21 freight carloads would move out of Munday daily during the peak of the harvest.

POLITICAL PANIC IS A DANGER

A statement that, because of depressed prices, thousands of small farmers are being driven off the land, has been vigorously denied by Secretary Benson. He reports that fewer farmers left the land in the past three years than in the preceding three.

No one should minimize the farm problem. At the same time, we should take care not to exaggerate it out of all reason and make it appear that U. S. agriculture as a whole is in desperate straits.

It will be especially bad—for the farmer and everyone else—if we permit the current situation to stampede us into actions born of political panic in an election year. For example, there is a great deal of talk about falling back on high fixed parity prices. But the unquestionable fact is that it was this policy which created problems worse than those it attempted to solve—by encouraging production for purchase and storage by the government, instead of for consumption. We cannot have a sound farm economy so long as surpluses of incredible size keep piling up.

Whether the soil bank is or is not a workable solution is a matter of controversy. But it has one virtue, so far as we can see now—it would mark a constructive attack on the impossible surplus situation. A key provision is the prevention of diverting land from one surplus crop only to put it in another surplus crop. If, for instance, the soil bank land were used for grazing, we would soon have a livestock problem of far greater dimensions than any we know now.

TWO CLERKS NEEDED

The Winstead, Conn., Evening Citizen, recently ran a little advertisement of its own, directed at its advertisers. It said: "A store that doesn't advertise still needs two clerks . . . one to carry out the other who faints when a customer comes in. Advertising is the life blood of business."

That goes for the sellers of goods and services—and for concerns that want to build up confidence and public interest, which are touchstones of commercial success. Advertising isn't an expense in the ordinary sense—by building business, it helps to lower costs to producer and consumer both. And the newspaper, large or small, remains the most effective advertising medium.

"God has given us two hands—one to receive with and the other to give with. We are not citizens made for hoarding; we are channels made for sharing."—Billy Graham

CREDIT GOES TO COMPETITION

Sherman Rogers, a public opinion analyst, polled 4,000 representative Americans with this question: "Just how much net profit after taxes do you think a supermarket makes on every dollar of sales?" The answers ranged from five to 50 cents, with an average of 19 cents.

This illustrates a misconception of enormous magnitude. For, Mr. Rogers says, the three largest chain supermarkets in the country—operating more than 10,000 stores in all the states—made a net profit of but seven-tenths of one cent average on each dollar of gross annual sales in 1954! All the rest of the money taken in—more than 99 cents out of each dollar—went to farmers, processors, workers, transportation concerns, advertisers, and others providing necessary goods and services. And what is true of these chain outlets is true of many other sellers of food.

Moreover, the situation is comparable in other fields of merchandising as well. Where a store's business depends upon changing seasonal and style trends, the profit must be higher than in the case of sure-fire staples. Even so, the net profit, after all the bills are paid, usually runs to only a few cents out of the sales dollar.

Thus, for a profit so small that you'd hardly notice the difference if it didn't exist at all, you get the unequal standards of retail service we take for granted in the United States. Credit that up to open competition, in a free enterprise system.

GRASS ROOTS OPINION

Bellingham, Wash., Herald: "Historically, a liberal was one who resisted excessive central government and encroachment of government on the rights of the people. Today's 'liberal' is for an expansion of federal authority."

Alton, Iowa, Democrat: "It is you and I (the consumers who buy food, clothing, fuel and other necessities) who are paying for high tariffs on foreign imports."

Pine Bluff, Ark., Commercial: "Research recently disclosed that of the 15 largest manufacturing companies in 1900 only one is in that category today, and of the 100 largest industrial enterprises in 1909 only 36 still enjoy that distinction. If a business gets too monopolistic, or otherwise fails to serve the people better than any other, competition, time and obsolescence will soon remedy that wrong."

East Hampton, Conn., News: "A growing bureaucracy, a continued lust for power among those who govern us, can lead but inevitably to dictatorship."

WHAT DOES THE BIBLE SAY?

THE RESURRECTION:

"And I saw thrones, and they sat upon them, and they were given unto them; and I saw the souls of them that were beheaded for the witness of Jesus, and for the word of God, and which had not worshiped the beast, neither his image, neither had received his mark upon their foreheads, or in their hands; and they lived and reigned with Christ a thousand years." (Rev. 20:4) This is not a bodily resurrection. Consider briefly the symbols which have been employed in this connection: the "wedding feast," the "white horse," the "bottomless pit," the "angel," the "chain," the "key," and now the "resurrection." These are symbolic things. Death and resurrection are often applied figuratively to both the individual and to a cause. In speaking of the Jews, Paul said, "For if the casting away of them be the reconciling of the world, what shall the receiving of them be? LIFE FROM THE DEAD" (Rom. 11:15). John said, "Verily, verily, I say unto you, the hour is coming, and now is, when the dead shall hear the voice of the Son of God; and they that hear shall live" (Jno. 5:25). This is a spiritual awakening by the voice of the Son of God—the message of divine truth. The "first resurrection" is also an awakening—people of every nation responding to gospel teaching, and coming forth in the spirit of martyrs; whereas, the "second resurrection" is of necessity a literal resurrection. John is the writer of both the book of John and the book of Revelation. In both books he follows the same order: The spiritual awakening (Jno. 5:25; Rev. 20:4-5); the physical resurrection (Jno. 5:28; Rev. 20:11-15).

It should be noted that those who have a part in the "first resurrection" are those who maintain complete freedom from papal doctrine and practice.

Verse 5 "But the rest, of the dead lived not again until the thousand years were finished. This constitutes the general resurrection, and takes place after the millennium. This embraces both the good and the bad, and is entirely literal. Even those who have had a part in the first resurrection (born into the family of God) will undergo the "second resurrection," since it embraces all who have died the physical death; nevertheless, "on such the second death hath no power," because they are Christians. Of course this necessarily implies that they must be overcomers: "He that hath an ear, let him hear what the Spirit saith unto the churches; He that overcometh shall not be hurt with the second death" (Rev. 2:11).

Verse 6: "Blessed and holy is he that hath part in the first resurrection." All such are Christians. (See explanation in verse 5).

"They shall be priest of God and of Christ." This is true of all Christians (Rev. 1:5-6)

IT'S THE LAW in Texas
 A public service feature of the State Bar of Texas

MANY KINDS OF LAW

"They ought to pass a law . . ." You have heard that said many times. But did you know that much of our law was never "passed" by any legislative body?

Actually there are several kinds of law which control our lives. Perhaps the following definitions will help explain the differences:

Statute law is an enactment of the state legislature or the Congress. It is the written law, setting forth a system of principles and rules of conduct.

Common law consists of those principles and rules of action which derive their authority from usage and custom, and from the decrees of our courts affirming such rules. It may be written or unwritten, and much of it is derived from the ancient unwritten law of England.

Parts of the statute and common law are sometimes further described:

Substantive law is that part of the law which creates, defines and regulates rights. It is the law the courts are established to administer, as opposed to the rules of procedure by which it is administered.

Adjective law is made up of our rules of procedure and practice. It is the manners and methods by which we enforce our rights or obtain redress for their invasion.

Criminal law is that branch of the law which defines and prohibits the various crimes and establishes their punishments.

Administrative law is that vast body of law and practice concerning the public boards, commissions and agencies which have power to make rules, orders or regulations having the force of law.

You also hear of various fields of law, such as Admiralty law, Patent law, Corporation law, Municipal law and many others.

Weekly Health LETTER

Issued by Henry A. Holle, M. D., State Health Officer of Texas

AUSTIN—Undulant fever has been called the Great Masquerader as its symptoms are the same as many other diseases, according to Dr. Henry A. Holle, Commissioner of Health. It is also known as Brucellosis and Malta fever. It occurs sporadically in Texas which indicates that it is a public health problem and needs more recognition by the public.

Undulant fever is so called because of the wave-like variations in temperature. The symptoms include rise in temperature, loss of weight and strength, chills, and sweats and joint pains. The disease has a rather low mortality rate, but important because the symptoms may persist for a number of weeks and even months before normal health and strength are restored.

In Texas, goats and cows are the usual spreaders of this disease. The germs of undulant fever enter the body through the mouth or skin. Therefore, care should be used in handling animals known to be infected, and dairy products from the same sources, if used, should be pasteurized.

More men acquire this disease than women due to the fact that their work as stockmen or meat cutters offers more chance of exposure.

The true prevention of undulant fever is based upon the detection of the disease in livestock and the elimination of infected stock. All dairy herds should be tested for Bacillus abor-

News From The U. S. Congress

Congressman Frank Beard

The most far reaching event in our lifetimes undoubtedly has been the development of atomic energy. The scientists that originally worked in this field pointed all of their energies toward the building of weapons of great destruction even though all the time they were much more concerned with the peaceful uses of the power that they had unleashed. It has been only recently, however, that much time and effort have been devoted to developing peaceful uses of atomic energy. Recently the Joint Committee on Atomic Energy named a committee of distinguished citizens to appraise its peaceful uses. Their report has recently been released, and it is interesting to note that while there will undoubtedly be a great increase in the use of atomic power for generation of electricity and other forms of energy, it is not contemplated that it will replace the fuels that we now use such as coal, oil, and gas but that it will just supplement them. Also, it is fantastic to realize that we are on the verge of using this miraculous new power for great advances in medicine and preservation of food, and in the field of agriculture its uses are almost unlimited. It is unfortunate that so much time, money, and brain power must go into the working out of processes of mass destruction when if the same efforts were devoted to working out ways to harness atomic power for peaceful uses, we could undoubtedly within two or three generations build an entirely new and much better way of life.

So far in the race between the East and West for the development of effective weapons that would use the atomic and hydrogen bombs, we in this country have been able to maintain a substantial lead over the Russians; however, of late, there has been much disturbing talk about the fact that the Russians are fast closing the gap in our lead over them. This was brought into focus recently when the Assistant Secretary of the Air Force for the development of guided missiles resigned in protest over the present program of development in the Defense Department. The reason for the Assistant Secretary's resignation was the fact that at the present time, the Defense Department is not spending enough of its appropriations on expanding its research in the field of the development of the inter-Continental missile which is the last step in the so-called "push button warfare".

Visitors from home this week were Mr. Clyde R. Hale, Mr. Lawrence Hassenpflug, and Mr. Otto W. Dimmitt of Sanger; Mr. Carl Hudson of Shidell; Mr. T. P. Tindle, Jr. and Mr. T. E. Noles of Denton; and Mr. W. A. Warschen of Aubrey.

and the best known method of soil improvement.

Many of the pasture plants discussed in the publication are adapted only to the South Texas area, says Trew but the management principle outlined apply to irrigated pastures anywhere in the State. Also that the fertilizer and grazing management is applicable to any fast-growing cultivated pasture plants.

The new bulletin is B-819, "Irrigated Pastures for South Texas" and may be obtained from the local county agent's office or from the Agricultural Information Office, College Station, Texas.

Dress Up Garage Interior

GARAGE interiors are notoriously unattractive. No wonder so many home owners always keep the garage doors closed!

A neat, trim look can be given the interior walls simply by covering the studs. A particularly attractive appearance is achieved by using Masonite 1/4" Tempered Presdwood for a wainscot and 1/4" "Peg-Board" panels over them. On these you can store many garden and lawn tools.

The combination is particularly good because the wainscot panels are made for tough duty. The perforated panels, too, are heavy-duty and will support such weighty objects as a lawnmower and shelves bearing large cans of paint.

The installation is simple. Panels are nailed directly to the wall studs. Be sure to attach a supporting wood member between the studs where joints appear between the two kinds of panels, as shown in the drawing.

Spotlight on HEALTH

New Advances Against Unconquered Infections

In less than a half century, science has produced new drugs that can be used to prevent, treat, or cure most of the killing and crippling infectious diseases of mankind. Pneumonia, syphilis, and typhoid—to name but three that have taken millions of lives—can now be controlled.

The infectious diseases produced by the viral and fungal organisms, however, remain a challenge despite the increasing rate at which new and more effective drugs are being developed by the pharmaceutical industry. But even these hitherto invincible germs now appear to be losing ground in the face of science's intensive search for new therapeutic weapons.

The promising aspect of this search was disclosed at the Third Annual Antibiotic Symposium, recently held in Washington, D.C. The symposium, sponsored by the government and attended by scientists from many foreign countries as well as the United States, heard descriptions of more than a dozen new antibiotics scheduled to be tested in hospitals against a variety of human diseases. Some of these diseases are presently regarded as incurable.

Several of the antibiotics were reported to have shown promise against infections caused by fungi, which are plantlike organisms that afflict both the skin and internal organs. One antibiotic, derived from the Streptomyces family of molds, has produced good results against internal as well as external fungal diseases. The symposium was told, the drug was tested in mice infected with monilia, yeast-like fungi that cause many different human diseases ranging from mild skin conditions to fatal infections of the heart, lungs, and other organs. The results warrant considering the drug a potentially valuable agent in human therapy, the experimenters reported.

Preliminary results obtained in test-tube and animal experiments involving other new antibiotics also indicated that notable advances are being made against viruses, tiny germs responsible for such baffling diseases as polio, the common cold, and influenza.

But while the announcements of new antibiotics to be used against fungal and viral diseases received considerable attention at the Washington meeting, scientists gave prime consideration to drugs that are already being utilized against human infections. A large number of papers read at the symposium highlighted achievements currently being made against scores of diseases with the potent new antibiotic, tetracycline. This drug, also known as Polycycline and Steclin, has proven particularly effective against wintertime diseases such as pneumonia and bronchitis.

He Skipped Inoculation

... so he got a scraggly stand of weak plants with bare spots wide-open to erosion. This is an accurate drawing made from a photograph of a non-inoculated alfalfa field, but lack of inoculation can make the same difference in soybeans, clover, lespedeza, vetch, peas or any other legume.

A farmer in Kansas, Warren Miller, reports, "Before inoculating we found it difficult to get a good alfalfa stand. Since inoculating our alfalfa seed we get a good stand every time. Inoculation makes all the difference between success and failure."

Legumes are rich in protein because they use a lot of nitrogen. If inoculated, they can make all or most of their own nitrogen plant food out of the air. They use it for lush growth, big yields, rich protein content, and often for soil enrichment to boot. If not inoculated, they drain nitrogen from the soil and usually yield poorly. That's why agricultural authorities agree it pays big to inoculate — to mix special nitrogen-fixing bacteria with your seed.

Most seed houses handle legume seed inoculants. You can get leaflets on making money with legumes from Nitragin, Milwaukee, Wis.

Munday H. D. Club Meets Wednesday In Regular Meeting

The Munday Home Demonstration Club held its regular meeting at 2 p. m. Wednesday with the president, Mrs. R. M. Almarode, in charge. Each member answered roll call by naming her favorite salad.

Mrs. F. W. Pape, council delegate, gave a report of the council meeting. Mrs. Fred Lain, Munday; Mrs. Adcock, Truscott, and Mrs. Parker of Benjamin were elected delegates to the district meeting to be held in Childress on April 5.

The club will sponsor the Nat Fleming Show on April 6th.

Members of the March of Dimes campaign will have their annual luncheon at the American Legion Hall on Thursday, February 23. The home demonstration club will prepare the meal.

Mrs. John Peysen gave a demonstration on "Variety of Salads." Three points on why we serve salads were brought out: 1. to add attractiveness to the meal; 2. to encourage people to eat the foods needed for good health; and 3. to add variety to meals.

The next meeting will be in the home of Mrs. R. M. Almarode.

Six members enjoyed the demonstration and meeting in the home of Mrs. Peysen, hostess.

Mrs. Nora Broach attended market in Dallas the first of the week. She also visited her son and family, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Broach and children.

Mr. and Mrs. Devotia Hord and son, Alva Joe, of Spur and Mr. and Mrs. Chester Lindsey of Odessa visited Saturday afternoon and night in the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. T. Morrow.

Mr. and Mrs. R. T. Morrow and sons visited their daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Donis Melton and daughter, in Waco the past week end.

Approximately 60 young people met in the crazy team of the Knox County courthouse for a Valentine dinner which was highlighted by music furnished by the teenagers under the direction of Mrs. Curtis Casey and a "Heart to Heart" talk by Rev. Bob Lacewell.

Wayne Sorecky served as master of ceremonies, directing the program.

The Valentine menu consisted of ham, vegetables, salad and cherry pie. The two circles of Benjamin W. M. U. directed serving of the food which was furnished by the women of the community.

Mr. and Mrs. Coy Jennings and her were business visitors in Lubbock over the week end.

Notes From Knox Farms, Ranches

By W. J. Bryan, Knox County Agent

Knox County 4-H boys and girls made a good showing at the Wichita Falls Junior Beef Show this past week. The show was very good this year with 110 head of steers and about 35 heifers being entered. This was by far the largest number ever entered at the show, and Dr. Darlow, judge, said that they were about as good a group of steers as he had ever judged.

In the heifer show, Jackie Idol, Benjamin, showed the first place senior registered Hereford heifer and Bobby Miller, Gilliland, showed the third place junior grade Hereford heifer.

In the steer show, Samuel Garrett, Munday, showed the second place light weight steer, Donnie Ryder, Benjamin, showed the fourth place steer in the heavy division and Charles Todd showed the ninth place middle weight steer.

Other exhibitors included Sue Ryder, Benjamin; Wayland Jackson, Goree; Bobby Miller, Glendon Hicks, Goree, and Evelyn Garrett, Munday.

Four boys will show their steers in the Abilene Fat Stock Show this week. Exhibitors will be Edd and John Moorhouse, Benjamin, Charles Todd and Robert Jackson, Goree.

According to surveys made by entomologists for the U. S. Dept. of Agriculture, grasshopper infestations are expected to be heavier this spring than it has been in quite some time. Indications are that grasshoppers are likely to present a serious threat to nearly 9 million acres of crop and rangeland in Texas during 1956. The worst threat centers in the Panhandle and rolling plains counties.

Grasshoppers can be controlled much better if they are sprayed when very small before they move off the hatching beds.

I would advise all farmers and ranchers to watch for the hatch to start this spring, then spray before the hoppers have a chance to spread over the fields. Watch along roadsides, field margins, idle lands, pastures, etc. Good controls can be secured by using 1 1/2 pounds toxaphene or 1 pound chlordane per acre if it is started in time.

Mrs. Raymond Suggs of Dickens was a week end guest of Mrs. C. F. Suggs.

A poultry disposal pit is not expensive to construct. It is a real labor saver and offers a simple solution to the problem of disposing of dead birds on the poultry farm. It can also be a mighty important part of the farm's sanitation program.

The American Heart Association is the only national voluntary organization exclusively concerned with the development of research, education and community heart programs to fight the heart diseases.

WATCH OUT FOR 'SHYSTER' PLANT PEDDLERS

This is about that time of year when a plant enthusiast's thumb turns a bright shade of green, making the season ripe for the annual crop of unscrupulous nursery stock salesmen.

In previous years, many Texas housewives have been "victimized" by door-to-door nursery stock peddlers with misrepresented merchandise and high-pressure sales tactics. While there are many reliable door-to-door salesmen in the nursery business, it is advisable to buy from such sources with caution, and if a contract purchase is recommended, read it well before signing.

The "shyster" plant salesman usually paints a rosy picture of beautiful landscapes with no money down, or a payment on delivery plan. The person who signs such an order may find himself bound to a non-cancellable contract loaded with fine print. And the plants which arrive in the mail may be a far cry from those shown in the salesman's glossy color print examples.

One good thing to remember in planning your spring planting is to buy plants which are native to, or grow best in, your native soil. Locally-grown nursery stock is most likely to prove successful.

Also, there's no such thing as bargain basement prices on good-quality nursery stock. Prices may be high this year on some of our better decorative plants due to cold weather cutbacks. But by careful budgeting and wise selection, good, hardy ornaments can be found.

Most firms pushing doubtful nursery stock operate just barely within the law. Misrepresentation is hard to prove, so a few precautionary measures may prevent being "taken in" by unscrupulous promoters.

1. Check all door-to-door salesmen's standing with the Better Business Bureau nearest you before making a purchase.
2. Compare the salesman's prices with a local nursery man on stock of similar age and size.
3. By all means, do not sign anything without careful examination.
4. Report any case of fraud or misrepresentation to the Better Business Bureau and the Texas Department of Agriculture immediately.

Drive carefully. The life you save may be your own.

Scores Again

DE KALB, ILLINOIS — Jerry Spears, Northern Illinois State College ace percussionist, has written another hit song — "Palm Springs Special." Recorded by his Rhythm Aces, the tune appears to be well on its way to top hitland rating.

Because of the wide publicity on their previous record, "Ease That Squeeze," a traffic congestion novelty, the boys were flown to the fabulous El Mirador at Palm Springs, California to rub elbows with stars of screen, stage and television.

Their experience at the desert resort inspired the boys to write the new hit. Although many well known song writers inhabit Palm Springs, it took this collegiate band leader to come up with the first tune on this internationally known resort.

My father, who died when I was only 12, was a good business man—which his son is not. My father was editor-publisher-printer of the Banner in Piggott, Ark., where I was born. He later ran a cafe for a short time, then was a traveling salesman for a drug house, then owned the leading drug store (there were two in the town) in Brinkley, Ark.

He was a pioneer. He sent off for the plans, specifications and materials and built a pair of telephones—the first in Piggott. One was in the Banner office, the other in our home.

At Brinkley, he installed the first soda fountain (with marble counter, big mirror, spigots for the plain and carbonated water, and dispensers for the flavors). Also he had Brinkley's first cash register. There wasn't an auto in the town, and he bought the first one, which he gave away as a merchandising prize. Also he had Brinkley's first phonograph—a Columbia, with a big brass horn. I went with him in a buggy and he gave concerts with the phonograph in country school houses and drew big crowds—and of course put in a word for N. E. House's drug store.

When we moved to Texas, he ran the Crescent Grocery in Brownwood. His health began to fail, so he decided on outdoor work. He sold portable adding machines which I, aged 9, would demonstrate. Also I went from house to house delivering circulars, telling about all kinds of ailments. After the householders had had time to read all the symptoms, he came along with Ideal Sarsaparillo Tonic and other medicines which could cure all those ills!

Then he became unable to perform even this type of work, so he installed a boxball alley (similar to bowling but less strenuous) and most of the time I ran it, along with a shooting gallery in combination.

My father was a quiet, modest man with the physical and moral courage to face dangerous situations, as I can well recall more than once; and he had the fortitude to face ill health and an untimely death without complaint.

Mr. Farmer:

A GOOD WELL DESERVES THE BEST PUMP

The last few years have proved that dryland farming in West Texas and Knox and Haskell counties can be a money losing venture. The bright spot in the picture is that more and more irrigation wells are being put down in our territory. In the past year many small wells have been developed in areas that were formerly considered dry. This may be the year for you to try for a well. We are now convinced that somewhere on every 160 acres a good well can be developed. Even though it may cost to find that spot, it will be well worth the effort.

Bulk Of Farm Operating Loans Used To Purchase Equipment And Livestock

Approximately $5,130,000, or 48 percent of the production and subsistence loans obtained by farmers in Texas from the Farmers Home Administration during the past year were used to purchase equipment, livestock and make similar investments, Walter T. McKay, State Director for the agency said today.

Farmers are making these investments to set up the kind of farming systems that will make the most of their labor, land and other resources.

Production and subsistence loans are also made for fertilizer, seed, tractor fuel, insecticides and other farm and home operating expenses. The loans bear 5 percent interest and repayments are scheduled in accordance with the borrower's ability to repay. Loans for crop production are repayable when income from the crop is received. Loans for capital investments are repayable over periods up to 7 years. The maximum loan is $7,000 and total indebtedness cannot exceed $10,000.

Several steps are taken by the Farmers Home Administration to assist farmers in making the best use of their loan funds. Before a loan is made a complete farm and home plan is prepared by the farm family with the assistance of the agency's local supervisor. The plan shows how the farm will be operated, estimated yields and income, and a budget for farm and home expenses. Provision is made for the production of a large portion of the family's food supply and provision is made in the budget for household expenditures and medical care.

No loan is made unless the farm and home plan shows that he farm when properly operated under normal conditions will produce an income that will provide the family a good living and enable them to repay their debts.

Guides have been established with the aid of the Extension Service and other agricultural agencies that show desirable combinations of enterprises, the amount of land, quantity of livestock, amount and quality of pasture, and feed, acres of cash crops, and the yield per acre and production per animal that are needed for the successful operation of family-type farms in each given area. These guides are used in developing the farm and home plans.

In addition, at the end of the crop year a complete review of the year's operations is made by the farm family and the Farmers Home Administration supervisor to determine which farm enterprises were the most successful and what further improvements are to be made in the coming year.

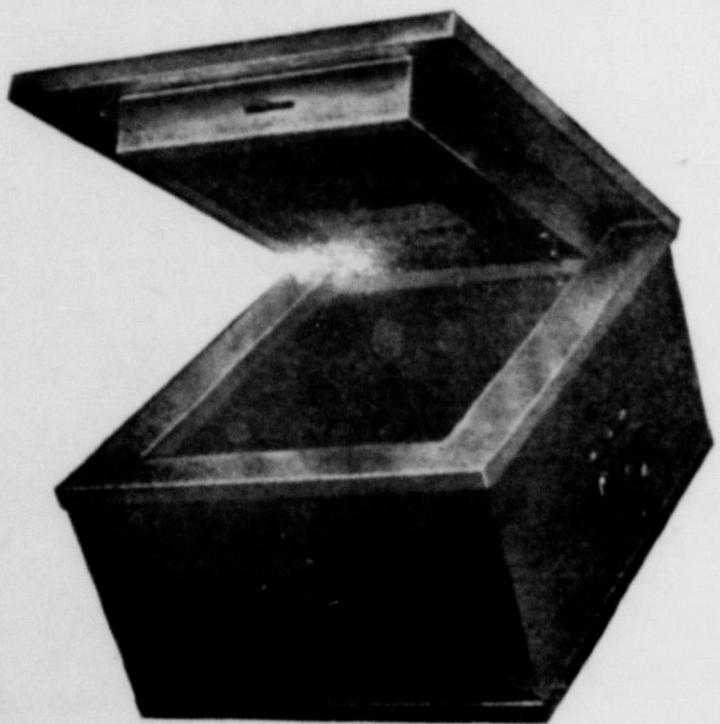

Credit is also extended by the Farmers Home Administration for financing annual operating expenses. These loans are short-term credit designed to help the farmers finance one year's operations. Annual production and subsistence loans may be made to farmers provided that there is a sound basis for credit. This means that the anticipated gross income from farming and other sources must be sufficient to repay the loan, meet farm and home expenses not provided for in the loan and provide a reasonable margin above such amounts. This type credit is in addition to emergency loans available to farmers or ranchers primarily engaged in farming, McKay has stated.

Real Estate credit for purchase and development of family-type farms, for financing soil conservation measures, and for the development of water systems for farm home, livestock, and irrigation are also available.

LET'S TALK LIVESTOCK

Big Cattle And Hog Runs Continue

FORT WORTH—Over 110,000 cattle and calves and 102,000 hogs were reported at 12 major livestock markets Monday. Prices on fed cattle and butcher hogs were under pressure and closed lower again at all points.

Aside from drylot fed steers, yearlings and heifers the cattle and calf trade at Fort Worth on Monday was about steady. Some interests were talking lower on cows, but shippers and independent packers took the bulk of the supply at steady prices. Bulls, slaughter calves and stocker and feeder classes were firm.

Comparative prices: Good and choice slaughter steers and yearlings $14.50-17.50; common to medium kinds $11-14. Fat cows $11.50-12.50; canners and cutters $8-11.50. Bulls $10-14.75. Good to choice slaughter calves $16-18.50, few fancy to $19. Common and medium $13-15.50; culls $10-13. Stocker steer calves $18.50 down. Steer yearlings $18 down; replacement cows $8-13.50.

Stocker Cows Featured Friday, April 13th

A distribution sale of stocker cows and pairs will be held at Fort Worth April 13 and will be jointly sponsored by the Texas

Aberdeen-Angus Association, the Texas Hereford Association and the Fort Worth Livestock Market Institute.

The sale will be open to all breeds, as well as those of predominantly Hereford or Angus breeding. There will be no classes or judging, and it will be an opportunity for those seeking replacement cows or pairs to look over a sizeable number of all kinds and different quality.

With the improved pasture conditions in much of the Southwest it is expected that there will be heavy demand for females to rebuild herds depleted by the drought. Considerable interest has been indicated from Southern and Southeastern buyers, as well as from the Southwest.

Lambs Open Stronger

Some of the new crop lambs have been showing up in the receipts at Fort Worth in the past couple of weeks, and some of these choice milk fat lambs have been bringing $18.50. Old crop woolled fat lambs sold around $18 down, with a few club lambs to $18.50 Monday.

Fall shorn or No. 1 pelt lambs sold from $17.50 to $18, and No. 2 pelts sold around $17, with some freshly shorn kinds from $16 to $16.50. Packers were taking practically all of the lambs at prices that surpassed the feeder buyers bids.

Cull, common and medium slaughter lambs sold from $12 to $16. Slaughter ewes freshly shorn sold at $6.50 to $7, and some woolled canner ewes sold from $7.50 to $8. Some freshly peeled yearlings sold at $14, and some with more pelt sold to $16-16.50.

Hogs Top At $12.50, Sows Open Higher

Butcher hogs opened steady to 25 cents lower Monday at Fort Worth with choice kinds topping at $12.25 to $12.50, and the less desirable weights and grades from $10 to $12. Packing sows were steady to 50 cents higher and sold from $9.50 to $11.

Week end guests of Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Haynie, Sr. were their son, Don Haynie, and grandson, Neil Richmond, of Lubbock.

Knox Prairie Philosopher Worried Over The New Proposal To Eliminate Paying Of U. S. Employees By Check

Editor's note: The Knox Prairie Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Miller Creek is needlessly worried over an idea this week, but he'd rather worry than work any day.

Dear editor: I never have been afraid of a new idea, doesn't make any difference if most of the new ones aren't any improvement on the old ones, but I ran across one the other night that has me worried. According to it, there's a move on to eliminate paying government employees by check. Under the proposed system, say a man was working for the government. Instead of being issued a check every week, he'd just be given credit at the bank. This, they say, would eliminate the tremendous job of writing checks for millions of government workers each week, would eliminate long lines at the bank, etc.

I don't know about this. About the only time actually a lot of people have any money is the interval between the minute they get their pay check and the minute they deposit it at the bank, on account of they've already written enough checks to take it up. They're not depositing money, they're covering checks.

Also, if this system worked for government employees, it would not be long before it was expanded to private business, and it wouldn't be long before somebody thought of the wasted time in paying taxes by check. Just have the government, city, county, state or Federal, send a memorandum to the bank docking the tax payer for taxes due, whether property or income, and when he got his bank statement at the end of the month he could find out how much the government's take was.

This idea could also be expanded to take in grocery stores, drygoods stores, filling stations, etc.

And sending out monthly bank statements could be eliminated too. Just send out a yearly statement, and to further eliminate figures, the bank could adopt the same system schools now use, don't give exact grades, just say "Satisfactory" or "Unsatisfactory."

Rear Admiral Halert C. Shephard, U. S. Coast Guard's Chief, Office of Merchant Marine Safety, executes his last official act upon retirement January 31st by signing a Safety Certificate for the superliner UNITED STATES for Captain J. F. Devlin, General Manager of the United States Lines, New York City. Looking on (L to R) are: Captain Philip A. Ovenden, USCG, Chief, Merchant Vessel Inspection Division; Mr. Devlin; Captain R. A. Smyth, USCG, Assistant Chief, Office of Merchant Marine Safety; and Admiral Shephard.

In presenting the certificate to Captain Devlin, Admiral Shephard said, "The SS UNITED STATES is the safest ship in the world from every standpoint and greatly exceeds the standards set by the International Convention for the Safety of Life at Sea. I am so very proud that this great ship flies the American flag."

Unemployment Tax Applies To 38,000 New Firms In Texas

"An estimated 38,000 Texas firms, employing from four to eight workers, are now liable for unemployment tax on their payrolls under the recently amended Texas Unemployment Compensation Act," Geo. T. Spears, Jr., Fort Worth District Director of the Texas Employment Commission said today.

Nearly 15,000 employers have already replied to letters, publicity, and efforts of the Commission to advise them of their tax liability. However, there are 23,000 more who have not yet responded.

"It would be to their advantage to do so immediately," Spears explained, "in order to avoid penalties and assessments of back taxes."

Following amendments to the Federal Unemployment Tax Act last year, the Texas Legislature changed the state unemployment law accordingly. Any business which has as many as four employees on 20 days in 20 different weeks after July 1, 1955 becomes liable for unemployment tax on its payrolls during 1956. Beginning January 1, any firm which has 20 such weeks during a calendar year in which four or more persons are employed on any day will pay unemployment taxes.

"Not only firms which regularly employ as many as four employees will be affected," Spears explained, "A small business which has four people working only Saturdays, or one which regularly has two employees during the day and two others at night, will also owe the payroll tax at the end of each calendar quarter."

"We have had little experience yet with the 38,000 firms that have four to eight employees,"

Spears said, "However, we believe that the group includes many stable firms with very low turnover, such as the drug store, grocery store, barber shop, service station and cafe. This stability suggests that unemployment insurance may be made very rarely. Consequently, tax rates can be held low."

The opportunity to save taxes through the "experience rating" system in the Texas law is one of the reasons why the Legislature brought in the smaller firms. Had this not been done, these employers of four to eight would have had to pay a full 3% federal tax. Under the Texas "experience rating" plan, the Federal Government continues to collect 3/10 of one per cent for administrative purposes. However, after a qualifying period of from 1 1/2 to 2 years, the State tax rate can range from a maximum of 2.7% to a minimum of 1/10 of 1 per cent. The TEC collects this State tax. The "experience rating" feature of State operation of the unemployment insurance program saves Texas businessmen millions of dollars each year.

Any employer who has employed four persons in 20 weeks during 1955 should notify the Texas Employment Commission in Austin now, so that information on how to comply with the law can be sent to him.

Over Three Billion Given For New Religious Structures

American citizens have given over $3,000,000,000 for new religious structures in the past decade, according to the American Association of Fund-Raising Councils. $3,895,000,000 has been spent in new religious construction since 1945. The bulk of this money has been raised through special building programs. Approximately 1,000 such church building programs are conducted each year under the guidance of professional fund-raising councils. Total religious assets in the United States are estimated in excess of $11,000,000,000.
